

She Unveils 301

Chapter 301 What Kind Of Daddy Is He?

When they arrived at Seattle City, Shirley and Mr. Quintin parted ways.

She had been looking forward to this moment for a long time, but her simple-minded daughter was sad and clingy to Mr. Quintin, unwilling to let go.

“Daddy, are we going to separate now? I can’t bear to leave you. Can you go home with me and live with me, Mommy, and Bennett?”

“Well...”

Mr. Quintin did not answer. Shirley kept a straight face and refused, “No!”

“Why not? Daddy, Mommy, and babies should live together, right?”

“Alisha, listen to Mommy. This guy is not a good person. You can just play with each other. If you want him to live with us, it’s no different from getting a monster inside our house. It’s too dangerous, so you can’t do that.”

“But I think Mr. Quintin is a good person. He doesn’t seem like a villain. He won’t hurt us. On the contrary, he will treat us well and take care of us.”

Alisha’s sweet face was full of trust for Mr. Quintin.

Although she had only spent less than two days with Mr. Quintin, she could feel that he was good to her. Such kindness was the same as Mommy’s. He had no evil intention. She could tell that.

“Why don’t you listen to me? It’ll be out of the question whenever I say no!”

Shirley was angry. She crossed her arms and said, “If you like him so much, you can go with him and stop recognizing me as your mommy!”

When Alisha heard this, she let go of Mr. Quintin and hugged Shirley’s thigh, saying lovingly, “Mommy, don’t be jealous. You will always be the one I love the most. No one can replace your importance to me. If I have to choose between you two, I will choose you without thinking!”

“Save your sweet words. It’s too late!”

Shirley turn her head and still looked angry.

She was not so easy to comfort. She had been jealous on her way back. If she didn’t let Alisha know the seriousness of the matter, what would happen in the future?

Mr. Quintin smiled and squatted down to speak to Alisha, “Alisha, I’ll be leaving then. I am afraid that if I continue to stay with you, your mommy will inflate like puffer fish and end up exploding.”

“Daddy, you understand my mommy well. She is like a child and needs to be pacified. Don’t worry, I will soothe her. After I take care of this, we can stay together!”

When Shirley heard this, she fanned the flames and said emotionally, "Isn't that so? The role of Daddy is important. We must choose carefully. How can we randomly take a man in... Bennett, Alisha usually listens to you. You have to teach her a lesson."

That was right, Bennett was the trump card that Shirley used to deal with Alisha.

Most of the time, Alisha might not listen to her reasoning, but whenever Bennett spoke, Alisha would listen as if he was her superior.

Sure enough, Bennett revealed a serious expression like a father. He pulled Alisha away and began to earnestly persuade her.

"Alisha, didn't I tell you that this world is complicated? In addition to Mommy, me, May, Ewan, and Nancy, anyone who comes close to us may be a bad person. If you randomly accept a daddy, what if this person is a villain and wants to hurt us or Mommy?"

In the past, Alisha would nod and engrave Bennett's words in her mind. But this time, she argued with Bennett for the first time. She pouted and her face flushed. "Bennett, I think you are wrong. How can there be so many bad people in this world? At least, the people I meet are all good to me. Daddy is a good person. He took care of Mommy when she was sick, played with me, raised me high, and promised to take me for a ride in a helicopter to let me experience the feeling of flying... How can someone good to me be a bad person?"

I

When Shirley and Bennett heard this, they both stamped their feet and sighed anxiously.

“Listen! What Alisha said is something only a top idiot will say. Wake her up! Otherwise, after she grows up, she will be overwhelmed by the love and suffer from dating a scum! Love will hurt her in the end!”

Shirley looked at Bennett and pinned all her hopes on him.

Bennett became even sterner and said with a straight face, “Alisha, if you continue to be so stubborn, I will be angry. If that Daddy is so amazing, then you should go with him and don’t be with me and Mommy anymore Alisha sighed and raised her hand to surrender. “Well, Mommy and you are more important. I promise you that I will ignore that Daddy from now on.”

