

Shadow 441

Chapter 441: Supreme \(7\)

When Azief was in his Soul Form he understands a bit about soul attributes and then as his thoughts returned to him he was reminded of Meihul and Azul Six Reincarnation Wheel.

That Wheel that control rebirth and reincarnation and the countless souls that is inside that Wheel, and could imprison anyone even an immortal being that could not be destroyed.

How could he forget it?

He then uses the opportunity to divinate and create a new type of illusion when he is in Soul Form.

In such condition, the body that is usually the limiting factor was removed. He put all of his energy into his mind as his mind seems to deconstruct the concept of Karma, Rebirth, Reincarnation, Life and Death in the Wheel.

When he is thinking of illusion his mind would surely go to Hikigaya.

Hikigaya put illusion in his eyes but he also could activate his illusion as long as one looks at any part of his appearance.

That One Finger Opening the Heavens and Suppressing the Earth is still fresh in Azief mind

Azief decided to put the lives he had experienced in the Six Sabers into his eyes, turning it into a hellish illusion.

Since the illusion had a base, it became stable and it became a legitimate illusion spell.

Azief did not immediately jump through the last three steps instead he look at the rings in his finger. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

His face expression was not pleasant at all. Now, that he started venturing to the Vast Universe, Azief felt the premonition of getting closer to the identity of this ring and why so many beings in the Universe wage a war for this ring.

Azief did not forget the war he saw in the Seresian world.

A three hundred feet Demonic King that fought against Demonic Prince with the land cleaved into half, the sky was torn apart by powerful ripping energy, their moon was shattered and a Heavenly Palace was brought down as the battle pit the forces of the Demonkin and the Heavenkin of that world.

Heaven was struck down, and Hell was broken into unleashing terrible fire and coldness into that world

Azief got the ring from the last survivor of that war.

The Demonic Prince of the 78th Level of Fiery Hell was the only one that survives the massacre and manages to kill the Demonic King who was at that time already in their last breath

The war was fought for the ten rings. Azief could not believe it at first.

At that time, he thought what kind of ring that could incite the two strongest race of that planet to give their all to grab that ring.

About a trillion of Demonic Prince and Hell Judges that dies under the Demonic King hands that day and there were even more Heavenkin that died during that day

At that time, Azief was merely an Energy Dispersing Stage. On Earth he was pretty powerful with that level of cultivation but in the Seresian World he could only be a slave.

Azief follow the expedition and hid himself and when he saw the Demonic Prince of the 78th level of Fiery Hell won the ring Azief take the risk.

The Demonic Prince had already cut the Demonic King finger that was big as a hill and grabs the rings.

At that time the Demonic Prince only have a few breaths left in his body yet he still chuckles maniacally as he tries to wear the ring.

Azief took the chance and kill him and grab the rings.

Since then the ring has accompanied his journey and Azief knows that the ring seems to contain powerful spells and energy and it almost seems like there is nothing in the wide Universe that the Ring could not provide.

The energy inside it has made Azief evaluated the ring and the fact that Azul recognize the ring only added to the mystery of this ring. What kind of treasure or artifact is not worn by Time?

But Azul said he had seen this ring before.

When he turns translucent and dissipated into Soul form and the dissipated entirely even under the Suppression of the Stairway and its Laws, these the rings did not change.

This time Azief saw it for himself.

When he dissipated, the ring floats in this Universe around the stairway and in his Soul Form Azief could see many strings of energy trying to suppress the rings and the strings came from the Laws of the Supreme Stairway.

Yet, it could not suppress the rings.

When he returns back to his original form, the rings flew back to him and wear itself into his fingers.

Unless he wished for the rings to turn into a soul form, then the ring would not turn into soul form no matter what kind of Laws is imposed to it.

Azul words still rings in his head about the origin of this ring and he sighed. He also remember how the Ring had resonated when the Gate appeared.

He sighed but then look at the Three Steps in front of him.

He then put all that thought away as he took a step.

Suddenly Azief was surrounded by formation glyphs and other form of writing that seems ancient and grass sprouted from the steps.

It was like the step he is stepping on now turned into a large flat land. He no longer sees the other two steps instead all he could see is a land full of grass stretching to infinity.

The ground was red and brown but as Azief walk forward, countless green grass and blooming flower actually emerged from the ground and slowly turning the empty land into a sea of flowers.

The land is full of life and vitality, and a strong breath of many energies. It was at this time Azief understand something.

This is the World of Life. This is Life. And the step he walks on is none other than the Step of Life.

The formation he sees before while it is not visible anymore Azief could feel it. It is in every blade of grass, every blow of the wind, every scent of the flowers.

That formation turns into Laws and concepts. Azief did not know such thing could be done. A formation to create Life.

It was at this time Azief knows what he needs to do. He needs to absorb the energy inside this illusionary world.

He sits on the patch of green with the scent of the flowers around him. He closes his eyes and take a breath as his entire body now turns into black hole absorbing the energy inside this world.

The entire land radiated with light and an enormous force overturning the universe suddenly burst forth.

The sky that was formed from the formation and glyphs collapsed and as it came crashing down it turns into formation symbols and glyphs and it was absorbed into him.

Around him, life seems to bloom even harder. Vines slithers and then the grass turns to trees, the gas rises up and the rains fall down, and lakes was formed.

The rain falls again and the lake turns to river and the river produce oceans as the land quake and break.

But while all of this happens, Azief was still sitting there focusing only on absorbing the energy of Life.

The more he absorbed the more the land that is slowly turning into a world riot. Mud and sand rolled up, mountains formed and crumbles, the sky appeared and then collapsed

It was a great apocalyptic change

The ethereal and lofty sky was overturning.

The earth that carried the weight of all was roaring!

Yet, through it all, through the thunders, the sky rising up and crumbling, the land quaking and breaking Azief is quickly absorbing the energy of this Life Step and it is clear that the only way he will be out of this step if he destroys the world.

It was now that he understands the three steps of Divinity. Unlike the others they are all connected.

Life, Death, Creation and Destruction. They are interconnected. Then the last step is none other than Emptiness.

As Azief sit there he could deduce and even divinate all of this. He then opens his eyes and stand up.

Around him the wind goes crazy, the world is crumbling down but there is still so much powerful Life Energy holding down this world

Azief lifted his index finger and the Life energy around him was absorbed and concentrated itself around the tip of his finger.

Now, that he could see through these three steps he no longer had any hesitation. He converts the life energy into a world shaking destruction energy

The moment he lifted his finger, the entire illusory world darkened and trembles.

His finger seems to contain an unlimited destruction energy. Azief understanding of Destruction energy enables him to turn the Life energy into a Destruction energy,

And now with his thirteen energy also imbued in this energy, it creates a powerful pressure that radiated and shakes this entire illusory world created by the Stairway.

The wind stops, the crumbling sky was held in place and everything was motionless like even the Laws governing this world is also being frozen.

The energy in this world suddenly stop. Only that finger with the energy of Life and Destruction seems to be able to move.

He twitches his finger and the Heaven and Earth collapsed, the Sun and Moon in this illusionary world reversed their rotation and he stand supreme alone and unrivalled in this world.

Right now the aura that he emitted is almost reaching the level of those Supreme Being and even the Supremacies.

It is not Azief aura since he borrowed it from the understanding he had derived from the Life Step but it did not change the fact that right now, Azief aura could contend with Great Supremacy that did not yet actualize their Grand Path.

This is how terrifying the energy he had converted from the Life energy in the Life Step.

Just lifting his finger causes everything to lose its luster. The energy on the tip of his finger is about to erupt and Azief is still calm

Countless green rays dazzled brilliantly as an apocalyptic energy erupted from his index finger and the moment it erupted everything resumes its motion.

But just before they could resume their motion the vast amount of power contained inside that finger erupted and the illusory world started to tremor and breaking at its seams.

The green light now being intermixed with golden, black, red and purple energy was akin to a godly invincible sword as it tore through this world ripping out the land beneath and tearing apart the Heavens above.

Nothing seems to escape this finger strike

The pure destruction power that Azief converted from the Life energy obliterated everything in its path and everything was annihilated

It took long to describe but all of this happened in just a few second.

When he released that power from his fingertips Azief waved his hand back and the finger strike had already obliterated everything and tranquility returned.

And when he blinks his eyes he was back where on the step. But there is something different this time. When he opens his eyes and returned he is already at the last step.

He looks behind him and there is no longer any stairway steps.

