

Shadow 801

Chapter 801: Darkness fall

The Lotus Palace who were just overwhelmed by the demonic creature suddenly felt the shift in the wind.

The Arrayist Sage Lee Sangmin was the first one to notice and he frowned.

The protection that is covering the city is still holding on.

The wind did not tear apart the formation but just gently passes by the Lotus Palace.

Hikigaya Law Body also notices that wind that comes out of nowhere. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Hikigaya true body is inside the titanic Law Avatar.

Hikigaya did not yet master the ability to protect his Law Avatar outside his inner universe so he still has to be present for his Law Avatar to have the kind of power that Azief possess.

Hikigaya did not use his hand to check the properties of the wind. He only looks at it and he could see through all the properties.

And the more he sees, the more he is shocked.

Because there are myriads of energies inside blowing wind.

Some of it contain destructive properties and some other contain properties that have life force.

Like freshwater and sea water did not mix, the same could be said of this two opposite force yet at the same time they travel together following the wind and do what they were programmed to do.

to be able to contain all of these properties and made them be able to be beside each other, Hikigaya knows that the Laws that Death Monarch had comprehended must be major laws of the universe.

The wind swirls around his titanic law body and Hikigaya smiles. He did not block or seal the wind. Instead he guided the wind and added his law inside it

An image of tens of thousands of floating eyes appears all over the Asian continent. All of these eyes were closed but each of them seems to emanate powerful force of energy

On the heaven, a sliver of crack appeared in the moon and this crack grew increase wider and longer.

The dust all over the moon suddenly like being moved by external force is swirling all over the moon surface like a tornado is about to form.

The crack then opened up slowly and then like a lid covering an eye, it snapped open. The moon split into two as a purple mist covers the entire moon.

Space was sundered and to whoever look above, in the part where the world is night, they could see an eye replaced the moon.

It is the same for the sun.

It too had a crack and exploded the moment that crack snapped open.

When the moon exploded and when the sun exploded, such destructive force resulted from these should be catastrophic if not universe ending.

But the world still is fine and the planets and the asteroid belt nearby the sun and the moon did not even seem to be affected.

This is nothing but another illusion.

Illusion that harness the power of reality.

The destructive force that should have imploded is an illusion.

That is true. But if one could convert unreal to real, then this illusory destructive force would become a real illusory force.

This is one of the many abilities of Hikigaya, of Illusion and Reality. Everyone who look up could see at the gigantic eye looking at them.

The eye that replace the moon is red. The eye that replaced the sun is blue.

The eye was purple and devoid of emotion. It appeared cold while at the same time exuding a powerful destructive emanation of power.

Everything seems small under that eye.

The eye gazes upon the world and the wind sweep the area and then when the eye closed itself, the darkest night descend upon the world.

Everyone in the world was affected by this.

It is an illusion.

But for that one moment everyone believes in that illusion. The matter was too sudden and no one disbelieve it.

So, the illusion become real.

The sun and moon become the eye of Hikigaya. When he opens his eyes, night appears and light descend.

When he closes his eyes, the darkest night would fall.

And he right now closed his eyes.

And everything and everyone in the world could not see.

Even the golden light of the Lotus palace was covered in darkness. It was like light did not reflect and no source of light could be found in the world.

The only thing that is shining in the Asian continent is that protective covering of arrays that Lee Sangmin had crafted

That is not something that Hikigaya could affect with his darkness and it is not something that even Death Monarch wanted to destroy.

Lee Sangmin protected by that formation could see the darkness of the world and he frowned.

‘Divine Comprehension leveler is truly like gods’ he thought to himself.

There is darkness all over the world and the eyes could not see netting. All of their sense have fallen into an illusion so they could not see it for what it is.

But since everyone believe in it, even if they did not feel into an illusion, they would still see nothing because the illusion has become real.

Swish! Swish!

The Asian continent was dark and they were blind.

This sudden blindness shocked everyone especially those who were fighting against the demonic creature.

They all thought that when the darkest night falls upon them, they would get slaughtered by the enemy in front of them.

But they did not feel the attack coming to them. All of the fighters strain their ears after a few second.

They did not hear the clashing of weapons between the enemy and them. So they remain silent and they did not move. Then they hear it.

They did not hear the shrieking of demonic creatures or the barking of orders from the military officials of the Otherworldly forces.

All they could hear was the sound of wind, and nothing else.

Then the eye on the sun and moon opened up and darkness dissipated.

Those who were on the parts of the world where it is night could once again see the stars and the light coming out from fires and light reflected again in the world.

On parts of the world where it is day, one could once again see the sun up there in the sky and the sunlight once again could be seen.

The cold emotionless eye that one could see hanging up in the heaven is no longer there. It was shocking indeed.

The sun and moon that had exploded before now return back at their position like there was nothing wrong with it.

But there was something more shocking.

When they could see, what they see in front of them are clear skies and peaceful world.

There are no Otherworldly forces charging towards them with their guns and there is space rip in the skies vomiting out demonic creatures.

All they could see was clear skies and peaceful scenery. And they could hear the song of the wind.

They were all speechless.

All the enemies that tries to kill them all disappeared.

To those who were in large battlefield, some of them kneeled on the ground and cry. Who know what he cried for and for whom he cried for.

But one could guess there is a lot of mixed emotion in each tears that fall to the ground. The scenery is peaceful and the skies are calm, but the bodies of the fallen is still there.

Azief had left the bodies of the fallen so that their friends could bury them and give them their final respect.

Around the Lotus Palace, Lee Sangmin and the Emperor of Wei look down below the large city walls of the Lotus Palace.

They could see that their soldiers are cheering and chanting Death Monarch name.

Lee Sangmin was the one most affected with the power that the two Divine Comprehension levelers had shown.

The sun and moon turns into an eye and that was Hikigaya. Hikigaya titanic body still floats there in the large ocean, its large body is like beacon of hope and salvation.

But the Law Body no longer glows with power like before and is now dim in its aura.

Hikigaya who is inside the titanic Law Body had close his eyes, blood dripping from his eyes. Hikigaya had use a lot of energy to supplement Azief attack.

He did not have to do that, to be honest.

But Hikigaya did it because he wanted Azief to reserve his energy.

He understood what Azief is trying to do.

As such, he put a lot of his energy in that gust of wind while making the other force that was unleashed to be transferred to the other strikes.

Azief is trying to lure out the one hiding in the dark.

Even though Hikigaya is already in Divine Comprehension level, in the end he just stepped into that level and his foundation and his comprehension of the law is not yet stable.

But he still helps Azief regardless of the cost.

The moment he become Divine Comprehension leveler he could trace the truth of the matter of why this Multiversal Convergence happens.

But he did not blame Death Monarch right now.

It is not time yet to point blame. It is now time for them to unite.

This is an external enemy that is trying to take over Earth Prime.

In this one attack, Hikigaya is out of the commission but he still musters his energy to keep up the appearance of his law Body.

Because he knows that what people need right now is some hope.

Hikigaya then went into deep sleep as his Law body floats there on the large ocean like a statue.

In the skies of Japan, there is a man clad in thunder who could see the titanic body of Hikigaya and he clenches his fist, with his eyes blazing with desire

'I usually would think of this as something that is troublesome. But right now, even I want to find out how powerful I would be if I reached that level'

It is Oreki, floating up there in the sky, as lightning arcs swirls around his body.

He is the leading force that protect the area around Japan when the invasion had descended.

He did not have the ability to protect the entire Asian continent and could only protect those around him.

And while Japan is inside the Asian continent, they are under the World Government.

Though who knows what will happen after this considering that Hikigaya had reached Divine Comprehension level?

Oreki had always been compared with Hikigaya and it was the same for Hikigaya who was compared to Oreki.

They are known as the two protectors of Japan and they protect Japan interest which is their interest.

While Hirate who is the President of the World Government try to integrate Japan into the World Government.

Sharing resources for the good of humanity.

It is a good slogan.

But it is not something that appeals to Hikigaya and Oreki which respectively control the Kanto and Kansai region and protect the Emperor

Hikigaya and Oreki on the other hand as they have more people to protect and more people that follow them did not exactly agree with this module.

But they never wanted to break relation completely with the World Government. Oreki thought to himself

'I should work harder or Hikigaya would take all the spotlights' he muttered to himself.

He slowly floated down as he quickly orders to restore the peace and organize a search and rescue party all over Japan.

But Oreki did not let down his guard. He could still feel the powerful force filling the world. this matter is not yet over.

That is what his instinct is telling him. And he had to be ready.

Turning into lightning, his entire existence scattered as the force of Azief strikes once again appears in another continent

Chapter 802: Owing too much

There is an apocalyptic wind that passes by the Asian continent and that is Death Monarch helps toward them.

Two Divine Comprehension leveler working together could create such a terrifying effect.

That is the thought that pervaded every inch of his mind.

Lee Sangmin because he was protected by the unique array formation that he had set up around the Lotus Palace, he could see the process of what happened very well.

He saw how the wind passes by the Seresian demons and the Otherworldly forces.

