

Shadow 1231

Chapter 1232 - Time Magic

But now, when Azief remembers that scene again and recreate it in his mind, he could evaluate Arial powers at that time.

Azief believe that if Arial could harness the true power of that sword, he would practically reach Sovereign level.

Then he shakes his head and shook that thought out of his mind.

He focusses back to the present and try to see if there is even any similarity between that hero who fought such a powerful enemy and the Arial he is looking at right now

But the more he sees, the more he feels disappointed. He was eager in the beginning but Arial slowly become dispirited after each loss.

The nobles bicker with each other instead of banding together to fight a common enemy

Azief could see and deduce with a glance that the reason why it was so hard for these nobles to unite against each other is because there is no unifying figure among them

Thinking about this Azief could not help but think of Arial. The Arial he knows..... one of his most praised feats were the fact that he unifies most of the human kingdoms under his Empire.

Probably because Arial in this timeline had seen how disunity among the nobles leads to losses of human army

Of course, the Arial right now, probably could not know that one day he would become such a powerful figure that commands the world.

But it is clear that because Arial sees the losses of battle and the unchanging behaviors of nobles that he become dispirited

Even in the face of the extinction of the entire race of humans in the Human Continent, the nobles, kings and Queens could not help but platy intrigue against each other and try to fight for benefit.

Arial spend most of his time in the army being a tracker as he seems to be adept at tracking enemies track. But he himself was one of the many trackers.

Azief fast forwarded the time and years passes. And then after his mind could not take it anymore, the projection moves normally again.

This time, he saw that Arial seems to have given up on the human army. It seems clear that the Human Army would lose against the Demon Army.

Azief saw how Arial chooses to run away from the battle. Azief made a quick judgment of Arial and thought of him as a coward when he sees this but then he shakes his head

'It's not really fair to him' he thought to himself.

Arial of this world is powerless to do anything to change the outcome of this battle.

Even Azief could see that the situation is hopeless. Actually the Human Continent when compared to the Demon Army is not that different.

If the Human Kingdoms had truly united from the start and did not scheme against each other it is very probable to repel the Demon Invasion. And Azief knows that the Demon race is not entirely monolithic in their actions.

The Orcs might be excited to follow the crusade to the Human Kingdom but in the end, this is Arakath war and not the matter of the Plains of Orcs

If the Human kingdoms had managed to slowly down the momentum, or even break the Demon Army morale one time, then the differences between the Eight races of the Darklands could easily be manipulated.

But instead of uniting against a common enemy, the kings fought for each other benefits

It wasn't until at the end that they truly try to band together but by this time it is too late. Even Arial could see that and in this life he did not even have a noble education.

Some people might call Arial act as an act of cowardice but to Azief, Arial just did not want to fight in a hopeless battle.

If there is even a chance of victory or that he being there could change the war, Azief believe that Arial would not leave his position.

But, while Arial had honed his battle skills and survives many battles, none of his deeds is recognized and as Arial saw that the kings fought for their benefits and not to repel the Demon invasion, he loses heart and become disillusioned with the resistance force

Years and years of it, and Azief did not want to judge that man. Arial escaped just the night before the battle. Azief hovers above him, like some ghost looking at him entering a tunnel

He walks inside a dark tunnel, his feet step on the puddles of water and he keeps walking further and further away from the site of the battle

Even though, such darkness seems to be able to swallow a man whole, Arial keep walking. In just a few hours, he pants in exhaustion but his eyes are determined.

'Wanting to survive, wanting to live is not wrong. The conclusion is already set in stone' Azief mutters. He had hoped that his words could reach him but of course it did not reach him.

Azief as he hovers beside Arial could also smell the odor coming out from the underground tunnel.

It is not exactly a pleasant smell.

The projection world that the Orvansians had created not only enables him to make use of the energy of the projection but also enables all of his senses to be stimulated.

Azief with his enchanted senses could even be replied by such smell but the smell did not affect him that much. It affects Arial more than it affects him

'This place must be stinkier than I thought' the reason Azief did not smell the scent is simply because he could control the sensitivity of his olfactory senses.

After all, if he is walking around with all of his sense enhanced each thing could drive him crazy.

When he wanted to focus on something far away, then he mobilized his senses.

But most of the time, his senses are like normal humans' senses. And at certain times, he would lower the sensitivity of his senses.

Just like right now.

There were a few times Azief could see that Arial is retching and almost throws up because of the smell of the tunnel

Azief saw Arial eat inside the tunnels. Probably because of his exhaustion. The stench must be unbearable but Arial must be starving.

It was a lunch pack

'Eat, drink, walk...stay alive' Arial muttered it almost like a chant by now.

His hand is shaking but he devoured the food quickly

It did not take long before Arial leave the tunnel and then he travels away, far from the site of the battle. Azief keep following Arial from behind.

After awhile as his mind began to feel a bit relieved, he fast forwarded the vision again and this time, Arial is already at Vern

Vern is one of the Empire in the Human Kingdom. It is also the empire that Arial had broken in the other timeline.

But the moment Arial enters the capital of Vern, he realized it was empty.

What he didn't know was that Azief also saw the surrounding area of the Vern Empire with his Divine Sense.

And it is not only the capital that is empty.

All of the regions inside the Empire territory is empty.

There is buildings and structures but there is no people. It was like they disappeared all of a sudden.

'What happened here?' As for the other kingdoms even though they were attacked by the Demon Army, it would not show such a bizarre phenomenon like this.

No one had attacked Vern yet there is no people.

And Azief didn't think that they migrated to the Western Desert or something.

The feeling he felt was like they just disappeared all of a sudden.

The Vern Empire had long close the gates to their states and retreated back to the mountains and rivers of the Empire.

This timeline is not a timeline that Azief is familiar with so he did not know what had happened and he could not even guess how things had become like this

There was no such occurrence when he was at Earth X

'I need to see if I could find some clue' he thought to himself and then he closes his eyes and his Divine Sense exploded out from him covering the entire Vern Empire.

It envelops the entire capital city, the states of the Empire and the regions and for a few seconds he tries to analyze and tries to observe if there is something weird.

He could see that there is a house that has food on the table but there is no people.

There is a tavern and there is all kinds of assorted fruits and snacks on the table but there is no customer and there is no tavern keeper.

He frowned.

He could not find any humans all over the Empire. If this happens in the past even Azief would felt a little bit creeped out.

But he is quite accustomed to such event by now. Then he opens his eyes

'It is hard to find any clues of what happened here. But it is clear this has something to do with magic' he thought to himself

He frowned as he felt the trace of the magic. Because he is very familiar with this kind of magic

'Time magic' Quickly Azief could see that this might be the beginning. By now he is one hundred percent sure.

This Arial is the Arial that he knew.

And this is really the wrong timeline. Of course, he was sure at first but there was always the nagging feeling that he might be wrong and this Arial is the Arial of a different Earth.

He even thought that the helmet had sent him to a different place.

But after feeling that magic and knowing that Time Magic is involved, he could deduce what happened easily

'But, this kind of trace of such obvious Time Magic, what the hell actually happened here?' Azief thought to himself.

Chapter 1233 - The Guidance Of Fate And Destiny

He believes he would get the answer if he keeps looking at Arial life. Arial had made the Imperial Palace of the Vern Empire as his house.

Azief look at this and could not help but smile. Arial seems to forget that there is a war outside the Palace.

He saw Arial accumulate knowledge in the Imperial Library of the Vern Empire. It is at this moment that he learns how to read and write.

And there was another discovery that left Azief felt a little shocked.

The fortune that Arial had accumulated finally breaking out. But instead of breaking out all at once, only a bit of fortune and luck is dissipating and being used.

