

Shota 21

Chapter 21 Knight Captain (10)

She was clumsy in what she did since it was her first time, but she was definitely enthusiastic.

It didn't take long before she was able to make me cum.

When I was about to cum, I suddenly grabbed Cecilia by the waist and pulled her back and forth atop of me, making her go faster than she was already going.

As she felt my dick going into her at this increased speed, she also couldn't hold herself back as she reached a climax as well. Then together, both of us came at the same time with me pumping my thick and creamy liquid inside of her while she squirted on me.

After we climaxed together, we both fell back in the bed feeling exhausted.

I recovered my energy first since I had been laying there longer than she had, so I pushed her off of me and sat up, looking down at Cecilia's exhausted form.

But then I turned to look at Madame Rose who was just standing there watching the whole thing.

It wasn't hard to tell what she was thinking based on the look on her face, so I waved my hand at her and said, "Come over and let's do it."

Madame Rose was surprised when she heard this, but she still obediently came over in the end.

The liquid dripping down her leg was getting too much for her that she couldn't take it anymore. She was just too turned on to think about this properly, so she followed my orders without any resistance.

When she was standing in front of me, I slowly reached out my hands as if I was teasing her before grabbing her clothes. She was wearing a one piece dress, so it took a single pull down to pull it off of her.

As she stood there exposed, she couldn't stop a blush from coming over her cheeks.

This was completely different from how they had been before this.

Normally, it would be her who was the dominant one, but now I was the dominant one.

But surprisingly, Madame Rose found that she wasn't against it.

After stripping her of her clothes, I pulled her over in front of me and forced her to bend over.

To my surprise, she just went along with all of it.

Once she was down on her knees in front of me, I took her by the shoulders and positioned her so that she was right in front of me. Then after she was in place, I took my hands and placed them on her...chest.

I grabbed her boobs and brought them right up to my dick.

This was something that I had been wanting to do for the longest time, but I never had a chance to do so.

I positioned her so that her boobs wrapped around my dick and then I started moving up and down with my dick, pushing it in between them.

Her chest was big, but it wasn't big enough to completely smother my dick in between them. So the top of my dick kept poking out of her boobs and moved back and forth in front of her face.

There was no denying how good this feeling was, so I couldn't help dripping a bit at the tip of my dick.

As the tip of my dick moved in front of her face, the smell of it entered her nose.

It was off putting at first, but as she smelled it more and more, she couldn't help falling for it. This was a smell that one would slowly get more and more attracted to until they couldn't take it anymore.

This smell ignited the flames inside of her and she couldn't hold back as she suddenly moved her head forward.

As the dick moved in between her boobs, when the tip came up to her mouth, she stretched out her tongue to lick it. The moment that I felt the tongue touching the tip of my dick, I couldn't help trembling from that feeling.

It was a feeling that only lasted a single second, but it was a feeling that I just couldn't get enough of.

So I pushed faster and faster in between her boobs, hitting her tongue again and again until finally she lowered her head even more and caught my dick in her mouth. With the tip in her mouth, moving back and forth, she used her tongue to lick it in a circle.

It was almost like being licked with a serpent's tongue the way that she wrapped around my dick.

I really didn't know how she had learned this kind of technique, but the pleasure that came from it was something else.

It didn't take long before I couldn't hold back anymore.

When I was about to cum, I was going to say something to Madame Rose, but then...I suddenly had a feeling of wanting to see what she would look like if I surprised her, so I closed my mouth in the end.

Madame Rose did have a warning of me cumming as my dick twitched with excitement when I was about to cum, but she wasn't able to react in time to this.

So when I came, it was right when my dick had come out of her mouth.

The cum shot out and sprayed her right in her face, covering it completely.

It was a complete facial.

I didn't know what to say at first since I didn't know how she would react to this. I was even a bit afraid that she would have me...executed for this.

But to my shock, she raised a hand and used a single finger to wipe off some of the cum that was on her face. Then in front of my shocked gaze, she brought that finger to her mouth and licked it off before revealing a smile.

Then to my further shock, she went over to Cecilia who was lying on the bed in a daze.

She slapped Cecilia on the face to wake her up before saying, "Come and help me clean this off my face."

Cecilia looked at her in a daze as if she couldn't understand what she was saying before she asked, "How?"

Madame Rose looked at her lips and said, "How else?"

Cecilia still had the same confused look for a bit before suddenly understanding what Madame Rose was implying. She looked at her with a shocked look when she heard this, not moving a single inch.

Madame Rose then took Cecilia by the cheeks before suddenly bringing her face in close.

Before Cecilia could react, Madame Rose kissed her on the lips.

Cecilia was in even more of a daze when this happened, as she couldn't understand what was happening.

Madame Rose just looked at her with the same smile as before as she asked, "Are you going to do it now?"

After a few seconds, Cecilia gave a nod in response before moving forward to lick the cum off her face.

She couldn't help winking at first at the taste, but as she licked more and more of it off, she couldn't help wanting more. It wasn't a good taste, but it left a burning feeling deep inside of her.

Chapter 22 Knight Captain (11)

Seeing the two of them like this ignited the flame of desire deep down inside of me again.

So without hesitation, I came forward again and pushed the two of them onto the bed again.

They were both surprised when this happened, but they also couldn't help staring at my dick that was hard again.

Before they could react, I suddenly pulled Madame Rose over so that she was atop of Cecilia.

Madame Rose was surprised to be put in this position, but she also couldn't help feeling a bit turned on like this. Likewise, Cecilia was also turned on by Madame Rose being on top of her.

When I saw their perfectly round butts together like this, I couldn't hold myself back at all.

I grabbed Madame Rose's butt and then inserted my dick in between the two of them.

My dick didn't enter into either of their pussies, but rather went in between them so that it rubbed against both of them.

