

Shadow 621

Chapter 621: Legends \(2\)

Will look toward the towering high palace and he sighed. Then he looks at the cautious guards and said simply ‘Open the gate’ the guard scuffled around to deactivate the protection that is in the gate and in the wall.

Will could see a runic patters emerges out from the gate and then the runic patterns slowly glows in dim colors

The wooden gate might seem like it could be destroyed with one punch but appearance can be deceiving in a world full of magical abilities and powers.

The Arrayist grandmaster Lee Sangmin was the one that draws matrixes of magical formation on the Four Gates of the Center Palace.

Loki had somehow managed to get the Arrayist Grandmaster to do a favor for him.

The runes are a part of the magical matrixes and it is used to keep out, to deter and to weaken anyone that tries to come into the Center Palace with ill intention.

While the gate is magical each bricks of the wall is also carved with magical formation. Then one might ask why do the walls of the Center Palace needs guards in the first place with all this magical protection?

It is because of Void from the Crime Alliance

Void existence that could nullify all kinds of magic and energies is a headache for many organizations in the world because it means he could walk unhindered and could break any magical formations as simple as just walking through it.

So, as a countermeasure, the gate is not the only thing that is upgraded. The wall also gets an upgrade.

The walls are not only outfitted with magic; it is also outfitted with modern weapons that have no magic in them courtesy of Budiman.

There is plasma cannon, laser sniper, Ionizer turret guns, flashbangs and guns. A lot of guns of apex sci fi level.

This kind of modern weapons that have no magic in them would be useless in front of even Energy Disperse Stage expert but to deal with Void, this is effective.

There is double protection for the Center Palace, from magical energies and also Void nullifying power.

These measures were not present during the time of Death Monarch.

And the reason for that is very simple.

It is not that other people didn’t have such thoughts of protection before.

But because during that time Death Monarch was sitting on top the throne.

And it was not necessary.

People would rather not meet Death Monarch thus there is no need for such protection. Death Monarch himself is the best protection for Pandemonium.

But the one sitting on top of the throne of Pandemonium now?

He is not Death Monarch. That is why each time Will come to Pandemonium and look at the Center palace he would sigh.

'That one is not Death Monarch' he would think to himself silently.

As he was thinking of this the gate was finally opened as all the restriction and magical formation glowed out.

The guards were about to come down and ask the purpose for his appearance but Will had not time for such formality

He takes another step

The lighting arcs around the entrance gate like it was being absorbed follows Will step as Will move his feet forward.

Will take one step and that one step propels him to speed forward inside the tall and large Center Palace.

He sees sceneries of the Pandemonium Garden and he swept pass all the courtyards and the corners of the palace walls.

Only a streak of golden lightning could be seen passing the Keepers who were doing their jobs as a wind gust would follow his trails, scaring the hell out of the Keepers who don't know what is passing them by.

All of this happen in a span of one second and in one second, he appears inside the throne room of Center Palace he appeared so suddenly in the crowd of officials of Pandemonium, that some officials fall down in fear.

like a battle god of lightning, he appeared, his feet produce arcs of electricity that covers the red carpet underneath his foot, the throne room appears like it is being invaded by lightning, its crackling noise sound terrifying to the ears of the weak, and his overbearing pressure fills the entire throne room

His speed created a burst of heat wave inside the throne room, and wind squalls wreak havoc inside the throne room, throwing and breaking a few objects in the corner of the room

It is like a storm of lightning barged inside the throne room and started wreaking destruction.

Will hair floats by itself, the tips of his hair produces lightning and his eyes are golden with purple irises, lightning flashing by inside his eyes.

He stands there on the center of the room and then he looks toward the person sitting on the throne of Pandemonium.

Everyone was speechless and shocked right now. Except that person on the throne who look lazily at Will. There is an imperceptible smile on the face of that person.

'A very annoying smile.' Will thought

Will look toward the Regent of Pandemonium, Loki the Trickster and he said coldly

'We need to talk'

Loki replied

'I have been waiting' And the throne room of Center Palace was closed as the return of Wil the Golden Speedster to pandemonium stirs the news all over the world.

Jean in the Republic and Will in Pandemonium. They both have sensed that Death Monarch is about to return.

And they were not the only one that have sensed the energy of Time being interfered with.

Some was wise enough to know that this might signal the return of Death Monarch and these people started making plans for themselves either to become low profile or to grab an opportunity.

While some others that could not deduce why Death Monarch would create such a ripple of Time would find other possible means of explanation.

Six years had passed but people still knows of Death Monarch and many people still fears and admire him

Especially in Pandemonium where many of his heroic stories and accomplishment is still told and remembered.

There is no one after him that created such legends even after he is absent and it would be hard to found someone that could stand equal with him, in terms of status in the people hearts and in power and influence.

Even after six years had passed, none of the heroes that appears after him could hold a candle to the brightness of Death Monarch accomplishment.

At that time, Death Monarch known as Lord Shadow had dared fought against a behemoth organization like the World Government and remains on top ever since.

He had never lost a battle and have always remain undefeated and unconquered.

He is a hero to the world, fighting the Weronian Invasion and the impetus for the resistance effort against the Invasion to finally paid off.

He had fought and carved his name in history with each battle and with each victory. The strongest person in the world! Who would ever forget such a person?

But not only his battle and accomplishment is famous among those who admire and in awe with him. His romantic life is also very famous.

A great hero always is surrounded by great beauties of the world

His romantic life is always associated with the Divine Archer and the Ice Queen of the Republic which become a constant discussion between the idle gossipers in inns

One of them is the most beautiful woman in the world, Katarina the Ice Queen. The other is the Celestial beauty, the Divine Archer Sofia.

Both of these women are women of great power and influence.

Katarina is a woman admired by both men and women alike.

With her red five feet long and slender sword, she slays monsters and evildoers. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Her sword is as famous as its master. The Red Queen, the sword of the Ice Queen had killed so many monsters and brought about peace in many regions of Europe.

Her face is as beautiful as an angel and her cold eyes did not deter the blooming of love in the hearts of ambitious men.

She looks ethereal and high above others, proud like an Empress of the world.

She had an arrogance that befits her and instead of making people hated her, it makes her more desirable for the harder it is to get a woman, the more men wanted to have it.

The Divine Archer Sofia on the other hand had a different charm than the Ice Queen. She is outgoing, personable and sweet.

She had that charm of the girl next door.

But she is also very determined and very stubborn. She loved intensely and she hated intensely. She is simple and there lies her charm.

She shows her feeling unreservedly and she did not mind admitting the bad part about herself, even if that makes her petty or bitchy in other people's eyes.

She knows that to get happiness, you had to fight nail and tooth for it. Some happiness doesn't have to be fought for and there is some happiness that has to be fought for

In her eyes, there is only white and black. There is no gray.

Her determined side captures the hearts of many people and even Raymond had fallen in love with her, if the rumor is true

Raymond had expressed such desire before but was rejected by Sofia but the relationship between them has never been cut off.

The Ice Queen and the Divine Archer

These two women are the two of the most powerful women in the world. Katarina with her sword, Red Queen and Sofia with her magical Houyi Bow.

These two women could wreak havoc in the world if they decided to and as such, their love affair with Death Monarch always is a regrettable matter to the hearts of many men.

But nobody dares to scold Death Monarch for monopolizing these two beauties' affection.

Why? Because nobody wanted to invite Death to come to them by scolding the strongest person in the world.

Only an idiot would do that

The season changed and people move on but legends remains forever.

Chapter 622: The movement of the world \(1\)

For six years, no one had seen him but people of Pandemonium believes in him, believe that he would once again, just like before, he would once again return.

In six years the population of humans on Earth had boomed. The period of peace between the Seven Great forces contributed greatly to that

The populations had stabilized and in six years of peace there are many children living in a world that have never known of a world other than this world after the fall.

The Cursed Generation some called this new generation of children. Children that was born after the fall.

But some called them the Blessed Generation.

While not everything is good in this new world and this new norm that everyone had to live in, it is undeniable that the current Earth is more powerful

Before the fall there is around seven billion people on Earth. And that all changed when the Fall happened

During the Warring Periods of the many nations where warlords rises up to seize power and influence and rulers and servants are established, many more people died for fame and power.

It was a time where great men and women rises up and created their own force.