Instead, all he could see was the vast expanse of nothingness, churning and churning. And then he looks back in front of him and smiles bitterly as he looks at the last step. He did not have to enter into any other illusory world.

He instinctively knows that.

Nothingness if one thinks of it in complicated manner means to become empty of desire of earthy wants.

But, how could that be possible for these beings that created these stairways.

The many people that fought to become Perfect and walk this Supremacy Stairway will not give it up to become empty.

Then what should be emptied? Should he empty his ambitions and desire?

Azief smiles.

Because he knew that was not the answer. It is the simplest method possible.

As he walks all of those steps he did not only understand the many energies that is present in this dimension, he also slowly understands the thoughts and mind of the people that built all of this places and illusory worlds full of formations and imbuing energy in bricks and altering laws of the Universe.

Then if all of that is still not enough, they even hidden the real Supremacy Stairway behind this Thirty-Three Steps.

The Supremacy Stairway, while it seems grand and mysterious in the end it is just stairs. One just had to climb it.

So is this last step.

Empty just means that.

Empty. He looks behind him and smile as he looks at that emptiness of space and then believing his thought was correct he jump to that nothingness

He jumps from the last step to the emptiness of this abandoned Universe and before he could even have the chance to close his eyes proper, he arrived.

The process doesn't even seem to take even a second. He did not feel pain nor did it take long.

When he jumps he found himself standing on top of another staircase.

This time, it is the true Supremacy Stairway.

He felt the aura of Supreme Being flows through him and as he looks below he saw that he was at the rifts step of the stairway.

The step of the stairway is huge and large each one is the size of a football field. He took a deep breath and he remained motionless as he tries to perceive the energy of this stairway.

There are no illusory spells, formation or some other kind of worlds like he experienced in the Thirty-Three Steps.

All he had to now is climb these thirteen steps.

Then he opens back his eyes and before he takes the next step he took a step to the left and he immediately arrived on the edge of this step.

He saw a statue and the moment he saw it Azief smirk.

He might not recognize other people statue above the first step but the moment he saw the statue on the first step, he immediately knows who that was.

Even if the appearances changes a little, the aura that statue emitted and the familiar energy around the statue factor in Azief certainty of who the Being that is carved into the statue were.

He come closer to the statue and look straight and gaze upon the statue eyes.

'No wonder Azul knows so much about the Supremacy stairway. Turns out, he used to walk these steps himself. Though I wonder which reincarnation these is'

The first statue on the first step is Azul statue which means the first step was created by him. Azief did not feel any pain or pressure this time.

But he does feel something is entering into his Inner World and latching through all of his energies like a string binding them tightly but for some weird reason Azief didn't feel any pain of does he felt any malice.

'I just need to climb the stairs' and then bowing a little to the statue, Azief took his step forward jumping to the second steps as he begins his climb.

Chapter 442: While he was walking \(1\)

Earth

While Azief is walking on the steps of the Supremacy Stairway two years have passed on Earth.

Since then a lot of things had happened. The seasons changed and people move on

But that scene of a stairway coming from the Heavens to invite Death Monarch is still vivid in the mind of everyone.

It made many people think and seek for more strength.

Other than that, The Seven Great powers that controlled the world have slowly pacified their region one by one.

Out of the Seven Great Powers, the original Three Great Powers is still undoubtedly the one deciding the rules and rule the world with their might and authority.

They are still regarded as the most stable power in the world.

And war is rare nowadays with mostly only internal war broke out and they are usually did not created mass massacre like before.

Battle still happens between people and secret societies but full scale war between faction rarely happens nowadays after the establishment of the Seven Great Power.

And rarely there is a case of experts in the level of Seed Formation and Disk Forming to enter any battle since their participation would mean thousands of casualties and also the eyes of the Seven Great Power trained on them

And if the other side also deployed their experts then that means they would lose a valuable fighting force for humanity

Unless one had a great debt of vengeance no one would deploy an expert on the level of Disk Forming to fight in a battle or allowed such battle to happen.

Of course they are exception in this case in the matter of sparring or to resolve a debt of life and death.

Instead many of these experts seclude themselves trying to attain higher mastery in their energy control. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Two years have changed the world and some semblance of peace had arrived. There is still killing and there is still death.

Some people grew strong and some people were left behind. Some people broke down and no longer walk their path, and some gritted their teeth, persevere and keep walking on their uncertain path.

Monsters are still rampaging on some parts of the world or swimming under the Deep Sea and there are still people that prey on the weak.

But it is better than before.

There seems to be some order and peace and in such environment, population thrive.

Death Monarch and the other large figures that ruled the world all believe that humanity should increase their population.

And the new people that was born into these new world will live with new rules.

At the same time humanity now, and like always managed to hang on to that hope of a better tomorrow and survive.

There used to be concern of overpopulation before the Fall but now each Great Power wanted their people to procreate and increase their population.

The one that does not need to worry about this is probably is only Pandemonium, The World Government and the Republic.

People flock to go there because they believed in their strength and their ability to protect their people.

The cooperation between the Seven Great Power while it does happen, it happens rarely and when it does happen it usually happens because some people tries to break the rules in the Article of Distribution

However, when all of them put their mind and resources to it, they could accomplish great thing.

Last year, with the joint cooperation between the Seven Great Power, they created a military base station on the moon.

It serves as a lookout facility for extraterrestrial activity near Earth and Milky Way galaxy in particular

The Weronian Invasion and the Sithulran disaster have made humanity open their eyes to the threat beyond the stars.

And the Seven Great Power have all come out from their days of chaos and become the rallying point for humanity.

In two years a lot of efforts were made from the new four rising powers to pacify their continent, to put down the rebellious faction and any other undesirables entities that could threaten their rule.

While Death Monarch did announce those four great powers and gain his approval and the other Two Great Power of that time, this does not mean that all people of that continent would agree with what Death Monarch decree.

And Death Monarch himself knows this and he probably doesn't care.

If the organization or faction that he chooses to ruled that continent is incapable of ruling and get overthrown, then that simply means that organization is not worthy to begin with.

Death Monarch gave the throne away to other people and the throne is heavy. And if you can bear it, then you are a true Monarch.

If you can't, someone else will take that throne from you.

Death Monarch is not a good person. But he is not entirely an evil person either. He is just a person that sometimes makes mistake.

The only thing that separates him from other people is that when he makes a mistake the effect of that mistake would affect billions of people.

But if that pressure could bring him down, then he could not even make any decision. He did not want to decide how humanity should go and what path they should walk.

Because even he doesn't know the answer to that question

Is it good if he forced humanity to become strong, deciding the lives of millions just because he thinks he knows the right answer?

No.

He doesn't know and that is why in the end he gave them a choice.

And now the choice is in their hands and if they wanted a different choice, the only thing they can do is to rise up and fight for what they believe is right.

It is contradictory.

He did not want to impose his will on others but yet he still imposes it on others and hopes that maybe he makes the right choice.

Even now, he still doesn't know what the path for humanity to walk on. Should they all be forced to get strong with all the new threats that have opened up since the Fall?

Or should he let them happen naturally and by happening naturally it means to do nothing.

Or should he be the guiding hand of the people, forcing them to listen to him because he thinks he knows better?

He knows what he would choose and that is why it is better for him to not rule.

People think Death Monarch is not interested in power. Loki understands that was not the case. If that was truly the case, then why he keeps searching for strength?

Yes, there is that desire to use that strength to protect the people he loved. But to protect the people that he loved he needs power.

And Death Monarch knows himself better than some people give him credit for.

He knows the temptation of power and he knows how he truly wanted it. He likes power and what it enables him to do.

It is because of that, he never trusted himself with power. The Article he had written has become some kind of Constitution for the Seven Great powers.

Some people recognize that the moment someone broke the balance that Article would cease to be effective and as such there are some people that want to keep the world balanced and some people wanted to break that balance.

There is a lot of plans in the Article.

But Death Monarch knows that not all of his plans would become true. There is an element of chaos in his planning and he embrace that part of chaos in his plan.

He had his own set of rules. And he wanted to be virtuous and kind. But weak men can't be virtuous or kind.

That is the simple truth. Some people think they are being kind when the truth is they are just weak and have no claws.

They mistake themselves, thinking that they are kind because they do not kill or hurt other people.

It is not that they did not want to, it is they are not capable to. Some people could kill and hurt people and choose not to.

That is kindness.

Death Monarch did not admire weakling who think themselves good because they have no claws.