No wonder, Arial could quickly teach himself. Most of Arial life he did not know how to read and write.

Literacy is very low in the Human Continent. Unless if you are the children of rich wealthy merchants, nobles or knights, most peasants do not know how to write or read.

Azief remembers that when Arial rules the Human Continent, one of his policy is to encourage education.

Then suddenly Azief saw Arial fortune is burn quite a lot but even that is just the size of a candle compared to the entire fortune and luck that Arial had accumulated.

The burning of his fortune then leads to Arial finding a secret library.

Azief was curious of what kind of place this is that it burns that much fortune. If Arial fortune is the size of a seven feet three, the amount of fortune that was cut off is six feet.

If it is any normal person fortune, they would have exhausted almost fifty percent of their life fortune. And the only thing that could explain the burning of fortune that much is that there is something special about the secret library that Arial had found.

It did not take long for Azief to find out what so special about the library. It turns out that the library belongs to Levitia. Azief could not help but shakes his head.

And then there is a sense of destiny and fate being completed as Arial trained with then inner energy technique that Levitia had trained a thousand years earlier.

Arial then began training himself with the method of Levitia from the way he gathers inner energy and his methods of swordsmanship and fighting.

Fate and Destiny guided him here' Azief thought to himself as he looks at Arial.

How could it be that coincidental?

The descendant of Levitia just stumbled onto Levitia secret library fills with his training methods.

Of course, there is the fortune and luck that Arial have that helps him but Azief believes that fate and destiny also have a lot to do with this.

'It turns out there is such a grand layout of fate and destiny for Arial' Azief thought to himself.

Out of the many beings and people that Azief had met, Arial did not rank the highest in his mind. After all, Azief did meet a lot of beings in his journey.

He had met Alsur, a Jotun that is chained and imprisoned and taught him many things from the levels of cultivation of energy to some taboos of the Universe.

He had also met Azul, a Grand Supreme Being that is probably the longest live being he had ever met in person, possessing power to reverse life and death, to mess up cause and effect, holding the power of the reincarnation and six tribulations

And Arial, at that time ranks pretty low in his mind.

But now, as more and more things is uncovered, Azief thinks he might have missed something.

It might be that his meeting with Arial and him saving Arial in the future seems to affect the trajectory of his life

The moment he thinks that, there is a feeling of some kind of premonition coming over him

He shakes it off pretty fast but he frowned.

'There is a secret here' What he knows about Arial is simply his history and his lineage and the story of that lineage.

Other than some other personal things like who he likes and loves, there is not much that he actually knows about Arial

He did not think that Arial had such a colorful life before he sees all of this.

Even though his battle with the Darkness was pretty epic, at that time Azief could not see or understand how powerful Arial had become.

Most worlds rarely produce a being of such power level that surpasses even Essence Creation. Even the Seresian world, with all of its abundance of energy rarely produce someone at the caliber of the Demon Emperor who is practically a Supreme Being

It wasn't until he is back again at Earth X that he now contemplating all of this. Arial seems to engrossed himself learning from the library but it seems that Arial missed something.

Arial did not found out that below the secret library there is in intricate labyrinthine path.

Azief uses only his Divine Sense and he could easily see there is interconnected tunnels network under the secret library and he was reminded of the matters between Leliana and Levitia.

After all, he knew some of the backstory. After all, he saw how Levitia escaped with Leliana

This must be how they escape from the palace' Azief thought to himself.

'Alexander regretted what he did but regret is not enough. He lost his friend and also lost the love of the woman he loved the most. It is tragic'

Alexander, regardless of how the history books painted him was a diligent Emperor. After the death of Levitia, while the Empire itself is unstable and many people die of starvation, the fact was that he was able to make sure the Empire stay together

He commissioned the building of the Bleeding Wall. He trains the army and tries to enact policies that would strengthen the empire

While most of his policy could not get the approval of the Church and the nobles class, and some of his projects and plans failed, Alexander is diligent in making sure that the Empire did not fracture.

And it is because of his effort, the Empire lasted as long as it did.

The decision that he makes to betray Levitia is a decision not solely because of the love triangle between them but also because of politics, of power and influence.

It is not so simple because for people like Levitia and Alexander, the achievements and the feats that they have done makes everything that is pure become complicated.

If Alexander was not of the royal family, if Levitia is not as powerful, or if Leliana have loved any other men than Levitia, would the story change?

'It would' Azief answer but there is a bitter smile as he added his own understanding

But fate and destiny would not allow that' he thought to himself. He sighed thinking of the terrible fates of these people and then he continues watching Arial life.

And then a few days later, he notices something else. He narrowed his eyes and thought to himself

'Is that....' He then flew out the imperial palace and come close to it.

A bird. To be more precise it is a raven

Amara ravens. Azief could not help but smiles bitterly

Amara send her ravens to give news to Arial who is cut off from the world.

Arial thought that he got the news from some resistance fighter against the invasion or people who is close to the border of the Vern capital city.

How could he have thought at that time that a Goddess is answering his question. This is a kind of divine favor. Amara had always favored the child of Aero.

And it is at this moment that Azief confirms another one of his doubts.

From the way Amara has been acting, prodding lightly at the back of Arial, watching over him, helping him but never revealing herself in the process, all of this felt very familiar.

It felt like the way Loki deals with him

And it seems that like Loki who knows his future, Amara seems to knows Arial future.

How much she sees and how much she knows is anyone guess. But Azief is quite sure of his conjecture

In Arial world, fate and destiny is very strong. The magic relating to these two is strong and so does its concepts and power.

That is what he felt and what he had seen. There is a pull and push of the attraction of fate and destiny.

The way Azief look at all of the lives of the people of this world, it was like it is a story written by a writer.

And everything had to go the way it was written. Azief did not realize this at first, it is a feeling he gradually felt.

Azief then shook his head and then once again speed up the projection. He wanted to see how Arial would go back to the past

Since he confirmed that this is another timeline, Azief is quite sure that Arial would somehow found a way to travel back to the past.

Considering that this capital city is full of traces of Time magic, he could deduce that something would happen here and that something would be related to Arial

And he began seeing things that would probably relates on how Arial would go back to the past

Chapter 1234 - The Magic Circle

Azief saw that Arial had also gain an interest to the magic circles around the capital. And he also began reading books about magic

There is an Archmage living in the castle.

That is what he deduces from what he sees.

Arial effort in trying to decipher magic or why there is no people in the capital of Vern reach a dead end.

Azief also flies over to see the magic circle. He rose to the sky and look at it and he also memorized it in his mind

'This must be some kind of formation.' He mutters to himself. Azief did not like learning magic that touches upon the concept of time and space.

He knew very well how dangerous it is to play with time-space but he would not reject knowledge that comes to him

But he knows that he always need to exercise cautions with this kind of magic that touches the very fabric of reality

It is different from the kind of magic that he is used to.

Most of the magic he has had runic writings.

The magic circle might look like just circle shaped that overlapped and overlaid on top of each other but there must be a rule to it.

If he remembers it right, the magic in Arial worlds is quite diverse.

Some of the magic in Arial worlds follows some laws.

Others did not and could connect with the intangible like using emotions to power spells.

That is very rare.

In some worlds, the magic could be categorized and even divided into rules and laws that governs it.

For that kind of world, the magic laws are organized and there is rules to it.

And then there are worlds that did not follow this kind of rules.

This kind of world is even more terrifying.

And the magic is also more terrifying and sinister.

Like a true love kiss could break a curse, the tears of a grieving mother could be an ingredient for a sinister curse and so on and so forth.

Earth X however have these two kinds of magic in the same plane.

Fortunately, enough, unlike the time of Levitia where gods and goddess roam the land, in Arial era, magic has thinned considerably.

