

Shadow 841

Chapter 841: The moving wheel \(2\)

On one side of the globe an army of spiraling tornadoes is merging with each other and began making its way all over the world

One could only imagine what kind of damages that a super tornado would inflict to the places it passes.

These tornados were formed because of the speed of Azief and the Demon King was travelling, and the residual speed of these two being had created such a calamity

On another side of the globe, the space tear created a powerful pulling pressure, sucking unlucky people inside that tear.

On other side, there is the remnants of their chase in the forms of flattened mountains and large abyss opened up creating a deep depression of the ground in some regions.

Some place was empty without people which is lucky. Others places are around a settlements and that is unlucky.

Fortunately, most weak people had been transported into the Mirror Dimension by Lee Sangmin and as such those who were left behind, could at least survive the calamity with their cultivation level.

But while Disk Formation leveler could easily rescue themselves from such calamity, the same could not be said for the low realm Seed Forming leveler.

Azief had tried to avoid place with people.

But that is hard to do since not everything could go according to his plans.

Thankfully, Jean was behind them and manage to save many people using his Time abilities and his Divine Comprehension leveler.

Jean is on the other left side of the Demon King direction and Azief is on his right side.

The three of them form a triangle and the middle of that triangle is where the force of the aura of these three beings clashed with each other, each one showing its might.

The Demon king however did not register Jean as a threat.

Even though Jean ability is quite damning, it is still something that the Demon King could destroy by using brute force.

After all, his punch and kick, are all embedded with powerful destruction ability that could even distorts Laws and essence of the world.

It is Azief and that Wheel that made him wary. He is very wary because he could feel the ancient power of that Wheel affecting him.

Azief look at Jean and he send him a message

'Where is Hikigaya?' Jean replied

'I couldn't sense him'

Azief mind is now trying to calculate all the possibility that could happen in this battle. And he wanted to increase the probability of him winning. This is a battle he could not lose.

And Hikigaya is one other combatant that could tilt the battle to his favor. Hikigaya would not just sit still.

But even till now, Hikigaya still has not shown himself.

It is like he is waiting for something. Azief knows that Hikigaya is a cunning one.

And that might not be a bad thing right now.

Azief cut the Divine Sense communication as Jean focused on other things while at the same time ready for any moves that the Demon King would do

Jean is closing his eyes, as his Time Avatar is all over the disaster site saving a lot of people. Jean had left a trace of his Time power all over the trails where Azief and the Demon King was fighting

His Time Avatar was created from the selection of Time Frame where he was there.

And this Time Avatar is helping and minimizing the effect of the disaster that resulted from the Demon King and Azief battle.

On the other hand, Azief and the Demon King look at each other and they are both ready to fight each other

That clashing of aura is just them testing each other out. Azief aura had strengthened itself because of the flows of energy of the Wheel that swirls around his body

The Demon King stands on the other side and Azief stands on the other, separating the two skies above their heads

Not far away from them is Jean with his own skies and domain of time and space around him.

This scene of three skies and open star scape above the ground, created a mystical scene. It also created multiple weird phenomenon on the space that is around them

Some of the Otherworlds people that was stuck in Earth Prime or choose not to return when Azief close the portal, look at this scene from afar and thought to themselves, that the people, of this world is not humans...but gods, like those in their myths.

CREA...K

The sound of the Wheel is once again echoing all over the world, and it muted all other sounds that everyone could hear it very clearly.

In what used to be India, there is a temple which suddenly break out in melody.

It is a Temple where Loki had gone once before to seek for something he wished dearly to be in his possessing and even attracted the attention of Yewa Hafar.

The Wheel moves slowly but even then the power that it is emanating make people pray that it moves even more slowly the three heavens were suppressed by that powerful force of the Wheel and that forces the Demon King to stop trying to duke his aura against Azief and Jean thinking of what to do now as he is slowly also being pressured by that force.

Azief just shows an apologetic expression toward Jean. And then the sky changes as a scenery of all kinds of images exploded out from the Wheel and fill the sky

Right now, the three heavens are being suppressed by that Wheel, and the sky had changed.

The energy of the Wheel painted the sky with six lives and six reincarnations from the lower realm to high realm of reincarnations and all kinds of lives were depicted over the skies.

These scenes have some kind of attraction power to it that it makes people wanted to see it. The painting even though it is high up in the sky, when one looks up, it was like the painting was zoomed in and their eyes could see each and every details of the painting

And when one looks at it, one would discover that the painting has no flaws. Then the Wheel moves again and it produces a different kind of sound than creaking

A droning sound comes out from the Wheel.

A droning sound fills the entire world, and this sound will sound different for different people, some of these sound would preach about some truth of the Omniverse, or just a normal droning sound.

Some only hear droning sound, some could hear holy enlightenment pertaining to the truth of the Universe, showing them the trail to their Grand Path and some were trapped by it

The Demon King was also affected a bit and it took all of his Willpower not to succumb to the sound that comes from the creaking of the Wheel.

His forehead veins are tensed and his entire body wanted to reject that sound and he wanted to close his eyes from looking at that painting

‘What the hell is this sorcery?’ he could not help but think of such thing again. He had never bene spooked as much as he is spooked right now

He closes his eyes but the images of that painting is reflected in his mind.

It shows the endless cycle of existence and endless rebirth.

And in his mind, he was affected as he felt his Killing heart was affected.

His Killing Heart wavers and his mind seems to remembers memories of the happening of hundreds of years ago and all the things that have not managed to affect him before, is now affecting him

This is a simple brief moment. In that brief moment the Demon King closes his eyes, Azief frowned a bit as he now felt the burden of the Wheel.

The Demon King and him did not move.

Azief knows that the Demon King has been affected by the Wheel. Azief plan is to weaken him gradually and delayed time so that he could build momentum for himself.

He knows his power is not enough yet to truly contend with the Demon King. The Wheel is moving but for Azief it is moving to slow.

He needs time.

'Now is my opportunity' he thought to himself. Azief send another message to Jean who was waiting on the side

'Save as many as you can. I would try to deal the Demon King' That is the message he had sent toward Jean with a single glance.

Jean receive the message and then he hesitated. If he focuses at other things and the Demon King attack Azief, he might not be able to restrain the Demon King fast enough.

But then he sighed inwardly before deciding to trust Azief.

Jean closes his eyes and his energy spreads out from him strengthening his Time Avatar and spawning more of it to save more people and limits the damage all over the world

Azief also close his eyes and his consciousness enters the Wheel.

He would try to see and influence the glimpse of the illusion that the Wheel would present against the Demon king

The Demon King right now is in an uneasy situation as he closes his eyes and bombarded with memories of the past that he had forgotten before.

But those memories had made a mark in his heart and now it is being brought out from the recesses of his mind.

In the Three Thousand Worlds, this kind of phenomenon that is plaguing the Demon King is called the Heart Demon.

In some others civilization, it is called different thing. Some called it the Mental Burden, some called it Obsessions Interference and many other terms for it

All kinds of memories were revealed and images of lives flashes by. And then a scene played itself out and the Demon King was absorbed into this scene

And Azief was there, looking at it, appearing like a specter of black mass of clouds

Chapter 842: Trapped in the cycle \(1\)

The Demon king suddenly found himself becoming a stone. But he saw himself in a third person perspective.