When the wind passes the demonic creatures they all morphed.

They morphed and then disintegrated like the energies in their body all went unstable and erupted all at the same time.

It is like they turn into cancer cell and it was removed forcefully by some heating device

They all disintegrated into particles of dust before the wind always wash it away. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

As for the otherworldly forces, the wind sweeps them and like an acid poured on top of a plastic, that is what happens to them.

They melted not into liquid but to energy form, the very basic of their atomic particle.

None of their high tech machinery could resist the destructive force of that wind.

The wind also seems to be guided by the eye in the sky as the eye seems to pointed toward the enemy and accelerated the wind movement.

With that, the Asian continent become calm. Lee Sangmin sighed and then said to the Feng Jing, Emperor of Wei who is standing beside him.

‘I will go to Pandemonium’ His word is very simple and very light but the implication of his word is very heavy

The world is calm and the wind is breezy.

There are no space rips opening up in the sky and Asian continent seems to have survive the onslaught with the arrival of that wind.

Energy of the world in Asian continent become dense almost immediately after the divine wind that Death Monarch had unleashed kill all the invaders.

After all, the invaders also possess energy in their body.

And now that energy remains here in Earth Prime and affect this Milky Way galaxy filling every inch and corner of the Universe with energy of the fallen.

Who knows how many Disk Formation level combatant that died in this world.

Azief had been able to do this because of his power over the Laws and the fact that each Seresian demonic creature that come out of the space rip and enter into Earth Prime was suppressed by the Will of the World.

The Emperor however did not seem to care about this matter and more concerned with the words of Lee Sangmin

The soldiers still need to clean and bury the fallen warriors.

Lee Sangmin who is known as the protector of the Lotus Palace suddenly said he is going to Pandemonium would bewilder people.

This line of thinking did not track and usually would shock any other people. But Feng Jing was not shocked at all.

But not shocked did not mean that he would allow it

The Emperor frowned and then he said

‘Why?’

Lee Sangmin then smiling bitterly said

‘I owe too much. It would be too ungrateful of me to ignore the grace given to me.’

The Emperor sighed and close his eyes. he could hear the cheering roars of his soldiers beneath the city wall and then after a moment he slowly nodded in agreement.

Lee Sangmin smiles and without hesitation he run forward and then jump down from the tall Lotus Palace Hall

He pointed his wooden staff in front of him and as he is falling down, a greenish brown portal opened up and he disappeared.

The Emperor only sighed as he looks at the barrier that held up the Lotus Palace during the invasion.

He saw the character written on the core of the formation and he sighed again as his eyes then gaze back to his front.

Even though all of the Seresian and the otherworldly forces could no longer be seen, the effect of the battle could still be seen.

There are large craters everywhere and there were many corpses around them and limbs of people scattered about.

Holes formed on the ground and the sight of abyss that appeared after a great attack is all too common all over the city.

There is flames that is soaring high trying to touch the sky.

There is even a river that was diverted and some hills and small mountains that was flattened because of the battle.

Even from his Lotus Palace he could see that there is a tall mountain in the distance that he could not see before half an hour ago

The distance between Heaven and Earth multiplied hundredfold.

Even if one wanted to launch rocket to space, it would take a long time before it would reach the sky and went out of Earth.

Everything changes in half an hour. He sighed again

'How many changes must happen in one life time before one would feel discouraged' he is muttering to himself.

Feng Jing had experienced many things since the Fall. It is very fortunate that he had survive all of it.

And it is his fortune that he had joined hand with Sangmin.

If not, there would not be that many people that would be saved today.

He thought to himself as he turns back and look at the city behind him.

There is millions of people that were saved because of Sangmin today.

Most of the citizens of the Asian continent usually build their cities around the Lotus palace except those that have their own sphere of influence and warlords and leaders that they answer to.

When the invasion first happens, because of the formation power, Lee Sangmin is able to transport almost all the cities affiliated with Lotus Palace inside the Forbidden City.

The Forbidden City is of course not the forbidden city of former China. Instead it is the Lotus Forbidden City and is a metropolitan courts of people of all races.

While there is still distinction between races, that kinds of feeling are slowly being eroded since the Weronian invasion.

Most people did not view things in the terms of races anymore since they are the same which is humans.

It is the outside world that they should fear and be wary with.

Nobody wanted to live in the years of the Weronian Occupation again. Old grudges are slowly being forgotten and new alliances are formed since that terrible day

Lotus Palace is inside the Lotus Forbidden City.

There is one effect of the world expanding that help keep Lotus Palace intact even after the many attacks that everyone inside the Lotus Forbidden City to be saved

The power of the formation also increased when the world expanded and the space inside the Forbidden City right now could accommodate all of humanity.

After all, humanity after the Fall had scarce population.

Before the fall there is seven billion people living in the world give or take.

After the invasion and all the calamity, disaster and many other obstacles, humanity as a whole is only around four billion people and it is only after a few years of peace that the population is showing an upward trend

If this is before the Fall, housing would be very cheap.

There is a lot of land even before the world expanded.

Before the world expanded, the Forbidden city could accommodate around one million people.

But at that time if one million people was really placed inside the forbidden city it would be very crowded with each person would find it hard to walk from one point to another because of how crowded it would be.

That is the maximum estimate of the population that could be accommodated since Lotus Forbidden City took a lot of land area.

Inside the forbidden city there is a lot of residence and people living in those reside and outside the forbidden city there is even more small cities.

Since Lotus Palace control not only China but all of Asia and Asia itself is not ruled solely by Lotus Order, the Lotus Forbidden City was very large to accommodate when the warlords and the other leaders in Asia come into meeting

But now with the expansion of the world, the Lotus Forbidden City expanded so much that it could fit all four billion people of Earth and still have a lot space to spare.

One could only imagine how hard it is to rule the continent after this with each village separated by thousands of miles.

How about the other lands that was under the Lotus Order before? They too would be hard to manage because of the distance among other factors

The emperor sighed as he looks upwards again.

Chapter 803: A lone flower in the snow \(i\)

The skies around the Asian continent is very clear right now

There are even birds flying in the sky and the white clouds moves gently as it is pushed by the wind. One could be forgiven to think that there is no battle that was waged just a few minutes ago

Emperor of Wei Feng Jing look at the sky and sighed heavily

'The world won't remember Lee Sangmin and would only remember that person' and thinking of this matter, it made him sighed.

If not for the array formation that Lee Sangmin had written, it is possible that the Lotus Order many cities outside the Lotus Forbidden City would be destroyed and the lives that would be lost would amount to millions of people.

But who would remember that middle aged men wearing the brown robe? All remember the one wearing that black clad attire but not the one wearing the brown robe

That is not the only thing that the Emperor sees when he looks upward.

He also saw the protection formation that covers the Lotus Palace, the strongest protection formation in the world.

Even Death Monarch would think twice before breaking it

There is a character written on the top core of the array formation that protect the Lotus palace.

And it is this character that protected the people lives during the invasion.

It is a one curved line and one straight line. The curved character is leaning on the straight line character.

It is like the character for human in Chinese and Korean. But it is not. Instead it is word character that was inspired by Lee Sangmin own understanding of arrays, of protection, of shelter and of the will of the people inside the Lotus Forbidden City

The meaning of the word is simple.

It is Mortal.

Today, that word Mortal had protect the lives of the people of Lotus Order. The Emperor sighed again thinking of the things that would happen after this.

As he thought about this time and wanted to rest the Minister of War and his other officials all come to him for direction and he began dispensing his orders to pacify the people

When the top of the wall went silent he could see that in the distance there is only two titanic being in the distance and not three.

He frowned.

'Did you pay a huge price?' the Emperor of Wei said to no one but it is clear that the one he is referring to Death Monarch

Because there is no three law Body but only two. Before, he could see there was another titanic body.

Where did the other one go?

Meanwhile, Lee Sangmin had appeared suddenly in Pandemonium and he immediately joined the fighting force of Pandemonium fighting the demonic creatures as he created mini formation to protect the small villages and cities of Pandemonium.

Lee Sangmin is using his formation because while only a few second had passed since the attack on the Asian continent he could sense that the divine wind would also come to Pandemonium.

He was not wrong.

At the same time that the wind reaches Asian Continent and guided by the illusory power of Hikigaya, the third gust of wind went to South American Continent.

The South American Continent is the second place that Azief had appeared after he returned from his journey to the future.

With his Cosmic Law Body, he had eradicated all of the Seresian demons and the Otherworldly forces that is present here.

Then what is the powerful wind gust is doing here? The powerful swing that Azief had created did not only possess the power of destruction, it also possesses potent life force.

Thus, it is clear that this gust of wind would not bring destruction.

An aura of rebirth fills the continent. A powerful nurturing force pervaded every inch of the battered continent

Many places in South American continent that was devastated by the war is filling with energy.

Every single being that had passed the Orb Condensing level could fill the energy filling in and some even had the chance to breakthrough.

This gust of wind only stays for a second and dissipated almost as fast

The fourth swing went to the African Continent and heal all the people that it sweeps through. African Alliance did not send aid to Pandemonium.

