Chapter 831: Taking the blame

But exclusion of Pandemonium might not be enough for some people after this kind of events. Parents lost their children, children lost their parents

Who would not want revenge? Even if Azief did not intend for any of this to happen, it is the truth that it is his action that had led to the current outcome.

So how could he just wash his hands of it.

Loki could already imagine the aftermath of this crisis.

When it ends and the whole world find out it was Death Monarch that causes all of this thing in the first place, then the whole world would fight against Death Monarch and unfortunately for the world, with Azief current strength right now, the world will lose.

And the moment the world loses, humanity would lose. As such, since that is the case then let him bear it all.

Let him be the sinner.

This is why he did not tell anything to Azief before he left Pandemonium. Because if he knew that he is planning to take the blame for him, Azief would have never allowed it.

He might even jail him from trying to take the blame for him. Loki chuckles a bit thinking of this.

But with Hirate help, Loki is confident that the whole world will blame him and not his brother.

And Jean and Hikigaya could be persuaded.

They knew how debilitating it is for the world if Death Monarch and the world had a conflict.

What he is doing right now, blocking the passage of the Orvanians to Earth is simply to give the world a reason

A reason to blame him for all the things.

‘Since I decided to act, I need to act completely. And, I believe that Azief could handle this. if not there is always a plan B’

He was about to go away from the space but then he felt a disturbance in the Time Space around him and he quickly turns his back as his hand seems to lit up with an array pattern

He quickly positioned himself to get ready either to fight or flee as he turns his back and retreated a few meters away from his original position.

Then he looks behind him and he saw a familiar face and he heaved a sigh of relief.

He is still wary but it did not show on his face.

That familiar face is none other than the Left Chancellor of the Republic, the Time Monarch Jean.

Jean appeared almost in an instant and it shocked Loki and then he remembers what he saw through the eyes of his familiar.

Jean is no longer a Disk Formation leveler but is a Divine Comprehension leveler.

It is very easy for him to traverse incalculable distance by relying on the Laws that he had comprehended.

And coincidentally, Jean laws is related to time and space. As such, it is understandable how easy it was for Jean to appear here.

It was like Jean suddenly popped out from out of nothing and appears behind Loki.

If not for Loki almost otherworldly divine sense, he probably would not notice Jean is at his back until Jean made himself known.

Jean look at Loki with his eyes scanning Loki.

He could see that the fleet behind Loki back, tens of thousands of spaceship were all dark. Their light system seems to go down.

It only need Jean a second to realize that there is a lot of Orvanians inside that ship but none of them were dead. It is just their ship seems to be malfunctioned.

‘Loki the Trickster’ he thought to himself.

Jean had come here instead of gathering energy on Earth to aid Death Monarch because he believes whatever that Loki is trying to do in space seems to be hindering Death Monarch and the world effort to end this calamity.

And he is also cautious of this trickster.

Those who never fought with the Trickster would not know slippery and slick this trickster is. He seems to have his hand on every dark corner of the world

But because of the protection of Pandemonium, most of the high officials of World Government and Republic had to close their eyes on many of the dubious thing that The Trickster is engaged on.

He did not understand.

When he saw Loki in space and the net that suddenly shrinks, Jean who already had half of his energy restored, take a step toward the sky.

That one steps bend the space between earth and the heavens and in just a few second, disregarding the principle that governs time and space, he appeared there, a few feet from Loki.

But he did not immediately attack Loki.

Instead he is frowning hard. That energy that Loki had unleashed was something that even he had no ability to dispel.

That Psionic Force felt familiar but also foreign all at the same time. Jean did not know how to explain it as he looks at Loki with wary eyes.

He didn't understand what Loki is trying to do right now.

Azief is on Earth preparing to battle that demon that is about to come out from the space rip but here is Loki in space holding back the reinforcement from Orvanians.

'Time Monarch Jean' Loki said, his voice could somehow pierce the vacuum status of space.

He was smiling but Jean had no desire to smile or trying to entertain Loki right now. The longer the is delaying things here, the more people that might affected later.

He could not understand what Loki is trying to achieve here.

He then asks

'What are you trying to do here Trickster? I know that you are the one that held off the advent of the many demonic creatures inside the space rip in the Island of Peace. Why are you now obstructing the effort to save Earth? The Orvanians fleet. What have you done to them?'

Loki smiles and then he said

'Who is the one that causes all of this to happen?' He asks a simple question but Jean was stumped.

Because for some reason, he had a premonition what Loki is going to say to him later. This kind of feeling is felt very strongly by him

'Death Monarch and the Golden Speedster' Jean reply.

But for some reason, there is hesitation on his answer. That is because it seems that Loki seems to be implying something with his question

Loki nodded slowly but there is a smile on his face. He stares at Jean face for a few momenta and then he answers Jean question.

'And that is why I am doing this'

'What do you mean?'

And then suddenly like a flash of inspiration, Jean understand what Loki is trying to do and why he is doing it

He looks at Loki with widened eyes and then with a complicated expression he said

'You are taking the blame?' he paused for a second before asking another question 'Did he ask you to do it? Take the blame for him?' this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Loki shakes his head.

'If its him, he would not let anyone take the blame for him. You see, Azief was never a perfect human or a hero like any of those people who don't know about him talks him about. The bards and the story teller like to portray him as an all knowing powerful hero. They look at the sky and they felt like Death Monarch is there, looking at them. In Pandemonium, nobody dares to speak too loudly of his name for fear that the Heavens could hear. His image was deified and his mistake were minimized and his achievement were becoming grander with each telling of his story'

Smiling Loki continue his word.

'Like any other human, he has his flaws. His tendency to protect the people he loves sometimes hurts innocent people. He is a flawed man. But...he also has his virtue. I don't think he expected that all of this to happen. A lot of things affect what happens today. Yes, the one who broke the Time and Space Continuum is Azief. But why was it broken in the first place?'

Smiling slyly, he looks at Jean and raise his eyebrows.

'Don't tell me you don't know?' Jean was silent for a while. Loki then said

'Azief is one of the cause. But he was the unlucky one that popped the balloon. The balloon in the first place was scratched and scraped by other people and he came and poked and become the unlucky one to pop the balloon.'

Jean close his eyes and there is a trace of regret in his face.

He knew a lot of thing as the Left Chancellor of the Republic so of course he knew what Loki is talking about

'Hmmp' Loki continues his word

'The World Government had the World Gate. They say that they managed to make sure that all travel to parallel dimensions or parallel universe is secured and if anything happened that they could contain it with all their containment measure that is in place'

Chuckling Loki then said

'But you also know that there is no such thing as safe containment or one hundred percent certainly of breaking through dimensional barrier and not leave a scar into the fabric of reality. Why didn't you blame them instead for making the dimensional barrier to be that unstable?'

'How about the Republic? Don't tell me that you didn't sent your best recruits to the other worlds and learn their technologies. How else could you explain the rapid advancement in your technology?'

'Azief and Will was the unlucky ones. They broke through the Time and Space Continuum during the period that the Time and Space and dimensional barrier were already on the verge of collapsing. And it is not like they travel through a short time but instead they travel far to the future, travelling on the border of the unknown. The future is unknown therefore the moment they travel further than their current timeline, the future was created using the probability of the current timeline. That created a wave of instability all over the fabric of reality'

'From the very beginning the Time and Space continuum was already unstable. And Azief and Will travelling to the future is the last straw that broke the camel back.

Loki then finished saying everything about this matter to Jean, unloading everything that he did not say to Hirate.

Chapter 832: The fault in our world

Loki sighed internally thinking of some similarities between this timeline and the other timeline. In that other timeline, this is also the same.

However, there were certain differences.

At that time, the world did not know that the World Government had something called the World Gate that enables them to travels across parallel universe.

Each time they travel through this barrier between worlds, it creates a scar.

In this timeline, the World Government expanded quickly than before and there were so many small details that have changed that slowly affect the bigger picture.

This is one of the butterfly effects that Loki had unintentionally created.

In that other timeline, Azief had found out that while it is true that he was the one that broke the stability of the barriers between reality, the blame alone could not levy solely to him.

But, Azief had never deny that he was the cause.

That is because regardless of what the others had done to contribute to the collapse of the dimensional barrier and reality, the fact remains that if he did not travel to the future, such tragedy would not happen.

Azief in that other timeline is cruel and cold, but he is not an entirely an evil person. He was morphed by his circumstances, hunted by all the major factions of the world.

He did what he did to survive. He had encounter betrayal and he had many bad experience dealing with people, and he trusted people only after he verifies it.

As such, he values loyalty...above all else.

In that other world, there is no such thing as the Seven Great Powers to regulate the power that be in the world.

There is a few superpower faction and there many other factions that was not regulated.

Jean did not say anything.

There was silence between them for a while.

Behind Loki, the fleet is already lights up but they still could not engage their drive. And there is movement in the largest ship of the fleet.