The sound of the droning still echoes in this space

He saw himself being a stone that is watered down by rainwater for tens of thousands of years before turning into dust.

The rain falls endlessly from the sky. Balfor feel the water falling onto the stone and somehow with each falling raindrops, he become more and more calm, feeling like he was a stone.

The rain falls even more and Balfor didn't know who long the rain had fallen and how long had he existed.

The desert where he is situated at now turned into a lake, the water flowing endlessly filling what used to be a dry land into a fertile land where the grass begins to grows and life blooms.

He is now a stone in a dessert that turned into a lake. But the stone is not as big as it was in the beginning. The stone then breaks and then it turned into dust

And so ended Balfor life as a stone and then like he is being sucked into something Balfor felt his composition changes again and now he become something else.

He then saw himself as raindrops, the same raindrops that crushed that stone into dust. This time, he felt what it was like to become that water.

He falls down and keep falling down, raining down upon a sandy dessert until it turns into a lush land full of green and the area where he rained upon, become a lake that become the source of life for animals and plants

For a moment Balfor even forget that he was a Demon and thought nothing. There were a few times that in his mind, that he thinks of nothing.

The rain stopped and then another scene appeared and he was once again absorbed into the scene

This time he is becoming an animal. He follows the law of the wild, living mindlessly until he was hunted by some hunter and become the food of some human-like creatures.

Then he became a human. He saw himself hunting an animal and eating it, becoming full after a few weeks of being starved.

And then realization dawned on him. He was the stone and he was the raindrop. He was the animal and he was the human.

Which one is the beginning of the Karma? Which one comes first? Is the scene reversed, he thought for a moment? He had no physical form in this world.

But he knew he is able to think.

Was he in the beginning the water and then he crushes that stone and so in another cycle of existence, he was the stone to feel what it was like being crushed?

But stone and water had no feelings and such it follows the laws of nature.

Then what about the human and the animal?

Was he at first the hunter?

He eats the meat of that animal and so in another cycle of existence, he became the animal, and become hunted and eaten? But how could that be Karma?

The human is starving so he eats. That is following his nature. As for the animal, what Karma had he incurred? The more he thinks about this the more he become confused and it is slowly filling his mind this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

In this midst of confusion suddenly, the scene once again changes. He then saw himself as a demon.

It is a form he is most familiar with. He was torturing some alien creature that he had caught.

He boiled that alien alive in a metal cauldron as he laughed at that alien cried for help.

Then the scene changes and he is now an alien creature that was captured by a demonic soldier as he was trying to save his family.

He was then brought to some demon and was tortured before he was boiled alive and cursing that demon to also felt the pain that he had felt

He could feel his skin melted off from his bones and he screams in such a terrifying screams that it didn't even sound like a sound anymore.

He could feel his own brain is being boiled and the pain is unimaginable.

And then the scene changes again

Round and round it goes and he saw all kinds of lives, experiencing it and six lives and six reincarnations passes by in the span of a time of a water falling down from the tip of a leaf to the ground.

The scene then flashed by him extremely fast, like everything was fast forwarded.

Decades passed by in a second and then millennium and eons passes by, epoch after epochs passes him by in just a matter of few second and all kinds of images flooded his mind, that he had a hard time of keeping up with all of it.

Yet, he knows he had experienced all of it, the emotions that he had accumulated in each lives stay with him, marking him and pushing him deeper into the world where there is no escape from the cycle of existence.

He saw mountain and he saw rivers.

What he saw are mountains and what he saw is rivers. That is the truth he had gleaned and he believes that this was the ultimate truth

He saw the forest on the mountain and he saw the water with the water flowing and then somehow, he realized that the mountain were not mountains after all, and the rivers were not rivers after all.

And then after a few thousand more cycles of existences, finally, he saw mountain again as mountains and rivers again as rivers

That is his experience seeing all of these kinds of lives and experiencing these feeling of being washed by the traces of time and reincarnation and rebirths.

His Killing Heart is being dulled by these scenes of reincarnation and rebirths

All of the lives and memories he sees was too vivid that he questioned himself.

Was he really a Demon? Or was he actually the stone that been rained down for tens of thousands of years?

Or was he actually the droplet of water from the skies that shower the land and turns a desert into a lake?

Or was he the animals that was running in the forest and got hunted by a human?

Or was he the human eating that animal? Was he the demon that tortured that alien or was he the alien that was being tortured?

Or was all of that was him?

Chapter 843: Trapped in the cycle \(2\)

He sows karma and reap them, trapped forever in the cycle of rebirth and reincarnation, as he could not help himself from being free from karma?

The Seresian Demon like Asura race has a Killing heart. This enables them to remain firm in their desires and their will.

But the sound of that droning, the sound of that Wheel is now challenging his Killing Heart so much so that he felt like he is trapped in some kind of circle that he could not get out of.

When he did get out and thought he had found the exit, he was actually in another circle. Then he tried to breakout once again, and yet when he thought he had truly breakout this time, he realized he is in another circle.

He had never gotten out. He was only under the illusion that he had gotten out

For beings of his level, this kind of attack that targeted his soul is more deadly and more dangerous

It is not as flashy as fighting hand to hand and showing powerful fluctuations of energy. But it is more dangerous.

Because beings like him, and powerful creature like Azief, Jean and Hikigaya at their current level would not be easily destroyed.

Each one of them have their own ways of surviving when they reach this kind of level

As such when external attack used to be effective, when they reach this level, internal attack that attack the psyche and the souls is more effective on them

And round and round he goes about in the circle in his mind.

'What is this this? Who am I?' he thought to himself. The Demon King is frowning and he is actually feeling a little afraid now.

Was the memory that he saw was his reincarnation of the past or was it only a dream?

Like a man dreaming of being a butterfly only to think maybe he is the butterfly dreaming of being a human?

This kind of thoughts and memories and dreams enter the Demon King minds and he nearly got trapped by it

He knows he is on the verge of true and utter confusion.

He tries to remember what was he doing before he is the stone and the water, before he is the animal and human, before he is the demon and the alien.

He is trying to remember and then there is a vague image of a ring materializing in his mind and then his eyes shines with red light and there is a smile on his face as memories flooded in.

The ring was his anchor. And the anchor for demons is obsession

The Ten Eternal Rings of the Demon Emperor was always his obsession and the reason why he enters through that portal and suffer the suppression of the Will of the World and still stubbornly hold his ground

He came because of that Ring

'heh, it worked' Balfor thought to himself.

He had sealed that obsession deep in his heart the moment he felt like he was being sucked into that attraction power of the painting in the sky.

