

SHOTA'S ISEKAI NTR ADVENTURE

Chapter 141 First Time (2)

The two of us sat there in silence, with neither of us knowing what to do.

Well...we knew what to do, but both of us felt too awkward to make the first move.

After all, this was a very strange situation.

So the two of us continued to sit there in silence, though it was very hard for us to keep doing this.

The awkwardness of the situation was slowly hurting us.

Finally, I couldn't take it anymore and turned to Haley to say, "Um, is there anything that you want to do first?"

It was a very strange question to ask in a situation like this, but I really couldn't think of anything better. My brain just wasn't working properly to form any proper thoughts at this moment...

But the fact that I made the first move was enough for Haley.

She looked at me with a look that had a bit of desire in it before suddenly saying, "Hold me."

I was caught off guard when I heard this, but seeing the way that she looked at me, I couldn't stop myself.

My hands slowly came up and then...I took her in my arms.

The two of us just stayed like that for a bit as we enjoyed the warmth that came from each other.

I especially enjoyed the soft feeling that came from her body.

Her body was very soft and warm in my embrace, it was just like holding a water body pillow. But the most pleasant feeling were the two bumps that were pressing up against my chest.

When I felt them against me, I really couldn't help feeling a bit hot and bothered.

The more that they pressed on me, the more turned on I became until.

"Ah!" Haley suddenly gave a cry of surprise before moving back a bit.

She had also been enjoying the embrace that she was getting. The feeling of his arms around her was a comforting feeling that also created a warm and bothered feeling inside of her.

That is until she suddenly felt something poking her from the front.

When she calmed down and looked forward, she saw...that there was a tent that was being pitched there.

It wasn't that big yet, but she could immediately tell what it was as soon as she saw it.

Seeing that tent being pitched in front of her, she couldn't help revealing a curious look as she slowly came closer to it. She moved right up in front of it and slowly looked at it since this was her first time seeing this.

When she had been with her ex husband, she hadn't allowed him to lay a single finger on her, so they had never consummated on their wedding night.

She was still...a virgin even though she was now a divorcee.

Seeing the way that she looked at my dick standing up, I couldn't help feeling awkward. Then as that feeling of awkwardness filled me, the tent in my pants slowly started going down.

As it went down, Haley came back to her senses as a trace of disappointment filled her eyes.

She then looked up at me with that same look of disappointment in her eyes.

n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

When I saw this, I couldn't help feeling even more awkward as I didn't know what to do...

But then I suddenly had an idea and said, "Do you want to see it?"

I didn't know where this idea came from...it might have been the blood that was rushing to my head, or rather my dick...or it could be that I just simply wasn't thinking since I didn't know what to do in this awkward situation.

But since I had asked this question, there was nothing else I could do except back it up.

When Haley heard this, she couldn't help revealing a surprised look.

But after hesitation a bit, she gave a nod of affirmation in the end.

Since I had already pushed myself into this corner, there was nothing else that I could say.

The only thing that I could do was bring my hands over to the waist of my pants and after grabbing them, I slowly started to pull them down.

During this time, Haley's eyes were firmly on the plan in between my legs. Even though all she could see right now was my pants, her eyes didn't move at all as she stared at me.

I even felt that she didn't blink at this moment as if she was completely focused on what she was about to see.

This made it feel even more awkward since it was like I was putting on a show, but I swallowed that awkwardness and continued pulling down.

Soon the pants came off and my dick inside was revealed.

However, it was very limp because I just couldn't get it up with how awkward this situation felt.

That didn't matter to Haley though as she continued staring at it.

The moment that it appeared in front of her, it was almost as if her eyes suddenly lit up as she focused on it.

This was her first time seeing a man's thing and she couldn't help thinking...

Big!

Even though it wasn't erect, it was still big.

So she couldn't help wondering...just how big could this thing get?

As this thought passed through her mind, she couldn't help feeling a burning sensation inside of her. This burning sensation started from her stomach, but it soon went lower, causing a bit of liquid to come out.

She stared at it and slowly reached a hand out towards it, but she didn't touch it in the end.

She just had her hand in the air, as if she wanted to touch it, but didn't know how to do it.

When I saw this, I couldn't help revealing a bitter smile before asking, "Do you want to touch it?"

When Haley heard this, she immediately looked up at me and asked, "Can I?"

When I saw the slight bit of excitement in her eyes, I once again couldn't help revealing a bitter smile before giving a nod.

Chapter 142 First Time (3)

Once she had received permission, Haley didn't hesitate to move closer to the dick that was in front of her.

Both of her hands were moving forward, but at the same time, she was hesitating like she was scared to touch it.

But the way that she looked at it made it seem like she was excited.

In the end, I just couldn't get it up because this felt too awkward for me.

That is until she finally gathered the courage to reach her hand forward to grab my dick.

It was just too bad that...she was in too much of a rush that she couldn't control her power and she grabbed it too hard. n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

The moment that I felt her hand grab my dick, I couldn't help jolting.

That was because all I felt from her grabbing it was...pain.

It wasn't that she grabbed it, she also pulled on it after taking hold of my dick which caused even more pain for me.

So the moment that she grabbed it, I couldn't help giving a cry of pain.

Hearing this, Haley immediately let go and moved back as if she had done something wrong. She looked at me with a worried look as she asked, "What did I do wrong? Are you ok?"

I took a moment to recover from the pain of being grabbed at like this before taking a deep breath to say, "I'm...alright."

