

SHOTA'S ISEKAI NTR ADVENTURE

Chapter 211 Cleaning Up (12)

When we left the elder hall, the attitude of the blonde elves had completely changed from before.

Before, they would always look at me with disdain, but now...they were treating me with respect.

As we walked through the village, I could even see them peeking back at me from time to time and whispering a few things.

I would have asked Moon about this if it was before, but now...she had also changed.

Moon was following close behind me and she was looking at me with a strange look.

With the way that she looked at me, I didn't feel like I should disturb her thoughts.

At the very least, the way back wasn't that far, so we were able to reach our residence quite quickly.

To my surprise though, the blonde elves took the initiative to ask if we needed anything.

If this was before, they would have left right away without even sparing a glance.

Then when I told them that we didn't need anything, they only revealed disappointed looks before leaving.

But there was another problem.

Moon was still here.

She didn't leave with the two blonde elves and had been there staring at me the whole time.

Finally, I couldn't take it anymore and asked her, "What are you doing?"

It was only then that she snapped out of her daze and realized what she was doing.

So with an awkward and unwilling look, she left as well, finally leaving us humans alone.

Taking this time, I told everyone what had happened. Of course, I made sure to leave out a few things that I didn't feel like they needed to know.

They were very curious about the Mark of Life that had appeared, so I had to show all of them the mark and they all crowded me, but it was different from how the elders had done it. After all, they were concerned about me unlike the elders who only cared about the mark.

So the way that they looked at me felt different from when the elders were staring at me.

It was endearing rather than feeling strange.

This process took all the way to the late afternoon and it was at that time that the two blonde elves came back to pick us up.

They came to bring us to the banquet that had been prepared.

The strange thing was that as soon as they arrived, Moon also appeared out of nowhere.

It was almost as if she had been waiting around the area the whole time...

And as soon as she arrived, she went to the same position as before where she stood behind me, staring at me the whole time.

It was a very uncomfortable experience...

But at the very least, this only lasted until we reached the banquet in the center of the village.

We found that all of the elves of the village were already waiting for us, but they were only staring at one person...me.

It was as if they were all waiting for something as they stared at my forehead.

I could also see the elders looking at me with expectant looks.

So without a choice, I called out the Mark of Life on my forehead.

The moment that it appeared, all of the elves let out shocked gasps and started staring at it with passionate gazes.

This once again made me feel like I was an animal in the zoo that was being stared at, but I had no choice in this matter.

Once they had their fill, they invited us to sit and the banquet began.

The elves were acting completely different from before.

This time, they were filled with friendliness and enthusiasm towards me. This also rubbed off a bit on the other members of our group as they treated the other humans much more warmly compared to before.

It seemed that this Mark of Life did have an effect on these elves, but I was also worried about the cons that would come later...

After the banquet had been ongoing for some time, the green haired elder suddenly called for everyone's attention.

All of the elves immediately stopped what they were doing and turned in that direction. Our group of humans also stopped everything and turned to look at the elders.

Once the green haired elder got everyone's attention, she raised a cup and said, "I would like to call for a toast. Without the help of our human friends, there is no doubt that our forest would have been tainted by the plans of the demons and we would have lost our home."

After she said this, all of the elves couldn't help revealing sad looks, but those looks quickly disappeared. They all lifted their cups and joined in the toast.

Since this was a toast to us, we naturally also lifted our cups and joined in.

After the toast, the green haired elder continued by saying, "I would like to announce that from now on, we will be entering a new relationship with our human friends. They have offered to help us connect to the outside world and after long negotiations, we have agreed to enter a trading relationship with them. So if there is anything that you want from the outside world, please feel free to talk to our human friends about this."

The elves were visibly surprised when they heard this and they couldn't help turning to look at our group.

I had already told everyone about this, so we weren't surprised by this as much as the elves, though there were a few people that were still surprised by this.

However, this wasn't the biggest surprise that came today...

After a pause, the green haired elder continued by saying, "I would also like to announce that in order to deepen our friendship with our human friends, we will be sending a group of envoys to their town to understand humans better. If there is anyone that is interested in this, please talk to Moon as she will be leading this group."

All of us humans couldn't help revealing shocked looks since this was the first time that we were hearing about this.

Chapter 212 Cleaning Up (13)

After a moment of shock, I quickly turned to look at Moon who was still staring at me.

Even during the banquet and the announcement, she had been staring at me the whole time. I had no idea just what she was staring at...

But when she saw that I was looking at her as well, she couldn't help turning her gaze away slightly as a blush appeared on her face.

This...

Just what was this reaction?

Still, I tossed this thought out and turned back to the green haired elder.

She saw me looking at her and she just looked at me with a faint smile on her face, as if she wasn't bothered by the questioning look in my eyes at all.

Seeing this, I gave a sigh as I knew that I had no choice in this matter.

It wasn't a bad thing that they were sending an envoy since this would allow our two groups to become closer. The problem is that if they come with us now, we won't have anything prepared to welcome them with.

I would have preferred if they told us about this ahead of time so that I could have sent a message back to Baroness Rose and had her prepare to welcome the elves.

Even if I sent a message back now, it would be too late since they wouldn't have the time to prepare.

I just hope that these elves wouldn't mind...

But at the same time, I couldn't help complaining that these elves really were too free and wild. They just did whatever they wanted and didn't worry about what other people thought.

I was envious of this, but I was also a bit annoyed by this at the same time.

Still, what was done was done and there was nothing that could be done to change this.

So I just gave a sigh and thought about how to handle the elves when they came.

But that wasn't the last announcement either.