From Usman in Turkey, to Odin in Norway, Oreki and Hikigaya in Japan, Raymond in the fractured United States, Yue and Wei in China, Katarina in Russia, the Seven Fairy in the Korea peninsula, Erika in Greece and many other heroes and heroines rises up during this period of time.

Azief and his companion also rises up during this period. All the people that made a name during this time period all have grown to become the bigshot in this new world

Then there is the formation of the World Government, the Revolutionary Army and the League of Freedom.

And the wars between them for power cost even more lives. Tens of thousands people dies like flies, the world is full of tragedy, greed and ambition propels the destruction even more this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly and then Pandemonium was formed and the world witness the birth of a legend. Death monarch, the strongest person in the world.

Commanding the clouds and rain with one hand. If he wanted to cover up the Heavens, with his power he could do it.

That is the dignity and influence of the strongest person in the world. All great men wanted to be like him, to sit at the apex of existence, sitting on that highest throne.

A lot of thing had happened since then but the change toward this incessant destruction that threaten to end humanity as a species started with an Article.

The article of the world distribution issued from Pandemonium by Death Monarch had manage to create a fragile peace that enables humanity as a whole to stop for at least a moment from hacking each other to death.

It is ironic that Azief change was precipitated by Pandikar, the very same person that has plotted against him.

To the Word Government, in public, they had to vilify and demonize Pandikar because of his coup.

But in private, some of the Quorum members all feel a bit of admiration towards him

Even Hirate had regretted not taking Pandikar seriously of the threat beyond the stars which started the whole fiasco to begin with.

There is Weronian Invasion that had happened that changed Pandikar worldviews and why he believes that the World Government should invest in a planetary technology, to monitor outer space and to prevent being blindsided by an invasion from distant star

There is a lot more dangers in outer space than one would imagine.

Hirate lack of concern had pushed Pandikar into the path of no return and thus the tragedy that day was born.

But out of that tragedy, there is something else that happens that probably outset the outcome of that tragedy.

It makes Death Monarch slowly thinks about his position and his power in the world and how he could change the world if he wanted to Pandikar was dead but he did one thing that no organization on earth had been able to do.

With his life, he had managed to change Death Monarch mind and become more active in the world

Hirate had conflicted feeling for this renowned traitor of the World Government. There is a trace of regret and there is even respect.

Pandikar had predicted that the outer space is not entirely benevolent to humanity.

Before, humanity and Earth had nothing to offer to the collective power of the intergalactic civilizations.

But now, they have the World Orb that had elevated humanity to be able to compete with the great civilization in the Universe.

As there is great opportunity, there is also great risk involved in it

Hirate and his colleague live in an era where there was television and entertainment, internet and all its vices and benefits.

Aliens that come from outer space were always depicted in medias and movies like some benevolent species or a pacifistic civilization owing to their technological advances.

But the Weronian Invasion was a rude awakening to these thoughts.

Power is still power. Strength determines everything in the world. As such it was in Earth, such was also the case for the Heavens above.

A great civilization is not built by being pacifistic or being benevolent. It is by being powerful that a great civilization could be built.

While not all civilizations out in the outer space are as barbaric and warlike as the Weronians, they are not entirely altruistic or pacifistic either.

Like humans, they fought for benefits. They craved power and they want control. It is even more brutal and more heartless than one would imagine.

Only certain civilizations that have reached the apex of power could ignore the squabbling of ants like those seven intergalactic powers that have the say in the United Intergalactic Alliance.

Pandemonium, the World Government and the Republic even after the formation of the Seven Great Powers, still remain the three most powerful forces on Earth.

Pandemonium had led the Earth out of its cycle of killing each other for power and influence with one article of law that had to be obeyed by the Seven Great Powers.

It helps that it is also the strongest organization out of the three great powers. Pandemonium is a land of crouching tiger and hidden dragons.

Each of the seven great powers are constrained by the laws in the Article of World Distribution.

But, this law would not have come into effect or trusted by the others, if at that time Pandemonium was weak.

It is obeyed and trusted because Pandemonium is strong.

Chapter 623: The movement of the world \(2\)

Because sitting on the throne of the most dangerous and mysterious continent in the Earth is none other than Death Monarch Azief, the strongest person in the world.

That title had still remained in his hand even after six years had passed.

Even Raymond could no longer compete for that title.

That Stairway that comes from the heavens had made an impact in everyone's mind that day.

It carved the title of the strongest in everyone's mind.

In the eyes of the people of the world, unless Death Monarch is dead, then no one is qualified to compete for that title.

Six years and people still believe that Death Monarch will return.

Why would they believe in him so much?

Some people would only be gone for a day and some people would believe that they have died of being killed by some monsters.

But Death Monarch had been absent for six years but people still believe that he would return

What is the difference?

If one asked this to anyone in the world, there would be only one answer.

Because it is Death Monarch.

This is the same Death Monarch that always managed to return back to Earth. He even died and encased in an Ice mountain and he still managed to return.

Some people cited these as their proof that Death Monarch would return.

And while there is a lot of people like that, there is also another type of person that believes in the Death Monarch for a different reason.

The other reason was that they fear that if they not believe that and somehow offended Pandemonium when Death Monarch is gone, when Death Monarch returns they would pay the price.

At that time, there is no medicine for regret

The reason for this persistent fear is because of the history of people who try to fuck with Death Monarch.

Many organizations had made a blunder when dealing with Death Monarch.

The World Government had been thrashed how many times in the hands of Death Monarch because of this matter?

They couldn't even retaliate after being thrashed down.

Each time that they believe that Death Monarch is dead or weak, Death Monarch would come out, prove them wrong and make them pay the price for their actions.

That makes many people cautious.

Unless, they see Death Monarch body in front of their eyes, they would not believe that Death Monarch is dead.

And many people had understood that for people of Death Monarch level six years is just a blink of an eye.

Thus even if they waited for a decade, people would still believe that Death Monarch would return.

There is peace in the world right now but however one would want to sugarcoat it, this peace will not last.

It is intended as a stopgap measure and it is reaching its expiration date.

Each continent ruled by the Seven Great powers had been conserving their strength for when the pot exploded and the fight for the world will once again begin.

And it is clear that peace is about to be broken from the signs of the years with league of Freedom recruiting soldiers and investing research in weapons and magic.

And they are not the only one. Each of the Seven Great Powers plotted against each other in the dark.

The most mysterious is of course that continent covered with fog and thunders, Pandemonium.

But the news that have come in the few days since that time ripple had made the whole world stood still.

As some people plotted in the dark for the dissolution of the Article law binding power toward the Seven Great Powers, the Senate of the Republic held an emergency hearing, headed by the Left and Right Chancellor

The front gate of the Senate was closed when all the Senator had arrived, heeding the summons.

Nothing comes in or out until the meeting on the Senate floor is concluded. And the Republic is not the only one making questionable move.

World Government Quorum council also held an emergency meeting with all the great personage of the World Government was summoned back to Island of Peace to speak about matters of grave importance.

And after that, a shock comes once again as some intelligence channels found out that even pandemonium is making strange moves.

The Golden Speedster had returned to Pandemonium.

After Loki took the throne of Pandemonium as regent, the Golden Speedster is rarely seen in Pandemonium, preferring to meddle in many great matters of the world wherever his heart felt like it.

Many people believe that the Golden Speedster loyalty was never to Pandemonium but to his sworn brother, Death Monarch Azief.

So, to get the news that the Golden Speedster suddenly meeting with the Trickster made everyone eyebrows furrows in confusion.

The Three Great Generals of Pandemonium halted their campaign of killing enemies of Pandemonium and also heed the summon by the Central Government of Pandemonium.

Lady Freya, the Valkyrie of the Battlefield, the Flying Berserk Cavalry General of Pandemonium flies through the thundering and lightning filled skies of Pandemonium with his ten thousand Berserkers soldiers, shocking the whole world.

In the six years of Death Monarch absence, Lady Freya and her twelve thousand soldiers fought against those who flouts the rules of the article of Distribution and also have a reputation of defending the weak.

Six years of foreign expedition and only two thousand people had died under her command after all that battles that she had participated.

It is nothing short of a miracle and shows her effectiveness in leading her soldiers

Her return to Pandemonium is a sign to everyone that this is serious matter.

The decree that have been left by Death Monarch was for the Three Army to punish any of the rule breakers.

It is by constant suppression of these flouters that the laws in the Article of Distribution could be enforced.

