

Shadow 1461

Chapter 1461 A Lone Ship

Death Monarch doesn't seem to care if the whole world knows his line up

This broadcast...is it to deter them? Or is he really that confident that the dark forces of the world will be suppressed today?

The Dark forces of the world also have their own trump card.

There is someone riding a lonely ship. This ship follows a titanic ship that brought along the forces of the Crime Alliance.

Standing on the deck, looking at the vast ocean while the projection screen floated in front of him, this man frowns

He is alone in this ship as this ship operates using energy crystal. And he has a lot of energy crystal to burn.

No one seems to realize it.

Because right now, there is tens of thousands of ships sailing the Turbulent Sea.

Most of them follow the ship in front of them because navigating the Turbulent Sea is not easy.

Even now, as they watched the broadcast there is delays and static interference but they could still watch it.

It is to be expected if you are sailing on the Turbulent Sea. But the pirates are very familiar with the properties of the Ten Seas. Some of them even wins the blessing of these seas and could travel around it unhindered.

Every once in a while, they would see some space rips out from the sky all of a sudden.

Most of the time nothing happens. But there are a few times when things were ejected from this space rips.

Other times it tries to suck you in.

That is still easy enough to escape. As long as you have powerful body and powerful skill such a happening would not delay you more than a few seconds. But, there is also the interruption of time

They could feel that the time around them seems to move in a different pace than the other area.

When you reached such places, it is better to find a way to quickly sync up the time or break the area as fast as possible or better yet, avoid it completely

But the person in this one small ship does not seem to care too much about the space rips around him or the sudden change in the sea water around him.

he did not rush to follow the big ship but not obvious enough that he would stand out among the many other ship

This person looks at the lineup of Pandemonium and he frowned.

Not because he worried that the dark forces of the world would fail in their attack or that the world powers would win. He didn't care about the outcome of this battle.

Whether the world power wins or loses, whether the dark forces of the world could operate normally like before, it is not the concern on his mind. This content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Instead, it is seeing this events that has now spiraling out of control, out of order that made him concerned.

'This did not happen. There is no such trident. Poseidon did not interfere before. The secrets of fate and destiny is slowly being blurred'

The more he said this, the more he frowns and there is a lot of things in his heart right now.

There are many emotions but the most dominant of this emotion is none other than anger.

He is feeling angry.

Angry that things have deviated this much.

There are many people joining Death Monarch. It should not be like this at all.

These people should not join him and should not be in the same camp. A trickle of water has now turns into a rushing stream.

A butterfly flaps its wing and the world is covered in storm

Most of these people did not join him because in the past, Death Monarch never established Pandemonium. He has always been a lone power, a lone wolf in the world.

While he did stand equal with the world powers, this is after he became Sovereign and not before. Before that he basically like any other wanderer, doing task for the world powers and being one of the grassroots people.

In his time, it was different. His eyes looking at Death Monarch had also changed. Destiny.... could it really be changed?

Should it be changed?

Then what about the Divine Promise?

Before, he could stand the changes but now more and more variables appear. And the whole Universe is starting to notice.

He could feel Odin presence. He did not yet come, but there is signs.

When someone of that level of existence wanted to come down to lower plane of existence, there is always signs and omens.

He was preparing to block Odin. Odin must have his plan and whatever that plan is, it would greatly change the flow of the current events.

And Loki would probably also want to block Odin

And now, there is Poseidon trident on Earth. What is the plan of Poseidon? This is what he is thinking right now.

This person who thinks about a different past is none other than Yewa Hafar.

He could only sigh at the impermanence of mortal affairs

And because of this many changes to the events of the world, he is now also going to Arturia. Whether he would participate in the battle, is still something he is thinking about

'I will see how thing goes. This time, I don't think even Loki expected many of these things. He must be thinking of countermeasures too'

He sighed again, the sigh is long and hard. Yewa Hafar rarely have many emotions. But, as the body he inhabited is someone who has many emotions, he is also affected.

He would want a new body but this is the body he uses in the other reversed timeline. In according to his plan, he should maintain the least possible deviation from the future where His Lord won, he once again chooses this body.

'Loki.... I don't know if you are happy with the current trajectory of the future or are you also bothered by it like I am' he smirks a bit and mutter

'Knowing you, you would show a smile and laugh. You were always better when you are under pressure'

But Yewa Hafar knows that between him and Loki, Loki is more advantageous right now

Because while Loki also want certain thing to remain the same, there is without a doubt that in the end, the final objective of Loki is to change things.

He might be frustrated that certain things did not really go according to plan, but he has the easeness of accepting it because every change could change the ultimate ending

Yewa Hafar on the other hand did not have such freedom and he could not let things to deviate too much.

There is the ending that Loki wanted and there is an ending that Yewa Hafar wanted

And both of these endings are different.

Yewa Hafar thought all of this as he looks at the distant vast sea and his ship slowly slows down.

Inside his pupil is the reflection of an image of a wall.

The wall is far away but even from this far distance, everyone that is now around this part of the sea could see that tall wall, stretching almost infinitely from their perspective.

Its heights touch the clouds and that is a magnificent feat considering that the distance between the earth and the sky seems to have lengthened.

'What a tall wall!' he exclaimed to himself.

But before they could reach the wall, they have to go through tens of thousands of islands. Only then they could reach the wall.

And beyond that wall is an island continent. And many of the great warriors of the world power is gathering there right now, waiting for them

The moment they enter Arturia, the war will begin.

Yewa Hafar could not help but sighed when he uttered the word Arturia from his mouth.

'Another deviation' he muttered to himself.

Arturia.

This place also never existed before.

At least even if it existed, it probably has nothing to do with the world

Because if it's something important, history would remember it and he would remember it.

But in today world, Arturia is well known place even before Death Monarch take control over it. A pirate port, an island continent for pirates, criminal, misfits and wanderers.

He looks at the tall wall in the distance. All he could see is blurry images of the wall, like the wall itself is covered with clouds.

He sighed as he waited.

Just like the rest of the pirates.

They waited until everyone is in position.

The moment they are in position, a great war like never seen before would erupt.

The waves keep flowing and the wind keeps blowing.

Tens of thousands of ships encircle the route toward Arturia, the scene is magnificent and grand.

When the drone that records these tens of thousands of ships relayed the image to the world, the people seeing it from the screen could not help but gasped.

What a magnificent display of power. What a grand occasion!

A battle to determine the world status quo.

Either the world power would win and suppresses the dark forces in the world for a few decade or the dark forces in the world would win and break the suppression of the great powers

Today, a great war would be fought, and winners would be kings!

Chapter 1462 The World Powers

While the pirates and the dark forces of the world is on their ship looking at the tens of thousands of island scattered all over the route toward Arturia, the whole world is still looking at the screen.

They see the grand fleet and gasped at the power that the dark forces of the world could muster. But then the screen once again focused on the world powers

It began once again showing the lineup that is present in Arturia.

In the screen, the camera seems to shift the focus to the person beside the Heaven Flute.

'She is the Fairy?'

'Is it her?'

'I didn't think she would participate in this matter!' all over the world, people looking at the screen exclaimed the same thing.

They did not think that this woman would also participate in the matter

Because everyone knows how much her husband doted on her.

Everyone recognize the woman sitting beside the Heaven Flute. Even though this woman had rarely shows her face after the Weronian War, people still remembers her.

It is one of the Seven Fairy, the wife of Wang Jian, Somi the Sword Fairy.

This is the title she has now. Out of the Seven Fairy, all of them are dead now leaving Somi as the only one

The Seven Fairy actively resisted the Weronian Invasion and since they sacrifice themselves, they were also the heroes of the battlefield.

She is also protected by Death Monarch because she is supposed to be Death Monarch disciple. Even though, Death Monarch rarely teach her anything, the relationship is there so nobody dares touch her.

Since the Weronian War, she has never fight anyone so no one knows how much of a fighter she is now.

No one knew her tricks.

But probably she has perfected the Big Dipper Formation.

Her aura is constrained and until she fights no one could know her true power.

This is the few people that have come representing Pandemonium.

'With these kind of lineup, does the pirate and the Crime Alliance have a chance?'

'These lineup is enough to sweep the world'

'Wang Jian alone could destroy and pulverize a second rate force'

Many people looking at the screen debated about this matter. Many of these people look at the screen while eating and drinking.

The world after the Fall has breed a new kind of generation.

Only the strong and people with skill could survive the Fall.

Of course, some people with luck also survive.

There is even someone who is rumored to have a unique class which uses luck and could deter all kinds of calamities and get all the good things in life just by relying in luck.

Hence, even though this is a battle that will determine the fate of the world, some people who is far from the action viewed it as nothing more than some entertainment. In the end, it is not that they were the ones that need to fight.