But it did not mean that magic is gone.

There is still Elves that still retains most of the magic power.

And Azief is quiet sure that before the advent of the Darkness rising, the world was filled with magic and when Azief recalls it again, the magic that fills the world at that time is thicker than the magic power on Earth

Azief is curious of how Arial would go back to the past.

'Even though there is a magic circle.....'

Azief of course knows it must have something to do with the magic circle all over the capital city but the problem with this deduction is that the magic circle has no magical power.

And even though Arial learns the methods of Levitia, it is inner energy and not magic.

And while there is a way for him to derive a method of using inner energy to activate magical formation, Arial certainly did not have Azief ability of deducing things like that.

At least not in his current level

So, he is quite curious of how Arial would be able to use the magic circle to go back to the past. Actually, going back to the past is harder than going to the future.

Azief did not want to think of the implications of going back to the past and the science of it all, but going to the past is probably a hundred times if not a thousand times harder than going to the future.

That is also what fascinates him about the people of this world.

Their technology is still stuck in the medieval era, but their magic.... their magic is the kind of magic that is even hard to find in some advanced hybrid civilization of science and magic.

Azief floated and phase himself through walls and arrive at one of the towers in the Imperial Palace.

This tower is a secret tower. Even though Arial boasted that he had gone around all over the Imperial Palace, there is still many secrets of the palace that he did not found.

As for the library of Levitia, that is fate and destiny guiding him. As for these other secrets chambers and secret towers, he has not destiny with them

There is a book on top of a table in that secret tower.

The book is the same book that Arial had flipped around trying to make sense of the magic circle. And Azief knew that there is a magic to activate the magic circle.

Arial had brought that book down to the secret library below

How will Arial activate the magic circle if he does not have magic? Even if he found out how to activate the magic circle Arial does not know and does not practice magic

The Arial he met in the other timeline, does have magic. But he got that later in his life. And that magi itself is not the same kind of magic like most understand it.

There are many kinds of magic in Arial world. Arial was bestowed by the Divines and had Divine Magic

That is also because he had Divine Blood. If not how could someone who have no magic suddenly be able to use magic?

But for most of his life, Arial had never uses magic as even he himself does not know that he had magic until Amara awakened that magic inside of him

It is not logical that Amara would appear in front of Arial right now and stimulate his magic.

If this was the case, when Arial does go into another timeline, he should have used magic when he was at the Succession War and the War of Conquest

But there was no such thing.

He put it in the back of his mind as he returns back to hover beside Arial and quickly speeded up the projection.

While he was speeding up the projection Azief could feel that slowly the projection had become slower

But, he attributed it to the helmet slowly having its power drained

From what he reads at the manual, once the battery of the helmet is exhausted he would be forced out to exit from the projection

Of course, Azief did not know that he is currently not in a projection of Earth X, but he is really on that time and space.

Not knowing all of this, Azief keep observing. All the while, the Demon Army had ben conquering all the kingdoms

After all of the kingdoms had been conquered by the Demon Army, finally the Demon King sent a contingent to Vern.

Azief found out that the Demon Army did attack Vern and it is one of their first target after the Dukedom. But the magic that the Archmage had uses had annihilated all of the Demon Army that came to attack

And since then, the advisors of the Demon King had restrained the Demon King from going there until it is completely safe.

It was unlucky for the Human Continent that the Demon King did not follow that expedition.

If he did, then he would probably also be wiped out with all of his two hundred thousand soldiers

With that kind of casualties, it is not surprising that the advisors are cautious.

It wasn't until they conquered everyone before they finally muster their courage to go once again to Vern. But this time, they did not send that many soldiers and they were sent to verify the situation there and to report back

Azief saw that a continent of Demon soldiers had come as a vanguard. Arial notices this and lured them and slaughtered them all.

But, it is clear that Arial could not defeat all of the soldiers of the Demon Army. He retreated back to the Imperial Palace.

Azief in a glance could see that while Arial had been training, he had too little time to become a true expert.

It was a pity. If he had more time....

But then he looks at Arial fortune.

The once illusory fortune is slowly becoming solid.

And like Azief had suspected, the Demon Army did not relent. They found out now that they could enter the imperial city

Azief also notices that the Archmage might have bind the lives of the Demonic soldiers to the magic circle and it causes them unable to enter the magic circle.

But even magic experience entropy. After years, it had weakened and the Demon Army could now march into the Imperial city.

In Arial timeline, Arial force had become the orthodoxy power of the Human Continent, replacing the Vern Empire

But, in this timeline, even though Great Renasia had become an overlord in the far east, to many of the Caelum nobles they still recognize the orthodoxy of the Vern imperial family.

So, even though the Demon King had already conquered almost all of the kingdoms in the Human Continent, the capture of the seat of the orthodoxy of the Human Continent is both symbolical and necessary to show the changing of an era, just like when Arial become Emperor after his victory in Arleans.

Azief knows Arial could not win in this battle.

Chapter 1235 - An Unexpected Encounter

Even though Azief knows the conclusion of this battle, he still looks at it. By now, he firmly entrenched himself as an observer.

And like he had expected after Arial massacre that vanguard unit, the Demon Army sent more soldiers.

Arial fought with all of his might but in the end he was alone. And he only practices a few years. It is not like he had practiced it all of his life.

He fled toward the palace and run inside, the demon soldiers following at his trail.

Even as he was running toward the palace, the demon soldiers, throws spears, spells and shoot arrows at him

They broke into the castle with him, blood-hungry and enraged. Azief saw that Arial knew if he wants to survive he need to restrict their movement and not let them to have the space.

For an hour Arial evaded them using the secret passages and trap doors he had uncovered during his solitary years in the Empire.

Through the labyrinth of tunnels, he eventually found himself at a back door, and panting for breath he hurried out of the palace and back to the library.

'For now, he had bought some time' Azief thought to himself. He is still hovering near Arial. This is the moment, he thought.

The moment where Arial would go back into the past. And at the same time, Azief instinct began to go haywire, like a premonition of something big is going to happen.

This premonition is not related to Arial that is about to jump back to the past. This premonition had something to do with his own fortune and luck, and fate and destiny.

He frowned.

He believes this opportunity or danger lies in following Arial back to the past. What he didn't know that right now, the Creator in that secluded dimension opens His eyes and look at him, smiling.

'It is time' He mutters and the entire Universe seems to hums because of the undulation of his voice.

Azief while he did not notice the Creator looking at him, he could sense that something is about to happen.

Those who walk the Perfection Path is not someone to be scoffed at. Even though, he felt weird for a few seconds, he then continues paying attention to Arial

Arial enters the library with a limp. The effects of the battle dragging him down. He had been cut on many places on his body, blood dripping from the tears of his clothes and he struggled to keep himself upright.

All over his body is traces of the battle and he is in pain, yet, he gritted his teeth trying to endure that pain. This Arial.... this is the Arial he knew.

A determined person. It seems that while Arial in the beginning shows some kind of cowardness, now, at the end of his life, he is brave and fearless.

Azief always thought that you do not know a person, not until at the very last end, when everything is put down on the ground.

People have a way of surprising you when such time come. But for Arial? Azief always sees that bravery hidden underneath that heart.

Because he had seen it. And Arial did not disappoint him. In the last moment of his life, he fought as fiercely as a War God, even if he could not win.

It is stupid. But sometimes, even it is a stupid act, it did not stop people from admiring it. Arial could tell that he did not have long now.

Arial stumbled and fell against the desk where his old research lay, with the magic circle activator. Azief look at the book and he frowned

'It couldn't be, right?' Azief had a weird thought suddenly and he thinks he could deduce how Arial could activate the magic circle

But it is not something that he is sure yet. So, he still has to look at the matter. Arial is already on the verge of taking his last breath

He is looking up at the ceiling, his hand on his stomach, trying to stop the bleeding. He smiles sadly.

