

Shota's Isekai NTR Adventure #Chapter 861 Spread open

- Read Shota's Isekai NTR Adventure Chapter 861

Spread open

861 Spread open

Since they were a couple, that meant that it was easier for me to do what I was planning to do.

Since they were a couple, it would make what I was planning to do even more effective.

Though there was a part of me that was hesitant to do this...

But in the end, I made up my mind and decided to follow through since I had already come to a decision.

As such, I looked at the female dark elf and said, "I'll apologize in advance for what is about to happen."

The female dark elf couldn't help reacting when she heard this.

There was a very confused and surprised look that appeared on her face as she couldn't understand what I meant by this. But at the same time, it was as if she could tell that something strange was about to happen, so there was a trace of fear that filled her heart.

I looked at the two elite guards that were holding her and said, "Bring her in front of everyone."

The two of them were confused as well, but they listened to what I had to say and brought her right up in front of me. Then they turned that female dark elf to face the rest of the dark elves.

The other dark elves still had calm looks on their faces, but there was no hiding the slight trembling coming from the male dark elf.

It was clear that he was worried about the female dark elf.

I just calmly looked at her and asked, "What is your name?"

She didn't say anything as she narrowed her eyes to look at me before closing her eyes and turning her head away, as if she was saying that there was nothing that she had to say to me.

I gave a shrug before saying, "I said that I gave you a chance. You can't blame me for what is about to happen."

I gave a nod to the elite guards holding her and said, "Make her stand and take off her cloak."

They were still confused, but they listened to what I had to say.

The moment that the cloak came off the female dark elf, I couldn't help being surprised by what I saw.

"Was she that kind of girl?"

That was the only thing that I could think to myself.

After all...the clothes that she was wearing could only be described as skimpy.

It was a crop top and skinny shorts, small enough that it barely hid her skin. It almost seemed like she was showing off with these clothes that she was wearing.

Though...it didn't seem like there was much to show off with how flat she was...

I only stared for a few seconds before shaking that thought out of my mind and focused on the main thing.

The female dark elf didn't even try to cover herself up after her cloak was stripped from her. It didn't seem like she had any shame in showing off her body like this, even if there wasn't much to show.

The other dark elves didn't seem to be worried about this either.

I suddenly remembered something when I saw them like this.

This was just how the dark elves were.

This was also in the game.

The dark elves dressed like this because they believed that this would allow them to become one with the wind. They took to worshipping a god of wind instead of the god of nature like the elves did.

Which was why they dressed like this in the game.

Though I knew that it was just the choice of the game designers since they wanted to make the dark elves look sexier.

Since that was the case, it seemed like this threat alone wouldn't be enough.

I had been planning on waiting a bit to let this sink in for the elves, but it seemed like this wasn't considered a threat yet.

So the only thing that I could do was keep asking, "Once again, I'll ask what is your name?"

The female dark elf kept her eyes closed and her head turned away from me, as if she was refusing to acknowledge me.

Once again, I didn't care about the way that she responded and just gave a nod to the elite guards before saying, "Take off her top."

This time, they didn't act right away.

This time, they were completely shocked since they didn't expect me to say something like this.

At the same time, the female dark elf finally reacted.

She looked at me in shock as if she couldn't understand the words that just came out of my mouth. It was as if she couldn't believe what her ears had just heard.

If she hadn't been held down, she might have wanted to touch her ears to make sure they were still working.

When the elite guards saw the serious look that was on my face, they finally acted.

In one swift move, they pulled the crop top off her chest and revealed her breasts.

To my surprise, the first thing that I noticed was...

Contrary to her dark skin, her nipples were quite light.

They were a pair of white nipples that contrasted the dark skin that she had.

"Ah!" The female dark elf screamed a moment after her top was ripped off when she finally reacted.

She wanted to cover herself, but the elite guards were holding her hands tightly and didn't allow her to do anything.

As for the male dark elf, he tried to fight against the elite guards as he screamed, "What are you doing to her?"

I just gave a simple snap when I came back to my senses and said, "Cover his mouth."

Once the male dark elf had been silenced, I looked at her and said, "What is your name?"

Only this time, my voice was completely cold.

Her tears were coming out as she begged, "Please don't do this. Please let me go."

"Wrong answer." I said with a sigh before saying to the guards, "Lift her up and take off the bottom. Then spread her legs open for everyone to see."

Level 20 wizards are fire ball machines.

Please send power stones and give reviews to show your support!

Come check out my stream for sneak peeks:

862 They are the enemies

The elite guards didn't act when they heard this.

There was no one that acted when they heard this.

All of them just looked at me with shocked looks on their faces, but I didn't seem to react to any of that.

I just narrowed my eyes to look at the two elite guards holding the female dark elf, waiting for them to obey my order. The two of them could see the way that I was looking at them, which put pressure on them.

Eventually, they came back to their senses and followed my orders.