The elves were quite excited about this news since most of them hadn't left the village before. These were young elves that were curious about the world, so it was natural that many of them were interested in going as part of this envoy group.

It took a while for them to calm down, but when they did, the green haired elder continued by saying, "There's one final announcement to make."

When she said this, the chatter among the elves died down and they all turned their attention back to the green haired elder.

The green haired elder suddenly revealed a sad expression before saying, "It is regretful to inform you that our head warrior Apollo will be leaving us."

When her voice fell, all of the elves revealed shocked looks.

Then they all looked around, trying to see if Apollo was here, but he wasn't at the banquet. He hadn't been here since the beginning since he had already left the village the day prior.

These elves had been too much in a celebratory mood after defeating the demons and solving the crisis of their forest, so they were focused on the banquet instead. Not a single one of them had noticed that Apollo hadn't been here the entire time.

They had all assumed that he was off doing something else.

After giving the elves some time to react to this, the green haired elder continued to say, "Due to some personal matters, head warrior Apollo has already left our village and gone to handle them."

All of the elves looked at each other with confused looks after hearing this.

Not a single one of them had heard a trace of this before, so they couldn't help wondering just what kind of personal problems that Apollo was facing.

Even if he had the personality that he had, Apollo was still considered a popular person in this village.

So they naturally couldn't help being curious as to why he had left the village.

Still, there wasn't a single one of them that had an answer to this question.

But that didn't stop them from coming up with their own theories as to why Apollo had left.

The green haired elder once again let them discuss this for a bit before dropping another bombshell on them.

"After some careful discussion, we have decided to cancel the engagement between Moon and Apollo. He has his matters to take care of and it is unknown how long it will take him to take care of these matters, so it would be unfair to Moon to force her to wait. As such, we have agreed with Apollo to cancel this engagement and allow Moon to live her life as she wishes."

Everyone couldn't help looking at Moon this time.

There were many strange gazes among these elves, almost as if they were suspecting that something had happened between Moon and Apollo that had caused him to leave.

Everyone in the village had known about this engagement between the two because these two were the most outstanding young people in the village. This engagement was surely one that would decide the future leaders of their village, so everyone cared about it.

But now that it was broken up, they were all curious about what had happened.

Moon saw everyone looking at her, but she didn't mind that at all as her gaze was still on Zwein.

From the beginning, she hadn't moved her gaze from Zwein the entire time.

Once again, after some time, the green haired elder said, "I hope that everyone will respect the privacy of the parties involved and don't bother them too much. I know that this is a very sad matter, but it is something that they have decided for themselves, so there is nothing that we can do about it."

All of the elves seemed like they understood, but there were still many that were peeking at Moon out of the corner of their eyes.

Moon just ignored all of this still as she kept staring at me.

After the green haired elder had made all of her announcements, the banquet went into full swing once more.

This banquet went late into the night and many people were sleeping out under the stars as they fell over from being drunk.

Chapter 213 Under The Moon (1)

I had gone back to the residence to rest after enjoying myself, letting the others keep going since they wanted to keep going.

When I woke up, it was still the middle of the night and the entire village was silent.

However, I stood up after waking up and got dressed before heading out of the residence.

Since most people were dead drunk, it was easy for me to make my way to the edge of the village.

Even if people were drunk and in a festive mood, that didn't mean that they had let their guards down. There were still guards that patrolled the edge of the village and it was a group of them that I encountered.

When they saw me, they jumped down from the tree to greet me before questioning me on what I was doing here.

"I couldn't sleep, so I wanted to take a walk in the forest to clear my head."

The guards raised their brows to look at me, but after I flashed the Mark of Life on my forehead, those expressions relaxed.

After a pause, they nodded and said, "Don't stay out there for too long. The forest is still filled with dangerous beasts, so it isn't safe to stay out there in the middle of the night."

I gave a nod and thanked them for their warning before heading into the forest.

The way that I walked into the forest, it was clear that I already knew exactly where I was going.

It didn't take me long to reach a clearing in the forest and in this clearing, there was a small lake that was in the center. This was similar to the clearing that we had reached when we had first come to this forest.

But this time, there was a figure that was waiting for me by the lake in this clearing.

It was a beautiful figure with striking green hair and became even more eye catching under the bright moonlight.

When I came into the clearing, that figure turned to look in my direction.

There was a trace of surprise in her eyes, as if she didn't expect me to actually come, but then she revealed her smile and waved her hand for me to come over. When I walked over, she patted the ground beside her for me to sit down as well.

So the two of us just sat there in front of the lake with neither side saying a thing.

In the end, it was Moon who broke the silence by saying, "You got my note."

I gave a silent nod in response to this.

As for how I knew to come here, I had found that there was a note in my pocket this afternoon.

This was a note that had a message and a map on it, showing me how to get to this clearing.

While I didn't know where this note had come from, I could guess who it was from. That was why I had come here in the first place.

I was curious why she had called me here in the middle of the night.

After another silence, Moon suddenly asked, "Do you know anything about where Aisha is right now?"

I was surprised since I clearly didn't expect this to be the first thing that she asked me.

But in the end, all I could do was shake my head.

After all, I indeed didn't have a single idea where Aisha was right now.

I knew where she would be in the future, but I had never encountered her in this moment of the game's timeline.

Seeing this, Moon couldn't help revealing a very disappointed look.

I couldn't help feeling strange when I saw this look on her face, so I couldn't help asking, "Did you know Aisha?"

Moon looked at me with those disappointed and sad eyes, almost as if there was something that she was struggling to say. But in the end, she still said, "She is my mother."

"Huh?"

That was all that I could say in response to that.

I never expected this kind of bombshell to drop.