The two of them were caught off guard by this sensation, but as my dick rubbed against the folds of their pussies, they couldn't help being more and more turned on. Their faces turned red and their breathing became faster as I pushed faster and faster in between them.

The bodies of the two of them were also pushed forward, so their breasts kept rubbing against each other. When their breasts came together, their nipples that were hard couldn't help brushing against each other, turning them on even more.

Finally, Madame Rose couldn't take it anymore and leaned down towards Cecilia.

Cecilia was immediately caught off guard by this and she couldn't help feeling stunned.

As she lay there stunned, Madame Rose's hands came forward to grab her face again before she placed her lips on hers, giving her another kiss.

As the two of them kissed, it was clear who was the dominant side.

Cecilia's eyes were wide open and her face was completely red, while Madame Rose had closed her eyes and there was some movement from her lips.

As they kissed, the look in Cecilia's eyes changed until she was completely lost in the kiss.

When the two of them separated, her tongue couldn't help sticking out and bits of drool dripped down the side of her mouth. However, it looked like she didn't care at all as her face was filled with enjoyment.

Madame Rose just had a smile on her face when she saw this.

I couldn't see exactly what was happening on that side since there were two pairs of perfect buns in front of me, but I didn't need it since I was already completely turned on by these two pairs of perfect buns.

As I pushed in between the folds of their pussies, I couldn't help feeling more and more pleasure until I...finally couldn't take it anymore.

The two of them could feel the trembling of my dick, so they couldn't help looking down at the dick that was poking through their legs. Then as they stared at it, I suddenly released my load at them.

The force of the shot was quite strong, with some of it coating their bodies and most of it...shooting right into their faces.

Both of them couldn't help closing their eyes instinctively when the cum shot onto their faces, but then they opened them again to look at each other.

Madame Rose was the one that took the initiative to lean forward and lick some of the cum off Cecilia's face before waiting for Cecilia to do the same.

Just like this, the two of them licked the cum off of each other's faces.

My dick that had climaxed several times had finally shrunk a little, but that quickly changed when Madame Rose pressed down on it again. She moved her hips so that their pussies kept stroking the shaft of my dick, making it hard once more.

Just like this, we went on to do it several more times.

...

After a long love making session, all three of us were lying in bed looking exhausted.

Cecilia was the one who was the most exhausted even with the strongest body out of all three of us because she had been put in all kinds of different positions. But even then, she had a satisfied look on her face as if she didn't mind at all.

But once it was over, the rational thoughts came back and there was a look of guilt that appeared on her face.

After all, she was still a married woman and what she had done was considered an affair.

Madame Rose saw this look on her face and said with a smile, "Do you love me, Cecilia?"

Cecilia was completely caught off guard when she heard this and she looked at Madame Rose in a daze. But as if some kind of thing spurred her on, she couldn't help giving a nod.

This was the secret that had been hidden deep in her heart for the longest time, which was also why she had allowed Madame Rose to do everything that she had done.

Madame Rose smiled when she saw this and she reached a hand out to stroke Cecilia on the face before saying, "I love you too."

Cecilia's heart almost jumped out of her chest when she heard this and she had the urge to hug Madame Rose, but her body wasn't in the shape for it. So when she jumped forward to hug her, she fell midway.

The thing was...I was lying in between them...

So when she fell down, she landed right on me...

The soft feeling of those large boobs landing on me like that, it really was hard to describe, but it once again made my dick stand up tall, creating a tent in the sheets.

Cecilia was taken aback when she saw this large thing create a shadow over her and she couldn't help feeling a bit fearful. But then, she recovered her courage as the knight captain and said, "You're still getting turned on in this situation, that's disgusting."

This was the one flaw in her plan now.

Now that Madame Rose had declared that she was also in love with her, as long as they could elope together...then it would all work out.

But there was also this sex slave that they had been using...They would have to dispose of him, or else...

At the same time though, there was a small part of her that didn't want to do that.

It would be hard to find someone else who had the same large thing that he did...

But Madame Rose said in a firm voice, "He's my thing, I won't let you talk to him like that."

Cecilia was surprised by this sudden firm tone from Madame Rose, but seeing the firm look she also had, she could only say, "I'm sorry."

Madame Rose knew that this was a good first step, so she didn't push the issue and said, "As long as you know."

Cecilia was strangely silent for a bit as if she was thinking about something before suddenly turning to me and saying, "What about the thing that you promised me?"

I was surprised by this sudden question from her and confused what she meant, but then I remembered what I had said...

I looked at her with a very strange look, but seeing the way that she looked at me...I had no choice but to raise my hand and slap her across the face.

When the slap landed, she revealed a very strange look as well, but this was different from my expression.

Madame Rose just watched with a smile on her face before saying, "Let's take care of that."

"That" which she was referring to was the tent that had formed in the sheets.

So once again, the three of us went at it again.

Chapter 23 Next Steps

When we woke up the next morning, all of us had sore bodies from last night.

We had started in the morning and had gone all the way to night, so of course our bodies would be sore after all that.

At the same time, all three of us were also hungry since none of us had anything to eat during this time.

It was just sex and sleep during this time.

So Madame Rose called the maids and had them bring a full spread.

As we sat in the room eating, we started discussing what to do next.

Madame Rose was the one who took the lead in this since she was the one that had the most information.

She said, "We need to find some conclusive proof that links my husband to the demon order or else we won't be able to do anything. The letter and the dagger are too circumstantial and he can easily argue against them."

Cecilia nodded in agreement to this before saying, "But what kind of conclusive proof can you get? The Lord Baron will surely make sure that everything is taken care of and he won't leave any evidence for you to find. How are you planning on getting this evidence?"

Madame Rose knitted her brows when she heard this.