He coughed up blood and then in these few last moments before his death, he closes his eyes and he seems to be praying.

Azief is looking at all of this, waiting for something to happen. It could not be that Arial just die like this.

After all he had determined this is the Arial he knew and that this world is really Earth X.

Since that is the case, Arial should be going back to the past right about now. Azief eyes look at the book on the desk and he shakes his head

'I think I am right?' he become a bit uncertain on his thought but then as he was thinking of this, he saw that Arial fortune and luck is slowly burning and his eyes widened

'Arial fortune is breaking out!' he thought to himself. And at the same moment suddenly a gust of wind blew into the dark room, and Arial shivered violently from the cold.

Outside the room, the demon soldiers are coming. Azief also narrowed his eyes

'That wind is not normal' he thought to himself. Arial might not be able to sense it but Azief could easily sense that magic is stimulated by some magic power

'Amara!' he thought to himself. He then uses his Divine Sense and confirmed that outside the door, there is demonic soldiers that is rushing to the library.

Arial body itself is weakening showing the signs of death. Yet, it is at this moment that his fortune and luck is breaking out.

The wind coming from out of nowhere in the room became more forceful, and from the desk a book fell to the floor.

Azief had seen this before. At that time, he already expected something along this line to happen.

The book on the desk is a dictionary.

It is the dictionary for the Old Tongue, the Demon language.

Azief had been thinking of how to activate the magic circle for a long time.

But it wasn't until today, when he looks at the book on the desk, that he found out why he could not figure out how to activate the magic circle.

And now, Arial would realize it

The dictionary for the Old Tongue, Demon language, sprawled backwards across the floor. Azief saw how Arial look at the book and saw how his eyes widened.

'He realized it' And there is a bitter smile on Azief face.

The answer to the words that could activate the magic circle is the same word for open. Only in backwards. Demon Language is complicated not only because of the meaning contained in one word but because it could also be made to be a riddle

The Demonkind like the Elves in the ancient past have great connection with the rules and Laws of the world and their ancient tongue could bring about great phenomenon

It is even mentioned in many lore of the Demon King that the Demon King in ancient past rarely speaks with their Old Language for it could bring about wind, thunder and fire upon the world

And the Archmage had been using the words of the Old Tongue as the activation word for his magic circle.

The book fell down from the desk, the wind blows and moves the pages, right where it was supposed to show Arial the hint. There is no doubt that there is a trace of Amara in this.

But even though right now, Arial had found out about the meaning and the way to use the magic circle, there is still one problem.

Time suddenly stood still and regresses back.

The problem that Azief is thinking about is about the magic circle not having enough energy.

Azief knows that the Archmage attempt to go back through time failed.

He had deduced it.

And the reason why it failed is because there is not enough energy. And the energy that the Archmage had done is to harvest the lives of the people of the Empire

Of course, if he actually succeeds in going back to the past, it means these people would never die.

But what the Archmage doesn't know was that even if he goes back to the past, it might not necessarily be the past he is thinking of as one could create another different diverged timeline entirely and create another parallel universe.

The reason why Arial might not create such divergent timeline and world is probably because the help of Divine beings like Amara.

And the Archmage doesn't know how to harvest souls.

If he did, he knows that sometimes a pure soul is enough to power his magic circle. How long back to the past he could go with that soul is anybody's guess.

Instead, he had sacrificed almost all citizens of the Empire and still failed.

'Or, maybe it was never his destiny to open the door to the past; Azief thought to himself as he looks at Arial who is sitting still looking at the book.

But Azief had to make sure of it

Time is regressing a bit as everything is moving backwards. He is using the rewind function of the helmet.

Because he believes that right at this moment, someone must be helping Arial. Even as time is rewinding, Azief himself is not affected with this and he flew out from the secret library and passes through walls like some ghost

In just a few seconds he is on the edges of the magic circle.

When he tries to use his Divine Sense to envelop the entire area of the magic circle, he found out that his Divine Sense is on the fritz

He frowned.

'Interference like this precludes a burst of powerful energy' he mutters to himself.

The scene then began moving normally again.

And then he took a step toward a different direction and he is now on the north side of the magic circle.

And then he saw someone.

The moment he saw that being, he knew

'I should have expected this. Now, I know. Now, it makes sense' he thought to himself as he looks at that being floating in the sky, looking at the magic circle

The being that is floating up there in the sky is none other than Amara the goddess that rules everything in this world

He smiles a bit

'Heh. So, that is how it is' he thought to himself

Chapter 1236 - Uncovered

Azief look at Amara from a distance. She is floating there and her eyes is trained on the magic circle.

She did not do anything, just floats there in the sky.

But no one could see her. Not the Demon Army that is rushing to the capital city, nor the scouts on the mountains

It is not like Amara is floating in a closed space.

She is literally floating in an open space. But Azief knew the reason why no one could see her.

It is simply because she controls the Laws of this world. To make herself invisible is probably the easiest thing for her.

And the reason why she did not do anything is possibly because she is simply waiting. Waiting for the right moment

'True, if Amara knows what is about to happen and she had calculated it this far.....then timing is important' he thought to himself.

Right now, if Azief calculation is right Arial is being chased by the demon army and is probably going to the library right now

Amara is waiting.

Waiting for Arial to activate the spell.

Then, Azief could see that on the other side of the magic circle an undulation of powerful ripples of invisible energy was unleashed to the surroundings and Azief frowned.

This kind of feeling, the feeling of this energy that is changings the particles of things is the feeling of Time and Space magic being used.

and it was at this time he saw Amara flick one of her fingers and from that finger an orb the size of a grain of sand fell down onto the magic circle

And like some kind of a magical water, the entire magic circle glows with magic.

This is a scene that Arial could not see.

Azief look up at the sky and he saw formations of words, ancient words that spiraling and layering each other to create a large formation that not only covers the entire capital city, it began to covers the entire continent.

Azief did not spread out his Divine Sense to the other continents but he could guess that right now, the formation also covers the entire world.

Then he saw how the sun and moon seems to alternate and then distorts

'Time is going backward' Azief tries to see Arial figure in that library using his Divine Sense but he found out at this moment, that his Divine Sense is on the fritz.

It was like his Divine Sense had turned into waves that is being deflected, frazzled and cut off.

'So, right now even my Divine Sense could not pass through the interference'

This does not feel good. He was so used using the Divine Sense, that everything he did is started with his using Divine Sense

And now suddenly to be unable to use it, it is like one of his most important senses is being cut off

The only reason why his Divine Sense would act like this is because the extreme distortion of space, time and the fabric of reality itself distorting causing all kinds of interference.

He then looks back at Amara in the distance.

Amara helped Arial. And Arial doesn't even know it. Or maybe, by the time of that final battle, he did know.

Azief is ready to follow Arial to the other timeline. But, then his heart dropped. He realized something is not quite right.

There is no notification that is popping out in front of his face.

But right now, in front of his eyes, things are disintegrating.

Suddenly the translucent state he is in is broken.

And then at the same moment, he could feel everything clearly around him. From the sand on the ground, the grass that sways, to the wind that blows.

'Shit' Azief curses as he knows that something wrong had happened.

This is because he could feel something very different. He could feel the time-flow and the ebbs and waves of the space fluctuation around him

And he is quite sure that he is not protected behind layers of small dimension or a barriers of multidimensional barriers.

Instead, what he felt was the eye of the Heavenly Will of this world trained upon him. The force of this planet seems to be surging feeling his existence.

This is all thing that he could sense but could not see.

