

Shota 571

Chapter 571 Special Privilege (1)

Neither of them said a thing as they just stared at each other.

Finally, it was the marquis who broke the silence by saying, "Your highness, you can't do this to me. My family has loyally served the kingdom for many generations, is this how the royal family treats their loyal vassals?"

To the marquis' surprise, the fourth prince actually gave a chuckle in response before saying, "Is that so?"

The marquis deeply knitted his brows when he heard this before saying, "Your highness, even if you insult me, I cannot allow you to insult my family. We are a proud line of nobles that helped build this kingdom when the empire collapsed."

The fourth prince just gave a shrug as he said, "But that was all in the past. Your ancestors might have been loyal vassals, but can you really say the same about yourself?"

The marquis revealed an ugly expression when he heard this, but he didn't say anything.

It wasn't that he didn't want to defend himself, it was just that he had no idea what the fourth prince knew.

If he said too much, it wouldn't be good for himself.

So he wanted to see just what the fourth prince would try to blame him with.

The fourth prince saw that the marquis wasn't saying anything, but he wasn't that surprised by this. Almost as if he was already expecting this, he reached his hand out towards one of the cloaked figures.

That cloaked figure took out a bundle of papers from under their cloak and put it in the fourth prince's hand.

After taking that bundle of papers, the fourth prince raised it up in front of himself and read, "Three counts of suppressing the commoners in villages in your territory, forty different counts of assaulting women, and..."

The fourth prince continued to read out the things written on the paper in front of him and there were many different crimes of the marquis that were exposed.

It seemed that the marquis was as much of a scumbag as we had expected him to be.

The things that he did, it was hard to believe that he was even human.

Though there were a few things that everyone else in the room didn't really seem to react to. It was as if these things weren't as serious as the other things, like they were normal for nobles to do.

After reading out a list of crimes, the fourth prince said, "All of this was found in just a matter of hours. I really can't even fathom how long the list of your crimes would actually be if we had a proper investigation."

The marquis had a very ugly look on his face which made it clear that everything that the fourth prince had accused him of were true.

After a short silence, the marquis suddenly revealed a firm look and said, "Slander! All of this is slander!"

The fourth prince shook his head and gave a sigh as he said, "It seems that you really are throwing away all of the reputation that your ancestors have built up..."

The marquis still shook his head and said, "Without any proof, you can't accuse me of random crimes! I want to see proof!"

It seemed like the marquis had completely given up being rational.

Since the fourth prince had said all of this, there was no doubt that he should have gotten all of the proof that he needed.

If one just thought about it a bit, they would have realized this.

However, the marquis had gone too far off the end that he refused to look at any of this with reason.

It seemed that he would just deny everything to the end, trying to stall things out as much as possible.

But the fourth prince wasn't interested in playing with the marquis.

With a sigh, the fourth prince said, "There's no need for a formal investigation, we'll issue his punishment here and now."

The marquis fell silent when he heard this before narrowing his eyes to look at the fourth prince.

The way that he looked at the fourth prince, it was as if he was just waiting to see what the fourth prince would say just so he could deny it. It was as if he was planning on fighting to the end, even if there was no fight left.

The fourth prince gave a nod as if he had decided something and said, "We'll strip him of his title and take away his territory. That should be plain and simple."

"Huh?" The marquis clearly did not expect to hear this as he looked at the fourth prince in shock.

With just a few simple words, the fourth prince wanted to decide on stripping his title away?

How could someone do something like this?

The marquis naturally wouldn't accept this, so he pulled on his chains and said, "How can you do something like that? Do you think that you're his majesty?"

The fourth prince calmly looked at the marquis and pulled out something before saying, "I think that I can represent his majesty in this case."

The marquis was about to say something until he noticed what was in the fourth prince's hand.

The moment that he saw the token that the fourth prince was holding, he couldn't help saying in a stunned voice, "Mark of the Sun..."

I looked at the thing that was in the fourth prince's hand and I couldn't help being surprised as well since I recognized this thing.

The others were confused, but I knew what this was.

This was a token that had appeared in the game before, it was a token that could only be granted by the ruler of this kingdom.

That was because this token was a representation of the king.

As long as one had this token, it was as if they were seeing the king themselves.

This was a special privilege that would only be given to those that the king trusted.

So why did the fourth prince have something like this?

Chapter 572 Special Privilege (2)

This token had only appeared in the later parts of the game, near the end of the noble quest line.

It was a token that had been taken forcefully by the fourth prince to enforce his will on the people of the capital when he started his coup. So I had seen how powerful this token could be.

But why did the fourth prince have it now?

It should have been something that was forcefully taken from the king later in the game...

Could it be that the fourth prince had this all along?

If so, then what was the point of the fourth prince's coup in the game?

The king should have already trusted the fourth prince at this time and should have made him his successor, so why did things progress the way that they did in the game?

When I learned all of this, I couldn't help feeling even more confused about the plot of the game.

It seemed like there was some kind of large hidden plot that no player had been able to discover before this...

It was just a good thing that I was used to revealing a calm look to disguise my emotions or else all of this would have been shown to everyone.

The fourth prince just continued by saying, "Since I have this, I think that I'm more than qualified to represent his majesty in this matter, don't you think so?"