Some people decries that it is a violation of human rights to force them to follow a law that they do not recognize.

To that, Freya answered

‘Power is power’ and she will cut down anyone that disobey. With such unrelenting determination, who could last long against her?

And her level in the world stage is also not that low

She is in Disk Formation and such she could not attack freely in the battlefield unless another Disk Formation leveler also joins the battle.

Only then she could join the battle too. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

As such, there were times when, the enemy commander or general who is also Disk Formation level decided to battle purely in terms of their strategy and not dare to enter the battle.

This is in line with the agreement of the Article of Distribution that Disk Formation leveler could not arbitrarily starts battle without any clear reason and especially in a war battle where most of the soldiers are Orb Condensing Stage

It would be an overkill to have a Disk Formation leveler to attack such force. It is like pitting a giant against a baby.

They did not want to face Freya Lightspear, the spear of light that Freya possesses and Freya herself is not some weak general.

When there is Disk Formation leveler interferen, only then she could run amuck.

The laws of the Article are also binding to her.

If not some people said that Pandemonium who wrote the laws also flouts off the rule. If that was the case, Pandemonium, the Republic and the World Government also loses their justification of suppressing others that did not follow the rules.

If Death Monarch was here, the matter would surely be different.

But precisely because he isn't on Earth, that he draws up the agreement and ask the other great powers to enforce it.

Justification is very important for some people.

It might not be important for Azief but he knows it is important for some people.

For someone like Hirate, Boris they want to capture the human hearts.

And they could not be aggressive in doing it.

Chapter 624: The movement of the world \(3\)

Azief did not worry about such thing because he never cares about justification and all that.

And the other reason was that, people did not follow him because of that.

People follow him because he is strong.

As long as he remains strong, there would be no lack of people that would want to follow him

If she flouted the rules, then Wang Jian, the Southern Suppressing General, the most loyal to Pandemonium out of the three, he would surely punish Freya himself.

Wang Jian on the other hand was ordered to suppress the monsters around Pandemonium.

Monster do breed and in some places they respawned.

Unless a powerful enough Seed Forming expert absorbs all the energy around such respawn places, monsters there will respawn every few days.

Some heroes in the world had breakthrough after absorbing energy in such places which is why this kind of places is snatched up by many powerful forces.

It is also why the Three Great Generals of Pandemonium all have become powerful leveler.

Wang Jian did not slack off his training and he too had reached Disk Formation .

With all these dungeons and cave that he had found and the experience he got in killing all of these monsters, he is at the peak of Disk Formation .

Unlike Azief who had to create ten Seed to call upon the Purifying Fire, Wang Jian had at least create six seed before he breakthrough.

Energy is not in abundance in the world right now, with everyone seizing the luck of the Heavens and Earth.

But to break through to Divine Comprehension would be hard because he is not the only one in the world that wanted to breakthrough to another level

By suppressing and killing monster, Wang Jian improved drastically.

Azief had predicted this matter the moment he finishes his fight with the Will of the World and the Heavens of Earth.

He had a premonition that one day, the massive growth of humanity development would still because of lack of energy and at that time, the strong and the weak would be decided.

There is a reason why Azief did not stop running forward and why he is so adamant in being first.

This is the reason. Because if he stops running forward, if he even just stops for a while, he would get left behind.

Since Azief had already made so many enemies, he could not stop or else, the matter would not only fall on him.

It would also implicate those who he regards as his family. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Azief after the Fall and the Azief before the Fall is a different person. The him before the fall, does not have many things in his life. And he even has less people that he cares about.

But that is different for Azief, the Death Monarch. He has people he cared about, people h loves and people he wanted to keep safe.

Pandemonium is famous not only because it is mysterious and the most dangerous continent to live in.

It is also famous because the one sitting on that throne is the strongest person in the world that could clam the world with a word and bring storms and wreak havoc to the world if that One sitting on the throne comes out to the world.

A new world order will be decided when the energy of the world decline.

And at that time only those who were quick in seizing the energy would have the chance to breakthrough. Everyone need to seize luck and fortune by themselves.

Energy is not as limitless as one would think. Especially if those energies are absorbed into one body and become a part of that person entire being.

The stronger that one becomes, the higher the expenditure of energy

If there is a Price in everything, then so would be this massive amount of energy that have been bestowed on Earth.

Azief predicted it, thus he sent his Three Great Generals to pacify the world, killing those who disobey the rules and bring peace and order so that humanity could thrive.

And this makes Pandemonium even more stronger. There is already the Divine Archer who is in Disk Formation. Then there is Loki who is also in Disk Formation.

Sina while she is stuck in Seed Forming stage, she is the world renowned Alchemist.

All the alchemist and pill makers in the world respected her and many people owed her a favor. Even the Sage of Medicine respected her.

Sina's power lies in her influence that could call upon thousands of heroes and heroines to aid her in her times of need.

The soldiers that were left behind in Pandemonium on the other hand are led by the Grand Commander of the Army, a man named Milos.

He was not the strongest and he is even weaker than the Vice Commander of the Three Armies.

But he was still appointed by the Three great generals to lead the Three Army soldiers that are in Pandemonium.

Pandemonium itself is full of monsters and Milos and his soldiers had been strengthening himself and gained the title Valiant General Milos, an honorary title given by the Central Government.

As Milos is known as Valiant general, and Freya is known as Flying Berserk Cavalry General, Wang Jian, the first general of war that followed Death Monarch and is reputed to be the most loyal out of all officials of Death Monarch also have a title.

Wang Jian is known as the War God of Pandemonium.

Each battle he fought, he never lost. He was undefeated in military formations and his fame resounded all over the world.

He fought the Kraken and managed to injure that titanic beast, making it to retreat to the Aegean Sea, daring not showing its face.

He fought the three headed dragon in the coast of Knossos, saving many people there. He punishes those people who tried to make problems and protest the Article of distribution.

All of them have to answer to his glaive

He even had the chance to wreck apart the Yue dynasty when he helped Lee Sangmin and his organization to strengthen control in Asia.

His pillar of black iron, the Ruyi Jingu bang is his trademark weapon and he once stabilizes the sea water with it by acting as the pillars of the sea.

Many people said that the Ruyi Jingu Bang that Wang Jian uses is like the Ruyi Jingu Bang in the story of the Monkey King.

Wang Jian when he went into battle he would wear the Cloud Walking Boots, the War God Gold Chain Armor and his phoenix feather cap while swinging his black staff.

He looks like the Monkey King but the personality is very different. Monkey King in the story is very rebellious but Wang Jian is the epitome of loyalty toward Death Monarch and Pandemonium.

The people of Pandemonium respected and admired him and many young people join his army and his popularity on the Souter region of Pandemonium, is like he is a King of that region.

The Souter region have always been Wang Jian territory and when the conflict between the central government and him was at its heights, he opens his own court in the South and regulate the southern region like he was a monarch.

If not for Death Monarch that always trusted and believe in his loyalty, and understanding the underpinning of the matter, he would probably have been executed by Death Monarch

In six years, Wang Jian had carved a name among the greats.

And while he did not claim to be the leader of the other two generals of Pandemonium, it is widely knowing that Athena and Freya both listen to his orders.

When the news comes out that the Central Government of Pandemonium summoned Wang Jian, many people had expected him to reject the edict

Many knows that Wang Jian and the Central Government had bad blood between them. After all, if not for the intervention of Death Monarch, Wang Jian might have been framed by them.

And even after Loki took the helm of Pandemonium, Wang Jian still did not trust the Central Government

He was content in doing his duty outside of Pandemonium, slaying monsters, upholding righteousness and fighting evil people.

It is simpler than having to fend off schemes and plots from the officials in the Central Government

Bu this time, weirdly, contrary to the world expectation, Wang Jian ditches his hunting of Fire Kirin, and urgently return to Pandemonium.

And if Freya and Wang Jian return, how could Athena who was searching for the Oracle all over the world, just stay outside. She and her soldiers also send replies that she would return.

The Three Great Generals of Pandemonium, Will the Golden Speedster, and if rumors to be believed even Sasha the Nightingale who were rumored to have disappeared after Death Monarch went out of Earth also would make an appearance.

The Divine Archer had also come out from her seclusion in the Mountain of Flowers to heed the summon.

Everyone could feel there is a change in the air, like a wind that is about to bring a huge storm

The Three Great powers at the same time, all suddenly started to move. This brought great discomfort to the other four organizations that ruled the other four continents.