It isn't because they didn't want to but because they did not have a mass teleportation device and because they did not know the exact location and distance between their continent and Pandemonium right now

Instead they first have to establish the size of Earth and how the geography of the world had changed and where is the border of their continent.

They did not possess Eye of Heaven belonging to the Order of Thinker so they could not easily know where Pandemonium is right now so they could not calibrate the space and time distance between the two to send people to aid Pandemonium.

They were not like the forces of South American continent that was teleported by the power of Death Monarch Law Avatar or like Sangmin who have deep understanding of array formation that he could accurately determine the position of Pandemonium and appears there in an instant.

Their artifact is also badly damaged when they use it against the invaders.

Even if they sent people, they would not be of help and instead probably become a hindrance.

Probably even Death Monarch had seen this and as such Azief did not send them to help Pandemonium

But then what is the reason sending a life giving wind to this continent?

To those who did not know, they might think it is Death Monarch being generous. When the truth was that Death Monarch is preparing them.

Because the worse has yet to come

The fourth strike dispel all the chaotic energy in African continent and at the same time this was happening in Africa, the fifth strike appeared suddenly in Europe bringing a powerful destructive force that seems to contain even emotion in that strike

Anger seems to be contained inside that gust of wind that appeared in all four direction of the Europe continent.

The moment it appears, it sweeps the sky as the clouds were all dispersed and the falling snows that had changed the landscape of the continent into white were all pushed away

The anger is like a burning flames and whenever it passes any demonic creatures and any hostile lifeform toward Earth prime, they all turned into dust

There is Will power and emotions in that strike that differentiated it with the other strike that Death Monarch had unleashed

Katarina stop slashing her red sword as all she could see in front of her right now is clear skies and the sun shining upon the land below.

The surrounding area is no longer white, there is no longer any snow falling from the sky.

The space rips are also no longer there and her maidens were all ejected from the space rips, appearing there up in the sky floating beautifully like some maidens of heavens

Her beautiful forehead frowned and her eyebrows creased.

'You are taking too much risk' she muttered silently.

She did not feel good about this and she could never understand what Azief is thinking.

he rejects her but keep protecting her. He rejects her but keep looking over her. If this is the case, then how could she ever forget him? this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

How could she ever not love him?

This emotion could wreck a person. Katarina could not contain this feeling. There is unease but there is also a trace of happiness.

She did not know what she is feeling right now. There is anger of course.

But there is also happiness. It is hard to classify and name this mixed emotions that she is feeling right now.

She only knows that she had to do something for him.

Even though it appears that it is very easy for Death Monarch to solve all the problem in the world which is demonstrated with his one strike that cleanse all the demonic creatures in Europe, she knows that this kind of expenditure of energy would severely drained Azief.

She could not stand still knowing this fact.

And there is this same kind of feeling like the time when Azief was about to be assassinated. Her premonitions are almost always right.

After all, the stronger a person become, their premonition would also become more advanced. It is like an intuition of the future that would happen.

It is not good to ignore such intuition

In the sky there is Katarina and in the ground below, there is Boris riding a gigantic sabretooth that has now stopped moving since there is no enemy in front of it anymore.

Boris who were controlling his beast horde also was stunned with the sudden disintegration of the invaders.

It did not take him long before he could be sure that this is the work of Death Monarch.

At first he was happy but then he was reminded of his sister and he look toward the sky with a hard expression

He could guess what his sister is about to do and then he shouted toward the sky with all of his power.

‘Don’t’ he shouted, his roars fill the Heaven and Earth.

Chapter 804: A lone flower in the snow \(ii\)

Boris always hated that Death Monarch guy.

But Katarina had already taken her steps. And before Boris could fly to the sky, she disappeared from the sky.

Even her maidens were surprised as their lady suddenly disappeared from the sky in a white blinding light

The coldness of winter leave Europe as a white sword light travels through the air heading toward the source of that energy

While she is not at the peak realm of Disk Formation her prowess exceeds many of Disk Formation realm.

Because she too follows the path of perfection like Azief was and as such her capability could be said higher than normal Disk Formation leveler.

She is now tracing that source of energy and flying toward that source of energy.

Wherever she passes, the sky would bring down snow and terrible coldness. It is like winter is moving and coming to the whole world.

Azief who notices that Katarina is coming for him from his Divine Sense smirks and mutter to himself

'I would never let you risk your life for me again' he said to himself as he did something to his energy trail and then he looks toward the distance, his eyes seem to be anticipating something.

Because he sees something that amused him

He then smiles

'You too. That is possible. Because they did not die for too long and reality is in chaos right now. I guess you could do it' And then Azief chuckles a bit.

In his pair of eyes there is the image of Jean surrounded by the Laws of the world, around him the corpse of people as the wind around his body affecting Time, Destiny and Fate.

'I guess the world will be balanced even after this. And if its him, I guess I need to answer the world after this. I should at least gain the right to speak in front of the world'

That is what Azief is doing right now. He is saving the world because this matter originated from him.

And by saving it, he could have the right to speak to the world.

He did not intend for this to happen.

But nonetheless, shit happens. And he is not going to make excuses about it.

Since he dares do it, he would dare to bear the burden. Even though his eyes are looking at Hikigaya, his Divine Sense is frantically searching for something.

'Come out now if you did not want your invasion plan to be wrecked' Azief said to no one in particular

In the Seresian home world, in a broken realm where there doesn't seem to be anything that could grow into food, there is a demonic creature with nine horns on his head.

Around him there are other demonic king but each of them look old and seems to suffer grievous injury that their aura is like a normal mid realm Disk Formation levelers.

If Azief saw this, he would surely connect the injuries of these demon kings to the catastrophic battle between the Demon Emperor and the Demons Kings.

The only Demon king that have enough power to call himself Demon King is standing beside a large titanic tube where inside it there is fully formed Seresian demons.

Like Azief had expected the Seresian world had created a cloning hub.

It is the reason why they are so easy to kill and so heavily affected by the force of the world and Law based attack.

In a world without magic, having an unlimited source of manpower to fight wars for you is guarantee to winning any war.

But when such force meets a world with magic it is useless. Because even the so called unlimited source of body is also not quite accurate.

It only appears like limitless. The cloning of the Seresian demon is not simply like normal cloning technologies.

They need bodies to do it because of the uniqueness of their kind

After all, the demonic creatures that is cloned had to possess power that is beyond them like creating a powerful clone straight to adulthood.

Not to mention, they were released almost immediately after they were born and programmed with an order to kill and invade.

That is simply because they could not survive more than a few days.

As such, the demon king could unleash millions of demonic creatures to the world and set them to act like suicide soldiers without worry

The clone is probably created from the other demon king's energy or flesh. If not none of the demonic creature should have demonic count or demonic duke

Azief was right that the battle between the Demon Kings and the Demon Emperor had weakened the Seresian world.

What he got wrong was how damaging it was for the Seresian world.

That Demon Emperor possess the ten rings and his power is equal to a Supreme Being.

In the Universe the death of a Supreme Being would always create a stir because they are practically unkillable unless they were fighting other supreme being.

And even then, their death might not be permanent. Some Supreme Being attached themselves to concept of the Universe or seal their souls in some container and maybe a millennium later could once again be reborn.

Some attached themselves to faith power and so on and so forth.

As such, how could the Seresian world not pay any price when trying to kill such a powerful Demon Emperor.

The only reason that the entire Universe did not know and did not care about the death of that Demon Emperor is simply because the power that he has is not his true power and was gained by using the ten Eternal Rings

There is also the fact that probably the Demon Emperor lack allies in the intergalactic alliance which is why no one had helped him during his final battle.

If he even has only one ally, then Azief believes that the Demon Emperor could probably survive that battle.

And the Demon Emperor probably did not even know his Grand Path

Without the training and understanding the Laws of the Omniverse and realizing one grand path how could they be compared to true experts in the Universe.

The Demon King even though he was separated by countless of layers of worlds barriers, he could see the soldiers that he had sent to Earth prime were all annihilated.

True Seresian demon is not as stupid as the one that the inhabitants of the Earth Prime are fighting with.

The reason why the Demon King suddenly send his soldiers to conquer the world when the Multiversal Convergence happens is because the Demon King could feel that particular Earth contains what he was looking for.

The constant conquering worlds in the past is all in the service of finding the root cause of the Multiversal Earths.

And the reason for searching the root cause of the Multiverse is because the past Demon Emperor seems to be searching something in that world

This is a task from the time of the Demon Emperor.

But today, when the Demon King was trying to improve the cloning hub, he senses that the barrier between world weakened. He did not pay much attention to it because they possess World Barrier Breaker that they buy from the Sarens Merchant.

And the Demon King wanted to remain low profile considering that the Time Lords and the Orvanian is beginning to assemble a force to harass them when they were travelling through worlds.

As he wanted to close the connection with that world, the orb inside the Demon Emperor palace seems to glow with power and at this time he Balfor Q'un, the only Demon King that still have his cultivation at peak condition decides to follow his instinct.