She let out a sigh of relief before saying, "I'm sorry, I'm just really nervous and this is my first time, so I..."

Before she could start rambling, I raised my hand to cut her off.

Seeing this, she immediately fell silent and waited for me to speak.

I took her hand and patted it before saying, "You're too nervous. Just calm down, alright?"

Haley didn't know what to say at first before giving a sigh and saying, "Alright."

I helped calm her down before saying, "You don't need to use that much strength when you hold it, just use a bit of strength and it'll be fine."

With that, I slowly guided her hand over to my dick and then said, "Gentle, alright?"

Haley focused on the task that had been given to her, but her hand was shaking as it came closer and closer. It was as if she was afraid that she would mess up again.

But in the end, she was able to grip my dick gently.

Though what came next was just more panic as she didn't know what to do after this.

Seeing the look on her face, I immediately said, "Stop!"

At this, Haley froze on the spot and stopped moving.

When I saw this, I couldn't help letting out a sigh of relief.

If I had been even a second slower...it was very likely that she would have ripped my dick off.

But at the same time, I had been slow because I had been enjoying the feeling that came from her hand...It was a very soft feeling that was different from both Baroness Rose and Cecilia.

Still, I didn't have time to think about that.

So with a calm and serious voice, I said, "Now move your hand slowly up and down while holding it with this same level of power. If you go too fast, I think that you should know what will happen."

Haley looked at me with a confused look at first, but then she gave a nod to show that she understood.

With that, her hand started moving up and down across my dick.

This time, I was finally able to let myself relax and enjoy the feeling that came from her hands.

She wasn't skilled at all, but she did make up for it with enthusiasm. She focused all of her attention on this, so she was doing the best that she could with the limited abilities that she had.

Like this, my dick slowly became harder and harder.

When Haley felt the dick in her hand becoming bigger and harder, she began being filled with confidence. At the same time, the smell that came from it entered her nose and she couldn't control herself as she started getting turned on as well.

Without being told to do so, her other hand came up to grab the dick as well and she started stroking it with both hands.

Now that it had grown much bigger and harder, it wasn't a problem for her to use both hands.

When I felt the pleasure that came from her using both hands like this, I couldn't help letting out a moan.

Now that she had gotten into the groove of this, she really was something else.

She felt more and more confident as it grew and she felt more and more turned on as the smell in front of her became stronger and stronger.

So Haley didn't hold back as she started moving her hands faster.

The faster that she stroked me, the greater the pleasure that I felt.

In the end, I wasn't able to hold back at all as the waves of pleasure hit my mind and I was about to climax. When I came close, I said, "I'm about to cum."

Haley had been focused on the task at 'hand' a bit too much that she had almost been in a trance. But she did snap out of it the moment that she heard what I said.

She seemed like she was about to ask what this meant, but then she suddenly remembered something.

She looked down at the dick in front of her and she couldn't help wondering...

What did it taste like?

The smell that had been coming from it had slowly been making her think about this question and now that it was getting even stronger, she finally couldn't take it anymore.

So Haley brought her head down and while she was still stroking the dick in front of her, her mouth opened wide to wrap around the tip of the dick.

It was also at this moment that I came.

Chapter 143 First Time (4)

Haley's eyes opened wide in panic when she felt the liquid being shot into her mouth.

She had wanted to pull her head back, but before she could...my hands were already holding her head down.

It was actually the feeling of her lips wrapping around the tip of my dick that had caused me to cum in the end. I didn't want that feeling to stop, so I grabbed her head and pulled those lips back down over my dick.

Haley's eyes opened even wider in panic when she felt this, but soon she was taken over by the taste that filled her mouth and the smell that filled her nose. She couldn't help being overwhelmed by all of this and just relaxed as she let me do what I wanted.

Holding her head down, I blew my complete load into her mouth before finally letting go of her head.

But her eyes were already slightly rolled back and she was in a daze, so she didn't pull back right away.

It took her a moment to recover before she...started sucking on my dick.

With the way that she was sucking, it was as if she wanted to pull every last drop of cum out of it before pulling away.

Finally, when she was certain that she had gotten everything, her lips released his dick and she pulled her head back. But she quickly closed her lips and didn't let a single thing drip out.

With a difficult gulp, she swallowed everything that was in her mouth before opening it to show that she had swallowed everything.

When I saw this, I couldn't help being shocked and a bit turned on by her actions.

Even though I had just came, my dick couldn't help starting to get hard again after seeing this.

Taking a moment to gather herself, Haley then came forward and grabbed me with her arms as she said, "Can we keep going? Do you have more of that? I need more of what you just gave me."

I couldn't help slightly knitting my brows because she was acting strange and her face was a bit red, but then I understood when she said her next words.

"There's this strange feeling down there and I need you to relieve it."

Looking down, I could see that there was a liquid that was running down her legs coming from that place in between.

I knew exactly what was happening when I saw this.

She couldn't control her libido anymore.

So I came forward and said, "Alright, I'll make you feel good now."

Haley's mind recovered for a second when she heard this, but then she couldn't help moaning as she felt his hands move across her body.

The first thing that I did was bring my hands up to her shoulders.

Starting from the top of her dress, I reached my hands in and started slowly pulling it down. n/o/vel/b//in dot c//om

As she felt my hands on her body, Haley couldn't help letting out a moan. That was because to her, these hands were burning hot.

They were so hot that they burned her to her core and ignited the flames in her even more.

Slowly but surely, the dress was pulled down over her perky breasts. As they were pulled off, the breast snapped back over the top of the dress and jiggled in front of my face.