A ship name Intisar seems to be the one that is the first to regain power.

But it still could not engage in all the other drives.

It is the ship where Sith'venar is on.

He is on the front deck and while he did not recognize Loki, he recognizes Jean, the Left Chancellor of the Republic of the Free World.

Most people called the Republic the Republic. But the full name of the organization is called the Republic of the Free World.

In the beginning it was called the Republic of the Revolution but then after a Senate meeting the name was changed.

Sith'venar had listed the organizations and factions that ruled the world and the Republic is one of that organization.

He was already frowning when Jean appeared. It is clear that Jean could travel very easily through space and time.

Sith'venar could break through the reinforced glass and fly by himself to Earth.

But he alone is not enough to constrain a Type Nine Being. There is also the fact that the engine is not yet able to be engaged.

The generator could only bring back the lighting system and not the other drive like the shield drives and the offensive weapons system drive.

And while he would survive the coldness of space and the pressure of the stars and the radiation of the suns and other dark matter energy that is present in the Universe, not everyone in his ship are all like him.

Some of the people are not all military personnel specialized in combat.

Some of them are engineers and builders, people who could not fight but is integral to the maintenance of the ship.

As such, he held off his urge to just break the glass and fly down to Earth.

There is also that person still floating there and how knows what kind of weapon he still has in his sleeve?

There is also another possibility that even if he come down to Earth, he would not be able to help much by his lonesome

if he uses his true power on Earth Prime, then the All Source would have oppressed him.

They have a method to not made the All Source target them but the moment they break out from that restriction that they put in their bodies, Orvanians would probably be suppressed heavily by the All Source.

The All Source is not just an object that you could just use.

It is a treasure that has a Will.

It is that for that reason, none of the Seven Intergalactic Power had united the World Orb before even though each one of them have the fragment of the All Source.

It is very dangerous.

To Sith'venar it appears that the relationship between the Left Chancellor of the Republic was not amiable with that person who had just obstruct his fleet from delivering aid to Earth.

But it is not a relationship of enemies either considering that Jean did not attack that person.

He keeps watching it.

A gulf of psionic energy line separated the distance between the unresponsive fleet from Loki and Jean.

Jean sighed and then he said to Loki

'You want the world to believe that you are the one responsible for the Multiversal Convergence?

He shakes his head and said

'If what you said is true about Death Monarch, then even if you say you are the one that causes this Multiversal Convergence, if he come out to the world and said he is the one that is responsible then everyone would believe him and not you'

Loki shakes his head again and simply said

'It won't work like that' Jean frowned and Loki simply said

Right now, at this very moment, Hirate is sending a telepathic message to all the world faction leaders that the one who is responsible for the Multiversal Convergence is me'

Smiling he continues

'Even if Azief come out later saying that he is the one responsible in an attempt to clear my name, the people of the world would only think that Death Monarch wanted to shield his little brother.

'Everyone in the world knows that Death Monarch is someone that treated brotherhood very important. And I could make another argument that the people of the world would believe.

And that is if he is really the one responsible for the calamity of the Multiversal Convergence why is he using all of his power to save the people of the world?'

'That is because he is the one that cause this in the first place!' Jean said

'Yes, but the world would not believe so. They would see a hero. And they would rather believe that Azief is a hero than believe that he is this villain. Because it is not beneficial at all to make him the villain'

'Even before this, Azief was a hero, a guardian, a protector. People fear him and yet at the same time wishes to be protected by him. They fear his power in time of peace but needed his power during time of war. Since I already confessed, the sinner would be me. And Azief would remain the knight in the shining armor'

'I...'. Jean was trying to think of a reason to tell Loki that this is wrong.

Like Hirate, he knew what would happen to Loki the moment he takes this blame.

Regardless of the truth, if Loki confess to this matter, taking the blame for Azief, then the world power has no choice but to hunt him down and put him down.

Loki understood Jean concerns and he simply said

‘The world could not survive a war with my brother’ Loki simply said and then he added ‘But the world could survive a war with me’

Jean shakes his head and sighed. he clearly does not know what to do now.

‘It is better to have him by your side’ Loki said.

Jean knew Loki is speaking facts.

But he felt a bit of pity for this trickster. Loki probably had done all he could do to contain the demonic creatures in the Island of Peace.

He had sacrifice his blood and sweat but no one would know of this. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly no one would remember his deed. People would only remember him as the person who had initiated the single worst disaster since the Fall.

Jean then ask

‘What about Hikigaya? He also knows the truth’

‘Hikigaya is a practical man. He would understand that lies is sometimes needed to keep up the peace. The lie would make Earth stronger. But the truth would create a rift between Pandemonium and the world and might plunge the world into a great conflict between the Great Powers. Which one do you think Hikigaya would choose?’

Jean was speechless.

Then he thought of all the things that Loki had done after Death Monarch returns to Earth and he slowly sees a pattern

‘You.... could you have foreseen all of this? is that why you suddenly cut of all ties with Pandemonium?’

Loki smiles a knowing smile.

‘I could still reveal the truth if I wanted to by capturing you’ Jean suddenly said.

Hearing this Loki laughed.

‘You could try. And even if you could capture me...is the truth really the best for everyone right now?’

‘You knew it too that is why you didn’t immediately capture me after you heard me saying that I want to take the blame for my brother. Even in your mind, you knew that it is the most acceptable ending of this matter’

Jean hesitated before Loki suddenly punch toward Jean.

It was so sudden and so unexpected but Time suddenly acted as Jean opens his eyes wide and Time and Space around him was affected.

Chapter 833: The needle that stop time

BOOM!

Loki crack the space around him the moment he clenched his fist and throws that strike. He put half of his power in that attack.

The space around his fist contorted and break as the power of stars seems to be imbued in that attack

All around him space seems to rip apart.

Space dust all around Loki body disintegrated almost immediately. There is a smile on his face. Jean on the other hand was frowning.

He did not understand as the flow of Time around him seems to move backward at the same moment that Loki started to attack

Jean was in Divine Comprehension level so this kind of attack would not be able to hurt him. And Loki must have understood that his attack would not do any considerable damage

But then why?

Why would he still attack Jean knowing the outcome of it? Jean still has the time to think of all of this even as Loki is trying to punch him

Because if there is one thing that Jean had the most of, it is Time

Loki smiles as the power of time rewinds back to the moment before Loki release that attack. Loki could not extricate himself form the Time Rewind ability but he was smiling nonetheless.

They both stand back in their original position. Before Jean could ask him why, Loki waves his hand

‘Take this!’

He snorted and then with the movement of his hand, the psionic forces that was scattered all over the over the Milky Way galaxy quickly reformed back into a net

It only took less than a second for the energy to reformed back into a net

Jean widened his eyes and immediately his eyes shines with purple color and a sound seems to pierce the vacuum state of space. It is the sound of a clock ticking.

And a pointer appeared inside Jean eyes.

Jean look toward Loki and he wanted to lock down Time and Space around Loki but as he uses his gaze to lock the space, Jean was surprised.

‘What the hell?’ he thought to himself.

The Time and Space around Loki seems to be contorted and in chaos, unable to form a complete Law that Jean could take advantage of.

Loki seems to already foreseen this.

Whatever that artifact that Loki is using, it seems that it is able to change the properties of Time and Space.

Jean did not know for sure whether the Time and Space around Loki becoming like this is because of Loki artifact or because of another reason, but Jean did not have any other possible explanation than blaming it on the artifact

If Loki could hear what Jean was thinking he would probably laugh.

After all, the reason why Jean could not do anything to him is simply because Jean of the future had put an imprint of Himself on Loki.

It enables him to escape most Time related abilities.

Of course, just like the power that is given to him by Hirate, the Illustration of Mind, this power that Jean in the future had given him has its limit.

This is the first time he had used that effect of that imprint.

Jean in the current timeline, actually have enough power to capture Loki.

But it is because Loki had the imprint from Jean of the future that he was confident that he could escape safely from Jean.

'Ah, like I said, it would not be that easy to capture me' and then Loki without hesitation pointed his index finger toward Jean.

The net once again shrinks and this time it turns into a thin needle that floats in front of Loki index finger.

It was so small that it is the size of an atomic particle but Jean could still see it.

The moment Loki pointed his finger toward Jean, the needle flew through matter as it phases through them and then pierced Jean body in the timespan of one second

Even though there is a shield of time around Jean body it was useless as that needle phase through it.

Jean was rendered immobile but he could see that needle is slowly losing its power the moment it enters his body

It is corroded by the properties of time

In just a few minutes, he would be able to move again. But by then Loki would long be gone.

Loki smiles at the currently immobilized Jean and said

'Now, everyone would believe'

Jean understood what Loki is implying

Now everyone would truly believe that Loki is the one responsible for this matter. Loki is forcing him to participate in this lie to.

