Chapter 941: Earthshaker heart \(2\)

No matter how big of a problem they encounter, a sword slash from him is enough to solve it, like Alexander cutting the Gordian knot.

Even the chance of it happening is slim, he could not disregard it. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

That is why Azief is here, facing against Raymond, someone who he did not like at all, but at the same time, trusted.

There is nothing wrong for her to have another added protection. Raymond is honorable enough and someone that he could trust to protect Sofia.

The reason is simple. Because Raymond likes her. That is his interest. But that interest could also be used.

Azief might still have that hot temper and unpredictable mood swings. But he is also mature more than before.

He is more scheming and cunning in making his move. He considers many things now. Because he had more things to protect.

In the past, he would kill anyone and anything that displeases him.

He still does that. But if some people could be used, then he would use them and when their usefulness had been outlived, then at that time, Azief would still kill.

But he does believe in redemption. He believes that people can change. And that they sometimes are worth a second chance.

But, he also recognizes that change is hard and people rarely change. And there are some people that is so far gone, that their second chance is long gone.

He kills people. But none of the people, he kills is people that he would lose his sleep over. Raymond could be used.

And Raymond also understood Azief intention to use him. But, he did not reject it. Because he is willing to be used.

There is silence between the two men with only the sound of wind passing through them. Raymond closes his eyes for a second and he thought of that bitter smile on Sofia face when she heard that Katarina was kidnapped.

She went to the Hill with Jean but Raymond swear he saw sadness from her.

Why was she sad?

Why is her smile is so heart rending?

Why does at that moment, she looks so fragile, like something about her is about to break? He does not know. But he wanted to know.

That woman.... has entranced him in mind and soul and he doubt he would ever be able to let go. That feeling is very sorrowful for Raymond.

A one sided love is probably the most torturous kind of love to be in

It is not the first time he had even been in one sided love before.

But, he had never felt so intense kind of love before as he had felt it every time he saw her. He sighed and he opens his eyes.

He looks at Death Monarch piercing eyes and he said

'I'll make sure no one targeted her. No one will hurt her when I am around' Azief nodded and then he added

'Crime Alliance would probably try to send kidnappers against her. They would not send assassins because that would truly make them my sworn enemies. At least, they would try to use her to bargain with me'

Raymond nodded agreeing.

It is without doubt, if there is an obvious enemy of Death Monarch that would target Sofia, it would be the Crime Alliance that control a lot of the illegal businesses in the crime underworld.

'If I know them, and I do, they would try to imitate the plan of the Demon King and try to kidnap Sofia like Balfor Q'un kidnapped Katarina. They would fail, but they would not stop. And if they try long enough, then, they might just succeed. Especially if I am not here'

'How about Sina?' Raymond ask. He knows how Azief cares about the four people known to many as his inner circle. Azief smiles a bit as one figure flashed inside his mind when he thought about Sina and he said

'Loki would protect her. I know Loki. He would surely have left some things for Sina. He would also set some countermeasures. After all, by admitting that he is the perpetrator of the Multiversal Convergence, he just painted a target on his back. And as you know, The Tricksters is a slippery loach that is hard to capture. I believe he could elude everyone in the world. Since he could even elude my gaze, how could he not elude anyone else. As such., if my enemies were to target me, they would target Sofia and Katarina. And if people wanted to target Loki, they would target Sina. If that is the case, knowing how thorough Loki is, he must have concocted some plans to make sure that Sina would not be dragged down with him.

'How can you be sure?' Raymond ask.

Azief smiles bitterly and he remembers the conversation he had with Loki before when Loki wanted to save Hirate, when his plan included Will and Sofia and put them in harm's way.

That day, they argue with each other so bad, that the world had thought that their relationship become strained.

Azief reply by saying

'Loki promised me. I believe his promise' There is nothing else that Raymond could say to this as Azief continued

'I am not interested in what he left her but I know Loki would not disappoint Sina. And unlike Sofia, she rarely goes out of Pandemonium. As long as they are in Pandemonium, nothing could harm them'

Raymond could guess what Azief would do, the moment Azief said those sentences. Pandemonium is not only famous because of Death Monarch and his elites.

It is also famous because of the protection formation around the entire forbidden continent. Raymond then said

'You would upgrade the formation, right?' Azief did not answer but he nodded.

'Sasha would also help Sina. That is her friend so I do not worry that much about Sina. Sofia is the more valuable target if anyone wanted to target me. And I have a few other countermeasures for Sina if she does get targeted.' he said.

Raymond nodded

'That is all I want to ask of you. In a week, I would not be on Earth. I would not ask you to protect Pandemonium. It is not your job. But when Sofia is out there, outside of my realm, then you protect her'

'You will not ask this from the other two?' The other two that Raymond is saying is referring to Hikigaya and Jean.

'Jean and Hikigaya have other things to do. They would help if they could, but they are also restrained by the interest of the people around them. As such.... I could not trust them that much'

'Then why trust me?'

'Because I trust your honor more than I trust your loyalty toward the World Government' Azief simply said

'I don't know if that is compliment or a diss'

Azief did not say anything as he looks at his right. He then focuses his sight

His gaze pierces the clouds and mist of the oceans, see through tall and large mountain, passes through deep ravines and thick forest as his eyes landed upon a man inside a cave.

The formation that is erected outside the cave trembles as it changes its properties and a hole formed in the center of that formation

Azief could now see clearly the person in that cave.

That person looks back toward him.

And even though they were separated by tens of thousands of miles from each other, it was like Azief and that man is just in front of each other, looking into each other eyes.

Azief eyes was glowing blue, like some kind of holy star that shines upon the darkness of the Universe.

And that man eyes are a purple iris with a ripple pattern. It spirals clockwise at times and counter clockwise at times.

But it is not like Jean eyes. Spirals in the eyes that induce illusions. But Azief was not affected. Because this illusion is weak and full of loopholes.

Azief observed. He expected to see it. But he did not expect it to be this bad.

'His injury is this bad. No wonder he didn't come out immediately' Azief thought to himself.

Azief communicated his thoughts toward him.

'I am coming for you later' The man nodded weakly and Azief who was floating on the sky ten thousands of miles away avert his gaze.

His eyes no longer see that man inside that cave. It was only a momentary gaze but he already communicated with that man inside the cave and he then look back at Raymond.

'That is all' Azief said as he retracted his Seal and the area felt less pressurized. The effect was almost instantaneously.

Raymond could breathe easily now.

Raymond close his eyes and he could feel that the energy in his body right now circulated easily unlike before where he felt like the energy in his body is being blocked.

Chapter 942: The story of the mace

Raymond take a deep breath

The feeling is very suffocating before. The moment he gets back his energy, like it has been pent up, it exploded out.

Burst of energy exploded from Raymond body as his eyes shines golden light and the sea water below him exploded creating large ripple that affect the waves.

The Earth around him trembles.

Earthshaker is not a title people give wily nily. The entire seabed seems to tremble and shake with great intensity.

Azief did not do anything as that blast of energy come toward him.

A meter radius around him is a forbidden zone. The moment that blast of energy come near him, it dissipated like a gentle wind of summer.

Azief only smiles.

One of the rings on his hand dims. Azief had actually uses his Ten Eternal Rings to create this seal

This is why he was so shocked when the mace is able to break the seal. He was about to leave but he halted for a moment.

He looks toward the mace that is gripped tight by Raymond. His gaze was penetrating and his hazel eyes glows bluish colors

Raymond also saw the gaze of Death Monarch and he frowned this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'This mace is mine' Raymond said.

Azief nodded.

'I do not intend to take it' he reply.

'I only felt that your mace is very peculiar' Azief waited after saying that sentence. But his eyes did not avert itself from the mace

He waited for the mace to say something. But the mace did not say anything. Azief scoffed. The feeling he got from the mace was like a turtle that hide itself inside its shell.

'Interesting. It seems your mace did not like to talk. It is very different from the rumors' There is a smirk on Azief face

Who knows whether it is because of annoyance or disdain?

Raymond also began to notice this abnormality about his mace.

When he thought about it, even if his mace did not talk openly, he would usually communicate with him telepathically before since they were connected

But now that he thinks about it, each time when he met with Death Monarch or when Death Monarch is present, his mace always went silence.

It wasn't until today, he notices this. There must be a reason for this, he thought to himself.

Azief stares at the mace for a few more second.

Nothing happened.

'Heh' he smirked

'Next time then' he mutters and then he takes a step forward and like a light that being shot with the speed of the fastest particles in the Universe, the space around Raymond receded before spring out and then Azief disappeared from Raymond sight.

The space regains it calms and time also resume its operation. Probably in the world right now, only three people could freely traverse the world like that.

