Chapter 451 Be Careful When It Thunders

Shirley turned around and looked at Braden. His eyes went cold again.

The air seemed to condense right now. They were on a warm island, yet it was so bone-piercing chilling.

Neither Shirley nor Braden spoke, however, the tension between them was so obvious.

"Damn!"

Nancy covered her face with her palms. She knew it! She was done for!

In her mind, the strange atmosphere was no different from that of a horror movie.

Between the two, she was at a loss. She wished she could just jump into the sea.

"Well, Mr. Stewart, don't get us wrong. Shirley and I talk without boundaries.

Sometimes we say things we don't mean it. We joke a lot. And... And..."

Under his strong pressure, Nancy gave in and tried her best to find excuses for Shirley.

Although Nancy didn't approve of Shirley and Braden getting back together, she didn't want things between Shirley and Braden to go south because of her meaningless conversation with Shirley.

"Who says we don't mean it? When I say something, I mean it."

Shirley looked at Braden expressionlessly. She wasn't nervous at all because of his coldness. She said calmly, "Everyone wants love to last forever, but love is nothing but the result of surging hormones. In the end, only dullness remains. Everyone will get tired and bored. It is better to accept the law of human nature honestly than to make false promises..."

"You're so rational. People who don't know might think I'm dating a robot." Braden smiled coldly. His smile was like a knife, terrifying others.

He used to be a calm, rational, and emotionally stable man, who was known for never showing his emotions.

Nancy was staring at the big lamb leg and swallowing her saliva. She was ready to overwhelmed.

“I still remember your heroic words on the speedboat. I rarely admire anyone, especially not women. After listening to your words, I admire you so much. Don’t let “What heroic words? I have too many heroic words. How can I remember them so clearly?”

Nancy deliberately pretended to be confused. She changed the topic, “Hey, this lamb leg looks really good...”

“If you don’t remember, I can remind you. For example, something like having a knife in the hand, castrating a man, making someone kneel down to apologize, and so on.”

Keith crossed his long legs and said in a cynical tone. It seemed that he wouldn’t keep Nancy short of trouble, and he kept fanning the flames.

“Did I say that?”

Nancy was terrified and broke out in cold sweat.

It was true that when she was on the speedboat, she had the determination to confront Braden. But when she got off the speedboat and saw Braden’s cold and noble temperament, cowardice beat her and she regretted it.

“What are you guys talking about? Why do I feel that you two are strange?”

As Shirley cut the roasted lamb leg, she sensed something unusual, like ... love had just sprouted.

Wasn’t this a coincidence? Wasn’t today’s party just to match these two people?

Shirley quickly leaned her foot against Braden and called out, “Braden, don’t just sit there and wait for others to serve you. You have to do your best as a host and toast to my friend and yours, wishing them a happy future... Oh, no, wish them forever young

Chapter 453 His Dark Side

The atmosphere instantly became tense again. Everyone looked at Braden, waiting for his answer.

Braden slowly sipped his wine and said meaningfully, "I was fearless in the past. What I fear the most now is that my wife will leave me."

"You're simply a helpless romantic. Braden, can you be a real man?"

Keith waved his hand and felt that this answer was already within his expectations.

There was nothing new about it.

Nancy couldn't help but retort, "Can you not show off your affection without warning?"

We don't have to eat roasted lamb legs anymore. We have already been full because of your overflowing love."

Shirley was very calm. Her beautiful lips curled up into a shallow smile. She looked gentle and calm, but there was an indescribable coldness in her eyes.

Shirley crossed her legs and wrapped herself in a blanket. She asked Braden, "Can I ask you a question?"

Braden shrugged, his expression calm. "Sure."

"You've been emphasizing that you're afraid that I will leave you one day. Does that mean that deep down, you don't have much confidence in our relationship? In other words ... there are hidden dangers between us, but I don't know about them?"

Shirley hit the nail on the head as she asked sharply.

"That's right."