To some people, they did not care who wins and who loses.

To these people living in the edge, if the pirate's wins, and the Crime Alliance wins, it is just these forces could sail the seas and roam the world openly like before the Fall.

They might not be able to supplant the world powers but at least they would have some influence in the open

IF the world powers wins, they would bring their power and influence to the peak, thus making the trend of the world powers as the truth of the world.

Nobody believes that the world powers wanted to defeat the dark forces so that the world would be a better place.

Those who are more insightful knows that Death Monarch the one that is provoking this war wanted to create stability.

Because those who knows how Death Monarch operates knows that he is not a hands on guy in terms of ruling. But, he prefers solving the problem at the root cause.

If he succeeds today, for a few decades the world would be stable. And that is what he wanted right now.

Stability for Earth so that people could rest, recuperate and get stronger to face the upcoming dangers that might come out of nowhere.

To these people that could watch this screen while not worrying about the future, they did not care much.

Life on Earth is dangerous, so, they view life and death lightly.

Today, they could drink, laugh and talk with friends, and tomorrow they could be swallowed by a titanic beats and die without a burial.

The mentality of this generation is strong. Because if you are not strong, then it would not be long before you are dead. These kind of people usually lives outside of the territory of the world powers.

Hence, they look at the screen and marvel at the heroes and villains of the world.

It did not matter whether these people in the screen are heroes or villains. What is important to them is that these people have fame, power and influence.

The screen now moved away from the Pandemonium section the camera panned to another section of the platform. The people of the world then look at the screen with attention

To them, this is like a story, and the screen is showing the main character.

Maybe this is Death Monarch plans. Or maybe it is those people in high places in the world power that suggested such theatrical.

There is benefit to doing these. Increasing one reputation and making the whole world knows about it is only one of them

It increases the prestige of the world powers and also shows that the world powers are not some kind of organization that you can bully or challenge so easily

It is the same thing that the World Government tries to do in the past with them trying to defeat Death Monarch in front of the world

However, this kind of method could only be used if they are confident in winning.

The screen in the projection now showed some people and many of the people looking at the screen could not help but exclaimed at the same time this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'the World Government!' this time the screen shows the section where there is a lineup for the people of the World Government

There is a man shown on the screen and many people knows him

There is Jesse.

To the rest of the world, any people does not know him but to people in Europe and people in North and South America, they are very familiar with this person

He is one of the members of the Quorum Council and there was a time where he oversaw the military base in Europe before transferred back to the island to serve as the Quorum member

He is a great warrior who fought bravely and powerfully.

He is also very smart and highly adept in tactic that he oversaw many of the defensive battle between World Government and the forces of Jean when Jean was the Emperor of France

To the world powers, they all know this person as one of Raymond most trusted person.

He is bulky but the muscle is well-defined. His hair is cut neatly and he sits there like how a military man sits, like a well built statue.

Even though his current title is a member of the Quorum Council, he is an experienced general.

He did not talk to anyone, merely closing his eyes and seems to be waiting.

Most of the people here has long not shown their powers.

This is because they have reached a very high position in power after all that they have been through in the past decade

Most of them however have similarities in that they all seems to have fought during the Weronian War.

That war was a disaster.

If they had lost, the fate of humanity would also be lost.

And because of that time period, there is heroes emerging in great numbers and these heroes knows each other and cooperate with each other.

It is since then the tense relations between the world powers slowly mellowed out. After all, your people know y people and vice versa.

So, they are slightly reluctant to kill each other or fight in a war that have nothing to do with them

Even though armies are also used, people with great power could sometimes determine whether a war could happen or could not happen

Just look at how Death Monarch started a war. Even if the other six world power did not want to provoke the war, if Death Monarch wanted to provoke it, they either could break relations with Pandemonium or follow him into battle.

One man deciding to fight against the world

And because of the Weronian War, he warriors of the e other world powers admire the other warriors of the other world powers.

Now that they know their supposed enemy and fight alongside them in that war, how could it be easy to pit them to war against each other

Between loyalty, friendship and one own personal code of honor, it is hard to juggle all of these

Take Jesse for example. During the Weronian War he also admired and praise the Seven Fairy of the Stars and very much sad about what happened to Somi.

He also fought alongside big names of today like Jean and even members of the League of Freedom.

All over the world, some people scratch their heads, thinking who is this figure shown in the screen.

There are some people who are knowledgeable and began boasting, telling the crowd of who this person is. Jesse

The Loyal Warrior.

This is the most loyal warrior that Raymond have and this become his title

Then the camera pans again toward someone else.

The moment the face is shown on the screen some people clicked their tongue and some people show a disgusted expression.

Most of the people that knows this person usually fought a battle with him.

To the general populace, he is not well known other than in the World Government where he is slightly well known. He is not the kind of person whose name resound all over the world but those who fought him in battle would never forget his name

He has long hair and his eyes seems to shine brightly. He is slender and lean, tall and handsome. Beside his chair, there is a case. And everyone knows what is in the case

A gun. To be more accurate, a sniper gun

This person is Nick.

And he is known to many as the Eye of God.

When he snipes a person he did not snipe it the normal way. Sometimes, he could snipe a person ten thousand kilometers away.

Some people don't even know how they died.

Of course, once he takes his shot, anyone with a decent Divine Sense could trace him back.

Such a powerful method also has its price. If the shot does not kill the person he targeted, then there is always a possibility of a counterattack.

Hence, the reason why the World Government never uses him to attack Death Monarch in the past

However, some people also wonder, in this world of great change, of powerful force of nature slowly surpassing their strength, does the Eye of God still see that far?

Especially in a sea like the Turbulent Sea.

People are wondering this and the dark forces that are looking at the screen is also wondering the same thing.

The camera then shifted to another person's and when the screen shows who it is, the whole world knows this person

Because this person is one of the people that dares to fight against Death Monarch in the past and survive to tell the tale

At that time, Death Monarch is still called Lord Shadow. Arno is one of the five Energy Disperse Stage leveler that fought him when he went attacking the World Government.

He has been quite the celebrity after that and he is now one of the top members of the World Government.

And of course, he is no longer an Energy Disperse Stage leveler

He is now taller than when he first confronted Death Monarch in the past. he is now six feet four, his hair however is still curly but there is style to it.

His muscly appearance had changed a bit as he is now leaner. His face also shows a hint of ruggedness and he seems to be a bit more casual.

Wearing a uniform, he looks like a poster boy for military discipline.

Chapter 1463 Old Faces

Beside Arno, sitting on the chair is a woman dressed in white.

She was a beauty with a pale white flawless skin.

Everyone who saw her knew who she was. She is also one of the people that tries to fight Death Monarch in the past

Before she was five feet five.

Now, the years had been kind to her.

She is now six feet two, a little taller than before.

She still retains a bit of that cuteness she has before, but there is a certain maturity to her.

If before she could be considered cute, now, she is blossoming into a beautiful young woman

She sits there elegantly, below her platforms are her devotees.

This is the White Witch Giselle.

In the past, there is the title of Holy Lady but to her enemies, she is the White Witch.

In the Weronian War, she helped many of the resistance but to the enemies she reverses the gate of life to death, reverses health to illness and bring all that is good and life nourishing to a nightmarish version of death stealing calamity

It was during the Weronian War, that the world could see how dangerous this woman could be. Still, sitting there she retains her elegance.

And those who have spoken to her in the past all could not help but remember that each time she spoke, it is of gentle voice and full of compassion.

Arno and Giselle had been reported to be dating each other. But no one knows whether this is true or not.

Arno and Giselle did not seem to be talking with each other but no one thinks much of this. The camera then pans to another person.

Sitting not far away from the World Government faction is Oreki the Thunder Monarch

He is smiling as he looks at the camera.

Houtarou Oreki could not be compared with Arno as he is more famous and more powerful.

Even though he is still in Disk Formation, many people in the world believe that it would not be long now before Oreki would also enter into the ranks of Hikigaya.

Since the beginning of the Fall, Oreki progress has always been parallel to Hikigaya thus they were also dubbed the Two Great Warriors of Japan

There are many warlords that rises after the Fall, but in Japan, there is only two people that outshined everyone else and make the world remember their name.

Hikigaya Hachiman and Houtarou Oreki.

Such a person fame has long outshined an officer like Arno. Arno, even though he is quiet famous, he is an official under the World Government

How could it be compared to a warlord like Oreki who holds military force independently?

He has many titles. In the past he is known as the Swift Dragon and Dragon of Echigo.

He is also known as the Thunder Lord, controlling thunder as a weapon and sweeping most of the territory of Japan with that superiority

He is sitting there with lightning sometime shoots from his eyes and swirls around his body. That must be the reason the distance between him and Arno is quite far

Just by looking at him, one could see how dangerous he is and how powerful he seems to be.