And then Amara apparition that was standing in the distance suddenly looked at him

She seems puzzled even as the disintegration of the world is happening all around her, she did not seem to notice it.

Or to be more accurate, she was more curious of him. She is so curious of him, that she did not seem to care about the disintegration of the world.

But Azief could understand.

After all, Amara seems to plan for Arial to return back to the past.

That is the only way to explain why a wind of gust knock off a book and why Amara is here, helping injecting some magic to the magic circle so that it could be activated.

The fact that the whole world seems to be disintegrating right now shows that Arial had done it.

But right now, Azief is the one that is most puzzled right now.

'What is happening to me right now?' One minute he had the helmet on his head.

And then suddenly as Arial is done activating the magic circle, it was like the connection between him and the helmet suddenly was cut off.

No' Azief thought to himself

'That is not the feeling of it being cut off'

'It is the feeling like it was never there in the beginning' In that one moment countless possibilities went past his mind.

There is also the possibility of the Orvanian plotting and scheming against him.

But, he rejected that very quickly. If Orvanian really wanted to kill him, they do not have to go through this much hoops.

It is not easy to kill him but it was not like it was impossible.

There is also the possibility that the helmet had malfunctioned. But even if it is malfunctioned he should be either ejected or return back to that room.

After all, even in the case of him accidentally breaking through the barrier of the world that he visited, there should still be the mirror dimension between him and the real world of the projection and he could easily be teleported back.

He read the manual of the helmet extensively before he put it on.

All of this possibilities run though his mind in that one moment where he found out that.... that he is now really at Earth X

This is not a projection. This is not some scene. He suddenly had found himself really in the location where he is at right now.

He could feel it the moment he went out from his translucent state

Amara look straight at his eyes and then she asks

'Who are you?' she said as she tilted her head. Her eyes shine golden and it seems that she is scanning him, trying to figures out his origin.

By now, Azief face turns serious. The fact that Amara saw him and talk to him prove all his conjecture.

And then he became serious. Because this Amara did not know who he is. In the future, Amara came to him and gives him a task to help Arial.

It came in the form of a quest from the system. That is how he met Arial and he even follows Arial in the final battle.

But in this current time, Amara did not know who he is.

And then her face turns wrathful

'Outsiders from Outworld!' she said. There is a trace of anger in her voice.

At the same time, Azief also notices that the world is disintegrating. It is not destroyed. It is like the particles is regressing.

The magic circle that is glowing all over the capital city is burning with a white light that is filling the whole world.

The magic circle beneath the magic circle is also lighted up.

'Such powerful magic!' Azief thought in his mind. On the ground, light shines to pierce the skies. If the area is night right now, it would pierce the darkness and drive away the dark.

The powerful magic that is unleashed from the magic circle created vortex of energy all over the magic circle.

It is not only the ground that is reacting.

The sky split open above the capital city, the light sweeps all the area and the army that was waiting outside the capital city was also swept away by that light.

In just one second, tens of thousands of Demon soldiers were wiped out.

But they were not wiped out by a force of destruction but by the force of time, their souls seem to be intact.

Azief did not know why he felt that way but he trusted his instinct. The Demon soldier did not die but exist in another form.

Azief reckoned this has something to do with the time magic that Arial had just activated.

His eyes are not enough to see all things but he could easily see the phenomenon that happens on Earth and Heaven and everything in between

Even in that moment, Azief could still see the heavenly phenomena while at the same time readying himself against Amara

And then the sky splits open and Azief swore he could listen to the sound of the cracking of the Wall of this Universe.

And he doesn't think he is wrong.

Chapter 1237 - The Wrathful Goddess

The sound of the cracking of the Universe is clear to him.

The Wall of this Universe might be different from the one in Earth prime but Azief believes it also exist

But he had just heard the sound of the wall cracking and breaking. It might be hard to imagine but there is something called the Cosmic Wall sometimes also called Cosmic Web.

Galaxies aren't just strewn randomly throughout the universe.

Along huge strands of hydrogen, galaxies collect into larger groupings of massive filaments, separated by giant voids of nearly empty space.

Each filament is basically a wall of galaxies, stretching for hundreds of millions of light-years.

They're the biggest structures in the known universe.

In Earth Prime own galactic system, scientist had identified structures of these wall like the Great Wall, the Sloan Great Wall, the Hercules-Corona Borealis Great Wall, and the Bootes Void.

And then he saw the skies of another world when he looks up.

'A Convergence of Worlds'

That is what he thought.

It is a bit different than the Multiversal Convergence as it attracts worlds that was in the same frequency before it spreads out and eroded any barriers between worlds

Somehow, that magic that Arial had activated had blurs the liens between world and might even create a time-space channel that connects this galaxy to another galaxy.

When gravity is bended to the extreme, when space is push to the ultimate limit, this kind of weird and inexplicable thing could easily happen.

And that is not the only thing that shocked him.

He could feel that the barriers between worlds is loosening.

Because he could even feel Celestial energy all around him.

It is scarce but Azief would not mistake it.

This energy that swirls around him is celestial energy.

Earth X is many things.

It had high concentration of magical energy and all kinds of other mysterious and unknown form of energy but Celestial energy like this.... Azief is quite sure this is not of this galaxy origin.

There is of course a bit of celestial energy that belongs to the deities of this world but the feeling of the Celestial energy that just appears out of nowhere....it is pretty foreign and there is a sign of rejection from the Heavenly Will of this world.

'The Immortal Realm?' He thought to himself

'Or one of the worlds inside the Immortal Realms of the Jade Empire? Or could it be a different world entirely?' Celestial energy is not the only energy he felt. He could also sense some trace of killing energy

'Asura race?'

The barriers between worlds is loosening and all kinds of energy from other worlds is entering this world.

All over this world there is now vortex of spiraling air that tears the space.

The space tears itself without any external force like it collapsed into itself and created these vortex of void.

As for the living beings in this world other than him and Amara, everything seems to stop

Time stops. Particles stops.

'No' Azief thought to himself. The particles did not stop. It regressing to its past state. And Azief could tell that the magic circle did not yet explode with its full effect.

This is just the effect from activating the magic circle and not yet the power of this magic circle being truly unleashed

At the same time, he is thinking of this he could not help but feel that there is something wrong with all of this

'Is Amara magic that strong that it could induce such universal and Omniversal change?'

And he is also curious of how the vortex could not last long before the space and time around that vortex recovered once again.

He could not understand it

Amara did not seem to care about the sudden appearance of the other worlds in the skies above. It is clear that she had anticipated it

Azief on the other hand while his eyes did not leave Amara, he is also sensing many things. One of them is that the time streams of the Multiverse is tangling with each other like a knotted string.

The Time suddenly moves again. Azief eyes frowned.

BOOOM!

A shocking sound of explosion sounded. But what Azief felt was the extreme ripples of time blast.

He could feel the blast of Laws and it comes from his back.

Even if he did not turn his head to look at it, he is sure that the explosion comes from the imperial palace.

His Divine Sense might be on the fritz but it is not entirely useless.

Using his Divine Sense, he could see bits and pieces of the images of the imperial palace blow up like there a powerful force from below that push the domes and the ceiling of the palace to shoot up the sky

But then even as it is travelling in midair it slowly disintegrates.

It is not because the force is corrosive but because there is time force that acted upon these structures.

'This is....what kind of magic this is that it so heavily interrupted the operation of the world?' Azief was already shocked that time stopped before.

But then it suddenly moves again.

It means in that period of timelessness, the magic circle was rewriting the Laws of Time and Space all over this world and even the stars and the skies of this world.

Azief had seen many kinds of magic.

Some is more mysterious than others. Some are elementary but unique and some are rare but not hard.