It would be Death Monarch Azief, Time Monarch Jean and the Illusionist Archmage Hikigaya.

Those three people are probably the only beings that could disregards the density and weight of the energy of the world and the thick and dense barrier of Time and Space to go wherever they wanted into the world in almost an instant.

The other one is probably Warp.

Though, Raymond believes even his teleportation abilities is restricted a bit unless he broke through to the same level as those three people.

Raymond did not continue his flight toward the Island of Peace. He had something else to ask first. He looks at his mace and said

‘he is gone’

‘Fuck’ the word echoes around the area. The words come out for the mace. He was not surprised that the mace cursed. Instead it would be weirder if his mace did not curse.

The mace that he had seems to like learning about curse words of humans. He was accustomed to this. In the beginning he would remind the mace not to curse too much. But, nowadays, he just ignores the mace cursing.

But that is not the reason Raymond look at his mace and narrowed his eyes towards it.

Death Monarch suspicion is warranted. Today, his mace did not act like it used to. And it is something that he should have noticed before

Raymond narrowed his eyes and said

‘Why are you afraid of him? When I think about it, only now did I notice you never speak when he is around me? Why is that?’

The mace was silent for a while and Raymond was patient. Seconds passed and then the mace said ‘Didn’t you say you want to go quickly to the Island of Peace to help Hirate? Why are you not going? Should I go alone?’ The mace said as it tries to free itself from Raymond grip.

‘Sharur is trying to change the subject!’ This is Raymond thought the moment his mace struggling to get out from his grip.

Raymond grip the mace tighter and the mace sighed

‘Do you really wanted to know about it that bad?’

Raymond eyebrows rises up

‘This means, there is something’ Raymond caught on to the implied meaning of his mace.

‘Yes, well. It is something. But I don’t think it is what you think’

‘Tell me then. Why are you afraid of Death Monarch?’ The mace was silent again. A few moments passed and then it said

‘To be more accurate it is not Death Monarch that I am afraid of.’

‘Then, what is it?’

The wind blows again and there is a storm on the horizon that is approaching. But Raymond waited there

He doesn't seem to care about the storm that is spinning 400 miles per hour which is more than a Saffir Simpson scale recorded power of storms before the Fall.

It already causes the water around the storm to recede and rises up into the sky. But Raymond did not seem to care.

That storm is formed because of the sudden imbalance between the energy of the world and the energy from other worlds.

This kind of phenomenon should be expected in this early stages of assimilation between the energy of the world and the foreign energy from Other Worlds.

This is no normal storm and the forming of it is also unnatural.

Raymond however did not seem to care and he block his ears from listening to the droning sound of the wind that is coming and going from that storm blast.

He focused on the mace, waiting for him to tell him.

'If you are stubborn, I might throw you to that storm' he spoke to the mace telepathically

The mace sighed and Raymond could feel the hesitation of his mace to talk about it.

Then his mace said

'It is about the rings on his fingers' Hearing this Raymond was even more curious. Raymond knew about the rings. It is something that Death Monarch had always wears on his finger

The Intelligence Agency of the World Government concluded it was some kind of artifacts. But Death Monarch rarely used it.

This has something to do with the fact that most of the enemies of Death Monarch on Earth did not pose his any challenge at all thus nobody really knows the true power of those rings.

He never would have thought that his mace knows about that ring.

'is it a long story like the one you told me before?' Raymond ask. The mace shakes and said

'It is' Raymond smiles and then he flies forward, taking off from that area. He waves his left hand toward the storm.

The storm halted and exploded into gales of wind that slice apart the seawater. Raymond might not be as strong as Death Monarch.

But, right now his Disk is also transforming. He is only half a step toward that level. There are some things that he needs to break before he could take that last step.

His return to the Island of Peace is not only to make sure the Island is alright but he also need to meet Hirate to break some of the stone that had been weighing in his heart.

Once that stone is broken, only then he could truly step onto the Divine Comprehension level.

Jean reminder, Death Monarch warning, all of it echoes in his ears and embedded itself deeply in his heart

As such, he knew know what he needs to do. He needs to return first and solve the complication in his heart.

The storms fizzle out and then he looks at his mace. Smiling he said to Sharur

‘Tell me the story’

‘All of it?’ Sharur asked. Raymond look at the opening horizon in front of him.

Chuckling he said

‘We have a long way to go to back home.’ Then nodding to himself he said

‘All of it then’ The mace trembles inn excitement as he said

‘Good. Hehehe’ Then the mace started its story

‘There was darkness. And then light came. The story begins before Time had even existed. There is a Garden- ‘

The mace keeps chattering inside Raymond mind as Raymond listen to the story while at the same time flying forward with new determination in his heart.

In front of him, there were many more storms and cyclones that was formed. He only laughed as he sailed through it.

Raymond with his golden armor, flies through the storms and cyclones flying toward the Island of Peace while the mace on his hand tell him the story of an epic, telling him the story of a Time where Time did not yet exist, a story of a cursed race, of a Garden that houses Life, of an Orb of unlimited power and of Ten Rings that used to govern all the Laws of the Omniverse

And so Raymond listens as the mace speak

Chapter 943: The land of illusions

The world keeps on spinning. On some parts of the world, the storms had calmed down a bit.

On other parts, it is still terrible. Monsters emerges from the deep sea as some of them went to land.

Massive gigantic snakes slither out from the sea and go up into many of the empty continent. Some of them went into hibernation while others merge with the surrounding, absorbing the energy of the world.

On land, the sea creatures swim to land. On the sky, the flying creatures also seems to be moving as the space and time of the stabilizes.

Some flying creature flies off into the sky and went through space, some of them landed on the Moon and attacked the facility there as they make the moon their nest

Some of them hovers around the satellites and make their nest around the satellites.

And there is some that flew higher and further than the other, going to the other planets. Their speed is like light itself, travelling in a speed that surpassed some of the fastest vehicles that is ever created on Earth

These creatures landed on Mars.

Some landed on Venus. Others landed on Mercury. More and more flying creatures from Earth flew out from its space.

Each of these creatures are very powerful and many of them have their own consciousness.

But they were attracted to these planets that have no humans like there is some attracting force there that made them come to it

Earth is not the only planet that was affected with the energies that come from the Multiversal Convergence.

Even the planets all over the Milky Way was affected.

As such, even those planets now have abundance of energy that used to be only manipulated by Earth

When this is discovered later by the Great Powers, there is no doubt that anyone who is capable would probably scour the planets around Earth with more scrutiny and some of them might make these planets their home.

After all, even before this the Great Powers had once suggested the possibility of turning the dead planets around Earth to a habitable planet

The Order of Thinkers had even cooperated with the World Government to reverse engineer the World Engine that the Weronians had bought with them when they tried to change Earth into a planet that suited the Weronian race.

The sight where Earth would become an interplanetary civilization is not far.

And if the amount of energy on these planets is a lot, then more and more levelers would fly out from Earth and occupied these planets to absorb the energy to quickly break through

But right now, it is not as easy as before to travel to space even for a Disk Formation levelers. Everything had changed from before. The energy had multiplied but at the same time, it also created changes upon the world

Earth right now could not be considered as the same Earth from before.

The height between the sky and Earth also multiplied, the heaviness of the world particles pushing down on levelers is also not as accommodating as before.

All kinds of magic are now available if one would dare seek it. Laws from Other Worlds is also merging with Earth laws.

But, just because it is not as easy as before, did not mean it was impossible.

The changes of the world today, is like the changes of a thousand years in just a day

If not for the fact that humans after the Fall possess great ability to adapt to the changing of the world, humanity might suffer even more.

All kinds of phenomenon happen all over the four corners of Earth. Some of them happens because of the assimilation of energies. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Others because it was affected by it and purely a disaster without any benefits.

Storms of energies, space rips, distorted space and absurd Time phenomenon happens all over.

Some of them have calmed down a bit, while some of them need some intervention by the Great Powers to make sure it is calmed down.

There is also now billions of people who were stuck here after the barrier between world was closed by Will and his teacher.

This is also a problem that needs solving. After all, some of these humans did not come here voluntarily.

As some of them were sucked by the Multiversal Convergence and teleported them to Earth Prime.

Some others come out from the barriers of their world to this world to escape their world dire fate and some others come to this world and did not want to go back

They all have their own reason to stay. But there is also some that wanted to go back to their world. It is without a doubt that these people need to be taken care of.

The Great Powers of this world would surely have a headache on how to best solve this issue.

This is only a few of the issue that have popped out because of the aftermath of the Multiversal Convergence

The Great Powers will no doubt call for a meeting. But only a few minutes had passed since Death Monarch met with the two people.

Hirate is still now in his island, concerned more about the protection of the island and the silent threat of his rivals in the Council.