He believes that the world outside that world barrier is the world that the Demon Emperor was searching for

So, he began sending his army to conquer that world and he himself had ascertained that there is some power source there that seems to strengthen that world.

When thinking about the dire state of the Seresian world, Balfor Q'un believe that this is the treasure that the Demon Emperor was searching for.

He thought it would be an easy task. Who knew he had kicked a metal board and now all of his soldiers have been sacrificed becoming a fertilizer for that world?

The Demon King also knows this and he knows it won't matter how much soldiers that he sent through the portals because it would end up only nourishing Earth prime and by nourishing Earth Prime, the stronger the restriction the Earth prime could exert.

If he is still stubborn and still sending soldier to die in Earth prime, by the time he truly went inside Earth Prime, he might be so heavily affected by the suppression power of Earth Prime that even a Disk Formation leveler could kill him

The true Seresian demon is not as mindless as normal demonic creatures that was gestated in a tube this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

So, he knew he need to do it by himself. He took a long look at his world and then he made his decision.

he roars loudly so that the entire realm could hear him roaring like declaring that he is going to war. He grabbed the space in front of him as the space was tear apart and thrust his head inside it.

The Demonic King is finally going to descend to Earth!

Chapter 805: The awakening of time \(i\)

The world did not know yet that a Demon King is about to descend to Earth and is still in jubilant mood after Death Monarch had kill the invaders

Europe was cleansed by that one strike from Azief.

And following that, the most beautiful woman in the world, the Ice Queen Katarina flew forward to the open sky as her maidens try to follow her from behind, leaving a trail of coldness all over the trail

And as Katarina flew chasing Death Monarch trails of energy, behind her, is her brother.

The beast horde of the beats King Boris was dispersed after the battle ended and Boris did not waste time as he jumps into the back of a griffin and commanded the griffin to chase his sister up there in the sky

To those below, those people who did not yet reach Energy Disperse Stage, the fast speed of movement of these people that soar through the skies like they were in land look nothing more than like a flash of lightning or a falling star.

Their eyes could not see across the distance so some of them even thought that there were stars falling and traveling across the skies.

'Stars are chasing each other in the skies' some kids that come out from their house when the battle ended and saw those lights up in the air

To those people, who come from other world and did not know what world they came into, when they look at the sky and saw stars chasing against each other, they are reminded of many myths in their worlds where there is always a story like this where some goddess did something and was chased either by their suitors, by their brothers or by their father to be punished or sealed away.

They would not know how close they are to the truth

Maybe a hundred years from now this event where Boris chasing his sister in the sky riding his thunder elemental griffin would be immortalized in some mythical origin stories of some natural phenomena.

The Senate however was in a state of shock.

They were just about to ask the High Chancellor and the Chancellor of the Right about what they should do next but the High Chancellor suddenly disappeared from the sky of Europe in a blinding light speed and the Chancellor of the Right rides a griffin and chases his sister.

The Senators look at each other and one of the more prominent Senator coming from Turkey.

It is Usman bin Ahmed. He is a hotshot in the Senate right now as his forces control most of the area around old Turkey and slowly taking control of what used to be the territory of the Ottoman Empire.

He is quite an aggressive man and possess quite the ambition.

Probably the reason why the Chancellor of the Right prefer him very much to look over Asia minor

But clearly with this round of change to the world, things would also change

He quickly said

‘Establish contact with the other regions. Direct the rescue effort to the worst hit areas. Quickly send our drones and survey the world. get the lay of the land. Then we could start making the next move’

The other Senator nodded and quickly bring out their communication device and those who have direct contact with the bureaucracy of the Republic quickly contact the other body of the government

One Senator however come close to Usman and he raised his eyebrow. This is one of the prominent Senator in Belgium. Usman notices him and said

‘Ah, the slave of Princess Elisa, Charles’

‘I am not a slave, murderer’ They look at each other and smiles a bit as they hugged each other like long lost brother

‘Old friend. Glad to see you survive the battle’ Usman said. Charles smiles a bit and then his smile turns bitter. Usman could sense the shift in the mood and said

What is the problem?

‘The Chancellor of the Left’ Hearing this Usman frowned.

‘Where is he?’ Charles sighed and then said

‘The balance of power in the Senate would tilt toward him right now’ Around them the sound of explosion could still be heard in the distance and the traces of destruction is still clear in many parts of the city.

But Usman ignore all of these.

His expression is very hard right now. The words that Charles had said is basically saying that the balance of power in the Senate would tilt toward Jean.

It is not hard to deduce since they are standing on the opposite side of Jean

Politics is not something that people that live high up there in the Heavens care.

But for people like Usman and Charles, the politics that those that were so high up above disdain is their way of survival

Death Monarch had never cast his gaze too long to those underneath him.

Many said because he had many more things to do. But most people felt that Death Monarch simply disdain to gaze upon them.

Existence like Death Monarch that seems too otherworldly did not care about the politics of his administration.

Because of his power and influence, his word is the decree of the divine. Other than him, not many people have such influence or power in the world

That kind of administration would only fly in Pandemonium and not like the other great powers in the world

Even Raymond who was acknowledged as the strongest in the World Government had to follow the order of the Quorum before mobilizing the resource of the World Government.

And so is the Republic.

The Republic is even more confusing especially if its according to the value of those people living in Pandemonium

People living in Pandemonium follows a very simple principle. You listen to the strongest among you.

These mentality seeps deep into their new culture that even in the military unless you could prove yourself to be powerful, then people would never follow your orders.

The same could not be said for the Republic.

The Senators and the people of the Republic always debated about whether the Ice Queen was stronger or the former France Emperor, Jean was the one who is stronger?

Jean and Katarina had never clash with each other simply because they did not need to and it was unnecessary for them to fight

There is always a faction in the Senate and it is not something new.

The faction of the Chancellor of the Right and Left is famous factions but even in those factions there is more mini factions

In the Senate, theoretically Katarina hold the most power as the High Chancellor. But in reality, it is Boris that is holding that power.

Katarina is usually secluding herself in ice mountains and practicing her abilities and improving her strength. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

She lacks a presence in the Senate.

But Boris while he holds the most power in the Senate that does not mean he could act like a despot.

After all, there is still Jean. Everyone in the Senate had always speculated the true power of the Time Monarch.

No one seen him in battle and no one have ever seen him unleash all of his ability but many believes that even if he fought against Katarina, it is unlikely that he would lose.

Whatever the case, Jean possess a lot of political clout in the Senate and most of his faction won the resources of the Republic because of Jean powerful clout in the Senate floor.

Usman did not want Charles to beat around the bush so he said

'What make you say that? Charles then whisper something in Usman ears and Usman hearing the news whispered in his ears, his eyes opened up widely.

He then understood why.

'Shit.' That is the first thing he say after hearing the news that Charles brought him.

A few minutes before, something happens on the other side of the European continent.

There was someone else that was also affected by Azief cleansing the European continent and that was Jean the Time Monarch.

Jean is now standing on the ground of the city that he had protected.

There were a lot of people that get saved because of him.

But there is also a lot of people that have died because of the multiversal convergence. His face is solemn and his expression is hard

There is benefit and disadvantage of the Multiversal Convergence. The benefits are of course that the world suddenly enter another period of great energy revival.

It is one of the worrying thing that the Great Powers had been thinking for the past couple of years.

It is why some of those who were powerful cultivated outside of Earth trying to find a world that is dense with energy so they could breakthrough easily.

The probe, become worse as more and more people level up.

The projection of energy recovery could not accommodate for the growing of people leveling up stronger and stronger

It is not like in the beginning where leveling up is easy and could be done in a few days after solving quest or killing a monster.

With the appearance of many powerful people, these people could easily kill these monster with one wave of their hand or one strike from their weapons.

While this would help the world from suffering monster horde attack it also monopolizes the EXP of these monsters to those who were powerful.

After all people who had reached Disk Formation did not need the EXP as it is small chump for them but that is not the same for those who were in low level.

Yet at the same time, the low level people could not kill such powerful beast depending on their ability.

Chapter 806: The awakening of time \(ii\)

The reason why they were unable to raise their level as fast is because the energy of the world become more scarce as more people level up.

Those who were late to the party, slowly found themselves at a disadvantage in gathering energy

It is good enough that the great power restricted some madman who tries to thin the herd by killing those weak people powerful people don't have time to power level each newbie they found.

As for power leveling.

After all, if they slacked they too would get overtaken.

Thus, there is a problem since the energy in the world is not enough for everyone to reach the highest level that they could.

The source that provide the energy to the world could not regenerate it fast enough to cope with the consumption of energy.

It is fine if there are tens of thousands of people leveling up to Orb Condensing stage.

Even if there is a million people leveling up to Orb Condensing the energy of the world would not be drained that easily.

But one Disk Formation leveler could drain a lot of energy of the world. And how about a few hundreds of Disks Formation leveler?

How about Divine Comprehension leveler? How much energy is needed to successfully breakthrough to Divine Comprehension?