Braden did not deny it. Instead, he said meaningfully, 'I'm not a flawless man. I also have many dark sides. If one day you discover my dark side, perhaps you won't forgive me anymore!"

Braden revealed a helpless and bitter smile after he said that.

As a mortal, he couldn't control fate at all.

If Shirley discovered his dark side and couldn't accept it one day, he really wouldn't be able to do anything about it when she insisted on leaving him.

Chapter 454 Do I Look like A Murderer?

“Braden, admit it. You are a murderer. You killed Mr. Quintin, right?”

Shirley clenched her fingers and asked Braden emotionally.

This conjecture had vaguely occurred in her heart before, until the moment Shirley arrived at Sunflower Island, it was totally confirmed.

Shirley had been depressed all day, and it was also because of this matter that she wanted to have a good talk with Braden about it, but she was afraid that when she learned the truth, their relationship would be broken, and they would never be able to get back together...

“What?”

Braden was caught off guard.

He had never expected that Shirley would think this way.

Suddenly, Braden didn’t know whether to laugh or cry.

It seemed that he still thought too highly of Shirley, thinking that she had already seen through that the so-called “Mr. Quintin” was him!

“Why do you look like that? Did you kill him? Give me an answer. What are you laughing at?”

Shirley did not understand what the man meant when he was smiling.

Did she guess it right, so he smiled arrogantly, or her guess was not right, so he smiled mockingly?

“Look at me, do I look like a murderer?” Braden asked with a faint smile.

“You can’t judge a man by his look. There are many cases in the world. A criminal is a handsome man, but in fact, he is a serial killer. For example, there is a man named Ricky Ramirez. He is a notorious serial killer, nicknamed the disciple of the Devil. Because he has a handsome face, the jury has been charmed by him. Not only does he have countless fans, but he also married in prison...”

“So I am handsome. You came to the conclusion that I am also a serial killer?”

Braden propped up his good-looking chin and patiently listened to Shirley’s explanation. He didn’t know whether to laugh or cry again.

“It’s not that you’re handsome, so you are a killer. It’s just that even though you’re handsome, maybe you’re a murderer...”

Shirley became confused after she beat around the bush. She waved her hand and said, “In short, don’t talk so much with me. Just answer me. Are you a murderer or not?”

Nancy’s face flushed red. She was so embarrassed that she kept stomping. She almost dug a hole in the beach under her feet.

“Eh, how can I stop him? I...”

Shirley was a little helpless.

After all, a people person like Keith could do whatever he wanted. How could she stop him?

Seeing Keith getting closer and closer, Nancy simply jumped into the sea and swam toward the deeper sea area.

What the hell?

The smile on Keith’s face suddenly froze. He was shocked by Nancy’s foolish action.

“What happened to Nancy?”

He asked Shirley with a puzzled expression.

“Well... She... It might be morning swimming. This is a habit she has developed over the years.”

Shirley made up nonsense with a serious face.

Keith thought it was true and showed an expression of appreciation. “This habit is really great. Many girls I know are very delicate. Let alone exercise, just sunbathing is terrifying to them. They fear being tanned...”

“Nancy is very special. She is not a delicate flower but a free, unrestrained wild grass.

She has the power of freedom and tenacity.”

Shirley observed Keith’s expression and carefully said, “In that case, you really like my friend. You have a good eye. I want to give you a thumbs up.”

“I do like her. In fact... I like any woman who is independent and confident.”

“Tsk, love saint!”

Chapter 456 This Is A Personal Vendetta

Braden left for more than a week. He was the same as Mr. Quintin, and no one heard from him at all.

And no one could reach him on the phone, either. Tracy could not explain anything clearly, and the media did not mention Braden's whereabouts at all.

Nancy was so anxious that she kept pulling strings and trying to find out about Braden's whereabouts. However, those rich young men and women, who had always been fearless, all chose to remain silent, not daring to say anything.