As for Raymond, he is still in the sky flying towards the Island of Peace while listening to the story from his mace.

Azief had met with two people. He had met Hirate and Raymond. Both of these meeting was not long.

Both of them got five minutes to speak.

And because of the seal he had envelop them both, even Time was affected. As such, only five minutes had passed since Azief had leave that island and met with Hirate and Raymond.

Hirate is not yet calm enough to call upon a meeting of the great powers. The Republic is in chaos.

Narleod second in command Warp is not beside him. Knowing him, he would not feel at ease until Warp is beside him.

Narleod is one of those people who have too many enemies to count

Hence why one could understand why he is hiding deep inside Storm Tide.

Then there is the Lotus Order who also lost one of its top members.

Lotus Order did not have Lee Sangmin guarding the walls of the Lotus Palace and as such, the Emperor of Wei did not dare to do too many things.

He would probably wait until Lee Sangmin is done and return back to the Lotus Palace before the Emperor would dare to make big moves

Order of Thinkers is hard at work of trying to connect new ley lines beneath the Antarctica continent that is now even further changed after the storms of energy had washed over it.

the geography of the world had changed and as such, each of the great power needs to adjust their protection formation, their bases and confirm the land which is under their influence.

Not to mention, they would also need to prepare a defense if the world accuses them of human experimentation.

The African Alliance also had its own share of problems with many lands are now separated by tens of thousands of miles and the alliance is on the verge of breaking without a strong central authority.

The warlords that did not suffer much is thinking of trying to establish their own power base, far from the control and purview of the Great Powers.

As for Pandemonium, there is no Death Monarch sitting on his onyx black throne.

Without Pandemonium participating, how could the Great Power dares to dictates the matters of the world?

It is not the right time for any of the Great Powers to call for a World Council to discuss the matter.

While everyone is busy trying to think about the matters of the world, Azief right now, is seeing the third person he needs to see today.

No one could understand his anxiousness. And no one would expect that the matters of the world is the furthest thing in his mind right now.

All he thinks about right now is about Katarina and the methods to try to save her from that Demon King.

Azief is truly in tight schedule even though he did not appear so. The reason is mostly because he needs to use this week to break through to Essence Creation.

He is only one step further to reach Essence Creation. It appears like a short step to take. But Azief knew how hard it is.

If not for the many fortuitous encounter he had on the Thirteen Steps of Supremacy, he would not be this confident to try to breaking through to Essence Formation.

As such, time right now needs to be used very sparingly and only for important matter. But as he landed on this land, the land of Hikigaya, he knows he could not do the same trick.

The moment his feet touch the ground of this area, energy ripples like a pebble stone being thrown onto a calm water lake.

Time and Space spirals and distorted but always return to its original form, flowing easily and carefreely, like nothing could obstruct it, stop it and slow it down.

There is an illusion everywhere.

Azief was quite impressed. The security is very tight. And each of the illusion is created to delay and attack

He narrowed his eyes as he thought to himself

‘Hikigaya, you are making it too obvious’

Chapter 944: The infinite worlds

The more defensive the formation, the more it shows its offensive nature, the more that Azief was certain that Hikigaya is in precarious condition right now

It reeks of desperation

But for the faint hearted, for the weak willed this area would trap them into an eternity of bliss or torture.

But Azief eyes glows blue and all of this illusion is nothing but a breezy wind

He could seal the Time of Hirate and Raymond because they were weaker than him. Their energy could not overpower him.

But it is different with Hikigaya. In terms of combat, Hikigaya could not beat him. But the auras between them is the same.

As such, trying to seal Hikigaya time would not work as well as the other two. And instead it would only tire him. So, Azief did not even try. He looks at the opening of the cave.

It is a small opening.

Only a child could fit in. But as most of thing around the cave, this is also an illusion.

Azief eyes glows brightly like a star on the night sky as his eyes seems to be able to see through the matrices of illusion formation that was carved onto the entrance gate of the cave.

Instead of small, the entrance of the cave is gigantic.

It probably had something to do with the expansion of the world causing the entrance gate to the cave become even bigger.

But the carvings of runes on the entrance gate shows a trace that it had long been carved onto it.

Probably it has been written even before the expansion of the world

The runes did not dissipate when the world experience the expansion instead it grows with the area.

‘No’ Azief thought to himself.

It is not runes. Instead of calling it runes, it is a mix of runic-like patterns with squiggly lines and ideographic alphabets that is unlike any of the ideogram of Earth

He looks at the opening entranceway to the cave and how large it is that it could fit two planes stacked together.

The carved characters glows brightly in Azief eyes.

Probably even Hikigaya could not expect that his cave to expands. He could only use illusions to cover up the large entrance.

That words of character must be the base of his illusion formation.

Azief took another step and then he walks through that lines of where it separated between illusion and reality. That line is a demarcation line, forms at the entrance of the entry of the cave.

Anyone who tries to enter it without sufficient qualification or permissions would be muddled and their mind would probably be assaulted by illusion that Hikigaya had set up.

But, as Azief walk through that line, the assault to his psyche did not happen. He possesses both the qualification and he also possess the permission.

He now had entered the cave. Inside the cave, Azief frown become deeper.

‘Hmm’ he mutters to himself. There is no longer any illusion around him instead of feeling happy about this, Azief face become warier.

‘It seems it is really worse than I thought. But I could not be in haste’ Azief body is now absorbing energy form the shrouding though his act is not entirely obvious.

the more it is like this, the more Azief become sure that Hikigaya is suffering terrible injuries.

The aggressive illusion outdid the cave and the no existent illusion inside the cave shows that even his energy is at a decline right now.

To the world, Hikigaya right now is recovering. And that was not wrong. He is trying to recover.

But unlike other people, they did not understand the Demon King like Azief does. The injury that was inflicted upon Hikigaya might not seem big as no one could see that Hikigaya being hurt physically.

But Azief knows that is not the case.

Sometimes, a physical injury is better.

The injury that is inflicted upon Hikigaya is a mental one.

If not for that, why would he not uses it to contact his people and instead, went into his cave and quickly try to recover.

He might be able to hide it from Jean, but he would not be able to hide it from Azief.

Demon Kings, especially someone at the level of Balfor Q'un are not easily to be affected by illusion.

This is because their willpower and their determination is strong. Hikigaya had done almost an impossible thing with his current level.

he managed to delay the Demon king. And that was enough time for Azief to set up his most powerful attack and slash down his sword to end the Demon King

The illusion was broken by the Demon King and as such the backlash is now ravaging Hikigaya minds.

The reason why he did not contact his people to help him is probably because he fears that he would lose controls.

The backlash of mental attack is not like the backlash of a physical attack.

Especially for someone like Hikigaya who meddles with the psyche of living beings.

The path he walks is different from other people and when the mental backlash reaches him, the backlash on his physical body is not that harmful. But the backlash to his mental sanity is a different story

He enters the cave and he could see rolling hills and deep river valleys and long cave system.

'It is quite enchanting' he thought to himself.

It looks like an underground paradise with green moss and walls that glows and exotic trees that Azief had never seen before.

There is towering passageway, mountainous heaps of fallen rock and maze like sprawl. The types of rocks also vary.

Azief keep walking as he let his hand trace the walls. The stalactites and the stalagmites is strange and one of a kind.

Maybe there is others like it but it is clearly different kind of stalactites and stalagmites that is present during before the world expansion

Some of these stalactites glows red, some of them glows blue and the same could be said for the stalagmites.

Some of them even forms a formation by itself which emanates energies that could be manipulated.

Azief walk deeper to the cave, sensing Hikigaya is on the deepest part of the cave.

Every once in a while he would see sinkholes, sinking streams and rivers inside the caves. The sinkholes are deep and one could see there is even beast inside those sinkholes.

The rivers on the other had only a little of monster in it and most of them are no carnivorous. The water itself is clear and clean.

There are even trees but unlike the trees on the surface, these trees seem terrifying with sharp branches and hairy fruits.

Some of them are even black like it had been scorched with fire or a trees that had emerge from the underworld of the dead

Some of them however look more normal like the kind of trees that one would see on the surface.

These kinds of normal looking tree usually grows around the streams. The fruits it produced also looks yummy and appears to be edible.

There is even grass that is growing with the speed that is unbelievable.

It is like one seeing the acceleration of time as one part of the cave which probably is barren and rocky before is transformed into a bed of green

There are of course insects.

Some of them were small insects.

There is also some of the big ones.

Azief encounter a horde of mosquitoes the size of a table.

Of course, Azief just destroy them the moment they show any indication that they wanted to attack.

Some of these insects are large but they did not attack, instead they eat the fruits and drink the water streams.