What are they doing?

These are the question in the heads of the other four great forces.

Chapter 625: The four great powers \(1\)

After all, even if they were called the Seven Great Powers, the original Three Great Powers, Pandemonium, World Government and the Republic is still undoubtedly the one deciding the rules and rule the world with their might and authority.

They are still regarded as the most stable power in the world and have the power to vetoed any resolution from the other four great powers.

The other four great powers had been amassing strength and people to prepare for a war. Everyone could feel that when one of the Three Great Powers reached a powerful enough state, they would begin by taking down their competitors.

And the other four great power that was propped up in the Article of Distribution would not just take it lying down.

After all, they have tasted the sweet taste of power

They would not just let it go now.

The new four rising powers had managed to pacify their continent, ruling like Emperors of the ancient past

They all managed to increase their hold in the throne that was bestowed upon them by Death Monarch.

Death Monarch had made it clear in the message he sent to the four organization he chooses.

He had reminded them that if their organization or faction is incapable of ruling and get overthrown, then that simply means that organization is not worthy to begin with.

And because of that, during those six years, the Four Great Powers could not even contend with the Republic, the World Government and Pandemonium which was already stabilized from the very beginning.

This is in line with the intention of the Republic and the World Government to maintain their lead. And pandemonium still has Death Monarch so they are not worried at all even if Pandemonium is not stabilized.

The four great powers were in a lot of pressure but since they already decided to take the throne that was given to them, they had to stifle their dissatisfaction

The other four great powers had to fight rebellion forces that intends to usurps their position and title, pacify their continent from monster attack, developing territories and encourage people to come and stay in their continent.

They have to be generous and kind, developing the people in their continent.

Not to mention that sometimes when there is a talented leader papered somewhere in their continent, they either had to entice them to their fold or make sure that they would not become a threat.

But dealing with Disk Formation experts of Seed Formation expert is not easy since they all have their pride and they would rather serve the strongest person in the world or the Republic and the World

Government who have many great heroes and heroines, believing that they could make their names there.

And every few years, the four great powers would always have rebellion from some expert of the original regime that has long been established in the continent that they control.

As long as it is an internal war, the other great powers would not help.

They would only interfere if there is a massacre by experts that is forbidden by the Article. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

The weight of the crown is heavy and if you want to wear it, you must be able to endure the weight.

If you can't, someone else will take that crown from you. The Article of Distribution had become some kind of constitution of law article for the world.

Of course people know that the moment someone broke the balance that Article would cease to be effective and as such there are some people that want to keep the world balanced and some people wanted to break that balance.

There is a lot of plans and rules in the Article.

And a different world has emerged with the Article enforcement by the Three Giants of the World.

The Three Giants and the Four Great Powers.

That is what most people refers to the Seven Great Powers. The Three Giants refers to the original Three Great powers, Pandemonium World Government and the Republic.

While the Four Great Powers refers to the Lotus Orders that is in charge of the Asia continent, League of Freedom that is in charge of the South America, Orders of Thinker in charge of Antarctica and the African Alliance in charge of Africa.

In six years, the four great powers have finally proved their mettle and now have the power to look elsewhere.

Four years before the Lotus Order had to compromise with the many leaders and factions in Asia after a disastrous internal war with the Mongols and the lower lands of Indonesia.

At that time, they had to call upon a great meeting inviting the great warlords and faction all over the Asian continent.

In official news, they compromised with each other.

In truth, the Lotus Order had to comply with many unfair demands for their loyalty to the Lotus Order.

Those faction leaders are free to do whatever they wanted in their dominion as long as the Laws of the Seven Great Power is observed and enforced.

It was like the Lotus order is the Emperor and all of these other factions that agree to the compromise is like King under the Emperor.

The difference was the Kings are all autonomous and only in public it looks like the Lotus Order have power over them when in truth, the Lotus Order power only effective in China.

And even then, the factions and the many organizations that have agreed to the compromise want more.

At that time, the Lotus Order had no other choice than to seek help from the one of the Three Giants.

They enlist the help from the World Government and as Raymond the Earthshaker, Hikigaya the Illusionist Archmage and Thunder Monarch Oreki appeared, the factions finally relented.

The Empire of Japan is like always is protected by the Twin Sages of Japan, Oreki and Hikigaya and they were considered to be under the rule and law of the World Government even though they are geographically inside the boundaries of Asia.

Japan remain a separate entity out of Asia and belongs to the World Government and Lotus Orders also knows they have no power to enforce that Japan accepts this since there is provision in the Article written by Death Monarch that give such an exception to Japan.

But that peace was not everlasting. A half year after the compromise was reached, a large scale of rebellion erupted and thrown the entire Asia continent into a frenzy.

To the edges of Indonesia, to the tallest peak of the mountains of Tibet, to the steppes of Mongolia, to the sandy desert of Dubai, rebel warlords rises up and wanting to take the title of the ruler of Asia

At that time, the World Government had interfered because the rebellion suddenly deployed a Disk Formation levelers to massacre an entire group of people in Laos.

The Three Giants responded with swift death execution.

the rebellion simply disregards the rules that was set upon in the World Meeting by the Seven Great Powers and as such they were meted out with great vengeance the Republic allowing full military mobilization. And Pandemonium, this sleeping behemoth finally opens its eyes and also enter this matter.

The Three Army of Pandemonium suddenly appeared in Laos and started engaging battle with the rebellion forces like heavenly soldiers descending down from the heavens

The rebellion touches Pandemonium sensitive spot especially after Death monarch had left

The law that has been made by Death Monarch, the Sovereign of Pandemonium was ignored and looked down upon by some rabble of rebels.

Loki knew he had to defend the reputation that Death Monarch had built for himself so he ordered the mobilization and the Three Army quickly abandoned their mission and decimated half of the rebel military force in a day.

It is with the combined effort of the Great Powers that Asia regained back their peace.

And after six years, they now have full control, with the Lotus Order comprised of the many leaders of Asia and powerful levelers, their biggest enemies are no longer the rebels but the monsters that roamed around the Asian continent and they now have the power to contend with the Three Giants.

Chapter 626: The four great powers \(2\)

Africa led by the African Alliance also have stabilized its rule by going the generous overlord path.

They eradicated monster and gain the trust of the people and warlords in Africa.

Sometimes, they eradicated warlords that kidnapped children or burn villages and outlawed such act in their organization.

Slowly, they become powerful and after six years they now could say that the people of Africa believes more in the African Alliance than they did in the World Government that used to rule some of the regions in Africa.

But conflict still exist there.

And the reason why these conflict still exist is because it is usually incited by the force of the World Government and the Republic with it silent maneuvering from behind.

The World Government and the Republic could never let any of the four great powers replaces them and while Death Monarch did cut off any powers of the World Government in Africa and the African Alliance effort in wiping out any influence of the World Government on Africa, the World Government also had its way.

After all, six years of absence and Pandemonium closed continent policy, the World Government had many chances to influence the matter from the dark.

Pandemonium under Loki rule did not interfere in this matter

As long as the Great Powers did not outright attack the other Great Powers then nobody really want to muck up this new peace that is slowly dawning on humanity.

It is a remarkable success story.

With fifty-four interest tied together inside the African Alliance, they have managed to rise up against the adversity and hold the entire continent together.

It is held together by a man named Kairu who managed to rise up above all the intrigue and schemes inside the African Alliance.

He somehow managed to quiet down the corrupt leaders and replaces it with men who share his vision for a new improved African continent, rich and powerful without outside interference from the World Government and the Republic.

Their population thrived and peace seems to have landed. With many energy mines around Africa, they are a rising power that could not be underestimated.

Now, it seems that Earth had finally break out from that cycle of almost near extinction as new generation of human were born in this unprecedented peace that have appears because of the Article of World Distribution.

People were grateful to Death Monarch and some people did not know that such gratefulness and thanks become some sort of faith power that supplies Divine Law Body of Azief when he was in the Sealed Dimension

There used to be concern of overpopulation before the Fall but now each Great Power wanted their people to procreate and increase their population.

The one that does not need to worry about this is probably is only Pandemonium, The World Government and the Republic.

That has been the case six years ago, and it is still the case today

People flock to go to this three great Powers because they believed in their strength and their ability to protect their people.

And the Three Great Powers had not only solved the constant war all over the world with their Article of Distribution but they have also learned from past mistake.