Seeing this, I couldn't help giving a gulp as I sat there in a bit of a daze. I really couldn't help taking a moment to admire these perfect round breasts with the soft pink coloured tips on them.

They weren't as big as Baroness Rose's, but they were still considered big and shapely. They formed a perfect round shape that would have fit perfectly in my hands.

I was almost mesmerized by the way that they swayed there in front of my face.

I also couldn't help wanting to move my face closer so that I could put them in my mouth.

But I was pulled out of my daze when Haley said, "Hurry, I can't take it anymore."

She came closer to me, bringing those perfectly round breasts even closer. However, that was enough to shake me out of my daze.

With a smile, I started pulling the rest of her dress down, revealing the rest of her perfect figure.

Her breasts were definitely a sight to behold, but her waist was just as beautiful. They were round and full, like a perfect pair of mounds sticking out of the ground.

I really couldn't help letting my hands linger a bit as I pulled her dress off over them.

Then finally, when I reached the end, I was surprised by...how wet it was.

It was like the dams had been broken and the flood had been released with how wet she was down there. Seeing the liquid that kept dripping down, I couldn't help being surprised.

As I once again sat there in a daze, she came forward to say, "What are you waiting for? Please make me feel good. I can't take this burning feeling anymore!"

I was once again pulled back to my senses by her pleading and I turned to push her down onto the bed after taking off the dress.

When she saw me atop of her, her heart couldn't help beating fast like a little deer running through the woods.

Seeing her under me like this, I leaned down and placed a kiss right atop her lips.

The moment that our lips touched, I could even taste the faint taste of cherry blossoms filling my mouth. This was a taste that had a bit of sweetness to it that I just couldn't get enough of, so I poked my tongue through and sucked on her lips as I kissed her with all my might.

Finally, when we both ran out of breath and she separated, I couldn't help being surprised by the messy look that she had as she laid there in the bed. With her disheveled hair and her fast breathing, she really gave off a different feeling from usual.

But this was a feeling that turned me on very much.

And I couldn't take it anymore as I looked down to match myself with her before saying, "Get ready, it's time."

Chapter 144 First Time (5)

When Haley heard this, she couldn't help jolting a bit.

Then she took a deep breath and relaxed herself, letting him do whatever he wanted with her body.

When I saw her lying like this, I almost thought that she was lying there like a dead fish...

But I quickly threw that thought out as I focused on the beautiful figure that was lying there under me.

This was a figure that would surely make men drool and now it was right underneath me.

After giving a gulp, I no longer hesitated and thrust forward with my hip.

The moment that I entered her, there was only one thing that I thought...

Tight!

This was much tighter than any other girl that I had slept with. Although there were only two other girls, it was still a large difference.

This feeling was unlike anything that I had felt before and I soon found that...I wasn't able to push any further. But that didn't mean that it was any less pleasurable than any of the other girls that I slept with.

With how tight she was, it wrapped right around my dick so that I could feel it while pushing in.

Seeing that I wasn't able to push in any further, I decided to pull back out.

This wasn't much since there was only a bit past the tip that had entered into her, but I found that it was very hard for me to pull out. It wasn't that I wasn't willing to pull out, but rather it was because the insides of her held tightly onto me that it was hard to move at all.

But when I was able to pull out, I could feel it wrapping around me again, rubbing against my dick as I moved. This once again brought a wave of pleasure that hit me like a tidal wave.

I couldn't wait at all after pulling out a bit to thrust into her once more.

This time, I was able to thrust a bit deeper which created even more pleasure for me.

It was as if I was slowly opening her up.

But when I reached as far as I could with this second thrust, I suddenly felt Haley's body shaking underneath me.

It wasn't shaking as if she was scared, but rather it was shaking from excitement.

She had already come close to climaxing with the first thrust, so when the second one came...she couldn't hold herself back anymore. The moment that the second thrust went into her, she felt her entire body go numb as she couldn't control it.

The only thing that she felt at the peak of the second thrust was the pleasure that came from it and she couldn't hold herself back anymore.

So when he was about to pull out again, he felt something wet coming from her as Haley couldn't stop herself from climaxing. The spray hit him right on the dick and on his waist, drenching him.

With how she was spraying it out, it was almost like a hose.

At the same time, Haley couldn't help letting out a loud moan filled with pleasure as she came.

When she was done, her body went soft and she laid there weakly on the bed, looking like she couldn't move at all while still panting.

I was caught off guard by how sudden she had climaxed, but that didn't mean that I would stop there.

After all, she might have climaxed, but that didn't mean that I was finished yet.

Even if she had taken the chance to let herself sink into the pleasure alone, that didn't mean that I had finished yet.

So I grabbed onto her waist again and pulled out of her.

Haley had been panting still, but when she felt this feeling of me pulling out, she couldn't help looking up and saying in a panicked voice, "Wait, not yet! I'm still sensi..."

She didn't get to say anything, she didn't even get to finish her sentence as I suddenly pulled out of her.

The moment that I did, her head couldn't help tilting back as she let out a loud moan of pleasure.

With the added friction that came from her squirting, I was able to easily pull out of her in one smooth move. Then I didn't hesitate at all to push right back into her, reaching a bit deeper this time.

Under me, Haley had already completely lost the ability to form words as I kept thrusting into her. The only sound that came from her now was the loud moaning that she unconsciously let out with each thrust.

That didn't make me stop though since I could tell that each moan was filled with pleasure.