The marquis was still shocked when he heard this, but then he suddenly brought his head down and said, "In light of the service that my family has provided, I ask your highness for mercy."

As soon as he said this, it was clear that he admitted his wrongdoings.

He was no longer trying to act tough since he knew that there was nothing to gain from it.

At this point, his only option was to show submission and try to soften the punishment as much as he could, or else he really might be executed...

So the marquis was trying to negotiate with the fourth prince.

The fourth prince wasn't surprised to see this, but he didn't seem like he cared.

It seemed that he had already made his decision and he wouldn't be showing any mercy to the marquis.

However, he suddenly turned to me to ask, "Brother Zwein, what do you think about this?"

I had been deeply lost in my thoughts when I heard this, but I was jolted out of them since it was the fourth prince who asked this.

I looked at the fourth prince with a confused look and then looked at the marquis before slowly figuring out what was happening.

But I was surprised to see that the fourth prince was actually asking my opinion on this matter since there was no real need for this. That was until I realized that he was using this as an opportunity to show just how close we were.

So I said with a sigh, "I have no opinions on this matter. I'll leave it up to brother."

The fourth prince gave a nod before turning to the marquis to say, "Since my brother has said this, then we'll just go with what I said before. Your territory and your title will be revoked and you will be banished from this kingdom without a single possession. If you try to enter our kingdom again, then know that it will not go well for you."

The marquis looked up in shock when he heard this.

He never thought that even when he submitted, he would have his title revoked and his territory taken from him.

The one small consolation that was there was that he would keep his life since he was only exiled from this country, but it was still hard for him to accept.

But what could he do?

The fourth prince had already spoken and there was nothing for him to say.

His men had been taken from him and he was currently trapped in his dungeon.

The fourth prince no longer cared about the marquis and turned to look at the cloaked figures behind him to say, "Send someone to capture his family and reclaim his wealth. Don't let them take a single thing."

The cloaked figures nodded before disappearing.

When he was done with that, the fourth prince turned to me to say, "Then brother, shall we go?"

He even took me by the shoulder and started pushing me out of this place, as if to show just how close I was.

Was this the reason why he had left the marquis alive?

When the marquis left this country, would he spread the news that I was close to the fourth prince?

I didn't know if this was a good thing or a bad thing, but I was certain that it would have an effect on me in the future.

As we were leaving, the marquis had fallen silent, but I could see that he was looking at me with a strange look.

It was clear that he was trying to figure out just what kind of relationship I had with the fourth prince.

After that was all taken care of, the fourth prince actually didn't stay in my territory any longer.

As soon as we came up from the dungeons, he went outside and was getting ready to leave even though it was already late in the afternoon.

I wanted to convince him to stay, but he said, "I have to get back to the capital as soon as possible to report this matter to my royal father and make preparations. In a week, there should be someone that will come with your appointment as a general. When that time comes, get your army ready to head to the battlefield."

I was certainly surprised by this, but I gave a nod of confirmation after hearing this.

The fourth prince gave a nod too before patting me on my shoulder and saying, "Good luck to you and stay safe."

Without another word, the fourth prince left.

He came and left just like a storm.

Chapter 573 Orders From The Church

Once the fourth prince left, there wasn't much else for me to do.

Of course, that didn't mean that I could remain idle while leaving the work to everyone else.

Or at least that was what I thought.

But when I tried to volunteer to help, I found that I was given the cold shoulder by my wives and my fiancées.

At first, Cecilia was still talking to me, but after she learned about what I had asked the fourth prince for, she also gave me the cold shoulder.

Though they understood that women should stand by their husbands at times, that didn't mean that they wouldn't get angry because of my selfish actions.

So before I could leave, the first thing that I had to do was appease them.

But I didn't go looking for them right away.

It wasn't because I was scared of my wives and fiancées, it was just that I was giving them some time to cool off. There was nothing to gain trying to appease them while they were still worked up.

In fact, trying to force the issue might even cause them to get angrier.

So sometimes a man should know when to back down.

Un, that was it, I was just giving them time to cool off.

But it wasn't as if I could just remain there doing nothing.

There was a war coming, so I had to make preparations as well.

In the end, I headed to the church since no one would talk to me and it would be awkward for me to hang around.

When I arrived, I found that the priest was there waiting for me.

Seeing me come into the church, he said with a faint smile, "It seems like quite a few things have happened during this time."

I narrowed my eyes when I heard this.

From the smile that was on his face, I could see that there was a deeper meaning to this.

It seemed that this priest had received information before others did.

I slowly gave a nod and said with a sigh, "That's why I'm here."

The smile disappeared from the face of the priest and to my surprise, he suddenly revealed a serious look.

In my time knowing this priest, he had never revealed this kind of serious look before.

After all, he was someone that was kind and forgiving, so he didn't have the personality to be this serious.

For him to actually be this serious, it was clear that the situation had changed.

After a long silence, the priest said, "We cannot go with you."

I was caught off guard by these sudden words from the priest, even to the point where for a second, I couldn't understand what he was talking about. But then I reacted to his words and knew exactly what he was referring to.

After this realization, I deeply knitted my brows as I tried to figure out why he was saying this.