But this is the first time he saw something that he could not understand. The magic circle had some runic design but it is not the runes that he understands

Instead, it reminded him of the kinds of runes that he would get from his Ring of Runic Creation.

Yet, there is some modified things about it.

All in all, it is hard to understand it.

The blast cut opens a tunnel of space time across the dimensional barriers.

Azief could barely sees it. This tunnel is translucent and contains traces of Concepts and Laws of the world.

This makes him even more shocked.

Because that tunnel did not only cut across the dimensional barrier but also across the other skies of the Other Worlds that is in the sky.

Azief look for a few seconds to the sky before he looks back at Amara in the distance.

In that few second, he could see the skies of the other worlds and even the sceneries of the Other Worlds like it was broadcasted to him

The weird thing is, none of those worlds seems to know that their worlds is connected to Earth X right now.

All of this is seen by him in that split moment.

While Azief is shocked on what happened in the sky, Amara is shocked for something else entirely.

Amara was shocked to see someone that she did not recognize right at this moment

But when she got over her shock, she believes this is a deity from the Outworld. That is what she called the worlds and dimension outside of her world.

Suddenly appearing right at this moment, what is the plan of this deity? And a very powerful deity at that

Compared to her power, Azief is lacking but right now, it is a crucial moment and she could not mobilize all of her power.

Maybe, that is why this invader decided to attack her at this moment

Of course, Azief would be surprised if he knew what Amara is thinking. Especially about his power.

Even though Azief had already reached Divine Comprehension, even he does not think he is that powerful

Maybe, it is because he had seen more of the Universe and its powerhouses that he did not think that he is that strong

So, he could not understand Amara shock. Even when she fought Outworld invaders most of them are in Seed Formation level of power.

Different civilization has different ways of retaining energy and using it.

The name of the level of power might be different but the highest is Disk Formation level of power and the lowest is Energy Disperse Stage level of power

To even cultivate someone to reach Divine Comprehension is hard.

The reason why Azief could not think of it as anything special is because he lives in a world filled with energy.

In the Universe, it is actually hard to even see a Disk Formation leveler.

A Disk Formation leveler itself is considered enough to guard a world and a Divine Comprehension leveler is enough to deter many forces.

Amara in her current state is very weak.

It is not because that she sacrifices a bit of her magic to activate the magic circle. That kind of wisp of energy is nothing to her

The reason she is weak right now is simply because the world is disintegrating.

She is like the Saints of the Great Wilderness of the Three Thousand Worlds of the Three Realms of the Jade Empire.

She is bound to the world, bound to the Heavenly Will

While the world exists, she could use every force and every power that is in that world to destroy her enemies.

One could say that she has home advantage.

But now, as there are heavenly phenomena and the world is disintegrating, with each part of the world being disintegrated, she become weaker and at the stage of at least Essence Creation

But she could not mobilize laws of the world because the laws of the world are also in disarray because of the disintegration

The force that drives these disintegration of the world is the result of the magic spell that Arial had activated.

The force is Time and the one that devours is Space.

Amara knows that so she flew toward Azief. Her feet kick the air as the air exploded beneath the pressure of her divine movement.

'Get out!' she shouted.

And the whole world exploded with wrath the moment she shouted

The Heaven is angry!

Chapter 1238 - The Soul That Flew Up

And when she shouted, the whole world seems to shout with her.

Thunders suddenly appears out of the void and an apparition of a golden titanic figure of Amara seems to envelope her as she thrust out a punch toward Azief.

BOOM!

Even before the explosion reaches him, that punch cracks the space and bends gravity around it, creating hundreds of torn vortices of space along the trail of that punch

Azief did not summon his Laws Avatar and instead he morphs the space around him.

Even though right now, the space around him is all affected by the distortion of time and space turbulence but Azief could borrows the power of the Universal energy

'She might be able to control the power of this world and let nothing escape her controls but that is only about the energy of this world' he thought to himself.

The stars in the sky, the moon and the sun all of them have energy.

And the moment Azief wanted to use this energy, a spiral of energy visible to the naked eyes gathers around his entire beings and then using this energy, he forces the space around him to bend and then disappears just right as the punch arrive at his position

BOOOM!

The entire space of the sky seems to caved down, the clouds in the radius of ten thousand kilometers were all extinguished by the force.

The atmospheres seem to be burn by that force and the radiation from space seems to falls down to this world

Amara eyes become even colder as she saw that Azief uses space laws so easily.

Her apparition steps on the ground and a mountain that is in the path of her feet crumbles to ashes.

The rivers, trees and hills were flattened.

The Earth shakes and tremors, the seas went wild, and all around each of her toes, there is tornadoes because of the movement of her feet.

The force of the blast of her punch spread downwards and like some kind of apocalyptic wind it tears down everything like a thousand sharp knives descend down from the heavens and slicing everything into pieces.

The sky is split apart and the heat of the sun easily burns the ground because of the sudden hole formed in the sky devoid of any barriers

It seems Amara did not care now that she is destroying the world with every move she makes.

She seems to stop for a whole waiting for Azief to come out and almost a nanosecond later, Azief appears on the others side of the world.

Shritt!

The sound of space tearing echoes around the area of the sky as Azief flew out from that space channel.

Azief immediately regain his bearing, floating in the sky with his black attire, forming a contrast with the colorful background of the world right now.

There is the aurora suddenly appearing in the skies, the sceneries of other worlds reflected in the mirror like light in the hemisphere, the light of magic and among these colorful colors, only he is wearing black, giving the sense that he is different and detached.

But then he frowned

'Shit' he cursed.

The moment he comes out from the space channel, he could instantly felt his entire body felt an oppression force that is threatening to force him to come down.

To force him to kneel. To beat him into submission.

But Azief only smiles and stretch his shoulders

'using the Heavenly Will to pressure me. What a familiar feeling. Only usually, it is me on the other side' he smirks a bit.

Usually he is the one using this kind of tactic to intimidate people when they are meeting him. Now, he understands the feeling of those people

He always uses this kind of coercion and this is also the reason why Azief did not have to spend his time extinguishing fires of rebellion or resistance all the times like some kind of Xianxia heroes that destroy sect and forces every day.

Instead, in his world, even though there is still battle and war, they know who the top dog is and everyone is rational.

Nobody likes to run to their death if they could live

One of the reason why they are so obedient is because Azief controls the heavenly will and could use the heavenly will to basically fighting the whole world.

But Azief controls over the heavenly will is only one third. And that alone is enough to deter most forces from trying to find trouble with him.

But Amara had full control of the Heavenly Will

That is dangerous especially now that she seems to regard her as an Outsider.

If there is something that the Heavenly will hated more than beings who eroded its authority, it is outsiders from another world.

'It is not pleasant at all' he thought to himself.

Even though it did not show in his face, the feeling of his every move being restrained by an invisible force is not exactly... pleasant.

But this thought is only brief as he knows that Amara would easily catch up to him.

Distance to beings like them is something that is not worth mentioning.

If Azief could fold the space around him and come out at the other end, Amara could also do that

So Azief did not waste his time.

He is about to gather the power of the Universal force to pit his strength against Amara.

He is not confident that he could fight against Amaras with only the energy in his body.

The moment he suddenly was ejected or exited from the projection, he felt the energy of this world

As for using his Law Body, he needs time. Because this world is not his world and he needs time to derive the Laws of this world

And it is also because the laws of this world is in a state of chaos and disarray as the time blast basically just nuked all kinds of particles into pieces and the systematic Laws of this world is being rearranged.

This is the place Azief hated the most.

A place where there is so much turbulence of concept and Laws that he could not mobilize his Law Body

Even though he had reached Divine Comprehension, Azief knew there is still many things that he needs to do to fully understood the use of Law Body

But right now, it is not like he had a choice. He either had to fight or die.