The area around him is very hot. Even though these thunders sometimes shoot out of his body, it is not something he could control.

Some people heard that just a few days before, Arno had gone to the Sea of Thunder to recharge himself

Some said, he was there to comprehend a new move. There are many speculations but everyone agreed on one thing

And that is the fact that Oreki went to the Sea of Thunder.

Below the platform is his private elite unit the Raijin Army. Today, he seems to bring his Spear Unit.

The sight of his soldier is also a daunting sight for the rest of the world. They stand there straight and even just by looking at them on the screen one could feel the force that they seem to exude.

A true professional elite unit that solely loyal only to Oreki.

Then the camera pans again this time showing the Emperor of Wei, the nominal leader of the Lotus Order and he usually sit in the Throne of the Lotus Palace.

China is not unified and there is still a lot of warlords vying for power.

As for the Lotus Order, they have to rely on the World Government, Republic and Pandemonium m to maintain order in the begging and because of how big Asia was, decentralization of power was the trend.

Unlike the other world powers, the Lotus Order is like the Emperor court and Emperor of Wei is the Emperor. But his orders are not entirely followed.

For example, in China itself, some provinces and prefecture that have a strong man could sometimes ignore the directive of the Imperial City itself.

Not to mention that the Lotus Order is not an organization for China.

But for Asia.

And in Asia, tigers and dragons roam together and fight each other, evenly matched from the warriors in the rural village of Indonesia, to the warlords on the islands of the Philippines, to the king and queens at the northernmost point, there is tigers and dragons.

The only exception to this battle for power and influence is Japan

Even though Japan is an Asian country, it is not recorded as part of the dominion that falls into the Lotus Order purview because Japan is one of the founding members of the World Government

However, this decentralization of power also makes it easy for the top ranking member of the Lotus Order to leave their headquarters.

Most of the leaders of the world powers here did not bring all of their forces. Many of them are still in their headquarters, standing guard.

But the Lotus Order could bring all of their forces without worrying Asia will be attacked. Not only because Asia itself is now even bigger, but also because the warlords that govern large areas of land would defend their land by themselves if they are being attacked and does not need the Imperial City orders or directives.

The Emperor of Wei is not known to many people. In other words, this person is very stable. Asia is not an easy place to rule, with so many competing factions but he could still sit on the seat of the Lotus Order.

One could say that he is very stable and did not make many enemies.

He did not wear his dragon robe but instead wear a glistening golden armor.

He sat there solemnly, a three feet sword inside the sheathe on his left hip.

Sitting beside him is Arrayist Sage Lee Sangmin.

He is one of the top member of the Lotus Order and the advisor of Emperor Wei.

The walls of the city gate of the Lotus Palace is guarded by him and it is said even Death Monarch would think twice to try to break through by force

The Arrayist Sage ability to use arrays of formation to create miraculous effect is known and famous all over the world.

He even assisted in making the execution stands and added his own touch to some of the security measures implemented in the squares.

Lotus order did not have many people on the platform as most of them are not famous.

The camera pans to a few other generals but most of the world did not know these generals. This could not be blamed on the people.

It is because the Lotus order operates in Asia and Asia itself is large and after the massacre of monster all over Asia, other than Japan, most countries in Asia are full of emptiness.

It is not barren but empty and so some people live in seclusion and the matters of Asia are handled in Asia and they always kept a low profile.

So, the camera simply shows these people for a few seconds.

Then the camera shows the line up from the Republic. Jean and Hikigaya, the leader of their own faction, did not sit on the second level so there is no Jean on the second level.

But there is the people of the Republic.

There is Paulette.

Just like the other Eye of God, Paulette is also a sniper. But her fame is clearly not as resounding as Nick.

However, she is most famous for being the girlfriend of Jean.

She has long hair and she wears military uniform but even then it could not hide her beauty. Jean rarely let her go to the battlefield, preferring to keep her alongside him.

Paulette herself while brave and resourceful, also did not find it bad that she could kick back a bit.

Her relationship with Jean is not of benefits but of true love, compassion, gentleness. Those who know this couple all said the same thing.

That they are a true couple in love.

Maybe, it is because they fight together or maybe it is because their shared hardship or maybe it is just fate and destiny.

Whatever it is, they get each other and because of that, they did not calculate against each other.

They trust each other with their lives. It is a miracle how they met each other and how they ended up with each other.

Those who saw her beauty could not help but think this is the reason why Jean falls in love with her.

But, many people believe this isn't the case.

It must be noted that when Jean first met her, while she is beautiful, she is clearly not as elegant or as regal as she looks today.

Those who know Paulette in the past all said that she is more like a guy than a woman.

She is tough as a cookie and she fought with the best of them

Those people who were there with Jean in the beginning all said that Paulette was one of the people Jean could trust and how he could easily gain power in France before sweeping all over Europe.

But they fall in love with each other all the same.

Paulette did not care how the world sees her and Jean is the same.

They care only how they see each other and that is the important part of their relationship. Paulette look at Jean on the third level of the platform and she could only sighed.

The camera did not catch this as it already shown the other person. Instead of sitting on his chair, he seems to be standing, looking at the distance

Not many people know who this person is because he wears a mask.

But to those people in the Republic and the people in the World Government they know exactly who this person is.

Null.

Chapter 1464 Beauty And Misfits

The mask itself is a very nondescript mask.

Those who knows him know how much of an evil man this person is during the European Campaign

The Frenchman has a boyish face, and slim physique.

He wears a patched grey robe looking like a dirty person. There is a staff leaning on the side of his chair this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

If Wang Jian staff is a straight stick staff, then this person staff is more like a wizard staff with intricate design on the top part of the staff, appearing more like a scepter than a staff.

Those who knows him knows that this is Null

Null is one of the Three Holy Guardians of France. He was once a general in the French Empire under Jean. But he was sacked from his position because of what happened in Switzerland.

He burned and sacked Zurich, Bern and Geneva leaving none alive, men, women, old or young. Those who were alive was either burned in a tall twenty-foot pole or buried alive.

His method was cruel and incite such fear that it makes many of the cities that rebel meekly surrendered after faced with such inhumane and cruelty punishment.

In public Null was said to have been apprehended and jailed. Clearly, he is not. But, not many people remember the name and few more people remember the face.

Then beside him is another man. Unlike Nick, this person is known to many especially to those who clashed with the Republic.

He has a long brown hair that reaches past his neck. He is sturdy and tall, his muscle is buff and there is a case below his chair.

It is the same case like Nick the Eye of God.

Like Nick, this man is also a sniper.

Nick and Maximoff are the two most fearsome sniper in the world.

Their ability to shoot people from such a far distance made them the perfect tool to assassinate someone.

People called him the Black Death

Maximoff is known to have a sniper made of obsidian black like crystal.

He is also the only known member of the secretive intelligence agency of the Republic.

And his mentor is Paulette.

However, the reason why he is always spoken in the same breath as Nick is because if Nick method of killing people is precise and accurate, then Maximoff way of killing people is like a bomb detonated in a middle of the city

There is a reason he is known as Maximoff the Black Death and it is not only because his sniper is pure black.

It is also because his bullet seems to have many ways of killing people.

From spreading infectious disease with a bullet to creating a bullet array that could trap countless of Disk Formation levelers

This is only a few of his abilities using a bullet

In other words, there is a difference in their method. Nick is more of a personal one on one killing method. While Maximoff is more like an area of attack type of attacker.

Those who had to deal with Maximoff see the screen and some gritted with anger and some reacted with fear.

Then the screen once again shows a different person. And seeing the face of this person, one could not help but mutter

'She is truly the number one beauty in the world' some people mutter unconsciously. Sitting on the chair, looking like a fairy of the heavens, is the Ice Queen Katarina

The High Chancellor of the Republic

Leaning on the side of her chair is a five feet sword, long and slender, the sheath of this sword is red just like the sword itself.

The Red Queen, the sword of the Ice Queen.

Beauty, power and influence. Only when it is concentrated into one person, that this person could be elevated into such a grandiose title of the number one beauty in the world

Her fair skin, her elegance and charisma, her every move that seems to exude otherworldly beauty that is hard to describe, one could not help but think that the rumors of her beauty is not exaggerated at all.

There is this feeling when looking at her, like you are looking at something fragile yet unbelievably strong at the same time.

It awakened the instinct to protect yet at the same time awakened the instinct to desire her.

This contradictory feeling that seems to be ignited is a testament of how otherworldly her beauty is

But looking at her, one could not think to taint such beauty, like one would not throw a black ink on a masterpiece, one would not violate such beauty for even thinking of it feels like blasphemy.