Even Hikigaya could only breakthrough to Divine Comprehension because of the sudden rise of energy that comes from the others worlds merging with Earth Prime that enables him to breakthrough.

If it's using the energy of the world before the world expanded and filled with energy, one could guess that the world would become scarce with energy for a few years after one Divine Comprehension leveler is born.

That would make the growth of people leveling up stagnated for that few years. It did not mean that energy would then disappear from the world.

Because of the All Source, the energy would replenish back. The only question is when.

As such there would be division between those who were early and those who were late. Some people might not have the choice to fortify their foundation and have o choose to breakthrough almost immediately when they can.

It would not be like during the early times when they could delay in breaking through, opting for more Seeds or Disk to form before breaking through.

Because unlike in the earlier time when the Fall began, if they wait and then when they wanted to breakthrough and then finding out that the energy of the world is insufficient, it would make them stuck in their level for years.

This is the energy distribution problem.

With more people breaking through to higher level, the energy of the world decreased. Everyone believed that it would delay the progress of human ability and there is even some extreme suggestion like forcing the Disk Formation levelers to go to outer space and seek their fortune in distant stars as to give the chance for the others in the world

That was the situation of the world before the Multiversal Convergence

But with the Multiversal Convergence suddenly the whole world was filling to the brim with energy that it had even transformed the earth in a magical way.

In each and every thing that exist on Earth right now, there is energy.

And it is not only the energy of the Milky Way galaxy that is in this world but also foreign kind of energy which could open a new door of leveling up or a new path to practicing for the others

The Multiversal Convergence allow Earth Prime not to worry about the distribution of energy any longer.

But at the same time, it is also because of Multiversal Convergence that they have to fight against these invaders that did not come in tens of thousands but in millions.

Jean did not know how to feel right now.

he understood that there is benefits to the multiversal convergence but he also could not ignore that people, tens of thousands and maybe millions of people had died as the consequences of opening the barriers between worlds.

He had tried to stop Azief and Will but he failed in that.

He did not know what to do now. Azief had returned back from his trip into time and with his prowess calm down the world and eradicated the invaders.

Jean should be thankful. But he did not feel the least bit thankful. Instead the only thing he could do was sigh

He knows that Death Monarch probably would have to face a similar being of power level but Jean did not rush to help.

Even though the Multiversal Convergence did help solve the energy distribution problem, this help was not given intentionally. Instead it is the consequences of a mistake.

Even then Jean still did not know whether Will and Azief going to the future is a mistake or not. He too believes that there is a secret in the future.

Because each time he had tried to divine the future, he would always find himself being blocked and all he could see was nothing.

Of course, his ability is not like the Oracle. What he was seeking was the time flow. And while he could not see the future like the oracle he could sense changing time flow.

That was what he was trying to see and sense when he divines the future. But all he got was radio silence.

Either, there was nothing he could see in the vision or in the future they might be nothing left.

Jean look at the sky and his eyes look at the distance seeing titanic form of Divine Comprehension leveler in the distance.

He did not see it like other people.

He is bending the Space around him so that he could see the titanic avatar of both Death Monarch and Illusionist Archmage in the other continent

Today, Death Monarch had saved a lot of people.

But his action eventually leads to this tragedy.

Whether he is intentional or not, whether he knows the consequences of his action or not, it would not be wrong to say that Azief action had led to the current outcome.

Jean is trying to rationalize Azief action but he doesn't know if he could.

So, even though he could see that Katarina is flying in the air heading toward Death Monarch, Jean did not do anything.

He retracts back his Time Avatar, sending them back to their time as he descends down from the clouds and landed on the wrecked city street

He looks around him and there is pain in his eyes

The city around him is burning, as there are buildings that is on the verge of crumbling down, there is corpses everywhere in the streets, all over the sideways, some were impaled on the sharp end of a weapon, other were flattened.

Some of these corpses were fully formed, other corpse lost their limbs somewhere along the roads.

Even though there are no more demonic creatures in the air and there is no more invader from the Otherworlds shooting at them with guns, the people in the streets did not seem to notice the victory.

Probably because there is no one win in a war. Everyone will lose someone.

They all cried, mourning the death of their sons, their daughters, their fathers and mothers and their relative.

Seeing so much sorrow and the effect of such a war even though it is not his first time, it is still disconcerting for Jean.

He wishes that he could reverse time and revive back all of the people that has lost their lives but he knows he is not capable of such power.

But he wishes about it strongly. He wishes that he could return back to that half an hour before and sealed that moment.

He would seal it for half an hour and then when Azief cleans the European continent out of the invader, he could unseal that time

Jean is actually thinking of sealing time in one particular moment and unsealed it. But for that he needs to go back to that time. To rewind time back to that particular moment, then seal that moment in time

The more he thinks about it, the stronger the wish became and then his eyes seems to be gleaming.

He seems to be understanding something and the moment that understanding come, the Laws around him were stirred.

Space around him bends and the tem flow around him slowly become altered

Around him slowly time is slowing down.

The sound is slowing down, the movement of the wind, the swaying of flames and the movement of people were all slowing down

'I could do it' Jean thought to himself a torrential storms of energy poured inside him. His entire body seems to bend the space to its ultimate limits.

Then a burst of explosion happens as a purple waves of energy sweeps all across the city in that one moment.

Time stopped and Space and Time seems to be altered.

Things that were destroyed slowly reassembling itself back.

The few portals that were destroyed suddenly appeared back and everting seems to rewind back in time.

The environment was also changed.

Cause and effect is being meddled with right now and Destiny and fate is also affected.

Jena is trying to do something that is akin of reviving the dead. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

But Jean seems to isolate himself from that rewinding effect as he is still in his original position in the streets while the whole world around him rewinding back

The scene was exactly like half an hour ago. The space rips just opened and the demonic creatures started wanting to attack.

But they did not move yet. Because Jean did not want them to move just yet. And this feat is not as easy as he makes it out to be.

Right now in the sky, like a painting there is the space rips and the demonic creatures coming out of that space rips, ready to fight.

Below the city is as it is half an hour ago, still very beautiful and there were some people looking at the sky feeling very shocked seeing the arrival of the demonic creatures.

Because they are all freezing in time, they look like a large painting of what happens half an hour ago, pasted upon the world scenery

The effect of this Time Rewind is only around the area of this city.

Jean look at this scene and then gritting his teeth, with sweat pouring down from his forehead and dripping from his back, he shouted with all of his might, instilling his will and his wishes in that shout

‘SEAL!’ And in an explosion of powerful energy of Laws that seems to affect Time and Space, Destiny and Fate, the scene up there in the sky slowly like it is being cut on the edges of reality separated itself from the clear calm blue skies of the present.

There is like a scene of war that is superimposed onto a peaceful looking expanse of the clouds

On the Asian continent, the Law Avatar of Hikigaya spoke in an amused expression as his eyes see what happened to that particular area in Europe

‘Oh. That is interesting’ he said. Azief in Antarctica at that time said

‘You too. That is possible. Because they did not die for too long and reality is in chaos right now. I guess you could do it’ And then Azief chuckles a bit.

In his pair of eyes there is the image of Jean surrounded by the Laws of the world, around him the corpse of people as the wind around his body affecting Time, Destiny and Fate.

‘I guess the world will be balanced even after this. And if its him, I guess I need to answer the world after this. I should at least gain the right to speak in front of the world’ And then he averts his gaze away from Jean.

There is only one reason that two of the Divine Comprehension leveler would pay attention to Jean.

Jean is also breaking through as he found his Grand Path.

One could argue that his transformation would be even more stable than Hikigaya because his way of cultivating his power is different from Hikigaya and he derived it from his own Grand Path.

At the same time when the Time Monarch rewind the area, there are a few life forms that was unaffected with the Time Rewind.

There are two creatures that Jean did not notice that is able to ignore the effect of the Time Laws.

Flying in the sky with eyes shining green is a black raven who is looking at this scene intently. The raven speaks

‘The Time God has seen his Grand Path’

The raven speaks like he was reporting to something and then it flaps its wing and landed on a branch of tree.

This raven is not affected by the purple mist and so is the serpent that slither beneath the tree.

These two creatures, the raven and the serpent both look toward Jean in the middle of the city and look at him with great concentration.

Jean finally found his Grand Path and is breaking through to Divine Comprehension as he seals the moment of the fall of the city as he tries to alter the fate and destiny of the people of the city

Chapter 807: Sensing something

As Jean was breaking through to Divine Comprehension level, the strike that Azief had unleashed did not stop its destructive rampage to the enemy

The fifth strike cleanse the European continent from any invaders and the sixth strike arrived at Pandemonium with a bang.

The moment the sixth strike appeared in Pandemonium a large rip appeared suddenly around the edges of the skies of Pandemonium extending to the ground. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Such size at this moment is nothing compared to before.

If this was before the world expanded the height of this space rip would extend outside of Earth and reached space.

Probably because of how powerful this strike was it did not appear simultaneously like the other strikes and instead comes a few second late.

Then the strike seems to turns into a gust of wind that sweep all creatures in pandemonium and no one seems able to escape it.