Do not only be wary of enemies under the heaven, but also wary of the enemies that comes beyond the heaven.

The Weronian Invasion, the Sithulran incident have convinced many people in the Three Great Powers that the threat of humanity does not only come from greedy men with ambitions that have no bounds, it is warlike civilization from outer space with greed and ambition that have no bounds.

The military base that the Three Great powers jointly builds on the moon have grown into a full-fledged military base ready to intercept any oncoming attack to Earth from any intergalactic invaders.

It is no longer just serves as a lookout facility for extraterrestrial activity near Earth and Milky Way galaxy, it is the first line of defense against any extraterrestrial activity that wanted to intrude upon Earth

While that is encouraging, the Three Giants, especially the World Government and the Republic also is wary of the forces in the world.

there is another rising force that is threatening the World Republic. And it is one Great Power that the World Government take very seriously

Out of the four great powers, this is the only organization that openly shows its hatred toward the World Government.

The reason for their appointment is nothing short of Death Monarch plans to check the World Government influence from growing to large in his absence

It is the League of Freedom.

They now hold great power in South America.

The League of Freedom first use iron fist and employ fear to control its people but when the chaos had settled, they finally rolled out their slogans of Freedom for All.

The leader of the League of Freedom, Narleod accuses the World Government of taking the freedom of humans and forces them into subservient position in the world.

They dictate what class you should choose, what position you should take in society and everything is controlled and regulated, leaving only the elites to have the freedom to choose.

He accuses the World Government of suppressing any new talents from rising up in fear of disrupting the status quo of the World Government.

And now, the League of Freedom could no longer be classified as some small organization. They now have the power of an entire continent on their back, they have trained military, they have powerful leveler like Flame Goddess Frieda, Warp the Space Manipulator, Water Queen Erin, Hamad the Fierce Berserker, Hatta the Slicer, the Demonic Huntress Delia and The Mad Scientist Akira.

Because of that The World Government is also being low profile in some aspect.

The reason for the quick growth of the League of Freedom is none other than because Death Monarch had handed the reign of South America to the League where the Amazon forest is located.

It is one of the most dangerous forest in the world.

But it is also a treasure trove of resources, energy stones, and exotic and rare herbs that could strengthen one body and it is because of that, the improvement of the people that migrated to South America is obvious. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

The League of Freedom open the forest for people to hunt and raise their levels. There is hardly Pillar Forming levelers in his continent unless they are kids or babies.

Death Monarch wanted to make sure that the World Government will not have time to focus on Pandemonium and instead had to worry about the enemy beside them

And the last of the four great powers, is one of the most diplomatic of all of the great powers in that they traded with all the six great powers

It is the Order of Thinkers that have been in charge of the Antarctica. It is a land of knowledge. That is how its reputation has solidified in the six years that have passed.

Antarctica, who is always associated with white wide expanses of white snow is now known to the world as a land of knowledge and wisdom.

Many new discoveries about the new world that they are now living in is discovered every day.

The land has tree made of crystal that sprouted from its cold hard ground and some parts of the Antarctica have a different scene that no one would have expected.

Crystal grass. It is like grass but it is white and when one holds it in one hand, it is not cold but warm.

Many weird and magical trees dotted the lands of the Antarctica.

And as there is weird and magical plants, there is also weird and magical beast. Some of them could be tamed and some of them are wild and rabid.

It is also a haven for Monster Tamers that would travel thousands of miles just to tame many of the beast in the Antarctica.

Most famous structure in the Antarctica is the University of Crystal. It is made of crystal, carved with thousands of runes and inlaid in each of its pillars is matrixes of magical formations

Six years has been enough for the Order of Thinkers to terraform the ice continent into inhabitable place.

It traded many new inventions and discoveries with all the Six great powers and enjoyed the protection and favorable agreements in trade and information.

The Seven Great Powers of the world. Out of these seven, only two of the Great Powers did not care about land. And that is the Order of Thinkers and Pandemonium.

It is quiet ridiculous when one thinks about it.

That even after the Fall, people still cares about land.

World Government and the Republic might have such ideas but not Pandemonium and not the Death Monarch.

To Azief, Earth is small compared to the Universe he had seen.

He had no interest on Earth lands or resources because he knows it is paltry compared to the many planets outside Earth.

If there is one redeeming quality of Earth, it is that the All Source is here and that makes Earth a very tempting place.

But to some people having the title of King on Earth felt like such a big accomplishment. Such desires in Azief eyes is small desire.

The four great powers began sending spies to the Three Great Powers. Pandemonium is out of the question so most of spies were sent to Island of Peace or to Moscow.

While Pandemonium is hard to infiltrate with all that fog that covers the entire continent and the clouds of thunders and lightning that dotted the skies around Pandemonium, that doesn't mean there isn't any other way to get information.

While the people outside Pandemonium is forbidden to go inside Pandemonium, the people in Pandemonium was not forbidden to go out.

The world right now is in a state of standing still with the sudden moves of the Three Great Power that didn't make sense to the other four great powers.

But if that is all, it is not shocking. But the news that came out from White Owls make everyone felt even more cautious.

Even the Crime Alliance that have been high profile these days suddenly retreated back and more and more of them is hiding back.

War was just about to erupt but then suddenly, everything changes. It was calm. But those that knows, know that this calm is just a prelude to the terrible storm that is about to descend.

The normal population could also feel the changes in their cities and the official also feel the change in their continent.

Something is about to happen. Something big that forces the three great power to make such a weird move.

Something that forces the recently flamboyant Crime Alliance to suddenly be like scared rats.

And suddenly a news come out.

No one knows where it starts or from where it starts but once someone told the story, other listen and the story and the news spread like wildfire.

There is only one force on Earth that could force the Three Great Powers to act like that.

And there is only one force on Earth that the Crime Alliance would fear. When you think about it, there is only one common denominator between these organization actions.

The news gained tractions because its logical. The new is none other than Death Monarch is returning!

Chapter 627: A mysterious person \(1\)

The world is stirring with the news that the Death Monarch is returning and people are all making plans.

The Three Giants moves and the news that appears afterwards had shocked the other Great Powers the Crime Alliance who was very high profiled these past couple of years is now hiding, Void who was active suddenly seem to disappear into thin air, in England, the world seems calm and unchanging.

As this was happening on the coast of England, a weird longboat surrounded by green fog is slowly approaching Cornwall.

This man stands at the helm with his hand behind his back, looking over the revealing horizon.

The sound of the waves lapping over the coast of the beach where he alighted fill his heart this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

He sighed and look toward the distance and smiles

‘I think I could leave him in my place’ he mutters to himself and he shook his head.

‘What is done is done. I need to see her. The time has come’ he said as he sighs regretfully.

This man words are hard to understand and make sense of.

Unless they are the person that knows the secret in the heads of this person, only then one would understand what he means

'England' he muttered. It is one of the lands under the purview of the World Government. Ruled by a King and guarded by the Black Knights.

It is not one of the strongest kingdom in the world but it is not weak either. They were lucky that their monarch was not entirely eaten by monster during the Fall.

He jumps down from his longboat. The moment his feet landed his weird longboat dissipated like it is the fog. The green fog dispersed as the wind blows over.

He looks around and smile before saying

'This place become more beautiful each year' He is at Falmouth and now he could enjoy the scenery that is offered to him.

Though, there are many beautiful beaches all around the world, it had been four years that he keeps coming to England. Of course, there is some attachment toward the place.

If there is one thing that the Fall had done is that nature becomes even more beautiful, with lush green trees and clean water and clean air.

When one looks at the sky in the night, the stars could clear be seen and the moon light that shines to the ground is like some kind of celestial light that graces the mortal world

The wind blows over his blonde hair.

This man is muscly wearing leather clothes made from some monster skin.

Power radiated out of him. His face is angular and his nose is pronounced. He had that rugged charm of a valiant young man.

He takes a deep breath and inhale and exhale. The sound of some animals in the distance is clearly heard by him

'It has grown a bit since last year' he said as he noted some building in the distance made of stones.

Before the Fall this city is a tourist destination place. It also has a harbor and trade all over the world.

After the Fall however, a tragic fate had befallen it.

From the report of the royal family of England, the city was ravaged by a sea monster that destroyer everything around this small city.

It is not a Kraken but a White Whale. This whale had appeared when the tide suddenly rises and it swallow the entire city into its stomach.