He didn't know at that time what kind of things he would experience when the painting ensnares his thoughts but he knew he had to set up some countermeasures

At the moment he remembers the ring, his eyes shines as he remembers who he was and what he was doing before he enters this cycle of existence. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

At that time, a specter like figure could be seen in each of his countless cycle of existence. Balfor notices that the specter watches over him in each cycle of existence

It was then that the specter comes out from each of the cycle of existence and release a sigh

His sigh echoes in this now Voidless space and a universe suddenly explode into existence. The sigh echoes without stopping and Balfor recognize that the sound of the sigh seems to harmonize with the sound of droning.

Before he couldn't hear the droning sound but now that he is awake, he could hear the droning sound clearly

Balfor then recover back his solid form as he floats among the stars. The droning sound come from space itself and the stars.

But the space and the stars and the planets around him, all of them is not real. At least not real in the sense of it is not the true realm of existence.

Balfor narrowed his eyes and this time Balfor could see it. He smiles when he saw that specter finally revealed itself.

It was Azief.

He looks at Balfor and sighed.

'I guess I still underestimated this Demon King' Azief thought to himself

This is the battlefield he had created specifically for the Demon King. This is why he was confident in letting Jean go and minimize the damage on Earth while he tries to weaken the Demon King.

He even nearly sends the Demon King into an utter confusion but the Demon King still manage to break out from the confusion.

He was guiding the cycle of existence and rebirth of the Demon King. He had hoped that the Demon King would be affected deeply and could not extricate himself from the illusion.

Though, it is quiet wrong to call the images and scenes that the Demon King had saw an illusion.

Illusion is an underestimation of what this actually is.

the Wheel of Reincarnation and Rebirth could do many thing and one of them it is that it could show someone path to the Grand Path

But it also could trap someone in an artificial six path of reincarnations.

Azief sighed because he did not think that the Demon King was careful enough that he had managed to anchor himself onto an obsession before he enters into the six path of reincarnation dream

If not for that, Azief was seventy percent confident that he could defeat the Demon King in this world and weaken him later in the real world.

When Balfor eyes shines and saw Azief true form, he smiles.

'I saw you' he said. Azief frowned listening to the Balfor words

Because it meant that the Demon King has now gained his mind back.

All the cycle of existence that he had been through turns into motes of light and floats among the stars and space dust.

Each of the motes of light if one could observe it in near proximity, one could see the lives and experiences that the Demon King had endure

Each motes of light contained the lives of Balfor in the cycle of existence that is created by Azief.

Chapter 844: Trapped in the cycle \(3\)

And the motes of light in the Universe is so numerous that one could only see it filled up from one horizon to another.

That is the amount of lives that Balfor had experienced

And even after all that, he could still maintain his mind. If not for the fact that the Demon King is Azief enemies, he might even admire him

Azief look calmly at Balfor.

Azief eyes seems to be filled with images of all kinds of lifeforms.

His eyes seem to be overseeing the beginningless cycles of repeated births, their mundane existence and dying again and it continues on and on

This cycle of repeated birth is perpetuated by desire, ignorance and karma.

In Azief eyes, there is six realms of existence as he saw deities, demons, humans, spirits and a realm of suffering and punishment.

Each of these lifeform is suffering and in each of these six realm, there is Azief looking over them like some kind of guardian and also a guide.

That is all reflected in his eyes.

This is different from when he uses his Avatar Law Body.

When he uses his Law Avatar body, his eyes seem to see the entirety of the Universe contained inside his eyes.

But using the Wheel, Azief eyes seems to see through all the levels of the six realms of reincarnation and overseeing it.

If it is any other beings that is weaker than the Demon King look at Azief eyes, they would be ensnared by it and trapped inside the six realms of reincarnation.

They might even freeze at the spot and cease to move until they could come out from the six realm in their minds.

Azief is also floating among the stars and his body is emanating some concepts of the Laws of Rebirth and Reincarnation.

Time around him flows differently, that one would hard to know whether time is moving in reverse or moving forward in an accelerated rate.

The things around him died and changes form and turns into another things and so on and so forth the process continues.

It is rebirth. And then when it ceases to exist, it exists again in another form.

Some of them enter the reincarnation and gain sentience, accumulating merit and ascend. Yet all of this life, still is inside a circle.

As Azief floats closer toward Balfor, Balfor could see a silhouette of a gigantic Wheel behind Azief back.

It is just a silhouette and it is vague but that alone fills the Demon King with wariness as he once again seals his obsession for fear that he would once again be sucked into that illusion.

Even now, he is still inside the illusion and had not yet comes out. This is a battle that no one in the real world could see.

This is the battle of will, of conviction. Azief sighed looking at Balfor and then he simply said

‘Why resist, Balfor? There is a chance for a grand path’ And then saying this, Azief suddenly turns into a gigantic figure that he alone fills half of the Universe and dwarfing the Demon King

It almost looks like the Demon king is imply a speck of dust in the vast universe when compared to the size of Azief right now

His figure then emanated golden light that shines over the dark space of the Universe.

There is no difference between Azief and a Golden Buddha depicted in the many temples in the Three Thousand Worlds

The Demon King was not impressed. But he also felt uneasy because it felt like his pressure is being oppressed by Azief golden light.

The Demon King then simply said

‘I reject the Grand Path that is not mine’

The Demon King then laughed as his body slowly swelled and then he too become a gigantic figure, filling the other half of the Universe

The power that unleashed shows his conviction and will and his killing aura materialized turning into red cloud that floats around the space under the influence of that killing aura.

He appears like some kind of primordial demons with killing aura so thick that it changes the motes of light into dark motes of light that is slowly disintegrating

When it disintegrates, it went into the red cloud and the lives inside that motes of light were distorted. Kind actions turns to evil

But the golden light is slowing the disintegration of the motes of light.

Azief was smiling, his eyes are shining golden like some kind of an all embracing deity and Balfor was scowling, with his eyes red as blood appearing extremely sinister

One side is a golden figure bathed in holy golden light and the other side is a demon covered with killing aura that swirls around each parts of its body.

It is like a battle between good and evil, holy and unholy. But none of them is making any move yet

Azief smiles gently and said to Balfor. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

‘There is no yours and mine path in the Grand Path. There are many roads. Some are harder than the rest. Some are faster. In the end, it converges. If it is not your grand path, then what it is you think your grand path? Today, I would enlighten you!’

Azief shouted and then he put his hand together like a monk putting his hand together to salute the donor of the Temple.

But Azief was no monk and he did not learn from a monk. What he did seems like he is putting his hand together.

But the effect of it is not like that.

The cycles of existence that Balfor had experienced all gathers at Azief fingertips when he opens his arms before.

And then when he puts his hand together, all the cycles of existence that Balfor had experienced was crushed and a turbulent upheaval happened in Balfor mind and heart the moment that palm slammed onto each other

His path that he had seen inside the artificial Six realms was destroyed and it bear a pressure on Demon King minds.

Azief then opens up his palm and then strikes toward Balfor.

“With one strikes, driving Gods and Devils Away. Struggle with fate, kind nature must be cultivated, With One Strike, cut apart evil existence!”

He chanted these words as he strikes that palm forward toward Balfor. Those words seem to resonate within this Universe and a powerful pressure fills the Universe as the planets around them trembles and cracked.

The red clouds that was filed with killing aura all exploded into mist and dissipated into nothingness.