But it made sense since Moon had always had a strange obsession towards Aisha. Whenever I had mentioned her, Moon had always looked at me with that strange look...

Seeing this look on my face, Moon gave a sigh and said, "She left me here when I was young because she didn't want to be weighed down by me as she travelled the world. The green haired elder is my grandmother, Aisha's mother, so that's why she left me here."

The look of shock on my face became greater and greater when I heard this.

It seemed that no matter how hard I tried, I wouldn't be able to escape the retribution that would come eventually.

I had used the remnants from the game related to Aisha on her family, so there was no doubt that I would be fated to meet her one day.

When that happened...it was hard to predict what would happen...

So I just threw all of these thoughts out of my mind since there was nothing that I could do about it now. Even if I wanted to change these things, it was impossible to change the past...

So the only thing that I could do was look to the future.

I shook my head and said, "I'm sorry, I don't know anything."

Moon gave a disappointed sigh before saying, "It's ok, that's just how she is."

The two of us just sat there in silence for a while.

I was feeling too awkward to even say anything and Moon was clearly depressed from not getting the information that she wanted.

But all of that changed when Moon suddenly took a deep breath and calmed her expression.

With that calm look on her face, she turned to look at me.

However, I could see that there was a strange look in her eyes as she said, "But you are different."

Chapter 214 Under The Moon (2)

My face filled with confusion when I heard this.

I was "different"?

How was I different?

Moon didn't mind the confused look on my face as she continued, "You're unlike anyone that I've ever met before. From the things that you've done to the miracles that you've created, there's no one that I've ever been as interested in as you."

As she said this, I could tell that the look in her eyes was getting more and more strange.

It was as if there was something that she wanted from me, but she was holding herself back still...

I could tell that this wasn't a good look.

Was it related to the Mark of Life that had appeared on me? Or was there something else that she wanted from me?

I couldn't help feeling a chill run down my spine at the same time as I had a bad premonition.

So in the end, I moved back a bit and said, "I'm not anyone special. I have no powers at all, I'm just lucky."

But even when I tried to act as humble as possible, she firmly denied it by saying, "No, there's something special about you. You seem to have this glow that no one else has...a glow that I just can't get enough of."

The more that she said this, the more strange that her eyes became.

I could guess what she was feeling, but that made me very scared...especially since she was Aisha's daughter.

I moved back a bit more before saying, "How about we go back to the village? I'm sure that people will have noticed that we have gone missing."

Moon shook her head and said, "I want to be with you a bit longer. I want to get to know you even better."

After saying this, she started moving towards me.

Since we had been sitting, she was now crawling towards me on all four, almost like a predator who was stalking her prey.

I tried moving back even further when I saw this, but she was much faster than me.

In an instant, she appeared in front of me and was almost pinning me down with the way that she positioned herself.

I could still move back, but if I did, she would fall atop of me and the situation would become even worse.

So I had no choice but to remain still and wait to see how she acted.

When Moon was this close to me, her body suddenly trembled. That was because at this close range, she could smell a scent coming from me that she had never smelled before.

It was a scent that was different from anything that she had sniffed before, but to her surprise...she found that she wasn't against it. Nôv(el)B\\jnn

She didn't know what this scent was, but for some reason, she felt a bit of heat rising inside of her and she felt safe from it.

The more that she smelled this, the more that she wanted to indulge in this scent.

At the same time, her eyes were wandering over my body.

I wasn't considered muscular by any means, but one thing that I did have was that fair white skin. It was even at a point where it was able to compare to the skin of elves.

I had to admit that this body that I had reincarnated into was definitely beautiful without comparison.

So the more that Moon stared at me, the more her expression changed.

The more that her expression changed, the more in danger I felt.

Her hand couldn't help reaching out towards me, but it wasn't towards my chest...

For some reason, she was reaching out towards my lower half. Specifically, she was reaching out towards that place in between my legs.

I felt a chill run down my spine when I saw this and I was about to pull back, but then I realized that she would fall down if I did. Once she fell atop of me...it would be hard for me to escape.

I had to figure out another way to move out of the way.

But it was already too late as her hand came to my crotch.

She was surprised the moment that her hand touched my dick since she never expected it to be...that big.

She had of course been taught about this before, but the diagrams and small talk had never prepared her for this. After all, there had never been any mention of it being this big!

After touching it, she couldn't help feeling a bit scared and a bit excited.

There was a part of her that wanted to keep going, but...she stopped herself in the end.

Moon gave a cough and said, "Um, yes, we should get back to the village before they become worried."

Then she suddenly pulled away from me, removing her hand from my crotch.

I couldn't help looking at her with a surprised and confused look, not knowing why she had suddenly pulled back like this. However, I quickly gathered myself and moved a bit away from her so that she wouldn't be able to try that again.

He never would have known that he had been saved by her...innocence.

Moon's head was only filled with thoughts about how big that thing was and how she would handle it.

She knew that she would need to practice a bit before she would be able to handle it.

But there wasn't a problem since she had plenty of time.

She would be heading to his village as the envoy, so she was certain that there would be plenty of time to do this properly.

Once she had proper practice, she would show him what she could do.

At this thought, Moon's face couldn't help turning more red.

I didn't know why she was acting this way, but I knew that I couldn't touch her...

After all, she was Aisha's daughter.

I had already used Aisha's name and reputation for my own gains and if she found out that I even laid my hands on her daughter...there was no doubt that she would chop me to pieces.

So even if Moon was a beautiful girl, I knew that I couldn't lay a single finger on her.

It was just too bad that she wasn't planning on giving up, so I would suffer quite a bit in the future...