With Loki connection in the criminal underworld he could spread the footage of him fighting with Jean the Time Monarch in the edges of the Milky Way galaxy and people would also witness that Loki holding back the reinforcement of the Orvanians.

That would then lend credibility to the news that Hirate is spreading.

Loki smiles bitterly and he said this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'Until we meet again, Time Monarch Jean' and then Loki took a helmet from the void and then put it on his head and disappeared from Jean divine sense.

Loki had to many artifacts and secrets.

Jean could only watch Loki disappeared from his sight with a frown

'The Trickster is truly fill with all kinds of tricks' he thought to himself.

Jean closed his eyes for a second as his divine sense inspect his own internal organs as he could see the needle inside his body.

He quickly applied the pressure of time on that needle

The needle is quickly dissolving as the tribulation of time that is applied on the needle is reaching tens of thousands of years

Jean could see it with his own eyes as the needle slowly lose its energy properties and then the needle disintegrated as powerful burst of energy exploded inside Jena body.

Jean frowned a bit as he pointed his finger toward the space and that energy was channeled out from his body

A Psionic Force bursted out from his body. That needle is after all created by using the psionic energy of Hirate.

And Loki has never intended to kill Jean and do harm to him. He only wanted to delay Jean. If not how could Jean easily extract the needle out of himself

Jean takes a deep breath for a second

He had released himself from that needle and could now move again and he could feel that the energy that was blocked from him is now regulating smoothly inside his body again

This feeling is very comforting as he could feel back the connection he has with time and Space

That needle might not have injured him but it cut off his connection with Time and Space

For a moment there, Jean felt like even though he could withstand the pressure of the vacuum state of space, he had this feeling like all of his energy was obstructed and his connection with Time Space were severed.

For someone who had learned how to soar to the sky, it felt like he was now back on the ground, unable to fly

It is a suffocating feeling. Jean crack his neck and move his shoulders, like he is acclimatizing back with his own body

It took less time than he thought

Jean should never have underestimated the Trickster even though he was already in Divine Comprehension.

Jean knows he had already wasted time. Loki could not be persuaded. But instead it is he that felt like he was being persuaded by Loki words.

He shakes his head and then thought whatever come later, he'll deal with it later.

Right now, it is important to stop that demon from coming out. He gazes downwards.

But even as Jean is in space he could see that it would be hard to stop that demon from coming out.

As such he needs to be ready to fight with that demon.

But while Hikigaya is fully charged on Earth, he is not yet fully charged. If he is, then he might even be faster in dispelling that needle

'I guess I have to absorb the energy of space' Saying this Jean then takes a deep breath and the stars that is millions of years away from him dimmed.

And not only the stars a million years away from him started dimming, the stars that is all around him were also dimming like all of their heat is taken by him.

The heat is also a part of something that could be termed as energy

All of it is being absorbed by him and he felt his energy quickly enter his body. It lacks the purity of energy that is in Earth prime but it compensates in terms of quantity.

Since he had wasted time coming to space, he need to quickly replenish his energy and help Azief.

Jean changes the properties of time and accelerate his absorption power by a multiplier of one hundred times and one who is quite sensitive to energy would find out that the area around Jean body is devoid of energy.

Jean took a glance toward Earth and he saw Azief is pointing his palm upwards and he knows he need to hurry.

He took a step and he appeared almost in an instant in front of the largest ship among the fleet.

He appeared very small compared to the largest ship of the fleet.

But Jean was not intimidated in the slightest as he closes his eyes and a powerful Time and Space distortion occurs all around him.

Space breaks down and the flow of time seems to be cut off around him as Jean suddenly, in the blink of an eye become a titanic being that made the entire fleet dwarfed by its size.

Chapter 834: Device 78

Jean is in front of that fleet looking at the mass of spaceship in front of him. Time flow around him like he is the source of Time

There is a weird phenomenon around him of things appearing out of nowhere and things disappearing out of nowhere.

Purple and green energies swirls around each of Jean fingers. And swirling around his entire body is a green purplish mist

At the same time, he is using his Law Avatar form, his Law Avatar form is also absorbing the universal energy.

'This is enough' he thought to himself

He then opens his palm and pointed it toward the fleet.

Most of the Orvanians that saw this scene gulped in fear. That one palm is enough to cover the entire ten thousand spaceship

He could slap forward and then thousand spaceships would explode in space because of the force and impact of that palm strike.

How could they not feel any fear?

Not all of them understood the intention of this titanic being. Sith'venar was calm because he knows that Jean would surely not harm them

After all, they did not interact with Earth prime. Only a few people had interacted with earthlings like Sith'venar and Sith'lenor

And because of Loki interference Sith'venar could not send a message to the other spaceship to remain calm

Jean smiles and he thought to himself

'Time Rewind' The moment he thought of that, his mind is imagining and reconstructing what he believes to be the correct scene of time before these spaceships all malfunctioned.

With the trails of Time, he saw everything that had happened a few minutes ago

He saw how Loki appears, waves his hand, bringing out an illustration that turns into a giant brain with complicated patterns that would appear like a net to those who could not see the entire picture and the subsequent event where that psionic energy sweep through everything

Jean saw it, and reconstructed it and then thought to himself

'Rewind!???

All of this calculation and simulation in his mind takes half a second as he then turns his palm counter clockwise and the scenery around the fleet changes as time reminded itself back.

This time, he is trying to maintain the memory of the people affected with his Time Rewind while at the same time controlling time.

It is like doing a precise surgical operation.

It took him only two seconds to restore back everything and then the fleet appeared like it was a few seconds ago, having no sign of any of their system malfunctioned.

Sith'venar was about to send communication toward Jean but then before he could send it a voice echoes in his ears.

'Go quickly to Earth' Jean finished undoing what Loki had done, is ready to turn back and return back to Earth to fight against that demon creature.

But before he even could take that one step toward Earth, he could feel the powerful emanation of force filling the entire Universe.

He then looks up and then he gulped.

'This...unbelievable'

He saw the image of a wheel, even more gigantic than him that seems like it is about to crash into Earth.

'This Wheel!'

Jean remembers this Wheel.

He was also inspired by this Wheel in the past.

Azief had summoned it once when he was fighting with Sithulran, summoning it and sealing Sithulran inside it.

Jean frowned and then without hesitation he takes that step in space, the space and time around him bends like he is manipulating some kind of cause and effect, reversing the flow of Time and changing the direction of Space

That one step traverse through the distance, and bend time and Jean appeared almost instantly on the Island of Peace.

His feet dig deep into the seabed and his head reaches the clouds above that people below had a hard time to see his face.

The Law Avatar of Time and Space belonging to Jean arrive in Island of Peace!

The flow of time around the Island of Peace is immediately disturbed by this sudden appearance by Jean

Hikigaya, Jean and Azief all know that the final battle to close this curtain of this tragic event would happen on the Island of Peace.

There is now only one connection between Earth Prime and the other dimension and that is the Seresian home world. If they could close it, then this war is over.

Jean was the first one at the scene.

Hikigaya and Azief would also surely come later.

Azief is summoning the Wheel and Hikigaya might devise some plans to help from the background with his ability of turning real into unreal, turning unreal into real and maybe he is preparing some illusion traps to be used later

As such, Jean, as the third person that break through Divine Comprehension leveler is the only one that have Time on his hand.

He would be able to delay a bit. And his effort to delay the demon would surely be more effective than Raymond trying to delay the demon.

This is the battle of a different kind of lifeforms.

With Jean coming first, and the others coming later, the world might once again see the gathering of the strongest people on Earth once again united with each other fighting a common enemy.

His arrival on the island shocks everyone as they look toward that Law Avatar with feeling of awe.

'I will not make it easy for you!' Jean shouted as the whole world heard his voice thundering and echoing all over the Heaven and Earth

The Island of Peace is quite in chaos right now.

Especially those who were still fighting in the frontline, focusing their firepower on the finger of that demon that is slowly opening the space rip in the sky.

They used all their firepower's but other than few bruises and a few drop of blood, it doesn't seem that their attack did that much to affect the Demon King

The space in the sky of Island of Peace had long become unstable

Because of the pressure that is leaking out from the space rips it affected the sky as there were many scars of the sky

From the scars in the sky one could see through the stars above this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

It is like the blanket of protection over Earth atmosphere was ripped apart by that corrosive destructive energy that was leaking out from the space rip

The radiations from space falls freely into the world without the protection that the ozone layer had provided the world

They were just still reeling from the shock seeing their Supreme Commander being brought out from the space rip by Sofia the Divine Archer, only to be shocked again with Jean appearance.

Raymond and Sofia is on the ground looking at the sky feeling helpless as they saw the space rip is getting bigger and bigger but then as they were about to despair, they felt that the demonic aura were cut by a powerful force.

Raymond frowned and then suddenly dark clouds filled the world, closing back the scars in the sky.