On the contrary, Shirley was very calm. Since she couldn't reach Braden on the phone, she would try again after a few hours. And since nothing changed, she would simply drop it as if nothing had happened.

Another morning arrived. Shirley leisurely held the easel, facing the sea and painting the beautiful sea sunrise.

Nancy was flustered and walked up and down beside Shirley. Finally, Nancy could bear it no more. She snatched Shirley's brush away, frowned, and asked, "Shirley, how can you paint so calmly? Aren't you worried about him?"

"What should I be worried about?" Shirley asked calmly and slowly.

"There has been no Braden's news for a week. He was all over you the last few days, and now he vanishes just like that. Clearly, something is off..."

"How so?"

Shirley smiled, "You make it sound like he has been killed or having an affair."

"Those things are possible!"

Nancy was agitated. She continued, "Braden is a jerk. He has wronged you before. He once knocked up his mistress, brought her to you, and forced you to divorce him. Have you forgotten? Once a cheater, always a cheater. You can't let him go too far."

She was worried that Shirley would be hurt again, yet there were some things that she felt she was not at liberty to say. However, she would feel uneasy pretending that nothing had happened and not saying anything.

"If he did cheat, with his personality, I don't believe he would hide it from me, and he certainly wouldn't put me off in a childish way by not answering the phone. So, I think he had his reasons. After he deals with his matters, he'll turn up."

Nancy also opened her arms and blocked Shirley's way. "If Keith is telling the truth, going to them now will be no different from risking your neck. I won't let you take that risk!"

Shirley was very moved by Nancy and Keith's worry for her, but she felt that they had overreacted a little. She smiled and said, "Don't worry. I am there to resolve the conflict, and that's all. How is that risking my neck? If anyone's neck is risked, it will be theirs, not mine. You know what I am capable of."

"Of course, I know what you are capable of, but you don't know what the Gilmore family is capable of. To be more precise, you don't know what your enemy is capable of."

Keith's eyes were serious, which was a rare thing. He said, "Do you know how many people in the entire Seatle City want to take down Braden? The Gilmore family is just the tip of the iceberg."

"So what? If one stands in our way, I'll take one down. If there are two, I'll get them both."

Shirley clenched her fists, her beautiful face showing absolute confidence.

"That's just your idealized idea. They couldn't take Braden down after all these years.

It wasn't because they weren't powerful enough, or because the Stewart family was too influential, but because Braden never had a weakness. Now that with you and the kids in the picture, he has a sore spot. No one knows if he can win outright this time..."

Keith could always see things through. He let out a long sigh and said, "My guess is that he left Sunflower Island suddenly and did not contact you so that you and the kids would be absolutely safe. If you go back now, you will be a burden to him."

Without any hesitation, Alisha and Bennett said in unison, "Is there a need to ask us?"

Of course, we choose to fight with Daddy!'

Bennett said loudly. He had a delicate face, and though he seemed adorable, he was mature and calm beyond his years, wiser and more composed than many adults.

Bennett pinched his chin and began to make suggestions, "Mommy, why don't you and Ally stay here? I'll go to Seatie City to see what's going on. If it's a trivial matter, I can fix it myself. Mommy, there's no need to trouble you."

"Ben, you are awesome! Mommy, leave it to him. There's nothing Ben can't solve..."

Alisha looked at Bennett with admiration in her eyes and praised him. At the same time, she belittled Braden and said, "I knew it. Daddy has nothing but a good-looking face. In fact, he is so incapable. He gets trapped easily, and he needs Mommy to save him. Ben is the best!"

Bennett shook his head and sighed like an adult, "I told you already. Without me, our family will fall apart.'

Shirley was speechless for a second.

She thought, I wonder sometimes. What kind of kids did I give birth to? They are capable of everything, which makes the adults look redundant and stupid.

Tsk, tsk. I guess I really shouldn't have given birth at sea.