Seeing the look on my face, the priest didn't beat around the bush as he said, "I received orders from the headquarters that we are not allowed to participate in this war."

Hearing this, I knitted my brows even more.

It wasn't that I was surprised to learn that the church already knew about this since the church that the priest belonged to was a widespread religion. It was a religion that was practiced in many different countries, so it wouldn't be strange for them to get this information with their connections.

I also wasn't surprised that the church would want to remain neutral in this matter since they were a neutral organization to begin with. They were a church that relied on their believers, so they wouldn't do anything like choosing a side in a war since it would hurt them in the future.

But that meant that we wouldn't be able to get the healers that we wanted, as well as the powerful ians that could help us.

The priests and nuns of the church were all taught healing which would greatly help us in battle. At the same time, there were many powerful ians such as this priest in front of me that could cast powerful spells.

There was no doubt that they would have been very helpful to have in the war.

In the end, I gave an understanding nod.

Just like how we had our circumstances, I was sure that the priest had his own circumstances.

The priest gave a sigh and said, "But those orders don't apply to the apprentices. They are still not ordained members of the church, so they have the freedom to choose where they go."

My eyes immediately lit up when I heard this.

The apprentices, while they were still weak, they were still capable of healing and other simple spells. So at the very least, they would be able to help by casting their spells on the battlefield.

Then the priest added something, "But of course, only those that are willing. Please don't force anyone to go."

I gave a nod of agreement before saying, "I'll only take those who wish to protect their home. They will be able to freely choose whether they go or not."

The priest gave a sigh in response to this as he revealed a down look.

While like this, he also muttered, "Protect their home, huh?"

It was clear that there was something else that he wanted to say, but he wasn't able to say it because of the position that he was in.

With another sigh, the priest said, "I will pray for your luck on the battlefield."

I said with a nod, "Thank you."

There was something that was left in the air that both of us were unsatisfied with, but this was how it was.

There was nothing else that could be said or done since both of us had our own circumstances and we just had to accept that we had different circumstances...

Chapter 574 Appeasing (1)

Once I was finished with my business at the church, it had already become dark.

I had been able to convince a few of the apprentices to come with me, but the rest of them still seemed to be on the fence about coming.

In the end, I would just let them decide over the next period of time since it was best to let them think it over. After all, those that were forced onto the battlefield would always have hesitation and hesitation would lead to death.

Not to mention, I didn't want to put any pressure on them to come since I agreed with the priest that we shouldn't force anyone to come.

I was their lord, so I could at least protect my territory and my people without having to rely on forced conscription.

So that was where I had left things for the day.

After all, there was an even harder battle that was waiting for me at home.

When I arrived, the servants all looked at me with awkward looks before turning to ignore me.

Seeing them act this way, I didn't get angry at all.

Rather, the moment that I saw them act this way, I knew what was happening here.

It seemed that Rose was still angry, so she had given the order for the servants to ignore me when I arrived.

This at least told me that she was still angry and I would have to do my best to appease her.

So without caring about the servants, I went right up to Rose's room.

I knew that she would be there since there was no sign of dinner being prepared.

It seemed that she had even been planning on letting me starve the entire time.

I knew that she was in a very bad mood if she was even planning on withholding food.

When I arrived in Rose's room, I saw that all of the girls were gathered there in the room.

The moment that I came in, they suddenly stopped talking and turned to look at me.

With the tea and cookies in front of them, it seemed like they were having a leisurely chatting time. However, I knew that this was impossible since they would most certainly still be angry with me.

So the first thing that I did after entering the room was fall to my knees and bring my head down.

There was no hesitation in my body as I went into a sliding dogeza in front of them.

I knew that the only way to show how sorry I was was to be as sincere as I could and there was no better way to do this than with a sliding dogeza.

It was so sudden that all of the girls didn't even know how to react at first.

But then they looked at me with expressionless looks on their faces, as if they still hadn't decided how they would react to this.

The only thing that I could do was keep my head on the ground and wait.

Finally, Rose spoke to me, "What are you doing?"

I didn't dare look up as I said, "I know I was being selfish and I apologize for that."

There was only silence that followed and when I looked up sheepishly, I could see that they were still looking at me with expressionless looks on their faces.

I had nothing to go on, so the only thing that I could do was keep my head down and wait.

Finally, there was a voice that came from above me.

It was Rose who said, "Then what do you plan on doing to make up for it?"

I was caught off guard when I heard her say this, but then I could see the special look in her eyes.

There was a part of me that gave a bitter laugh when I saw this, but there was also a part of me that couldn't help feeling a bit excited.

I made sure that the others all had similar looks before raising my head and said, "Can I show you what I'll do to make it up?"

Rose looked at me with narrowed eyes after hearing this, but she still gave a nod in the end.

I walked over to where Rose was sitting and came up behind her.

Seeing me do this, she looked at me with a confused look. However, I just turned her head back forward and said, "Just relax and leave everything to me."

I brought my hands up to her shoulder and then I started to squeeze.

The moment that she felt me squeezing her like this, Rose wasn't able to control herself as she suddenly gave a yelp.