By now the demonic creatures like they were informed by some telepathic connection had already try to retreat and the three Great generals of Pandemonium wanted to regroup and take a break.

Even Narleod wanted to regroup back when they saw the demonic creatures wanted to retreat.

But Lee Sangmin who appeared in the battlefield and constructing mini formation all over Pandemonium could guess why these demonic creatures wanted to retreat,

He immediately relays what happens in Asian continent to the Three Great generals of Pandemonium and armed with that information, when the demonic creatures wanted to retreat, they chased them and did not allow them to leave.

They all chase them in the skies. The scene look like celestial soldier is chasing and hunting demons.

Then as they were trying to retreat a powerful pulling sensation could be felt by everyone.

like someone slash open the void, space was ripped apart from the edges of the skies to the bottom of the ground

Then a gust of wind appears that inundated all living beings.

Everyone could feel the wind brushing past them. For the people of Earth Prime, the wind is a rejuvenating wind filling them with energy of the world, activating their regeneration ability.

But to those invaders, this wind is a tribulation wind, its sharpness could cut open space and grinded Laws.

No matter how they try to run and escape from the wind, before they could even return back to the space rips, the space rips closed almost instantly.

The space rips fluctuate its opening like a candlelight that flickers and then died down when the wind sweeps by the space rip.

Kreekk!

The Seresian demon shrieks in the air, the sound of their shrieking sounded very sorrowful but then they simply become silent a second later.

They turned to ash, all the space rips disintegrated and silence reign over as the heroes and heroines of Pandemonium look at the sky with dumbfounded expression.

It was like they were ready to throw themselves into their death to fight the fierce counterattack of the demonic creatures but as they were rushing to the sky, wind swept by the place and suddenly the enemy they wanted to kill turns to dust.

How could they not be dumbfounded with such phenomenon?

Up in the air all of these demonic creatures they all dissipated like they never existed in the first and in the ground, the same thing also happens.

Wang Jian, Athena and Freya all look at each other. For a moment they were silent and then they laughed.

Wang Jian then shouted

‘Hail to Death Monarch!’ His voice resounded all over the area and the White Tiger Army all shouted together with their commander.

Freya return to her Berserker and Athena sheathe back her Sword of Ares and ride her Pegasus to her Myrmidon Army.

Even though the threat has suddenly disappeared, it did not mean that the loss that they suffered during the invasion would be compensated.

All the three Armies that participated in the frontline defense all lost someone. They all lost their brother and sisters in arms

Freya was like a valiant death soldier when she was fighting before but now that victory has come, she did not feel at all accomplished.

In her face there is only the look of sorrow, like a sister that lost her brother. Many of her soldiers died to protect Pandemonium.

Their blood did not yet dry on the ground and as such, she could not find herself the will to cheer.

The battle ended and now it is time to mourn the fallen.

It is the same for Athena.

She was like a warrior princess when she was swinging her sword, killing demonic creatures in the air but her face is solemn now that the battle is won.

Wang Jian on the other hand did not show his sorrow so openly.

He too felt the same sorrow that those other two are feeling but he knows he needs to keep the morale.

There is nothing easier to raise the morale of the people than victory.

These three generals slowly descend down from the sky and went to their army, to comfort those who lost someone, to encourage those who lost their heart and to mourn their fallen comrades

The officials in the Centre palace finally come out and begin sending orders for search and rescue and calculated the damage and the cost for reconstruction among other things

Around the Centre Region of Pandemonium, the sight of these three great generals descending from the sky is akin to the declaration that the war had ended

To those people hiding in their home, looking from their window, praying for the protection formation of Pandemonium to hold, praying for the victory of the Three Great Generals to win the war against the invaders, when they saw the clear blue skies and the lack of any threat, they all cheer in excitement.

Most of those who immigrated to Pandemonium had survived the Weronian Occupation. They did not enter the battle not because they were afraid.

It is because they would become a hindrance.

Not all people possess Seed Formation level or Energy Disperse Stage level. Those who did had already joined the battle in the beginning even though the soldiers did not ask them too.

Because they all know that once they lose, another dark history of humanity would appear again.

For those who were eager, they were sent to relatively low level area to aid the military personnel there.

But even so, the quantity of the invaders made it difficult for everyone that volunteered to survive

But those who survive the battle, they all rose in their levels and their hard work was rewarded. Some even break through to Disk Formation in battle and other break through to Seed Formation.

There is always danger in participating in the war but there are also benefits.

Those of low level still had quest that they still have to complete and is not like Death Monarch where he no longer had any notification quest as he is slowly breaking free of the control of the system

But those who were old and have no power to level up further and those who were too young like children they could not do anything but look at the sky and pray that the sky would not fall on them

But suddenly a gust of wind came over and like their prayers were answered, they all see that their enemies were all annihilated.

The streets of the Central region of Pandemonium is cheering as the people hiding in their house come into the streets and some of them was singing, some were cheering and some were carting tears of happiness.

This scene did not escape the gaze of that person in white bandage all over his body. This person is standing on top of the head of one of the four tortoise.

The four tortoise stop spewing their elemental attacks and the cannons that was fitted on the edges of the shell of the tortoise finally had time to rest, as they were red because of the constant bombardment.

If they have to endure for another few minutes, those cannon probably would die down because of overheating

Warp who was standing beside Narleod also released a sigh of relief.

On the distance, Lee Sangmin look at the sky warily and then he taps the space in front of him with his wooden staff and a triangle portal opened up for him as he jumps inside that space.

On the tortoise however, Narleod could see the cheering people and the song of victory is being sung but only he felt like this is the calm before the storm

'This is not over' Warp who was standing beside him also nodded.

They both sense something after all of the space rips were swept away.

They both guess that every Disk Formation in the world could also sense this aura that is slowly pervading the Heaven and Earth

'I sense something' Warp said. Narleod nodded and said

'Me too' They look toward the horizon.

They both felt that there is a demonic aura that is germinating. It is hard to say why and how they could feel it but this kind of feeling is probably not wrong.

There is something that is trying to enter the reality of the world. This is a bad premonition. But as Warp and Narleod had learned, bad premonition always comes true

Chapter 808: The grateful one, the hesitant one and the determined one

Warp look toward Narleod and then he said with determination

'I have to fight this time' he was not stating things. Instead he was asking permission from Narleod.

Narleod did not answer. He frowned and one could see he was hesitant to allow Warp to leave his side

He could only sighed

Narleod did not care much about the world.

But even he did not want the world to get destroyed.

After all, he still didn't get his revenge.

It is a twisted kind of feeling. He wanted to kill that person, but he didn't want anybody else killing him

It is fine if that person was killed by his scheme.

But is not fine, if that person died senselessly.

The more successful that person in World Government become, the more he could not stand it. The more he could not stand it, the more he wanted to grow stronger.

And along the journey, the only one that have always been standing by his side is none other than Warp.

He always orders Warp to stand beside him.

Many believes this is because of Warp abilities to teleport anything in the world and his spatial ability that seems to defy normal Time Laws

His ability is ranked very high in the Dangerous Ability User list compiled by the World Government.

Because unlike normal teleportation, the teleportation power of Warp seems to defy any sealing magic and any sealing runes.

It is one of a kind teleportation ability that no one has the ability to stop. if not for the fact that Warp did not possess any powerful strength based ability, his ranking might have to be evaluated again

As such, it is only reasonable for such a person that have such powerful spatial ability to always stand beside the leader of the League of Freedom to teleport Narleod whenever he is in danger.

But that was not the case at all for Narleod.

It is not wrong that Warp staying beside him would enable him to run away if anything goes south. But the other reason was because, if there is one person in the League of Freedom that Narleod could not let die, it is Warp.

And it is not because Warp ability that made him to be so valued by Narleod. It is simply because, Narleod treated him as his only friend in the world.

People might not believe it but even villains have friends.

And for Narleod, Warp is that one friend.

At that time when everyone has betrayed him Warp is the only one that still remember past friendship and save him and even follow him

There is nothing that Narleod fears more in the world then losing that friendship.

It is quite lonely hen one think about it. Narleod considered only Warp as his friends. But thinking about it again, it is also a very pure friendship.

That is why Warp ask for permission. Because while other people did not understand, he understands.

The reason why he always accompanied Narleod is because, Narleod would never want Warp to die.

Because if he dies, then Narleod would have no friend anymore in this world

Narleod did not answer Warp question, so Warp said again

'I must fight this time' Narleod nodded and then he said

'If you are confident that you could survive, then you could fight. If not, don't go' Narleod finally answer.
Warp shakes his head and said

'If I don't fight, if we don't fight, the world might be burned to the ground. So, regardless if I could survive or not, I will fight' Warp said again. Narleod frowned. He could feel it also that the demonic aura is slowly rising up.

'Let him fight it. Why should you also wanted to join in?

'Because if I didn't join, you wouldn't' Narleod grit his teeth and said

'Warp,

'Narleod' Warp said back

'Tch' he clicked his tongue and then said

'Death Monarch is doing all of this to force that thing out. But doe she still has an energy to fight? If you went first, you would only be the sacrificial pawn in this battle between titans.

