Chapter 371 Braden's Confession Doesn't Work

Braden's words alerted Shirley more.

Did he discover something?

However, since Braden didn't make himself clear, she didn't want to ask.

When Shirley saw that Braden was about to leave, her gaze fell on the box with the Seven-colored Glazed Cup.

"Wait a minute."

Braden stopped. His handsome face was filled with anticipation, but he still maintained his proud look. He turned back. "What, have you changed your mind?"

Shirley rolled her eyes. This guy is narcissistic!

"You're overthinking. I just want you to take this away. I don't need it anymore."

Shirley coldly pushed the box to Braden.

Braden's eyes turned cold. He looked terrifying. "What do you mean that you don't need it?"

"To be exact, I don't want to owe you a favor. It seems to be quite valuable. If I accept it, things will be even more complicated between us."

Shirley crossed her arms, her expression cold to the extreme.

On one hand, she did owe Braden a favor.

More importantly, she knew that the Seven-colored Glazed Cup was very important to the Stewart family or Braden. If she took it away, it would sadly bring trouble to the Stewart family or Braden.

However, Shirley didn't want Braden to find out that she rejected Seven-colored Glazed Cup because of her worry about him. Shirley would rather that Braden treated her as a cold and heartless woman.

As expected, her words were like a fire that burned away all of Braden's rationality.

Braden grabbed Shirley's wrist and pulled her into his arms. His deep eyes were like those of a beast as he stared fiercely at Shirley. Braden acted as if he wanted to devour her.

Chapter 372 Always Better To Make Early Preparations

In the evening, Shirley returned to the apartment with the Seven-colored Glazed Cup.

The atmosphere of the room was lively. Mr. Quintin was playing games with the two kids. There was some exquisite and delicious food in the kitchen that had been left for her.

“Why are you here?”

Shirley closed the door and asked Mr. Quintin randomly.

She was no longer so emotionally against Mr. Quintin. She was even used to having him at home. This made her feel at ease.

“Didn’t I say that before? I am now your husband and the father of the two children. I will take care of your accommodation. It is my responsibility to cook for you and keep them company.”

Mr. Quintin explained to Shirley as he played the game with the two children.

He was not joking but talking sincerely.

“Yes, Mommy. We are a family. Families will live together. Let me tell you a secret... It was Quintin who picked us up from school today. Our classmates are all envious of us for having such a tall and powerful daddy!”

Alisha hugged Mr. Quintin’s thigh. Her chubby face revealed a proud smile.

Needless to say, Mr. Quintin adored Alisha so much that she liked him a lot. Maybe after a while, his status in Alisha’s heart would be higher than that of Shirley.

Shirley smiled awkwardly and did not say anything.

Only she knew that she and Mr. Quintin were just acting like a couple. But Mr. Quintin’s acting skills were much better than hers. He looked like a good husband and daddy. There was no flaw at all.

Mr. Quintin crossed his hands and said calmly, "If Braden competes with you for custody, what's your weak point?"

"I don't have a weak point."

Shirley looked fearless and said coldly, "I am the one who has raised the two children. Therefore, Braden can't gain their custody."

"If he were someone else, he couldn't compete for custody with you. However, he is Braden. The Stewart Group is behind him. As long as he wants, the judicial system and public opinion will all be on his side. If you can't give him a perfect response, the result might not be satisfactory."

Shirley clenched her hands and became somewhat worried. She said in a low voice, "What is a perfect response?"

"If Braden competes with you for custody, your weak point is the living conditions you can provide for the children instead of your wealth or education background."

Shirley shook her head blankly. "I don't quite understand."

"The children need warm and stable living conditions. If Braden gains custody, they would have their father, grandparents, and the love of a large family.

“As for you, you are the only one left in the Wilson family. Such an incomplete family is detrimental to the children. If you don’t solve this problem, you will be passive.”

Mr. Quintin analyzed for Shirley.

Although it was cruel, it was the truth.

Shirley was no longer confident and firm, and her eyes gradually dimmed, but she said stubbornly, “So what? The children have a deep tie with me and won’t leave me. Besides, I have the most capable lawyers. I’m not afraid of confronting him in the court.”

“You are so naive...”

Mr. Quintin smiled. “Until the age of eight, children don’t have the right to choose who they want to be with. As for the lawyers, there are more capable ones. Braden could find someone to fight against your lawyers.”