The others all looked at me with gazes filled with suspicion, but Rose was the one that defended me as she said, "It's fine, I was just surprised by it."

I had stopped since they had glared at me, but Rose said, "I didn't say to stop."

I revealed a faint smile before I continued massaging her shoulders for her again.

This was the technique that I had learned from my parents.

Whenever my mother had been angry about something, my father had always gone to massage her shoulders. It would never take long before they became lovey dovey again and did things that they shouldn't have done in front of their child.

This shoulder massage wasn't the only technique that I had learned from my father.

After the shoulder massage worked, he would always go with a different technique...one that was inappropriate to show children.

That was how unafraid to show affection my parents had been, but that seemed to help me now.

My hands came down from Rose's shoulder and it went to her back.

As they were placed on her back, I started giving her a back massage as well.

It didn't take long before she let out a moan of pleasure from this.

Hearing this, I knew that it was time for the next step.

My hands went from Rose's back to her front and then in one swift move, I grabbed what was there.

Chapter 575 Appeasing (2)

As soon as my hands grabbed her chest, I could feel the soft feeling coming from them.

No matter how many times I held her chest, I would never get tired of it.

It was almost too big for my hands, but I was able to grab a hold of them still, one in each hand.

The moment that my fingers made contact with her skin, they immediately sunk into that white flesh. This was like sinking into the fresh snow on a winter day as my fingers disappeared into her milky white flesh in an instant.

"Ah..." Rose gave a soft moan before saying in a slightly angry voice, "What are you doing?"

Though she sounded angry, I knew that she was just pretending.

We had been together long enough that I was able to see through those eyes. I could see that this was just fake anger that she was showing to save face for herself.

The moan that she gave first were her true feelings.

So I just revealed an innocent smile and said, "I'm just giving you a massage. I know that when it's big like this, it's hard on your back and shoulders, so I just wanted to help you relieve some of that pain."

Rose looked at me with narrowed eyes after hearing this.

The look in her eyes made it clear that she knew exactly what I was doing, but she didn't say anything about this.

Instead, she just turned back around and said, "Alright, let's see what you have."

The smile on my face became even wider after hearing her say this, so my hands became much more bold.

One hand remained on her chest and kept massaging it while the other hand slid down the side of her body. It went down from her waist and down the side of her leg before grabbing her thighs.

As my hand slid down the side of her body, I could feel a tremble coming from it.

However, this wasn't a tremble that meant that she was nervous. Rather, it was a tremble that showed that she was excited.

The feeling of grabbing her thighs was something else.

If her breasts were soft pillowy mounds, then her thighs were like elastic balls.

They were soft at first, but once your hand went in far enough, there was a kickback to it.

The more that I grabbed at them, the more that I could feel that resistance. It was a feeling that just couldn't be described with words.

As I was groping...massaging Rose's thighs, she couldn't hold back anymore.

She had managed to hold herself back at first, stifling the moans that she wanted to give. But as the groping...massaging became more and more intense, she wasn't able to hold herself back.

She even wanted to bring a hand to her mouth to stop herself, but she didn't have the strength left to do so.

The only thing that Rose could do was let that moan come out of her mouth as she let her body fall into my hands.

I had wanted to hold back and just tease her a bit, but seeing her like this, I really couldn't hold myself back.

I leaned my head in and started kissing her on the neck.

As I did, her head reeled back and her moaning became even stronger.

The more that I did this, the redder her face became.

The other girls had been silently watching from the side.

At first, it was still fine...but as time passed and Rose's moans became stronger, they all started feeling awkward. It wasn't a bad kind of awkward, it was just that there was this burning sensation that filled them from the inside.

It was inevitable with Rose's sensual moans and her red face.

Even though on the surface, it didn't seem like I was doing anything wrong, it was definitely not that simple.

My hands continued teasing her, but also getting bolder.

The hand that was on her chest started pinching and teasing the two little tips that had risen during the massage. The hand that was on her thigh also started moving further forward, heading towards that place in between her legs.

The more that I teased her, the more that her body reacted.

It was trembling more and more, as if she was about to climax.

However, that would be bad for me since I didn't want to let it end so quickly.

So all of a sudden, my hands stopped.

Rose wasn't able to react in time and by the time that she did react, I had already taken two steps back and had moved away from her.

She was in a daze as she didn't know what to do at first.

I could see that her hands moved a bit before stopping, almost as if she had wanted to keep going on her own, but decided against it.

She looked at me with a look that seemed like she was trying to play it cool, but there was no hiding the look of desire that was in her eyes as she said, "Why did you stop? I don't think the massage is done yet."

I shook my head as I said, "No, it's done. You're already feeling much more relaxed, aren't you?"

Rose was surprised to hear my response, but she gritted her teeth and said, "I don't think it's done yet. I don't feel that relaxed."

I just calmly said with a smile that almost seemed like I was teasing her, "Well, maybe we can circle back later. There are still others that need a massage too."

The moment that my voice fell, the eyes of the others all lit up.

They had been watching the entire time with focused eyes, as if just watching us like this was turning them on as well.

They also wanted to feel those hands on their bodies as well, but they had to defer since it was Rose's turn.

But now it seemed that they would also get their turn.

Seeing them look over at us like this, Rose couldn't really say anything.

