Chapter 401 Don't Bully My Mommy

"Caterpillar sting can only be cured by caterpillar juice. This caterpillar is so fat. Its juice must be rich. The detoxification effect will be good."

Shirley said casually as she applied the caterpillar juice to Braden.

"Caterpillar... What?"

Braden froze with his muscles tightened.

"Caterpillar juice!"

Afraid that Braden didn't understand, Shirley showed him the flattened caterpillar. "Look, this one. I've already helped you take revenge and crushed it into dregs. Besides, it can be used properly. Don't need to thank me."

"Ugh!"

Braden glanced at the flattened caterpillar and almost vomited. His temples hurt. "Shirley, it's disgusting. Throw it away!"

"It's dead. Are you still scared? What a wuss!"

"I'll count to three. Take it away, or you will be toast!"

"But this could detoxify caterpillar sting. Otherwise, it will hurt. How about bearing it..."

"Three, two..."

"Alright, alright, I'll throw it away!"

The sting had been well treated. Shirley was afraid that Braden would be pissed off. Thus, she threw the flattened caterpillar into the trash bin.

Braden went back to normal when he saw this. It was like a demon had finally been released from his seal, and all his energy came back.

"Are you leaving now?"

His voice was cold as he asked Shirley, who was just about to get out of bed.

Shirley was very touched but also embarrassed when she saw the children defend her.

“Um... Ben, Ally, it’s not like that. This guy wasn’t bullying me.

“Impossible. I clearly saw him press you down just now. He must be planning to beat you up. How could he not be bullying you!”

Bennett stood in front of Shirley with a righteous face and said to Braden aggressively. “You bastard, apologize to Mommy. Otherwise, I’ll crack your head with my bottle.”

“He’s indeed my son. What a tough little man!”

Braden wore a loose nightgown, looking lazy and elegant. He reached out and touched Bennett’s angry face. He smiled, “I wasn’t bullying your mommy. If you think that pressing your mommy down is bullying her, I don’t mind letting her do the same to me.”

“Braden, that’s enough. What are you saying in front of the kids? Aren’t you ashamed?”

Shirley rolled her eyes at Braden, thinking if only he could mind his language before kids.

“Kids, this guy is crazy. Ignore him. Let’s go out!”

Shirley’s face was hot. She couldn’t continue staying in the room and took the two kids out.

Braden crossed his arms and watched the three of them leave. He couldn’t help but smile.

He hadn’t experienced this kind of warm feeling for a long time. This was probably what he had always been looking for, the feeling of a family.

He said to himself in his heart, Shirley, no matter how hard you resist, I will never let you go!

The morning passed in a flash. Shirley rarely got the time, so she was busy making lunch for the kids.

Chapter 403 Trade The Son For The Grandson

Bennett said, "My mommy said that a real man is a superhero. He needs to be kind and protect the weak. But your son used his strong body to bully a woman. Tell me, is your education to him a failure?"

Bennett crossed his arms and questioned Tracy in an imposing manner.

In his opinion, the bad Daddy was only bad because his mother did not teach him well. He finally had the opportunity to get justice for his mother and he decided to seize it.

“How dare he bully a woman?” Tracy frowned in disbelief.

“My son is a well-educated gentleman. He helps women. He won’t bully them. There must be a misunderstanding!”

“No! My brother and I saw it with our own eyes!”

Alisha hid behind Bennett and pursed her lips in indignation. The bad Daddy pressed Mommy under him. If we hadn’t arrived in time, our mommy would have been bitten by the bad daddy!”

Ashley clearly remembered that the moment she and Bennett opened the door, Braden was about to bite Shirley. She thought he was very bad!

“He pressed her under his body and wanted to bite her?”

Tracy was an adult. She immediately understood what was really going on and the corners of her mouth unconsciously rose.

She felt grateful that her son finally had the secular desire that a man should have.

Braden hadn’t been with any woman for so many years. Tracy almost thought that Braden had some problems with his body.

“My son is so bad! How could he do that evil thing? I didn’t teach him well. I have to beat him up later!”

Tracy acted along with the kids’ emotions and scolded Braden. “A man should never bully a woman! My son really isn’t a true man. He should be locked up in a school of morality to learn how to be a man. And he’ll be released only after he learns how to respect women.”

She added, “To tell you the truth, I have been dissatisfied with my son for a long time. How do you want to punish him this time? Tell me. I will punish him!”

Tracy and Braden looked at the thick vine and unconsciously swallowed.

"Isn't this vine a bit too thick?"

Tracy carefully asked Bennett.

Although she had made up her mind to punish Braden for Bennett, she had never hit Braden since he was born. She couldn't bear to beat him with such a big vine.

"How could that be? This vine is very common. My mother said that the harder one is beaten, the better he will be. Your son is bullying the weak now. He must have never been punished since he was a child."

Bennett convinced Tracy with evidence.

Tracy looked at the thick vine and frowned. She touched Bennett's head with love. "Do you mean that your mother used to hit you with this?"

"No."

Bennett said seriously, "My mother just scared me but rarely hit me. She said that she would feel sorry for hitting me. It's mainly because I'm good and do not make mistakes. But your son is different. He has made so many mistakes. You should have beaten him up and taught him a lesson!"

Braden was lost for words.

Bennett, you are really my good son!

"You are right. I shouldn't have doped on him. He deserves to be beaten!"

Tracy took the vine from Bennett and walked to Braden. She lowered her voice and said, "You little brat, cooperate with me and make my grandson and granddaughter happy."