Chapter 845: Trapped in the cycle \(4\)

And then an illusory scene appeared behind Azief.

Deities with white haloes on top of their head and holy aura on their entire bodies is fighting a grand celestial war with demonic creatures

The palm did not yet even reach the Demon King but he could feel its power.

The Demon King took a step backward, as he could feel that his Killing aura was suppressed fiercely by the palm.

The palm seems to imbued the scenes behind Azief back creating a powerful holy aura that seems to disperse his Killing aura, fulfilling the chanting that he had said before

With one strikes, driving Gods and Devils Away.

But even though Balfor had already take a few steps backward, travelling in a distance that is light years away, the palm seems to ignore any kind of distance and space, appearing like Balfor did not even move a step and the palm is still coming towards him.

The illusory scene become even more clear behind Azief and the momentum of that palm strike gained even more pressure.

The faces of the deities were fierce and the expression of the Demonic creatures were malicious.

This time even though Azief did not see the scene behind his back with his eyes, his Divine Sense could see all of it

He could see that below the feet of these titanic gods, were countless of alien races propping the Heavens

And below the feet of the demons, were also countless of races sacrificing their lives and blood to help the demons.

But Azief was calm seeing all of this because he saw the Wheel and all of them were sucked into that Wheel.

And the moment that happened in the scene behind Azief back, his palm connected with the Demon King chest.

The palm smack right at the middle and the Demon King chest caved in as the holy light of those deities in the scene converge on Azief palm at the last moment.

‘Demons and Gods had to submit! With One Strike, cut apart evil existence!’

Azief shouted and the entire Universe seems to crack and split apart.

BOOM!

The strike unleashes its power and the Demon King chest exploded and his titanic figure diminished, the Killing aura disperse as fast as it comes.

The figure of Balfor shrinked until he once again became small as Azief rises in size, the Wheel behind his back become even more clear.

Azief eyes look toward Balfor and it no longer hold that kindness in its eyes. His face turns fierce and his aura reflected his fierceness

He appeared like a monarch of the universe and with the Wheel of Rebirth and Reincarnation on his back, he lords over the Six Paths of Rebirths of the Desire realm and his body radiates six rays of light and accompanied by six representation of the Six Paths in the Wheel

‘DIE!’

He was about to slam his palm toward the tiny Demon King but then the Demon king shouted

‘This is your world. But it is not the real world! I defy this reality!’ A powerful pressure exploded out from him and an ancient hymns seems to echoes inside Azief artificial world and he frowned

And then Balfor roars toward Azief fierce golden titanic figure as the palm that had covered the entirety of the universe and was about to slam onto him.

In the real world, only three seconds had passed from the moment Azief and the Demon King close their eyes.

In that three seconds, countless of epoch had passed in that world that Azief had created. The effect of Azief attack in that artificial world seeped into the real world. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

The Demon King who is closing his eyes is seems to be experiencing something difficult judging by his forehead that is frowning. Then suddenly wounds appears on many parts of his body

Jean had already managed to save a lot of people and his attention had already focused back on the Demon King.

He did not attack the Demon King because he knows his attack would not do much damage. But now, suddenly, he saw that the Demon King is bleeding on many parts of his body

‘What did Azief do?’ he thought to himself.

And then the Demon King open his eyes and he roars toward the sky above him. This sudden action made Jean wary and instantly shrouded himself with Time Energy

But the Demon King doesn’t seem to be paying attention to Jean, instead his eyes seems to see something that he did not Runic-like patterns appears around Balfor body like a tattoo. The runic patterns glow like a glowing light in the darkness.

He opens his mouth wide, and a silent cry comes out from his large mouth. Storms forms on the sky, spiraling and converging the clouds before it disperses in a moment notice

A hole in the stratosphere appeared because of that cry

the blast of energy coming out from his mouth push the space dust outside of Earth atmosphere to travel further from Earth

Even though it is a silent cry, it is just because nobody could hear it. But somewhere, in the hidden dimension something could hear it and they echo back the roars.

Like a song, like a hymn.

It is the other Demon Kings of the Seresian world.

They sat lifelessly around the Palace of the Demon Emperor. And when they hear the roars, they knew that they had to shout back

Instinct take over and they roar back, their killing heart and their killing desire transmitted to Balfor, urging him to break from that reality that Azief had created in his mind.

And they were not the only demons that roars back.

Somewhere, something, in a Dark Universe roars back.

Whatever this thing is, it exists and it roars back, helping the Demon King on Earth to maintain and break out from Azief artificial illusory world.

And the echoing of that roar broke the confusion in the Demon King mind and he manages to retain his mind and not to succumb to the confusion effect that was brought by the Wheel.

Jean also heard the roars and he also manages to withstand it though it is probably because Azief from the very beginning had never treated Jean as an enemy

Azief opened his eyes as his eyes trained onto the Demon king. Now, there is no longer the vision of the six realms in his eyes.

But there is still boundless confidence in his gaze.

'Hard to break' he thought to himself about the Demon King willpower.

'No matter. I could still win this'

Chapter 846: Lord of the six path

The Wheel above his head is moving slowly. But the energy that is emitted with each move it takes is enormous.

Azief smiles as a kind of power swirls around him. Like before this Wheel affect the entire world.

But this time its effect is even more powerful. The rise of his level as a Divine Comprehension leveler had also cause the power of the Wheel to rise considerably

At the same time, the power of the Wheel also affects those creatures below that hide themselves in the depth of the sea.

The deep sea monster that came from another world and thought that they have survived the detections of the powerful creatures of Earth

But then that force sweep the sea.

The sound echoes across, above and under the water and these sea creatures, most of which the size of a large mountain, squirmed and roars beneath the deep sea.

The entire seabed of the world was trembling and the waves become tumultuous, the seven ocean is full with turbulent storms and winds.

These creatures are not simply humongous; they also possess all kinds of abilities. There is an eel the size of Europe who is slithering on the seabed.

When the force sweeps over it, it squirmed and its body produces powerful lightning below the sea, and all kinds of weird phenomenon happens all over the sea.

Some of the sea water was electrified and there is an electrical storm that is happening on some parts of the oceans.

There is also a shark that would put Megalodon to shame.

They were one hundred times bigger and its power is even more overbearing.

If this creature ever gets to land, unless it is a Disk Formation or Divine Comprehension leveler, everything would be able to get devoured by it.

When that force sweeps over it, it slams its humongous body to the seabed, causing an abyss to open up in the seabed, creating pulsating whirlpool that create more turbulent condition over the oceans

They hear the sound and they could not bear it

They were after all, foreign existence, something that Azief had designated as hostile. The Wheel follows its master will

As such it is not a pretty sight for those monster who is squirming in pain in the bottom of the sea

Some of them devolved and some of them accepts the baptism and become a little bit sentient

Those monster who devolved, some of them become smaller and some of them exploded and turned to dust, their energy merged with the Will of the World strengthening the Will of the World

Azief look at the Demon King in the distance, his eyes are clear unlike the eyes of the demon king which is cloudy and still disoriented after that experience of being trapped inside that illusionary scape.