The only thing that she could do was grit her teeth and glare at me.

Chapter 576 Appeasing (3)

?I didn't show any fear on my face, but in my heart...

It couldn't help trembling a bit.

I was sure that she would be even angrier after this, but it would be a different kind of anger.

What I was hoping that this anger would develop into was...

Still, since I had made my stance clear, it wasn't as if I could back down now.

So I walked out from behind the couch that Rose was sitting on and started moving towards the other girls.

But before I could move past her, Rose suddenly leaned in and said in a soft voice, "Watch out for tonight. I'll pay you back then."

It was a soft and seductive voice that made my brain tingle when I heard it.

I couldn't help looking at her with a surprised look when I heard this, but she had already gone back to drinking her tea with a casual look on her face. It was almost as if she hadn't even moved to get closer to me.

I just looked at her in a daze for a bit before shaking my head with a faint smile on it.

This was just how she was, or rather the Dark Rose as I called her.

While she was gentle and kind most of the time, there was still that dark side of her that came out from time to time.

I was the one that experienced it the most since it came out the most in our private times. Or more specifically, it came out when we were having our night time fun.

She was someone who was quite aggressive when she needed to be aggressive.

It wasn't off putting at all, it was actually quite hot seeing her take control like that.

Though I did have a few scars to show for it.

I walked past both Cecilia and Haley who were also looking at me with looks of expectation.

They revealed disappointed looks when they saw me walk past them, but they didn't say anything.

Instead, I walked right over to the couch that the princess and Veronica were sitting on.

Both of them looked at each other and gave gulps, but they remained still as they sat there.

However, it was impossible to hide the look of expectation and excitement that they had in their eyes.

I went as slow as I could as I went behind their couch.

Still, they sat there without moving a single muscle. They even had their heads down as if they were afraid to look at me, but that didn't mean that they were running away.

It seemed like they had prepared themselves and steeled their hearts for what I was about to give them.

I went to Veronica first and she jolted a bit when she saw that I was right behind her, but I didn't stay there. When I walked past her, Veronica looked at me with a disappointed look.

I just ignored this as I went up behind the princess.

That was when I reached my hands out in front of me to grab the shoulder of the princess.

The moment that I grabbed her shoulders, I could feel the trembling that came from her.

But I also knew that this wasn't the trembling of someone who was scared, this was the trembling of someone who was excited.

After putting my hand on her shoulders, I leaned in and said, "Then shall we start?"

The princess once again trembled, but she also gave a slight nod.

When I looked closely, I could see that there was a blush that was on her face which made me reveal an evil smile.

That faint blush on that creamy white fair skin, it was like soft cherry blossoms laying atop a bed of fresh snow.

Along with the way that her cherry red lips were slightly pursed as she let out deep breaths, it really was enticing.

I couldn't hold myself back as I reached my head forward and placed a deep kiss on those lips that were letting this panting. As soon as I sealed those lips, the princess' eyes opened wide in surprise before her tongue suddenly stuck through my lips.

It seemed that she was even more aggressive than me as she tried to wrap her tongue around my tongue and sucked on my lips as we kissed.

Finally, she would only let go when we were both running out of breath.

I fell back and she fell forward, but both of us were panting as a result of this.

However, I didn't let things end there.

Since she was being so aggressive, it was only right that I responded in turn.

So I stood up again and reached my hands out in front of her.

Without even disguising it, I grabbed her chest without any hesitation.

Though it wasn't as big as Rose or Cecilia's, it was still quite large. It perfectly fit inside my hand and my fingers sank in the moment that I grabbed her.

"Ah!" The princess suddenly let out a cry when she felt my hands on her chest, but then she quickly closed her mouth and let herself enjoy this feeling.

I didn't stop as I grabbed them softly, kneading them and folding them in different directions.

The more that I did this, the redder her face became until she couldn't stop herself from letting out a moan as well.

With that, I started moving my hand down.

One hand remained on her chest just like with Rose as the other hand went in between her legs unlike with Rose.

I had held back with Rose, but there was no need for me to hold back with her.

But before I could reach the place in between her legs...

There was a little surprise that appeared under me.

Veronica had been watching the whole time, but she couldn't hold herself back anymore.

So she had jumped over the couch and sat down in front of me on her knees, but her legs went to her side.

Her head was right where there was a tent in my pants.

Chapter 577 Appeasing (4)

When I looked down, I could see a dazed look that was on Veronica's face.

It was as if this was her first time seeing something that was this big.

Though if one thought about it, this should have been her first time seeing a dick, period.

Veronica was the young miss of the duke family, if anyone tried to show her something as filthy as this, the duke would have been the first one to castrate them. So of course she had never seen the real thing before, at best she would have only read about it.

But having her stare at my dick like this was quite embarrassing...

So I gave a cough to help her out of her stunned state.

Hearing this cough, Veronica snapped out of her daze. However, she still didn't know what to do at first.

She raised her hands and then put them down, as if she was unsure of what to do with them.

But in the end, she made up her mind.

Veronica brought her hands up to the waistline of my pants and grabbed hold of them, though in her panic, she did grab it a bit too hard. With her strength, she pulled me a bit forward as she grabbed my pants, which made it a bit hard for me to stand.