Thunder and lightning fills the whole world. The thunder roars like primordial beast and the lightning illuminate the darkness of the world

Jean laughed and his laugh echoes all over the world.

'Death Monarch!' he shouted. Everyone could hear him

Sofia eyes lit up hearing Jean shouting Azief title

Jean did not wait as he would execute the first attack against this demon.

Jean Law Avatar clench his fist. Time bend around his fist and the space around the entire Island distorted as some parts of the island seems to experience deceleration of Time.

The lightning that flashed by seems to be stretched out second by second on one part of the island. But on the other parts, the flash of the lightning become abnormally fast

Time were accelerating and decelerating. Time was thrown in disarray as Jean throws that punch.

And his target is that demon hand that is holding tightly on the space rip.

'RELEASE IT!'

BOOOM!

A large explosion disintegrated half the Island of Peace into the seabed.

The impact of a punch by Divine Comprehension leveler must not be underestimated

At the same time on the northern part of that island, Lee Sangmin look toward that large titanic form of Jean.

The moment Jean arrived, Lee Sangmin quicken his pace to laid down the array and the moment he saw Jean is raising his hand he shouted to Warp

'NOW!'

Warp who was closing his eyes suddenly opened his eyes and push the remote on his hand and then he throws it away

In space, on the dark side of the moon, buried underneath some space dust the space dust suddenly floated up in the air

There is a force underneath that space dust as it floats and then a beam of light suddenly comes out on the dark side of the moon.

The target of this light is none other than Warp on the Island of Peace.

That device that shoots out that light is none other than the mysterious Device 78.

Device 78 had all kinds of energy like X energy, dark matter, anti-matter particles but the particles that Device 78 is now sending to Earth is X energy that is imbued with the properties of Time and Space from the dimensional barrier.

Somehow, Lee Sangmin got hold of that information and is now using it on Warp

Lee Sangmin idea was simple.

He wanted to save the world. And what he means by the world is the people.

The battle between such titanic being would surely kill many unrelated people. And he is intending to save the people

Warp had teleportation ability.

And he Lee Sangmin had the ability to amplify it.

Combined that with the enhancement power that was stored in the Device 78, Sangmin had planned to use it to teleport all the normal people in the world into a mirror dimension.

This is actually one of the ideas that he wanted to implement inside the Lotus Palace

In the unlikely event that the Lotus Palace is breached, he could use his ability as the controller of the Lotus Palace to teleport all the inhabitants inside the Lotus Palace into a mirror dimension.

Only this time, he is trying to do it in a global scale. That is why he needed the help of Warp who have the ability of controlling Space

Chapter 835: Thunder roars

Lee Sangmin was determined to save the world.

But he could not save everyone. The limit of this teleportation formation is limited to those below Seed Forming.

Above than that, they are on their own. But considering that most of them would be able to run into space, Lee Sangmin could only wish that they could survive the worse.

The moment Jean attack that space rip he knew the impact of that punch would reverberate and affect the entire world.

It is fortunate that when Jean arrived on the Island of Peace, the pattern that he had designed in his head is complete.

As such, now they are activating it. Up there on the sky, that small light that could not be seen by naked eye is about to reach to Earth

The light price through space and time and arrive almost in an instant, hit Warp body as a powerful distortion of the laws of space time exploded out.

But this explosion did not distort the space around Warp and instead powered the array line pattern that Lee Sangmin had drawn.

The entire island of peace right now is shining with array patterns that have all kinds of runic, hieroglyphic and many other forms of ancient methods of writing like cuneiform and character based alphabet.

All of it seems to be creating an interconnected pattern.

And then Lee Sangmin pointed his staff toward the sky and from below he writes using his staff.

The stroke he had used created four lines with a square in the middle and a sharp separated straight character on each side of that four lines.

The meaning is simple

Disappear.

The moment he finishes writing that, the array patterns instead of covering the whole world, which Lee Sangmin did not have the ability to do, the character that he had wrote in the sky turns into sparkles that flew all over the world and latched into any living beings that is below Seed Forming.

The punch landed on the space rip, and Jean unleashed a power that shakes the world and crack the Heavens and at that very moment, the people of the world suddenly disappeared leaving only Seed Forming leveler and above in the world

BOOOM!

The sound of the explosion finally reached Lee Sangmin area and Warp. Warp did not panic as he now become the center of that formation

And he had fulfilled his role. His entire face is pale and he is weak but he is still powerful enough to execute a few more teleportation before he is truly spent out.

The northern part of the island was breaking apart and it is slowly sliding down into the sea but Warp was able to teleport him and Lee Sangmin on the other side of the Island as they look warily at the dust that is not yet settling around the space rip.

The world is now empty and Lee Sangmin had done the impossible. Azief could not see the current happening but if he could see, he would surely smiles

Le Sangmin plans would minimize the collateral damage

At the same time that Jean was punching the hand of that demon king, thunderous rumbles echoes all over the world.

The forces that Azief is summoning is began affecting the world

The demonic aura was covered by thunder and lightning; each thundering roars shakes the skies like it is going to fall down.

Each bolt of lightning is like the sun flashes by illuminating the darkness. Rains falls down regardless of where it is in the world.

Thunder and lightning accompanied the rain like some accompaniment in an orchestra.

The entire world was covered with dark clouds. It did not matter whether one is in the western hemisphere or the eastern hemisphere, all the world shares the same sight right now.

Clouds covered the sky so that nobody could see the Heavens' above.

A sunny place suddenly turns dark like darkness suddenly descend upon the world. The sun was covered up and the moon was hidden from sight.

That is only the physical aspect of the summoning of this power. There is a deeper profound effect that is happening all over the world right now.

The cause and effect is slowly being distorted. Everything seems to be in a state of flux, of a state where nothing is real and everything is real.

Those who were not transported by Lee Sangmin teleportation array, could see this terrifying sight and feel the pressure mounting on them

The pressure is pressing down upon the Earth and this time the pressure of it is even more terrible than the last time.

Even though the world had expanded and it have more energy to endure this pressure, Azief had also grown and become more powerful.

Azief is summoning the Wheel of Rebirth and Reincarnation.

Floating there above the Atlantic seas, his small figure is illuminated by the lightning that flashes every few seconds it shows the sight of a man bearing a great pressure.

All of his veins become clear for anyone to see and his body seem to be tense like his entire body seems to be burdened by something heavy.

He had rarely sweat but now sweat is dripping down his forehead and back and he could feel that the energy he had absorbed is slowly drained off to bear this burden of Karma

Wheel of Rebirth and Reincarnation possess all kinds of Karma and the Karma its holds is incalculable.

In the past his Disk were drained by even simple use of this Wheel.

But now that he had Laws even though the energy is draining off him, he could still endure it.

He is confident he could use it to at least make sure that the demon king would suffer a lot trying to stretch his hand to Earth

Azief assumed that the thing that is about to come out of that space rip is none other than a Demon King.

Only a demon King would have this kind of pressure over the world and made even him who was already in Divine Comprehension felt pressure.

And there is also the fact that he had once felt the pressure of a Demon King in the past

The people of the world that was just rejoicing a second ago suddenly was no longer cheering or singing.

Most of the weak ones disappeared so suddenly and then before the one that is left behind could even make sense of it, the weather changes, dark clouds hovers above the skies and thunder and lightning make its entrance, filling the world with the feeling of some apocalyptic event is commencing they once again look at the sky with feeling of trepidation.

The entire sky looks like it is about to fall down, the roaring of thunders is like the sound of primordial beast that is about to be unleashed to the mortal world and the flashes of lighting is very blinding that only adds fear to the hearts of the people.

As they look at the dark cloud that filled the sky that you could see nothing else in the sky but clouds, they saw a large hole opened up and the clouds make way as everyone could amidst the flashing lightning and the roaring thunder a vortex.

The Laws of the World seems to went into disarray and the space become chaotic again as the gigantic vortex expanded even more.

Azief entire body is now trembling as vast and boundless pressure from the universe bear down on him.

The seas around him boils and the water condense into the air turning into gas because of the heat.

As the pressure rises even more, below Azief figure, the sea parted into two in the shape of a circle.

CRACK!

Azief is the only one that could hear it.

He could hear the protection barrier of the world cracking and then a large ripple of energy spread out all over the world.

Storms appeared all over the world, tsunamis, earthquakes, floods and many other kinds of disaster is happening all over the world

Some small mountain that did not have enough energy become flattened under this pressure, river water flows backward and all kinds of weird time phenomenon happens as a deadly air fills the air

Yet, there is a life force hidden in that destructive force.

There is power of rebirth and reincarnation.

One could see a flower bloom, wither, and then turns into ash before turning into some kind of energy and turning into a stone and then it changes form again, again and again it changes, like it lives tens thousands of rebirths and reincarnations

All this weird phenomenon could be seen all over the world, from the grass on the ground, to the clouds in the sky

The Wheel is coming down and Azief eyes shines blue.