After thrusting a few more times, I felt the same tremble from her body again. This was the trembling that came when she had climaxed last time.

So I knew what was going to happen, but I didn't stop since I was also feeling the same way.

The pleasure that came from her tight pussy was just too much for me to handle and I couldn't hold back anymore. I had thought that I was better than before with my practice with Baroness Rose and Cecilia, but this really was a new feeling and I couldn't stop myself after just a few thrusts. n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

As I was thrusting, Haley could also feel the trembling of the dick that was inside of her, so she snapped out of her daze and looked up at me.

As she looked at me, she asked, "What are you..."

She didn't get to finish as I suddenly made one large thrust into her, pushing as deep as I could into her.

This sent a strong tremble through her body that she couldn't hold back anymore.

But it was the same for me.

So together, the two of us suddenly climaxed together.

She sprayed her shot all over me and I shot my load deep inside of her before collapsing atop of her.

The two of us just laid there while panting after climaxing together.

Chapter 145 First Time (6)

After resting for a bit, I got up over her once again and looked down at Haley as she just laid there.

She had a tired look on her face, but there was also a look of satisfaction that was with that tired look.

At the same time, I could hear her muttering, "So warm and so full...I want more of it."

Hearing this, I couldn't help being turned on again.

Not to mention, I wasn't done with just this alone.

I might have already shot my load twice, but I was still raring to go. That was evident by my dick that was slowly getting harder and bigger again.

Haley had been in a daze until she noticed that I was getting up again.

She couldn't help looking up to see something growing bigger down there and she was once again dazed.

After coming back to her senses, she looked up at me and asked, "You're still not done yet?"

I just looked down at her with a smile and shook my head.

Seeing this, Haley didn't panic and instead also revealed a smile. She reached her hands out towards me and said, "Alright, then do what you want. I'm yours."

When I heard this, I knew that there was no need to hold back anymore.

So I got up on the bed and positioned myself above her, but I wasn't done yet.

I held Haley by the waist and lifted her up as well.

When she felt herself being lifted up like this, she couldn't help revealing a surprised look as she asked, "What are you doing?"

I just smiled without saying a thing.

Once she was up, I finally said, "Turn around."

After saying this, I started turning her around on the bed so that she was facing away from me.

Haley went along with this and then grabbed the head of the bed as I had instructed her. However, she still couldn't help asking in a confused voice, "What is going on? What are you going to do?"

Once again, I didn't answer with words.

Instead, I answered with my actions.

I moved into my position right behind her and grabbed her by the waist.

As Haley held onto the head of the bed, she couldn't help feeling a bit scared and a bit excited by what was about to happen.

After all, even if she couldn't see what was about to happen, she could still feel him holding her waist like this. At the same time, she could also feel a heat coming from down there as he held his dick right in front of her pussy.

However, before thrusting forward, I took a moment to admire this.

Her orange hair swept down her back and separated to the sides, hanging down in front of her. They would have covered her breasts, but I wasn't sure since I couldn't see it with her facing the other way.

And then there was her bottom that was fully presented to me.

With her lifting her butt up like this, I was able to see everything in front of me.

The perfect folds, the light pink colour, and the little bean that almost seemed to be trembling.

It was all waiting for me along with the liquid dripping out of her from the excitement of waiting.

I didn't hold back anymore as I suddenly gave a full thrust.

I thrust into her as deeply as I could, but it was still as tight as before, so I wasn't able to push it all the way in.

In fact, it was even tighter now that she had rested a bit, so I couldn't even go in as deeply as I had before.

But that didn't stop it from feeling good.

As for Haley, the moment that I thrust into her, she found herself being pushed up against the head of the bed. This was a completely different feeling from the way that they had done it before and she couldn't stop her heart from beating fast.

It was deep inside of her, but at the same time...it was like she was being dominated by him which gave her a fluttering feeling.

I didn't stop after thrusting in and continued thrusting back and forth behind her.

As she kept being pushed up against the head of the bed, she finally lost her grip and fell down on the bed.

But even then, I didn't stop as I got up above her and thrust down from above. With each thrust, she found that her head was being pushed into the bed itself.

This was like she had given up complete control and she was being dominated at this moment.

However, she didn't dislike this.

With each thrust, it felt like she was becoming his property which she enjoyed.

This made each thrust even more pleasurable and she couldn't help moaning as she said, "More, more! Harder, harder, push me down even harder!"

I couldn't help revealing a smile when I heard this.

Since she wanted more, I didn't hold back at all as I mounted myself above her and pressed her right down into the bed. At the same time, I put my face right behind hers so that I could get right up by her ear and say, "Do you like that, you little slut?"

When she heard this, it was as if there was a bug that was in her ear that was making its way into her brain. The only thing that she could hear were these words calling her a little slut.

She didn't know why she enjoyed it since she definitely would have been against it if it was anyone else...but when it was him...she couldn't help enjoying the feeling of being called a little slut.

So she kept saying, "More, more, I want more!"

The two of us continued going like this until I finally couldn't take it anymore.

As I kept thrusting, I said, "I'm about to cum!"

Haley had been holding back this time because she had wanted to do it together like they had done last time.

Since he said that he was going to climax, then there was no longer a need for her to hold back.

Haley said while moaning and panting, "Together, let's do it together."

I looked down at her and the way that she said this, along with the way that she looked really turned me on even more. So I just whispered in her ear, "Alright."

With one final thrust that finally allowed my dick to go deep into her, I shot my load into her.

At the same time, I could feel the trembling of her body as she climaxed.