Chapter 215 Cleaning Up (14)

Over the next few days, I did my best to avoid Moon after that night under the moonlight.

She tried finding excuses to be alone with me, but I kept finding excuses to avoid her.

During this time, we also hashed out many details of the trade agreement and helped the elves restore their forest. Otherwise, we would have returned to the town much sooner than this.

The details of the trade were handled easily with Haley here, so I was mostly there to sign off on these things.

Other than that, there was nothing that really happened.

Once those few days passed, it was finally time to return to the town.

As we left early in the morning, there were many elves that came to send us off.

Before heading off, there were quite a few humans that were talking with the elves. They were making various promises to visit again and that they would bring all kinds of different things with them.

There were also some elves that were making tearful goodbyes to humans...almost as if they had bonded more than just as friends over the past few days.

I wasn't against this, but I couldn't help wondering what would really happen if this turned out to be true. I was sure that the rest of elven society wouldn't be able to accept it as easily.

There have been cases of half elves being born, but these were very rare in history.

Still, I didn't see anything wrong with it as long as the people involved were happy.

As we set off from the village, there was plenty of waving and goodbyes shouted which brought a smile to my face.

However, not far from the village, I asked for a stop to go to the bathroom.

I received a few complaints that I should have gone before leaving, but still they stopped to let me go.

Moon had wanted to go with me, but I had Cecilia stop her.

After all, having her with me would have made things awkward.

I moved away from the group and after making sure that I was alone, I moved even further into the forest.

Once I was a distance away from the rest of the group, I suddenly stopped and said, "You can come out now or are you planning on following me all the way back to town?"

There was a silence that filled the air after my voice fell, but then there were a few figures that appeared in the trees around me.

The one that led this group was a red haired person with sharp ears.

It was Apollo who had left that night and hadn't come back with them to the elven village.

I didn't know why he had left, but it was clear by the look in his eyes why he was here.

Plus with how they were all aiming their bows at me, it was very clear that...they were planning to kill me.

Apollo narrowed his eyes to look at me before asking, "How did you know that we were here?"

I looked at him with a calm smile and asked back, "How did I know?"

Apollo's eyes and lips twitched when he heard this, but in the end, he didn't react the way that I wanted him to. Instead of losing himself in his anger, he forced himself to calm down.

As expected of someone who had been the head warrior in the elven village.

When it came down to it, he was able to control his emotions and didn't fall for cheap provocation.

Well, it could be said that he fell for it a bit since there was the look of rage in his eyes.

After a moment of silence, Apollo raised his hand and said, "Since you aren't willing to say anything, then there's no need to keep you alive then."

I couldn't help being surprised when I heard this.

Normally in this situation, the villain would try to torture the hero a bit before killing him.

But Apollo didn't have this habit and wanted to kill me right away to spare himself any troubles.

It seemed that this part of him was still a warrior, even if he was lacking honour.

The other elves all listened to him and drew their bows all the way before suddenly releasing them.

All of their arrows were shot out in an instant and they were all aimed right at me. Nôv(e)B\jnn

The moment that they hit, I would be turned into a porcupine by all of these arrows flying right at me.

That is if they were able to hit me.

All of a sudden, there were several cloaked figures that appeared around me that swung their swords to cut down the arrows flying at me.

They perfectly formed a barricade around me and all of the arrows were cut down, not missing a single one.

When they appeared, all of the elves in the trees couldn't help being shocked by this.

After all, they hadn't sensed these figures at all.

It was almost as if they had appeared out of thin air.

Apollo deeply knitted his brows before asking, "Who are you? I don't think there is a relationship between us that you would come out of nowhere to interfere in my matters."

None of the cloaked figures said a thing after hearing Apollo speak.

They just all stood there silently, as if they hadn't heard a thing.

This actually hurt Apollo's pride a bit.

So he said, "Do you know who my father is? Donan, the head warrior of the elven king."

Now that he had been kicked out of the elven village, Apollo didn't hold back at all acting like a cliché villain. He had lost the dignity that he had from before and acted just like a villain would.

But once again, the cloaked figures didn't say a single thing.

A vein popped out on Apollo's forehead seeing this and he was about to snap, but then he suddenly knitted his brows.

It was as if something had changed.

Chapter 216 Cleaning Up (15)

The other elves in the trees had the same reaction as Apollo.

All of them suddenly knitted their brows as if something had changed.

There were even a few of them that had suddenly stumbled and almost fell off the branches of the trees they were standing on.

Apollo grabbed his chest and seemed to try to stabilize himself, but his breathing became heavier and even his face couldn't help turning red.

He looked around himself as if he was trying to find the source of this strange disturbance, but in the end, he wasn't able to find it.

At this, he turned to look down at me with narrowed eyes before asking, "What did you do?"

The tone of his voice almost made it seem like he was certain that I was the one that had caused whatever was affecting him right now.

When I heard this, I just revealed a confused look as I asked, "What do you mean?"

But even then, Apollo wouldn't relax his expression as he looked at me with this same certain look.

Seeing that it wasn't working, I released that fake confused look and said, "How did you figure it out?"

Apollo narrowed his eyes even more when he heard this, but he didn't say a thing.

When he didn't respond, I said, "Do you want to know what I did?"

Apollo looked at me with a very strange look that was both doubtful and curious as to what I had actually done. In the end, he gave a nod in response to this question.

"Well..." I slowly drew this out, as if I was playing with him.

When Apollo heard this, he immediately narrowed his eyes even more as a vein popped out on his forehead.

It was almost as if he was about to pop a vein with how much it was throbbing. It was as if he really wanted to rip me apart with his bare hands with the look that he was giving me.