People probably does not understand why but as people becomes stronger, everything about them is magnified.

Azief seek strength and his temperament is cloudy and unpredictable. He is gloomy at times and dark, sometimes brooding, rarely smiling.

And as such as he grows stronger, that temperament of his seems to be a part of him and the aura he exuded against his enemies seems to condense all of these feelings into a special personal aura of his.

Thus, those who fought against Death Monarch always feel pressured and depressed. It is the same for Katarina. She is innocent in heart and mind.

Of course the world had changed her a bit.

That is just inevitable process of living in such a turbulent and chaotic era.

She kills and she slaughters. But her heart somehow retains some innocence. Because to her, those people that she killed deserved to be kill.

It is like Death Monarch who kills people that is evil. If he could sleep killing that person, he would not think much of it.

She still believes that there is love in the world and the world is not as bad as some people think it is.

Because she was protected and she was loved. She loved people who loved her and she kills people who she believes is evil.

To her, evils should be eradicated like heroes in the fairytales fighting evil monsters that terrorizes the village.

And that translate to her beauty of heart and mind exuding out from her, making anyone who sees her could not help but be enchanted by her beauty.

And so, no one could really know how to describe this beauty that seems to enchant their hearts and mind.

The screen then shows another section and like they were being broken off by a spell, they shake their heads

'What a beautiful woman, like a fairy above the sky'

'An enchanting beauty'

'it is the kind of face that would launch a thousand ship'

Some lavish other praises and all of them is about her beauty.

This is probably the first time that the people of the world could see the face of the most beautiful woman in the world so close before.

In that moment, they seem to have forgotten about Katarina and the Republic beef.

They also seem to have forgotten about Boris that could not be seen in the Republic side of the platform.

Then there are the members of the League of Freedom.

Out of everyone, the League of Freedom seems to have more people.

There is Narleod. His face is no longer covered in bandages instead he wears a red mask.

He is tall but he exuded a certain kind of madness.

Even though the people that are watching this could not feel it, but they could see the dark red aura that seems to enveloped his entire chair.

Beside him is none other than Warp the Space Master.

He had many title like Teleportation Master, One Step Warp, and many other title.

He sits there on his seat closing his eyes.

Unlike some other people, no one could see anything amiss around him.

Some powerful people would emanate their aura unconsciously.

But Warp seems particularly normal. He is like a normal bloke you would see walking down the road.

He is not too tall but not too short either.

He does not have six packs but more of a lean thin stature.

He has his charm but he could not be called the conventional handsome man.

But it is this normal, ordinary looking guy tht is marked by many great powers as the greatest infiltrator in the world.

There is no place he couldn't go and space is nothing but a plaything to him.

It is speculated that even Jean Time Domain would not work against this guy because of his adept manipulation of space.

There is also the Fire Arrow Frieda, with hair as red as fire and an attire as bright as blood. Just by looking at her one could see her fiery temperament.

Her reputation is one of a rash woman yet filled with great destructive power.

And like always these strong men and women all have their own uniqueness.

She is beautiful, but there is a kind of madness in her eyes. the kind of crazy girl that you would avoid.

But this crazy girl is a woman who could create great flame that could reach the sky and devour the earth.

So, crazy here, takes on a whole other meaning

Chapter 1465 The Misfits And The Crazies

There is also the Blue Queen Erin, sitting elegantly while sipping some drinks. There is a small table beside her and there are servants behind her.

She sips some kind of drink while not seemingly worried that the pirates and the Crime Alliance is coming to this island.

She has many titles, one of which is Water Princess.

There is always Elementals since the beginning of the Fall. But Erin went into the extreme, polishing her skill onto only one element. And that is water.

And she seems to unlock some unique class making her very much adept at using water. It is also rumored that she could travel all the ten seas because of this ability of hers.

But those who are fooled by her elegance would rarely end well. She once submerged an entire city and drown people in dry land.

She tortures her enemy and just like Frieda, she has her own madness. It almost seems like all the high ranking members of the League of Freedom all have this propensity for madness.

Narleod himself seems to be harboring some kind of dark fetish and even though he had tone it down, people still remember him as a quite crazy person.

A crazy person with a purpose is sometimes more terrifying than just a crazy man. A group of misfits and outcast.

That is how certain people describe the League of Freedom top members

Then the camera panned out before zooming into another member of the League of Freedom

Queen Maya, once the Queen of the Philippines before her regime was overthrown by the World Government.

She then seeks refuge with the League of Freedom while at the same time wanting to reclaim her lost throne.

Year after years passes and that dream of hers is becoming harder with each passing moment. Philippines were in the beginning influenced by the World Government, ousting this Queen

But, then Lotus Order rises and Death Monarch rearrange the world politics, making the Lotus Order having a claim on the Philippines.

It is ironic however, that the current Philippines is in a mode of prosperity.

Most of its unstable elements was eradicated by the World Government and when Lotus Order came to power, they relegated the power to local people with the local people establishing republic-like government.

The military power was taken away but there is always powerful man that could amass their forces.

However, the world power does not fear some powerful family or powerful man.

In the end, even if there is such a rebellious element, they still have to measure whether they could take an entire world power.

Ann even though the Philippines has its own problems, disaster and monsters, their monster infestation is not as bad as China and relatively, they life for their people has been in upward trajectory with most of the Philippines seems to regain some kind of normalcy

Even after the Multiversal Convergence it still remains prospering and easy to stabilize.

In such an environment, why would they want Maya to return? People only want to live peacefully and safely in the world.

Before the Fall, and after the Fall, it is still the samethis content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

But she did become stronger and her presence does give League of Freedom a reason to meddle in Asian politics.

It is surprising however that Narleod would bring her to this battle.

Sitting beside her, is the Huntress Delia.

She is known to many Armenians since she came from that land.

But she herself does not identify that much with the people there.

It is said that her life story is very tragic and all she cares about is the people that cares about her and she loves only people who loves her. Her attitude is also very extreme and she would repay any grievances one hundred times more.

A vindictive huntress.

She wears a hunter outfit and she has a small cape behind her back. this cape is magical in nature, making her to be able to blend with the surrounding like a chameleon.

She uses bows and arrows, but she also uses daggers, short swords, hidden weapons. She is adaptable in battle situation and like a lone wolf in the battlefield.

She is mostly known because of the small but mobile unit that fought against the Weronian in the Weronian War.

There is also a man wearing a white coat, an oversized glass, a tweed coat.

This man is a Japanese.

However, he is not a member of the World Government nor is he people from the Empire of Japan

Instead, this is also an infamous person in the world.

The Mad Scientist Akira.

He rarely shows his face and usually works behind the scene.

But those who know him know that this man, this mad scientist is the League of Freedom architect of many of the League weapons of mass destruction and he is not something that one should underestimate.

The League has a plasma weapon on the moon.

There is also a plasma railgun attached to Storm Tide and many of the city under the control of the League

In a way, Akira pioneered the development of plasma weapons. He uses the miraculous ability he gets from his unique class before managing to find a way to mass produce it.

Most of the soldiers of the League has a plasma gun and plasma shield protection. Of course, if this is the only thing he did, he would not be called a Mad Scientist.

The reason why he is called as such is because of his weird and sometimes crazy ideas that usually violate a certain taboo. Human experimentation is one of them

There is also many experiment done without the consent of the people that are being experimented on.

Human experimentation is banned and the World Council banned it. And that means something. The World Council is not like the World Organization before the Fall.

The World Council after the Fall led by the Three Great Powers is a very powerful organization that dictates the rules of the world.

Breaking it, would be punished.

Pandemonium, World Government and the Republic once sent a legion to Asia to help Lotus Order when two Disk formation leveler massacre villages and cities.

But, Akira break one of the rules of the World Council.

The only way a human experimentation could be done would to gain the Council approval before making any such experimentation.

Such thing could be done and allowed if the experiment is vital to the safety of the world but even then it is not easy to gain the World Council approval.

Even an experiment where the participant is willing, one must ask the permission of the Council because how easy it is to coerce someone will in this new era

Akira should have already been brought to the World Trial and convicted.

But, since Akira shares some of his research with the world power and Narleod promise that he would be able to keep him in control, the world did not stick him inside a jail under the sea with twenty-four hours' security

One would wonder why such a person who rarely goes to the frontline is here right now. But he must be here for a reason.

And The camera then shows another person.

It is another Japanese.

But this one is more recognizable than Akira.

There is the Poison King Takashi. People knows him because he always competed with the Alchemy Queen Sina. They are rivals and yet also friends with each other.

There is the Medical Conference every two years and because of their rivalry the Medical Conference also become more interesting every year.

It is started by Sina and invited the top people who have healing abilities to meet each other and shares method to save the people and save the world.