If I didn't stop myself in time, I might have fallen forward right onto her.

Though by pulling me forward a bit, she did bring the tent in my pants closer to her face.

It came right up to her face and even poked her a bit before she pushed me back to get it away.

I just had an awkward bitter smile on my face the entire time as this happened.

When she finally calmed down, Veronica looked up at me and said, "I'm sorry."

I shook my head with the same bitter smile, but I still said, "It's fine, just take your time."

As I said this, the princess looked up at me with a look as if she was asking, "Why did you stop?"

Seeing this, my hands started moving again, though most of my attention was still on Veronica to see what she would do next.

Luckily, she seemed like she knew what she was doing.

As a young girl, Veronica had naturally been curious about this kind of thing and had done some reading on her own.

So drawing on the research material that she had read before, she slowly pulled my pants down.

When Veronica did this, she found that it was hard to pull it down after a certain point. After pulling it a bit, she found that there was something that the pants were stuck to that stopped her from pulling any further.

But Veronica didn't know just what it was that got caught, so she just chose to use brute force.

As she did, I could feel her bending my thing downwards.

It was painful, but what could I do?

I just had to wait for it to be over.

However, as she did this, there was tension that built up from it being pulled down like this by the pants. The more that she pulled, the more tension was built up until it was suddenly released.

Before Veronica could react, there was something that snapped out of my pants.

It came right up at her face since she had placed herself in front of me. At the same time, because it had been slightly bent to the side, it came at her at an angle.

My dick flew out of my pants once it was freed of the tension of the waistline and slapped Veronica across the face.

There was only silence that followed after the resounding slapping sound of my dick hitting Veronica in the face rang out.

Her eyes were opened wide as she stared at the thing that was in front of her face in shock.

This was her first time seeing a dick close up, not to mention getting slapped in the face with one. This was just too much happening at once that she didn't even know how to react.

But eventually, there was a blush that came over her face, as well as a strange fascinated look as she kept looking at the dick in front of her.

The way that she just stared at my dick like this, I really didn't know what to do.

I found that it wasn't just Veronica alone who was staring at me like this.

Since I had stopped massaging her, the princess had also turned around to see what was happening and she was stunned when she saw what was hanging out right behind her head.

At the same time, Moon and Elsa were also staring in my direction.

It was Moon's first time, but it definitely wasn't Elsa's first time since she had already been married once.

But after a moment of silence, they all said the same thing, "It's so big..."

Indeed, this was the one thing that they could agree on.

They had all heard about or seen other dicks before, but they had never heard of a monster as big as this before.

They couldn't help wondering if it would even fit inside of them...

But the most important thing was that they were wondering how it would feel to have this thing inside of them.

When they all stared at me like this, I couldn't help feeling very awkward.

It was almost as if I was some kind of display that was being put on show for them.

This kind of feeling really felt strange.

When Rose saw the way that the room became, she gave a sigh before standing up and walking over to where Veronica was currently sitting on the ground.

She came down and sat beside Veronica to her surprise and then took Veronica's head before pushing it forward. As she pushed Veronica's head forward, she said, "Now, there's no need to fear. This is how you do it."

Chapter 578 Appeasing (5)

Veronica's eyes opened wide as she looked back at Rose with a shocked look at first.

But seeing the way that Rose looked at her, she gave a slight nod and let Rose guide her forward.

On the other hand, I was completely shocked and confused seeing Rose act this way.

I never thought that Rose would do something like this...

In the end, Rose brought Veronica's face right up in front of my dick before saying with a faint smile, "You have to open your mouth if you want to do this."

Veronica had been in a daze as her head was brought closer.

The look in her eyes almost seemed like she was mesmerized by the thing that was right in front of her.

However, when Rose said this, she just said "oh" before opening her mouth.

It didn't seem like she was going to do anything on her own and was just waiting for Rose to give her instructions.

Rose shook her head again with a faint smile before pushing Veronica's head forward once more.

When she opened her mouth and came closer, I started to feel Veronica's breath fall onto my dick.

This was her first time doing something like this and it was clear that she was excited with how hard she was panting. Since she was panting like this, I could feel her hot breath falling on my dick with each breath she gave.

This was a strange feeling, but I couldn't say that it was a bad one...

Finally, Rose pushed her open mouth right over my dick.

The only problem was...it was too small.

Veronica had tried to open her mouth as much as she could when she saw the size of the thing that would be entering it, but even then...it was still too small to fit the entire thing in.

She was only able to get a bit of the tip in her mouth before she suddenly felt like she was being choked.

There was a part of her that wanted to move away, but she found that Rose's hand was holding her there firmly. She couldn't break free even if she wanted to, so her mouth was just stuffed with this dick.

It slowly became harder for Veronica to breathe and there was a part of her that started to panic.

But there was also a part of her that enjoyed this feeling.

She already enjoyed the smell of the dick that was in front of her, though she didn't enjoy it at first. Still, she was able to come to enjoy it after experiencing it for a bit.

So there was a struggle that was happening inside of her as she was trying to decide whether to move back or not.

In the end though, survival came first.

She was choking, so she had no choice but to move back or she would have died from choking on his dick.