Those that did not attack him were left alone

There are some bats the size of small truck hanging on the ceiling of the tall caves. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

He walks leisurely and not before long he finally reaches the area where he senses Hikigaya is at

'He is sure living large' Azief thought to himself

In the deepest area of the cave is also the largest opening area with large vast clearing. There is an entrance gate.

The entrance gate had a plaque on top of it. Azief look at it and he smiles. It is written in Japanese but the translation function of the system quickly translates it for him

The Infinite Worlds.

Azief smiles as he walks inside the entrance gate.

There is a marble temple on the distance.

At least it appears like that. Instead it looks more like a palace when one comes near to it. The palace itself is large and vast, white in colors and possess beautiful gardens.

On the entranceway to the palace, he could see flowers that he had never seen before. It is not an illusion.

This palace, the gardens, the trees and the grass, the comforting wind and the sweet scent of spring, all of this is not an illusion.

Hikigaya had crafted this palace for himself inside the darkness of these caves. The white marbles shine a light that is not too bright or too dim, just enough to shine the way

If one looks from afar, it was like the palace is a glowing star, a paradise inside the darkness of these gloomy large cave.

And he smiles

Chapter 945: Heart demons

He arrives in the front door

Before he could push the door opens, the door opens slowly. Standing on the center of the palace first floor is Hikigaya. He looks fine and healthy, like there is nothing wrong with him

Azief narrowed his eyes and the end of his lips curved up

looks can be very deceiving especially when it has something to do with the Illusionist Archmage

Azief did not mince words now that he had arrived

'Is it worse?' Hikigaya nodded.

'Where are you?' he asks Hikigaya.

Azief with one glance could see that the Hikigaya in front of him is nothing more than just an illusion projection. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

That is why the Hikigaya in front of him look like there is nothing wrong with him

Azief after all had seen the true state of Hikigaya before.

He knows that Hikigaya right now is probably suffering from the backlash and trying to contain his mind from going crazy. How could he be this calm?

'Here' Hikigaya said as the space inside the palace folded and there is a split in the area one foot away from the projection illusion. The projection illusion of Hikigaya smiles bitterly and said

'I could not hold on much longer' Saying this the projection illusion disappear in a puff of smoke.

Azief walk toward that split space and enter with hesitation.

The moment he enters that space he could feel his body is split into atoms before reassembling back and then he notices he is inside a chamber.

This chamber is a sealing chamber. In that one moment, Azief had spread out his Divine Sense the moment he arrived at this chamber.

He saw Hikigaya sitting on the ground, his legs crossed.

Circling him is six pillars that are staked into the ground. All of these pillars had that same kind of ideographic characters he saw outside.

'Sealing yourselves?' Azief asked. Hikigaya saw Azief. Azief was kind of shocked when he saw Hikigaya.

Hikigaya's face is pale. His skin wrinkled and his eyes are red because of the pressure on his mind.

One could only imagine the kind of pressure that one would have to endure to make a Divine Comprehension's eyes turn red because of the pressure of the mind.

'What is the effect?' Azief asked.

'Illusions that come from my heart' Hikigaya replied.

They did not mince words.

There is no need for it right now. The situation is critical.

Azief could see that these six pillars are to seal the damage of an Illusion Implosion if something went out of control from Hikigaya's minds.

No one should underestimate the power of an uncontrollable illusion that is let loose. Especially with Hikigaya being a Divine Comprehension leveler right now.

Other than him and Jean, no one would be able to free themselves from Hikigaya's illusion if he went out of control.

No one knows how dangerous Hikigaya is other than both Azief and Jean. Sometimes the worst enemy one could have is oneself.

Azief sighed.

'Heart Demons' he thought to himself.

If this was the Three Thousand Worlds of the Jade Empire, the backlash that Hikigaya is experiencing now looks the same like the symptom of a Heart Demon.

'You work hard'

'And this is what I get' Hikigaya said with a sigh.

Azief did not say anything else for a few seconds.

Hikigaya is still showing an expression of pain. Right now, he might be talking with Azief, but his mind might be experiencing extreme torture.

No one knows one's own deep fear, uncertainty, doubt and desire more than one's own heart.

It takes all of his concentration to talk with Azief and at the same time trying to hold back the illusions in his mind from taking over him.

Hikigaya's predicament right now is not to fall into any of that illusion that his mind could conjure up.

The moment he falls into any of his illusion, the best case scenario would be for him to lose his consciousness.

The worst case scenario was that he would unleash his illusion power to the world.

If the Moon and the Sun once again transformed into his eyes, his illusion could reach the whole world and influence all living beings.

That is a terrifying thought

Azief come closer and the pillars trembles.

'I would help you' But Hikigaya did not seem particularly happy. His forehead veins are straining but he looks at Death Monarch with wariness.

'What do you want from me?' Azief chuckles.

'This is why I like talking with smart people'

Azief then said

'Look over Loki. Protect Sofia. And take Pandemonium side if the World Council is called upon' Azief did not beat around the bush

Hikigaya only took a second to make his decision. He then said

'Loki probably would be fine even without my help. Still, if he does get into any trouble that he could not solve, I could help him. As for Sofia, I could send a Mark to her. It would help her if she encounters any danger later when you are gone. As for Pandemonium.... I could only take your side, once'

Azief nodded with a smile.

Then he said

'I owe you one' Hikigaya nodded

With Hikigaya there is no need for long words. He could immediately understand Azief intention.

Then he took another step. The distance between him and Hikigaya is only around half feet.

The pillars that is staked to the ground cracks as the fragments slowly falls down to the ground.

Azief body is bursting with thirteen auras that crack the chambers walls and causes the entire palace to crumble.

There are all kinds of phenomenon that is happening inside the cave as the thirteen aura was unleashed.

The thirteen aura is derived from his thirteen laws and as such each laws affect the weird thing that is happening all over the cave.

'How will you help me?' Hikigaya eyes.

'I will kill your heart' Azief said. Hikigaya eyes widened.

'Do not worry. It would not affect you. It is like an external help, a guide to help you navigate your own fears, to extricate you from your desires and to give you answers for your uncertainty' Azief then took another step and he appeared right in front of Hikigaya.

Another burst of energy exploded out from Azief body. But this time, the energy that is coming out from him is very different from the energy that comes out because of his Laws.

His hazel eyes turn golden and his body emits golden haloes all over his body as swirling golden mist shrouded him

The pillars exploded into pieces as they could no longer bear the pressure from both Hikigaya and Azief at the same time

Hikigaya frowned when Azief first suddenly burst out his energy without warning. But Hikigaya immediately understood what Azief was trying to do.

He is trying to incite him and agitate him

Azief wanted the illusion to let loose, for him to be enveloped by his Thoughts.

The moment that pillars crumbled down, all the effort that Hikigaya had made to keep his Heart Demon under control all crumbled down like a house of cards.

Hikigaya screams in pain as he clutched over his head. Right now, he had broken from his pose of sitting cross legged.

He is now kneeling on the ground, while clutching his head. His head is full of bulged out veins. His forehead is sweating furiously and his entire body is trembling and shivering.

Pain filled his mind and that in turn affected his body.

His irises which had a spiral pattern in it is spinning in a circle inside his eyes. Illusion appears all over the chambers as his eyes went out of control.

All kinds of illusion formed itself.

That pillars are the only thing that had restrained his power from getting out of control. It is like his chain was cut off and now the energy that he had restrained burst out in a great explosion.

Azief only smiles at all the illusion that suddenly appears in the chamber as he mutters

'It is still weak enough' Saying this, Azief's entire being burst out with even more powers.

Thirteen Laws appeared inside the chambers and the entire cave is trembling. The illusions inside the chambers all were cut by the thirteen laws aura.

The entire continent of Japan is now shaking and trembling.

The shores of the sea receded as great force exploded from beneath the sea, and this force is coming up to create a large tsunami.

The entire continent seems to be shaken by great force, tremors shake the mountains and the hills. The forest outside the caves was flattened by an invisible force.

Those who is in the continent were all shaken by this sudden tremors and force but none of them thought weirdly of it.

After all, all kinds of thing are happening on Earth right now.

A large tremor and earthquake is not an anomaly.

But someone clad in lightning, who is now amidst a thunderstorm absorbing the thunder suddenly stopped

Even though he was not quite sure, he felt there is something familiar that he felt when the continent quakes before.

But he ignores it a second later. It is not surprising that Oreki could not detect it. After all, the difference of Azief and him is very different

Chapter 946: Fear, doubt and uncertainty \(1\)

Inside the chamber Azief golden eyes then changed as it is now glowing with blue colors and the burst of his energies suppresses the illusion power of Hikigaya.

It captures every parts of the illusion particles that is about to exploded out. It chained them and brought it back toward Azief.

Each of those illusion particles form into a floating orb shining with rainbows colors.