This time, since I wasn't in front of her, she sprayed out all over the bed that was behind us, creating a large wet spot on it. If one didn't know better, they might have thought that it was...

Then when I finished pumping my load into her, I pulled my dick out and laid there beside her.

Both of us were panting from that, but there were looks of satisfaction that were on our faces.

But before long...I became hard again seeing the scene of her butt in the air with my cum dripping out of her.

Seeing this, Haley couldn't help revealing a smile as she said, "You're still not satisfied yet?"

I just shook my head with a smile without saying anything.

She didn't judge me as she simply said, "Alright, let's keep going."

Just like that, the two of us kept going for the rest of the night.

Chapter 146 "Get Up!"

When the sun rose, the beams of light came through the slits of the window curtain to come into the room.

But the two that were on the bed were still laying there with happy smiles on their faces.

Both of them were completely naked, but they didn't care at all as they enjoyed each other's embrace.

The woman was in the man's arms, though she was taller than him which made it look awkward. Especially the way that their feet peeked out of the blanket...or rather, there were only a single pair of feet that peeked out.

It was the slender and delicate feet of a woman.

The feet of the man didn't reach that far.

Still, they were happy just laying there like that.

That was until there was someone that suddenly barged into the room.

This person didn't hold back at all as they pushed the door open and ran into the room, almost as if they were expecting to catch them doing something bad.

However, when they saw the two of them just lying there on the bed still sleeping, there was a hint of disappointment that appeared in their eyes.

Nôv(el)B\jnn

Still, they didn't hold back at all since there was also a hint of annoyance in those eyes.

So they took a deep breath before shouting, "GET UP!"

As soon as this was shouted, the two of them on the bed immediately jumped up and looked around themselves, trying to find where this loud sound was coming from.

Then when they saw Cecilia standing there in front of the bed looking down on them, both of them revealed bitter smiles.

Cecilia just stood there looking down at them with narrowed eyes still before saying, "Look at the two of you. The sun is already up and you're still sleeping away like it's nothing. Must be nice not having anything to do."

The two of them revealed awkward looks again.

But it was then that Baroness Rose also came into the room.

She was carrying a tray that seemed to have something on it. When one looked closely, they would see that it was a bunch of food that was on this tray, along with a glass of something that seemed to be juice.

She ignored Cecilia who was just standing at the end of the bed glaring at them and she moved to the side that Zwein was sitting on.

I couldn't help being surprised as I watched her smooth out the bed blankets and then place the tray in front of me. I looked at her with a doubtful look after she had finished setting it all down.

Baroness Rose just said with a smile, "You shouldn't skip breakfast."

Once again, I couldn't help being taken aback when I heard this. But after taking some time to recover, I said with a smile, "Thank you."

I always kept discovering more and more different sides to Baroness Rose, but I had never complained about a single side of her. Every single side of her was endearing in its own way and I found myself lucky that I had her as my wife.

However, there was one problem though...

There was only one portion of breakfast that had been brought over.

Haley just sat there awkwardly as she looked down at the tray in front of me.

It wasn't that she had expected to be brought breakfast in bed like I had been, but she felt like she was the only one that was excluded from this as the newcomer.

Baroness Rose noticed this and turned to Haley. Then to everyone's surprise, she revealed a sharp look and said, "Did you think that you would also get to be treated the same? You are a concubine, so you should know your place."

Both of our chins dropped down when we heard this, but it was clear that Haley was the one that had been affected the most.

After all, what Baroness Rose had said was the truth.

Baroness Rose was the main wife and Haley was just the concubine, so to be expected to be treated properly was just asking too much.

So Haley was about to awkwardly get out of bed and find some clothes to put on, but Baroness Rose stopped her before she could do that.

She suddenly burst out in laughter before saying, "Did you really think that I would act that way?"

All of us just either sat there or stood there with confused looks on our faces as we didn't know how to respond.

Luckily for us, it was just a rhetorical question in the end and Baroness Rose never expected an answer in the first place.

She went over to Haley's side of the bed and pushed her back down before saying, "Just wait a minute, I'll bring yours over now."

Hearing this, Haley just nodded in a daze.

It didn't take her long to come back with a tray that was the same as the one in front of me. The two trays even had the same dishes, which showed that they had been prepared at the same time.

Baroness Rose came over and placed it in front of Haley with a smile before she started helping the two of us eat.

During this time, Haley just obediently listened to everything that Baroness Rose said. However, if one looked closely at the look in her eyes, it was almost as if...she was scared of Baroness Rose.

That was because just now...when Baroness Rose had said that she was just joking, Haley saw a look in her eyes that didn't seem like it was a joke. It really seemed like she was serious about what she had said.

Haley as a merchant was a good judge of character since that was what she had to do as a merchant. But right now, she just couldn't see through Baroness Rose...

So she couldn't help being scared of her since she was able to hide herself this deeply.

Haley made a vow that she wouldn't ever anger Baroness Rose...

Even if she seemed gentle, if she ever lost control of herself...Haley might not even know what would happen to her.

Just like this, the four of us shared breakfast together since Baroness Rose had prepared breakfast for everyone in the first place.

Chapter 147 What Came After

After breakfast was over, three of us headed out together.

The only person who didn't come with us was Cecilia who had to go and train her subordinates. She had an unwilling look on her face as she headed off to the training field, but she knew that this was her duty, so she still went.

As for the three of us, Haley, Baroness Rose, and me, we were heading to where Haley's people were.