She didn't need Cecilia to say this since she already knew that there was this problem.

She had only recently learned about her husband's allegiance to the demon order, so naturally she didn't know enough to plan her next move. She had been looking into this during this time, but she still hadn't gotten enough information yet.

So she was actually hoping that Cecilia would have something for her.

Cecilia could also see this, so she knitted her brows to think for a bit. Then she looked like she had suddenly thought of something as she said, "There's this meeting that my husband said that the Lord Baron is bringing him to, perhaps that's where they'll be meeting?"

"Meeting?" Madame Rose repeated before saying, "What meeting? Tell me more."

Cecilia gave a nod in response to this before telling her what she had heard from her husband.

According to Cecilia's husband, there was a meeting that was being held by the Lord Baron that invited all of the important people on his land, as well as some other nobles. So he had no choice but to attend this meeting.

The only thing that he didn't tell her was where this meeting was.

Madame Rose deeply knitted her brows when she heard this as if she was deep in thought.

Seeing this, neither of us said a thing as we waited for her to gather her thoughts.

Finally, she said, "We need to send someone to this meeting."

Cecilia nodded in agreement to this, but she also asked, "How? It's not like we know anyone that can go, right?"

Madame Rose turned her eyes to look at me before saying, "We have one right here."

Cecilia also looked at me and asked in a confused voice, "Him? How?"

I was of course completely stunned by this suggestion as I had no idea how they expected me to infiltrate a place like this.

Madame Rose said with a nod, "In places like this, one would be expected to hide their appearance. We just need to find someone and have him take their place at the meeting."

Cecilia knitted her brows as she asked, "Where are you going to find someone who will let him take their place? I don't think that anyone is willing to go against the Lord Baron like that..."

Madame Rose understood Cecilia's worries, but she shook her head and said, "You don't need to worry, I have someone that I can use."

Cecilia knitted her brows even more when she heard this, but she gave a sigh in the end and said, "Don't try to force everything on yourself, I will help you with anything that you need."

Madame Rose nodded and revealed a grateful look as she said, "Cece, I know that I can always count on you."

Cecilia's face couldn't help revealing a blush when she was praised by Madame Rose like this.

That grateful look quickly disappeared from Madame Rose's face and she turned to look at me. She could see the disturbed look on my face and she could guess what I was thinking, so she said to me, "You said that you would be mine, right?"

I couldn't help trembling when I heard this.

I knew that there was no way out of this. If I were to say anything other than yes at a time like this, there was no doubt that she would get rid of me.

But at the same time, I couldn't help seeing a different kind of emotion in her eyes as she said.

It was almost as if there was a kind of dependence.

But that also didn't make sense since we didn't know each other that long...

So just where did this feeling of dependence come from?

I couldn't help feeling a chill as I thought about the different possibilities.

I had thought that I would be able to escape using the route that the game prepared for you if this didn't work out, but now it seemed like that would be a bad idea. It seemed like if I were to abandon her, she would chase me down to the ends of the world...

This thought really was scary, so I did my best to throw it out of my mind.

After taking a deep breath, I gave a nod in response to this without saying anything else.

If I were to say anything, it was certain that I would be exposed...

So it was better not to say anything at this point.

Luckily, that was enough for Madame Rose, so she came over to me with a smile on her face and she said in a very tempting voice as she rubbed my head, "Good boy."

Chapter 24 Cloak And Mask

I was left alone for the rest of the day as Madame Rose and Cecilia both went off to take care of things.

From what I heard before they left, it seemed like they would be getting things ready for me to go to this demon order meeting.

The demon order...I had finished the quest line and it was one of the hardest quest lines because of how powerful the demons were.

If I had a choice, I certainly wouldn't want to deal with them now that I had reincarnated in this world.

But when I thought about it, getting into contact with them this early was also a good thing.

After all, if I could get some information on the demon order from this event, then I would be able to avoid them even better in the future.

So I braced myself to go and meet them.

It was just too bad that I had braced myself for nothing.

Neither Madame Rose or Cecilia came back that evening and even the next day, neither of them came back to see me.

It was only on the third day that they finally came back.

When they entered the room, there were visible looks of exhaustion that were on their faces.

It wasn't hard to guess that they had been running around taking care of things.

Seeing this, I couldn't help feeling sympathy for them. I poured two glasses of water and came over with them as I said with a smile on my face, "Welcome back."

When the two of them saw this, both of them couldn't help being surprised. They looked at me with strange looks, almost as if they were trying to figure out what I was doing. The way that they looked at me, it was as if they were doubting if I had ulterior motives for doing this.

But in the end, they still took the glasses of water and drank it all before saying, "We're back."

It was hard for them to hide the ghost of a smile on their faces when they said this.

After they finished drinking, they sat down on the couch in the middle of the room and just relaxed on it as if they didn't have a care in the world.

However, I couldn't help noticing that something was off.

There was a faint tense feeling in the air that was different from usual.

After a long time, they sat up and turned to look at me. Madame Rose raised the cloak that she had been holding towards me, as if she wanted me to take it.

When I took it, I found that it wasn't just a cloak, but rather also a mask.

This was clearly some kind of disguise, but why was she handing it to me?

I revealed a confused look as I looked at Madame Rose.

However, she didn't explain as she just said, "Put it on."

I was even more confused when I heard this, but it was clear that she wasn't planning on explaining. So with no other choice, I put the cloak on.

It was a cloak that was for a grown man and currently I had the body of a shota, so it really was too big for me.

Seeing this, Madame Rose gave a nod before saying, "As expected, it really was too big."

Then she stood up and started rolling up the ends of the cloak in an attempt to make it fit my body.

Cecilia also stood up, but instead of using reasonable means of trying to fix this, she pulled out her sword. Just one look made it clear that she wanted to use this sword to trim the edges of the cloak to make it fit.