Space all around the world is cracking and being torn apart mercilessly by this enormous pressure.

Azief is enduring the pressure and he should feel tired and exhausted and he should be tense but he is smiling this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

“This is better than the last time’ He thought to himself. His palm is trembling but that is his thoughts right now

He smiles because this time he could summon it faster and he did not have to exhaust his entire reserve of energy just to summon this Wheel.

Chapter 836: Determination

Azief even though he felt a slight discomfort in his body, there is a sense of accomplishment in his heart

He then laughed, his hair flow wildly amidst the storms and then he clenches his fist and a powerful energy burst out of him

He takes a step forward and the space around him spirals and then like Jean he appeared beside Jean's Titanic Law Avatar form.

The moment he appears Jean's eyes lit up. Sofia was also shocked at the sudden appearance of Azief.

Now most of the disk formation combatants of the world government are standing around Raymond protecting him from the blast of these titans clashing

Azief senses and envelops the entire island and he could see everything and nothing escapes his eye except.... that thing underneath the surface of the Island of Peace

Azief did not come in his Law Avatar form but the pressure that he is emanating seems to surpass Jean's current pressure, as the space around him distorted and crack with even a slight of his movement.

Azief did not intentionally emanate this pressure since this pressure did not only come from him but also from the Wheel of Reincarnation and Rebirth

It is hard for the disk formation around Raymond to even remain standing with the pressure from the Heavens pressing them down

Wind whipping all of their robes and those who wear magical armor all noticed that when Azief suddenly arrives on the island, their armor cracked because of the sudden pressure of Death Monarch's appearance.

At the same time, on the other continent, the other great leaders also could also feel that pressure and they believe Death Monarch is about to face off with that demon.

For a moment, the explosive news that Hirate had sent over through his telepathic connection is forgotten as the whole world seems to wait with bated breath of the conclusion of this battle

The world powers could only pray and hope that Azief, Jean and Hikigaya would be able to defeat whatever that is coming out from that space rip.

They believe that the demon that is about to come out from that space rip would not be some normal demon.

The pressure alone had caused the sky to change and that is even before the demon went out from the space rip

Right now the only good thing for the leaders of the world was that most of their normal civilians had now disappeared.

They don't know what happen but judging by that one moment of array pattern lighting up and the appearance of a character in the sky, most world leaders believe that it is the Sage of Array Lee Sangmin arrangement and as they expected the leader of the Lotus Order had message the other leaders that Lee Sangmin planned to teleport all people below Seed Forming into a mirror dimension to spare them from the collateral damage of the clash of these powerful beings.

These leaders could only sigh when looking at the battle that is about to commence.

It is not like they don't want to help Death Monarch but not everyone has technology like the Cerebral Enhancement Device of the World Government that could easily determine location amidst the new world that has emerged out of the expansion.

Nor do they have the Eye of Heaven like the Order of Thinkers that relies on the All Source trace to accurately determine position amidst the global geography change and taking the calculation of new continents

They could only pray from their continent that the three heroes would win.

But just because they are putting their hopes in Death Monarch, Time Monarch and the Illusion Archmage, that didn't mean that they would not prepare for the worst case scenario

They are preparing in case Death Monarch loses

Azief even though he is a million miles from these people, Azief understood the thought of the people of the world.

He also now had noticed that Sangmin is successful in his plan, teleporting all those below Seed Formation into another dimension. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

With this, Lee Sangmin could be said to repay what he had owe in the past

Now he could go all out without worrying about incurring catastrophic damage.

As long as the Disk Formation leveler did not come to close to the battle, then they would be able to remain safe.

He looks at Jean and Jean communicate with his Divine Sense

'You are late'

'You are too early' Azief reply.

Jean did not say anything else.

Since he is now holding the demon king right hand from tearing more space, there is not much he could do without breaking his concentration.

This demon king is not some weak demon king that is easily suppressed.

His punch did not do physical damage but instead it has a different effect. Now he is enveloping that demon king hand with his palm.

That punch that Jean had strike out changes the properties of time inside the space rip making the demon king seems to be constrained by some invisible thread

This invisible thread is locking up Time, making the regeneration of his energy slow which weakens his grip on the space rip.

But it seems that it only works on the demon king right hand. His left hand is still pulling more space, expanding the space rip for him to get out.

But this is the limit of what Jean could do. After all, while the demon king is not out of the space rip completely, the Laws of Time that Jena had unleashed could penetrate the barrier of worlds that is in the Seresian world

The only way for it to work completely is for the demon king to come out from the space rip. He had predicted this but even then, he still felt a bit bitter.

Jean knows that the best case scenario was that the demon king comes out from the space rips and they kill him.

But he actually wanted to aim for the most maximum path of minimizing damage.

If he could prevent the demon king from coming out, and close the space rip, then everything would be even more than just fine.

But, with one punch, Jean knows he had no chance of killing this demon unless the demon come to Earth Prime.

Because when the Demon King enters Earth, he would be suppressed by the Will of the world.

Jean waited and his eyes glance toward Azief. Azief was glancing somewhere else. He was trying to sense Hikigaya but Hikigaya seems to have disappeared from his Divine Sense.

'He must have a plan' Azief thought to himself and then he closes his eyes and then he opens it right after, roaring out to the sky, his roar echoes throughout Heaven and earth

A silhouette of a bluish titanic silhouette flashed for a moment as the sea water below his floating figure spirals upwards, spiraling around his entire body.

One could see that the sea-level of the world is decreasing

The dark clouds opened up and a golden light that so blinding shines down upon him. His gaze shakes the firmament and part away the clouds

An isolated sky appears above him, suppressing everything including the powerful demonic creature.

Azief was smiling.

A divine power emanated out of him and spread outwards.

inside the space rip, all of the demon king head is already outside the portal and he is slowly crawling out from the portal.

His eyes widened when he felt that aura

'Impossible. How can....'he then grits his teeth and then increased his pressure and the constraints of time around his right hand slowly dissolving itself bit by bit.

With one push his entire body is now already out from the portal and now there is only his lower body that is still in the Seresian home world.

Azief did not yet wanted to summon his Omni Law Body.

He knew that the demon king would not be your ordinary Demon King but he still wanted to reserve his energy.

He had to think of many things and while Sangmin had manage to transport many people, he did not manage to transport Katarina and Sofia.

There is still of course Sasha, Sina, Wang Jian and Will on Earth. And there is also his other subordinates and people that trusted him

His people.

The people that believed in him and had supported him.

His heart is torn right now.

there is one part of his heart that wanted to give all for the people of the world because this is his fault.

And there is another part of his heart that told him to reserve his energy to save the people he loved if he could not defeat the demon king.

Then he closes his eyes.

He only closes it for a second and then he opens it back up and there is determination in his eyes now. He had squashed that thought of torn apart by the two choice

It will become a problem if I lose. Since that is so, then I just simply have to win!' that is the conclusion he arrived at.

The Azief before the Fall is a loser.

But the Azief after the Fall is a man that have won every challenge that was presented to him.

With each win, his destiny become stronger and stronger that it is very hard to break his destiny and good luck

'Merge!' He shouted in Ethernian, speaking the world that rule the Laws of the Omniverse.

Chapter 837: Three skies

Azief shout echoes all over the world and the sound seems to resonate with the Will of the World and the Laws that supports it.

His body then turns to motes of light.

Jean notices it that it is not a Law Avatar but before he could try to think of what is happening, suddenly the hold he has on the right hand of the demon suddenly escape him

Jean titanic law Avatar was thrown backward.

'What!' Jean almost in an instant uses the forces of time to rewind back the moment but before he could even try it, his Time Rewind was pierced by a slash of light that force Jean to take five step backward.

He steps backward, the wave around his feet turns turbulent creating large tsunamis from the movement his leg crashed onto the island. Another part of the Island of Peace was chipped off and slid down to the sea.

The floating island tilted and appeared like the entirety of it would fall down to the sea below

And then because Jean had release his hand, there is nothing to hold back the demon

the demonic head poke out from the space rip and this time finally everyone was able to see what was Raymond had been fighting inside the space rip.

It was a demon with eight horns. The demon then said

'The Wielder of The Ten Eternal Ring. Found you!' the moment he said that Azief had finished merging with the world as his body who had turned into motes of golden light reformed back

It only took him two second as now a titanic golden figures appears on the Island of Peace, like a golden Buddha

This time, this titanic figure of him is even bigger than before and when it appears the entire seven seas of the world trembles and all the space around him crack creating space scars.

Spiraling Voidless space is all around his body. It was like the existence of it is breaking the space around it just by existing.

'Stand down!'

The Demon shouted as he spread his hand and rips the entirety of the space rips like he is tearing apart a paper into two.

Gust of storms appeared among the crack of space that resulted from the tearing of the space rip.

A powerful shockwave exploded from that act of destroying the space rip

Azief did not need to sense that energy to know that the force of this shockwave would obliterate the entire Island of Peace.