There are also all kinds of wound all over the Demon King body.

Even though, he could not kill the Demon King in that illusory world, at the very least, he had put something inside the Demon King mind even though the Demon King still did not notice it.

Azief is ready to fight the Demon King and his Six Path Spell is also ready to be used. He could integrate it into his attack now.

The palm strike that he had used against Balfor inside that illusory world is derived from the Divine Slayer Finger.

It disturbed the demonic essence inside the Demon King body

The Demon King is also awake now and he look at Azief with wariness. He did not say anything only staring at him and one could see that Balfor is focusing negative feeling towards him.

Azief only snorted at this.

'I need to appear even bigger then' he thought

Azief is floating there in the sky and his body is slowly becoming bigger as the golden figure of him shines over the whole world, like a sun breaking out from the night

Azief once again appeared like he did before in that illusory world, his eyes are looking straight at the Demon King

He is full of power and momentum, and the golden light around him seems to suppress the presence of the Demon king by a considerable degree.

Azief smiles when he thought of how far he had come through

In the past, it is only the spell that is powerful and not he himself.

But now, not only his spell is powerful but he is also powerful enough to affect many things not only on Earth but also in the Universe at large

There is no Disk cracking and while his energy was drained off, it was but a small amount that is negligible.

Even now, floating there, his body keep taking in the power of the world, the power of the stars and planets all over the Milky Way and there is even a slice of Omniversal energy that is leaking out from the effect of the Multiversal Convergence.

The Omniversal energy is hard to sense because it is an energy that come from the mixing of the world energy, the universal energy and the dimensional energy that is present in other dimension

Other people would find it hard to unify these energies into one and created Omniversal energy but Azief find it easier than most people because of his Omniversal Law mastery.

His body now possess powers and energy that surpasses Disk Formation levelers by thousand fold.

And this is not to mention he had thirteen law bodies that control thirteen laws of the Universe and his Omni Law could even affect the Omniverse

His entire body injury because of the weight of the Wheel regenerated quickly as the pressure of the Wheel is neutralized by him in such a fast manner

There is no possibility of energy rebounding.

Azief took a step and his entire golden body enlarged itself again. His Golden Avatar shines the whole world like the sun in midday and then he took another step.

With each step he taking, he is accumulating pressure, integrating the Will of the World with him. Most of the time, the Will of the world would be resistant towards him.

But this time, the Will of the World cooperated with him. Probably even the Will of the World knows that they now share the same enemies

The pressure forces the Demon King to take a step backward as the space and Time flows around both of them seems to crack unable to withstand their powerful pressure that transcend limitation of the world

Laws and myriads of energies is surrounding Azief and the demon King

Azief smirks and then demon King eyes become even more bright.

'Fight!' The demon King shouted, his Killing Heart has reached the peak, and there is a cruel smile on his face.

His entire aura bursted out and the ocean around his waist all seems to be push down by an invisible force.

The demon King move forward and his step crack the seabed as a large water jettisoned up into the air, turning into gas the moment it reaches ten-meter-high because of the pressure of the Demon King movement.

Azief smiles and said

'So be it!' Azief is now ready to fight against the Demon King.

This is a battle between two different level.

Azief is still in Divine Comprehension level and while the demon King was suppressed by the suppressive power of the All Source on Earth, he is still after all could be likened to an Essence Creation leveler.

It would not be easy for Azief to win. But he is not fighting alone after all

They both punched toward each other and the moment their fist clashed, the entire half of the ocean around them disintegrated. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'Hahaha' Balfor laughed.

'this is reality. True reality'

Azief smiles as he understood what the Demon King is implying. He is implying that in the real world he is stronger

Azief only smiles as he was forced to take a few steps backward.

Then he rushes forward. To the world, this is the first time that Azief and the Demon king is battling.

As for them, they know this is the second time that they are fighting against each other.

They traded blows by blow, each of them did not use their full power yet, both of them are testing each other limits

But even that is so, the effect of their battle affected the whole world. The entire seven seas are rumbling and forty feet tall high tsunamis could be seen rising up all over the seas.

Some of them tide through but some of them was formed before crashing down because of the area of blast that sweep through them when Azief and Balfor trade blows.

This blast that erupted from their blows destroyed the tsunami.

It is not only the seas that were affected.

The sky above seems to be teared apart by the pressure and space rips appears wherever they clash.

Jean take a step backward and created a Time Dome around them minimizing the effect of the battle

The battle between Azief and the Demon King began in earnest!

In that area where the battle is the most concentrated, an eye appears out of the void, looking at the battle with interest.

There is one eye that is looking at the battle. This eye blink for a few seconds, like it is capturing the moment.

The eyes seem to have spirals in his eyes. And this spiral has illusion effect to wherever it is pointed at.

Hikigaya is looking at the battle and he too must have his plans. But for now, he remains hidden as the battle between the Demon King and Azief intensify

And the Wheel keeps spinning

Chapter 847: Joyful laugh \(1\)

At the same time as Azief closes his eyes following the Demon King, somewhere in the world, there is someone who is cursing the sky

'Shit! It's that Wheel again!' the moment he cursed that Wheel, he felt the omen of misfortune gathering around him.

His entire body is trembling and his face is contorting like it is experiencing severe pain.

'Fuck. He keeps using this skill'

This man has long silver hair that is tied up neatly on the back of his head.

He is wearing a wolf fur over his undercoat and he is trying to close his ears but even his hand is trembling in pain. But he manages to close his ears.

But even after closing his ears with his hand the sound keeps going inside his ears

The sound to his ears, is not the same sound that other life form would hear

Others would hear preaching, or some guidance to show them their grand path in the form of enlightenment, to show them what they are missing, but what he is hearing is simply a melody

This melody in the past was simply unpleasant. But now, it has upgraded.

It is not only unpleasant; it is grating to the ear. And it is torturing him.

His soul felt like it is being cut and smashed down repeatedly and the melody this time is even more louder than before

He moves his head to left and right like he had some kind of neck problems and his entire body is trembling and experiencing pain that is hard to describe.

All kinds of memories flashed back in his mind and all of the experience of the eons tortured him in the form of worldly emotions.

His soul is desperately screaming and thrashing about and like in the past, that silent personality inside him is trying to come out again, this time even possessing power to move a bit inside the Soul Scape.

The silent personality also grew stronger and one could see an image of someone similar to him, a silhouette that is trying to come out from his body.

It is the materialization of souls inside his body that wanted to get out from the vessel, which is the body.

This person with two souls is Yewa Hafar. He did not think that he is once again so unlucky to see that Wheel again.

And just like before, the melody that comes out from the Wheel is a melody that tortures him.

He did not even have the chance to run into another dimension the moment he realizes something is going bad

He had never expected that Azief would brought out the Wheel.

This is because in the other timeline, Azief had never solve Azul regret and did not get his tutelage and his favor. But in this timeline, he did

As such, Azief in this timeline chooses a different kind of attack. Azief in that other timeline were not as prominent as he is now, at this point of time.