Chapter 443: While he was walking \(2\)

And a different world has emerged with the Article enforcement by the Three Giants of the World.

When the Article was announced some people tried to break its rules and Pandemonium, World Government and the Republic executed those that tried to break the rules with no mercy

Since then the Four Great Powers have changed their approach.

The four great powers have tried to exercise both the sticks and carrots to encourage people coming to their continent while implementing laws and orders

The only reason that the laws and order work as intended is because all the Seven Great Powers agree to enforce it together.

But just because the Seven Great Powers are on the road to stability it doesn't mean that they are no chaos whatsoever

In Asia, the Lotus Order just get out a great civil war from the steppes of Mongolia to the lower lands of Indonesia.

The war had almost exhausted their resources and so the Lotus Order call upon a great meeting among the many great leaders that is ruling in many areas all over Asia.

They debated for a week and they reached a compromise with each other

They swore loyalty to the Lotus Order but are free to do whatever they wanted in their dominion as long as the Laws of the Seven Great Power is observed and enforced.

They wanted to protest it at first but the World Government people also arrived with Raymond, Hikigaya and Oreki in presence.

With Death Monarch absent, Katarina in seclusion, it is without doubt that the three figures command the greatest prowess in the world right now.

Even though Japan is considered an Asian country but because of the fact that the Twin Sages of Japan is Oreki and Hikigaya, they remain a separate entity out of Asia and belongs to the World Government.

It is the only way that the World Government would accept Pandemonium arrangement. And Loki agreed to it

With the World Government interfering the meeting was concluded and many people agree to swear fealty.

But around half a year ago, someone seems to incite a rebellion on the edges of Indonesia as they conquer lands and make alliance with other warlords of Asia to overthrow the Lotus Order.

From the Mountains of Tibet, to the steppes of Mongolia, to the desert of Dubai rebel warlord rises up
The entire Asia seems to go into a frenzy.

This time the Six Great Power did not interfere.

In the Article it is written that internal war is allowed but no external war is allowed among the Seven Powers.

Since it is an internal war of the Lotus Order, unless there is some benefit, the other Great Power did not have to interfere unless it became a matter of humanity survival and involve humanity precious fighting force.

It wasn't until a few months later when this rebellion suddenly deployed a Disk Formation levelers to massacre an entire capital of Laos that the World Government, the Republic and Pandemonium responded.

The fact that this matter attract the Three Giants of the World was frightening and everyone was waiting to see the conclusion of this rebellion.

Since the Article and the Laws were introduced, there is nobody that ever broke the rule that was set upon by Death Monarch

For the World Government the matters lie in the fact that the rebellion simply disregards the rules that was set upon in the World Meeting by the Seven Great Powers.

To them it is matter of reputation

For the Republic, there is nothing more important than the laws that was set upon and the fact that to have such a lawless rebellion beside them have never sit right for them

They also fear that the rebellion in Asia would then provoke a rebel sentiment in Europe.

In the initial attack the Republic did not want to interfere but since it is an internal war, they felt compelled to let them sort it out by themselves.

But now that the rebellion deployed a Disk Formation expert and started a wanton massacre of a human population that is innocent and not part of the war, the Senator of the Republic pass a unanimous resolution in the Senate, allowing full military mobilization.

From Moscow, the great figures of The Republic headed to Asia. However, the most frightening thing was the fact that Pandemonium also entered this matter.

Pandemonium is now ruled by its Regent, Loki. Since that day of Death Monarch's ascension to the stars, Loki had been announced to rule in his stead.

Sasha, the leader of the Shadow Guard, disappeared with the Dark Blade Division and the remnants of the Shadow Guard are now headed by the Vice leader of the Shadow Guard Shinji. Pandemonium is the most fortified continent in the world. It is a point of pride for its people and of envy for the outsiders.

The formation he strengthened could not be broken unless one could reach the pinnacle strength of a Divine Comprehension leveler.

Other than Raymond who was rumored to have reached Divine Comprehension levels, nobody could even dream of breaking through that formation.

That formation had not only strengthened Pandemonium's security it also created many weird phenomena across the Pandemonium Sea.

Pandemonium is now covered with thick white mist that makes it look like a paradise of celestial immortals from afar.

Other than that, all the islands near Pandemonium floated up twenty feet above the sea creating a floating island surrounded by mist.

Many Order of Thinkers members have been researching this matter and they come to the conclusion that the protection formation of Pandemonium affected the energy distribution of the island and landmass around it creating this bizarre phenomenon of islands floating around Pandemonium and its seas.

Other than that, every full moon there will be never-ending lightning storms across the Pandemonium Seas.

These never-ending lightning storms usually begin in the morning leading to the full moon before ending the next morning.

This only makes the travel to Pandemonium even harder.

Even for levelers it is hard to pass through the Pandemonium Sea when the never-ending lightning storms begin.

When the Order of Thinkers researched this they found out that the lightning coming out from the lightning storms is not normal lightning and thunders.

Instead the lightning has traces of the Extermination Lightning. This fact while it deters the weak to sail the Pandemonium Sea it encourages the strong to come to Pandemonium.

It is even said that some people once saw the Thunder Monarch meditating on the clouds of those never ending lightning storms.

Some people used the weird weather in Pandemonium to prepare themselves for their own tribulations.

There are even rumors that one could see some experts with high level cultivation would come to the area where the never ending lightning storms and use the thunder there to temper their body and to prepare themselves when they have to face the real deal.

Nowadays it is not only people that seek safety would sail the Pandemonium Sea, now even the strong come to Pandemonium to seek more strength.

The land is as popular as ever.

It is because of that Pandemonium is not only hard to break, it is also hard to even travel to it.

Chapter 444: While he was walking \(3\)

And since Death Monarch departed Pandemonium while they do not seclude themselves behind the thick white mist and never-ending lightning storms around the Indian Ocean, they also do not actively participate in many of the World Meeting that have been convened for at least four times.

It is why when the Three Army of Pandemonium that has been roaming the world seeking the Broker suddenly appeared in Laos and started driving back the rebellion, the whole world stirs.

The rebellion touches Pandemonium sensitive spot.

The law that has been made by Death Monarch, the Sovereign of Pandemonium was ignored and looked down upon by some rabble of rebels.

Loki had ordered the mobilization and the Three Army quickly abandoned their mission and decimated half of the rebel military force in a day.

The Three General all now have a Disk Formation cultivation level. It is with the combined effort of the Great Powers that Asia regained back their peace.

Africa however is still full of conflict.

And these conflict is usually incited by the force of the World Government in terms of resources and the Republic with it silent maneuvering from behind.

Death Monarch did cut off any powers that the World Government had on Africa before he left but now he is not here anymore.

And so, the World Government send their agents and spies there, trying to manipulate the matters of the African continent once again.

And since the Republic also knows the World Government scheme, how could they not participate?

On the other hand, Pandemonium did not interfere.

As long as the Great Powers did not outright attack the other Great Powers then they did not really want to muck up this new peace that is slowly dawning on humanity.

The African Alliance itself is divided on how the continent should be ruled. With fifty-four interest tied together, it would be weird not to see any intrigue and conflict.

The African Alliance while rarely fought in the battlefield, the intrigue and schemes they had against each other had incited riots, small rebellions of villagers and the rise of a few warlords separate from the African Alliance.

The other Great Powers knew that the continent of Africa is a powder keg. One need to only light a spark and chaos would rule.

World Government on the other hand had created a more systemized ways of ruling and in the two years since the ascension of Death Monarch, they too have fade in the background while exercising silent pressure on the world just like Pandemonium.

North America seems to be prosperous with its people have hope for a better tomorrow.

With all of the great figures of World Government still alive and kicking and not disappearing on some space adventure, they might be considered the strongest organization in the world right now.

The Island of Peace that floated a few meters above the sea water in the North Pacific Ocean is the symbol of the World Government ruling from the small administrative island. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

The World Government have matured from its past mistake and become more calm and wiser. And more silent in their actions.

This is not exactly a good news for its enemies.

While the true ruler of the World Government is President Hirate, the only other person that shares equal power and probably have even more influence than him in the World Government is Raymond who is the King of the United States.

The title was given by the World Government and all of the states of America had to acknowledge this coronation.

Since the founding of the United States, they never had a king. But times have changed. And the world has also changed.

There is no world like before and while in the past those who have the bigger gun's wins, this is not the case now.