It swallows the monsters, as the monster is its food but the resident of the city was accidentally swallowed too

An entire city was sucked into his mouth and die in its stomach.

It is unfortunate that this happens early during the Fall. At that time, no one has the power to survive such calamity.

That is why from the research of the Orders of Thinkers they had publish a report that most of the places that have the highest casualties is around the coastal area where monster at that time possess levels that are beyond human abilities at that time to counter it.

Of course if such a whale appears when there was an expert of at least even an Energy Disperse Stage, it could be pushed back into the sea.

Since he had always need to come to England, he decided to build some structure to accommodate him.

As such, he had killed the monster four years ago and share the news to the royal family as the royal family gives him a title and land near Falmouth coast.

And when the news comes out that the monster that have terrorized this coast has been eliminated, since then there are people from all over the world that made this their home.

And he is one of them. At least it is home when he comes here once a year.

When he comes here, he would wear a different face and as such, he is known only as the person who kills the sea monster and is given special privileges here.

The area around the coast is his land and no one will contend that with him.

He could actually go straight to her if he wanted to. But since today is a special day, he decided to take a little detour first

He looks at the sky above him and he nodded

‘A sunny day. Why is it sad things always have to happen in a good day?’ he complained.

England had an unpredictable weather but in a world of magic, every day could be sunny and every day could be rainy depends on the moods of powerful people.

‘Today feel a little bit different. A bad different’ he thought to himself.

‘Probably this would be the last year I would meet her’ he thought to himself as he began walking forward.

The lovely beaches become even lovelier when one considered that there is no other structure near the coast.

Many people did not dare to live around the coast.

All places in the world is like that nowadays.

In the past money is the measuring stick to decide who gets the best place.

In the new world, it is strength.

Only powerful people could live near the coast.

And they also need to be brave.

Sea monsters that attack the coast is a normal occurrence. If you are only at Pillar Forming or Orb Condensing Stage and you still want to live near the coast, don't blame anyone when you are chow food for the aquatic monsters

That is why only powerful people that dares live near the coast. It is because they can handle it if such calamity were to happen.

And people even want the powerful people to live in the coast and they have high influence in the area.

This is because if monster from the sea come attacking, having such a powerful person living near the coast would be a help and not a burden.

Of course, if you have a powerful defensive magical formation, then one could ignore such things.

There is no pleasure boats or cruise in the new world with new norms.

The people that dares sails the seas are powerful people that could fight and contend with the monster deep underneath the bottom of the seas and the peopled dreaming of a better life in some other kingdoms or regions.

And pirates. He did not forget pirates. Every year he would come to England to meet someone he considered a friend.

To be accurate, after six years, they have some relationship akin that of a friend.

It is quite complicated to define their relationship with each other. The closest to the meaning of their relationship is old friend.

'hah' he sighed as she looks at the clear sky and feeling the breezy wind of the sea around him

The plots and scheme of men and the laughing of the Gods filled the world with interesting stories. Fates and Destiny intertwined with each other to create various stories and lives.

To those who could see it with objective eyes, they would see it as nothing more than just a story.

A heartrending story but still a story. It is obviously not the same for people who had to experience it for themselves.

This man wanted to change that heartrending story into a story of great love, of fulfilled hopes and dreams, a story that end with a happy ending.

He walks forward and he could see there are now many villages here in Falmouth. Maybe in a couple of years, these congregations of villages will form a large city.

When peoples saw him thy smile and offer him a pint of beer.

There are sailors and even some people from other regions. Falmouth is now free of any monster since a few years ago.

There is him who killed many of the giant monster around it and there are also some others powerful leveler that come here and eradicate the other monster and also made their home here.

Chapter 628: A mysterious person \(2\)

Falmouth could be considered a safe area in the Empire of Britain.

The six years that has passed since the shocking display of stairway from the heavens and the world had seen many changes

England is also one of such places where changes are constant. The World Government guarantees the sovereignty of the United Kingdom when it was first inducted into the list of World Government members.

The royalty of the United Kingdom is also one of the Quorum member of the World Government.

But, the matters of the world changes drastically since then when heroes and villains rises together.

What is constant is always the desire for power

Scotland and Northern Ireland declares independence and the United Kingdom send their Black Knights to show their stance.

There are ten members of the Black Knights and their leader is in Disk Formation level while the other twelve is in Seed Formation.

They reconquered back Northern Ireland and Scotland and then also expand the campaign to take the Republic of Ireland.

They then renamed themselves back to the Empire of Britannia, showing their ambitions.

Most of their dependencies had also seceded and while the Empire of Britannia try to force their claims, the World Government, the Republic and pandemonium will not just sit back and let them do it.

The world is now ruled by strong people, ruled by Gods and Goddesses and while this had set back liberty and freedom, it is also the only way it is possible in this new world order.

Like Death Monarch had always said

‘How could a lion bow their heads to sheep? How could the strong kneel toward the weak?’ Death Monarch example of ruling the world with strength had also ignite ambition of men with great ambition to rule like he did.

Is it a setback to personal freedom? Yes. Does Death Monarch cares? No.

This is a world with new kind of order.

This is the ages of Gods and myths. Extraordinary men and women ascend to become more than just humans.

Your fate is yours to grasp, if you are brave and strong enough.

This is an era where the strong rules. This is an era where Gods walks among mortals.

And as such how could Gods be constrained by the opinion of the many, the suppression of the weak majority where they themselves could solve the world problem with one wave of their hands?

And the royal family of Britannia understand this new fact easily.

In this new world, there is no talk about diplomacy unless you are in an equal playing field.

Might makes right.

And where they used to have some decorum and some hypocritical discussion on a round table to hide this unchanged truth, nowadays, it is open and aboveboard.

Death Monarch commands the heroes of the world and everyone listen to him is simply because he is the strongest man in the world.

He only sigh at the changing matters of the world.

His eyes see further than that. He enjoyed his day today in the coast.

He looks around the beaches, explores around in the cave, swimming with the many aquatic forms inside the water, enjoying the cool breeze of the sea.

When evening came, he went to a tavern and while he does not need to warm himself, he still likes seeing the flaming wood in the center of the fireplace.

He drinks some beer that have some herbs that allows intoxication but apparently his body is now too strong that he no longer could get drunk that easily.

Unless it is his own concoction, he would not get drunk

He walks along the trails of the gardens that is spread all around Falmouth and enjoy its beauty. Night came and he now have to leave. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

‘One day of peace’ he muttered silently as he takes one last glance at the thriving village on the coast

‘Alas, everything has an end. These past four years had been good to me.

But now that person is returning, so I could not take it slowly anymore’ he has a bitter smile on his face and then he pointe his index finger into the empty space in front of him.

Then he brought his finger down and a space rip was produced as ripples of space around the space rips seems to behaved unstably.

The area around him seems to be distorted and appearing like it is spiraling. He then steps inside the space rip.

A zapping sound echoes as he suddenly found the space around him to be spiraling into an infinite vortex.

The feeling could make one stomach churns for first timers. But he had uses it many time, so he felt only a slight dizziness.

He appeared right inside a thick forest with countless trees that reached the clouds.

The moment he came he look at the tress around him. He saw ravens. Thousands of them perched in the branches of the many trees inside this forest

He whistles in a small voice but for some reason his whistle could be heard by all of the ravens. They all turned their head to look toward him.

He laughed

'I guess you all also want to go home, right. This will be the last time so be ready' he said to no one in particular.

Then he pointed his finger forward. The ravens followed his finger and surges toward the area where he pointed.

A black cloud descended and fills the entire forest. The sound of the flapping of wing sounds like a symphony of death

They are charging toward an area where it is filled with blob-like creatures that floats around and wander the forest.

The eyes of the ravens turn green and their body is shrouded with green aura mixed with black.

It enables them to attack the dark blob creature, pecking them and eating them. They finish them in less than a second, like a locust that come to eat each plants that exist in front of their eyes.

The dark blob creatures dissipated into the ground, like a fertilizer nourishing the ground.

He knew that after a few hours, these dark blobs will once again appear.

The raven then flew toward the branches of the many trees and stand there, like a sentinel that guards these land of darkness.

Smiling, he walks forward without any interruptions.

He had been coming here for four years. If he did not have countermeasures for these dark lobs that roamed around inside this forest, how could he leisurely come here every year.

He no longer had to do so many preparations just to come here.

He sighed.