At that time even though, Azief was the one that causes the Time Crisis, the one solving the Multiversal Convergence and fighting with the demonic army was everyone in the world

Azief did not even play that much of a role as he is one of the many that fought against the demon

it was not like today, where two Divine Comprehension leveler was born because of the surge of energies coming out from the worlds that connected with Earth Prime.

One could argue it is also because of Azief help that Hikigaya could easily found his path quickly and broke through to Divine Comprehension before the Demon King come out from the portal

And Azief was not as strong as this before with full perfect foundation of Divine Comprehension level.

If Azief wanted, he could take one step forward and just simply enters Essence Creation.

And the demonic soldiers were not as much as it is today. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Today when he looks at the amount of demonic soldiers that fills the sky, even he who knows how things would play out was a little shocked

He knows that another thing had diverged from the predestined course.

And that is not good at all.

He found himself in a dilemma. He wanted to interfere but he fears that his interference would create another change and once this change is compounded, then everything would be chaotic and might even move completely out of his hands and his plan and as such, it would disappoint his Master, The Lord of All Destruction, the Holy Destroyer.

When Yewa Hafar divined the reason of why there is so many demonic soldiers coming out from the space rip with his calculation abilities, he found out that if the matter progressed like it was in the original timeline, things would look so much different than it is today

For one, they would not be so much demonic soldiers because, a few years before the events of the Time Crisis in the original timeline, the Seresian home world become even more terrible place to live after the death of the Demon Emperor with scarcity of worldly energy that is plaguing the Seresian race

There is the weakening of the dimensional energy around the translucent dome that separate their dimension

And as time passed that translucent protection dome that was created cracked and the Seresian world are slowly coming back to the real Omniverse and their dimension is no longer hidden deeply into the pocket dimension in the Void universe

From that crack every once in a while the area that was exposed to the crack would experience powerful dimensional storm that wreck apart the ecosystem of the demonic world and the last straw was when someone from the Three Thousand Worlds of the Heavenly realm manage to find this place and kill the demons and destroy their Rebirth hub and their other cloning technology

As such, in the original timeline when the channel between the Seresian world and Earth Prime was established during the Multiversal Convergence, the demonic soldiers was not as numerous as it is today and the Demon King was not as lively or as powerful as he is today.

But at the same time, even though the event was hastened, it seems that with Azief growing strength, it neutralizes all the bad things that could have happened in triggering the event this fast.

Probably Loki had expected this and probably this is one of the reason he is strengthening Azief.

To Yewa Hafar, Azief is nothing but a lamb that is fattened up to be slaughtered in the future.

Loki must have known that Azief is the catalyst to that event and as such, destroying or even putting some hidden weakness in Azief would be the most logical action to take.

Of course, if Loki had truly killed Azief, then it is no guarantee that the ending would not be the same.

In other words, Loki also knows some things because he did not kill Azief immediately when he returns to the past.

Instead Loki had guided and help Azief become even more stronger and even help him in Perfecting his Path

It is no doubt that the Time God had taught Loki some heavenly secrets about Time and how it correlates with Destiny and Fate.

But even if that is so, Loki always had the chance to plant some hidden weakness in Azief body that might help when the End happens.

Yewa Hafar don't believe that Loki would be swayed by personal emotion when the stake is so high for him

As such, Yewa Hafar did not understand completely Loki plans and scheme which even involves strengthening Azief to this point that in the Universe there is only a few beings that could actually pose a threat to Azief right now

Maybe this strengthening scheme is to negate the negative consequences that would arouse from the butterfly effect of changing destiny and fate

And it is not like today where Azief could go toe to toe with a demon in the level equivalent to Essence Creation level.

The plot where the whole world fight against the Demon King and suffers terribly, as the human casualty amounts to more than millions of people in the aftermath did not happen.

Now, the people left in the world are all above Energy Disperse Stage and those who were weak and below Seed Forming were all transported into a Mirror Dimension.

As for Death Monarch?

He seems confident that he could defeat the Demon King. If before, many things could be considered as small changes.

This time, it is truly big changes.

Chapter 848: Joyful laugh \(2\)

But of course with Loki interruption, this timeline had diverged slightly. Yewa Hafar had expected that

Time Crisis in the other timeline should have happened in another few decades and not just a few years after the Weronian Invasion.

And in that timeline, the world was even more darker than it is in this timeline.

There were no Seven Great Powers to regulate the chaos of the world and as such it is truly great warring period among the strong.

All kinds of warlords rise up and created faction or kingdoms, fighting all over the world. Even the World Government and the Revolutionary Army at that time could not control all of the forces in the world

It was an era where Yewa Hafar could thrive. In chaos he laid the path for the coming of His Lord.

But in this timeline, there is Seven Great Powers that regulate the world.

There is order that contain the chaos of the world. Light seems to be winning over the darkness in this new timeline

With the Article of the World Distribution, Azief had effectively create a control mechanism over the chaos of the world.

Of course this could only be achieved because of the deterrence effect that Azief had upon the world.

Every Disk Formation levelers need to think twice before creating their own faction if they are not confident that they could fight against the great powers that was appointed by Death Monarch, the strongest person in the world

But the changes that Loki had precipitated had also hasten some events.

Like this one.

And while Yewa Hafar was prepared for the Time Crisis to hit and even chose a right spot to enjoy the chaos and disorder, he had not prepared for Azief using the Wheel of Reincarnation and Rebirth again.

Things had changed too much and diverged too much. But all is not lost yet. He thought to himself even as he was enduring the pain.

Truth be told, most of the thing that had happened since the Time Crisis began had diverted greatly from the original timeline

But he still has the confidence that he could reverse it and stick through to the plan.

'ARGH!' He winched in pain as even the thought and plans in his head were forgotten for a while as the melody keep hurting him

'Shit' eh cursed again.

It is not like eh didn't want to run away or hide in some secret places that could mute the sound of that Wheel.

It is that he can't. because the moment that Wheel appeared on Earth, he felt like all of his magic seems to be sealed.

And when the Wheel moves, that is the time when the peak of power and pressure of the Wheel was directed at him, that makes him unable to do anything but to watch as the Wheel turns and hear the creaking sound and hears the melody playing in his ears

Of course Azief himself would not notice that the Wheel suppressing him with extra care.

But if one day, he mastered the use of that Wheel, he would no longer be ignorant that the Wheel seems to suppress Yewa Hafar, the Acolyte of Dark Tidings with more special care.

If that is revealed, then with Azief curiosity he might open a big can of worms that would change the time line entirely

But for now, Yewa Hafar did not have to worry about him finding out that he is Acolyte of Dark Tidings

For now, he is worrying about this pain that he is experiencing all over his body.

It is not something that could be described as a physical pain as that would be a misrepresentation of what the pain really is.

It is pain.

Pure pain that could not be explained.

There is no source of it and there is no end of it. One thing is clear was that the Wheel of Reincarnation and Rebirth induce this pain upon him.

It is Karmatic cause and effect. It is not the washing of Karma but the punishment of it.

And now he is suffering silently here alone. The Wheel creak and moves again and it affect Yewa Hafar extremely

'Argh!' He shouted this time louder than before as the pain in his entire being intensify to a powerful level.