No matter how powerful the fortifications or protection formation that the Island had, it has never has been tested against someone who reached a level that surpassed Divine Comprehension.

Azief might not care if Island of Peace was destroyed

But Sofia is still there.

The moment that demon broke the space rip, Azief look behind him and he gaze upon Sofia who was beside Raymond, protecting him from the shockwave of the battle

His gaze seems to bend the space around Sofia and those guards that were surrounding Raymond.

They disappear in an instant, teleported to the Antarctica. And then the shockwave shoot upon the island.

The force would have destroyed the island completely if it landed, there is no doubt about it

All the research and all kinds of technology that the Island had stored around the island would be destroyed.

Hirate was still inside the secret room. He had seen all of it. As such he knew that shockwave would destroy the island.

But Hirate has prepared for this day.

There was always a chance that by creating the World Gate, calamity like dimensional Breacher breaking out and attacking the Island of Peace

That possibility has always existed so how could Hirate not be prepared for such eventuality?

As such, he had always had an emergency plan. In his hand is a remote.

It looks like it is the remote of Device 78.

But the remote on his hand is not the remote for Device 78. It is the remote for Device 79.

League of Freedom and the World Government might not agree in many things and rivals in many things but there is certain thing about them that people just don't know

There is one project that they have not any other way than to cooperate with each other.

This is one of the secrets that the League of Freedom have always tried to hide from the world because if Death Monarch ever found out that League of Freedom is cozying up to World Government, then one could only imagine what Death Monarch would do to try to suppress League of Freedom.

League of Freedom was able to have a spot in the World Distribution Event simply because Death Monarch believes them to be hostile toward the World Government

And the elevation of their organization to one of the Great Power is simply Death Monarch chess move so that they would act as a deterrent against the World Government.

Becoming allies in technological research is not the thing that Death Monarch would like to see between these two organizations.

Hirate push the button and just like what happens before when Warp push the button on his remote device, a light shoots out from the dark side of the moon.

Instead of shooting toward a particular person, it falls into the Quorum Building.

The Quorum Building lit up and all kinds of patterns floated up into the air as these patterns enveloped the entire island

Sangmin and Warp who was seeing this was shocked. It turns out that Hirate still have one card under his sleeve that he had not brought out

Warp frowned and look at Sangmin and they both have the same thought even though they did not speak with each other.

They need to go farther away from this place.

Warp once again grab Sangmin shoulder and space once again crack around him like it popped out from its original position as Warp and Sangmin disappeared from the island before the effect of the phasing could reach them

They disappeared in a microsecond.

Hirate smiles inside the dark room underneath the island. He had long perfected his device but he had never share this knowledge with Narleod

But while he had perfected it, the effect would not be as powerful as what Sangmin did. Since their concept is very different from each other

Sangmin is able to teleport the entire world population inside a mirror dimension.

He on the other hand only could phase out the entire being of living or nonliving things on the Island of Peace, while at the same time maintaining their atomic composition so that they would not fall down into the sea when the island is phased out.

The moment Hirate did that, and the entire island become phased out and this created the opportunity for Island of Peace to escape

The shockwave passes through as the entire sea was split into two, and creating a road in the middle of the ocean, like Moses parting the red sea.

The water did not fall down as it created a dry trail, the sea parting showing the things underneath the ocean, sea creatures flapping their body on the dry area that appear out of nowhere

The moment the island become phased out Hirate activated shuttle mode and stealth mode. The entire island flies toward a different direction and then become invisible.

The space rip is no longer there and the Multiversal Convergence effect is slowly ending all over the world as Will and his teacher is closing many doors to other worlds in the Time and Space Tunnel

But while the world is freed from the yoke and attraction force of the Multiversal Convergence, there is now something else on Earth.

The Heavens seems to be spilt into three as there is three colors of the sky.

On one part of the sky, there is golden light spilling out from the clouds, appearing like some holy celestial abodes.

Underneath that sky, everything seems to be blessed by some kind of life force, feeling calm and peaceful

On other parts of the sky, there is green and purple aurora like colors flowing all over the sky, and below that sky, is the weird phenomenon of time accelerating, and decelerating, time moving in reverse and moving forward too fast

And on the other part of the sky, is dark red sky with anything under it seems to will and die. The golden sky hovers above the head of Azief Golden titanic form.

The green and purple aurora filled skies is above the head of Jean the Time Monarch

And the dark red skies with that destructive aura is the sky above the Demon King head

Their existence and their power separated the colors of the sky and the domains of power that the sky emanated.

A holy existence of life, rebirth, death, reincarnation flows under the skies of Death Monarch.

The aura of Time and Space flowed beneath the sky on top of Time Monarch head and the powerful demonic aura that corrupts life and bring about madness and destruction flow below the sky of the demon king

Now around the area that used to be the area of the Island of Peace, there is three titanic figure staring at each other.

The Demon King horns slowly come down and then merge into one, emanating deadly demonic aura with a smirk on his face

Chapter 838: The wheel

The Demon King look particularly interested with Azief. Balfor search his memories and then he remembers something and his expression turns a bit odd.

Then he said

‘You...were a slave once’ Azief smiles and he did not deny it. He was once a slave in the Seresian world.

Thankfully his servitude was not long and he got a good haul out of it which is the Ten Eternal Ring

‘Balfor Q’un’ Azief said the demon name

‘You know me?’ Azief snickered. He once saw this demon before when he was a slave in the Seresian world

‘A mere simple Demon Prince. I guess with the Demon Kings all dead in that war, you have risen in status. But looking at this pathetic attempt of invasion, I believe that the Seresian world is at its last leg. Clones and half-baked demons’

The Demon King laughed. But one could see there is a trace of anger in his eyes that he could not hide completely.

They all did not attack immediately.

Each one of them is gathering momentum. Even right now as the Wheel is about to come down, Azief is still able to leisurely talk with the Demon King

'You were the mortal slave that follow that demonic count or was it a demonic knight?' he shakes his head

Balfor Q'un did not thought that the wielder of the Ten Eternal Ring was that mortal slave that was forced to go to the Imperial Palace

And that slave is now even around his level.

With the emanation of power that is swirling around Azief he is clear that while there is a slight different of force between them, this mortal is just a bit weaker than him.

Considering the time since then, this rate of improvement is very fast

'I thought you were one of the mortal slaves from the Three Thousand Worlds. It seems I was mistaken. You are the inhabitants of this Earth'

The three skies above each of this titanic beings are splitting the world into three.

Those people in the ground could only look up, unable to do anything when confronted with this force. Right now, they did not even have the qualification to meddle in the matter between these three beings

At the same time, that snowflakes that have been flying through the sky stops.

Around the golden sky, there is one patch of clouds that is as white as snow. It is very small and this patch look like a speck of imperfection among the golden clouds.

No one would have noticed it if not for the fact that from this one small patch of white clouds among golden clouds, snows falls down from it.

Azief notices it but he ignores it as the Demon King said to him

'My people have been searching for that ring since the death of the Demon Emperor. Give it back'

Smiling Azief simply said

'Make me'

The moment he said that the sky above his head expanded, the golden light spilling over, contending with the dark red sky

At the same time that white clouds that is about to materialize was pushed away by the clouds, travelling ten million miles away with one gust of wind.

Azief knew from the moment that the white clouds wanted to materialize, Katarina wanted to help him. But in this battle, she could not help.

Instead she would only have endangered herself.

Before, she had been in hiding, and hard for him to detect. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

But the moment she arrives at the Island of Peace and settled under his golden sky, he immediately knows where she is and as such he quickly turns her away as far as possible from him.

Azief felt bad for her but he didn't want her to get hurt.

The space around him was pressured by the force bursting out of him that it immediately cracks before exploding into a burst of intermittent shockwaves that cut the ocean floor and created a deep trench on either side of Azief feet.

The power of the Demonic Heaven that was formed by the Demon King seems to be suppressed.

All kinds of Laws swirls around his entire golden body, filling him with energy

Balfor frowned as he felt his heart being stirred.

He could feel that the pressure is affecting him a bit.

And he also felt that the powerful pressure of the All Source, coming down on waves around him, slowly chipping away his ability, suppressing him.

Azief also notice that the power of the All Source is trying to suppress Balfor. There is nothing better than this

Azief took a step and the pressure that is around him multiplied

BOOM!

A sound of explosion shakes the sky as the golden sky expanded even more, a pressure that originated from the Heaven above and the world below all concentrated toward the Demon King

But nonetheless, the Demon King is still one realm above Azief.

He only smiles.

But his feet, that is deep into the tall oceans is trembling as he uses his power to suppress that powerful energy that is tying to pressure him down.

But this pressure is not what made him wary.

Before he come out from the space rip, he notices another powerful pressure.

He is actually wary of this pressure because he could feel like it has certain connection with the Seresian race.