'I could run'

'Who knows if you could run from the Heavens?' Narleod protested.

Even though Narleod could not see what is happening in the world right now, he could guess that all the continents of the world are experiencing the baptisms of the strikes of Death Monarch.

With such powerful strike, Death Monarch is probably exhausted.

The gust of wind is not simply a gust of wind that is embedded with the energies of the world and the universal energies that come from outer space but there is also a trace of law.

To call it a trace of Laws is insulting to the ability of that strike.

There is all kinds of laws and myriads of energies.

It is the All Source energy. This is something Narleod had surmised by himself.

After all, there is a lot of things that were revealed when the Orvanians come to Earth a few years ago

There were still arguing at this when Warp suddenly felt the space around them was disturbed by a foreign force

'Be careful' Warp shouted to Narleod as he pointed his finger toward the space in front of him. A trace of bluish color shoots out from his finger.

But then the shooting of blue light disappeared after a certain point almost instantly like it was displaced into another dimensions.

Warp frowned and come closer toward Narleod.

The space a few meter in front of them is slowly distorting as a matrix formula suddenly appearing around the space rips that is materializing in front of them this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Narleod did not stand there like a statue as he pointed his specially made rifle to that space rip. The space rip did not seem like the space rips of the demonic creatures instead it possesses a peculiar triangle shape

The triangle space rips were different in that it seems like a matrix equation filling the entirety of the space rip. It is not so much a space rip as it is more like a portal

Coming out from that portal is a wooden staff and Warp and Narleod both recognize that wooden staff.

They did not immediately put down their guards but they did not immediately attack either. Then slowly coming out of that portal is man in dark brownish robe.

‘You were here too? Narleod said when he recognizes who is the one coming out from the portal

The man coming out from the portal is none other than Lee Sangmin, the Arrayist Sage.

The explosion of power come a little bit late in Pandemonium. Lee Sangmin said and Narleod could quickly infer what happens.

‘Death Monarch really cleanse the world from the invaders?’

Lee Sangmin shakes his head and then reply

‘Not all’

Narleod could guess the meaning of the word but Lee Sangmin did not leave much to the imagination as he simply said

‘He is luring out those demonic creature hiding in the dark. You feel it too right?’ Narleod nodded

‘Demonic Prince or Demonic King. That is above our ability. One Divine Comprehension leveler is already able to change the situation of the world with one of his strikes. They are titans and we are ants beneath their feet. If Death Monarch really fought off against such demonic creature of that level, then I expect a lot of new islands would be buried underneath the sea with each of their strike’

Lee Sangmin frowned but he does know that Narleod words do have a point.

Even though they are Disk Formation, the moment when Death Monarch had return and possess the power of Divine Comprehension, they all know the power structure had changed once again.

But before, they did not know who powerful is a Divine Comprehension leveler really is and they did not understand the gap between them.

Even at that time when Death Monarch return to the world Death Monarch did not unleash his full power.

When he returns he only swing down a sword slash that capsize an entire island.

While that is powerful demonstration of his power, it is not something that bring terror and dread as of right now.

Today, Death Monarch shows to the world the true might of those who is in the Divine Comprehension level

They were practically gods.

Killing millions of lives so easily like breathing and bringing life and energy to the world with one swish of the sleeve, each and every move of Death Monarch seems godlike.

As such, Narleod did not want Warp to enter this battle.

They are merely like flies in front of such people with such ability.

Unless Warp himself is a Divine Comprehension leveler, even Narleod who was always confident of shy friend ability to run away, is not as confident as before

Lee Sangmin only frowned for a moment but then he said

‘Whether it is a demonic prince or a demonic king level, that I don’t know. But with Death Monarch doing things like this, there is no doubt that they have to come out now. We have to be prepared. The shockwave of their battle would probably shakes the world. We don’t know where they would be battling. But we must save the people’

Narleod frowned and said

‘Do I look like a hero, Sangmin?’

‘No. But you are my best bet right now.’

Narleod snorted and he took a long look at Lee Sangmin. Lee Sangmin look at him and for a moment there is silence between them

Chapter 809: The alchemist

Sighing, Narleod then ask Sangmin

‘Is it me or is it Warp?’

‘Warp’ Sangmin simply said

‘You really quickly cut to the point.’

‘It is not like we have a lot of time to talk about this’

Warp look toward Narleod but Narleod did not immediately greet with Sangmin. He could feel that time is ticking

'What about Will the Golden Speedster?' Narleod suddenly ask. Lee Sangmin then said

He is closing the portals.

Narleod then said

'The portals are all closed now. So, where is he?'

'Who knows?' Lee Sangmin reply. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

There was silence between them for a while and then Narleod ask

'Why are you here then?'

'To repay Death Monarch

'No. Not in Pandemonium. Why are you here in front of me other than wanting me to loan Warp? Knowing you, you might go behind my back and meet Warp'

Lee Sangmin frowned.

'I don't have time for that. It is easier if I go through you first. And I wanted you to use the weapon' Lee Sangmin suddenly said

'What weapon?' This time Narleod could not follow what Lee Sangmin is trying to say to him

'That weapon. Device 78' Hearing this Narleod clearly was shocked

'How the hell did you know about Device 78?' Warp who was beside Narleod was also shocked

'Order of Thinkers' Sangmin simply reply.

'Fuck, I know I hated those mysterious bunch' Narleod said

Narleod shook his head.

'Use that on who? The rest of the world? It is experimental. Since you have known about that device, they you should know the flaws. It is the reason why I didn't even use it even when these demonic creatures attack. because, who knows what will happen if I use that device'

Sangmin smiles and said

'I could help you perfect it' Hearing this Narleod eyes narrowed on Sangmin

Then he smirks.

'You sure you can perfect it?

'One hundred percent' And then Lee Sangmin said

???And that is why I need Warp'

'Why? Warp ask.

'Because you need to be the source of that energy. It is a bit like the Cerebral Enhancement Device of Hirate' Hearing this both Narleod and Warp suddenly understood.

But then Narleod said

'But, by doing this, you are helping me tremendously. The experiment that is done by my research teams always ended up failing when trying to perfect the device. Doing this, you would give me this access to the technology. I didn't know you, the Arrayist Sage to be so...kind'

'What use of trying to hide this technology from you right now. This is an emergency. I don't expect you to repay kindness with kindness. That would be expecting too much from you.' Narleod only chuckles as Sangmin continue

'I did not hope such noble virtue from you. I am making a deal with you. Help me save as many people as we could by using the device and you could perfect your device with my expertise. What do you think? Is it a good deal?'

Nodding his head and smiling happily Narleod said

'It is a good deal'

Then we have to move fast' they both had sense that the demonic energy become even more stronger and they know they didn't have much time left

Narleod opens his palm and from his palm there is an octagon device. He throws this octagon device to Warp and then he said

'Imprint it. It is the control device for Device 78'

Warp was quick as he made a cut on his finger and drop his blood into the small hole on the octagon device.

The octagon device suck that blood and then it lights up like a phone. The interface appears in front of Warp eyes like a virtual interface that only he could see

'You have administrator right so it won't matter if Sangmin trying to hijack the device' Warp nodded.

Lee Sangmin did not care much about the suspicions of Narleod as he then put his hand on Warp shoulders.

'Warp, let us go to the Island of Peace. That is the origin. Death Monarch would also probably go there later. We must quickly go there and set it up first'

Warp nodded and then closing his eyes, they disappeared from Narleod views.

They did not ask what Narleod is going to do and they did not invite him to go with them

Even if they invited him, he would probably refuse.

It is not that he wanted to denigrate himself, but he knows he would not be able to escape the aftermath of a Divine Comprehension leveler and some demon that might possess even more powerful might than a Divine Comprehension leveler duking it out with each other

Their shockwaves might wipe him out.

He would probably become only collateral damage when these titans begin to fight with each other.

Who would want to die like that? Sangmin and Warp is different in that they possess certain ability to escape.

If he goes with them, Narleod fear that he would become the burden of Warp.

But Narleod also have his plans. Pandemonium is already safe so he had fulfilled his obligations to Death Monarch.

But even now, there is still danger and he does not know whether he could protect his life.

Life seems very cheap when facing Death Monarch. That is what he thought. He shudders to think what would happen after this matter is resolved.

Yes, Narleod believes that Death Monarch would tide over this battle. As such, he needs to plan for the future.

He allowed Warp to go with Sangmin because it is a profitable deal. But he would not trust Warp's life in the hands of a stranger.

The Device that he had gave Sangmin the permission to use is a very top secret device that has been developed by his research teams for years.

Its expenditure would probably have surpassed the Twelve Pillars of the Order of Thinkers.

It is an interplanetary level type of weapon.

Well, it could not exactly be called as a weapon since the function is not exactly destructive. But it is developed with the objective of making it destructive.

He did not follow Warp but that did not mean he would have left Warp defenseless. He looks at his palm and another octagon device appeared on his palm.