Top people of the world who have healing abilities and classes related to healing view it as a great honor to be invited to such event.

And Takashi even though his specialties lies in poison, this did not mean he is not capable of healing.

After all every poisoner knows, that you have to make an antidote. If you don't, what if you poison yourself to death later?

This is the lineup of the League of Freedom.

For a few moments, the camera pans out and the viewers could see this grand line up before the camera zooms in again, this time showing a different face and a different world power.

Unlike the other parts of the platform, this part of the platform seems a little scarce.

This time, it shows the Order of Thinkers line up.

Unlike the other world powers, the Order of Thinkers is not exactly known for their prowess in battle.

The reason why they could develop peacefully is because they are a group of researchers, scientist and many other men and women who dedicated to the pursuit of the mind.

However, they are creepy.

This is the feeling of the world towards them.

Speaking in codes and riddles, and doing all kinds of weird experiment.

In the League of Freedom, there is Mad Scientist Akira and in the Order of Thinkers there is a lot of people that seems to share the same trait as that Mad Scientist.

It could be said if Akira defected from the League of Freedom and goes to the Order of Thinkers, he would fit right in

And just like their reputation of a bad fighter, one could not see a lot of their members here.

Chapter 1466 A War For Stability

Those who knows the inside story knows that the Order of Thinkers still have a lot to answer for.

They have done human experimentation with their cybernetic soldiers and other stuff.

Other stuff means it might even be worse than some people thought so much so it is not mentioned in the official report.

But while there are not many members of The Order here on the platform, they still have to show some of their members.

The Grand Researcher could not come as she is still in Antarctica

There is the fact that she rarely goes out from there and there is also the fact that there is the Blood Sea.

Since the chaos a month ago, the Blood Sea seems to become more active with many more wraiths coming out from the Blood Sea and monster is being generated almost every few hours.

But there is two members of the Order of Thinkers that sat on the platform. And these two are the most recognizable one.

There is Eric Strauss

He is tall, lanky and is wearing a monocle.

That monocle of his is scratched. And his handsome rugged face is marred by a huge line of scars across his eyes.

Though if you look at another way, it added a certain manly charm about him to have such scars across his eyes.

As for the monocle, he did not wear it because of fashion.

Some said that his monocle could see through atomic composition and some said that monocle of his could zoom in and zoom out on someone energy.

There are many rumors about the abilities of that monocle. One thing is true, is that nobody knows what it does

He did not seem to care that his face is shown on the camera as he simply looks straight ahead. It looks weird but everyone is accustomed of the Order of Thinkers weirdness.

Then there is Graham. He is a middle age man with neatly trimmed grey beard.

He is around five feet seven and his body is lean and there is no trace of any muscle on his body.

Not exactly an imposing kind of guy. Compared to many people on the platform he might be one of the shorter one

His blonde hair neatly tied on the back and he wears a glass that look like an antique created during the Victorian era.

But he is recognizable to many powerful people on the world

This is because Graham is one of the few researchers in the Order of Thinkers that have a big pocket

As for why he is here...some people believe it is because he could have a lot of information about the enemy

This is because it is known that Graham had a ton of connection in the crime world, lots of researchers contact in the great powers, and countless channel of resources.

And he might be the freest researcher in the order of Thinkers because most of his research are privately funded.

this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

He is also one of the high ranking members of the Order of Thinkers so it would not bring words like the order of Thinkers did not heed the call of the other world powers.

These two are the only ones that have come from the Order of Thinkers and as for their soldiers, they are robot soldiers.

They almost look humans because of the life-like skins attached to these robots but they are robots nonetheless.

Most of their other members are scattered all over the island or in some secret site analyzing or building something

This is the thought of the people watching.

Order of Thinkers strength is in researching and using new technology so it might be their job to supply new weapon or new technology to the other world powers.

The screen also shows the people of the African Alliance.

There is a lot of them but not many who are famous.

Those who knows these people might be the people from the African continent but even then not all of them are people that the world knows.

The African Alliance has too many people on the platform and many of them are sitting

But people could guess why. Unlike the other world powers that is dominated by one person or one organization or faction, the African Alliance is a lot like the Lotus Order in that they are governed and administered by many people

Especially the African Alliance which has a lot of countries, kings, presidents and Queens. Those sitting on the chair must be powerful and influential people in the African Alliance.

Their alliance with each other had managed to contain the war in the surface and they focused more on hunting the beast and monsters all over the African Continent

This did not mean all things were peaceful. Every once in a while a battle between warlords would flare up, and regime is toppled.

The victors would then join as the new representative of the African Alliance.

And it does not mean tribal rivalry is dead. It is alive and well.

Loyalties still often go first to the tribe

Some people hated the Zulu's. Some people hated the other tribe. The massacre in Rwanda comes to mind

The Hutu, Tutsi and Twa tribes, killing each other

Each African ethnicity are linked to clans and extended family, where you inherit traditional rights, obligations but also the feuds of your ancestors.

Just because the Fall happened, does not mean everyone suddenly decides to get along.

Even before the Fall, even though the whole world had been modernized, there are still some tribes that rejected modernization and live a traditional kind of life

However, the African Alliance is a grand undertaking, of a grand vision that would have crumbled if not guided by a firm hand and just punishment

And unlike before, these warlords, the powerful men and women who use power to enslave others could not let it get too far or do too much.

In the past, there is much interest in keeping them in chaos.

And help or aid is hard to reach the truly affected ones as the international aid mostly only helps the government and not the people affected by it.

If you got a good government, then the aid might help you. But when people were sent billions of dollars of aid, that aid did not exactly help the people.

Of course the intention is good.

The money is given, so that the government could stabilize the country, create jobs, bringing peace and stability to the country

If people were angels, this would be easy but people are not.

Those politicians ask for aid, more than half goes into their pocket, the other goes to building projects but also enter the pockets of other politicians.

In the end, what the people get is the scraps

However, after the Fall, and after the formation of the Great Powers, the African Alliance was established to supervise these things.

They either fall together or rise together.

Either they united or they would be dismembered by the other world powers.

It is only when it threatens their survival that they choose to forget old rivalries and old feuds to unite with each other

They might not like each other but they try to contain that to themselves

Though, there is still drama each time, a meeting between all of the African leaders happen.

in their early formation, Pandemonium, World Government and the Republic is just waiting for them to make a mistake.

Death Monarch was very direct in his implication. If the African Alliance failed to pacify the African Continent, then even if another power is to dethrone them, he would not care.

What he cares at that time was the strongest power at the time to take control, bring peace and stability and keep the world in check so that it would become a chaotic mess.

There is Nehanda Nunurai.

There is Kairu.

These two people wears armors and the sight of them is like a warrior king ready to sprang into battle

It is good that they bring only twenty people on the platform. If they brought all fifty-four of those representative of the African Alliance, the second level platform would be crowded

The African Alliance rarely does meddle in the matter of the other world powers, satisfied with enriching and strengthening themselves.

But Death Monarch spoke and his will is the will of Heaven.

Today, he called the Seven World Powers, and those who did not listen and those who did not heed his orders, one could imagine what would happen to them after this ended.

Death Monarch has arranged the world before. Who would say he would not rearrange it again? Not to mention that he is now stronger than before and at the peak of his power.

The African Alliance knows how to weigh benefit and loss

Everyone, even those who are the most optimistic about the Pirates and the Crime Alliance chances knows that even if somehow the prates and the dark forces of the world win this battle today, they would not be able to kill Death Monarch.

And so, win or lose, Death Monarch would still be alive.

What the pirates, the Crime Alliance and the dark forces is trying to do today is to force the world power to treat them as equals.

However, people would die today.

The world doesn't know this but Death Monarch had spoken to the leaders of the world power already.

He said this is not a war where he could control everything that would happen. People would die but this war is necessary.

To bring stability.

The moment that Kaiju get that trident, the stability of the world has already been compromised.

It's anyone else, of any other faction, even not one that is affiliated with the world power....it would not lead to such an outcome.

It is precisely because it ends up in Kaiju hand that this war happens.

Kaiju is an Outsider, and he is a battle maniac, and someone who is unpredictable. And the weapon he possesses is like holding a nuclear weapon.

Chapter 1467 Waiting For A Dragon

The camera pans toward another place and there the world could see, sitting lone far away from the rest of the people is Hirate the Mind Manipulator.

He did not sit at the World Government part of the platform but sits far away from everyone else. But when the people of the world look around him, they could understand

'What is that chair?

'What is that on top of his head?'

This are the words coming from the mouth of everyone that is looking at the screen. He is sitting on a floating chair.

On top of his head, there is a stylish helmet connected with countless metallic wires. These metallic wires come from the back of the chair.