But he couldn't do that since he was under the effects of this strange thing.

He didn't know what it was, but he could feel his body burning up and his breathing becoming faster.

When he thought about it, it was almost as if he was...

But how was that possible?

Seeing that his expression was getting worse, I didn't stop teasing him at all as I said, "Well, it's a very interesting thing that I did. You see, when I came out of the village this morning, I was thinking to myself that it really was a nice day and that I should..."

I kept going on like this, talking about all kinds of different things that seemed trivial and unrelated to the situation at hand.

The more that Apollo listened to this, the more annoyed he became.

Finally, he couldn't take it anymore and shouted, "Get to the point!"

I just said with a calm smile, "I'm getting there, I'm getting there."

Then I kept wasting even more of his time by talking about all kinds of different trivial things again.

The more time that I wasted, the worse the look on their faces became.

This time, Apollo snapped even sooner as he said, "That's enough! You're just wasting ti..."

His voice trailed off as he said this before he suddenly revealed a look of understanding.

That was right, he had hit the nail on the head!

I was just wasting time by talking about all these trivial things and I had no intention of telling him anything useful.

As he realized this, Apollo quickly checked his body and found that he was in a worse condition compared to before.

The only reason that he had played along with Zwein in the first place was to see if he could get him to slip up and tell them what they were afflicted with. But now he realized that he had been played with, he couldn't help losing his temper.

Instead of being the one in control, he was the one that had been controlled.

This was a fatal blow to his pride.

Since he wouldn't be able to get the information that he wanted and it seemed like the situation was getting more and more dire, there was no need to hesitate.

Apollo raised his hand to wave it for the rest of the elves to attack, but he found that he didn't even have the strength to do that anymore.

Most of the other elves were completely under the effect of this strange thing that was around them, so they couldn't summon any strength.

It didn't take long before they tilted forward, falling down from the trees they had been on.

It was a good thing that they still could control their bodies to a certain extent, so they were able to land on the ground. Otherwise, with how high up they were and how hard they were falling, they definitely would have been injured.

Even so...there wasn't much that they could do.

This heat that was coming from inside of them...it was not something that they could resist.

Apollo found that it was the same for him...

Even if he wanted to do something, he found that he didn't have the strength to move a single muscle.

Apollo looked back up at me and asked, "What did you do to us?"

I just looked back at him with a faint smile on my lips and said, "What did I do?"

The look of rage in Apollo's eyes became even stronger when he heard this.

But that look of rage was quickly replaced with a look of fear when he saw the cloaked figures coming closer.

These cloaked figures had their swords raised, as if they were about to finish them off.

When the threat to his life came closer, Apollo couldn't keep acting tough anymore.

He tried to move back, but he fell to the ground, landing on his butt.

When he did so, I couldn't help revealing a surprised look before letting a laugh escape.

Chapter 217 Cleaning Up (16)

When my laugh rang out, the expression on Apollo's face twisted.

At the same time, the cloaked figures all turned in the direction of Apollo before they all started trembling.

There was no laughter that came out, but it was very clear why they were trembling like this. They were doing all they could to hold back their laughter.

When Apollo saw this as well, the expression on his face became even more twisted and he was filled with killing intent.

For a moment, this suppressed the strange feeling that was inside of him...but that was only for a moment.

It didn't take long for this feeling to resurge and he lost all the power that he had regained in his rage.

Once he fell down on the ground again, he lost all of that rage that he felt and he once again tried to find a way to escape.

As for what we had been laughing at...there was a small tent that had appeared in Apollo's pants and when I say small, I really meant small.

If one didn't look at it closely, they most likely wouldn't have even noticed that it was there.

But after taking that moment to laugh at Apollo, the cloaked figures calmed down and approached the elves with their swords raised again.

When Apollo saw this, he didn't even need to think to know what was going to happen next.

So without hesitation, he shouted, "My father is Donan, the head warrior of the elven kingdom! If you dare do anything to me, I can guarantee that he will never let you go!"

At the very last moment, he decided to threaten us for his life.

If it was anyone else, perhaps it would have been useful, but...these people were not afraid of this person.

They were surprised without a doubt since they had heard about Donan before, but they were no means scared of him since they were currently in a human country.

In this human country, these cloaked figures did have some power and influence.

So they didn't hesitate as they moved closer to Apollo and the elves.

Seeing that it didn't have any effect on them, Apollo couldn't help feeling fear for the first time.

It was as if for the first time, he could feel that his death was truly approaching.

For someone that had the power that he had and had been protected by the influence of his father all his life, he naturally had never felt this way before.

So the first time that he felt it...his mentality collapsed.

"Don't do it! I promise that I'll do whatever you want as long as you don't kill me!" As he said this, Apollo raised his hands to cover his head and curled up in a ball.

This was completely different from the tough act that he had before and they couldn't help being caught off guard by this.

But still, they had received their orders and they didn't hesitate to finish them.

Seeing that they were still coming closer even though he had done all of this, Apollo couldn't take it anymore and he started to run.

It was just too bad that he couldn't compare to them in his impaired state like this.

So all that he received in the end was a sword in the back.

As he laid there on the ground with blood coming out of his mouth, he turned to look at Zwein with eyes that were filled with hatred. It was as if he was cursing him to fall into the depths of hell with him.

Unfortunately for him, his gaze didn't have this power.

After Apollo had been finished off, the rest of the elves were finished off by the cloaked figures.

They didn't leave a single one of them alive.

Once all of the elves were killed, the cloaked figures took out a powder that they sprinkled over the corpses left behind.