Mommy and Bennett were a real headache for Alisha. They were both jealous. To appease them, Alisha had Steve seemed surprised. He stared at Shirley and sneered, "I didn't expect to see you here. Looks like you're not gonna leave Ewan alone. But you know what? Though Ewan's one of the Parker family, he's broke. No matter how hard you try, you can't get what you want from him. A gold digger isn't welcome here!"

Nancy was embarrassed when she heard that

"Dad, what are you talking about? Shirley's way out of Ewan's league. Okay? You don't think that Shirley is interested in the Parker family's money, right? The Stewart family is much more powerful and wealthy than we are, but Shirley still left there. How would Shirley choose the Parker family, not the Stewart family? Come to your senses!"

"Shut up!"

Steve flared up.

Steve was mad that all Ewan could think about was Shirley, and Nancy blatantly challenged his authority “Did I say something wrong? Shirley is richer than you know. She doesn’t care about money at all. Given that, how would she approach Ewan for money? Don’t be ridiculous.”

“Oh?”

Steve’s expression immediately changed. He looked at Shirley with a complicated expression and said, “Does that mean Ms. Wilson has got me what I asked?”

Shirley smiled coldly, “Yes. Here’s the money. I hope you can go easy on Ewan and let him take charge of the Parker Group as promised.”

Steve said, “Of course, I will, but I need you to promise me one more thing. If you’re not okay with that, then we have nothing left to say.”

“What’s that, Mr. Parker?”

“If you can cut ties with Ewan and promise not to see him again, Ewan will still be the rightful heir to the Parker family and the Parker Group.”

Chapter 304 A Second-Hand Woman

As he heard Nancy’s “good idea”, Ewan’s furrowed brows finally relaxed a little.

At that time, Steve came to Ewan’s room. Like a general who had won a battle, Steve was very proud.

“Ewan, how do you feel now? Can you still move?”

Steve smiled. Apparently, he was in a good mood.

Ewan's expression was cold. He didn't even want to look at Steve. He said angrily, "Thank you, father, for showing mercy. I can still move."

"Oh, judging from your tone, you are still mad at me. I did it for your own good. You are my son. You can get all kinds of women. Why do you have to like a divorced woman?"

"Fortunately, that divorced woman still has some conscience. She actually collected enough money you owe the bank. You are indeed my son. You definitely got the charm from me..."

When Steve said that, he proudly patted Ewan on the shoulder.

Ewan said nothing.

There was still a deep lash mark on Ewan's shoulder, and he immediately grimaced in pain, speechless.

Nancy quickly defended Ewan and said angrily, "Dad, you still have the nerve to say it. Ewan has been pursuing Shirley for so many years. It's not easy for Shirley to open up her heart. But you... How could you break them up? How could you be so cruel? It's even more ruthless than breaking up Romeo and Juliet!"

"And now you admit that Ewan is your son. Before, you called him your unfilial son and threatened to beat him to death. Sure enough, now the money is in the account. It seems that the outside world said that our family is a nouveau riche. I think they are right! We are money-grubbers!"

"Shut up, you damned girl. Do you have to be against me every day?"

Steve was scolded by Nancy until his face turned red. But he really doted on Nancy. He was not really angry. Instead, he happily said, "This is called killing two birds with one stone. I helped your brother solve the debt crisis and cut off the wrong relationship for him. I did everything for him! What do you know..."

After he finished his words, Steve looked at Ewan, his expression becoming a bit more serious, and he said coldly, "I think Nancy has already explained the situation to you very clearly. In the future, if you dare to go near that divorced woman again, she will be the punished one."

Ewan snorted coldly. There was no longer any respect in his eyes as he looked at Steve. There was only deep disappointment and indifference. "You've never said no to me as I grew up. Can you tell me why you have to be so ruthless in this matter? Why can all the women in the world be allowed but not her?"