This time, Rose didn't hold Veronica in place since she knew that she was about to faint from a lack of oxygen. So she let go of Veronica's head and Veronica was able to move away.

The moment that she did, there was a bunch of slobber that came out of her mouth and down her chin.

Her mouth had been completely filled with this dick, so she hadn't been able to do a single thing about her drool. The moment that she was released, it all dripped down her chin and onto her throat.

At the same time, her tears were just too much for her that she had to close one of her eyes.

When I saw her like this, I couldn't help thinking of the research materials that I had watched back on Earth.

The ones where they got deepthroated and then they turned into a mess after choking.

This plus everything that she did was just too much for me that I couldn't help saying, "Ah, I'm cumming."

As soon as I said this, my dick trembled before squirting onto Veronica's face.

As I did this, Rose also said, "Quickly, stick out your hands."

Veronica had no idea what was happening and didn't know how to react, so the only thing that she could do was to stick out her hands like Rose had said.

When she did, my cum fell from her face and gathered in her hands as a pool.

Veronica looked down at the liquid that was in her hands.

The first thing that hit her was the smell of this liquid.

This was just like the smell of the dick that had been in her mouth a moment ago and it was a smell that she couldn't help coming to enjoy.

So there was a part of her that wondered...what did it taste like?

Rose was about to say something, but before she could, Veronica was already drinking the liquid in her hand.

Rose was surprised since she never thought that Veronica would be this proactive, but she closed her mouth as she revealed a faint smile.

When she finished drinking it, Veronica couldn't help opening her mouth as if she wanted to show that she had finished drinking it. Then she asked in a soft voice, "Can I have more?"

Seeing her like this really was something else.

In a matter of seconds, my dick became hard again and I even thought about taking her then and there.

But before that could happen, the princess suddenly said, "Don't leave me out of this, I want a turn too!"

After that, she jumped over the sofa and wanted to get down on her knees as well in front of me.

However, before any of that could happen, Rose suddenly stood up and grabbed me to say, "No, it's my turn to punish him now. You're free to join us if you want, but I don't think you will."

After saying this, she pulled me towards our bedroom. At the same time, she waved for Cecilia and Haley to follow, which they did immediately.

The other four just stood there staring at each other in blank dismay...

Chapter 579 To War

Two weeks later, we had gathered everything and were preparing to set off.

The fourth prince's message had come a week ago and it had told us where to go to gather with the army that he was leaving us.

After a week of preparations, we were now heading out.

The ones that came with me were Cecilia and Veronica.

Cecilia was a natural choice since she was the commander of our forces. Veronica was a surprise, but she came with the group of guards that the duke had given her.

There were two others that had wanted to come, but circumstances kept them from coming.

Moon came from the elves and Elsa came from the dwarves. The moment that they appeared on the frontlines, a bigger problem would happen.

When that time came, it would be much more disastrous than just a few kingdoms declaring war on our kingdom.

If the kingdoms thought that the dwarves and the elves were backing us, there was no doubt that they would bring in other kingdoms against us. The threat of the elves and dwarves working together with humans was just too great that they wouldn't be able to ignore it.

Other than that, there was also Shaka and his men who came with us as a scouting team.

Shaka had been quiet this time, so I had forgotten about him, but it turned out that he had been on a secret mission to scout out the other kingdoms which was why he hadn't been in my territory the entire time.

Shadow Garden was an organization that was responsible for controlling intelligence in the kingdom. Now that a war was on our doorstep, it was naturally their responsibility to dig up all the necessary information.

So Shaka had been infiltrating one of the kingdoms until he was called back by the fourth prince to follow me.

I wanted to apologize to him for this, but he said, "It's been a long time since I've been on the battlefield, but these old bones do ache for it sometimes. Digging up information is fine, but it just isn't the same as being on the battlefield."

Though I had interrupted his mission, he didn't seem angry.

In fact, it almost seemed like he was excited to be on the battlefield again.

This was something that I couldn't understand since I wasn't a warrior like him.

It also wasn't something that Cecilia could understand either.

Though Cecilia was a knight, she had never been to war like Shaka had.

It had been a long time since our kingdom had been at war, so most of her service had been spent guarding territory instead of being on the frontlines. The few times that she had been on the frontlines was when she fought in a few skirmishes.

Rose's father, the count had territory that was near the border, so he often had to send his knights to intercept smaller attacks.

That was Cecilia's only experience with fighting the other kingdoms.

So going to war for the first time, she was actually quite nervous.

Shaka had tried to calm her down, but it didn't work since she just didn't know what to expect.

The unknown was the most terrifying and there was nothing more terrifying than war where death lay waiting at every corner.

I would have to think of something to calm her down later when we went into battle or else it would be bad for my troops if they went into battle with a nervous commander.

A single moment of hesitation could be what decided life and death after all.

When we left the town, Rose had prepared a large parade to send us off.

I knew that this parade wasn't just for me, but rather for all the men and women who would be following me to war.

They needed to be reminded of what they were fighting for, so they would be able to be at their peak.

People were at their strongest when there was something to protect after all.

So showing them the people that they needed to protect before setting off was the best way of reminding them of this. After seeing their friends and family, they would be filled with morale to protect what they wanted to protect.