Nothing happened at first, but then the bodies started disappearing...or rather they started dissolving into nothing but dust. During this process, there was a smell that came from the corpses being dissolved, but the cloaked figures didn't even blink since they were already used to this.

However, I wasn't as used to this as them and couldn't help taking a step back while raising my arm up to my nose to cover it.

In no time at all, all of the corpses that had been on the ground disappeared without a trace.

Once that was taken care of, the cloaked figures pulled back their hoods to reveal their appearances.

It was Shaka and his subordinates.

I had called them over during the time that we had been here using a secret method that was only available to members of Shadow Garden.

So they had rushed into the forest and found the village using secret methods as well.

They had been silently guarding me when they told me that Apollo had been hanging out around the village, as if he was waiting for something. As soon as I heard that, I could already guess what he was thinking.

That was when I had the idea to set up this trap.

But the most important thing was that if I didn't have the special item from the system, I wouldn't have been able to set up the trap.

This was one of the three items that I had received from the system as a reward last time.

Aphrodisiac.

It might have been a repeat of what I had done last time, but it was very effective.

This was a set of special aphrodisiacs that would only affect certain races and there was a full set for most of the major races in this world. The one that I had used today was the aphrodisiac that worked on elves, which was why Shaka and his men didn't feel any effects.

With the aphrodisiac weakening them like this, it was easy for me to take out Apollo and his men.

As for the feeling of hesitation over killing them...there was none.

He would have killed me if he had the chance and he had even tried to do that with this ambush, so there was no need to feel sorry about killing him.

Since he wanted to kill me, then I would do the same in kind.

Not to mention that he had been against me to begin with.

If Apollo had escaped today, there was no doubt that he would have contacted his father and brought even more trouble to me.

So death was the best way to end it all.

Once they revealed themselves, Shaka said, "I've already reported back to Scar about the demons that appeared here. He will be sending a report in a few days, so prepare yourself."

I gave a simple nod in response to this without saying anything since this was what I had already expected.

Seeing this, Shaka gave a nod as well before adding, "We'll go back to protecting your group from the shadows. Of course, we won't act unless it's absolutely necessary, so take care of yourself."

I nodded again in response to this.

Seeing this, Shaka and his group disappeared.

Chapter 218 Returning With Elves

When I returned to the group, they naturally wondered why I had been gone for so long.

With an awkward look, I explained that it took longer than I thought before holding my stomach.

As soon as they heard this, they all revealed understanding looks and dropped the subject.

Just like this, we were off again, heading back to the town.

Since we had more people than before and the elves didn't travel with horses, it took us a bit longer to get back. They at least had magic that made them faster, so we were able to reach the town the second day.

When we arrived, Baroness Rose was already waiting for us.

One of Shaka's men had been left in town to receive the message, so I had given her notice before we left. I had also given her notice as soon as it was decided that the envoys would be sent, but...it was just too little time in the first place.

The welcoming ceremony was much too lackluster compared to what it could be since there hadn't been enough time to practice.

But there wasn't a lack of enthusiasm since everyone wanted to have a glimpse of the elves.

Elves, the elusive beauties of the forest...It was a dream to see them whether they were men or women.

So what they lacked in practice, they made up for in enthusiasm.

Not to mention that this was the elves' first time in a human town, so they didn't know what to expect in the first place.

Even if it was a bit shabby, they were still enthralled by it since it was a new experience for them.

After the welcoming performance, we brought the elves to one of the best restaurants in town.

The owner had personally come out to cook when he heard that this was a banquet for the elves and it had made quite an impression on them since there were all kinds of dishes they never had before. Nôv(el)B\jnn

All in all, because of the enthusiasm of our people and the ignorance of the elves, we were able to pull it off in the end.

By the end of the day, the elves were all brought to a residence that had been prepared for them and they were settled for the night.

That is all of the elves except for one.

Moon wouldn't stay with the other elves and insisted on staying in Baroness Rose's manor with us.

We tried to talk her out of it, but she insisted. She said that it was her duty as the leader of their group.

Since we couldn't talk her out of it, we had no choice but to bring her to the manor.

It was a good thing that this was a large manor in the first place, so there were plenty of places to put her.

For some reason though, she wanted a room that was as close as possible to the room that I shared with Baroness Rose...

Based on what had happened before, it wasn't hard to guess what she was planning on doing, so I rejected this. Instead of putting her nearby, I put her on the exact opposite side of the manor.

Moon had a dissatisfied look, but she was the guest and she couldn't make a fuss like this.

She accepted it in the end, but as she left to go to her room, she added, "I'll see you soon."

I felt a chill run down my spine when I heard this.

Baroness Rose and I got some time alone in our room tonight.

Since they had come with me to the elven village, Cecilia and Haley felt that they should leave the two of us alone for a night.

When we entered the room, the first thing that Baroness Rose did was...point at the ground and say, "Sit."

She wasn't even pointing at a chair, she was just pointing at the ground in front of her.

With the stern look on her face, I could tell that I was most likely in trouble for something.

A happy wife would mean a happy life, so I didn't go against her and sat down in a dogeza position on the ground.

While she didn't understand what meaning the position I was sitting in had, she could feel the sincerity in it which was why the expression on her face relaxed a bit.

After sitting down as well, though she sat on the couch instead of on the ground, Baroness Rose said, "Explain."

It was just a single word, but the power and meaning behind it was more than enough for me.

So I started telling her the story of what happened in the forest.

I left out a few parts that I felt that I didn't need to include, as well as a few parts that I felt would be better left out.

By the end of my story, Baroness Rose had an understanding look on her face as she gave a nod.

Then she said with a sigh, "It seems like you really can't help attracting all kinds of people when you go out."

All I could do was reveal a bitter smile when I heard this.