At the same time, I could see that there was a part of her that wanted to make it seem like a mistake if she accidentally cut something she wasn't meant to cut...such as my body.

So to stop that, I quickly asked, "What is going on here?"

Madame Rose was still fixing the cloak as she said, "I have someone who received an invitation to the meeting my husband is holding. He gave me this cloak and this mask so that I can let someone sneak in for me."

I couldn't help being shocked when I heard this.

Madame Rose actually knew one of the demon worshipers and they were willing to help her over their devotion to the demons?

Why did I not know about this at all?

Seeing the look on my face, she knew what I was thinking. So with a smile, Madame Rose explained, "This person was sent by my family to watch over me, so his devotion is to me rather than my husband or even the demons. He had been trying to figure out a way to warn me about my husband and the demons, but he didn't know if they had gotten to me too. When I told him everything that I knew, he immediately came clean and helped me devise a plan to take down my husband."

I couldn't help being even more shocked when I heard this, but then I asked, "How are you sure that he won't betray you?"

Madame Rose finally revealed a serious look as she said, "You don't need to worry about that. I have no doubt about his loyalty because I have my ways."

I couldn't help feeling a chill run down my spine when I heard this. Still, I knew better than to ask questions that I shouldn't ask, so I didn't go any further with this topic.

I looked down at the cloak on my body and the mask I held in the my hands with a complicated look before asking, "Since you're having me try the cloak on, does that mean that you want to send me in?"

Madame Rose simply responded with a nod.

I turned to look at her with a serious look before asking, "Why are you choosing me?"

Chapter 25 Good Judgement Of Character

Madame Rose wasn't fazed at all when she heard this, she just revealed a smile as she looked right into my eyes.

But Cecilia on the side wasn't as calm as Madame Rose.

She could feel the slight tension that arose because of this and she gripped her sword a bit tighter.

With the way that she was moving slightly towards Madame Rose and the way that she was looking at me, it was clear that she would support Madame Rose in this matter.

But I didn't mind this and continued looking at Madame Rose.

Madame Rose was silent for a bit before suddenly saying, "You're smarter than you seem."

I couldn't help being taken aback when I heard this. After a moment's pause, I asked, "What do you mean?"

Madame Rose looked right into my eyes and said, "You seem like you don't know a thing, but I know that you're usually waiting for an opportunity to make your move. You're much more intelligent than you make yourself appear and you know how to be patient. Normally, that kind of person would be very dangerous..."

She let her voice drift off when she said this.

I felt another chill run down my spine when I heard this.

I never thought that she would be this direct with her answer, I had thought that it would at least be another reason. But it seemed like she was much more observant than I thought...

After she said this, Cecilia had narrowed her eyes to look at me, as if she was appraising me for the first time.

Cecilia had never thought much about me, she had made it clear. However, when she heard what Madame Rose said, she couldn't help feeling that she had completely underestimated me.

So she moved closer to Madame Rose and even slightly pointed the sword in my direction.

I wanted to say something, but before I could, Madame Rose raised her hand to stop me.

She looked at me still and said, "I don't mind that you're like this...because you are mine, right?"

The slight pause and the upward inflection of the latter part of words, it was clear that she was...threatening me. But at the same time, it was almost as if there was a pleading tone to me to make things clear.

I looked at the way that she looked at me and I couldn't help feeling strange.

In the end, I gave a nod in response without saying anything.

When Madame Rose saw this, she revealed a happy smile. At the same time, she stood up and patted my head. It was almost like I was being treated as some kind of dog, but I didn't seem to mind it that much.

Cecilia still had a distrusting look on her face, but she could see the look on Madame Rose's face. She knew that if she did anything, she would be making things worse.

She put away her sword, but there was a clear unwilling look on her face.

After this had been settled, Madame Rose continued by saying, "I trust that you'll be able to make the best judgement for yourself once you get in there. I don't think that I need to tell you what kind of things to be looking for."

I hesitated for a second before slowly giving a nod.

Since she had already exposed me, there was no reason to pretend any longer.

Since she valued me for my intelligence, then it was better to fully display this intelligence so she wouldn't abandon me.

But there was still one issue that was biting the back of my head.

I couldn't help looking at her with an unsteady gaze before suddenly asking, "Why do you trust me like this?"

Madame Rose was surprised that I would suddenly ask this, but then she said with a smile, "I like to think that I have a good judgement of character and I feel that you're someone that I can trust. That is unless you are saying that you aren't someone that I should trust?"

I quickly shook my head in response to this.

Madame Rose couldn't help chuckling when she saw this before saying with the same smile, "I know that you aren't, you don't need to worry that much. It's not as if this little thing would change what I think of you."

I felt a bit touched when I heard this, but then I remembered what she wanted me to do.

She was clearly not someone that I should let myself relax around.

Until we took care of the Lord Baron, until I found a way to escape this monster wave, until I found a way to stop being her sex slave, I couldn't let my guard down.

She stood up after trying to fix my cloak to no avail and said, "You'll just have to go like this. It might look a bit strange, but with the cloak and the mask, people shouldn't question you."

I nodded in agreement to this.

Even if this cloak was a bit too big for me, that should be expected.

This was a secret society that this cloak was associated with, this wasn't a place where they customized cloaks for each of their members. So the one that she received was most likely the standard issued cloak and no one would think too much of it if it was too big for my body.

The only problem might be if they questioned why someone as short as me was in their meeting.

But I could take care of that when that came.

I'm sure that it wouldn't be hard to come up with some kind of excuse to explain this.

This was a society where the identities of most of the members were hidden.

After that was settled, Madame Rose suddenly came forward to take me in a hug. She brought my head up against her chest, almost smothering me as she said in a soft voice, "Come back safely to me, alright?"