'She could have at least parted with some of her talisman to help this old friend' and he shakes his head.

Like always, he always come here at night. He could see the beautiful glowing light in the distance.

It is always beautiful when he comes at night' he thought

He is in Wiltshire and he is now about to enter one of the Forbidden Zone in the world.

The dark aura and the dark blob creatures that hovers and roams the forest that have sprouted out around what used to be a clearing is reason enough for people not to come near this area.

Not to mention the many monster lair all around here.

And the area of that forbidden zone is none other than the famous Stonehenge.

Even after six years, it is still a forbidden zone. The other one that he is wary of is the Forbidden Zone in the middle of the Sahara.

it has an unknown Golden Pyramid that attract monsters of all kinds.

And it floats.

A gigantic pyramid that floats a few meters from the bottom of the land. The land around the pyramid is full of green tress, long flowing rivers and rain always fall down around it.

But there are too many monster there for it to be inhabitable.

He shakes his head and focus his mind.

The closer he came to his objective, the more his mind wander.

Or maybe, because of his method, his mind become more cluttered and more distracted he thought to himself.

Hah' he sighed. No one could understand his hardship.

Everyone wanted to plot against him and that is fine. Because to him, their plots and scheme look like child play. But, he is now playing the game of his life.

It will determine the creation and destruction of the entire Omniverse.

So it could be understood how he could view those people who schemes and plots against him as childish, immature and counterproductive.

He walks forward as the sound of the ravens slowly no longer could be heard.

All the dark blob in his path had already been eradicated and now he could see clearly, the ring of the Stonehenge that covers a large swath of area, glowing brightly

The standing stones even after four years under her care is still standing tall. The glowing blue light in the distance has become closer.

He did not rush; his heart is not anxious to meet her. Maybe, because it will be the last time he could see her like that, he wishes time would go slower.

He saw the empty area and he waved his hand. This is the formation he always had to break each time he came here.

It is not accurate to say it is a formation that he breaks. It is more like he circumvents it.

After all, if every time he came he break her formation, she might be annoyed enough that she would spare no expense to keep him out

He steps into the circular ring of stones and he look at the tree in the distance with a complicated expression.

'I am sick and tired of looking at that tree' he disdains it. And there were many reason to disdain it.

The tree itself is peculiar. It is a thin tree but it is very tall, its height reached the clouds without its body buckling under the pressure.

Its root is tangled all over and on the branches of the lower part of the tree hang many small fruit like cherries, its skin is like the combination of white and gray.

There is a faint traces of power of Time around the tree

The reason why he hated that tree is because it reminds him of a certain incident.

The incident of course has not yet happens. But the closer Death Monarch is coming home, the closer he felt in his heart, that Death Monarch will be led here.

And what will lead him here is still his suspicion, his heart and his mind.

That is what will lead him here.

'This is where it would happen.' He felt sad because he knows two people would suffer that day.

Then he smiles looking at the woman sitting underneath the shade of the tree. The woman smiles at him and it is clear she has been waiting for him

'It has been a year' he thought to himself. And he smiles at her

Chapter 629: The trickster and the oracle \(1\)

He looks around and saw no sign of that bodyguard of hers and he nodded.

She must have sent him to do some errands for her he thought to himself.

He walks to the tree like so many times before. But unlike before, his feeling is heavy and there is a trace of reluctance. There are not many people in the world that knows him as she did.

He is tired of losing people. He is tired of talking only to ghost of the past

The woman eyes are clear and not cloudy white like she always appears to be in front of other people.

Maybe, she too shares this same feeling of melancholy that he is feeling

She looks at him and she shakes her head

'That face again? You went to Falmouth first?' she asks. The man nodded

She sighed and said

'I think you like pretending to be a hero.' He chuckles and replies

'It is not that bad'

She laughs a bit.

'You don't like it?' he asks

'I like the other one better' he nodded

He then clicks his finger and green mist appears from his finger that shrouded him and as the wind blows the green mist, a different face and a different kind of person appears in front of the woman

His hair is green tint with a little silver. He has green eyes that seem to shine with the ability to see through lies and deceit

He is wearing a black suit with black tie with formal shoes like he is about to go to some formal dinner.

Like some kind of a dashing devil that is about to tempt you to sold your soul

His face is young and handsome and his body is lean and not too muscly. And there is always a smile on the corner edge of his mouth.

‘What about now, Erika? Like this face?’ he asked

‘that fits you more, Trickster’ she said and he only chuckles. These two person is none other than Loki the Trickster and The Great Oracle Erika.

Loki then ask

‘Where is Antonius?’ she sighed and then she said

‘I send him away’

‘You know I am coming.’

She was silent for a while before saying

‘I could guess. He is returning’ she said like it explains each and every thing that Loki did. The answer itself make sense to both of them.

Loki sighed bitterly and nodded. Loki then said

‘Your wait is almost over’ he said. She chuckles bitterly and said

‘It is the most torturous wait’ she laughs faintly. But there is nothing funny about it.

‘I had hoped this day would never have come’ Loki said

‘This is Destiny and Fate’ she said. Loki did not say anything to refute her words.

There was silence between them.

Only the sound of the wind and the cawing of the ravens could be heard in that space of silence between then.

They look at each other; their eyes are both determined. Loki then said

‘I didn’t think you and Antonius would stay together this long’

‘What is that supposed to mean?’ Erika ask.

‘I thought you would break up with him. I did not expect even after knowing all about your future self that you would still stay with him. Is it loyalty? Or is it true love?’ Loki nonchalantly said

'What gives you that idea?' she asks, her tone is slightly rising

'Will' he answers and Erika face changes.

'You confuse me again with that old friend of yours' she said coldly.

Loki shakes his head and said

'You too, now are an old friend of mine'

She smiles bitterly and then said

'Our ending is too tragic' she said. She still remembers the vision about her and Will and she always felt that it is too needlessly tragic.

Loki then answer

'Then make a new ending' she did not answer him and the words died in the air. There is once again silence between them as they look at each other.

This is just the obligatory banter between them before they reach to the objective of this visit.

For four years, Loki keeps coming here to meet her. Even when he is swamped with administrating Pandemonium, he still would make time to meet her

No, it is not a romantic feeling. It is nothing like that between them. They understand each other which makes them detest each other guts even more

Once a year, he would come to see her.

And just like the year before, he once again came. To ask the same question that he had asked for four years' straight

The silence passed as Loki ask her

'Can you tell me now?' he asks. The question seems simple but with Loki, a question is never so simple.

It has many meaning. And to Erika who knows the general outline of the future, the past and everything in between, she knows the meaning of such a simple question. It is the same question he had asked for years.

She always refrains from telling.

She did not lie because it would be useless to lie. Since she could not lie and she could not answer the question, she could only refrain.

'I am not her' she once again reply

Loki smiles.

'You were not her before but after four years of seeing each other, don't you think you are the same. My old friend is gone. But I got a new old friend' he said.

Erika chuckles a bit.

'I could not deny it' she said.

Erika might pretend she is fine waiting for Death Monarch these six years inside this dark forest surrounded only by the dark blob creatures and the rings of stones and the birds that sometime perched itself on the branches of the thin tall tree, but she is still young.

She might have all the knowledge of the Future Erika of that nonexistent timeline but she doesn't have her experience.

Seeing something and experiencing it is a totally different matter.

And while she stays here, she also needs to keep abreast of the many news outside this region. She did not want to suddenly being attacked because someone coveted her abilities.

And she still has acquaintance outside here. Some people she needs to protect, some people she wants to protect

So, she sent Antonius out a few times in a month to do her bidding on the outside world.

After all, she too is playing the same game of chess that Loki and Yewa Hafar is playing.

She too had her own plans.

Whether that plan would diverge from Loki plans is something that is still remains to be seen.

They are allies now, because right now their objective is the same. After this, if they still share the same objective and mission, they could cooperate. If not, they could only separate.

There is no scheming against each other because both of them wanted the best possible future for this world that they lived in.

Though, whether their method is the same is not yet determined.

The reason why Loki could tolerate Erika existence and not Morgana is because the degree of importance.

Morgana, sadly and unfortunately is expendable in the grand scheme of things. And Erika is not.

Loki plans doesn't make sense to people that doesn't know what he is planning.

But Erika understood because she too sees the End. And so, she understands what Loki is trying to

Why he is letting certain events happens and played out exactly like before, and why he interferes in some other event in hopes of changing it.