Everyone have had their eyes wide opens. They saw many things that challenged their notions of what power means and what strength is since the years of the Fall.

Death Monarch could change the colors of the Heavens, bring down heavenly calamities, split up mountains and part the sea with the wave of his hands.

The world is now ruled by organization or factions but in essence the only reason that these organization and factions could rule was the fact that they had people who were no different than the Gods they used to read in myths.

And the United States after the Fall is no longer like the United States before the Fall. When the World Government announced the coronation of Raymond, they accepted it.

The strong rules in this world.

Even if they did not accept it, the thought of fighting an unstoppable force like Raymond who could control the Earth, to bring storms and summons tsunamis bring their knees down as they kneel and prostate themselves in fear.

While Raymond and Hirate is solidifying their power in North America, on the South America side the League of Freedom is no longer as small as it is before and now hold great power.

While some people used justice or as their slogans, Narleod, the leader of the League of Freedom rules on his continent with iron fist and employs fear to control its people.

It is cruel but it is also effective.

Yet, at the same time he preached his people of freedom from the powers that be.

It is because of this that the World Government did not make many waves this past two years.

They are being checked by the growing influence of the league of Freedom. The League of Freedom controls the Amazon Forest.

It is one of the most dangerous forest in the world.

But it is also a treasure trove of resources, energy stones, and exotic and rare herbs that could strengthen one body and it is because of that, the improvement of the people that migrated to South America is obvious.

The League of Freedom open the forest for people to hunt and raise their levels. There is hardly Pillar Forming levelers in his continent unless they are kids or babies.

This was not good news to the World Government.

The upper echelons of the World Government knew that the League of Freedom hated the World Government.

And because of that they always had to remain vigilant against their own neighbor.

This problem was actually because of Death Monarch. Raymond and Hirate at that time knew Death Monarch intention but they were powerless to stop it.

He wanted to make sure that the World Government will not have time to focused on Pandemonium and instead had to worry about the enemy beside them

Chapter 445: While he was walking \(4\)

While the World Government worries about the menace beside then, and the League of Freedom is expanding and increasing its strength, in the coldness of Antarctica, many new discoveries were made each day. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

It is a land that have entranced many scientists even before the Fall.

And Death Monarch decision of gifting this land to the Order of Thinkers could not be more appropriate.

Other than the weird tree of crystals that sprouted from the ice, the Order of Thinkers had also discovered the repository of seeds that is present in some frozen ice in Antarctica.

Other than that they also have managed to create different kind of seeds that is easier to adapt to this new world

And a few of those discoveries they found since they founded their headquarters there have changed the opinion of the world about the frozen continent.

After the Fall, humanity have grown more powerful and as such many of the untrenkable places in the Antarctica could now be explored.

The Order of Thinkers send their members to make deep sea exploration beneath the ice continent and the few discoveries that they have made was so shocking that some of them were not revealed to the world.

They also found the remains of the super ancient continent Gondwana. These remains are called Cratons and the Order of Thinker found sign of other sign of other Cratons.

And the fact that it is low with monster populations have also spurred some people to sail the seas and go to that cold continent.

And with the news half a year ago that they have managed to terraforms some of the lands in Antarctica, it only fuels more people to come there.

However, the fact that the Order of Thinker have made their headquarters there have made them unable to hide in the dark anymore.

While the World Government and the other powers is still wary of them, the League of Freedom has great cooperation with them and they are reported to exchange information and resources

Europe however remains stable. There are few insurrections but none that last too long or grow so big like in the Asia.

His is probably because of the presence of the Ice Queen Katarina. She is still in seclusion after that tribulation.

A few months ago, Ice Queen Katarina went out from her seclusion and then faces the Tribulation of Icy Hell.

It shocked the entire world. They saw clouds falls down from the sky being frozen into ice blocks.

The entire Arctic Ocean was frozen and snow keep falling down all over Europe.

The whole world had their temperature dropped by two Celsius that day.

Some people already knew that the path that Katarina is walking right now is the same path that Death Monarch has walked.

It is the Perfection Path.

What they don't understand is that Perfection is different for everyone.

While Azief had to purify his body using the Purifying Fire of the Jade Empire, the Perfection of Katarina Physique created a different tribulation.

Only she knew where that wind and spears of ice came from since she was the one that summons the tribulations.

Even though she had started back from the beginning she seems to gain more than she lost. Even when she is at Energy Disperse Stage she could fight with High Level Seed Formation levelers.

And when she reached the Perfection of her Seeds then she would be to fight people of even Disk Formation and even Divine Comprehension levelers and survive.

And while that doesn't seem impressive considering that others have passed her, her boy have now had a qualitative change.

Other than Death Monarch she has no equal in the toughness of body. And when she reached higher, the difference between her and her peers would be more obvious.

After that tribulation was successfully completed she venture through the land of Europe for a month, executing people and removing any threats for the Republic.

In that one month, Europe was shivering.

No one knows whether they are shivering because of the cold or the fear. In that one month, the sky did not stop from letting snow fall down.

And the white snow was covered with red blood as the blade the Red Queen keep cutting and killing.

When she was finished, she went back to her Palace of Ice and return back to her seclusion in an undisclosed location though some reports witness her in the Antarctica.

While Katarina is focusing her energy in improving her strength, Boris on the other hand had push his hand back to the Middle East and Asia.

Like the World Government they had to let go of their influence in Asia and Middle East when they agreed with the Article but while they no longer have power to directly manipulate things in Asia and the Middle East, they now manipulate it secretly by inciting rebellions and spreading propaganda.

On the other hand, Poland, the autonomous region in Europe is welcoming many people to its borders while at the same time maintaining their relation with Pandemonium.

In the past two years, the Seven Great Powers have changed. But they also did not change that much. Sometimes the more things change, the more it stays the same.

While all of this is happening the Crime Alliance has slowly entered back into society.

But they still did not dare to do their business openly for fearing that the force of Pandemonium would seek them.

And the Crime Alliance which exceeding other extraction managed to thrive.

Which makes it even harder for it to be dismantled.

And while it is not confirmed, many of the Seven Great Powers sometimes used the services of these people who are in the criminal underground to do the things that too dirty for their hands

Their leader, Void have appeared in many terrorist attack on the Seven Great Powers. Bu it is not easy to capture him.

And while all of this is happening, while the Seven Great Powers continue plotting, while Sasha the Nightingale hides somewhere around this world with the most dangerous Division of the Shadow Guard, while the leader of the Crime Alliance Void roamed around the Seven Seas, someone step his foot on England.

He took another step and the area around him distorted and he appeared around a large forest. The man smiles.

This man has green hair, green eyes and wears a suit with a shoes that seems to fit a high society dinner.

This man is now at Wiltshire. He looks in the distance his eyes seem to look past the forest. He looks the forest in front of him and he sighed.

Chapter 446: While he was walking \(5\)

He waves his sleeve and coming out from his sleeve is ravens. They perched themselves on top of his arm but when he shakes his hand the ravens flew away high into the sky.

He looks at the forest and he could see the dark blob creatures that roamed the forest even from where he is standing

Around it is a forest that emerged out from the grassy terrain and dark creatures that is like a dark blob that guarded the area around the stones.

He came here at night. It had required him to do may preparations to come here. As he looks at the glowing light in the distance he smiles bitterly.

Then he heard the sound of hissing behind him.

But he did not turn back. There is a large serpent behind him and it slowly approach him but the serpent did not attack this man.

Instead it curls around his foot.

This man is none other than the Regent of Pandemonium and also known in the world as the Trickster, Loki.

He is at the area around the Stonehenge. There is only one reason he comes to one of the Forbidden Zone in the world

He had found out that an old friend is here.

The Stonehenge have been a forbidden zone from two years ago. Dark aura rises up from there and no signs of life could be detected.

Since it seems to be so dangerous, the Seven Great Powers and a joint announcement declaring the place around it to be a Forbidden Zone.

He had read the report and at first he found nothing strange in it and agree with the declarations. It wasn't until he tries to calculate the place with Karma that he stumbled.

And with that he knows someone like him is there. This is the accumulation of Fate and Destiny that give him this luck of coincidence.

Azief wanted to slow him down by giving him the position of Regent. And his effort was slowed down but it does not stop.

And because Azief gave him the position of Regent, he stumbled into the fact than his old friend is here.

If not for the massive intelligence that Pandemonium possess, Loki is sure that he would never notice that one of his friend is here after Morgana.