I knew that, so I didn't hesitate to go all out supporting Rose's plan.

I let the men and women of the army go interact with the people that had come to see them off.

I knew that doing this would allow them to understand even better about what they were to protect.

Though a part of me was just happy to see them like this.

I also made sure to say farewell to Rose and the others that were being left behind in the town.

As we left, Rose gave me an extra long hug that inspired me to do even more than I was already preparing to do.

I would do all that I could to keep what I currently have.

After the parade was over, everyone had serious looks on their faces as we headed off from the town.

Seeing this, I turned to Cecilia to say, "They're ready. Are you?"

Cecilia looked back at me with a firm look and just simply gave a nod.

With that, we headed off to the rendezvous point.

This place wasn't that far from my town, so we were able to reach it in just a few days.

This was a place that was actually quite far from the border, but this was where the army of the fourth prince had been stationed. They were waiting for us to arrive before heading to the battlefield.

When we arrived, I was immediately brought to the main tent where the former general of this army was waiting.

This former general had been turned into the vice general that would support me in commanding this army since I had no formal training for this.

When I walked in the tent, I could feel the tension in the air.

It was so thick that one could cut it with a knife.

Chapter 580 An Army Of Familiar Faces

I walked into a tent that was filled with people who were waiting for me.

Judging by their outfits, it was clear that they were high ranking officers of this army.

The one that was standing in the middle of this group was wearing the uniform of a general. With the way that everyone stood around him, it was clear that this person was the former general of this army and my new vice general.

He stared at me when I came in and the look in his eyes...was anything but kind.

It even seemed hostile as he looked at me, as if he was trying to figure out just how I had been appointed in his position.

But I didn't mind this as I walked towards my new vice general.

After coming up in front of them, I pulled out a piece of paper and said, "As appointed by his fourth highness, I am the new general that will take over command of this army."

The vice general looked at me with narrowed eyes before taking the piece of paper from my hand.

He looked at the piece of paper for a bit before slowly giving a nod and handing this piece of paper back to me. After handing it back, he said, "I understand and have received the orders of his fourth highness."

Though he said this, it was very clear just how unwilling he was to accept this matter.

In the end though he still backed down and offered the main seat in this tent to me.

I didn't hesitate to go over and sit down in that main seat.

But as soon as I did, the scrutiny that I received from everyone became even stronger.

Since I was sitting right there in the center, I was receiving attention from everyone who was in this tent.

It was clear that they didn't have a good impression of me.

I could even hear some whispers...

"Isn't he just a kid? How did he become the general?"

"How else? Isn't it just because of connections?"

"Right, I've never heard of a commander like him before. Other than using connections, how could he have become the general of our army like this?"

Age seemed to be the biggest issue for them.

The second biggest issue was the lack of fame on my part.

I had never been a part of the military, so it wasn't strange that they had never heard of me before.

Since they had never heard of me before, it would be hard for them to trust their lives to me. There was nothing that would back them trusting me with their lives, so they wouldn't do that.

It seemed like there were many of them that were just waiting for me to say something so they could complain.

But as I looked around, I was surprised to see that there were quite a few familiar faces around me.

It was strange that I recognized these faces that should have been unfamiliar to me, or at least that was what someone who didn't know about the real me would think.

I had seen these faces in the game and that was because they were the army of the fourth prince.

When the noble plot line reached its end, the fourth prince made his move with a coup.

This army was one of the armies that had been moved by the fourth prince.

So the officers of this army were faces that I recognized as special enemies in the game.

I had fought these officers before, so I knew their strengths and weaknesses.

If I even narrowed my eyes, it felt like their status screens would pop out at any moment, showing me all of their abilities.

It almost made me want to smile, but I made sure to keep my face calm in front of them.

With the information that I had about these officers, it made it even easier for me to use them.

I looked at the vice general who was sitting beside me, looking at me with the same look of scrutiny.

When he saw me look at him, the vice general didn't even bother hiding the fact that he was looking at me with this look of scrutiny.

It was clear that they all wanted to chase me away with this hostility, but they didn't know that I knew something that they didn't think anyone would know.

The game didn't just give one method of defeating enemies.

The game that this world was based on was very complex and gave many different ways to defeat an enemy.

Such as learning their background and using it against them.

In short, blackmail.

This was information that was supposed to be found out using different subordinates or different methods, but I already had this information since I had played the game countless times.

With this information, it should be easy for me to get this army under my control.

So I suddenly revealed a smile as I looked at the vice general.

The vice general immediately revealed a strange look when he saw this smile.

The confused look that he had made it clear that he didn't understand why I was smiling, but he didn't back down in the end.

I didn't bother with him anymore and turned to look at everyone to say, "I'm sure that all of you know by now that I'm the new general of this army. We have never met before and I have never served in the military before, so I hope that all of you will give me your guidance."

As expected, there were looks of hostility that appeared the moment that I said this.

If there were any allies that I had previously, they were completely gone now.

I had admitted that I had no experience and that I had become the general right away.

That was the same as saying that I had gotten this position through connections.

There was no way that they would trust me after that.

But I wasn't worried as I looked at them with a smile on my face.