Chapter 331 You Are My Antidote

Braden and Renee were sitting in the car heading to the police station.

But along the way, Braden pursed his lips and frowned, as if he was thinking about something.

The police thought that Braden was too worried and comforted him, "Mr. Stewart, Relax. It should be fine. Every year, there will be a lot of perverts in office buildings. According to our experience, they are very timid. At most, they will just take photos and touch the victims. They won't dare to do anything. Otherwise..."

"Stop the car!"

Braden's eyes were cold as he ordered sternly.

"What's wrong, Mr. Stewart?"

"I don't have time to listen to your nonsense. I want to get off now."

Braden found new clues during the few minutes that the police were talking, but he didn't bother to talk to them.

The driver did not dare to disobey Braden's order and immediately stopped the car.

Braden opened the car door and got out of the car coldly. He turned to Renee and said, "Go to the police station to make a statement first. Wait for the notice. This matter is not allowed to spread.

"Yes, Mr. Stewart!"

Renee nodded and promised Braden, "Don't worry, Mr. Stewart. I will keep my mouth shut, and I won't tell anyone what we saw tonight."

Braden returned to the underground garage of the office building as fast as he could.

He did not know why, but he seemed to be able to sense that Shirley's situation was not good. The closer Braden got to the underground garage, the stronger this feeling became.

Braden followed the direction of the elevator and checked the underground garage carefully.

Sure enough, Braden keenly discovered that the most inconspicuous parking space in the underground garage was obviously unusual.

The paint on the parking space was different from that nearby, and it seemed to have been repainted.

Braden crouched down and twisted his long fingers before knocking on the ground. He found that the space was hollow and looked more like a door.

"Damn it!"

Braden frowned and kicked the parking space without hesitation.

After a few hard kicks, the door was directly broken, and an underground passage that was 15 feet deep came into his view.

Braden jumped down and walked down the narrow passageway. He could vaguely hear Ralph's wretched laughter.

"Ha, beauty, don't be afraid. The medicine is coming up soon. You will be happy when the time comes. I have been digging for this passage for five or six years. I raped more than ten girls here, but I have never been discovered. It is very hidden and safe. No one will disturb us..."

Ralph saw that Shirley's body was weak, and her eyes were filled with desire. He thought that the drug started to work, so he tried to untie the rope on Shirley's body.

Because Ralph was a recidivist, he became bolder and bolder. He didn't notice that Braden was approaching him step by step. All Ralph's thoughts were on the gentle and charming Shirley, revealing her nearly naked body. She looked so sexy and Braden thought there was something wrong with his mind. Otherwise, why would he argue with

Shirley felt a little guilty. She used the tone of a jerk coaxing a little girl and said, “Alright, alright. Don’t be sad. I was too impulsive and didn’t care about your feelings... I have an idea. I’ll transfer some money to you later. Buy some tonics. As a man, be strong!”

Braden was lost for words.

Shirley saw that Braden stopped talking and thought that he had calmed down. She immediately breathed a sigh of relief.

Shirley got up slightly and looked around the room with her eyes wide open. She wanted to find her clothes, then quickly put on her clothes, and left.

"Shirley, why are you at the door of Braden's room? Did you two..."

Among them, Keith was the first to let out a cry of surprise.

The rest of the people, including Karen and a few rich guys, also showed expressions of shock.

Shirley cleared her throat and pretended to be calm. She said coldly, "I came to talk to him about business. Nothing happened between us. Don't make wild guesses.

The next second, Braden walked out leisurely with wet hair. He said to Shirley, "It happens that you haven't left. Don't you want your hairband?"

Shirley's expression froze. She thought, damn, how embarrassing this is!

She took the hairband from Braden and said with a stiff face, "What a coincidence. I was looking for it. It turns out you found it."

Braden crossed his arms and looked Shirley up and down. Then, he said seriously, "You look sexier with your hair scattered. Last night..."

"Ahem, ahem!"

Shirley coughed violently, trying to stop Braden from continuing.

Was he crazy? Couldn't he see that there were so many people present? There was no need to describe their sex in detail!

The men looked at each other. Keith put on an understanding look and said with a smile, "Save it. There's no need to explain. We are adults. We all understand."

Karen echoed, "We seem to have come at a bad time. If you need to be alone, we can leave."

"It's alright..."

Braden said calmly, "You guys came at the wrong time. Our sex is over."

"Braden!"

Shirley gritted her teeth in anger and raised her fist. She threatened, "If you dare to talk nonsense, you'll regret it!"

Braden crossed his arms and leaned against the wall. He said with a half-smile, "Isn't that so? Do you want me to show everyone what you did to me?"