Baroness Rose and I hadn't gone yesterday because of the time that we had spent together, but we still needed to go and inspect the goods that had been brought. Even if we trusted Haley, we still needed to see if it was properly unpacked and stored since this was something that involved the lives of our citizens.

So we didn't waste any time heading over.

When we arrived, we found that there were many people who were currently working hard even though it was early in the morning.

They were all working on securing the goods and making sure that they were properly stored.

Not a single person dared to slack on their task since they knew that this was something that would involve the survival of their family over the winter.

With how diligent everyone was being, there really was no need for us to inspect what they were doing. They all made sure that they were doing everything correctly since it was their lives at stake here.

Since that was the case, all we did was talk with Haley's employees a bit, or rather Baroness Rose talked to them while Haley was away taking care of some things.

She didn't ask them anything about the delivery, all she asked them about were personal questions about Haley.

To my surprise, I found that the employees were more than happy to talk about Haley.

All of them were talking about her with happy smiles on their faces, but the way that they spoke of her...was a bit strange.

Instead of talking about her like she was their boss, they talked about her like she was a child and they were the parents. They happily talked about all the things that she had done and shared many different embarrassing stories about Haley.

While this felt like Haley was getting the short end of the stick, it was interesting to see how much they cared about her.

This wouldn't have happened in a normal company.

The company that Haley ran seemed more like a family than a company.

When Haley came back, Baroness Rose looked at her with a wide smile and eyes that seemed to favour her even more.

Haley was confused when she saw this, but she still let Baroness Rose take her in her arms.

The unpacking of the goods and storing everything took the rest of the day and Haley's group stayed another day to plan out the new store.

While her employees were surprised by the fact that she was planning on building a branch store here, they fully supported her.

There were even a few that looked at me with special looks, as if they could already guess everything. Though none of them had any hostility towards me.

There were also a few that secretly came up to me to ask me to take care of Haley.

I could only awkwardly agree that I would.

After the two days, Haley left with her people to go back to Alandal City to prepare everything.

She promised that she would be back before winter came.

But it took over two weeks for her to get everything ready.

During this time, Shaka and his men also arrived in the town.

Baroness Rose quickly arranged for Shaka and his men to work with Cecilia who was the captain of the town guard. Working together, they arranged a new department for Shaka and his men who reported directly to me.

This department was in charge of gathering information in town and in the surrounding area. They would make sure that there was nothing harmful in town or the surrounding areas.

They would be our intelligence network.

During the time that I had spent with Baroness Rose after coming back, I had already told her about the Shadow Garden matter.

While she was surprised to hear this, she supported me in this decision.

Then she told me a few things about Shadow Garden that she had heard from her father, the count.

This included the fact that if Shadow Garden wanted me to join, I wasn't able to resist because they had immense influence. A baron like me would be crushed before I was allowed to resist this. nôvelb//in dot c//om

So that was why she supported me in the first place.

But she also warned me that this would be a slippery slope and that I had to be careful since she had heard about the many people who had lost their lives in this organization.

I didn't need her to remind me of this since I already knew this...

After all, I knew what would happen in the end for this organization.

But for now, Shaka and his men were certainly a welcome addition to our town.

In just a week, they had already rooted out a bunch of spies from other nobles in our town.

We had thought that we would be safe since we only had a small territory, but it seemed that the nobles around us weren't as forgiving.

It seemed that we couldn't let our guards down at all.

Then two weeks later, Haley came back with some of her employees.

She had finished taking care of matters in the city so that she wouldn't need to be at the store anymore and now she had brought everyone here to make a branch store.

We had already picked out a place for her, so all that was left was to build her store.

With this new store being built here, it would mean that everyone would have access to a bunch of new goods and their lives would improve.

It was just too bad that something interrupted the construction of the store.

Chapter 148 Forest Disturbance

It was now two days after Haley's group had come back from Alandal City.

The store was slowly being built, but with how big Haley wanted to make it, it was going to be a while before it was finished.

But Haley didn't mind this and she was excited since this was the store of her dreams.

Back in Alandal City, the store that she had was just a store that she had rented. And with the strict rules of Alandal City, she hadn't been able to renovate the store to what she wanted it to be.

So she had no choice but to suck it up and use the store that she rented.

But now...in this place, she had a connection with the baron and baroness, as well as being invited by them. So she was able to make the store however she wanted to make it.

Haley hadn't held back and had created a giant store which really didn't fit in a town like this.

Still, everyone seemed to be having fun with it, so it wasn't as if they could stop them.

Right now, the base of the store had been finished and it was gigantic.

It was multiple times the size of any other house and was even close to the size of Baroness Rose's manor.

A building of this size had to be built at the edge of the town, but with how small the town was in the first place, it was still within walking distance for most people. So there wouldn't be a lack of business for the store.

The future plans for the development of the town revolved around this store because of how big it was.

Baroness Rose decided to make the area around the store the new town center and develop around it to expand the town.

This created even more hype for the store and many people came out to see it.

There were also those that volunteered to help, but this was rejected by Haley. This was her baby in a sense, so she didn't want just anyone messing with it. She only had the most skilled carpenters in town working on it and the best materials that she could get.

And that was where the problem was.

On this day, as Baroness Rose and I went to inspect the building site, we suddenly heard someone shouting.

"What did you say? We can't get the materials?"

We immediately recognized that this was Haley's voice, so we went over to see what was wrong.

We found that she was with Clark, the person that we put in charge of this matter. He was supposed to help her get all the materials and organize all of the carpenters so that the building of her store would go smoothly.