Looking at Amara cold eyes, Azief doubts that she would just capture him and ask him for explanations.

It is more probable that unless he beats her and force her to calm down, she would do her best to exterminate him

But it is in that moment where Amara was about to tear space and went face to face with Arial, there is now a change

This change created an undulation of force that sweeps through all the world, like some kind of blast. But only he and Amara and a few divine beings that is still in this world could sense this waves of power. Because this is the power of fortune.

The power of fortune flooding out the entire skyscape.

Even Amara who was about to fold space and chase after Azief stops her movement and then look at the place where the source of fortune is breaking out.

Both her and Azief stop what they were doing like they were mesmerized.

Azief also look below and now that his Divine Sense is bolstered by the universal energy his Divine Sense could see more clearly than before.

And then he narrowed his eyes as he sees something soaring to the sky

His eyes zoomed in to that something and he sees a golden orb flies out from the area where the imperial palace of Vern that once existed.

'Aerial soul' he thought to himself.

That soul flew out toward the layers of heavenly phenomenon in the sky and then suddenly Azief understood something

'Is that how?' he thought to himself.

In the sky, there is layers and layers of Multiverses that seems to be patched together.

Azief when he first came to the Earth X, he was surprised to see that most of the trajectory of the history of Earth X seems to have many similarities to his own world

It also follows the trajectory of history of some other Earth he had seen before.

If not for the fact that Aerial world has magic, Earth X would very resemble the history of his own world.

of course, when he sees the projection and saw how Aero come from Earth two, an Earth that in itself shares many similarities with Earth prime, Azief could understand some of the similarities between cultures and other things

But not all things that he had seen and experience in Earth X could be explained by the fact that it is connected to Earth two.

Chapter 1239 - The Thoughts And Ideas That Is Ahead

He had read the history of Earth X. before Aerial start his rise, the Human Continent, is very much like the early middle ages.

It is a mix of medieval era with a bit of the area seems to be ruled by weird laws and many weird ideas.

But when Aerial began his rise at Acro and then Arrandy, the progress of humanity seems to leaps like someone who use to crawl suddenly being able to run twelve second in one-hundred-meter race.

he was shocked at how fast Earth X is advancing in terms of technology, thoughts and improvement.

And he was more shocked when he learns that Arial had a lot to do with it.

He learns about Arial before he even met the man

For example, the creation of Banks.

Arial is the one that popularized it and with it, the power that comes with holding the financial power

The nobles of Human Continent, while they did not openly disdain merchants they did not overly warm to them either

But Arial was different.

Yes, you could explain it by thinking that he had come from a farmer family and have a different view against merchants but that is even more unreasonable.

Because as much as nobles disdain merchants, farmers usually hated them more as to them, the merchant takes their hard work using cheap silvers while they trade it the times higher in some other markets.

So, by this circumstances, actually if Arial is following his upbringing, when he became noble, he should be even more wary and disdainful of merchant.

But instead, Arial hold the lifelines of merchants in his rule with his bank and he himself is a merchant family in the beginning

And even though their family did not show many involvements in some of the trading activity of his family after they become a great noble, Azief is quite sure that Arial still have great influence over his merchant organization that he had built when he was young

But it was the bank that intrigue Azief.

At that time, he did not think much of it.

But now, as he sees the layers of multiverses in the sky, he believes there is something else to it, to the creation of all kinds of novels ideas during Arial rise to power.

Even though such creation is not nonexistent in the ancient First Generation, as they came from a modern world, many of its innovation had been lost during the fall of the Enochian Empire

But, many of these lost innovations, technologies, ideas and thoughts is rediscovered back by Arial

One must remember that even though Arial spends a lot of time in the Imperial library of Vern, all he had learned was the conventional methods of ruling of the Imperial family of Vern.

There was nothing new to it. And while Levitia had learned a lot during his tangling with gods and deities and demonic beings, most of the knowledge he left behind is martial arts knowledge

So, even if Arial was sent back to the past, with the knowledge he had, he shouldn't have innovated so many new methods of governing, farming, economy, and even warfare.

Everything that he had introduced is new and something that even when the Vern Empire at its height did not popularize.

Banking itself is something that the First Generation then abandoned for it would foster the rise of powerful corporations that would prey on the people.

Azief knows this because he had seen it when Aero and his people forge an almost eternal empire.

It is only after the gods and goddesses themselves plotted against the destruction of the Enochian Empire that such a powerful empire was brought down.

Thus, one thing is certain.

That certain ideas that Arial had gotten is not from the secret library of Levitia, it is not from the imperial library of Vern and it is not some kind of lost knowledge from the First Generation.

Banking is not the only innovation that Arial had come up with

He also come up with publicizing educations, pioneering new inventions and many more. Most of his ideas could be even consider ahead of the era.

But, now as he saw Arial soul passes through layers of multiverses before disintegrating, Azief understood where Arial got his knowledge.

'It might be that he saw the glimpse of the future of the other worlds and from there he got the ideas'

Azief thought to himself.

If that is the case, it does make sense. Azief could even see the sceneries of Earth two in the skies. It is the Earth Two before the meteors falls.

'Going back full circle?' he thought to himself

As he is engrossed in his thought, all around him the world is disintegrating.

But Azief is still there and Amara is still there.

Azief then realizes that the world is not really disintegrating. But instead, it is becoming translucent.

The particles are being changed to its past self.

Energy could not be destroyed and while energy changes, the act of changing time to go to the past is always harder.

But that magic, whatever the hell it used to power it, it enables Arial to go back to the past.

Right now, both him and Amara is in the juncture of time and space. It is hard to explain it but they have one feet in the past, and another in the present.

So, certain laws existed and not exist at the same time. Azief also then understand even more things now that everything is reaching to its end for Arial

Amara should have also follow Arial to the past. Maybe, since the beginning of her giving her blood to a mortal, all of this has been predestined.

She follows Arial to the past and with the knowledge of the Arial she knew, she then forged a great champion to fight against the Darkness.

A plan that spans two timelines. At least this is Azief current understanding of the matter.

All around the world, it slowly become translucent.

To mortal eyes it might seem like the world is disintegrating in front of their eyes but to Azief, he could see that the world become translucent and ethereal

In this current situation, it favored Azief. Azief could feel that Amara power decreases

'I have a chance to win' he thought to himself.

He is nervous of course.

Amara is more powerful than he imagined and right now he does not have his helmet. That helmet should have been able to teleports him back to Seresian world in the blink of an eye.

Who would have thought such an absurd thing happen where he is suddenly thrust upon the world?

And not only that, he was thrust upon this world during the most sensitive time

If he was send to this world before Amara started showing up, then he could easily prove himself as someone that did not have any malicious intent against Amara plans.

But he just had to appear when Amara is most vulnerable and creating this misunderstanding

And she is not exactly wanting to accept any explanation for him.

It would be too funny if he died here.

After all, there is still so many things he wanted to do.

But Azief is still calm even though just a few seconds ago, he is without a doubt is in a life and death situation.

Maybe, he is numb to it.

After all, every few months, he would be confronted with some kind of life and death situation and so he is not even scared at this moment and had already prepared himself to duke it out with Amara.

But there are certain things beings like Amara could do even in her current weakened state.

Right now Amara is viewing him as an enemy and she would not stop until she killed him

That is the feeling Amara is giving him right now.

It is not like Azief don't want to explain but even he thought that if he explains the matter, it would appear like he is lying

How could he explain to her that he uses a helmet of an alien race called Orvianians, who guards the Multiversal points in the Omniverse to appear here in Earth X?