"Since you want to know, then I will tell you everything today..."

Steve took a deep breath, his gaze incomparably cold. "First, the Parker family can accept poor women, but not a second-hand woman that has been kicked out. Second, even if the Parker family can accept a second-hand woman, she can't be the second-hand woman that the Stewart family abandoned. Third, Shirley is an ominous woman with a curse on her. The Parker family can't afford the risk of being destroyed.

“If you are just fooling around, I can turn a blind eye to it, but you are obviously trapped now. If you continue, the Parker family will be destroyed by you. I have to separate you two!”

“Bullshit!”

Ewan was naturally unconvinced. Just as he was about to quarrel with Steve, Nancy winked at him.

Ewan took a deep breath and suppressed the anger. He said to Steve, “However, since it has come to this, I can promise you that I will cut off my relationship with Shirley and never look for her again. It’s just that |

Chapter 306 Starting a War for You

Shirley raised an eyebrow and asked, "What exactly do you mean? I don't understand."

"Am I not clear enough...?"

Antwan greedily enjoyed the moment when he was infinitely close to the goddess in his heart. He was even bolder as he stuck his large palm close to Shirley's slender waist. His deep voice was frivolous and a little serious. "In Greek legend, Helen of Troy was the most beautiful woman in Greece and the indirect cause of the Trojan War. As long as I can get you, I don't mind starting a war for you."

Shirley could not help but roll her eyes. "What do you mean?"

"Simply put, as long as you are willing to be my woman, the Stewart Group will be at your disposal. If you want to run it, then run it. If you want to destroy it, then destroy it."

There was a cold and decisive look in Antwan's eyes.

Everyone knew that Antwan was a hedonistic son of rich parents. He had no interest in fighting for his career.

The reason why he had struggled for so many years and wanted to become the president of the Stewart Group and even replace the aloof and perfect Braden was to get Shirley in front of him.

If Shirley accepted Antwan, he would not even bother to be the president of the Stewart Group!

"Are you serious?"

Shirley was quite surprised. She turned around and looked into the man's frivolous eyes. It seemed that she had a deeper understanding of this crazy man.

"What is there to be suspicious about? Money is easy to obtain, but true love is hard to find. Not everyone is like Braden, who values career, money, and family honor so much. I am not greedy. I just want to be with the woman I love."

Antwan had a rare serious look. He was actually somewhat affectionate.

Shirley shook her head, not letting herself be blinded by his appearance. She snorted coldly, "What a joke. These words coming from your mouth are even more ridiculous than any joke I have ever heard."

When Tracy saw Shirley's reaction, her eyes lit up. She excitedly pulled Shirley's hand and asked, "Did you think of something? Tell me!"

"I knew it. Braden won't lose his life so easily. He left you something!"

Shirley shook her head. She looked honest and helpless. "He did not leave me any clues. You're his biological mother. If you are not sure whether he is dead or not, how can I know it? So far, I heard the news of his death from others.

"I'm wondering why you're so certain, actually. Since you're so sure and already selected a grave for him, you must have known where his body is."

Tracy's eyes were red, her tone bitter. "I learned from his father that Braden had an accident and died in the hospital. It seemed that his death was not peaceful. His father was afraid that I would go crazy if I saw Braden's body in person. He noticed the hospital cremate Braden's body overnight. Then he discussed the cemetery with me. I do not believe that it is true. I just thought that they had some secret plan, so I turned a blind eye and cooperated with them.....

"But now, the Stewart Group is in a mess. The outside world is full of slander about Braden. The most terrible thing is that the Stewart Group will be taken away by a good-for-nothing Stewart tomorrow. Our family had been working hard on it for a few generations, especially Braden. He has paid much for the Stewart Group. If he is still alive, how can he be willing to let the things he cherishes be taken away by others?"

At this time, Antwan slowly walked out of the room. He stood in the middle of the spiral staircase with his hands in his pockets, like a king who looked down on the world. He looked down at Shirley and Tracy downstairs.