He could see the ring of the Stonehenge that cover a large swath of area. The standing stones stood tall and wide.

He walks into the forest. The dark blob monster rushed to him like he was an animal that fall on a river that is filled with piranhas.

Each of these dark blob had some kind negative aura around them.

Loki only smiles.

The serpent that curl itself on his foot suddenly expanded and grow to thirteen feet tall serpent. It then swallows the dark blob like they were food

Loki only smiles and he walk calmly through the forest with his thirteen feet high serpent behind him.

The blue aura glowing in the distance seems to be closer. Then he saw it. He saw nothing and he smiles.

'This formation...' he said to himself and then he closes his eyes and sighed. This is an illusion. What he sees I an empty area other than the large tree and the stones.

Someone is there.

He whistles and the tall serpent turns back into a smaller size.

The dark blob no longer tries to attack Loki seems any of the have bene swallowed by that serpent.

Instead they roamed on other places ignoring Loki.

Loki sighed and patted the serpent head and the serpent hiss. While he could not understand animal language, Loki could feel that the serpent is happy.

They are connected by the soul after all.

This serpent is rarely brought out from his lair. But he knows the only thing that could counter these dark blob is only these serpents.

Because he knew what these dark blob is. And if the person here is his old friend, that person would also know how to pass these army of dark blob.

He looks at the serpent and said

‘You are not like Jormungandr which makes you cuter’ Loki said and the serpent went into Loki sleeve.

Loki then blows wind from his mouth but what comes out from his mouth is more than just the blowing of wind.

Instead a green smoke comes out from his mouth as it corrodes the space and time in front of him.

Whatever barrier was put around here, it dissipated and suddenly a gust of energy rushed through Loki when the barrier around it disappeared.

He smiles.

It was like color have returned to the world and this area.

He shakes his head as he walks to that tree

It is a thin tree that reached the clouds, its roots are tangled and on the branches of the lower part of the tree hang many small fruit like cherries, its skin is like the combination of white and gray.

The moment he saw that tree he sighed. He now knows who this old friend of his and why that person is here.

In the end, he did not know everything about Death Monarch and that mysterious lady

This must be where it would happen’ he said to himself.

Sitting under that thin but tall tree is none other than the Oracle Erika. Sleeping not far away from her is Antonius.

Loki calmly walk to the tree. Even from afar he could see that the eyes of the Oracle are cloudy white and skies and the heavens is inside her eyes.

When he is close enough Erika said

‘You are not him. I am not waiting for you’ she said, her voice sounded ancient and authoritative.

Loki stop and then he closes his eyes. There is an expression of sorrow on his face. Then he sighs and slowly opens his eyes

'Is she still there?' He asks.

Erika blink and her eyes turns to normal. Erika look at the man in front of her. She knows who he is. At least the future him.

And with her eye she could see that the Laws of Time around Loki is chaotic.

'A person that doesn't belong' she mused

She sacrificed a lot. He said after a few moment of silence.

Erika nodded

'It seems I were not able to see my old friend after all. Did she tell you everything?' Loki asked. She did not want to become a ghost and become a baggage to her past self.

Who knows? Maybe that decision is the right one.

Erika nodded

'That is unfortunate. It is not a happy memory'

Erika nodded and answer

'It is not.'

'Still, you are here' Loki said, a kind smile on his face

Erika nodded and answer

'Still, I am here

Loki then look at Erika; his gaze is now different.

He thought he came here to meet his old friend. Though it seems his old friend have leave and probably would never come back.

And that made him sad. After all, they all fought in the same war.

He then asked

'You are waiting for him?'

Erika nodded

'I am afraid to ask but do you think it will still turn out like that?'

'The end has already been written'

'Then, it is futile' Loki said with a calm tone.

'I never said that' Erika retorted. Hearing this Loki chuckles.

'You know; you remind me of her.'

'I am her' She said

'Ah, I can argue that argument if I wanted to.' Loki said, staring at the Erika in front of him.

She did not have that same kind of coldness that the future Erika have but clearly whatever that was shown to her has also changed her a bit since she did not feel like the Oracle he used to know.

A different kind of Erika.

'Will you leave?

Loki look around him. All he saw is the forest and the stones. He could not help but shakes his head

'I guess you also have your own plan' he looks at Antonius. He seems to be asleep blissfully unaware. That is not normal. It seems Erika made him sleep, foreseeing his arrival.

'If she has given you the memory, then I thought you would go back to Will. I think you know what your relationship with him'

'She is her, and I am me' this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Loki chuckles and then he said

'You are her' he said and he waved his hand

A scroll floats and arrived in front of Erika.

'What is this?

'I lost the bet'

'What bet?' This time Erika look puzzled

Loki look at Erika and then he smiles

'I guess she didn't give you that memory.' Then Loki explain

'I bet against her. About Time. I guess we old people all have the same desires. It is unfortunate that we all found different ways to make sure that event never happens again. Morgana choose the hardest path and I simply got lucky. While you are using your own ability to come here. I don't know what your plans are but I don't think it is that different from me. Though Yewa Hafar would be shocked to know there is a third player hidden in his chess game'

'You and Yewa Hafar always thought yourself to be the smartest. That was always both of your weakness'

'Hahaha' Loki laughs.

'I guess we forgot about you' Erika smirks and she grabbed the scrolls.

'Thank you.'

'Eat well and see beautiful scenery. I don't think it is long now. He would seek you when he comes back. If it is till the same as before, that would surely happen.'

Erika nodded and she said

'I know. That is why I am making a reservation' They look at each other and Loki once again close his eyes and take a deep breath.

'I will not be coming here again. So does Pandemonium forces. Thought I couldn't guarantee Sasha and her Dark Blade division. That scroll would help you if you were ever in a pinch'

Erika nodded

While she did not fight in the same war as Loki and her future self, she of course has the memory. But it is a different thing to experience a thing and have memory of it.

Memory is distant and sometimes distorted. But experience etched itself into one existence. Which is why the gaze she looks at Loki is complicated.

'I won't be seeing you off.' Loki did not immediately return.

He approached the tree and plucked one of the fruits hanging on the low branches. Erika saw this but she did nothing to stop him. He took it and put it inside his sleeve

Then waking back into the forest, he disappeared and green smoke encircled the ring before it morphed into a more powerful protection formation.

Erika sighed and lean her back on the tree.

'Loki.... are you really sure that my plan is the same as you?' she asks to no one in particular as she closes his eyes.

While this is happening Sofia is heading to the World Government to meet up with Raymond. Void had attacked the Island of Peace!

Will on the other hand had also roam the Universe, running through dimension after dimension chasing a broken floating stars that hides itself among many multiversal points in the Universe

Season changes, people move on and while the worldly matters distract one from the Grand Path, up there beyond the skies and Heavens of Earth, a person just landed on the true Supremacy Stairway.

Chapter 447: The thirteen steps of the supremacy stairway \(1\)

Supreme Dimension

The Thirteen Steps of the Supremacy Stairway

The moment he took that step a thunderous rumble echoes inside Azief mind. He felt shaken and as his feet left the first step he felt there is something sheared out of him this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Like an invisible blade cut him and cut one part of himself. He felt energy coming out of him like it leaked

His body was a dam of energy and suddenly it broke unleashing terrifying energy

He climbed the second steps and he almost fall unconscious on the large second step.

He is panting and breathing laboriously as he tries to get up. He is sweating buckets and he felt like a part of his energy was cut out of him would never return.

It is a terrifying feeling

And that is not all that happened to him. After he took the first step, there is a diamond like symbol with an eye-like dot in the middle of that diamond on his right palm.

'What the hell!' he thought to himself as he slowly gets up on the second step. He felt like he just survives a life and death crisis.

Then he looks behind him and he was shocked.

Looking at the step behind him a sight that shocked him to the core appeared.

Azul statue on the first step is glowing and worldly energy is emanating out of him and there sitting cross legged on the first step is none other than himself.

Or to be more accurate a clone of himself. He looks closer and then he shakes his head.

Not a clone of himself. He then thinks for a few seconds. Then he opens his status window but all he could see was blurry lines and the words could not be read.

His eyes narrowed. He knows that the status window would disappear sooner or later.

He is slowly approaching the boundary of levels that the World Orb had implemented on humanity.

He then looks back and then as he closes his eyes and seek deep inside himself he then opens his eyes. His eye shines with understanding. He finally understand.

He felt like one of the energies in his body is no longer there. And then he immediately knows what kind of clone this is.