That there is a helmet that enables him to experience the worlds that he had been to before and now there is an accident and he is somehow transported to this world without his knowledge?

Even he felt like he is lying.

Amara from what he knows did not wander far from her Universe.

Above them the heavenly phenomenon is dissipating bit by bit and then another change happened souls of all living things also seem to be sucked into that void that had formed after Ariel's soul disappeared.

There are many ways for time to be reversed. This is another method. Speedsters have their own methods. And Time Lords also have their own methods.

Azief remembers that Will has told him that all Time Lords have their own methods of travelling through time.

If he is not mistaken, there is one Time Lord that has a device that looks a lot like a police box and he uses this device to travel through time.

Some Time Lords use pens to open up time portals. Others use more sophisticated things.

And this is just a different way of reversing time using magic. Only he did not expect that it would have such an effect.

He could deduce the matter of how this magic is done if he is given enough time.

But right now, he doesn't have time to think about it. The moment Ariel's soul had dissipated; Amara turns back her attention to him.

Chapter 1240 - The Template Of Battle

Amara looks at him and her killing intention could be seen in her eyes.

Azief also looks toward her.

'You misunderstand me, Amara,' Azief said.

He wanted to try get through her.

Even though he is far away, with most of the turbulent time and space settled after the heavenly phenomenon dissipates, Amara could hear it.

But instead of Amara stopping her killing intention, she narrowed her eyes and her killing intent soars to the sky.

Red dark aura exploded from her.

'How do you know my name?' she asks. And her words are like the echoes of the Heavens and Earth combined. These six words seem to form a blast of wind that rushes toward him.

It is a sonic attack born out of Amara's killing intent. But Azief's body could easily withstand the weight of the words.

And it was at this moment Azief knows that he had made a mistake.

She forgot that Amara doesn't know him and the moment he said her name, it made her even more warier.

Azief could tell the calculation that Amara had done in her mind and he knows it is nothing good

Amara then tears the space in front of her and then appears almost immediately a few feet away from Azief.

'I am not an enemy' he said but right now Amara doesn't seem to be able to hear anything. She seems to already be sure of Azief identity

And Azief also knows this so he doesn't hesitate to quickly gathers the energy of the Universe around him

Amara because of the world disintegration the Laws that she could command is limited and at the same time her energy emanation is in the range that Azief could contend

'The only way out of this is to fight her and make her listen'

Azief knows that he needs to prove it to Amara. Proof that he is not here to disturb her.

But how could he prove anything if Amara keep wanting to kill him? he needs to subdue her first.

Even Azief felt that the current situation is very absurd.

Amara when he first met her is a dignified Goddess and possess power that so unfathomable that he just listens to her and did not dare have any other thoughts like fighting.

But now, he has enough power to even contend with Amara.

The stars in the dark skies dimmed as a powerful force spirals from the stars to gather around Azief entire body. It was swirling with power.

The wind screams and the space around Azief entire body bends. But Amara is not deterred

'What kind of being this Outworld invader come from?' Amara thought to herself.

Most of the Outworld invaders she encountered had sharp tentacles and had dark aura around them

From what the Creator told her, that is the being of the Dark, who resides in the Dark Universe, gathering dark wishes and dark desires and possess great power of entropy.

This Outworld invader however look like human and he did not seem to emits the same kind of disgusting energy like those beings.

But Amara knows that while she did not go to the other worlds, she knew that there exist other worlds and some worlds are very warlike.

Maybe, this is a being from another place of existence. Maybe, her fight with those Dark Denizens is noticed by other powerful lifeform in the Universe

She had been protecting her world since the moment she grasps the ultimate power of this world after the Battle of the Gods.

While this invader type is a new one, and he had caught her at a moment of disadvantage, she still has confidence that she could beat him

Because she is the ruler of this world

Amara no longer condense a giant apparition of herself and instead she closes her eyes and pointed her finger upwards.

Her body emanated a certain inviolable power

The moment she did that all kinds of energy gathers around her.

While the world is at a flux between past and present, Amara strength is decreasing but this did not mean she lost all measures of her powers

Before she went to that void of time and space, she had to settle this Outworld invader first. Like Azief had thought Amara is really going to follow Arial and finish the prophecy of the Ages

'I decree, punishment from the Heavens descend to punish the invader!' The moment he said that a patch of red cloud suddenly gathers over the entire ten thousand kilometers area.

Azief frowned.

At the moment, he could also feel that the space around him is locked. It is like there is tens of thousands of walls locking him in

And then the sound of thunder and the light of lightning shines over him. And a bolt of red thunder descends down from the red clouds toward Azief.

Azief waves his hand and manipulate the universal energy around his body.

A large shield appears and block the thunder from hitting his body. But then a second and a third and a fourth thunderbolts rained down upon him

Azief frowned and his rate of absorbing energy increases again.

His eyes are open, the burst of electrical current that exploded around him seems to not able to make him even flinch

His eyes shine blue and his mind is operating at high capacity. Even at this moment, he tries to derive the Laws of this world.

Azief had many other trump cards that he still did not use like his rings.

But most of the abilities of the ring is not suitable to be used right now. because most of them are lethal.

He decided to use his Law Body to fight against Amara.

But he first needs to derive the Laws of this world first.

And of course, he first tried to derive this world energy.

And he could feel a trace of it and the Laws of it., he could command the wind, the water, the grass.

Even though his control might not be as absolute as Amara, he could feel the worldly energy and he could command the Laws.

When he breathes, the life energy that is still existing in this world provides him with energy. And the restriction around his body is loosened a bit.

But he also knows not to put too much emphasis on the worldly energy. Because this world is at the verge of being destroyed or extinguished, for a lack of a better word.

So, he could not rely on the worldly energy but if he commands the worldly Laws he could drain the worldly energy faster

And by draining it, it weakens Amara power.

If this world has no Amara, then Azief pace in deriving this Law would be very fast.

Of course, deriving the Laws did not have to be done in sequence. It is not like he had to do it one by one, from the Worldly laws until the Omniversal Law

Instead, he is deriving all thirteen laws that he mastered at the same time.

At the same time, he is deriving his Worldly Laws, he is also deriving the Universal Law and even Ancient Runic Law.

Even though it has only a breath, Azief could gather that energy of the rune.

This made him unable to make any other moves other than just waving his finger to create more shield to endure the bombardment of divine thunder from the Heavens.

It might seem easy to some people of how he just waves his finger and translucent shield that would look like some kind of array formation layered on top upon each other to form instantly.

But each time he waves his finger, he is leaking energy.

The blast wounded him but unlike normal humans who is wounded and bleeds, he leaks energy.

He had to derive the Laws, senses Amara attack and moves, being suppressed by the Heavens and at the same time trying to make array formation that layered on top upon each other to take the shape of a shield and withstand bombardments of tens of thousands of Divine thunders.

Azief actually uses the template that he had created to fight Balfor against Amara.

When Azief went to the Seresian world he was prepared to fight against Balfor and he had formulated a few battle strategies.

After all, even he knew at that time, that rushing toward the Seresian world is a lot like a suicide mission.

But, it is not like he could just let Katarina stay there.

And he did not really intend to die so he formulated many battle strategies.

He knew that he would be outnumbered but he believes as long as he could use his Law Avatars, he would at least stand a chance, even if that chance is almost nil

He speculated that if he wants to use the Law Body in Seresian world he first needs to derive the laws of that world.

So, there is a template of battle tactic that he had created to deal with Balfor. But when he did come to the Seresian world, Balfor is already captured by the Orvanians and everything was settled.

So, he never had the chance to try that battle tactic.

Who would have thought when Amara attacked him using the Decree of Heaven, Azief suddenly thought of that template and uses it?