The relationship between them in the future had always been complicated. At certain point they were rivals. Other times, they were friend. And at other time, they were enemies.

There is no like or dislike between them.

It has always been about benefit.

But now after experiencing the End, while the feeling between them could not quite be called like, it is no longer a feeling of dislike. If anything, it is a feeling of familiarity, of two souls that is out of their Time.

Ghost of a failure of a past. And with ghost, they always have a baggage. Erika then look at Loki, from head to toe and then she said

'I wonder Loki, if you did not employ such methods, would you remember? Probably, you did not even need to ask me. I think you know the answer' she asks back.

Loki expression turned hard for a second but then he calms his heart down.

He looks toward the distance, no doubt looking at Pandemonium on the other side of the world this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'I had no other choice' he said regretfully.

'Everything has a Price. The Time God has sacrificed a lot and even that is not enough. I expected it. So, I have a few countermeasures. Many people forget, but I am also a Sovereign in the future. I too have magic mortal like you could never understand' She look at Loki and sneered

Then she asks him

'What number are you? She asks

Loki laughed a bit

'Maybe I am the original' he said

'No, you're not. That is not the Loki that the Future Erika knows'

Loki could only smirks at this and he nodded

'True. I guess it is one own enemies that understand you better than even your friends. I am Number Five'

'How many are you?' Erika ask

Chapter 630: The trickster and the oracle \(2\)

'Seven' he said

Then hearing the number Erika understand.

'Seven...huh...Seven.' She got a hint of how Loki divided himself and why but she needs confirmation

'Why seven?' she asked.

Loki sighed first as he come closer to Erika and then he wipes away the leaves on the ground and sit beside her.

'I am a guest and you don't invite me for a seat. I have been walking a lot today'

'I didn't think you would bother' she replies.

'Well, that is quite right. But the gesture would be nice' he said. He grabs the herbal drink inside a wooden cup that stand on top the connected root of the tree and take a sip.

He had seen it since the moment he came here

His face turns weird for a second and he almost vomited the concoction. But he felt rejuvenated in his entire body and then he turns toward Erika and ask

'What kind of drink is this? It even has a trace of Time essence in it'

'Something I created from the herbals plants that I found inside the forest. And the fruits from this thin tree gives it that essence of Time'

Loki nodded

'It is certainly effective. At least, I don't have to worry about you croaking early. It would be too boring to play the game with only Yewa Hafar accompanying me.'

Loki out of everyone knows that the price for looking through the Veil is the sacrifice of longevity, of health and life force.

Erika used to have a temple that worship her in Greece and in the Republic.

At that time, it is easy for her to get herbs to replenish her life force and her longevity.

Of course, the more she sees and the more she uses it, the higher the requirements for the herbs.

It is also why Loki when visiting her would also give her some herbs and pill. He even persuades Sina to concoct some pills that could help people with such condition

But after drinking that concoction, he is pretty sure that Erika might have a solution to this dilemma of her longevity and health solved.

After all, this Erika, while she is not the Erika that Loki knows, she is the Erika that have the memories of the future.

Loki did not know whether at that time whether Erika had found a way to break through that cruel chain

'Why seven?' she asks again

Loki smiles and said

'Because there is seven events'

Erika think back and then she nodded

'So, you regarded those seven events as some kind of bookmark? Well, when I think about it, those seven events could be considered one of the big ones' she could guess which events Loki had chosen as the seven big events

Loki just chuckles and then he said

'Instead of saying it is a bookmark, I think you could consider each event as a turning point in Azief life. These seven events affect millions if not trillions of living beings'

Erika nodded as Loki continues

'I expected a long time ago, that my memories would slowly be erased. Of course, I also thought of other possibility that might have happened to pay for the price of travelling through time. Loss of memories is one of them. And since I expected it, of course I have try to prepare for it'

'Separated yourselves into seven part, each one holding the complete memory of one event of the seven big events in the future. Lie some kind of sealing magic' Erika nodded

Then she smiles

'It is ingenious. I don't know much about the Dark Price and I myself don't know how to stop it since it is an invisible force in the Omniverse, but it seems you have found a way, trickster'

'I did not find a solution to the problem. I just went around it and trick it' Erika nodded again

'Then which one is inside Pandemonium?' Erika asked. Loki had never intended to hide anything from her so he reply honestly

'Number One'

'And the memories he has is none other than the number one event, right?' She asked

Loki smiles and reply this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'The Time Crisis.' Erika nodded

'So, his memories have all the things that happened before the Time Crisis and the Time Crisis itself' He nodded, affirming her words

'You are number five. If I have to guess which is the five event of the future that is in your head, I guess it is The Annihilator event.'

Loki nodded with a smile

'The ability of the Transformation class is really quite mystical' She lamented and then she asks

'Where is Number Seven then?'

'He is out and about. But he rarely comes out.' Loki answer

'No wonder, you progress slowly in your levels. So, this is the reason' she said.

'I always wonder about that'

Loki only smiles.

'But, if you are number five then you have the complete story of what happen before the Time Crisis up to the events of the Annihilator right.

'So why ask these question? She asks

'Because I don't know whether that one of the events that I saw unfolding is because I truly don't remember, or it truly didn't happen.'

'And you think I know?' she asks back. Loki only sneered and then he said

'Oracles, Seers and Soothsayers that has been touched by Borgan is connected in a mystical cosmic connection. It did not matter how far you were with each other, it did not matter how many dimension or universes that separated them, this connection remains strong'

'The stronger a clairvoyant is with their abilities, the stronger they could sense other that possess such abilities and the stronger the connection. This connection is like the Speed Source that connected all Speedster in existence.'

'Time for Oracle has always been a subjective matter. It is not broken. Like you have the knowledge of your future self by piggybacking the Time Changing that Time God had done and manage to send a message to your young self. This is the connection that connected oracle to all time lines.

'As such, the memories inside your head is accurate. Whether it is interpreted wrongly or not does not matter. It is accurate. And that is what matter'

'And now I need to know' Erika frowned as Loki finally come to the real reason why keep visiting Erika all these years.

'I need to know, whether Void existed or not during that timeline. Was he present and fought Death Monarch at that time. Was he truly Azief rival? Or was he just some passing enemies that I don't have to pay attention towards?'

He asks. Erika is still silent. Loki continued

'Because if he did, then that means I had forgotten him and I have to expedite and prepare more preparation for the future to deal with such uncertainty factors than I should have. If he didn't, then that means he is a variable. Depending on the answer, I will have to employ different method. Against him and against myself.'

Erika was silent for a while and she sighed.

'I could not tell you' She answer. Loki did not lash out. Because he knew it is useless. So, he just calmly asked

'Why not? It is quite a simple question. And I need only a simple answer.'

Erika takes a deep breath and exhale. Then she looks at Loki that is sitting beside him and she said

'We are both chess player, Loki. You have the King and the Queen. Yewa Hafar is preparing his Pawn. And I am cultivating my Knight'

Loki eyes narrowed.

'Void wanted the death of Death Monarch' Loki said, and his eyes is cold. There is a trace of killing intent in his eyes

For a split second, he had that thought of intention that he might have read Erika wrong.

But then Erika answered

‘Is that so?’ She said smiling, her eyes clear

‘Do you know something I don’t?’ Loki ask.

‘About everything else, I would not be confident if I say I know more than you do. But for Void, I think I know him better than you.’

Loki then thought to himself.

If that is the case, it means this Void is not some passing enemies.

But is he the result of my meddling with Time or is he destined to be the enemy of Azief and repurpose by Erika to achieve some objective.

That is still something that I need to think about

Loki was silent for a while

‘Will it harm Azief?’

‘Probably’ she answers calmly.

Loki did not ask whether it will kill Azief or not. Because he knows that such kind of question does not need to be said. Azief would not die that easily

‘You don’t intend to kill him?’ Loki ask

‘And follow Morgana path to destruction. Nuh-uh’ she said and then she laughs a bit

‘And if I really wanted to kill him, do you think I am capable of doing such thing?’ She asks. Loki eyebrows furrowed and he replies.

‘I have learned not to underestimate you. You are capable of doing such thing. Because it is you. You don’t have to kill him yourself. You could just put the right knife in the right hands and you could destroy your enemies. That is the way how you always operate’ Loki said.

‘Glad that you think so highly of me’ she said.

There was silence between them once again.