After all, it wasn't as if I was doing this on purpose.

Then after a silence, she looked at me with a serious look as she said, "How did you know all those things about the elves in the first place?"

I could also see a trace of doubt in her eyes as she asked this, but it was normal that this appeared.

It didn't make sense that I would know all of these things about the elves in the first place.

I looked at her and then shook my head before saying, "I can't tell you."

Baroness Rose slightly knitted her brows when she heard this, but they quickly relaxed as well as a trace of understanding appeared.

She knew that I had my circumstances, but...she was also a bit annoyed that I was keeping secrets from her.

So she grabbed me by the hand and pulled me off the ground.

The direction that we were heading was the bedroom...

Chapter 219 Punishment (1)

As I was being pulled into the bedroom, I couldn't help asking in a shaky voice, "What, what's going on?"

Baroness Rose looked at me with her eyes narrowed before saying, "Since you won't tell me anything...then I have to punish you a bit."

I couldn't help shaking when I heard this, but there was also a part of me that started to swell a bit.

After we came in, she pulled me in by the hand before suddenly pushing me on the bed.

As I laid there, she came up on top of me and pushed me down on the bed.

Without any hesitation, she pulled my pants down and revealed the treasure hidden within, the two golden balls and the stick that came with it.

Being pushed down like this...I really couldn't help myself and soon that stick started to grow longer.

When Baroness Rose saw this, she revealed a faint smile before reaching out with her hand.

Then when it came close, she suddenly gripped the bottom of the shaft.

The moment that she did, I couldn't help letting out a surprised gasp that had a bit of pain in it since her grip...was a bit too strong. It was almost as if she was trying to crush it...

She had never made this mistake before in all the times that we had been together.

But it didn't feel like she was going to let go, so I said, "Gentle, be gentle."

That smile on her lips grew wider and it became a bit more sadistic as she said, "It wouldn't be a punishment if I did it gently, would it?"

I couldn't help giving a gulp when I saw this as a bit of fear filled me.

But at the same time, my stick down there became even harder since I also felt a bit excited by this.

This was definitely different from how Baroness Rose acted normally...it even reminded me of the cold way that she acted when we had first met and I couldn't stop my excitement at that thought.

Seeing that it was getting harder in her hand, Baroness Rose suddenly gripped it even harder which caused me to wince in pain.

After this, she said, "It seems like you don't know your place at all, do you?"

I gave a gulp, but I shook my head at this.

With that same smile on her face, she suddenly moved her other hand.

Even though she still had one hand gripping my dick, the other hand skillfully took off the dress that she was wearing to reveal the beautiful figure underneath.

That fair white skin, those tall mountains with those pink tips, that perfect curve, and those thick legs, every part of this body was beautiful enough to entice any man, but put together like this...she was absolutely irresistible.

Even though she was still holding my dick like this, I couldn't stop it from suddenly swelling and growing bigger.

But that just increased the pressure on it since she had an iron grip on my dick still.

This truly was a form of torture, but at the same time...I couldn't help enjoying it.

However, that wasn't the end of it.

After she took off the dress, she suddenly started to move.

She turned her body so that her behind was facing me and then she placed her butt over my head before sitting down.

All that I saw were those pure white mounds above me before they completely covered me. Luckily, they didn't smother me and I was still able to breathe.

But I could tell what was in front of my mouth.

After she had gotten in position, Baroness Rose said, "This is your punishment, so get to it."

Punishment?

Was this a punishment?

Didn't she mean reward?

Without hesitation, I stuck my tongue out and started licking the sweet nectar of the valley in front of me.

As my tongue fell over all those folds before entering the valley hidden within, there was a moan that came from above me. It was a moan that was soft and filled with pleasure which made me even more turned on.

But at the same time, she didn't stop what she was doing with her hand.

Her hand was locked in an iron grip around my dick and she had started moving it up and down.

This was a different feeling from every other handjob that I had received before because instead of just pleasure, there was also the pain from having my dick gripped like this. Still, it wasn't as if this was a bad feeling...

It was certainly new and strange, but the more that she did it, the more pleasure I felt from it.

Eventually, the pain started to disappear, but I wasn't sure if that was because blood circulation was getting cut off or if it was because I was adjusting to the pain.

The two of us continued like this, both of us letting out moans of pleasure until we couldn't take it anymore.

At the same time, both of us said, "I'm cumming."

I could feel the trembling that came from Baroness Rose's body, but at the same time, she suddenly leaned forward while I was still licking her.

Then in one smooth move, she brought her mouth over the tip of my dick right as I was about to cum and covered it completely with her mouth.

The moment that she did, I could feel the soft feeling of her tongue wrapping around my dick and I couldn't hold back anymore.

Even with the swelling and trembling, she kept her mouth firmly on my dick as I shot my load right into her mouth.

At the same time, there was a sudden spray that came from between her legs that completely soaked my face.

The two of us just both climaxed at the same time before falling down at the same time after feeling drained.

Her face was still on my dick while her crotch still had my face in it.

The two of us just laid there like this catching our breath, but the more that we breathed, the more turned on we were.

That was because we were breathing into each other's private parts.

It didn't take long before we regained our strength and we were both ready for round two.

Baroness Rose sat up atop of me again before turning once more so that she was facing me. At the same time, she took a seat right on my waist, but she made sure to sit a bit forward so that she didn't get penetrated.

Still, that feeling of her butt rubbing up against my dick like that...was really something else.

As my dick slid in between the slit of her cheeks, I could feel the pressure that came from these two perfect round mounds.

Then she looked down at me with the same smile as she said, "You're not anywhere near done with your punishment yet. You better get ready since I'll be punishing you all night."