It is not a clone. It is a Law Body.

And the Law Body that is sitting on the first step of the thirteen steps is formed from his First Disk, the Worldly energy.

The steps seem to sprout with life and planets below the steps is slowly breathing like it found a way to breath as the worldly energy in his Law Body exhale.

When he inhales the portion of life around this place responded giving him more energy. But that was not the only thing he could feel. He could feel the Tree fill with Seeds inside his Inner Universe is slowly blooming.

Nine Seeds that could be cultivated into Laws also bloom. The energy turns into Laws and the Seed blooms to create Laws.

All the nine Seed he sow are all ethereal concept while the Laws form from his energy is more solid. It is backed by existing energy.

But for the Tree of Life, with nine seeds that is about to bloom each one of them is the kind of seed formed from Azief own understanding of that concept.

It is not necessary the right interpretation for each seed yet it is true for him. The energy would supplement the Seed. At least that is how it should be.

But the Supremacy Stairway is a stairway used to bring out the whole potential of a person so that they might have a chance to become a Great Supremacy, or True Divinity and others great figure of the Universe.

They refine the Energy, turning it into Laws, they shower the Seeds to turn it into Laws. This is the blessing of the Supreme Stairway.

But whether that blessing could be bestowed, one had to keep walking until the end.

He could the Worldly energy slowly entering the Tree of Life inside his Inner Universe, showering the Nine Seeds.

Death aura rises up from his Inner Universe, tempered with the Life aura. Those that died experience rebirth as Time went crazy and Darkness fills the world.

The Elements were torn into chaos and Destruction reign supreme while the elusive concept of Destiny and Fate lurks in the background.

In that one moment, all Nine Seed that turned into the Tree of Life appears in his Inner Universe, like declaring that it is time now for their turn to become Laws.

All it takes one steps and he could feel a qualitative change in his body. It took him a few moments for him to recollect himself.

Azief then took a deep breath and look beneath his feet. He intent to take the step and then he laughs faintly.

'It acted with my intention., I don't move and this stair won't move' he thought to himself.

The moment he wanted to raise his feet and climb the next step, Azief once again felt that latching force on his feet.

It is like the feeling of being sucked into an endless dark abyss.

There is no doubt in his mind right now that the moment he takes another step, another Disk from him would be shed apart and another Law Body would appear in this step

He is trying to calm himself down but his heart was raging like a storm. He looks at his right palm and notice the mark.

And he frowned even more. It looks like a sealing mark.

'Sealing my energy?' he thought. He looks at the three thousand rips far away from him and for some reason he felt a premonition about them.

And this premonition is not something good.

He then looks at the steps in front of him. Thirteen steps for thirteen Laws. Which means each time he walks the steps one part of himself would be cut from him.

He has thirteen energies which means thirteen law body would appear in this stairs.

But if he walks until the end, shedding a part of himself with each step would he pass the trials? Or will there be more?

But he also notices that the nine Seed that was used to form the Death Source is also separating from the Death Source, to bloom as Laws by itself.

Death Source is rarely used by Death Monarch

That is what most people of Earth thought.

Truth is, he used it at every moment of his battle.

There is a reason why his punch and kick is so powerful and terrifying. There is a reason why not many survive his strike and there is a reason that he rarely got injured in a fight

As he walks forward he would grow weaker.

And then he understood something else as he smirks bitterly. To walk from below with everything, the world could offer but to walk the last step with nothing.

Is it another application of this Emptiness concept that this stairway seems to signal? Or is he thinking too much about it?

He slowly felt that the statue in each of the step is not just mere statue. He saw how Azul statue changed the moment his law Body appeared.

The glowing of the statue and the energy it emitted made Azief think.

Looking behind him he could still see the glowing statue that seems to watch over his Law Body and providing it with energy.

And he could still feel the latching force beneath his feet.

Now that he knows what would happen he pays much more attention to the energy in his body. He could feel like there is a small thread that have wrapped itself up with his Universal Disk

He looks on the other end of this step and he could see another statue.

This statue is sitting cross legged and it depicts a bald person of godly appearance, pleasing to the eyes countenance.

One of his finger pointed above and one of his other finger pointed to the ground. His face seems to be handsome and the aura around him is desolate and full of despair.

Behind him there seems to be a halo of black light. It appears like he was the only existence in all of the Universe and that is the reason of why the despair could be felt so vividly

If Azief didn't know any better the statue looks like the statue of monks in his world.

Azief calms himself down and after a few seconds, he took a deep breath and tries to take the third steps.

Now that he takes the second step, suddenly he felt like his entire body is being immersed in an endless abyss.

This feeling of suffocation and fear almost paralyzed him from taking another single step.

A powerful divine Will surge through the door and bombarded his mind. The voice was loud and domineering and could incite fear.

It was at this time a new diamond pattern slowly about to appear in his left palm. And then the screams nearly split his mind into two.

'BEGONE!'

'BEGONE!'

The word shouted itself into his mind. They echoed endlessly in his mind and it felt like a million of people were roaring at him

He felt his body slowly being torn apart like he is being ripped apart by some primeval beast. That Will is domineering and powerful but Azief did not intend to back down at all.

Even though he felt that his body is cracking he push down through all the pressure and climbed the third step.

This time he almost fainted on the third step as he felt that pulling and cutting sensation once again. This time he felt it even more vividly.

He felt the Universal energy leaving him, and the energy leaked out from his body. As he lies down on the third step he turns his face to look at the second step.

And he laughs.

Chapter 448: The thirteen steps of the supremacy stairway \(2\)

He saw the law Body made entirely of Universal energy.

His Law Body of Universal Energy is sitting cross legged, his eyes closed and the Universal energy around him spinning creation small vortexes that absorb more of the Universal energy.

It was then that the statue of the monk-like being glow with golden colors that pierced the darkness of space and changes the particles of Death and Destruction all around this Universe.

The aura around the statue changes. If before it was full of desolateness and despair, now it seems to contain infinite life and infinite light.

Hymn song seems to echo through all of the Universe and the sound of people chanting Sutra-like song could be heard echoing from the deepest darkness as it pushes away the Darkness and bright Light, Life and Love.

A Divine Mountain appeared above the stairway, coming out from the Void of darkness, emanating boundless life and light that brings life and release souls from the suffering of Karma.

Now, the statue no longer look like an unmoving object.

It looks like the statue was imbued life and the statue now move and sit in a cross legged position with the statue fingers making mudras with its fingers.

Azief could see even in his current situation that the black halo behind that statue turns golden and it seems to turn into a holy halo that seems to elevate this statue into a higher existence.

This is Will. The Will of the former people that used to walk these steps. Each step has these statues not to fight the people who walk these steps, but to help him to keep walking.

Any sound seems to be erased as only peacefulness and quietude existed when that light shines itself over the Universe.

That is why Azief could suddenly have this revelation.

Then suddenly the statue burst into fire but the fire could not harm the statue as it did not even leave a scratch.

Instead it refines the statue as it emits Universal energy and seems to fused itself with Azief law Body of Universal Energy.

A wheel of concept appears behind the statue with eight spoke in the large wheel. It seems to contain holiness and divine presence.

It looks like these Wheel created Eight Path that glitters with stars coming from the Divine Mountain above the stairway to the statue in the second step

The fire turns to fireflies that morph into blues hues of motes of light that seems to scatter like flower scattering in the fall.

Azief pay attention to these motes of light since he could feel the energy contains in each motes of light

When he scans it with his divine sense he could sense that the light does not really scatter. instead it fuses with everything

A concept of Oneness

Auspicious signs appeared in the nebula above the stairway. Golden Lotuses floats from the Divine Mountain and reach the second steps and that Lotuses floats around Azief Law body.

Azief sighed. He now could understand what it means to walk all thirteen steps of the real Supremacy Stairway.

To cultivate the Law Body, to bloom Seeds into Laws. He could walk until the end or he could give up now and fuse with only two laws body.

In the end he had to decide that for himself. But for him there was never any other choice.

He refuses to believe that this is his limit. His defiant Heart beats furiously and he closes his eyes and he instantly knew what he wants.

He is not giving up

But he let his eyes closed. He is trying to rest. He lay there while both of his Law Body keep sitting cross legged absorbing all the essence necessary to form Laws.

It felt like a year before Azief opens back his eyes. By now that feeling of listlessness and tiredness have disappeared.

He slowly gets up from his lying position.