"Alright!"

Shirley nodded and walked into the hall with the Seven-colored Glazed Cup and a full basket of fresh tomatoes.

Braden's bedroom was on the second floor. No one was allowed to approach it.

Shirley put the tomatoes on the table and slowly walked up the stairs to Braden's bedroom.

At first, Shirley wanted to put the Seven-colored Glazed Cup at the door of Braden's room, but she felt that she couldn't leave such a precious thing at the door.

After hesitating for a while, Shirley decided to take the cup into the room.

Shirley tried to twist the handle of the door. Unexpectedly, the tightly closed door was opened.

As a matter of fact, Shirley didn't open the door. It was opened from the inside.

Braden was standing there, his hair wet. His upper body was naked, and his muscles could be seen clearly. He wore gray casual trousers, looking sexy, stylish, and charming.

Shirley blushed. She immediately turned around and stammered, "I'm sorry. I didn't know you were at home. I didn't see anything!"

Braden had just taken a shower and was drying his hair with a towel. When he saw Shirley, his handsome face was expressionless and cold.

"What are you doing here?"

Braden asked in an angry tone.

Braden was still angry and didn't want to see Shirley.

Braden was superior, arrogant, and powerful, but he was ruthlessly rejected after he told Shirley his feelings for her. He was so angry that he wanted to send the woman in front of him to outer space. Then, he would

“If you want to be impotent, you can give it a try.”

Shirley gritted her teeth and was about to attack Braden’s private part.

“You think I don’t dare?”

Braden wasn’t afraid. He kept his deep eyes fixed firmly on Shirley’s red lips. He was about to kiss her.

“No!”

Shirley closed her eyes. She didn’t want Braden’s kiss.

Braden didn’t kiss Shirley.

“What do you think I will do to you? I hate to force others. You can go!”

Braden said with disdain. He stood up coldly and no longer looked at Shirley.

It was as if Braden would feel humiliated if he took a look at Shirley.

Shirley regained her freedom, but somehow, she felt a sense of loss.

Shirley also stood up and straightened her clothes.

Before leaving, Shirley looked at Braden’s cold back. She wanted to say something, but she didn’t say anything.

“Shirley, did you give the cup to Braden?”

Shirley walked down the stairs and met Howard who came back from the garden.

Alina was with Howard.

“What are you doing here? You divorced Braden. Don’t you feel embarrassed to be here?”

Alina saw Shirley coming out of Braden’s room. She was very arrogant, as if she were Braden’s wife and captured Shirley and Braden in adultery.

Alina and Howard were very curious about this question. Both of them stared at him intently, waiting for his answer.

Braden's expression was indifferent. He did not think too much and said in a neutral tone, "I think it is a restructuring of assets and cooperation between the strong sides, which makes a perfect match."

Shirley was slightly stunned. She obviously did not expect Braden to be so honest Deep in her heart, she felt very sad.

One was a case of failure, and the other was a perfect match. It was a slap in her face!

Alina's eyes lit up. She was so happy that she was about to faint.

She confirmed with Braden in disbelief, "Braden, is what you said true? Do you really think that we are a good match?"

Braden did not look at Alina. Instead, he looked at Shirley as if he was provoking her. He sneered, "At least, compared to my previous failed marriage, we've done a good job."

"Great! Great!"

Alina jumped up and held Braden's hand. She couldn't wait to say, "In that case, what are we waiting for? Let's go to the Seattle Courthouse to register for our marriage today. We have been in a tacit understanding for so many years. I will definitely be a good wife!"

Chapter 377 Snake in the Grass

After leaving the Stewart's house, Shirley was thinking about whether to strike first and get the marriage certificate with Mr. Quintin before Braden and Alina got married.

This plan was a bit crazy. Her relationship with Mr. Quintin would be legally admitted. If she regretted it, she would be divorced twice...

But if she could save the custody of the two children by doing so, she naturally would not hesitate!

In a trance, Shirley had a screw in the tire, and her car broke down on the roadside.

Alina drove the sports car and honked the horn. She slowly drove forward from the rear and stopped next to Shirley's car.

"Ms. Wilson, your car broke down. Poor woman. Do you need me to give you a ride?"

She rested her head on the car window, a faint smile hanging on the corner of her mouth. She looked very proud.

"No need, I will call someone to repair it by myself."

Shirley didn't want to have too much interaction with Alina. Shirley ignored her and didn't even bother to give her a look.