I was caught off guard by this, but I said in a muffled voice, "I will."

When she heard this, she hugged me even tighter.

On the side, Cecilia just watched all of this with a complicated look on her face.

Chapter 26 Demon Order Meeting (1)

Night fell and I headed to the location of the meeting.

It wasn't in the town, but rather in a manor that had been built outside of town.

This was a private manor for one of the Lord Baron's subordinates and was regarded as a summer manor, so normally there wouldn't be anyone here. That gave it the perfect cover as the meeting place of the demon order.

When I arrived at this place, there were already many carriages gathered.

But at the same time, since it was a secret, there were also many guards gathered as well.

When they saw the carriage that I borrowed from Madame Rose approaching, the guards immediately came up to surround me.

I could see that the other carriages weren't being surrounded, so at the very least it seemed that they recognized the ones that came regularly. At the same time, it told me that there was a hierarchy of seniority in this demon order.

The guards came forward to surround the carriage and then they asked me to open the door.

The moment that the door was opened and they saw me sitting there, they immediately dropped their tough act and became humble.

That was because they recognized the cloak and mask that I was wearing.

These were guards that were chosen to guard the demon order gathering, so there was no doubt that they knew about the demon order. Since they knew about the demon order, it wasn't strange that they would recognize this cloak and mask.

As I looked at the guards, I couldn't help being surprised by something.

I actually recognized two of these guards.

These two were the ones that had guarded my cell when I was in the dungeon, the ones that had tried to torture me for their own ego.

They had acted tough back then, but now...they were almost groveling at my feet after seeing the cloak and mask that I was wearing.

I had the urge to torture them, but I held myself back in the end since that wasn't my goal in coming here.

If I were to take things too far, it would be very easy for me to expose my identity.

So I held it in and headed towards the manor, leaving the carriage to the driver and guards.

As I was heading in, I couldn't help wondering why these two guards were in this place.

When I was in the cell, they acted like they were guards that had been forced into watching over me. The way they talked made it seem like they were two low level guards that had drawn the short straw.

But when I thought about it, I realized that wasn't the case.

I was the sex slave that the Lord Baron had just bought for a decent amount of money, so I could be considered valuable merchandise. It wasn't as if the Lord Baron would leave me unattended, so he would send some guards that he trusted.

That meant that these two were actually high ranking guards that had the Lord Baron's trust that had been sent to watch over me.

With what kind of personality they had, it wasn't strange that these people worked closely with the Lord Baron.

After walking into the manor, I was surprised by how luxurious it was.

Even though this was a manor built for secret meetings, they didn't hold back at all in decorating it.

In the main hall, there were also a bunch of other men in the same cloak and masks as me who were currently talking to each other.

To my surprise, I found that there were also masked servants who were walking amongst them with trays in their hands. When I looked closely, I found that there were appetizers and glasses filled with wine atop these trays.

It was almost like I had walked into a ball instead of a secret meeting for the demon order.

The way that these people acted didn't seem like they were here to discuss evil things, but rather just to relax.

At first, no one really noticed me as I walked in, but soon there were a few people that turned their attention to me.

As for the reason...it was because my cloak was too big.

They couldn't help finding it strange that I was basically dragging my cloak behind me as I walked, so they had come over to see what was wrong. When they came closer, they realized that I was just short and the cloak didn't fit me.

Of course, that didn't cause them to lose interest as they were curious how someone as short as me had gotten into their group.

But they didn't doubt that I was in their group because I had the cloak and mask.

As I had suspected, this cloak and mask were the standard issue uniform for this demon order, so they didn't doubt me as long as I had this.

The ones that came up to talk to me were some of the newer members of the demon order. These were the ones that had only been inducted a few meetings before this, so they didn't know many people here either.

But they didn't hesitate to introduce themselves to me.

It was as if they didn't care about the fact that they were a secret society at all.

I found out that these people were either merchants or knights from the surrounding area that had flocked under the Lord Baron since he was the most powerful noble in the area.

The knights were in charge of the villages under the Lord Baron's town and the merchants were in charge of the economy of these villages by trading between them.

With these people, it could be said that the demon order had full control of this surrounding area.

It seemed that the Lord Baron had been thorough with his choice of people that he added into the demon order.

At the same time, it seemed like the demon order's influence spread way further than we had expected.

Chapter 27 Demon Order Meeting (2)

After chatting to them for a bit, I was able to learn quite a bit about the demon order.

It seemed that they didn't have any sense of secrecy, or at least in this place. When facing people who were in the demon order like them, they just talked without any filters.

I could see that there had to be a certain level of trust in the demon order in these people that they were able to act this way.

But just what kind of trust was it?

Was it worship in the demons or was it something else?

If it was something else, then would I be able to escape when it came for me?

But that did help me since I got a lot of information.

The demon order was actually founded by the Lord Baron when he met one of the demons during one of the monster extermination missions.

The Lord Baron had brought a bunch of his knights and his soldiers to exterminate a group of monsters. But this had caused a disaster as only a few of the knights and less than half of the soldiers returned.

I had also heard some things about this during my time in the manor, but I never thought that it would be related.

According to these demon order members, it turned out that the Lord Baron and his troops had been ambushed by the demons. It only took a single demon to wipe out all of the Lord Baron's troops and suppress all of his knights.

In the face of this power, they had no choice but to beg for their lives.

The soldiers were scattered, so only the Lord Baron and his knights were left standing in front of the demon.

It was then that the demon gave the Lord Baron and his knights a choice.

The demon could spare the Lord Baron and the knights, but they had to swear loyalty to the demon.

It was their lives or being degraded into dogs.

And their lives were naturally the most important things, so they swore their loyalty to the demon.

When they returned, they were linked to the demon order through the demon and they started establishing a demon order branch in this area. Over the years, they gathered many different people until it became what it was today.