The moment he stands up he wanted to climb the next stairs. His intention did not escape the Stairway as he could feel that latching force.

Like it could read his heart, it appeared

He now felt it even more clearly that something is wrapping up against his Disk. Slowly the binding on his Disk become even more powerful and painful.

It felt like they will pull the Disk the moment he takes the next step.

He winced but he also smirks. The pain, like always would be unbearable. But this is also a huge opportunity for him.

It is thankful that he has such powerful physique. If not, he would already be dead. He looked up at the stairs with eyes were filled with determination

His eyes shines brightly

If you think this will make me give up, then you give me too little credit'

The moment he lifted his foot to step onto the third step, the entire stairway rumbles and that shout once again echoes in his ear.

But this time Azief was not shaken by those roars anymore.

His Will did not even yield to the Heavens, so how could he just back down because some powerful people roars at him

His eyes seem to be shining with a powerful will.

Thunder seems to crackle in him, the trace of tribulation lightning that has fused with him surged out and a thunderous roars of lightning seems to pierce those roaring Will of the stairway

This time his Will pushed back the Will of those roaring inside his mind. His Willform nearly come out but was pushed back down by the Laws of the Supremacy Stairway.

And he stepped onto the fourth steps.

The planets and stars trembled and the giant stairs trembled even more. This time another diamond mark appeared on him.

This time it is on his right arm and it created a vein like patterns that is slowly spreading all over his arms like it is something alive

He felt that another part of him being cut and something is being taken away from him again but this time he refuses to bow down to his weakness.

He forced himself to stand and while the energy in his body is slowly depleting, now, standing there on the third step of this stairway that was built by many of the greatest and most powerful being in the Universe, he looks like a celestial god, his fluttering hair gave him a sense of elegance.

He looks from the fourth step looking down at the third step and saw his Law Body.

This Law Body is different than the rest. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

His entire body seems to be tattooed with ancient rune and the energy he emitted was also different as it darkens the moon and bring an eternal coldness to the stair of the third step.

On the edge of the third step is another statue. This statue does not resemble human being at all.

But this statue must also be the state of some powerful Supreme Being.

This statue is a statue of tentacle like webbed creature.

It had small eyes, the end of the tentacles is filled with spikes and saw-like teeth on the end of its suckers and an antenna-like thing on the middle part of its head.

Azief could not see the statue before because he was unconscious for a while on the third step. But now he is on the fourth steps he could see the statue and he was shocked to see that the statue seems to emanate the same type of energy like of the ancient Runic energy

The more Azief progress on this stairway the more he understands about this stairway. Looking at these statues Azief doubt they possessed the same energy like he did.

Then the only explanation is that the statue adjusts the energy they emanated according to the energy of those who walk these steps.

He just walks until the fourth steps but the more he walks these steps the more he felt tired. He wanted to sleep and he wanted to quickly went out from this stairway.

He knows that this feeling is one of the byproduct of this stairway trying to affect his Will.

But that doesn't mean it is not true. He is tired. Both mentally and physically.

His energy is being ripped out of him with every steps. No one could understand how painful that is until they truly feel it

He sighed.

He knew he only had nine steps more to trek.

And he is determined to walk it until the end.

He wants to know what is waiting for him at the end.

Would he get teleported back to Earth? Or will he know something more about the secrets of the Universe.

When he looks at his Law body he also felt conflicted.

He knew he could fuse all of them into his body but as he is the original body he could feel that the attainment of laws in each of his Law body did not even reach five percent.

If he fuses with his Law Body right now, he would be delaying his own progress since he would need to understand the laws by himself

This time the stairs separated him and his Disk energy allowing his Law Body to cultivate and gaining comprehension on the Laws instead of putting him into the burden.

He felt like an old man trying to fight the wave of the raging sea.

And while his body look even weaker and his body slowly lose that pressure of a mighty being, when one looks at his eyes then one would understand.

The roars of the powerful beings and the constant pain from the shedding of energies had transformed Azief on the inner level.

If one looks at his eyes right now, it was like his eyes contained the heavenly pressure of the Supreme Dimension and could shroud a person existence, crushing it as he wills it.

He then takes another step. It is his fifth steps. On the fourth steps, there is the statue of a one eyed and long bearded being.

It emitted a powerful aura of majesty that seems to made all life bowed upon him

Azief did not even have to look closely because he knows whose statue is that. The statue looks a little bit younger than the real one but Azief could easily recognize the being.

Odin Allfather, the Lord of the Eight Realms and the King of Asgard. On the hand of the statue it wielded his spear Gungnir.

Azief was about to take another step when Fatigue hit him again but this time he ignores it. Blood is seeping out from his ears but he let it flow

The Law Body of Celestial is formed on the fourth steps. Heavenly phenomenon happened all over the abandoned planets in the Supreme Dimension.

Celestial energy wafted all across this sealed Universe.

Celestial energy flowed from all parts of this Supreme Dimension as it fills the translucent Law Body of Celestial.

He looks and see that on his left arms another diamond pattern appears and it became another vein like patterns as it is slowly closing in on the left palm mark.

It was like it is trying to merge with the pattern on his left palm. He took a look at the Law Body on the fourth step that Law Body look to become even more solid and the aura it emitted is like a Celestial Immortal like he saw in the life of Azul

The energy was astonishing and golden white light illuminate the entire steps and the stairway. This time ignoring the pain he took his sixth step.

On the fifth step, there is another statue.

This statue is tall and large and have human like features.

The statue is a being who looks young but had cold eyes. He sits in an ebony throne and he has three headed dog or perhaps a three headed wolf beside his throne

Azief do not recognize who that is. Instead as he felt the pain in his body is multiplying and feeling that the binding getting even more powerful, he quickly takes another step

The moment his feet reached the six step he felt like his brain is about to be split apart. He felt like all energy was drained out of him and he knows exactly why he felt like that.

'Fuck' he cursed as he could felt the trembling all over his body.

His back is full of cold sweats and blood is dripping from his nose because of the pressure.

Because the Disk that was yanked out of him is none other than the All Source Disk. The pressure come crushing down the moment that Disk is gone.

It is the very Disk that allowed him to use a variety of energy without worrying the lack of the suitable energy.

The All Source Disk enable him to convert any kind of energy he had to other types of energy. It is a synthesizer for energy.

Sitting cross legged in the fifth steep, is a Law Body hundred feet high as the space around that Law Body is breaking down and created back almost instantly.

There is an infinite cycle of destruction and creation around his Law Body. The energy he absorbed seems to cause the entire Universe to shake and rumble.

The stars on the furthest parts of this Universe exploded and a hundred years away from that stars, like it was also affected and exploded

When the stars exploded, their essences and their destruction turns into energy as the Law Body of All Source absorb it all, refining it inside it.

The Laws of energy around the All Source seems to bend to its will like he was the sovereign of all energy

Azief also felt that the blooming of the Seeds is near.

Like a flower that is about to bloom brilliantly, Azief felt the thrumming of Life in his Inner Universe.

Even after five of his energy has been taken away and his cultivation level is dropping his body is still be able to endure.

Right now there is more than just the feeling of being tied up from a rope. This time Azief felt like there is mud beneath his feet preventing him from moving forward.

Each steps felt like there is a knife on his ankle, slicing a chunk of his flesh every time he made the slightest movement.

It is trying to force him to stop.

The sound of roaring sound more distant, but the latching force become so strong that Azief felt like his thigh is about to be split apart from his lower half if he takes another step

Another diamond pattern appears on his body.

This time it appears on his chest and it was like his body was burned by some mark as Azief winced in pain.

The eye on the middle of the diamond patterns is closed unlike the other symbols which had the eye opened.

From his chest, vein-like tattoos spreads as it yearns to be connected to the pattern on his left arm and right arm.

By now Azief could no longer ignore this pattern. It is clear to him now that this is none other than a sealing mark.

There is uncertainty and a little bit of fear in his heart. Yet he still takes that sixth step. A demonic aura was unleashed the moment he takes the sixth step.

The pressure caused the surrounding planets to collapse on itself, creating a powerful quake in the sea of stars.

A curtain of red aura surrounded the entire stairway making it look like a stairway stained with blood.

This red aura intermingles with the golden white light of the Celestial Light from the Law Body of the Celestial.

This red aura is none other than the Demonic Aura. But it is different from the Demonic Aura of the Asura.

This is an Ancient Demonic Aura.

The aura of bloodlust and slaughter was so thick that it become solid and created this phenomenon.