'I will never let you die, Warp.' He said as he sighed. Below the four gigantic tortoise, people are cheering in jubilation not knowing those that this is short lived happiness.

As people were cheering in the central part of Pandemonium, on the other side of the Pandemonium continent, the Vice Leader of the Shadow Guard finally sheathe back his sword and soon the light around him dissipated.

Shinji was not high profiled like the other three generals.

but as a peak Disk Formation leveler, he had protected a large city by himself. Shinji look at the sky with a complicated expression.

When the invasion first happens, he was still at the middle realm of Disk Formation.

Sasha intends to send her to the other city that is more easily defensible but he insisted in coming to his particular city to protect it. In other words, he disobeyed military law.

But he did not regret it.

Sasha herself could not send aid to him because she had to send the other military force to the large cities

It was a question of numbers.

Now, with the strike of Death Monarch, this city was spared of annihilation.

A lot of people look at the skies right now and they felt a variety of feeling looking at the clear skies and white clouds

Before they look at the sky with a feeling of trepidation and fear but now as they look at the sky, they could not help but form a smile on their face.

It is clear and beautiful, they all thought.

There is fire still burning and there are still damages to a lot of the city outside the range of the protection formation is a lot but since there are not many settlements that is outside of the protection formation there is not many who were sacrificed in this battle

Shinji sighed looking at this. He had done his best. Using his sword, he had killed many. But his sword was not as sharp as one strike from Death Monarch.

He felt a little bit helpless at this. he landed on the ground and then lied down on the cracked ground.

He is breathing hard as he could finally rest.

His bones are broken in a lot of places.

One could only imagine what kind of battle that could break the bones of a Disk Formation leveler.

His nails are all cracked and there is blood dripping all around his side, with marks of claws and slashes around his body.

There is also a few hundred small bullet hole all around his chest.

He was alone fighting here. And in the end because he perseveres, he had managed to fight for a chance

He did not notice that there would come another great threat but at this current moment, he could barely care about what will happen later.

He felt very weak and he close his eyes.

A few second later, suddenly someone appeared in front of Shinji unconscious body.

She is wearing white robe line with alternating colors of greens and red on the sleeve of her robe.

It is Sina. She already got the information about Shinji protecting a city by his lonesome from Sasha.

She looks at Shinji and shakes her head

'Haish. This people always wanted to be heroic. In the end, it is me that have to help them. Since I am here, you are not allowed to die'

Chapter 810: That woman

Even though the surrounding area have been cleared from the chaotic energy, it is still hard teleporting to a person location since the distance had become larger and farther away.

The reason that she could arrive in front of Shinji is simply because he has tracking device planted on him and because she is close to Shinji location

She come closer to Shinji body and then she squats around Shinji body looking over his wound and sigh

‘Ah, good job for surviving’ she knows he could not hear her but it is something that she has to convey.

Because of him persevering, that the current situation had been created.

The most badly hit area are around Centre Region of Pandemonium where most of people in Pandemonium made their home

Many people had learned from the mistakes during the Weronian Occupation which leads to people opening settlement and establishing city near the capital city of the great power.

It is easy to protect such cities rather than trying to protect cities that are far away from them.

Establishing city far from the central authority does give you more autonomy but when such world ending disaster happens, it would make the great power prioritizes the cities around them first.

That is why secluded villages or cities that is far away from the Centre region had to be protected by military officials which is not as strong as the main force of Pandemonium.

But probably also because they were on the other side of Pandemonium and their population is low, the Seresian demon even ignore some of these villages and small city and head straight to Pandemonium Centre Region to conquer it first.

For that reason, there is many large cities around the Centre Regions.

Before the world expanded, the protection formation could envelop all of Pandemonium.

But after the expansion, not all parts of Pandemonium were protected.

Shinji went to one of these unprotected area and fought the hordes of the Seresian demons and the Otherworldly forces by his lonesome.

And judging by the state of the city and the casualties, there doesn't seem to be a lot of people that have died.

It is ridiculous to expect Shinji to be able to save everyone in that chaotic battlefield. Not to mention that this, all city didn't even have one Seed Formation expert.

Shinji basically saved this city by his lonesome.

Sina then touch some of the wound but Shinji did not respond. He also had no breath left in his body.

But she is not panicked. She already confirmed that Shinji still have his life force, only that his life force is dwindling.

Even though he had no breath that did not mean Shinji had died. It is the life force that determine whether a person died or not. For Disk Formation they won't die easily unless they fought someone that is equal or higher level than them

Sina then pour down a potion on Shinji wounds as the wound around Shinji chest quickly sew itself back up and form back flawless skin.

The life force in Shinji body exponentially rises up but he still did not get up. But Sina had heaved a sigh of relief.

The reason Shinji did not wake up is simply because he exhausted his energy and it is nothing serious.

The fact that he had gone over his limit and the worst thing that happen to him is only a loss of a bit of life force is the more amazing thing, Sina thought

She then stands back up and took a deep breath. She too finally could take a deep breath and look at the area around him while feeling a little bit relaxed.

Seeing dark red skies and demonic creature coming out endlessly, how could she not feel constricted and at times helpless.

If she cares only about herself and her safety it is of course would be easy for her to survives this calamity.

After all, the Multiversal Convergence would stop sooner or later.

The Orvanians would not let the Multiversal Convergence to attract more worlds and create a Cataclysmic Reality Eruption that would affect all realities and dimension that existed in the Omniverse.

But she has begun to care for the world and its people. And like most people, she had someone that she loves and she has her family here

Earth must not be destroyed. If only for these people. That is her wish as she fought like crazy to protect that wish

Every Disks Formation leveler always had a choice to go up and escape to the starry skies. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

It is not like it is a hard thing to do.

They could survive in space and if they travel long enough they could find another world to live in.

It is not that hard considering that humanity had learned that they are not alone in this Universe.

As they are warlike civilization like Weronians, there is also a lot of civilization that is peaceful out there in the starry skies

But most of the Disk Formation leveler all over the world, even those who were secluding themselves in caves and in undersea paradise comes out and fought for the world.

Sina participated in the battle and she had also done her utmost best and because of her ability she had helped the military officials to save a few city

She uses her alchemy pills to create a poisonous smog.

It is actually an anti-matter smoke so it did not only destroy the weapons of the Otherworldly forces it also kills the Seresian demonic creature.

If not for the fact that she had only scant amount of the resources to create that pill, she could probably save even more people.

Instead, she had to activate her golems that she had created from the Philosopher Stone.

She still has a bit of fragments of the Philosopher Stone after using it to bring back Lihua ability back

The Immortal Couple also joined the battle and Lihua ability was restored, shocking all of the high officials of Pandemonium.

Many had said that Lihua ability could not be restored but to see it suddenly restored, it made people ask who heal her?

Sina was the one that did that by creating the magical philosopher stone. But her philosopher stone was not a perfect philosopher stone but it is enough to help her regain back her ability.

Sina was not far away from Shinji battlefield.

All the high ranking members of Pandemonium that could fight all joined the battle and Sina was not excluded.

She took the orders from the Palace to protect one of the city but she at least had protection from the armored suit that Azief had given to her, to the bodyguards assigned to her and the military officials that also supported her from behind while she create an advantageous terrain for her allies.

Shinji however disobeyed military law but the result is quite positive. But military law is still military law after all.

Sina could only sighed. Since she was close to this area of the battlefield, even she could see the sword glare that Shinji had unleashed.

Every once in a while Sina could see a sword glare splitting apart the formation of the Demonic soldiers in the sky

The title Swift Sword that is given to him was not undeserved.

She was about to check on the city when she looks at the sky and saw a white light charging toward her.

‘What the hell?’ she thought to herself.

‘Any enemy?’ that is her first thought as she instantly put her palm together and opening it, there is a floating pill floating between the middle of her opened palm, floating like some kind of divine pill.

She was ready to hurl it toward that light when suddenly she felt the cold and saw that the sky become cloudy and then white snow suddenly falls and she could guess who is coming

And immediately she closes her palm back. The white light stopped and materializing from the white light is a woman dressed in white attire, with a red sword on her hand.

That woman looks at Sina and Sina sighed internally

Sina smiles bitterly.

She is also a woman but the difference between them is sometimes too much.

But at least, her love life is not as complicated as this woman in front of her. The person materializing in front of Sina is Katarina.

She follows the trails of energy and she arrived at Pandemonium.

She of course could not have known that Azief had already change the direction of the energy, tricking Katarina to go to Pandemonium.

Probably that is the other reason why the force that cleanse Pandemonium is very thorough. Even after the strike had passed, the residual force of that energy still stay and keep repelling any forces.

Maybe because she would be coming here. Sina could only sigh in her heart.

Azief had made pandemonium safe with one strike and like he promised, he sent Katarina to a safe place.

She descended from the air, floating gently toward Sina. Her feet touch the ground and she ask ‘Where is Azief?’ That is her first question.

Haish’ Sina sighed. She was about to click her tongue when she saw something else in the sky

‘What the hell is everybody coming here for?’ that is her thought as she saw that thing in the sky coming down