At this moment, we could see that Clark had a difficult look on his face as if he was facing some kind of problem. With the way that the two of them were standing there, it was as if they were having some kind of argument.

Without any hesitation, we came over and I asked, "What's going on?"

The two of them saw who it was and Haley was the first to come over to say, "Clark here says that there's a problem getting the materials. However, he told me just yesterday that he would be able to get everything on time."

It was easy to tell that she was a bit annoyed about this from the tone of her voice, but I didn't play favourites here.

I knew that there had to be some reason Clark had said this, so I turned to him to ask, "What happened?"

Hearing this, there was an awkward and difficult look that appeared on his face as if he was hesitating over whether he should speak or not. In the end though, he took a deep breath and said, "We have a problem in the forest where we're getting the wood from."

"Problem?" I repeated before asking, "What problem is it? Could it be that it's the monsters again?"

Ever since the monster wave, there has been an increase in monsters in the surrounding area. However, it wasn't at a level where we couldn't handle it yet and they made good training targets for Cecilia's subordinates, so we hadn't done anything about them yet.

Clark shook his head when he heard this before hesitating once more.

Seeing this, I couldn't help feeling a bit annoyed, so I said, "Spit it out already."

With this, Clark gave a deep sigh and said, "There's been a dispute in the forest that's stopping us from getting more wood."

I slightly knitted my brows before asking, "Dispute? With who?"

Clark said with a bitter smile, "The elves."

If it was anyone else, then it would have been easier for them to handle because they could at least negotiate. However, elves were famous for being closed off from other races and being impossible to find.

Unless they wanted to talk to you, it was normally impossible to find elves.

But when I heard that it was the elves, I couldn't help revealing an excited look.

Elves, it was elves!

They were a staple of the fantasy world and I had been looking forward to meeting one...or rather, I'd been looking forward to getting to "know" the elves.

After all, they were also famous in this H-game.

The elves had one of the best storylines out there and the women were all beautiful, so there was no downside to meeting the elves.

But I could also see the bitter smile that was still on Clark's face, so I could tell that something was wrong.

After being asked what was wrong, Clark explained the situation to me.

The elves had attacked our loggers and had claimed that we were hurting the forest with our excessive logging, so they wanted us to leave their forest.

Since the elves were expert marksmen and skilled magic casters, our people had no choice but to run. n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

But I couldn't help focusing on something else, "They said that it was 'their' forest?"

Chapter 149 Elves

Clark was surprised to hear this question, but he still gave a nod of confirmation after hearing this.

Seeing this, I couldn't help slightly knitting my brows.

It was time for my gaming knowledge to show its worth.

I had finished every quest that had been related to the elves when I had played this game. It was of course for the "research", so it could be said that I was very intimate with the details of the elf race.

That was where I saw a problem.

I knew that elves were migratory by nature and wandered around in nature typically, but there were times where elves settled down. Even if they were a race with long lives, they still needed to settle down and have children.

So that was when tribes for elves were created.

The only time that elves would call a forest 'their' forest was when they had settled down and created a tribe there.

That meant that in the forest where the dispute happened, there was a tribe of elves.

That was a disconnect with my gaming knowledge since in my memories, there wasn't any trace of a tribe of elves in this area. Even when you came back later with your character to explore, this area had been completely destroyed in the monster wave...

The monster wave!

That was right! That was why there was a disconnect!

Because I had prevented the monster wave, that meant that there hadn't been large-scale destruction in this area which was why this tribe of elves hadn't evacuated or wasn't destroyed.

That meant that this was a new quest line that I hadn't seen before and it was a quest line that involved the elves!

I couldn't help feeling excited about this.

During this time, Clark had been watching as the expression on my face kept changing. He naturally found this very strange, but he didn't say a thing since I was still the baron.

But he finally couldn't take it anymore as he asked in a small voice, "My lord, is there a problem?"

When I heard this, I snapped back from my thoughts and realized where I was. With a cough, I said, "It's nothing, I was just lost in thought."

Clark gave a nod before asking, "My lord, what should we do about this?"

This was something that was far beyond his capabilities and he had heard about the strange abilities that the Lord Baron had, so he decided to place his hopes in him.

When I heard this, I couldn't help revealing a strange smile.

Everyone who saw this smile couldn't help being turned off by it and taking a step back.

As for Baroness Rose, she just revealed a faint bitter smile before shaking her head. She knew that when I had this look on my face, I would be thinking something reckless and crazy.

After a pause, I said, "Let me handle this matter. I'll go negotiate with the elves."

Clark immediately shook his head and said, "My lord, you can't put yourself in danger like this. You don't know just how terrifying those elves were when they chased us away, I can't let you put yourself in danger like this."

n/ô/vel/b//in dot c//om

Baroness Rose didn't say anything, but it was clear by the look on her face that she thought the same.

But then I said, "It's not a problem. I actually have a connection to the elves, so I'll be able to have a proper talk with them."

When they heard this, all of them couldn't help revealing strange expressions.

Though there was one common theme in their expressions which was the doubt in their eyes.

It was clear that they didn't believe him when he said this.

But I didn't give up as I said in a firm voice, "I know the way to gain access to their village and talk to their leaders, so it would be best if I went to negotiate with them."

Clark naturally couldn't decide this, so he turned to look at Baroness Rose.

I also turned to look at her since I knew that unless she agreed, it was impossible for this to happen.