Of course, Shirley wouldn't let Bennett go to Seatie City for the sake of his safety. She instructed the two kids seriously, "Alright then. You two, listen up. I agree with you on this matter. We can't just sit back and do nothing. Instead, we should fight with your daddy. However, because the enemy is too dangerous, this time it must be me who confronts them. The biggest help you can offer this time is to stay on Sunflower Island, listen to Nancy and Keith, and wait for us to come back..."

"Mommy, believe me. I can do it!"

Bennett frowned and insisted. He was worried that Shirley would be in danger. He didn't want her to confront the Gilmore family alone.

“It’s not negotiable. You are not allowed to leave Sunflower Island until we get back. Otherwise ... I’ll break your legs!”

Shirley pointed at Bennett with a straight face and said, ‘Did you hear me? Especially you. Don’t act recklessly!’

Antwan smiled meaningfully and sped up the car.

After more than an hour, the car arrived at the famous five-star vacation hotel in Seatie City.

A banquet was held in the hotel today, so the hotel was not open to the public. The big lawn in the front was decorated in an aesthetically pleasant and romantic way. All kinds of drinks and exquisite sweets were placed at the side of the pool.

The rich young men and ladies from Seatie City gathered together and were having fun. They were open-minded and unabashed. Beautiful women in bikinis and muscular men were chasing and playing in the swimming pool. Some of them even hugged and kissed each other as if no one was around. The scene was so wild.

Shirley didn't like such an occasion. She frowned and asked Antwan beside her,

"What tricks are you playing? Why did you bring me here for no reason?"

Antwan put his hands in his pockets and smiled, 'Didn't you encourage me to make up for my mistakes and save the arrogant Braden with you? He is indeed in trouble right now and waiting for us to save him.'

Shirley instantly perked up and asked, "You mean that Braden is here?"

"He might be here or in the room. You can look for him."

Antwan paused for a moment and then said meaningfully, "However, you need to be mentally prepared. I'm afraid that when you see him 'suffer', your heart will ache."

"Don't pretend to be mysterious."

Shirley glanced at Antwan unhappily and then began to search carefully in the hotel.

Most people were by the pool, and ear-piercing electronic music was playing. Several people were holding water pipes and standing in the middle of the pool to stir up the atmosphere. The men and women swayed along with the rhythm. Shirley felt upset when looking at the messy scene.

Just as she was about to turn around and went to another area, she found a familiar person lying on a chair by the pool. He was wearing a white bathrobe and sunglasses.

Braden didn't wait for Shirley to finish the countdown and gave the answer.

His expression was indifferent as if he was looking at a stranger. He said emotionlessly, "You are always self-righteous. You think that you are charming enough to win my heart. Let me tell you the truth. From beginning to end, I was just playing with you. I have confirmed your love for me. I won, so I don't want to continue to be with you. However, you fell into the trap and were unwilling to give up on me. You even want to offer me the so-called help. It is disgusting."

"Enough!"

Antwan clenched his fists. For the first time, he lost his composure. He was a little out of control as he mocked Braden. Braden, if you have time, why don't you think about how to bring the Stewart Group out of the crisis instead of hurting a woman? Aren't you afraid of disgracing the Stewart family if the news spread out?"

"Isn't it what you want?"

Braden's eyes were as sharp as a blade. He looked at Antwan and said meaningfully,

"In addition, I am different from you. At least I am open and honest. I never play dirty tricks."

Antwan had always been uncompromising. However, Braden's words hit his sore points, and he no longer argued with Braden.

He turned back to hold Shirley's hand and said in a low voice, "You see him, and you should learn about his true colors. Let's go."

"Why are you in such a hurry?"

There was no sadness or joy on Shirley's delicate face, making it impossible to guess what she was thinking.

Was she sad, angry, or nonchalant?

"He said so, yet you still refuse to give up?"

Antwan frowned and was angry with Shirley's unusual calmness. "It seems that you are still the same as before. For him, you even gave up the basic dignity of a woman.