Under the envious eyes of his friends, Braden took a bite of the chicken wing.

Then, the spicy taste spread from the tip of his tongue. It was like a knife cutting him, making him feel extremely uncomfortable.

"How is it, Braden? Is the skewer made with Ms. Wilson's love delicious? We're drooling even if we just smelled its aroma..."

The youngest one of the crowd, Zander Mcguire, swallowed and asked with an envious expression.

“Kaff! Kaff!”

Braden kept a straight face. He didn’t chew or speak. The chicken wing was so spicy that he couldn’t say anything.

But he already bragged to these people, so it would be embarrassing if he said it wasn’t awful.

All these years, he had been embarrassed again and again because of Shirley’s absence.

He finally managed to regain some of his dignity today, so he didn’t want to give himself away.

Otherwise, these friends of his would tease him for sure!

to do with me? During my most difficult days, when did he care about how I felt? When did he care about how I was doing?"

"Well..."

Keith felt guilty and lowered his head.

In those few years, Braden had gone too far. He cheated on Shirley and forced her to leave. He was frigid, but he was in deep love with a goody-two-shoes like Amelie.

No matter how much love and affection Shirley had for him, it was already washed away by time.

If Keith persuaded Shirley to give Braden a chance, wouldn't he make things worse?

"So, I will tell you again. Braden and I have nothing to do with each other, and we'll never get back together. Please tell your friends and ask them not to joke around. If this happens again, I will turn hostile, and I won't care who you guys are."

Shirley's expression was serious as she emphasized this to Keith.

Keith nodded. "Alright, I know what you're thinking. From now on, my friends and I will pay attention..."

As the two were chatting, Braden's other friends let out excited and terrified voices.

"It can't be. Alina is so well-informed. She came here so quickly!"

"She's ill-tempered. If she knows that we didn't ask her to join the party, the consequences will be serious. Why don't we leave..."

"What are you afraid of? With Karen and Braden here, she doesn't dare to be rash!"

Hearing this, Keith also showed a look of fear. He looked around and said, "It's over! Even Alina is here. We'll be dead meat for this barbeque!"

Chapter 336 Because You Are Jealous

The most infuriating thing was Braden's reaction.

Perhaps he was unhappy, but when he passed by Shirley, he just ignored her.

This scene was so awkward that Keith wanted to hide away.

"Shirley, don't be angry. You know Braden. He's cold outside but warm inside. He might be angry because you hurt his self-esteem just now, so...

"It doesn't matter."

Shirley shrugged and looked in the direction where Braden and Alina left. She said coldly, "Didn't I just say that I would like to cut ties with him? How could I be angry?"

"Are you not angry?"

Keith tilted his head and stared at Shirley's face closely. He then teased her, "Why do I feel like your facial features are about to be distorted from anger?"

Shirley was speechless.

To be honest, Keith was not talking nonsense.

She was indeed angry. But she was angry at Alina instead of Braden.

Alina was a good actress. On the surface, she was a carefree, masculine woman and got along well with Braden, but in reality, she was scheming. She just met Shirley for the first time yet she had provoked her.

Just now when she walked past Shirley while holding Braden's hand like a winner, it agitated Shirley.

"Does Alina like Braden?"

Shirley stared at Alina and Braden's backs that were stuck together and blurted out.

Keith was a little embarrassed and was about to explain it.

But Shirley looked relaxed. She nodded and said, "Of course. Mr. Guerra and I are good friends. We have the same views and hobbies, so we have a harmonious relationship!"

Braden was speechless.

Braden's eyes turned cold, and he pursed his lips in silence.

Alina stood up and pointed at Shirley. She said righteously, "Ms. Wilson, I hope you don't think what I'm going to say is offensive. We are both women. We can be heartless, but we can't be shameless. Don't you think you are acting like a bitch? Shame on you!"

"Oh? What do you mean?"

Shirley almost laughed in her exasperation.

Alina was scheming. Shirley had not yet exposed her hypocritical nature, but she criticized Shirley first.

Alina was a ruthless girl that couldn't be underestimated!

"I saw that you and Keith were very close to each other. What's your relationship with him? If you are dating, what about Braden?"

"Do you know that Keith has a girlfriend? If you are with him, you will be a shameless mistress. You just don't know where to stop!"

Alina stood on the moral high ground and said something harsh.

"Alina, actually..

"Ah, it hurts!"

A piece of hot charcoal fell on the back of Alina's foot, which made her scream.

The men who were chatting in the tent heard the noise and ran over. They surrounded Alina nervously.

"What happened? Why did the grill fall? Did you two roast skewers or yourselves?"