Just as he was thinking about this, suddenly a droning sound echoes and reverberates all over the world.

For the first time since the Demon King comes out from the space rip, he truly felt discomfort like someone is playing a bad tune to his ears

And not only that.

He felt pain in his ears and his Killing Heart is in chaos. Fear, uncertainty creeps into his heart.

This is in itself made him a bit fearful.

For such a demon that have reached his level, this kind of feeling could be squashed as easily as when they thought of it.

But this time, when Balfor tries to squash this feeling of fear and uncertainty, nothing happens.

It only grew, festering like some kind of wound that would never go away.

'What is this sorcery!' he said as he looks upward and then his eyes widened. He could see a titanic wheel coming down to Earth.

Azief only smiles as he looks at the reaction of the Demon King.

In the past the Wheel was even bigger than Earth

Now Earth had expanded a million fold but the Wheel is still bigger than the Earth

One could only imagine the scale of such titanic object coming down would do to one own heart.

The Demon King is not the only one that witnessed this sight. Those that still remains in the world and even those in the Mirror Dimension could see what is happening

It is quite hard to miss looking at such a titanic thing coming down to earth like it is going to smash it.

Azief pointed his index finger to the sky and that Wheel stopped falling down, suspended over the edges of the Earth atmosphere, emitting powerful energy that surpass all creations.

The moment he did that the pressure of the Wheel bears downs on him like a hammer smashing from the top of his head.

The Golden Heaven that he had created from the power of the world nearly broke part as the entire seabed of where he was standing become depressed by ten thousand feet, creating all kinds of trenches, abyss in the deep dark sea below.

Plate tectonic below the surface of the sea was forced out, creating a mountain that appears out of nowhere in the middle of the oceans, underwater volcano spews its flame like some power forcing it out, creating all kinds of island all over the new oceans.

The entire sea was boiling because of the volcanic activity in the seabed.

And then Azief opens his palm and that Wheel come down again, this time its shrink into a smaller form but still gigantic as it appears floating above Azief head.

The entire world seems to shake and the golden light spills out everywhere that the demonic heaven was almost erased completely.

The Demon King before he could even make a move was forced ten feet backwards and even Jean who was close to Death Monarch was forced a few feet backward.

The force of that Wheel even disturbed the Time and Space Heaven that Jean had created.

‘Balfor, if you can’t even withstand this, you would truly disappoint me. I don’t think that your pride will allow it. I used to be a slave in your world. But now, you had to treat me as a danger’ Azief said boldly as above his head is not only a golden sky but also a gigantic wheel.

It emits the power of life and death, of creation and destruction, of Time and Karma, of reality and unreal, of false and truth.

Azief was quite good in hiding the fact that the moment the Wheel arrive over his head it felt like a planet was put down on top of his head, pressing him down.

His entire body is actually shaking but he managed to hide it

Chapter 839: Six path of reincarnation spell

Balfor was astonished when he saw the Wheel.

He was angry at the words of that slave. But he was also being too shocked by that appearance of the wheel that he didn’t have anything to say back.

When he looks around that wheel, it fills him with dread. There is million or maybe trillions of souls seen circling the wheel.

All of them seems to possess all kinds of form, and changes into many form intermittently like there is some kind of transformation and changes that is happening to the soul each time it circles the Wheel.

It is mystical and powerful all at the same time.

This is something beyond him as even he could not see through this Wheel true origin.

And there is a Law that is around that Wheel that supersedes the Laws that is in this Universe.

The entire skies of the world in that brief moment were covered with the all-encompassing nature of a golden light but the Demon King did not come here expecting to get the Eternal ring without a fight.

He raises his energy and the Demonic Heavens appears again, contending with the golden Heaven and once again separated the skies of the world into three.

All of this takes time to describe but it all happens in the spans of two seconds

But no matter how the Demon is trying to force and suppress that golden sky, that unmoving wheel seems to aid the force of the golden sky. Azief smiles

‘I want to see if you can withstand even one blow from me’

The power of suppression of the world is multiplying over the Demon King.

It is said in martial arts that the battle between master is very short. That is because even before they take their weapons out, in their minds, there is already a surefire way to win.

As such, the battle between masters is always swift. And that is also the truth when it is about the kind of battles of such powerful being is engaged in

The Demon King frowned as he looks intently at that gigantic wheel.

On the hub of the wheel is a Red Pig, a Rainbow Rooster and a Grey gigantic snake that seems to be chasing each other

And then the Demon King frowns turns even deeper as he could see those thing started moving.

'This is...what is this?' this kind of question fills his mind. He did not feel it before but now as the Wheel had arrived on Earth he had feel it.

There is a trace of ancientness over this wheel.

On the second layer of the wheel the demon king sees to see a wheel that depicts lives of countless of beings, multitudes of aliens races, some of them which he recognizes, some he did not

It is a scene of people forming Karma, sowing it and reaping it. And the second layer emanated Laws of Life and Death, Karma and Time and reality.

And the Demon King instantly understood.

This kind of artifact is controlling Karma. He saw threads coming out from that wheel, moving towards him. He takes another few step backward, creating more deep foots print on the dep trench of the sea bed

If anyone is touched by the aura coming out from that second wheel, they would form Karma with it.

And the moment he formed karma with it, he might be trapped in that. Azief move one step forward and the Demon King took five step backward.

The Demon King even when he is stepping backward di not avert his gaze from the Wheel.

He wanted to understand it so he could counter it. He could not always just take a step backward for each step forward that the slave take

He looks at the second layer of the wheel

The second layer of the wheel have two half circles.

One half of the circle is bright as the sun and shows myriads of beings, races of aliens with content face.

This half circle seems to emanated holy and divine energy. The other half seems to be dark with no suns showing myriads of being in a miserable state being led downwards to down the Wheel

This other half emanated an aura of darkness and demonic.

Azief took a few another step forward and the Demon took a few step backward. The world trembles as these two titanic being is moving

Half of the Demonic Heaven was infiltrated by the golden sky that its almost appears like there is only two skies right now.

The golden sky and the aurora like sky is the only two skies that is above.

The Demon King's Heaven sky seem so be suppressed completely by the golden sky but the Demon King is not panicked. It is far from him to be entirely worried right now.

After all, he could be considered just below a Supreme Being.

If not for the suppression effect of this world affecting him very severely, even though Azief had summoned the Wheel, the Demon King could cut the connection through.

Right now that is what he is trying to do. He is trying to cut the connection between Azief and that Wheel.

But to cut through it, the demon king must first understand what the Wheel is all about. He then said

'Karma' the Demon King eyes shines.

He could see the Karma lines.

But there is much he did not yet understand. So as Azief take a step forward and he takes a step backward, he is trying to decode the origins and the source of the power of this Wheel. Azief also notices this attempt by the Demon King so he no longer just takes a step forward. Instead he charges toward the Demon King

'Jean! Slow him down!' Azief shouted.

Jean from the begging was very alert. The moment Azief said those order, put his palm together as the Time and Space were contain within his palm

'Time Stop!' he shouted in an ancient language just like Azief shouted when he merges with the world

The Demon King saw tentacle like energy emerge out from Jean body, charging toward him. These tentacles could only be seen by people of their levels.

To those who witness this, they could only see space distortion and the area around the one thousand kilometers radius around the three beings blurry.

Then Azief and the Demon King began turning into a light form.

Azief turns into a holy golden light and the demon turns into a dark red golden light as they run around the world, the Wheel slowly spins over the Heavens above Earth

Azief is trying to increase the pressure over the Demon king before attacking him and the Demon King is trying to see the profundities of the Wheel and cut Azief connection with it

Wherever they went, a large explosion that is akin of one hundred atomic bomb being unleashed flatten the area and turns mountain and island into ashes and dust.

If this was before Earth got expanded, the entire Earth might have collapsed already. Around this two light, there is also a purple greenish light that follows them

The Demon King truly deserve his reputation as a Demon King

Even though his body is being pressured by the All source pressure, and is constantly breaking the thread of time that is trying to bind him from Jean the Time Monarch, he still could move easily moving away five step ahead of Azief.

The Demon look at the third layer of Wheel and his eye shines with more understanding.

The third layer of the wheel is divided into six sections that represent the six realms of cyclic existence, the process of cycling through one rebirth after another.

It is the Six Realms of Reincarnation! He thought to himself.

He could see that around the third realms there is all kinds of realms that seems toe embodied all kinds of tribulations and trials one must experience so that one could attain enlightenment

Each of these trials must be something very hard to pass

And it is almost impossible to pass it without some guidance. It is during that time the Demon King spotted a figure in each of the realm depicted on the wheel.

There is a figure that made him shook. He had seen that kind of figure before in the Ancient Altar of the Predecessor.

To Azief, he knows that the figure in each realm depicted in the wheel is the figure of Azul. But the Demon King did not know who Azul was.