It floated all over the chamber and then it was absorbed into Azief body and then he crouched down to look at Hikigaya

They are now at eye level.

Hikigaya is still holding his head and he is screaming in pain as more and more illusion fills his mind and it is hard for him to maintain his sanity.

If not for Azief restraining the illusion, who knows what would happen to Japan right now? They too might also be affected by the illusion and does something they regret.

Balfor attack did a lot of thing to Hikigaya. Azief did not came just because Hikigaya had some use to him.

He also came because Hikigaya help him. And he came because he could feel a trace of Balfor in Hikigaya.

Maybe, Hikigaya himself did not notice it. But as Azief had fought with Balfor before, he is quite sure that there is a trace of Balfor in Hikigaya.

Once bitten, twice shy.

Azief would deal with any trace that Balfor left. If he could even transform himself from a drop of blood, who knows what Balfor could do if he left his trace inside Hikigaya?

Maybe, he has even more plans. So, even if Hikigaya did not promise him anything, he would still try to solve Hikigaya problem. That is why he said to Hikigaya that he owes him one.

And there is something else that piqued Azief interest. The Heart Demon of Hikigaya.

Who knows whether the desire that is in his heart right now is his desire or Balfor desire?

Who knows if the fears in his heart is his fears of the fears that Balfor had planted inside of Hikigaya?

The backlash of a mental attack is never something that is pretty.

Azief sighed and then he lifted his hand.

The moment he lifted his hand, an illusory small wheel appears in front of his palm. The Wheel is like the mini wheel that represent the Wheel of Reincarnation and Rebirth.

'I am strong enough to use it like this' he thought to himself with a smile of confidence. After all, this is a small problem. Big problem is like if Balfor comes out with his true body.

How could Azief summon the full Wheel of Reincarnation and Rebirth just to solve one Heart Demon.

That is like trying to kill a mosquito with a cannon

The Wheel of Reincarnation and Rebirth is one of the artifact most potent in dealing with mental attack.

It is a place where Azief could seal his enemies and tortures them with the Six Path. But it could also be used to know oneself, to understand oneself and to remove doubt and fear.

It could be used against mental backlash like this.

Azief then smack Hikigaya forehead.

The smack is very gentle.

But, to Hikigaya it was like Azief had smacked his head with a hammer

The Wheel enters Hikigaya mind. And the moment he did that, Hikigaya was sent back into his mind, this time forcing him to face the things in his mind

Hikigaya look his fears and once again he had to see the things he did not want to see the most. But unlike before, in the darkness of his fears, he could see that there is a golden figure.

This golden figure sat upon a golden lotus and when the fear got so bad that it threatens to overwhelm him, this golden figure would appear and guide him to defeat his fears.

At times, this golden figures would even fight and kill the object of his fears.

It felt like a thousand years had passed as he keeps fighting against his fears. With each fears that he defeated, he become even braver and more valiant.

He faces everything heads on and no longer cower. Even if it is something he fear, he no longer runs away.

And then the golden figure could no longer be seen until finally Hikigaya realizes that he is now the golden figure and wherever he steps, golden lotuses formed.

He had free himself from his fear. But then he was once gain transported into another place this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

The space spirals and when he blinks, he is at another place that he could not quite figure out

Before he could determine where he is, uncertainty plagues his heart.

This mental torture is different from facing his fears.

For his fears, he could cut it apart. He could choose to move forward regardless of the darkness in front, accepting the consequences of his action.

The uncertainty however forces him to not even move.

He had the courage but the uncertainty makes him hesitates, make him delayed and soon enough, he did not even move.

What good is golden lotuses if he did not move and did not know where to move?

His golden light that comes from him slowly dimmed. Hikigaya with each passing seconds doubt every single decision he had made. But then golden lotuses bloom at Hikigaya most depressive state.

These golden lotuses fill the entire darkness that it seems trillions of lotuses blooms at the same time. On top of each of these lotuses is a golden figure.

This golden figures all have the same face.

Hikigaya felt familiar looking at the face of that golden figure. He had the feeling that he once had saw such face before but he just couldn't remember it

The trillions of golden figures look at him, the gaze is gentle and comforting. Then, these golden figures speak.

It speaks like they were one and the same, and their words echoes all over

A sutra-like chants fills the darkness. It drives the darkness and brings clarity.

Every single uncertainty that he had was answered. It was then Hikigaya saw a change on the golden figures.

The faces of the golden figures changes. And it changes to him. He then understood who is answering his question. It is not that golden figures who answer his question.

It is his heart answering his doubt and uncertainty.

The sutra-like chants were actually the answers to his uncertainty.

So, Hikigaya close his eyes and listen. Like a song that cleanses the heart and rejuvenate the souls, slowly, Hikigaya could rid out of the uncertainty and doubt in his heart.

He got up and then he opens his eyes.

There are no longer trillions of golden figures filling up the entire space. Instead there is no one but him.

Hikigaya then understood. Those trillions of golden figures are himself.

It is in his heart. He is now able to move. Uncertainty and doubt had been purged from his heart.

He took a step and then like lightning he could move wherever he wants. His heart is free and as such his body is also free.

Then the area spirals again and Hikigaya is now inside a room. This room is full of his desires. The carnal ones and the not so carnal ones.

When one desires had been fulfilled, another would come down.

The room changes all the times, all of it seems brief and ethereal, like he is inside a boudoir of pleasure.

All of his desire were fulfilled in this room that had no border. The room could stretch to infinity and everything he could want would appear the moment he thinks of it.

He felt that this should be his reward. He had been fighting his fears, he had endured the uncertainty and doubt and this is his reward.

Everything he could ever desires is now his for the taking. It is his paradise.

He did not know how many years he had spent inside the room but it felt like tens of thousands of years had passed.

Slowly, he forgets his fears. He forgets his uncertainty. And then he started forgetting who he is and what he is doing.

He was drowned with pleasures and happiness that never ceased. The banquet last forever, and there is no sadness, not obstacles, no hardship.

The life is full of happiness and at some point he did not even know what he is happy about.

Slowly, it felt like he is melding with the pleasure like he couldn't differentiate which is him and what is pleasure, like he is turning into an intangible concept.

But then, a creaking sound fills the room. The creaking sound at first was a subtle sound. It sounds like the winds that passed by.

But slowly that sound grew louder. And then like thunder and lightning it shakes the room. The desires he had was extinguished one by one.

Amidst the dancing women, the entrancing sound of music, there is a man, standing amidst the dirty desires.

On top of his head is a halo that covers him. Golden light emanated out from him and his eyes is golden bright. Wherever he gazes, the object of his desires dissipated like it was dust.

Then slowly he remembers his name. his name is Hikigaya.

Chapter 947: Fear, doubt and uncertainty \(2\)

He remembers where he is and then the room stabilized. He remembers his fears so he also remembers how he overcame it. His heart now has a flame ignited by his bravery.

He remembers his uncertainty and how his heart answers his uncertainty and now there is determination in his eyes. He got up from the bed and the women around him, the pleasure that he did not want dissipated.

His eyes become cold but at the same time it become bright.

The golden figure looks at him and he look at the golden figure. This time, he not only recognizes that face, he also remembers whose face it is.

'Death Monarch' Hikigaya said.

The golden figure smiles and Azief put his hand together like a monk.

The moment that hand is put together, the sound of the hand was like someone had close a door. The room disperse into smokes and Hikigaya is now on a starry sky.

There are millions of stars but wherever he looks, he could not see any planets.

Instead there is only emptiness. But then the stars glow bright and like it had revealed itself, a Wheel appears from the void.

It was a titanic wheel, and it seems to expand infinitely.

The Wheel spins and Hikigaya could see there is trillions of souls inside that Wheel, all living their lives in a realm of trials and tribulation.

'How was it?' the voice echoes all over and it felt like this word, could destroy the stars and any living beings but when it arrived on Hikigaya ears, it was gentle and welcoming.

Hikigaya then saw Azief appears.

Only this time, he appears as a titanic golden figure. His eyes shining golden look toward Hikigaya. Hikigaya right now is no different than a speck of space dust compared to the size of Azief right now

Hikigaya did not feel fear. Because Azief did not appears in such manner to frighten him.

Hikigaya remembers the question that Azief had asked him

'It drives away my fear, uncertainty, doubt and my evil desires' he replies. Azief then said.

'I just sealed it. I did not destroy it yet' With a gentle smile, like an all embracing deity, and bathing in golden light, he declares with solemnity

'I will slay that evil desires that Balfor had put into you. Since I could enlighten him in the Six Paths before, I could do it again'

Hikigaya finally understood why there is so many evil desires in his heart. When the backlash happens, Balfor Q'un put also his evil desire inside Hikigaya heart

Even though that evil desire would not be able to kill Hikigaya, it would weaken him.