The female dark elf was trembling with fear when she felt the two of them starting to lift her up.

She did her best to struggle while begging for mercy, but the two of them didn't listen to her at all.

That was just how well trained they were that they could follow orders even though it was clear by the looks on their faces that they didn't want to follow these orders. It was clear by the looks on their faces that they were disdainful of these orders.

But they did it in the end and lifted the female dark elf right in front of everyone.

However, since they were holding her up like this, it wasn't as if they could rip her bottoms off.

They should have done it before they lifted her up, but they had wanted to get this over as soon as possible, which was why they lifted her up right away and opened up her legs for all of the other dark elves to see.

They just awkwardly held her up as they thought about how they would rip off the bottoms that she was wearing.

I was the one that gave them an answer in the end as I came forward and ripped it off myself.

There was no need for me to do this, but I took this as a demonstration of my resolve.

It was a way to show that I was committed to this and would see this plan through to the end.

As such, I pulled off the shorts that she was wearing and revealed her inner parts to all of the other dark elves.

But I found that when I did this, all of the other dark elves had turned away. It was as if they couldn't bear to see one of their own being treated like this, so they were taking the initiative to look away.

Even if I was doing this, I couldn't force them to watch.

Or at least I hadn't forced them to watch before this, but now...

I gave a nod to the elite guards holding the dark elves and said, "Make them watch this."

All of them slightly knitted their brows the moment that they heard this, but in the end...they still followed orders.

It was only because of their military discipline that made them follow this order that they clearly didn't want to follow.

By the end of it, all of the dark elves were forced to look forward and some even had their eyes peeled open by other elite guards.

All of them looked at the female dark elf who was being held up with looks of pity and they looked at me with looks of rage and indignity.

The male dark elf who was the lover of this female dark elf looked at me as if he wanted to rip me to pieces if he could move. However, he was being completely restrained by four different elite guards, one of whom was forcing his eyes open.

With how bloodshot they were, it seemed like he was about to cry tears of blood at any moment.

During all of this, the female dark elf had been begging me to stop with tears streaming down her face.

No matter how one looked at it, this seemed like an inhumane scene, but I didn't feel a single thing.

I had already compartmentalized them as the enemy in my brain, so I didn't feel anything seeing her like this.

I heard that this was how soldiers in my past life treated their enemies or some other psychological explanation like that...but I never really paid attention to that.

I just coldly stared at her and let her wallow in the shame of all of this for a few minutes before finally saying, "What is your name?"

The female dark elf had a look of shock on her face while her tears were still streaming down when she heard this. The way that she looked at me was as if she didn't believe that I was being serious...

So I raised my hand.

The moment that I raised my hand, she suddenly said, "Rhycu, my name is Rhycu."

The way that she said this showed that she was afraid of me.

The way that she said this showed that she was desperate for all of this to stop.

This made a smile appear on my face.

Though it was a smile, in the eyes of this female dark elf named Rhycu, it seemed like the smile of a devil. The moment that she saw this, she felt another chill run down her spine and she couldn't help trembling even more.

It wasn't just her, the rest of the dark elves also started trembling the moment that they saw this smile.

It was all of them who thought that this smile looked like the smile of a devil.

I didn't care as I just calmly said, "See, it wasn't that hard. If you just answered my questions from the beginning, this wouldn't be happening to you."

There was another tremble that went through Rhycu's body when she heard this, but there was also a trace of hope in her eyes. The hope that something was about to happen to get her out of this situation.

It was just too bad that this hope never existed in the first place.

"Now, the next question." I said this with the same smile on my face.

I'm not even close to the Dawntrail content.

863 What are these things?

The moment that they heard this, all of the dark elves looked like they had fallen into an abyss.

They had held the hope that things would end like this, but the moment that this question was asked, it was clear that this matter wouldn't end that simply.

It seemed that there were still plenty of questions left...

It was now a matter of if they could answer these questions or not...

The most important thing was for Rhycu, the female dark elf who was being tortured, if she could answer the questions or not...

After all, he opened with this, there was no imagining just what this human would do if he continued this torture.

After giving them a moment to let this sink in, I asked, "What are you doing here?"

Rhycu had a very ugly look on her face the moment that she heard this.

She bit her lips, deeply knitted her brows, and tears came out of her eyes, but she didn't say a thing.

It wasn't that she didn't want to talk, but almost as if there was something that was restricting her which didn't allow her to talk. After all, if it wasn't for something restricting her, would she have bit her lips until they bled?

But even if that was the case, it wasn't as if I would show them any mercy.

Whether it was because they wanted to or not, they were the ones that had invaded our country and placed these dangerous things that would cause danger to our people.

As such, there was no way that we would be able to show them mercy.

There was a long silence as Rhycu didn't say a single thing.

The other dark elves also bit their lips, though they didn't bite them as much as she did.

As for the male dark elf on the ground, he still had his eyes wide open and bloodshot, as if he wanted to rip everyone apart.