When I turned to look at her, I found that her eyes were already on me. There was a serious look in them as if she was currently gauging me, but I was already familiar with this look.

So I didn't turn my eyes away as I looked right back at her and waited for her to respond.

Finally, after a long silence, she asked, "Can you ensure that you'll be safe?"

I opened my mouth, but then I closed it again after hesitating a bit. After another pause, I said, "There's no such thing as absolute safety in this world, but I'll do my best to stay out of trouble."

This was an answer, while also avoiding the question...

But still, it was enough to convince Baroness Rose since she knew that this was indeed the case with this world.

So she said with a sigh, "Alright, you can go." But then she added, "You have to take some guards with you, even if you think that it will send the wrong message. We don't know what they will do, so I won't let you put yourself in danger like that."

I couldn't help revealing a bitter smile after she said this because...this was indeed what I had been planning on saying.

It seemed like she was already slowly getting used to me and could already start reading my mind.

But I heard the firm tone in her voice and knew that she wouldn't negotiate this, so I didn't bother arguing. I also knew that this was just her way of showing care for me, so I was also a bit touched.

After giving a nod to confirm this, I said, "I'll also need a few more people to come with me." Then turning to Haley, I said, "You're coming too."

Haley was surprised, but she gave an excited nod.

This was an elven village that they were going to visit.

While she didn't know how they would gain access, this was a place that very few people had set foot in, so she couldn't help being excited about visiting this place.

Chapter 150 Spirit Forest (1)

It was two days later when we set out.

I had wanted to set out yesterday, but Baroness Rose wouldn't allow that to happen.

The excuse that she gave was that she wanted to ensure that everything was safe before we headed out, but in truth...she just wanted to spend more time together.

We didn't separate at all yesterday as she kept me by her side all day.

Normally we would have our own tasks to take care of, but she cancelled everything that I had to do and forced me to stay with her during her normal routine.

I couldn't help finding it all a bit funny how clingy she was, but it wasn't as if I didn't like it.

This was her way of showing that she loved me, so I actually felt touched by it. Even if she was a bit too clingy.

When we set off, she even came to send us off even though she was the busiest person in the town right now as she was managing the whole town by herself.

To put her at ease, in front of everyone, I placed a deep kiss on her lips.

This was also my way of showing everyone that she was my property since I could see the way that a few men in town looked at her.

Finally with that, we were able to leave the town and head off to the Spirit Forest.

Our group wasn't a big group, but it wasn't a weak one either because I had gotten Cecilia and several of the knights to come with me.

This group was one that I had carefully assembled based on my knowledge of the elves, so it was surely a group that would succeed.

The Spirit Forest wasn't that far away from the town, so we arrived at the edge of the forest in just a few hours. However, I made sure that we didn't go into the forest and had us camp on the edge of it.

The rest of the group were confused why I had given this order, but they still followed them since I was the leader of this group.

During this time, I snuck off with just Cecilia and Haley by my side.

The two of them were confused why I was sneaking off from the rest of the group like this, but when they saw that it was just the three of us, they couldn't help having some secret thoughts. These thoughts caused a blush to appear on their faces.

Still, they obediently followed me around the edge of the forest.

Finally, after a while, I saw what I was looking for.

There was this tiny mark on one of the trees that people would have normally missed, but I didn't since I knew what I was looking for.

When I found this marked tree, I looked around the area until I found another marked tree that was deeper into the forest. Seeing this tree, I started heading into the forest from where the marked tree was.

I made sure to go in a straight line between these two trees so that I ended up right under the marked tree that was deeper in the forest.

Once I was there, I started looking around again.

It didn't take me long to find another marked tree that I quickly headed towards.

Just like this, I went deeper and deeper into the forest while following the path of these marked trees.

The distance between the marked trees wasn't that far, so I didn't actually go that deep into the forest when I found the final marked tree.

I knew that this was the final marked tree because the mark on this tree was different from all the trees that I had passed.

The mark on the trees before were a triangle and the mark here was in the shape of a square.

Once I realized that this was the final tree, I started looking around the area, but I wasn't able to find what I was looking for. It seemed that this was the true test that I had to face before finding that thing...

So I turned to the two girls whose faces were red and I couldn't help being surprised.

I never thought that just a simple walk in the forest would be enough to tire them out like this...I hadn't even walked that fast since I had been paying attention to the surrounding area to find those marked trees.

After seeing that we had stopped, both Cecilia and Haley couldn't help peeking up at me, but neither of them said a thing.

After getting over my surprise, I said, "Alright, I need you two to help me."

Their hearts had already been beating fast, but it sped up even more when they heard this.

Both of their faces turned even more red at the same time.

But they knew what was about to happen, so they both raised their hands and brought them up to their waists. They grabbed the bottom of their shirts and started lifting up, but they were stopped when I suddenly asked, "What are you two doing?"

Hearing this, both of them suddenly trembled.

Their hands stopped, the blush on their faces disappeared, and their hearts slowed down.

They both revealed confused looks as they looked up at me and asked, "Huh?"

When I saw this, I also couldn't help feeling confused as I looked at them and asked, "Huh?"

Just like this, there was an awkward silence that filled the air as none of us knew what to say.

But finally, it clicked for me... Nôv(e)B\\jnn

They thought that we had snuck off from the rest of the group to get frisky in the woods...

But that wasn't what I had in mind at all.

I was here to find a special object that would help us get into the elven village.

So I awkwardly said, "Uh, it's not what you think."

Then before I could react, I saw that there was a fist that was growing larger in front of my face.