And even though it could eventually be rid of, it would take a long time and by then, there might be other hidden dangers that would appear inside Hikigaya's mind and heart

Azief is intending to rid out that evil desire from Hikigaya's heart.

Since he would go away from Earth a week from now, the evil desire inside Hikigaya is like a ticking time bomb that Azief had to neutralize

If not, he could not rest easy. Who knows what kind of thing that the Demon King had planted inside Hikigaya's heart.

He then put his hand together and the power of the Six Paths gathers at his fingertips.

The palms slammed each other and a sound echoes inside this empty space, like a bell tolling so loud that every living being that is in existence could hear it

The sound echoes and enters Hikigaya's ears and then Hikigaya could see a dark reddish aura coming out from his body.

He looks at it with disgust. At the same time Hikigaya also uses his energy to push that aura out of his body

'Small things' Azief snorted as he opens up his palm,

"With one strike, driving Gods and Devils Away. Struggle with fate, kind nature must be cultivated, With One Strike, cut apart evil existence!"

The declaration turns into a Divine Decree as the forces of the Six Paths of Reincarnation and Rebirth gather around Azief's palm

He then strikes toward that dark reddish aura. His palm is a gigantic palm that would smack any stars into dust. And that palm is now heading toward that aura.

A powerful pressure then descends down upon that aura. Before the palm had even reached the aura, the aura had thinned considerably

And then when the palm does arrive, the aura was crushed into nothingness.

At the same time Hikigaya felt like his body was released from something heavy.

Like a chain that had bound itself upon all of his mind, he felt his mind opened up and the experiences that he had gained from the trials of his mind baptized him and he could feel that his cultivation rises again.

Hikigaya looks toward Azief and he bowed.

'Thank you' Azief shakes his head and simply said

'Give and take' Hikigaya nodded and then as he blinks, the world inside his mind is no longer a scene he suddenly realizes he is back in his chamber.

He looks around and he did not see Death Monarch anymore

He could only see a trace of footprints in front of him that was undoubtedly left by Death Monarch before when he had lower himself to smack down his palm onto his forehead.

Only five second had passed from Azief smacking his forehead to now.

It felt like tens of thousands of years had passed in his mind, but only five second had passed.

‘The illusion of the mind’ he mutters to himself.

The moment that Azief smack his hand onto Hikigaya forehead, he then solves Hikigaya backlash and then quickly went away.

Unlike others, he did not have to talk too long with Hikigaya. The relationship between them is not close but to said it is distant is also not quite accurate either.

Hikigaya knows what he had to do and as such Azief had finished setting up protection for the people around him. If one plans crumbles, there is still other that would emerge.

With Raymond, Hikigaya protecting Sofia and his other friends, he could rest a little bit easy if he does not return back to Earth as he expected.

Hikigaya got up and he could see that his chamber was utterly destroyed. The palace that he had created had also cracked.

He sighed and he crack his neck. Then he smiles

‘My recovery is faster than I anticipated. Death Monarch is a man with many means. It is truly remarkable.’ He does not forget what he had promised Death Monarch.

But Death Monarch is still here on Earth.

Right now, he did not yet have to make a move to protect those people.

But he does have a target in his mind that he needs to settle first before he would be at ease protecting other people

After all, he needs to protect himself first before he could worry about other people.

It is time to settle old scores and fortify his own position before the World Government had a chance to respond.

‘I need to meet with Oreki. He must be jealous right now’ And then he laughed.

Coming out from his palace, his eyes seems to be able to see through everything.

The Laws around him were like strings and waves and he could see it very clearly. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

‘It is beautiful’ Azief had thought the same thing when he could see the Laws of the world with his eyes. It is very beautiful. It is quite a pity human could not see it before.

Only until reaching to some kind of advanced life from that they could see it. The beauty of it is hard to describe. It fills the vision and one hearts and mind.

This feeling of expansiveness in one heart could not be described by words. That is how magical it is to see the Laws of the world with one own eyes.

Of course, Hikigaya could describe the shapes of the laws which is as numerous as all the sands on the beaches of Earth

He could describe their colorful colors that possess variety of hues and spectrums.

He could describe all of this thing and still he would find it inadequate to describe the beauty of it all.

There are some types of beauty in this Universe, that words are lacking to describe it.

This kind of beauty is something that could be experienced but not described. By describing, you are limiting it.

'Death Monarch.... does he see every day? Did he see the same thing as I see or is it different than mine? His Grand Path is different than mine. It would not be surprising if he sees different things than me' he thought to himself.

There is a smile on his face. Not only because he sees this kind of beauty but also because right now, he is feeling very liberated.

There were many things that have burdened him in the past. But right now, as he stands above all others, he felt that the chains that had restrained him all this time is slowly unraveling.

He laughed inside the cave as his laugh echoes all over, expressing this feeling of happiness in his heart.

Chapter 948: Fear, doubt and uncertainty \(3\)

He looks at his status windows and he could see that his status windows are very blurry. Some of it is even disappeared. But just because some of the status window table had disappeared did not mean his ability itself disappeared.

'I am reaching the peak' he thought to himself. He also had an understanding of his Grand Path when he had broken through to Divine Comprehension.

He felt liberated because now he could solve all the problems that he found to be very troublesome in the past.

Thinking of troublesome matter, he thought of Oreki.

He would surely say

'Troublesome, troublesome' if he is on his shoe.

It is quite interesting. That the person he wanted to meet the most right now, is not his girlfriends or his sister (who he loved dearly but at the same time, envious with) but Oreki Oreki was a slacker in the past. But he had changed. And so does Oreki. He could not afford to be the way he is before. And Oreki could not afford to be lazy.

Because right now, many people live depended on them. Hikigaya could not be like Azief, not caring anything about the world and only caring about his family. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Oreki also could not be like that. He might seem nonchalant but Oreki protect the people he loved as fiercely as Death Monarch does

He and Oreki had been great friends and they regarded each other as comrade. It is hard to believe for Hikigaya who always were more like an antisocial person in the past.

If Loki knows this, he would surely though that while certain things have changed, there are still more things that did not change.

In the War of Sovereigns, these two had joined hands to kill Katarina.

Loki did not know how the two Sovereigns kill Katarina but that alone shows that Oreki and Hikigaya relationship was close in the other timeline

Katarina if not for her being besieged by two other Sovereigns, how could she would easily be destroyed. The dye she died, snows filled the whole world and the seas frozen over.

Winters wind blows and froze cities and kingdoms. Hails of sharp snows descend from the sky and destroys the ground the entire world was weeping

The death of a Sovereign before that battle was only theorized but was never realized

Because, before the War of the Sovereigns, none of the Sovereign had ever been killed. The death of Katarina on that day make all of the living beings on Earth stunned.

When one becomes a Sovereign, they were one with the Heaven.

They become the Heaven itself.

That is the whole point of Battle for the Divine Throne.

Even after they no longer sat on the Divine Throne, an essence of themselves remains on the Heavenly Will.

It is the reason why even after leaving the Divine Throne and fulfilling their duty to the world, that the Sovereign still possess great powers over the Heavenly Laws of Earth and the Milky Way galaxy.

At that time, the Heaven Will is already strong and the control it had reached to cover the whole Milky Way galaxy and even slowly encroaching beyond the Milky Way galaxy

At that time, there were only one person that manage to extract back their essence of power from the Heavenly Will and still be able to control the Heavenly Law with ease and that person is God of Death.

Still, before that fateful day, no one thought that the death of a Sovereign is possible. They were always sayings that only Sovereign could kill Sovereign.

But, in the end, that was a saying and before that battle that saying is not a fact and merely speculations.

To them, killing the avatars of the Sovereign is simply to destroy the physical form. Because the Heavenly Will would reconstruct back the body of the Sovereign, making them practically immortal in the truest sense of the word

They would only perish if Heaven and Earth perish. There were a few people in history that had manage to destroy the avatars of a Sovereign before.

But, the only reason they were able to do so is simply because the Sovereign was not serious. If they do become serious, the forces of Heaven and Earth would come after that person.

To many living beings on the galaxy, Sovereign is like a Supreme Being.

And on Earth at that time and the surrounding planets around Earth, Sovereign is superior and divine which all living beings looked up to and aspired toward.

It would be a great humiliation for them even if only their bodies were destroyed, and their personal prestige would be undermined.

But what Hikigaya and Oreki had done truly and effectively killed Katarina and even her essence that was in the Heavenly Will was destroyed.

Hence one could understand the wrath of God of Death. Hikigaya and Oreki was fighting for the World Government at that time.