This pain was so unbearable that Yewa Hafar kneels on the ground, clutching his head in agony.

He musters his energy to look at the sky and he looks at the Wheel

His throat is parched, his skin is cracking and blood is seeping off from his cracked skin.

Lesion forms and his eyes is bleeding that it blurs his vision looking at the Wheel. Not only his eyes, from every orifice in his body, blood is coming out of it.

The original soul in his body is struggling to come out as the vague silhouette that is translucent become even more clear.

Yewa Hafar could see the Six Path of the Desire realm and like the way the Demon King was sucked into that artificial world, Yewa Hafar also see his six lives and six reincarnations in which, he experiences it but never once seeing the way out of the eternal rebirths and reincarnation.

There is no guide for him and he could not see himself finding any saviors in that Wheel.

He did not see Azul offering guidance or see the golden figure of Azief wanting to exterminate him.

There is only suffering, an eternal endless suffering, a cycle of existence that did not end and cycle eternally.

Round and round it goes, never seeing a way out. Yet, the time that passed is not even a second in the real world

This kind of effect is probably only appearing for him.

As he was kneeling in the ground and clutching his head in agony, the space around him suddenly districted into separate segments this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

A powerful pressure fills the area and it surpasses the force that come to torture Yewa Hafar.

The wind around the area calmed down and a green mist filled the area. The space that was separated into separate segments of block forms into a doorway

And in that doorway there is only void. There is a vague silhouette of a large serpents and flying creatures in that void

And then one could hear footsteps.

Even though the area around Yew Hafar is full of the sound of thunder and its area is shined with golden light from Azief golden figure in the distance, the footsteps sound seems to drown all the other noises and even dims the golden light around the area.

A powerful force is rising up inside the Void and this energy is leaking out to the outside.

And coming out of that void is someone.

He had green hair and green eyes and he wears a tight colorful attire, looking odd and yet even with all the oddity that person emits some kind of inviolable majesty

That person then steps on the ground and the area around them seems to be covered by a concealing force that hides them from the eyes of Heaven and out of the Omniversal elements

This concealing force formed a dome.

They were concealed inside a translucent dome that spread around five kilometers radius around them

Yewa Hafar wound quickly regenerated because of the help that this person had given in the current moment

The person come closer to Yewa Hafar

'heh. Look at how pathetic you are right now' that person said while chuckling and his eyes shows a deep killing intent

The killing intent appeared only for a second before disappearing.

A raven flew out from the void and landed onto that person shoulders, and then a few serpents slithers out from the void and positioned themselves near that person feet

'Old friend, how are you doing?' he said sarcastically

And finding what he said very funny, he laughed joyfully as the battle between Azief and the Demon King began on the other side of the world

This person however does not seem to care at all as he keeps laughing while looking at Yewa Hafar

Only his laugh reverberates around the area.

Chapter 849: Number seven \(1\)

The area is cracking as the step that person takes cracks the ground into a web like pattern cracks.

The aura that this person is emanating is also very powerful

That person keeps laughing as the pressure of the Wheel could not pressure him at all. He looks at the Wheel and smiles.

It doesn't seem that the six paths of reincarnation could affect him.

Then his eyes seem to have some trace of being possessed but this person simply clap his hand one time and he simply said

'Lies' He said it simply and the world that is about to form in his mind because of the Wheel exploded as he was not taken into the artificial world of six paths of reincarnation

For a second there is a titanic vague silhouette behind that person, reverting truth into lies, changing lies into truth.

The vague silhouette only appears for a few second before disappearing. No one notices it

That person smile as his eyes sees Karma connecting all over the world. The source of it is none other than the Wheel

The person then chuckles as he said

'It is one of my most proficient Laws. Azul is powerful, yes. If he is the one doing this, I might not be able to hold on with my current inadequacies' Then he smirks as he mutters

'But the one holding it right now is not Azul. It is him' and that person smile and he laughed again. Clearly there is a joke only he got

'I would brag to him that I defeat him...one day' he said and chuckles.

Then he looks around and sighed

'Though, it is clear number one did improve you more than I expected. Even I have to expend some effort to withstand this. I really would like to save up for the big event but...alas...we could not always get what we want' he said in a complaining tone

He put his hand together and the Laws around him seems to changed its properties.

It reverses and changes and Karma was manipulated, bounce back and the dome that he had created strengthened even more as the green mist emanated from him and covers the dome surface, merging together.

The dome stands steady and unbreakable even under that world shattering pressure. The green mist act like a synthesizer of Laws and changing the Laws that surrounded the dome

Of course, the one that could see this translucent dome is only Yewa Hafar and Loki.

The dome possesses and contains Laws of concealing of the world.

The element of the world seems to be reflected from this dome yet there is an ecosystem of internal Laws structure of Omniverse inside the dome itself

The sound in Yewa Hafar eyes diminished a bit and his mind seems to become clear but there is still a resounding sound echoing in his mind that he could not get rid off

It is only now that he notices the green mist and his Divine Sense finally able to sense that there is someone in front of him. His ability slowly returns as he more his head up to look at that person.

He raises his face and when he saw the face of that person he frowned a bit as thousands of possibilities is playing out in his mind.

Even though that person would be hard to be recognized with all kinds of concealing magic on that face, Yewa Hafar only need one glance to know who is the person that is standing before him right now

He gritted his teeth and simply said

'Loki'

It is none other than the Trickster.

Loki bows a bit, there is theatrics in his manner as he said

'It is I, your reliable broker for trades and deals involving the supernatural'

Then Loki remembers something and said

‘Ah, not yet. At least in this timeline I am still not in the business’ and he chuckles again.

However, this Loki seems different than the Loki that fought Jean in space. He seems more playful and seem nonchalant of the situation around him

And there is another thing that separated him and the Loki that Yewa Hafar always deals with.

And that made Yewa Hafar felt cautious. The feeling that this Loki give him is pure danger.

This Loki seems to possess a powerful Will that could surpass the Heaven, his eyes seems to possess unwavering confidence and each step he took deceive the Heavens and Earth, overturning the concepts of truth and lies, his words could change the heavenly laws

This Loki seems infinitely powerful. And the Willpower of this Loki is undoubtedly the strongest in the world.

Even Azief would not be able to fight with this Loki if this Loki manifested his Willpower form. This is because the presence that this Loki gave him is the presence of a Sovereign.

Sovereigns is like a Supreme Being, a powerful Omniversal force in itself.

The only thing that could restrain a Supreme Being is other Supreme Beings and of course, The Creator, the Destroyer and The Supreme One which sometimes people called Him the One, The One Without Beginning and Ending and many other name

Gritting his teeth, Yewa Hafar said with bated breath

‘Number Seven’ Yewa Hafar instantly knows which Loki that he is dealing with and Loki only smiles

‘Ah, I should have known that my plans did not escape your eyes. You recognize me in a blink of an eye. It is quite disappointing to say the least’ But it is clear Loki did not feel any pressure of getting found out.

‘I calculated’ Yewa Hafar simply said before he once again double back in pain as he felt the pain in his head intensify.