Powerful aura seems to enveloped him in a circle shield.

This is a psionic force, a force that Hirate wields freely.

Hirate ability is very powerful as the years passes. He is also had reached the pinnacle Disk Formation realm. However, he just breakthrough a few months ago and he is not as close as Raymond to breakthrough to Divine Comprehension

Hirate is mostly known to use his psionic force to fight people. During the Weronian Occupation many people was saved by him using his mind tricks.

There was a story where he fools a few Weronian Warriors in thinking that he did not transport a few hundred people out of a prison.

However, many people also know that Hirate also had a weapon

A Spear called the Heavenly Jeweled Spear. This is a weapon of mass destruction. No one sees that weapon around him but everyone could tell that if he is ever in danger, he probably would bring that spear out.

The screen then shows other scenes all over the world from the chaos on the port cities, the arrivals of pirates and the ten seas.

Azief could see that the screen is now showing other scenes.

He stands on the third level of the platform. And on the third level, there is only three people and they sit not on a chair but on a floating throne, hovering a few inches above the platform.

Azief throne is black and reddish, Jean throne are light green with a hint of purple and Hikigaya throne is dark purple with a hint of white.

Sitting on the center of these three people is Azief. Sitting on his left is Hikigaya and sitting on his right is Jean. This content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

All three of them look at the far distance and they could see the wall. The wall is far away but distance seems to mean nothing for them.

'There is too much obstacle. You did want them to come right?' Hikigaya ask

Azief nodded

'Then why make so many obstacles for them to clear?'

Azief smiles and said

'That is how you build a story'

'A story?'

'Yes. Today, all of this from the world broadcast to this spectacle, I planned all of this. Just to show the world a story. A story works best when there are villains and there are heroes. But if the villain is too weak, the heroes might could not be properly displayed. So, we have to show the world that the villain is strong.'

Jean smiles and then said

'From the very beginning, that wall is easily destroyed right?'

Azief nodded.

'Maybe, if there are only the pirates and the Crime Alliance, they would find it hard to break that wall. But Kaiju? With that trident, he could easily break that wall. And that is what I wanted to show the world.

Hikigaya suddenly understood.

'the stronger he seems to the world, the stronger you would appear when you beat him'

Azief nodded.

Hikigaya understood a bit Azief methods. He is theatrical because it is the best way. Create an invincible image of him to the world so that even before meeting him, people would be intimidated.

And it is also to show the world how powerful Kaiju is and the more powerful he is, the more powerful Azief would be in people mind when he defeated Kaiju.

But all of this rest in the fact that Azief must defeat Kaiju. On the third level of the platform, there is only three people.

One of them is Jean the Time Monarch, Time Manipulator. He has many titles and many of them is related to his ability to control and manipulate time

In the past, such ability would be regarded as godlike. But anyone who reached his level has a bit of ability to control time and space around them

But the reason why it was him that is called Time Monarch is because among others, he is the most adept and masterful in using and manipulating time.

He sat there on his throne and even if he did not do anything, people would attribute things to him. This is the advantage of the strong.

He did not even have to show anything to make people afraid or in awe of him.

Usually he would wear his Chancellor robe.

But today, he is ready for battle.

He did not wear iron armor but he does wears a leather armor. Of course, this leather armor is also not ordinary

He usually would wear his purple armor but it seems he has created a new armor this time

He is tall and his hair is long, wavy, giving him the image of a free-spirited look. His eyes are bright blue and his face is pale white

He now sported a beard but it did not make him look funny. Instead, it made him look manly and fierce.

He would sometimes talk to Death Monarch.

But most of the true conversation would only be when they speak in secret, speaking with mental communication.

On the left side is Hikigaya.

He wears a red robe with a cloud motifs sewn onto it.

Around him mist and clouds seems to floats around him, making his face and his entire figure hard to see.

Who knows?

Maybe even everything that the people saw of him is merely his illusion and he is not here at all

This is the Archmage in using illusion magic, the Illusionist Archmage Hikigaya

Since he rarely fights in the stage of the world, not many people could see his ability.

But when the Weronian war started his power of illusion has saved many people and killed many enemies.,

And as the years passes by his ability in using illusions, in subverting reality and turning unreal to real has become even more pronounced and even more powerful

He is lean and thin but no one would think that such a person is weak. There is only three people in the world that is Divine Comprehension leveler and he is one of them

And then there is the strongest man in the world.

Death Monarch

There is nothing more to be said about this man.

The Heaven of the world.

The wall, tht mountain.

Death Monarch controls one third of the Heavenly Will, his eyes are everywhere, as long as you look at the sky above, there is him three feet above you.

To many, he is the wall that they need to break through.

Some regarded him as a mountain that they need to climb over.

Those who did not have such confidence to try to take him on would not reach the peak. Jean, Hikigaya these two people has always regarded Death Monarch as a target to surpass.

And even though they did not yet reach that point, they came closer than anyone else.

Death Monarch had also change. In the past, he would dress in black, his entire body would be swirling with dark and reddish aura that would exude out from his black robe

It was like he is the personification of darkness itself. But something must have changed.

He no longer wears a hood.

One could see his hair, a black with a hint of brown wavy style hair that is perfect enough, not too long but not too short either, the appropriate length.

But no one cares about Death Monarch hair. It is the name, the power that made him appear out of ordinary

The strongest person in the world!

Since he first dubbed that title, there was no one else that could challenge that throne of his.

With the power of one person, he could challenge the whole world to a fight! And he is the one who created the Seven World Powers, dictating the event of the world

This kind of person, is too big and hard to judge.

Just by him sitting there, it fills the heart of the people with a feeling of invincibility.

The screen of the world shows these three people and these three people alone could shut up the whole world.

Then the screen shows other scenes.

Azief smiles.

His objective is fulfilled.

He had hyped the battle and now he just waited.

At the same time, right now, the ship of the dark forces of the world had all gathered all over the thousand miles' area of the island continent

They did not sail forward and instead is waiting for an order. Before their eyes, the sight of thousands of island fill their vision.

If they were to moves across this islands, it would take days.

Not to mention all of these island somehow created squalls waves all around them making the water unpredictable and unsuitable for ships to go through

So, they waited.

If the world powers have Death Monarch now the pirates and the dark forces of the world also have their own Death Monarch

They are waiting for none other than Kaiju

Chapter 1468 Kaiju And The World

In the north there is five large ships. These five large ships belong to the crew of the five pirate lord.

On the south, there is another five ships.

Death Monarch captured Pirate Lords Raul, Pirate Lord Gao, Pirate Lord Frederik, Pirate Lord Marco, Pirate Lord Tarp and Pirate Lord Awad

Of these six captured pirate lords, five of them are on the north side of the island continent, staring at the island in front of them and the tall wall in the distance.

As for the crew of Pirate Lord Tarp, they are on the south side with the crew of the Bloody Mary, the Three-Legged Crow Pirates, the Skull and Bones pirates and.... the Rising Sun pirates

Kaiju is on the south side.

On the east side is four ships. These four ships are titanic in size, and it seems that it is equipped with all kinds of weapons.

And the aura coming out from this ship are not something that should be underestimated.

These four ships on the east side belong to the Crime Alliance.

Death Monarch captured six pirate lords. And he captured four people from the Crime Alliance.

From the moment he did that, the world could tell that Death Monarch was looking for a fight

There is the ship belonging to Bratva. They came for Berlin.

Then there is a ship with a flag of a black sun.

These are the people from Yomi. They came for Kaze and Mizu. Probably Susanoo is also in the ship, not showing his face until they reached the island.

This time they did not reserve their strength. Because they all know what is at stake here.

There is also the ship of the Cartel on the east side, sailing side by side with Yomi ship.

They come for Mateo. And there is also the ship of the Consortium, following behind the Cartel ship

Consortium has quite the close relationship with the Cartel. So, it is not surprising to see them bundled up with the Cartel ship.

On the west, there is a few dozen large ships.

This belongs to the Crime Alliance and the other dark forces of the world like the organization for killers, thieves and the like.

They all take their place and they waited.

They all wait for that person on the south side to make a move

On the Rising Sun pirate ship, someone came out and walk toward the bow of the ship. Each step he takes creates deep shaking all over the ship.

A man of imposing height and of powerful presence. This is a twenty-five feet figure with a force that crack the space around him simply by him walking on flat ground

His aura seems to increase with each step he takes. The people on the ship look at their captain with awe and a trace of worship.

In a world that worship the strong, Kaiju is like a God. His muscles are pronounced and he exuded that feeling of invincibility that pressures enemies and assure allies.

His horns are the prominent part about him, by now, the whole world knows that Kaiju is not from this world and he is not human but a dragon.