I really couldn't help being surprised by the fact that I was able to get all of this information.

There was the chance that this was all fake, but with the facts that I already knew and the way that they said it, it didn't seem like it was fake.

But why would these random inductees to the demon order know all of this?

It didn't seem to make sense.

As we chatted, I was able to get some even more shocking information.

The Lord Baron's plan, or rather the plan of this demon order branch.

It was to use the monster wave to sacrifice human lives to the demon and then pin it all on Madame Rose, the Lord Baron's wife.

I forced my face to be calm when I learned this, but I was completely shocked deep down.

That was because even these newest members knew the plan of the entire demon order branch.

My first thing was, "Doesn't the person who Madame Rose got this cloak and mask from also know the plan then?"

If that was the case, they should have told Madame Rose everything...But she didn't tell me a single thing.

So did that mean that the person that Madame Rose trusted was actually betraying her or was it that she knew and...she didn't tell me?

Regardless of what it was, it was dangerous for me either way.

I needed to think of a way to deal with this.

However, that was for after this meeting.

Since they had the information that I wanted, I took this chance to get them drunk and got them to talk.

I used my special ability of pretending to drink to make sure that I didn't get drunk.

This was a trick that I had developed over many college drinking parties, so it wouldn't fail here. It didn't take long before they became more and more drunk.

Of course that couldn't be blamed on them.

I did take a tiny sip of the wine and I had to admit that it was delicious. It was better than any wine that I had had before.

As expected of wine prepared by a noble.

As they became more drunk, the looser their lips became.

I was able to easily guide the conversation the way that I wanted it to go and I got the information that I wanted.

I learned the real reason behind the Lord Baron's marriage to Madame Rose.

From the very beginning, it had been a marriage of convenience and he had planned on using her.

Madame Rose's father was a count, someone with a much higher status than the Lord Baron. This was what the Lord Baron was aiming for.

By having Madame Rose, the daughter of a count take the fall for colluding with the demons and starting the monster wave, he would be able to force the hand of hand of the count.

Even if Madame Rose had gotten married and left the count's family, she was still considered a member of the count's family.

If it was known that a member of the count's family was involved with the demons and had even started a monster wave to hurt the humans, there would be no doubt that the count would suffer a backlash.

The count would never allow that to happen.

So without a doubt, the count would suppress the news of this matter as much as he could.

He wouldn't be able to completely suppress it, but it would be suppressed to the level that none of the other great nobles would learn of this.

This was exactly what the Lord Baron wanted.

The reputation of Madame Rose being a traitor would be established in his territory while he minimized the damage from it with the influence of the count. At the same time, he would be able to use the monster wave to sacrifice his citizens to his demon masters.

It was a perfect way of killing two birds with one stone.

Even I couldn't help praising the Lord Baron for his plan even though I was on the opposing side. This Lord Baron was certainly much more intelligent than I thought.

Which brokered the question...how did he get sloppy enough that Madame Rose was able to find evidence against him?

Was it intentional or was it...?

I really couldn't help feeling unsettled when this thought passed through my mind. Then adding in the other thoughts that I had, I couldn't stop myself from reaching a single conclusion that would explain everything.

That I had been led into a trap...

As I was contemplating whether I should make a break for it, that opportunity was cut off by a voice that boomed through the hall.

"Let the meeting begin!"

Chapter 28 Demon Order Meeting (3)

When this room rang out through the hall, everyone suddenly fell silent.

I looked in the direction of the voice and I saw someone leading a group of people onto this stage that had been prepared.

Everyone in this group was wearing the same cloak and mask as the rest of us, so I wasn't able to see who these people were. But it made it clear by the way that everyone looked at them that they were the ones that were in charge of this branch.

As for the one leading them all, if I had to guess, it was the Lord Baron.

After they walked up onto the stage, the others behind the leader of this group went to the side while the leader of this group came to the center of the stage.

This person didn't speak right away as they looked over the crowd in front of them.

As their eyes swept over the crowd, they fell onto several people in the crowd...including me.

When I saw these eyes looking at me, I couldn't help feeling a bit awkward and nervous. It was almost as if those eyes had a special reason for looking at me which made me even more certain that my identity had been revealed.

I really wanted to get out of this place, but I couldn't with all of these people staring at me.

After those eyes swept through the crowd, the person cleared their throat and said, "I want to thank everyone for taking time out of their busy schedule to come to today's meeting."

Everyone nodded to this and muttered a few words of agreement in response.

After the crowd settled, that person continued by saying, "We've all gathered here because we have a few important things to discuss today."

After saying this, that person's eyes fell onto me and they said, "This brother, why don't you come up here?"

As he said this, everyone turned to look at me.

When this happened, I tried to act like this wasn't related to me at all, but I really couldn't with the leader staring at me and with everyone looking at me like this.

So without a choice, I had to walk up to the stage.

As I stood there in front of the leader, he looked at me with a smile before saying, "This brother, welcome to your first meeting. I've heard that you are the new brother that brother Richard has introduced to our cause?"

I couldn't help being surprised when I heard this since Richard was the name of the man who gave Madame Rose the cloak. However, I had never heard of anything like this before.

It really felt like I was about to be exposed and then killed...

Since I had no other choice, I could only nod in agreement to this.

Seeing this, the leader gave a satisfied nod before saying, "Brother, there is nothing to be afraid of. We are simply introducing you to the rest of the brothers."

The leader then raised a hand and took off his mask, revealing his true identity.

I wasn't surprised at all when I saw who this person was, but I was surprised that he pulled off his mask and pulled back his cloak so easily to reveal who he was.

Naturally the leader of this group was the Lord Baron.

I recognized him immediately because there were plenty of paintings of the Lord Baron in the manor for me to look at.