"It'll waste time. I have a traction hook in my car. I will help you drag it to the repair factory. I won't charge you any fees..."

Alina honked the horn again and said with a faint smile, "Don't be embarrassed. I need to learn from you. It's a small favor. It's good for both of us. Do you agree?"

Shirley raised his head and looked at Alina, who was proud. She felt a little ridiculous. "Learn from me?"

"You are Braden's ex-wife, and I am Braden's girl now. Shouldn't I learn from you?"

Shirley was speechless.

Chapter 378 The One Behind

Shirley's words were full of hints.

Alina was not stupid. She immediately understood the key to the problem.

"I know that when you divorced Braden, you were very miserable. You were directly kicked out of the house, and there was no place for you in such a big city..."

When she said this, her hostility toward Shirley was not so deep. Instead, she had sympathy for her.

"That bitch is no pushover. Because of her innocent face, she easily became the winner. All these years, Braden has been wholeheartedly treating her as if she had been a baby. It pissed me off!"

Alina was angrier. She couldn't help but beat the steering wheel hard.

There was no doubt that the woman she was talking about was Amelie, who had defeated Shirley!

"It's useless for you to be angry. Your good friend Braden just likes her. Instead of fighting with me, why don't you learn from her? You may pretend to be weak. Or maybe you can find a chance to have sex with him. You'll get him if you carry his baby..."

Shirley shared her experience, generously teaching Alina how to win Braden's heart. She was so sincere.

It made Alina confused.

Alina frowned and looked at Shirley as if she was a fool.

"Why are you looking at me? This is my experience. It is very useful to deal with a stupid man like Braden. If you don't believe it, you can try it, and you will know!"

“You really don’t have any feelings for Braden. You are teaching me how to win his heart?”

“Of course.”

Shirley shook her head helplessly. “If I still had feelings for him, you wouldn’t have got any chance.”

In her opinion, Alina was much easier to deal with than Amelie, who was a good liar.

Alisha stood on her toes and turned the door handle.

After seeing clearly the tall and handsome man outside the door, Alisha's smile froze. Her big round eyes flashed with light. She said in a sweet voice, "Wow, you are so beautiful. Are you lost? Who are you looking for?"

Braden looked down. When he saw Alisha, who was cute, his cold eyes unconsciously softened, and his voice softened a little. "Excuse me, does Shirley live here?"

Alisha was an innocent girl. She didn't have any defenses up and asked directly, "Why did you come to my mommy?"

Braden frowned slightly. "Your mommy?"

"Yes, my mommy is Shirley. She is still working overtime. If you want to talk to her, you may have to wait!"

Alisha had a natural affection for the handsome man in front of her. Her chubby little hand pulled Braden's big hand, and she invited him in.

Alisha saw that he was holding a basket of fresh red tomatoes in his hand. She was like an adult and said politely. "Oh, sir, you don't have to do this. Thanks a lot. These tomatoes look delicious. They must be sweet.

Mommy will definitely like it!"

Braden said nothing.

Braden, who was tall, was held by a pair of small hands as if he was sealed. He did not dare to move or speak.

He just did what Alisha said. He was totally softened up.

Braden was very calm. He sized up May in an oppressive way.

"Are you ... Shirley's nanny?"

He still had some impression of May.

In his memory, May seemed to like matchmaking him and Shirley.

Why did May suddenly become so aggressive and even use a knife to deal with him?

May looked hostile. She glared at Braden, waved the kitchen knife, and sneered. "Mr. Stewart, thank you for remembering me, an old woman. You must know that we have a grudge against each other. How dare you come to us today? I wonder what you're up to today.

"I will give you three seconds at most. Get out of here immediately, or I will kill you with my kitchen knife."

May was worried that Braden came with ill intentions and wanted to harm Shirley or the two children. So May decided to fight Braden.

Braden put his hands in his pockets and sneered. "You are really a loyal servant. Did Shirley teach you this?"

"I am an old woman. I don't need anyone to teach me. You know what you have done to Ms. Wilson. Ms. Wilson is tolerant and didn't lower herself to your level, but I'm different. I am just an under-educated servant. If you push me, I won't let go of you.

"Did you hear that? Get out!"

May waved her kitchen knife like a shrew.

Braden remained calm. His eyes fell on the basket of tomatoes as he said lightly, "My grandfather asked me