But this is not like during the Weronian Occupation. Most of the different races that come to Earth was the result of the Multiversal Convergence.

And some people from other worlds do want to come back and the world powers has been helping them by scheduling opening breaches to other worlds in controlled manner. Some wanted to stay.

So, the feeling and sentiment of the people of the world is tolerant towards these being and people.

Of course, this is also because Earth has a population problem.

There are only a few billions of them. two or three billion. Almost three billion or more was wiped out during the successive disaster.

And now, the world is even bigger and vast than before.

There is lands everywhere.this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

There is no lack of people who gained extraordinary power chooses to live in seclusion

With more than enough lands, and ability to live longer, who would want to fight all day?

The world powers also encouraged these people to stay here. Whether it be the humans or the other races because these other races all have their own innate ability.

They did not have the status window but they have their own ability that is not inferior to the abilities one could get from the system.

And by now, the whole world also could tell that the system is basically like a guidance to accumulate energy.

Even if you didn't have the system, your body could absorb the energy from the world. The system only made it easier and because of that some people created their own way o cultivating the energy of the world without using the system

On the vast Turbulent Sea, there is a ship. The ship has a flag of a Rising Sun. This is the Rising Sun Pirate Ship and there is someone looking at the horizon

He could see the space rips and the time distortions on some part of the sea. But what filled his vision is the sight of tens of thousands of islands.

Some are small and some are large but they all have the same purpose. To make it hard for any ships to sail these waters.

He could see the squalls on each of the route of the island. Some are calm and some are wild. But those that are calm, is too calm, like the wind does not blow and when the wind does not blow, the ship doesn't sail.

The Turbulent Sea is different in that many electronic an even certain magic would be restricted.

But it heavily affected machineries and electronics.

It would not be so bad when you landed on an island but on the sea itself, electronic devices are restrained like there is some kind of electromagnetic disturbance

So, most people would turn off their machine engine and rely on the wind and magic when they sail the Turbulent Sea.

That is one problem.

As for the wild ones, the wild waves are like a weapon that would trash any ships that tries to sail the area.

All of these islands are not put here by Death Monarch as some kind of aesthetic decoration nor it is to beautify the area of the sea

It is an array formation that is formed by nature and manipulated by magic.

And the one seeing this most clearly is none other than Kaiju. He holds the trident in his hand and he frowned.

He thought to himself

'Death Monarch must know that this kind of obstacle would not work against me!' he thought only for a second before snorting.

He knows this is a conspiracy of some sorts. But he knows it from the very beginning that this is all a conspiracy.

He thought back to all that happen since he gets this trident and he could not help but change his facial expression. Even though he is leading this force, he knows that he is forced by the situations.

He did not mind helping Mary because he knows there is always give and take in a relationship especially a relationship between people who knows only interest.

He did not mind that.

He wanted the trident so that he could protect himself. This world is not his world. In his world, there is dragons, phoenixes and many other different beasts.

Humans there are not as powerful as the humans in this world.

But Kaiju never wanted to go back. because his world is also dangerous but if compared to Earth, Earth is more dangerous with otherworldly beings had even come here to attack and invade.

At least in his world there is no such thing. But the reason why he stayed and never even desire to return back to his world is because this world has an unlimited energy

He could feel it acutely.

Even though he did not have system like the original inhabitants of this world, he could still absorb the energy into his body and breakthrough to a more powerful state.

He likes it very much. He first established his own force by being a pirate. He knows that he could not join the world powers.

Even if he joined, they might not trust him.

Especially if they knew his true identity. But the people of the Crime Alliance, the pirates and those who traded in the dark road, would probably not mind that much.

So, he became pirate and then he kills his captain and takes over the Rising Sun Pirate. All of this happens around five to four months ago.

When he fought for the trident, and hold that trident in his hand, he could feel that the barrier for his next breakthrough feels so thin.

He could feel the power of the sea, and his ear hear the song of the sea, feeling nature at the tip of his hand, containing all the mysteries of the world.

He had learned who Poseidon was and the more he learns about it, the more he is sure that this trident possess more than just the power to control water and the seas.

He could feel the earth and he could feel the sky, the laws of the world seem to etched itself in every part of this trident

Chapter 1469 The War Begins!

'The trident is that kind of weapon' that is his thought when he first found this truth about this weapon

He knows this weapon alone could not be destroyed by any power in this world not even the renowned and invincible Death Monarch.

He also knows that if he could even access five percent of this trident power and abilities, there is no one that could defeat him in this world.

So, he was very excited to refine this weapon.

He knows that this weapon could not be refined completed by him and he could not gain full control of this weapon.

Poseidon, whoever or whatever he is, in on an entirely different realm than him in terms of power

But he at least could refine a few abilities that this trident has and from there he could use it to supplement his own breakthrough to Divine Comprehension realm.

He even had the desire to break all of his cultivation and starts again.

Because even though he had the power of a Disk Formation, his method of cultivation is different from the method of cultivation of the people of this world where they form Disk in their energy sea.

The dragon has different methods of cultivation and he does not control that kind of many laws.

They strengthen their body and increase their comprehension of thunder and the domain of the sky.

So, it is a very different cultivation method and he sees the advantage of forming Disk.

He believes that with the trident it would be easy for him to recultivate back his foundation and embark on the same method of cultivation like the people of this world

However even before he had the chance to think about this, suddenly the Crime Alliance and the Pirate all came to him and force him to fight against Death Monarch

And he could not refuse. Because he is alone. Since the day he come here, he did not see any of his kind.

There are some dragons here but not of the same world as his. And these dragons do not seem to have any intelligence.

They are more like beasts, moving according to instinct.

Of course, he did meet a few dragons that seem to have intelligence but they are not the dragons of his world and they are bound by the World Orb.

Their situation is a bit complicated

There are still many things that he does not know about this world.

And there are too few allies.

If he had refused the Crime Alliance and the pirate lord, even though he is powerful and could defeat every single Pirate Lord and the members of the Red Table, this would isolate him.

And he is an unknown variable that could not be controlled

Because of that it will make it easier for people to target him. He could not be the enemy of the world, right now. Nor, does he want to

This is not like the beginning of the Fall.

One could even say that Kaiju had come at the wrong time.

If he had come here during the initial year of the Fall, with his ingenuity and his strength, he could also craft a great reputation like Death Monarch.

But this is fate and this is how destiny goes.

He sighed.

Now, that he had chosen to ally with the Pirate Lords and the Crime Alliance, he could simply throw all of this calculation to the back of his head and focus on what is ahead.

Win or lose, Kaiju also did not care. He wanted to know whether he could really fight with Death Monarch, this human that is dubbed by many as the strongest person in the world

There is a smile on his face and his heart beating fast. Not because he is afraid but because he is excited.

He then floated toward the sky. He looks in front of him, seeing the tens of thousands of islands and then he looks behind him and sees tens of thousands of ships.

He laughed, his laugh echoes all over the sky and the sea trembles and the ground below the sea quakes and mini tremors occur all over the ten seas

And then he shouted, his word is full of joy and excitement

'The War begins!'

BOOOM!

his shout exploded into the air, the clouds scattered and the sky broke.

His word echoes all over the four corners of the Turbulent Sea, the trident on his hand glows brightly like the sun

The whole world hears his declaration, echoing from the sea!

The curtain of war is open!

BOOOM!

CRASH!

BANG!

Azief sighed, looking at the waves in the distance, thrashing wildly like it is going to attack the beach and the shore.

It looks like a storm is approaching but there is no wind.

He could hear the sound of the waves crashing toward the shore like a hammer chiseling a stone

He could feel the earth beneath his feet is trembling.

And the roar of the dragon echoes all over the world. He then smiles.

Jean and Hikigaya also become alert. But they still sit on their throne.

'What do you think he would do?' Hikigaya asked.

Azief only smiles and spoke

'When you have only a hammer in your hand, all problem seems that it could only be solved by smashing it'

Hikigaya chuckles and then said like he could guess what Kaiju would do

'He is going to smash the island and the wall'

Azief nodded

He also agrees with Hikigaya. Hikigaya is also very proficient in the use of strategy. If not, he would not be one of the overlords of Japan.

But, even if they knew what Kaiju is doing, they did not seem to want to do anything.

Right now, the entire island continent of Arturia in deep alert.

Those propel in the middle of the island continent did not notice it but those who were stationed near the shore, near the border of the sea could see the waves thrashing wildly toward the sand beaches like it is angry.

They could see dark clouds gathering all over the entire Turbulent Sea.

However, while some people may not see the waves or see the gathering clouds that is becoming bigger and bigger, they could feel it

The trembling under their feet. The earth quaking, in mini tremor at first but everyone could guess that as time goes by this quake would become stronger and fiercer.