Not to mention, he was the enemy, so I would be a fool to not memorize what he looked like.

The Lord Baron then waved his hand at the rest of the people and they all took off their masks and pulled down their cloaks as well, revealing what they looked like to me.

I was very confused when I saw this.

Why would they reveal all of their identities to me like this?

But thinking about it, I came to one conclusion.

They were about to kill me, so they didn't care if I saw their faces.

I braced myself for what would follow, but it caught me off guard again.

The Lord Baron walked over to me and placed his hand on my shoulder as he said, "New brother, will you reveal what you look like to us?"

I couldn't help revealing a bitter smile deep down when I heard this, but I forced my expression to remain calm. Then I said in a calm voice with a bit of awkwardness, "This...I actually currently have a wound on my face, so if possible, I wouldn't want to reveal it. Can I do it next time instead?"

The Lord Baron narrowed his eyes to look at me, as if he was doubtful of me.

But in the end, he suddenly revealed a smile and said, "Brother, that's not a problem at all. Take care of yourself, we're all brothers here."

I couldn't help being taken aback when I heard this.

I was certain that this was a public execution, but the Lord Baron was actually covering for me...

Just what was happening here?

But before I had any time to think about it, the Lord Baron patted me on the shoulder and said, "Brother, you can go back down now."

I just nodded in a daze and walked off the stage.

When I came back to the group that I had been with before, they looked at me with looks of awe. It was as if they had been impressed that the Lord Baron had personally called me onto stage.

It just made me even more confused as to what was happening.

But after I was sent down from the stage, the Lord Baron wasn't finished.

He raised his hands and the crowd immediately fell silent.

Once they were silent, the Lord Baron continued, "Everyone, I want to welcome some special guests today."

Special guests?

I couldn't help being surprised by this, but it was clear that I wasn't the only one as I could see surprised looks all around me.

The people who had been standing to the side came over and stood there with the Lord Baron.

Then they slowly pulled back their hoods and took off their masks to reveal who they were.

Chapter 29 Demon Order Meeting (4)

As soon as they pulled these hoods back and masks off, everyone was surprised by what they saw.

Three beautiful faces appeared in front of them.

When they appeared, all of the men who were in the crowd couldn't help looking stunned.

Interestingly enough, there wasn't a single woman among the demon worshipers. It was all men dressed up in cloaks and masks.

But this was a medieval society, so it wasn't that strange that men were more dominant here.

After these three revealed themselves, the Lord Baron continued, "We have three emissaries here from the demon race who have come with a message for us."

The one beautiful woman in the center came forward and took the stage from the Lord Baron. The Lord Baron didn't mind this and just moved to the back to give the full stage to her.

With how beautiful she looked, one wouldn't think that she was a demon...that is until they saw the small horns that were on her head and the small wings that had poked out the back of the cloak. They were small, but they clearly marked her as one of the demons.

The beautiful woman looked over the crowd before saying with a charming smile, "Such a bunch of handsome men here, it really turns me on."

All of the demon worshipers in the crowd couldn't help being caught off guard by these words.

Some of them couldn't help turning to look at the Lord Baron, but he just stood there without any expressions.

Then the beautiful woman gave a sigh before saying, "It's too bad that I'm here on business and not pleasure."

She then revealed a serious look before saying, "The count is very impressed with your progress and is satisfied with the offering that you will offer. He wanted us to bring the message that your efforts will be rewarded and more beads will be sent."

When the demon worshipers heard this, their eyes couldn't help lighting up.

The key thing in what this beautiful woman had said was the "beads" that she mentioned.

I could see that everyone's eyes started filling with excitement the moment that they heard about these beads.

I didn't know exactly what these beads were, but it wasn't hard to guess with my understanding of the game's plot.

When I destroyed other demon order branches as part of the questline in the game, I would find traces of things like this. Weapons and items that the demons gave as rewards, these things would either make one stronger and increase one's lifespan.

Judging by the average age of the people here, it wasn't hard to guess that these "beads" were most likely items that would increase one's lifespan.

What they didn't know and I knew was that...these items were a double edged sword...

They increased one's lifespan, but they also changed one's physiology slowly but surely. Once one was changed enough, they would become a monster that would fall under the control of the demons.

I had seen this many times in my demon order questline play through.

After she finished saying this, the beautiful woman looked over the crowd again before saying, "In addition to this, I would like to offer a more personal reward."

The demon worshipers couldn't help revealing confused looks when they heard this.

The beautiful woman waved her hand at the other two who were with her and they came over to where she was. Then together, all three of them pulled off their cloaks to reveal what they were wearing.

When the crowd saw this, they couldn't help being shocked.

These women...were very scantily clad and were basically wearing what seemed to be underwear. Not to mention, they had beautiful figures under the cloaks that made these men drool.

The leader had a very curvy figure, one of the others had a slightly curvy figure, and the last one had a figure that was like a child's...there was something here for every kind of taste.

I couldn't help being even more surprised since this was something that seemed very familiar...

With what they were wearing, it almost made them seem like the succubi that I encountered in the game before...

After taking off the cloaks, the one who spoke before said, "We would like to offer our bodies as reward for your hard work."

Every jaw in the crowd couldn't help dropping when they heard this.

They never would have imagined that these beautiful women would give themselves to them so freely.

There were a few that were moved in the crowd and they couldn't help moving towards the stage.

If one looked clearly, they would be able to see the almost dazed looks that were in their eyes as they stared at these three beauties.

But before it could go any further, there was a sudden noise that cut through the air.

"Clap!"

It was a large clap that suddenly shook everyone out of their daze and they came back to their senses.

When everyone looked in the direction of the clapping sound, they found that it was the Lord Baron who had given this sudden clap.

The Lord Baron had a calm look on his face even when faced with all these gazes.