God of Death come out from a portal and as revenge he had killed Hikigaya and Oreki, scattering their essence before it fizzles out into nothingness making sure they were unable to be reincarnated or revive

No one could have expected that day, would not only validate the sayings that only Sovereign could kill Sovereign, it would also be a day where three of the Seven Sovereign that fought in the war to die

When Oreki and Hikigaya died, the whole Universe began to shake.

A bright sunny day suddenly rained blood drops. Ghostly apparitions and illusion fills the world

The lands of illusions, the Infinite Worlds that Hikigaya had created turns into a white fog that covers the whole world, creating a nightmarish land.

Thunder and lightning fills the skies as the snows and the winter winds keep blowing

Sadness lingered about Heaven and Earth, as if the world was weeping for the death of the Sovereign.

Seeing this phenomenal sign, all living beings jolted as if awakening from a dream.

The death of Katarina prompted the God of Death to come out from his seclusion and unleash his power into the world and ultimately dooming the two Sovereigns.

Even at that time Hikigaya and Oreki did not even thought of leaving each other behind as they joined hands to try to defeat the God of Death

Even until death, they did not leave each other. If in this timeline, the story of the bond of brotherhood between Death Monarch and Will is popularized, in Loki timeline, the brotherhood between Hikigaya and Oreki touched the world even after their death.

Things are a bit different than Loki timeline but it could not be denied, that this change did not affect the blossoming friendship between Oreki and Hikigaya.

Hikigaya then saw where Oreki was smiling, his entire beings turn into tens of thousands of glowing fireflies and flies out toward a cloudy skies filled with lightning on another part of the world.

The scene is very beautiful.

At the same time, Jean who was on the faraway hill suddenly look toward a direction toward his left and he frowned.

'Hikigaya is out. It seems that Death Monarch is really busy' he thought to himself. Others might not be able to get the most updated news but he could

He clearly sees that Death Monarch is preparing for his eventual departure.

Around him, there is many people supplying him with energy. But, his feeling is very complicated when looking at one of the woman who is also supplying him with energy

Sofia was there supplying him with his energy. To him, she did not have any responsibility for this matter.

But the fact she is here, helping him, what does this means? He could only sigh inwardly at this.

Everyone here probably also have the same question. But he could only shove that question down in his mind. After all this is not his matter.

This is the love drama of Death Monarch. It had nothing to do with him.

He could only sigh inwardly when he thinks about it.

Right now, because of how hard it is to communicate unless Jean who could feely go wherever he wanted to, the other did not yet knows that Death Monarch is meeting a lot of people and setting in motions many things

It is clear that Hikigaya quick recovery had something to do with Death Monarch. Death Monarch might have his own plans.

But his plans might trigger problems for other people. Jean hope that Hikigaya could see the bigger picture and not start something.

Jean then focus back his mind toward the portal making sure the time dilation of the portal did not exceed what is appropriate.

Right now, he is already slowly decreasing his Time Avatar all over the world while consolidating and increasing the power on his main body.

This is a long day for the world

Chapter 949: Crashing down

At the same time this was happening on Earth, on a continent somewhere, there is a large forest that is now burning.

The flames were so high that it reaches the clouds.

The heat distorts the space around the flame

Smokes fills the sky and there is even storms of wind that went out of course around this continent.

This is one of the continent that appears magically during the world expansion. This particular continent did not have any lifeforms or creatures yet

It appeared suddenly during the world expansion and nourished by the energy of the world, the barren land that come here from god knows where, suddenly sprouted trees and tree sprouted branches and these branches sprouted fruit and before long, the entire continent was filled with trees, creating a continent rich with forestry

It was greenery all around. If this was before the Fall, this kind of forest would surely be the jewel of the world

Life force around this continent is very thick and one would feel refreshed if they were to take a walk inside this forest

The formation of this continent is without a doubt magical in its nature.

But a few moments ago, suddenly something falls from the sky, and crashed onto this continent

This thing that falls from the Heavens was so fast and the impact of the crash create a massive quake in the center of it the ripples of the shockwave flattened the forest around five hundred kilometer radius and the resulting impact also followed by a large explosion of fire that burns the forest outside that radius.

Even now, the ripples of the shockwave still linger. Something had fallen from the sky and created this terrifying calamity

Luckily, there is no lives here. If there is a city here, then that city would probably be obliterated in the first initial impact

Whatever it is, it must be something very powerful to create such disaster just by crashing down

The flames happened because of the friction of the speed and the impact of the things clashing together

On the epicenter of this disaster, someone come out from a wreckage of metals. Around him purplish light comes and goes as the energy around the area seems to be disintegrated

The purplish light did not come from this someone but instead coming out from the wreckage.

The wreckage is a wreckage of a spaceship.

It is burning on almost all of its part. And the wings were shredded apart. There are deep gashes on the sides of the spaceship.

Fortunately, enough, it was not able to shred the inner hull.

Most of the other parts of the ships were thrown to the sea and probably had already crashed on the bottom of the sea or probably it is still coming down to the bottom.

That is probably the method of this person to make sure that the spaceship would not create more damages to the world

Smokes is coming from the destroyed spaceship. It is burning purple and the smokes is also not gray or black, instead it was reddish with purplish halos around it.

The smokes have the ability to affect the energy of the world.

though, one could not say it did not affect the energy of the world negatively, one could not say it affect the energy of the world positively too.

It is fortunate that this continent is uninhabited.

Powerful emanation of energy enveloped the spaceship

Any way you look at it, the spaceship is of alien origin. Coming out from that wreckage is someone who has green skin all over his body.

Purple blood drips down from his wound as he staggers walking out from the wreckage, flinging some of the metal door that blocked his way six feet away.

'Hah' he panted as he walks further and further from the wreckage.

An entire forest had been burned and two hundred kilometers radius of forestry around the radius of the crash had been flattened

Deep gashes on the earth and all kinds of small craters were formed all around that spaceship. Of course, the large crater is where the main crash happened

Most of the small crater on the other hand was formed because of the fragments of things that had fallen down from the spaceship

He leaned on one of the large trees that covered the sun and the clouds above his head as he slid down and take his breath

This one particular tree that was close to the crash was not flattened or burned. With one glance that person knows that is because the tree itself is a magical tree.

It is not something surprising for this person as this person had seen all kinds of magical things in his journey

His body is trying to adapt with this planet. This person is none other an alien from another planet.

And the alien is none other than Fir Her Waz.

He had finally arrived on Earth.

He followed the path of the stars and uses the fastest speed of his spaceship to reach Earth but when he does arrive, a spatial energy storms had tear his spaceship apart.

The time and space tunnel of this world seems to be undergoing some kind of upheaval so when he had tried to enter the world with stealth by using the Time and Space tunnel by activating the Time Engine that he had installed on the spaceship, it malfunctioned and created a spatial storm of Time and Space that causes this crash

He did not want to be thought of as an invader so he had enacted some of the stealth protocol for the ship to land itself in a place where it would bring the least possible damage to this world.

It then crashed onto one of the continent that had popped off when the world expanded. Luck played a part in it but his quick thinking also helps.

Fir Her Waz spaceship is not some normal spaceship.

It is heavily armed and possess all kinds of advanced technologies from all kinds of civilization. Most of them are arms and weapons that could easily be compared to nuclear weapons of the past.

One could even say it was stronger as the being in the universe that had the power to roam the Universe alone probably have enough power to withstand even a nuclear explosion.

If one thing went wrong, and one of his weapons activated and exploded, it would trigger an explosion that could take out the entire Earth

Of course, this is basing off from the size of the Earth before the expansion.

Fir Her Waz had deactivated such weapons before his spaceship went crashing down.

Not only because he did not want to destroy worlds, he also did not want to be caught in such an explosion.

Even he probably would not come out of that explosion with all of his limb intact and he probably would suffer grievous injury if he tried to do such thing.

And the current situation is the best situation, he had crashed in an uninhabited continent without no humans and other life forms.

It created a large crater and his spaceship is wrecked but he did not destroy the world.

Earth seems to be bigger than the records he had read about it before.

As such, he could easily see there must be something that happened on Earth prior to his landing that causes him to put in the wrong calculation into the AI

‘By Othlana! What was that?’ he thought to himself as he bandages himself with the bandages spray.

When he sprays one can of the bandage spray, nanobots would fly toward his wound and repair his cells and act as a layer of skin that would speed up the healing process he was quite lucky to get out of it just by having this slight injury.

But, the pressure of the world is the problem right now

The pressure of the is the one that made him feel that he is weak right now. He then brought out a spherical orb from a pouch

It is actually the core of the artificial intelligence of the ship. Fir Her Waz protected this by reverting most of the shield power to the ship core during the crash

If not because of that the artificial intelligence might have some complications later.

‘AR 01, analyze the area and check any information you had on humans’

The spherical orb glows.