"Good-for-nothing?"

Antwan sneered, "It has been so many years. Tracy, what you said is still heartbreaking. It hurts!"

In her opinion, Tracy and Antwan were the same. They would be quite scary when they went crazy. It was better to let the two do what they wanted. Shirley would go aside to protect herself from getting hurt.

When Shirley returned to her apartment, she found her children were asleep.

May was awake and was sorting out school items and materials for the two children so that they could take them and go out to school tomorrow.

Shirley was moved at the sight of May.

“May, it’s so late. Don’t work too hard. Have a rest. I will handle these things.”

May turned her head and smiled at Shirley. “Ms. Wilson, what are you talking about? It’s not hard work. But you must have worked very hard today. Please take good care of yourself. Don’t be too tired. If you get ill, the children...”

“Don’t worry, May. I know what I’m doing.”

Shirley nodded.

All these years, she had been putting in a lot of effort. It was common for her to work overnight. She hoped that the plan would succeed this time. Then Shirley could also take a good rest completely.

May was tidying up school bags for two children. There held wet tissues, towels, clothes, masks, and so on.

Shirley suddenly had an idea. She got up and took the brush and painting plate. Then she took the bag from May.

“He died?”

May revealed a surprised expression, unable to accept the shocking news for a moment.

Braden was so dignified and perfect. How could he suddenly die?

“Yes, he died. If I’m right, he died because of me.”

With a sad expression, Shirley said in a choked voice.

Although Tracy believed that Braden’s death was caused by an evil person, Shirley thought she was also responsible for it.

To save Shirley, Braden's leg was injured, and he was in danger. Otherwise, how could those evil people have an opportunity?

"Really?"

May couldn't believe what Shirley said.

Braden was heartless. He caused Shirley to be so miserable. How could he sacrifice himself to save Shirley? There must be some misunderstanding.

"I don't know if it is true. At least from what I know, his death is not necessarily caused by me, but I have an unavoidable responsibility. I feel... a little sad."

Shirley lowered her head and said quietly. Her voice was so low that it was almost like she was talking to herself.

Yes, Shirley was very sad.

For so long, she had been pretending indifferent, as if Braden's death had no effect on her at all.

But late at night, when Shirley was alone, she had to admit that she was depressed.

"I don't know why I'm sad. I just remember when I learned that Braden was no longer in this world, my heart suddenly became very empty. It was like a small dot that quickly collapsed. Then, it slowly turned into a black hole as an abyss, constantly devouring me. It made me more and more unlike myself, and more and more irrational..."

When Shirley said this, she curled up in pain and held her head with her hands. She kept repeating, happened to me.

"Really?"

Shirley and Bennett looked at each other. They did not dare to eat it due to the previous experience.

"Ben, why don't... you try it too?"

Bennett shook his head. "Mommy, you should taste the good stuff first. I want to be a filial son."

Shirley forced a smile. "That's right. You are my good boy."

Shirley slowly picked up a cake and gingerly licked it like she was licking something bitter.

She did not expect that the taste was not as "terrible" as she remembered. Instead, it was... quite delicious.

After eating a piece of cake, Shirley had another piece without stopping.

Seeing this, Bennett also picked up one and tried it.

"It's so tasty. It looks like Mr. Quintin has put in some effort. This is good."

Bennett nodded as he ate. His favorability towards Mr. Quintin increased a lot.

Cream stuck on Shirley's lips. She looked suspiciously at Bennett and asked, "Tell me the truth. Who is the famous chef of Seattle City that you mentioned? How did you get in touch with him? Do I know him?"

“He is a friend of mine. When the time is right, I will bring him to you...”

Bennett was full of confidence and said mysteriously, “My friend is a good man. I am afraid that if I introduce him to you now, you will be fascinated by him. If he has any other shortcomings, it will be bad. So mom, wait patiently. I guarantee that I will choose a perfect man for you!”