It turned into a mist that waves around this Universe unhindered by even the most abstruse concept.

It is like a knife as it cuts the Celestial Light around the Stairway. Wherever it passes, the Celestial Light would be dispelled.

He was almost taken by madness for a moment when that Disk was yanked out from him. The sky shook and the stairway trembled.

Some rips on the distance was forcibly close because of the pressure of this Demonic Aura

A person on the Imperial Residence of the Jade Empire frowned as he chanted a spell to stabilize the rips on the Supremacy Dimension.

On the Supremacy Stairway, the Law Body of the Ancient Demonic Energy was formed and inauspicious signs fills the Universe.

The sound of wailing and screaming could be hear coming from the Void of emptiness of this dimension. The appearance of this Law Body elicit such responses from this Universe.

The gaze of this Law Body is cold and indifferent while he is sitting cross legged, red aura swirling around him.

His aura is full of madness and killing intent.

One gaze is enough to break one mind and one wave of his hand could cut anything in this world with his thick killing intent.

There is a saying. If looks could kill. This Law Body formed from the Ancient Demonic Energy is capable of that.

The Demonic energy that is contained in that Law Body is even more superior than the High King of Asura bloodline.

Chapter 450: The thirteen steps of the supremacy stairway \(4\)

This time Azief could not held back the pain that has been accumulating inside his body. His knees nearly fall on the sixth step but he stomps his other feet and it jolted him awake.

He nearly falls unconscious again

He could not fall right now, he thought to himself.

The statue on the sixth step glow and thunders and lightning fills the sixth step like a parade of tribulation lightning.

Even the steps are full of crawling thunderbolts and above the sixth steps thunder in the forms of many beast appears.

On the hand of the statue is a lightning bolt. Even though Azief never met the being that is depicted by this statue he could guess who this powerful being is.

Lord Zeus Son of Kronos, the King of Olympus.

Azief himself never truly went to Olympus.

He did go to its periphery and he only arrived there by accident

Even though he did stop a few times in the Three Thousand World and even travel through the Eight Realm through a back door dimension, he never went to Olympus.

Like Asgard they are a high level civilization and they used to visit Earth a few thousand years ago and left for some inexplicable reason

Seemingly to fit the energy of the Ancient Demonic energy the thunder is all red and fill with the intent to destroy and annihilate.

The statue of Zeus glow red and the image of a sea of blood appeared around Azief Law Body of the Ancient Demon.

For the first time since Azief walk this step, he saw that his Law Body seems to emit a more powerful pressure than the statue.

The Ancient Demonic energy was made from Azul Demonic energy. Out of all the statue in this stairway, his statue was positioned on the number one spot

Which means he was the first and probably the first one to create the Supremacy Stairway.

Which means he is also the oldest of them all. Azul had given him the Ancient Demonic Energy when he passed the trials of the Six Saber.

This energy could even reign supreme in the Demonic Realm of the Three Thousand World.

Even the energy of the imperial bloodline of the Demonic Realm could not compare to a portion of Ancient Demonic Energy.

It is thick and pure full of defiance against the natural order. It wishes to slay the Celestials and destroy the so called Fate and Destiny.

Azul managed to turn Fate and Destiny around and revive his beloved, thus completing his Grand Path which enables him to even tangle with the Destroyer.

How could the statue made from Zeus younger years could ever compare?

The Law Body of the Ancient Demon is not as big as the All Source Law Body but just because it is smaller does not means it is weaker.

Instead it seems that the smaller the size, the more compressed the energy.

The statue of Zeus is cracking in many places as red thunder surges out from the cracks causing the entire steps to be thrown into chaos and disarray as thunderbolts and lightning went crazy.

Around the cracks, energy seeps out even more than before. It was like the Law Body of Ancient Demon is forcing the statue of Zeus to give it more usually they would appear and then they would sit cross legged and absorbed the energy into their body to comprehend and turn the energy into a Law.

It was Demonic energy but it was not pure.

This is the first time Azief saw his Law Body making a different move.

It is full of demonic energy. It absorbs the demonic energy from Zeus statue and then purify it become it is being absorbed by the Law Body of the Ancient Demon. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

This time the diamond mark pattern appears on his belly button and right away it created that vein like patterns reaching out to the pattern on the chest.

Another bout of fatigue and pain assault Azief body.

His body is cracking like a piece of metal that is being hammered continuously and is about to break.

This time his eyes is bleeding. And his entire eyeballs are filled with blood coming from inside his body.

It drips on the steps of the stairway.

But as he could only see a red colored world from his eyeballs, he could feel that the Tree of Life was slowly reformed from the Death Source, the seed is slowly rising up and merge with the Tree of Life.

Nine Branches appears on the lone tree.

These nine branches have a flower each. Each of the flower is closed.

But Azief felt that the moment he finishes walking to the end of the steps he knows the flower would bloom and life will appear in his Inner Universe.

He had this powerful premonition about this matter

His Inner Universe right now is crumbling. With six of his Disk being yanked out from him there is no way to maintain his expansive Inner Universe

It is slowly approaching destruction from the end to end of his Inner Universe.

Even he couldn't stop it when it reached this point.

It is like someone is about to roll the entire Universe and with each rolling, the systems of stars collapsed, planets crushed and all kind of powerful impact fills his Inner Universe.

The destruction is oddly beautiful.

He felt like his eyeballs would explode and burst.

He takes a deep breath and then he clicks his tongue, and lifted his right hand. His right hand is now full of that vein like patterns that is slowly taking over all of his hand.

He then without hesitation gouges out his eyeballs and throws it into the void of space.

That eyeballs are not a normal eyeball. It is an eyeball of a person who have strengthened his Physique to Perfection.

It could be considered a treasure in a cultivation energy world. His eyeballs fall outside the floating stairway and gravity seems to be distorted around it

Instead of floating it falls and it pierce through a slowly moving star, breaking it and inducing an explosion.

The eyeballs keep falling with more speed until it broke the multiversal barrier between this dimension and other dimension neighboring it, falling into some other world.

All he knows that he is feeling pain like never before.

On the hole of his now gone eyeballs, blood is filling up and it falls like a waterfall to the steps. His blood is red which is also weird. He bleeds gold.

Not red blood like normal human.

Yet, for some reason, he is bleeding red. He is becoming mortal. Azief thought to himself. His knees and feet is trembling and the step he is walking on is slowly being filled with the blood from his eyes.

He looks at it, smirks like he was being challenged, gritted his teeth and take the seventh step.

This time a different kind of obstacles come to him as he steps on the seventh step. A powerful wind howled around him, taking a bite of his flesh as one of his finger was cut off.

Red blood spurted out from his hand.

ARGHH! He screams but his eyes are still full of that determination. There is no despair in his eyes. There is no regret.

This is not the eyes of a man that has given up.

Storms gathers in the seven steps and he could feel another mark appearing in his body.

The vein like pattern appears next as it tries to connect to the belly button.

'It is a chained sealing formation' Azief mused to himself. This is not the first time he saw such sealing formation.

But this is the first time he himself is being seal by such formation.

Every part of the mark is all connected. The moment he reached the thirteen steps, the formation would be complete.

He had no doubt about it.

The wind howls and storms appears as his body was attacked by squalls of wind and sharp piercing gale.

This brought him back to his current predicament

His clothes are shredded and his body is bleeding in many places.

If one could see his body right now it is full of that diamond pattern mark and vein like patterns that is connecting with each other.

From the right thigh, connecting to the belly button, which connect itself to the diamond mark on his chest and which connect itself to the right arms and reaching to his right palm.

It was like his entire being is full of tattoo.

An extremely powerful force came from these storms trying to blow him away. He gritted his teeth so hard that many of his teeth cracked.

The pain could not be described. He looks with his bleeding and swollen eyes to the end of this seventh steps and he saw the statue.

There is a statue which is green in color wearing a crown like those of those Egyptian Pharaoh. It is an Atef crown with the addition of two curling ostrich feathers at each side.

And the statue also carries a crook and flail. It emitted energy that correspond to the Law Body that is newly formed.

On the seventh steps Azief formed his Aether Law Body.

It sits there cross legged and Azief could see the energy that flow through nearly all existence is gathering toward his Aether Law Body

The flow of energy of the Supreme Dimension was diverted as it was absorbed by his Law Body of Aether greedily.

Azief look behind him and he could see all the statues glowing in different colors, helping his Law Body to attain Perfection.