The spherical object is the AI of the ship or its physical form.

Since Fir Her Waz spaceship is modified and is not connected in any intergalactic network, he had to create his own private server for the AI of his ship.

He bought it in a black market and added a few modifications from the parts he bought from the Merchant of Sarens

Because it had lost many of its power source, it could not waste its energy by projecting itself in a hologram

Fir Her Waz waited.

As he waited, he thinks about a few things. Fir Her Waz did not know how lucky he was that he had fallen on a new continent with no other humans.

If not, judging from the sentiment of the people of this world toward aliens, Fir Her Waz would probably be hunted.

Not to mention he is injured now and while he is strong, his entire power is now being restricted by the power of heaven.

But, that is not all the luck he had.

there is also something covering him from the eyes of heaven. This is probably the blessing of Yewa Hafar.

Yewa Hafar found something on the moon but he did not forget one of his chess pieces even after being thrown out of Earth by Loki

This is one of the chess pieces he had set beforehand this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

He had prepared in advance.

After all, he knows that Fir Her Waz did not know that there were many eyes on him. There is another one that would also be paying the attention to him

And that would be the Trickster.

Chapter 950: On earth \(1\)

The Trickster is the other one that had been waiting for the arrival of Fir Her Waz.

One could even say he was even more interested in Fir Her Waz matter than Yewa Hafar

Loki had always been waiting for Fir Her Waz to arrive.

Yewa Hafar would not be surprised if Loki Number Seven had already seen Fir Her Waz on the edges corner of the Milky Way galaxy during their meet before

But even if Loki knew, he might not do anything about it. He would not stop it even if he knew that this is Yewa Hafar plans

That is why Yewa Hafar was so confident in this scheme of his.

Because Loki also needs Fir Her Waz to enter Earth. This is because it is to prevent a time paradox.

This relates heavily to the origin of Loki the Trickster and his rise to power.

Of all the thing Loki must change, the arrival of Fir Her Waz is something that Loki could not and must not change for his sake and for the sake of his plan

After all, most of the dark magic that Loki had learned come from the Book of Mysteries.

And the Book of Mysteries come from Fir Her Waz. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

If Fir Her Waz did not come on Earth, how would Loki then learns the spells and magic in the Book of Mysteries?

How would he then find a way to breakthrough to Sovereign level without using the Divine Throne?

How would he then prove his Grand Path? The Book of Mysteries is the catalyst.

To Fir Her Waz the Book of Mysteries is something he had but he had never understood it and its powers

But in the hands of Loki, the Book of Mysteries would truly bloom.

With that Book he wrote the oaths of many, binds the Will of the Omniverse and once a Deal is made, it could even withstand the strongest Sovereign, Azief the God of Death strikes.

Fir Her Waz needs to enter Earth for all of this to happen in the future

Yewa Hafar did not know what plans Loki had about Fir Her Waz but he could guess that this also have something to do with Loki origin.

After all, Loki must have think of a way to evade the paradox of time from consuming him.

The matter that baffled Yewa Hafar is actually of how Loki intends to return to Origin.

If not, time paradox would occur somehow and even many more changes would happen.

Of course, even though Fir Her Waz come ahead of schedule there is nothing that Loki could do about it.

Because, it is not like Loki could come up toward Fir Her Waz and then shoo him away and told him to come later, right?

Loki just had to adapt and improvise with the current condition. There were many things that Fir Her Waz did not notice when he enters Earth

The moment his carriage went inside Earth, something covered him and that is the magic of Yewa Hafar.

Fir Her Waz did not know but if he had entered without the protection and the blessing of Yewa Hafar, Azief who is essentially the Heavens of Earth would see him.

And if that was the case, with how weak Fir Her Waz is right now, Azief might not care about any of his reason and eliminate him almost immediately.

Even more so if he met with Fir Her Waz and learns his true purpose. Taking the World Orb is like taking the soul of Earth.

Since the Heavenly Will is not yet mature it is like yanking out the Heavenly Will ahead of schedule.

Then the world would probably lose its magical power that protects its and that would result in great destruction all over the world

Who knows how many people would lose their lives this time? How would Azief allowed it?

Azief is no longer someone that Yewa Hafar could control easily. Hence, he needed to cover up Fir Her Waz trace.

In the original timeline, this is not yet the time for Fir Her Waz to come. It should have happened after the New World War event

And there were many changes to that storyline. During that time, Yewa Hafar did not have to hide the spaceship of Yewa Hafar since at that time, Yewa Hafar is around half Sovereign level.

And Azief was already a Sovereign but he was not exactly always on Earth hence there is no need for Yewa Hafar to do more than the basic stealth

No one was sitting on the Divine Throne at that time since the Will of the World had already been ripped apart.

Even the Floating Palace of the Sovereign did not detect him. Floating Palace is what people called the residence of the Sovereigns but that is not exactly its accurate name

He then found the All Source and consumes it before becoming insane.

There is many Wills inside the All Source. The name of the All Source is very apt

And one must not forget, that the All Source is actually a weapon. And weapons are used to hurt, to kill and to destroy.

It would be surprising if a mere Half Sovereign could withstand the impact it had on his mind when he consumes it.

But this time, who knows how many things will be changed in the future by bringing Fir Her Waz ahead of schedule.

Yewa Hafar was anxious by the many changes to the fate of Azief.

The more he sees the world, and the people living in it, the more Yewa Hafar could see that destiny and fate of the world is changing drastically.

A great fortune is enveloping Earth Prime.

This is not the thing that worried Yewa Hafar. Since great fortune is usually followed by a great calamity.

And he saw how Loki is making sure his chess pieces fall into the right place at the right time. And he knows that he had to counterattack.

Even though he knew that future changes would change even more, he guided Fir Her Waz.

Most of the obstacles that he should have encountered was removed, avoided by Yewa Hafar guidance even though Fir Her Waz himself did not know it. Fir Her Waz is marked by destiny

And Yewa Hafar could manipulate this mark of destiny. He would weave his guidance in dreams and subconscious mind.

Yewa Hafar had as many names as the stars. One of them is called the Whisperer. In ancient lore of certain alien civilization, his whispers could bring down empires

And with this whispers, today Fir Her Waz arrive on Earth. Still, fate and destiny interferes. With the strength of Yewa Hafar right now, even Loki could kill him if he wanted

Hence, I would take time before Fir her Waz could fight against the heroes of this world. maybe, it would really happen like before. After the event of the New World War.

All of this is because Azief is no longer a weak person. So, Yewa Hafar had to do a drastic plan. He even had to use most of his reserve power to hide Fir Her Waz arrival on Earth

Azief is slowly walking toward Sovereign level. Once he did reach Sovereign level, Yewa Hafar would found it hard to even hide himself.

At that time, he needs to be even more cautious. Because of Loki, many things had changed. And many events are brought forward ahead of time

This does not mean that it is necessarily good. But, it doesn't mean that it is also bad. It depends on what cards they possessed.

Azief also had not broken his Perfection Path. This would make him even more formidable when he became Sovereign later

Even when he is not walking the Perfection Path before in the other timelines, he invites dread to the great powerhouse in the Omniverse, relying on his power and the ten rings on his fingers

Now, however, Fir Her Waz had chance to catch up.

Fir Her Waz did not know now that he enters Earth, he had already become the Castle.

The chess piece of Yewa Hafar in a game where the trickster would also use this Castle to his advantage

Unknowing of all this calculation and plans of these beings, Fir Her Waz is panting heavily, his back leaning on that tree but as time passes his panting slowly stabilized.

Fir Her Waz body had some injuries but it is quickly healing itself.

He breath hardly and then taking a deep breath and regaining his bearing he then said to the AI core.

‘Prepare a disguise’ The AI analyze the people of Earth from its archive and then it scans Fir Her Waz body.

Then around thirteen small dots flew out from the core and it was injected on thirteen spot on Fir Her Waz body.

Lights come out form this thirteen spots as Fir Her Waz suddenly morphed into a handsome young man of six feet six with long hair, green eyes and muscly body wearing a white robe, having a rugged face that emits masculine charm.

If one looks at Fir Her Waz right now, one would think that he is a human. A handsome human Fir Her Waz then store back the AI Core in his storage space inside the pouch he bought from the Merchant of Sarens.

‘This is Earth’ he muttered to himself. He had been searching for this planet since he got the guidance of the Three Fates in Belthana.

Now, that he is here, he is closer to his objectives. But, then he frowned. He remembers that Yewa Hafar is here.

The All Source is highly related with the Destroyer.

But then he shook his head.

‘Even if the Acolyte of Destroyer itself in in my way, I would not relent’ Fir Her Waz clench his fist, determination shining in those clear eyes of his.