This time, Tracy didn't pretend. Instead, she used the vine to beat Braden

"It hurts!"

No matter how calm Braden was, he couldn't stand the beating and cried out, "Mom, stop. Are you serious?"

"Of course, I'm serious. If I don't teach you a lesson, you'll do it again in the future. My precious grandson and granddaughter can't see our sincerity either. So, you just bear it. If necessary, moan and gain the sympathy of the children!"

Tracy advised earnestly as she beat Braden,

For the first time, Braden echoed with Tracy, and then he began to moan.

As long as Shirley could change her mind, Braden was willing to do anything.

"I don't have any requests. It's just..."

Shirley paused for a moment. Then she said firmly, 'I hope you can realize that they are my children. Their last name is Wilson and they have nothing to do with the Stewart family. Don't you think about being their dad, or I will never forgive you!"

Shirley said these words coldly and left no room for negotiation as she did before.

On the other hand. Tracy was the calm one

After a moment of silence. Tracy slapped the table and said, "I understand what you mean. It's not a demanding requirement. It's easy!"

When Shirley and Braden heard this, they were both stunned.

"Are you sure it's easy?"

Shirley couldn't guess what Tracy was thinking

In Shirley's opinion, Tracy and Braden were the same. They pretended to be friendly and maintained their calmness because they wanted to take away the children.

Since Shirley said that she would not give the children to them, Tracy should've lost her temper according to her personality. How could she be so kind?

Alisha raised her hands and said with sparkling eyes, "Since Quintin and Daddy are very good, Mommy might as well choose both. One is used to cook for you and do housework. The other is to help you with your career. You marry Daddy first and then marry Quintin, so you can have all of them!"

"That's right Ally's proposal is good. I agree with it!"

Bennett also raised his hands, showing his support.

He was pleased that his innocent sister finally became clever.

"Well, that really impressed me..."

Shirley looked at the children's serious faces and didn't know whether to laugh or cry.

Both Mr. Quintin and Braden were hard to deal with. If she married them, Shirley was afraid that she would die soon.

Besides, Mr. Quintin and Braden were sworn enemies. If they met, they would set the house on fire

"Yes, say it. Although our family has declined, I'm still worthy of you. As long as you are willing, I will hold a big wedding ceremony to make you a matrilocal husband"

Shirley held back her laughter and deliberately teased Braden

Shirley was sure that someone as cold and proud as Braden would definitely not agree. Maybe he would beat her up on the spot.

In this way, Shirley could pretend to be innocent. And the Stewart family would not blame her for being cold-blooded and heartless to not give them a chance!

"Are you sure that you are willing to marry me?"

Braden raised his deep eyes and looked straight into her eyes.

"Um... Yes, yes!"

Shirley couldn't see through what Braden was thinking and could only nod guiltily

“Alright, I will marry you.”

Braden said without hesitation.

“Kaff kaff

Shirley and Tracy were both shocked and choked.

“What did you say?”

Shirley wanted to confirm it.

It was absolutely impossible!

Did Braden say ‘yes’? There must be something wrong with my ears.

"Okay. That's all you need to say."

Through his special mask, Mr. Quintin looked at Shirley with mixed feelings and said meaningfully.

"Remember, this is your own choice. Do not regret it later no matter what, okay?"

"I won't regret it!"

Shirley nodded again. She was burning all the bridges and gambling everything on a brand-new life.

No matter whether her ending was happiness or an abyss, she would not regret it.

"You know how it is with me. I have already vowed that I will never take off my mask in this life, so we will register our marriage in an unusual way."

"Unusual how?"

"Give me your documents. I will use some connections to register our marriage."

"Ah..."

Shirley was a little embarrassed. "Are you really wearing this mask forever? Even if we are married, or if we sleep in each other's arms, you won't take off the mask?"

“My face has been disfigured. I’m ashamed of it, and I won’t let anyone see it. If you mind it, we can stop here.”

Mr. Quintin was very resolute, and there was no room for negotiation.

Shirley knew what the mask meant to him. It was like his forbidden area which couldn’t be touched by anyone. So she did not insist and said carelessly, “If you don’t want to take it off, fine then. Anyway, it’s not your face that makes me like you.”

If she only cared about appearance, she could have just married Braden. She believed that in the entire Seattle City, Braden was the most handsome man.

“What a surprise. You are quite less demanding on men.”

Shirley felt it strange. Was the marriage certificate of her and Mr. Quintin in the package?

However, she left her the address of her apartment. Why was the package sent to the Stewart’s house?

She glanced at Braden who was on the sofa and hesitated to speak.

If he found the marriage certificate later, what kind of reaction would he have? Would he fly into a rage on the spot or be expressionless? Shirley felt a little curious.

“Why are you peeking at me? Is the thing in the package something you don’t want me to see?”

Braden asked Shirley with a half-smile.

“Don’t slander me. I’m a decent person and have nothing to hide.”

“Then tell me, what makes you so guilty?”

“Whatever it is, it is my privacy. It has nothing to do with you. I have no obligation to tell you.”

“Are you sure it has nothing to do with me?”

“Of course!”

“Then don’t come looking for me if you need anything from me.”

Braden had a complicated expression on his handsome face and his tone was meaningful.

Shirley felt that Braden was strange, but she couldn’t wait to see what Mr. Quintin looked like, so she didn’t bother to talk to Braden!

The delivery guy was waiting anxiously outside the door. When he saw Shirley coming out from afar, he waved enthusiastically at her and handed a small box to Shirley. “Hello, this is your package. Please sign for it.”