Even Azul existence is thought to be a myth by some new civilizations. Those who knows him either were so ancient like the Orvanians or those who have known many of the secrets of the Omniverse like the rulers of the seven Intergalactic Powers.

But while the Demon King did not know Azul name, he knows that the figure on the wheel is none other than one of the ancient Asura. Ancient Asura is the race which from them originate the race of Asura and as the Seresian race is an offshoot of Asura, he too acknowledges the lineage of the ancient Asura.

Seeing that figure he instantly understood why he felt the trace of Ancient Asura when the Wheel come down into the Earth

It turns out that this Wheel had something to do with his ancestors.

And so, he was reminded of the old stories he once heard when he was young. There was a myth among the Asuras that there is a few Ancient Asura that still roams the stars.

This is considered a myth simply because no Asura had even met the Ancient Asuras.

The Demon King is thinking a lot of things while chasing Azief all over the world. If not for Lee Sangmin using that formation, there is probably a lot of people that would suffer because of the chase between Azief and the Demon King

Azief once again is using that spell

The Six Path of Reincarnation Spell. Azief is gathering momentum to use it again the Demon King. The battle between them could not be compared to normal fight as they are fighting using the Laws of the world.

Even though they appear to be chasing each other, both of them are using the Laws of the world to impede each other progress. The elements, the force of the concepts, Laws that governs the world, all were used in their chase.

Hence it is not surprising that the damage that both of these being inflicted upon the world is catastrophic.

The Wheel is about to move. Azief thought to himself

Unlike before, his gigantic golden figure did not crack. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

He once surmised that when he reached Divine Comprehension level, using the Six Reincarnation Spell would not be as taxing as before

He is not thinking of sealing the Demon King inside the Wheel. He is thinking of killing the Demon King

From the very beginning, he wanted to kill the Demon King to fills the world with energy

Unlike before, all of his Disk turns into Law.

As such, the properties of the power of the Wheel had also changed. Now, it is not supplied with energy of his body but is supplied with Laws of the world

The Thirteen Laws that is cultivated by Azief is channel into the Wheel.

MOVE! Azief thought and then the whole world could hear a creaking sound. Azief smiles widely and the Demon King frowned deeply

A powerful force burst out form the wheels as the three heavens were suppressed by that powerful force.

This time, a phenomenon unlike the last time appears above the sky.

The sky become like a canvas and from the wheel, the energy of the Wheel painted the sky with six lives and six reincarnations from the lower realm to high realm of reincarnations and all kinds of lives were depicted over the skies.

The Six Reincarnation Spell shows its might!

Chapter 840: The moving wheel \(1\)

BOOM!

A powerful shockwave blasted the air in the skies creating whirlpools of swirling wind and cirrostratus clouds were formed suddenly as white clouds cover the whole sky like a veil around the Wheel

Haloes appear around the sun and moon.

Azief orders had causes the Wheel to move. The Wheel moves and the sound of its creaking crack the sky and oppressed all!

That is the might of this spell.

Azief with his black robe and his cold eyes looking at the Demon King who had distanced himself from him smiles with confidence.

'Heh' he said with a smirk.

His entire body seems to be swirling with the energy that the Wheel is emanating

Powerful fluctuation of energy surges out from each movement of the Wheel, affecting the world energy, absorbing the worldly energy and the Universal energy above the Heavens of Earth

The stars above the skies of Earth dimmed and all kinds of matters of the Universe that possess energy was absorbed by the Wheel.

These energies presented itself upon the world in a colorful like aura, like a Milky Way galaxy trailing above the skies of Earth

One could see aurora like mist and blinking stars above the Wheel, as the blanket of the Earth was uncovered, showing the whole world a sky without any concealment.

Such phenomenon would spell disaster but because of the Wheel, there is no radiation falling towards Earth.

It is like the Wheel simply made the atmosphere, which is the blanket of the Earth invisible to the naked eyes

But no one could appreciate the beauty of space because of the pressure of power that threatened to destroy everything in the world

And there are three separate skies that was not affected by the Wheel uncovering of the skies.

This kind of scene is hard to forget

KREEK

The resounding sound of that Wheel moving circles the world so that everyone could hears it creaking sound.

It is like an ancient Wheel slowly moving after eons. Aurora like aura, swirling around the Wheel

The sound itself have certain powers that is hard to explain and fathom.

The Demon King frowned because he saw the figure of Azul in each of the murals of the Wheel and he recognize it.

From then on, he felt a terrible feeling in his heart.

'This kind of power.....this might take more effort' he said it like it was easy but only he knows that it would not be that easy for him to kill this human.

It appears that this slave is not someone he could underestimate. His heart is screaming danger and his intuition told him that this human would prove to be an obstruction

He thought that the human would use the ten Eternal Ring but it doesn't seem so. Azief actually did not think of using the Ten Eternal ring at all

It is not because that he did not trust the power of the Eternal Ring. Instead he knew that there is a qualitative change in the ring when he reached Divine Comprehension realm

But he did not use it because the Demon King is someone that wanted to snatch the rings from him.

And that causes him to be even more cautious. Because the Demon King might possess some secrets of the Demon Emperor that would enable him to snatch the Rings from him.

Azief had long recognize one simple fact. And that is, those old and powerful being in the starry sky, all of them are very cunning.

Who is to say that the Demon King did not possess some methods to restrain the ring the moment he uses it?

If the Demon King truly possess such methods, wouldn't it back fire on him if he uses it. In all probability, the Demon King probably did not have such technique or methods to do such a thing or he might had done it the moment the Demon King met with Azief.

But there is never harm in being cautious.

The Azief of today is not like in the past.

He had experienced many schemes and plots. And while most of them would be easily resolved in Earth because of his prowess, reputation and the influence he commanded, it did not mean that he himself forgot how it is like being schemed upon and feeling helpless

That is the reason why he did not use the Rings.

And he is confident with the Six Reincarnation Spell. Even though it did not yet reach Azul level, it is enough to deal with the Demon King

Azief also recognize that the All Source, is oppressing the Demon King even more. If not for the oppression of the Will of the World, how could Azief felt confident fighting someone who is on a higher level than him?

The difference between other level is not that different. But once a person stepped into Divine Comprehension, that person is a true bonafide powerful being even in the Universe.

The difference between Divine Comprehension leveler and Disk Formation leveler could also be described as higher than before.

As such, there is also a higher difference of power and abilities between Divine Comprehension leveler and a creature or powerful beings that in the level of Essence Creation level.

But Azief did not become a simple Divine Comprehension leveler instead he had shoot up to right at the edge of the next realm of advancement and possessing a Perfect foundation of Divine Comprehension leveler.

As most perfection, it defies normal logic. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

It is for this reason that he alone, out of the three Divine Comprehension leveler could trade blows with the Demon King without being pressured and affected by the bloodlust aura of the Demon King.

It is a qualitative change that separates them from other level before it. It is actually very hard for such expert to appear even in one planet.

Because the existence and birth of a Divine Comprehension being usually would take up a lot of energy of the world

As such, after the birth of such being, the world would experience a momentary period of decline where everybody would find it hard to ascend to the next realm.

This is the case even in the Three Thousand Worlds with its Three Realms.

It is the same for Asgardians and Olympias and many other powerful civilizations out there in the Omniverse.

The reason why there are so may powerful beings in those civilization is actually the accumulation of time.

None of the civilization out there in the starry skies had ever experienced such rapid advancement in life form ascending other than Earth

It took Earth around eight years to produce three Divine Comprehension leveler.

This kind of advancement would make all kinds of civilization out there in the stars paying great attention to Earth Prime

But Earth was primed for this qualitative leap because of the All Source.

Today, there is even two more Divine Comprehension leveler that has been born.

Thankfully, that even though the Demon King possess Essence Creation prowess, he did not have the ability of some other Essence Creation leveler in the Universe.

This is because the Seresian demon method of cultivating energy is very crude and this is understandable considering that they are cut off from the main dimension of the Omniverse

Azief smirks and the Demon King frowned as the aura that is coming out from both of them clashed with each other

BOOM!

A shockwave erupted in the middle area of the clash, disintegrating water into atom particles and cut open the sky above.

This is not even a direct attack but only the clashing of aura but it already induces such powerful effect that the entire seabed of the seven seas across the world seems to be experiencing tremors.

The middle distance between the two of them experience Space Destruction, causing the space around that center point of the clash to disintegrated itself and become unstable.

They both stopped and no longer chasing each other like before.

'heh' Azief snorted and the Demon King also snorted, appearing calm. Behind them is the scene of a great destruction.

Wherever they passed before, leaves a space tear and all kinds of natural calamity that had happened because of them chasing each other.

But now, they no longer chase each other.

Because Azief had managed to summon the Wheel.

Now, the Demon King is looking at the Wheel and wonder to himself whether he could withstand the pressure of this Wheel while fighting with these two Divine Comprehension leveler
