

SHOTA'S ISEKAI NTR ADVENTURE

Chapter 2 Big Surprise

The story of the game as I remembered it was that Zwein had been captured from his village by invaders of his country before being brought to this country to be sold as a slave.

The one who bought him was Baron Mordo who was the owner of this land and the husband of this Madame Rose.magic

As for the reason he was bought...it was as a sex slave to satisfy Madame Rose.

The game hadn't been clear about the reason, but the Lord Baron was unable to sleep with his wife, which was why he had bought her this sex slave.

After being bought by the Lord Baron, Zwein was used by Madame Rose for the first few nights before...

The beast wave came and destroyed these lands.

That was the big first event that I had to escape from!

But before that was the introduction scene with Madame Rose. After all, Zwein had spent quite a few nights with her.

The developers of the game knew how difficult their game was, so they had been very generous with their CG sets. They had given several CG sets just for Madame Rose in her introduction.

I was proud to admit that I was one of those that had replayed those scenes quite a few times.

She was just too enticing to pass up!

But the spear that was pointed at my face pulled me out of my thoughts in the end.

As I was going to bow, Madame Rose suddenly raised her hand to give a wave before saying, "It's fine, he doesn't need to bow."

The guards were caught off guard by this, but the one that had his spear pointed in the cage quickly pulled it out from the bars. Then both of them gave a slight bow before saying, "Yes, madame!"

Madame Rose just ignored them as she looked down at me before asking, "So this is the one?"

Both the guards looked at each other with bitter looks in their eyes as they clearly knew what she was implying, but they didn't dare hesitate as the one guard from before said, "Yes, madame. This is the one that the Lord Baron has prepared for you."

Madame Rose gave a nod before saying, "Open it. I'm taking him with me."

This time, the chin of both the guards dropped as they both knew what she meant by this, but they couldn't help stalling when receiving this order.

Seeing them stand in a daze like this, she narrowed her eyes to look at them and asked, "Is there something wrong, did you not hear what I just said?"

The guards trembled back to their senses when they heard this. Even though they were still doubtful, they had to follow Madame Rose's orders.

So the guard that had poked his spear in grabbed his keys and opened the door. Then he came over to me and grabbed my arm to lift me up as he shouted, "Did you not hear what Madame Rose just said? Get up you lazy bum or don't blame me for what happens next."

As he said this, he also waved the spear in his other hand at me.

Seeing this, I quickly stood up in front of him, but that just made the guard click his tongue.

It was clear that he wanted to vent his anger on me, but now that I've stood up, he couldn't do that. After all, we were currently in front of Madame Rose.

When Madame Rose got a good look at my face, she couldn't help being surprised.

This was her first time seeing the slave that her husband had bought for her, so naturally she was surprised. This was a face that could even make the male guards waver...

But Madame Rose quickly revealed a calm look again as she waved her hand and said to me, "Follow me."

The guards let go of me when they heard this, but it was clear by the looks on their faces that...they were envious of me!

They all knew what I was bought for and why Madame Rose was taking me away. The fact that I could sleep with such a beautiful woman, even if I was being used by her, was enough to fill them with the flames of envy.

I knew that it was better to not provoke the guards when they were like this, so I lowered my head and followed Madame Rose.

As we walked through the corridors of the castle, the servants looked at me with looks of disdain. However, since Madame Rose was with me, they didn't dare say a thing.

It didn't take us long to reach her room.

Madame Rose was quite the tall woman with long and beautiful slender legs, so she walked much faster than I did. I even had to do a little jog just to keep up with her.

When we arrived in her room, she just sat down on the bed before turning to look at me. The way that she was looking at me made it clear that she was waiting for something, but I didn't know what she was waiting for.

So in the end, I was just awkwardly standing there without doing a thing.

She narrowed her eyes to look at me before saying, "You were bought for one reason and now you're telling me that you can't fulfill that one duty?"

My expression couldn't help turning strange when I heard this.

I knew exactly what she was talking about, but it was very strange hearing something like this from a beautiful lady.

Seeing that I just stood there in a daze, Madame Rose suddenly made to stand up as she said, "Since you don't seem to want to do this, then there's no need to keep a defective product."

I couldn't help being filled with panic when I heard this.

I quickly raised my hands to stop her as I said, "Wait, wait, please give me a chance to show off my abilities."

Madame Rose was halfway standing when she heard this, but after taking a look at me, she sat back down again. Then she said with a raised brow, "I'm waiting."

There was a slight moment of hesitation before my hand started moving.

I knew that if I was abandoned here, there wouldn't be a good ending. After all, I would be a used slave even if she never used me, so I doubt anyone would buy me and I would be dumped.

I couldn't let that happen.

So my hand came to my shirt and I slowly took it off.

When my smooth and white chest was revealed, Madame Rose just sat there with a calm and indifferent look on her face.

It was as if she couldn't be moved by anything.

It really was a strange feeling since this would normally be done the other way...

It wasn't until I took my pants off that she finally reacted.

There was no reaction at first, but as I slowly took off my pants to reveal what was inside, she couldn't help revealing a look of growing shock.

Finally when I took it all out, her chin had dropped down.

After a momentary pause, she couldn't help saying, "Is that real?"

I just gave a simple nod in response.

There were different emotions that filled Madame Rose's face, but that expression slowly stabilized.

It was a look of both worry and excitement.