I couldn't help giving a gulp when I heard this, but then I responded with a silent nod.

With that same smile, she said, "Get ready to be drained."

Chapter 220 Punishment (2)

I gave a gulp when I heard this, but I didn't resist at all as I just let Rose do whatever she wanted.

The first thing that she did was push down on me with her hands and then lift herself up. She slowly positioned herself so that she was right above my dick and then in one smooth move, she sat down on me.

There was no resistance at all as my dick penetrated deep into her.

It was almost as if she had already been molded in the exact shape of my dick, but that wasn't strange with how many times we've done it already.

In one motion, she took it as far as she could put it inside of her, but it was just too big to take in one go.

In the end, she could only get around half of it in before she found that she couldn't go down any further.

But she didn't stop there as she started moving back up.

Just like this, Rose moved up and down above me, pushing my dick deeper into herself with each squat.

While she did this, both of us let out moans of pleasure while Rose shouted, "More, give me more!"

I just laid there like a dead fish enjoying it all while she aggressively went at it.

It didn't take long before both of us couldn't take it anymore and we climaxed at the same time.

When we climaxed, Rose was finally able to take it as deep as she could and I shot my load deep inside of her. Both of us just trembled for a bit as we finished our climax before she fell onto me.

She was taller than me, so she fell right over me and smothered me with her breasts, but I didn't mind it at all. I just reached my hands out to catch her and take her in my embrace.

After she fell forward, my dick slipped out of her pussy with a sound and then there was a white liquid that dripped out of her.

When she felt this, she suddenly brought a hand down to her crotch and blocked it from coming out.

I felt this and couldn't help looking at her with a strange look before asking, "Is something wrong? Does it feel weird or is it something else?"

Rose's face turned red when she heard this and she didn't respond at first, but then she said, "I didn't want it to come out?"

I couldn't help revealing a confused look before asking, "Why not?"

Rose's face turned even more red as she hesitated to speak, but then she still said, "It's something that's hard to say."

I held her tighter in my arms as I said, "What is there that you can't say to me? I'm your husband."

Rose lowered her head, completely unlike how she normally acted.

If the people of the town could see her, they definitely would have been shocked because she was a completely different person. But it wasn't as if I would ever let them see her like this.

It could be said that I was quite the possessive person now after obtaining her for a bit. There was a part of me that didn't want to share this beautiful wife of mine with others.

Finally after a while, she took a deep breath and said, "I want to have your child."

"Huh?" I couldn't help being taken aback when I heard this.

But Rose couldn't help misunderstanding what I meant by this as she said, "I knew that I was being too rash. I should have waited and taken my time, but I really do want someone to take care of while you aren't here. I wanted a crystallization of our love to share with the world..."

She kept going until I snapped out of my daze and reached out a finger to cover her lips.

She was surprised by this, but she still wanted to say something.

But before she could, I said, "No, no, you're misunderstanding me. It isn't that I don't want to have a child with you, it's just that you surprised me."

Then I said in a more loving tone, "I want to have a child with you as well, but I didn't know if you were ready for it."

To be honest, I had never thought of having a child before.

But when she mentioned it, I immediately agreed with this idea since I knew that I loved her. If that's what she wanted, then it would be what I wanted.

Not to mention that we were financially well off, so we wouldn't have a problem caring for this child in the first place.

Rose couldn't help being surprised this time as she looked at me with wide eyes. Then after a moment of silence, she asked, "Really?"

I nodded and patted her on the head before saying with a smile, "Really, I love you."

Hearing me say this, there was a blush that appeared on Rose's face before she came forward to hug me as well. She whispered in a small voice in my ear, "I love you too."

The two of us just stayed there enjoying the warmth coming from each other's body.

But the night was still young and it didn't end there.

After a long silence, Rose suddenly came up and said, "I still have to punish you."

A bitter smile appeared on my face when I heard this and it grew wider when she said her next words, "I'm draining you empty tonight."

But this time, I knew that she was just acting this way to hide her embarrassment and I couldn't help thinking that she really was cute.

So cute that I couldn't help myself as I suddenly moved out from under her.

"What are you doing?" Rose said in a surprised voice.

"Nothing at all." That was what I said, but I had moved myself behind her and had grabbed her waist. After that, I said, "Hold onto the head of the bed for me."

Rose was confused, but she still listened to me and grabbed the head of the bed in front of us.

"Hold tight." That was all I said before I suddenly thrust forward.

"Ah!" Rose let out a surprised cry, but then she began letting out satisfied moans of pleasure.

Holding her from behind, I thrust deep into her again and again.

With how deep I was thrusting into her, one would even be afraid that I would rip her in half if I continued like this.

But there was only pleasure for the both of us.

I held her waist at first, but then my hands came forward. They moved up her back before coming across her sides to reach in front of her.

With one swift motion, I grabbed her breasts and started playing with them as I continued thrusting into her.

"Ah!" That was her response once again when I grabbed them, but the moans quickly followed.

It didn't take long before she suddenly said, "I'm about to cum!"

I just revealed a faint smile before saying, "Let's do it together."

After all, the feeling of being with her was just too pleasurable that I couldn't hold myself back anymore.

As we were about to climax together, I leaned as forward as I could and I was able to reach her head that was looking down, giving her a deep kiss as I shot my load into her.

The two of us froze as we climaxed together before collapsing without any strength on the bed.

Once again, we laid there enjoying the comfort of each other's warmth, but...

I still wasn't done yet.

It didn't take long before my dick was standing tall and proud again.

So we took another position and kept going.

Not just once or twice, but all night long.