The memories are torturing him and the lives of the people he had killed and had destroyed is now being played out inside his mind and soul, only this time, he was the person being killed.

He became the oppressed and he became the prey. He saw thing from others perspective.

Loki look at his barrier and he sighed. There is a crack and he clicks his finger and the crack healed almost instantly.

The pain that Yewa Hafar is experiencing quickly eased off.

Loki look at Yewa Hafar and he smiles widely.

‘is it painful?’ he asked

‘You rejoice in my suffering?’ Yewa Hafar asked back.

'Why would you ask question that you know the answer to. Of course, I do' And Loki chuckles with delight looking at Yewa Hafar current condition.

He looks at the distance and he saw the Wheel turns again and the sound of the melody that sound differently in others ears affects the whole world.

He smiles a bit as he saw the golden figure facing off against the Demon king, looking like a holy deity squaring off against an infernal creature of evil this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'Very impressive. It is expected of him of course. It is a pity that in that other timeline, he was suppressed by many factions before he became a Sovereign. This is his full potential unleashed'

Then he sighed a bit

'But becoming too powerful at such an early time also had forced me to come out ahead of schedule. Since, he would know too much if I do not come out and help you' he sighed again as he looks at Yewa Hafar and then he said

'I hate doing this'

Loki click his finger and the area around them seems to be separated from the planes of reality. The space around them seems to change its properties, like a programmer changing the code of another programmer.

Loki is rewriting the Laws of the World with a simple click of his finger. This Loki clearly is strong enough to do anything he wanted in the world.

But he had never come out and had never interfere in many events of the world, always watching from his secret place

Chapter 850: Number seven \(2\)

The raven on his shoulders flew away from him as the raven fly around inside the dome like it is playing around.

The two serpent that lied around his feet also slithers around the dome, hissing dangerously.

The process of changing the Laws is as instant as the moment he finished clicking his finger. The moment that the sound of the click of his finger ended, the matter had ended.

The dome is separated from the planes of reality of Earth Prime. It is a bit like the mirror dimension created by Lee Sangmin but only more secure and more safe.

Yewa Hafar was shocked for a second before he regains back his calm.

Even though the surrounding area is still the same Yewa Hafar knows that the area that was covered by the protective dome that Loki had created is separated from Earth Prime reality and Laws

It is only then that the sound of the Wheel no longer affects him.

But the pain lingers in his entire being and it is not going away as quickly as he hoped.

'Fuck. I should really repair this weakness of mine' Yewa Hafar cursed and Loki heard it and he just simply raised his eyebrows

'You could repair your weakness?'

Yewa Hafar only smirks and Loki did not ask further. Yewa Hafar took a scan of his body using his Divine Sense.

Most of the physical wound that had been inflicted on him was healed when Loki had created the dome

There is no visible wound on his body but only he who had experienced it knew the kind of scar and hidden danger that melody had left him with in his soul.

For people of his level, there is nothing more dangerous than an attack toward the soul

And Grand Supremacy Azul Wheel of Rebirth and Reincarnation is one of the strongest item in the Omniverse in inflicting soul attack.

He then slowly gets up from his kneeling position and look at Loki. He did not understand why Loki help him out

He snorted and Loki ignores him as he seems particularly interested in the Wheel of Reincarnation and Rebirth that Azief had summoned.

'You miss an opportunity to kill me' Yewa Hafar casually said as he dusts off the dirt on his knees and calming himself down

Loki only smiles and said

'What would be the use of that?' he chuckles and then he continues saying

'I could kill you. But you would not actually die. You might even possess another humans or maybe a beast next time and it would actually make my job harder in keeping an eye on you.'

Yewa Hafar smiles.

'It seems you know a lot more about me than before, Trickster.' Loki only smiles as he answered

'I do try to update my information on my enemies. It usually proves very useful for me' Loki simply said

They both seems to be testing each other, both trying to pry each other of secrets. After all, this is just the prelude.

the Time Crisis had always been meant as a prelude to the big event that would happen later. The Sovereign War, The World War Event, the Yrinia Attack and many others more events that would make what happens today pale in comparison.

They are still playing a high staked chess game with each other and they did not even yet uses all of their chess pieces.

Yewa Hafar only smiles as he tries to hide the pain that is wrecking his body right now. Loki simply not pay attention to him.

The wind blows and their hair both swayed in the wind.

Loki was pretty calm and he appeared not to care that much about Yewa Hafar condition.

But just appearing to be so, did not mean that it is the true situations. For someone as cautious as Loki, there is no such thing as being lax when he is this close to his enemies.

They were standing only three meters apart.

If one of them wanted to attack each other, this range is too short for them.

In this range of attack, whoever made the first move could strike a killing move. But none of them seems eager to kill each other off

Probably because they both truly did not want to kill each other. Of course, it is not because they are old acquaintances.

Yewa Hafar had his considerations and Loki had his consideration.

That is why they only look at each other and did not do anything else. Loki also appeared here because he wanted to confirm something

And this is actually the best opportunity for him to appear. At this time most of the powerhouse of the world is preoccupied with something else which could limit his exposure

The Will of the World is also not paying attention to him because it is being used by Azief right now.

Though, this is probably the last time he could go on and about openly like this. Because of that he wanted to maximize the use of his time now that he is out

Considering the rate that Azief is growing it would not take much time for him to reach Half Sovereign.

The moment he reaches that level; Loki is not sure he could hide his presence if he come out again from his secret place.

Because even though he possesses Sovereign like power, truth is, he is not a Sovereign.

This is only Willpower of the Sovereign. Because even though he was transported to the past, his memories, at least the part where he become Sovereign still stays with him.

The memories are the memories of his perseverance, his experience and all of that experience had shaped his unwavering Willpower

It is by using that he could hide without worry

Though because of the limitation of his body, he did not possess the many abilities of a Sovereign but in terms of powers, his Willpower is enough to calm many waves in the world if he wanted to

But if Azief reached Half Sovereign, he would be a Half Sovereign with Half Sovereign prowess and Willpower of a Half Sovereign. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Even Loki could not easily escape from a Divine Sense of half Sovereign even with his Willpower form.

As such, he came out to confirm something. And the moment he came and saw Yewa Hafar he confirms it.

Though, he did expect to get lucky and found out the pawn that Yewa Hafar is using. Who knows maybe that pawn is always beside Yewa Hafar.

But there is no such luck.

Thinking once again about Yewa Hafar, Loki knows he would not be that careless.

The way he communicates with his pawn might be using some kind of telepathic connection or maybe he went into his pawn dream

It is one of the methods one would use to hide communication. Though, in the future, Hirate would create a certain network of telepathic connection which would boost his psionic force

Of course that is the matter of the future and it might not even happen in this timeline considering that many things had already changed from the plot

But seeing, Yewa Hafar kneeling on the ground and in pain does bring joy to his heart, so the trip is not entirely wasted

Loki thought of Yewa Hafar face before and again he releases a slight chuckle.

Up above the sky is splitting. Down below, the earth is trembling. And Loki is looking at all of with indifference.