When Keith saw the chaotic scene, he felt that it was inconceivable.

"Don't be sarcastic. Can't you see that my foot was scalded? Hurry up and treat it. I don't want a scar!"

Alina held her foot. She winced in pain and almost cried.

Zander took the risk of being beaten up and said with a sneer, "Alina, I didn't know that you would be so weak. The charcoal helped us a lot!"

Alina punched Zander and gritted her teeth. "You bastard. How dare you say that? Just wait and see. I will beat you to death!"

Seeing this, everyone quickly stopped Alina. They were all very nervous about Alina's injury, and all their attention was on her.

Karen observed Alina's foot silently for a moment and said in a low voice, "Alina, you are seriously injured. You must deal with it."

"Yeah. Look, the back of my foot is burned. It really hurts..."

"Can you walk?"

"No. It hurts when I move, let alone walk. Which one of you can carry me?"

Alina did not give the crowd a chance to raise their hands. She pointed to Braden beside her and said, "Braden, Karen and you are the most reliable among these guys. I don't dare to order Karen around, so I can only turn to you!"

Braden fixed his eyes on Shirley. He still looked cold, but he was quite worried.

When Alina talked to Braden, it was as if he was found cheating on the exam. He hurriedly looked down to grab Alina's arm. He said lightly. "I will take away

After leaving the Stewart's house, Shirley did not go home directly. Something absurd happened last night, and Shirley's arm was scalded. She was annoyed and perplexed. Shirley didn't want her two children and May to worry about her, so she decided to adjust her mood before going back.

"May, I have been busy with work. I won't go back these two days. Don't worry about me. I will go back when I am done with work."

After Shirley called May, she checked the contacts on her phone and wanted to find someone to talk to about her depression.

However, other than Nancy, Shirley couldn't find anyone else to speak her mind.

When Shirley thought that everyone doted on Alina, she suddenly felt a little sad.

The worst thing was that Nancy was very sad because of her breakup. She went to Tahiti for a vacation and wouldn't return after at least half a month.

As Shirley checked the contacts, a figure suddenly flashed through her mind, and then her beautiful eyes lit up.

"Right. I can talk to him. He is an expert at this!"

At eight o'clock in the evening, the neon lights were flashing. The beautiful nightlife began.

Shirley wore sunglasses and delicate makeup. She put on a cold and valiant look and walked into Toyboy Bar where only women would be served.

The inside of the bar was as noisy as ever.

Some young girls surrounded the stage, crazily shouting for the beautiful men who were dancing sensually on the stage.

Shirley looked around the bar, but she did not see Devin.

Shirley patted the girl who was dancing the most happily in front of her. She asked, "Will Devin perform tonight?"

"Of course. He is the most popular dancer here. If he doesn't dance, how can the bar make money? We are all here for him... These handsome guys are just like appetizers. They can't satisfy us at all!"

Shirley still remembered where Devin lived. It was in an apartment for young people near the bar.

Shirley was in a bad mood today, but because she saved a good young man, she suddenly felt a sense of accomplishment, and she felt better.

Shirley reached the floor where Devin lived from memory and rang the doorbell.

After a while, the door opened.

Devin wore a simple white shirt and black suit pants. He wore a white feather mask that he often wore when he danced. It seemed that he had been waiting for Shirley for a long time.

“It has been a long time since we last met. I thought you had forgotten me...”

Devin said in a gentle voice.

Shirley instantly felt refreshed. She could not help but lift Devin’s chin and smile, “The hypnosis technique you used last time made me sleep so comfortably. I want you to use it on me again. How could I forget you?”

“It’s my honor... Don’t worry. This time, I will try my best and make you sleep more comfortably.”

“You are smart. No wonder you are so popular.”

The more Shirley looked at Devin, the more she liked him.

Tsk tsk, Devin was so handsome and gentle. On the contrary, Braden was cold... In comparison, Devin was like an angel!

Unfortunately, Shirley didn’t know that the angel in her mind was her ex-husband, Braden, who she hated so much.

After Braden received the call from the bar owner, he rushed to Devin's house immediately and replaced him.

"Gorgeous, I accidentally heard about your tragic past today. I felt sad, so I decided to help you regain your freedom..."

As Shirley spoke, she took out the contract and said domineeringly, "Look at this. Do you like it?"

"What is this?"

Braden took the contract. After pretending to read it, he suddenly turned around. His shoulders trembled slightly, and he pretended to be very sad.

"What's wrong? Are you so moved that you're crying?"

Shirley patted Braden on the back and said proudly, "You don't have to thank me. I didn't spend much money. At most, I'll give you some living expenses. I can afford it."