An unstoppable force seems to be coming and the whole world frowns.

The soldiers waited in trepidation. Meanwhile on the south side, Kaiju is ready to attack.

Sitting beside him is Pirate Lord Mary.

As for the Three-Legged Crow Pirate it is led by Pirate Lord Ji Hun, a Korean pirate that terrorizes many of the Asian seas.

He is also on the Rising Sun pirate ship.

Waiting for Kaiju. It is the same for the Skull and Bones pirates.

Kaiju rose up to the air, the trident on his hand and he closes his eyes. He mobilizes his energy and the trident glows brighter than ever.

The entire sea seems to trembles and shake the waves become even more wild, wind picks up and turns into a storm of earth-shaking level.

The plants on the island are uprooted because of these storms.

All of this should be a long process but from the moment he rose to the air and stimulated the trident only thirty second had passed Mary look at this and spoke

'What a terrifying trident!'

Standing not far away from him, looking at this scene is her first mate.

Pirate Lord Ji Hun look at this and spoke.

'If he didn't have that much power, why would we even fight this battle?'

It is a sad affair.

If they did not have Kaiju, they would not even have the guts to fight against the world powers. But the reverse is also true. If Kaiju did not take the trident, the world power would have no incentive to try to provoke such war.

It is because they have Kaiju that they could fight against the world power but it is also because of him that all of this problem started

The storms pick up and then the clouds gathered. In just a few second dark clouds cover tens of thousands of miles.

Thunder roars in the sky with lightning flashing by.

'HAHAHA!' Kaiju laughed. Even though he is just a Disk formation leveler, holding the trident, he felt unlimited power

He could feel the sea moving beneath his feet, feeling the particles of the world swimming all around his body, like he is the sea itself

He then pointed his trident towards the island

BOOOOM!

BOOOOM!

Large explosion sounded and the waves rises.

Hundreds of islands collapse like it is a twig.

Each time an island collapsed and sink down to the ocean, the waves become more turbulent and more dangerous.

But the sea water did not smash outward toward the dark forces but instead, it moves inward, toward the wall.

The entire space and time phenomenon on the Turbulent Sea has been calmed down by Kaiju using the trident.

Those people on the other three sides the west, the east and the north all could see the islands on their side is collapsing in real time.

They were shocked for a moment and thought that the world power is attacking.

Chapter 1470 Breaking The Wall

The scene was really chaotic. The waves rise so high, that it looks like it would swallow the whole world.

The sound of the waves is like the roar of some best from the bottom of the sea.

The shadow of the tides become larger and longer as the waves rises higher and higher

But when they see the waves goes inward instead of outwards, they could tell that this is Kaiju. The pirate lords, the crime lords all looks at this and also could not help but feel that Kaiju with that trident truly have the capital to fight with the world powers.

All over the world right now, all of them is seeing this live.

Who knows how the White Owl create their camera and how sturdy it is that it could even transmit all of this?

What they don't know is that there are white owls flying above the sky.

In the square of Arturia, they use devices but on the site of the battlefield, they use these white owls.

Of course, they are not really living creature.

The owner of the White Owl organization is called appropriately the White Owl. No one knows his face and his magic is mysterious and enchanting

And it is this organization that is now broadcasting this to all the world.

Today battle had many participants. Some are openly participating and some are in the background.

the screen that is showing this scene are all in large square in cities and villages and the screen itself is large.

Only in that way, it could capture all of this battle.

The camera would cue to other sides of the conflict whenever it wanted to so the world could see how easy it was for the thousands of islands to collapse.

Yes, at first, there is hundreds of islands that collapses and sink into the sea but like a chain reaction, the coming of storms and the turbulent waves seems to be a foreshadowing of destruction.

Kaiju just stand there on the air and pointed his trident and the laws of the world change; the sea obeys his command and island collapses like sand being washed away by the waves of the sea

Hundreds of islands at first but like a chain reaction that could not be stopped, thousands of islands began collapsing before tens of thousands of islands collapse in all four corners of the island continent. These waves instead of spreading outward went and hit the wall.

The white wall is being bombarded by waves the weight of mountains.

Kaiju laugh and his laugh spread out all over the entire region of the Turbulent Sea, like his laugh itself is making the Turbulent Sea become even more wild and the seabed shakes like the intensity about to create a rift below the sea.

Thunder and lightning roars and sings, wind gather and create terrifying storms, swirling and destroying everything in its path

The people in Arturia look up at the sky and sees the dark clouds and see the lightning and hear the thunder and then accompanying this thunder and lightning is heavy rain

The warning is issued, people who are not confident of their strength flies away from the city of Arturia deciding to fly to other cities in the island continent.

The battle is coming closer and closer and the three Divine Comprehension leveler sitting on the platform only look at this with indifference.

This is just the prologue and the main story does not yet begin.

The sound of thunder must have roars in the sky for half an hour, each of its roars is like a hammer smashing on the sky. The heavens itself seems to shake and affect the waves below.

The trembling and the shaking seem to increase in his intensity

On the four corners of the island continent of Arturia, the barriers of islands that have obstructed the pirates, the criminals and the dark forces of the world had been cleared.

Tens of thousands of islands had collapsed and sink down into the sea. The bursting water flew up, jettisoned to the heavens above like a fast-rushing spear.

The force of the collapse created such a powerful force that it flew up. The cracking of the island could be heard all over the entire Turbulent Sea

If it's, the world before, the sound would travel the world a couple of times.

After all, when would you see such a scene of tens of thousands of islands collapsing inwardly, at the same time? Imagine the force of such destruction affects its surrounding and how loud the sound it made

The visual effect of this is shocking to the people of the world watching this

The dark forces of the world could see that their action is being played all over the world and every once in a while, they would see a few white owls flying among the clouds, evading the lightning and piercing through the whirling storms like it was nothing

Many pirates see those white owls

And they could tell that this is how the White Owl is broadcasting their actions.

But they did not hunt these white owls down. Because they also want the world to see the power of their force.

If they win today, this recording, this broadcast would instead help them. Until the winner is decided, everything is still up in the air.

'Move!'

'Full speed ahead!'

'Sail forward!'

'Go!'

The orders are shouted; the morale is soaring!

Kaiju power emboldened the dark forces of the world and the whole world that sees this is shocked to see this scene.

In the four corners of the white wall that stands high that it reaches the clouds, tens of thousands of ships sail forward

The island had collapses leaving an empty area for the dark forces of the world to sail forward.

The waves of the sea after the sinking of these many islands should have created a mega tsunami but the will of the sea seems to be wielded by Kaiju and the waves try to bombard the wall

But not even a crack could be found on that tall white wall.

But the runes carved on top of it is dimming and the protection formation before the white wall has already been wear down by such attack.

However, even when all of these was worn down by those attack of the waves, it still stands tall.

Kaiju who is in the air look at the tall wall and smiles

He could stimulate the waves and attack this wall and in half an hour this wall would crumble.

If this place is on land, it might take a few more hours or even days. But this is the sea and if there is one thing that is in abundance in the sea, it is water and waves.

The ebbs and flow of the wave could be calming to some people who watched it when it is angry, the same wave could swallow you whole

Kaiju fly forward and the sip follow him like he is a beacon.

Above his head thunder roars and lighting flashed by.

Rain falls down and the dark clouds a great deal of oppression to the people of the world.

The sea thrashed about wildly. The ships are all sailing the sea with great speed.

There is no phenomenon of time and space that disturbs them.

The trident wielded by Kaiju seems to control all the phenomenon of the sea.

Kaiju also only knows this when he wielded this trident.

No matter how dangerous it is, no matter how mystical it is, the ten seas pose no threat to him like he is holding the key of the ten seas.

The whole world watches as Kaiju flies in the sky coming closer and closer to the wall and in just a few minutes, without the obstruction of the space and time and any disturbance of spatial interference, he is now in front of that tall wall.

Kaiju himself is a twenty-five-foot monster. And if he morphs to his true appearance of a dragon, he would become even larger

But even then, compared to this wall that encircles the entire island continent, he looks like ants comparing with the height of a human.

Other people saw it and wonder how powerful; Death Monarch is to conjure up such an impregnable wall?

If this is not a world of high fantasy and instead the world before the Fall, such tall wall would create the most impregnable fortresses

Even if you rise above the fortress, the restriction put on it would make anyone unable to descend down as the whole weight of the entire wall would be imposed on you the moment you descended down the wall.

The only wall to be unaffected by the oppression of this wall is to destroy the wall.

Kaiju did not delay.

He pointed his trident forward, a powerful force erupted, the entire sky seems to be opened up and a drop of water seems to converge and combine to create something like a water ball on the ends of the top of the middle point of the trident.

Break!