He moved over to the beautiful woman and said, "Miss Morrigan, I thank you on behalf of the others for this reward, but unfortunately we can't accept this. We still haven't accomplished our goal yet, so it wouldn't be right for us to accept this reward."

The leader of the beautiful woman who the Lord Baron called Miss Morrigan looked at the Lord Baron with narrowed eyes before saying, "You are a good man as well." Then her tone changed to a teasing tone as she said, "You don't need to be this reserved, the count has already seen the great contributions that you have made. I feel that you deserve this personal reward the most."

If it was anyone else, they would have been moved by the beautiful display of flirting that Miss Morrigan had given, but the Lord Baron had a stone cold look on his face.

He bowed his head slightly and said, "I am not worthy of this honour."

Miss Morrigan was about to keep teasing the Lord Baron, but the Lord Baron looked up and said with a calm look, "Miss Morrigan, would you please excuse us for a bit. We have something that we need to discuss."

Miss Morrigan was taken aback by this sudden request from the Lord Baron, but she didn't fight back.

She knew how valued this Lord Baron was for the count, he might even be more valued than her...So she knew that it wouldn't be best to push this Lord Baron's buttons too much.

So in the end, she gave a nod and waved her hand at the other two beauties.

There were also a few of the cloaked figures on stage that followed these three out.

It was clear by their large figures that they were guards that the demon race had deployed for this Miss Morrigan.

Once they were gone, the Lord Baron revealed a serious look and said, "Everyone, please be careful of those three, they are succubi."

Chapter 30 Demon Order Meeting (5)

A succubus, a demon of lust.

They were demons that fed on the lust of humans, using sex to drain humans of their life essence.

If they had taken the offer of the succubi just now, it was very likely that they would have been drained by them...

Hearing this, all of the demon worshipers couldn't help letting out sighs of relief.

If it hadn't been for the Lord Baron protecting them, then they really would have fallen prey to the grasps of those succubi.

There had been a few that had cursed the Lord Baron for interrupting their good time, but that resentment immediately turned into gratitude after learning the true identity of those three women.

Not a single one of them doubted the words of the Lord Baron since he had no reason to lie to them.

Plus, he was their leader and he had personally invited each of them to this organization, so there was an innate level of trust in the first place.

After exposing the identities of those three women, the Lord Baron had nothing else to say and dismissed the group. But before ending it, the Lord Baron gave a warning, "Everyone, be careful of being caught alone with those three. They have charm at their disposal, so it'll be hard to refuse when you're charmed by them. I've sent people with resistant items to take care of their needs, but it's also possible that they will sneak off to prey on you all. I hope that you will move together and be careful."

He had sent those three women away so he could warn the rest of them about them being succubi, but there was nothing else left for them to discuss in the first place. Or at least there was nothing else left for them to discuss together.

The plan was already in progress, so there wasn't much that they needed to discuss together.

As long as everyone did their own part, there wouldn't be a problem with the plan.

So they would now split off into separate groups and talk amongst themselves.

As for the Lord Baron, he called a few of the people and headed off into a different room with them. Based on the look on their faces, it was clear that they had something important to discuss.

The rest of the people in the hall also broke off into groups and started heading into different rooms to discuss things.

This was a large manor with many different rooms, so there was plenty of space for everyone to go off in separate groups.

I was new here, so there wasn't really a group for me to go with.

In the end, it was the group that had approached me before that invited me to go with them.

I was hesitant at first, but then they told me that they didn't have anything to do either. Since they were new to the demon order, they hadn't received any orders and were just here to help out in case anything went wrong.

So what they were planning on doing now was to drink and talk.

I didn't mind this since I also needed a cover before I started snooping around the place.

Since they were going to drink, that made it even easier for me.

It wouldn't be strange at all if they were to black out from drinking too much.

As long as I guided them with the skills that I had picked up in college, it wouldn't take much for me to get them black out drunk.

In fact, they were already drunk to begin with since they had been drinking since the start of the meeting. I had been getting them drunk while we were still in the main hall so I could get information from them.

It took less than fifteen minutes to get them completely drunk and they all blacked out in the end.

When I was the only person who was still left awake in the room, I made sure that they were all knocked out before heading out the door.

The corridors of the manor were completely empty, but I could hear sounds coming from the other rooms in this hallway.

Based on the sounds that I heard, it was clear that these people were using their "talks" as excuses to have fun. But that didn't matter since the more noise that they made, the easier it was for me to sneak around.

I didn't know the layout of the manor, so I could only head down the hallway in hopes of finding something. I went in the opposite direction of the main hall that I just came from and continued down the hallway.

As I went, I could hear many different sounds coming from the various rooms that I passed.

It seemed that there really wasn't any soundproofing to these rooms.

I heard a few interesting things, such as different plans that they had once the monster wave plan was over, but I didn't stick around to listen to those.

For now, my top priority was still to prevent the monster wave.

As long as the monster wave was stopped and Madame Rose was saved, they wouldn't be able to put these plans in progress. So I had to get information on the monster wave and the demons first.

The other thing that I heard the most was...the sounds of women moaning.

I had seen quite a few maids in the hall earlier and now...there wasn't a single one of them wandering around in the halls.

It was very obvious what they were doing in the rooms with the members of the demon order.

I just ignored all of this and continued down the hall until I came to the end where there was a set of stairs waiting.

Looking around and seeing no one there, I went up the stairs to reach the second floor which looked completely different from the first floor.

First of all, this place was completely silent.

It was clear that there wasn't anyone here.

Second, this place was very luxurious and clean, completely different from the rough decorations on the first floor.

This should be the place where the secrets of the demon order were hidden.

But before I could take a single step forward, there was a voice that suddenly said, "Who are you? What are you doing here?"