Seeing that she didn't say a thing, I gave a nod before walking over to the male dark elf's side.

When he saw me come over, there was a part of him that looked like he wanted to struggle with all his might to break free. There was a part of him that seemed like he wanted to break free of the binding of the elite guards around him and grab me to hold me hostage.

Of course, how could the elite guards allow him to do that?

So they pushed him firmly into the ground, only letting his head move so that he could look up.

Once I came over to his side, I leaned down and said to Rhycu, "I'm sorry, I'm sure that my questions were a bit too sudden. How about this? What is your lover's name?"

Rhycu looked at me with a shocked look as if she didn't expect this.

Even the male dark elf who was on the ground was completely caught off guard by this as he never thought that this would be the question that came out of my mouth.

I didn't say anything as I just looked at Rhycu's face, waiting for her to answer.

After a short silence, she said in a soft voice, "Vulme."

I brought a hand to my ear and asked, "What was that? I didn't hear you clearly."

Her eyes trembled when she heard this before she said in a louder voice, "Vulme."

I gave a nod to show that I heard this before turning back to the male dark elf named Vulme on the ground. Looking at him with a smile, I patted him on the shoulder before turning back to look at Rhycu.

With that smile on my face, I asked, "You wouldn't to hurt Vulme here, right?"

This time, it was both Vulme and Rhycu who trembled when they heard this.

They could hear the chill that was in my voice when I said this.

But there was nothing that either of them could say in response to this...

Rhycu looked like she was about to cry again after a while, but she still said, "Please don't hurt him..."

But when she said this, Vulme said, "Don't worry about me, they can't break me."

Though he said this, there was a slight tremble in his voice.

It was clear that he was afraid of whatever was about to come his way, he was just acting tough to assure her.

I patted his shoulder with a smile before saying, "Oh don't worry, we won't hurt you physically."

There was a strange look that appeared on Vulme's face when he heard this.

It was almost as if he could hear the strange tone that I had said this with.

But I didn't care about his reaction as I turned to the other elite guards that were just standing around.

They had been standing there on guard just in case the dark elves did anything, but I needed them for something.

After a nod, I said to them, "Take out the weapons that I gave you before."

They were all surprised to hear me say this, but they still did what I told them to do.

When they brought out the weapons, they looked at them with strange looks on their faces.

After all, they had been told that these weapons weren't normal weapons and they could see that.

These were strange looking weapons that had a purple tint to them.

The moment that these came out, the only one that recognized them was Cecilia since she knew what I had done with these things before. However, I had only ever used these things on men before...

Rhycu was a bit confused at first when she saw these things, but then she slowly began to recognize what the tip of these things looked like...

When she did, her mouth dropped and she asked, "What are these things?"

I didn't answer this question as I looked down at Vulme to say, "I'll only cause you mental pain if you don't answer my questions."

The MSQ really is a grind...

864 Teasing

The look on Vulme's face changed slower than the expression on Rhycu's face, but he eventually recognized what these things were.

The weapons that I had given the elite guards were dildo bats.

The key thing was that these were 'dildo' bats, which meant that other than being used as a weapon, they could serve another function.

This was the way that I was choosing to torture Rhycu.

The elite guards were all confused seeing the reaction the Vulme and Rhycu had at first, but then they also started to understand what was happening.

They could tell from the shape of these dildo bats what they were shaped after and then they looked at me with strange looks. There was a clear tone of judgement that was in their eyes as they looked at me, but I just ignored them.

Rather, I wasn't even bothered by this since I wasn't the one that made these things.

If they wanted to blame someone, they could blame my system for making these things.

That is if they could even speak to my system.

Ignoring the looks that they gave me, I looked at Rhycu and said, "Well, I'll give you one more chance before we get started." My eyes and voice turned cold as I asked, "What are you here for?"

She once again bit her lips until they were bleeding and she didn't say a thing in the end.

There were several times that she opened her mouth, but she quickly closed it as if there was something that forced her mouth closed. It was as if there was something that wouldn't allow her to speak no matter how hard she tried.

I shook my head and gave a sigh seeing this.

I'm sure that she had her own circumstances, but that didn't matter to me since I only wanted answers.

If she wasn't willing to give them to me, then my hands were tied.

I had to go through with this torture or else my pressure would fall. They would look down on me and think that I was all bark without any bite.

That would make it impossible to squeeze any information out of them in the end.

So I had to do this.

I could see that the elite guards holding the dildo bats were hesitating.

They knew what they were supposed to do now that Rhycu had refused to talk, but it was hard for them to do it.

Even with all the experience that they had, it wasn't something that they had done before.

So there was no way that they would be able to do something like this that easily.

Luckily for them, I was willing to do this for them.

Since I was the one that chose to use this method, I should be the one to take the plunge.

I reached out for the dildo bat of one of the elite guards and walked towards Rhycu after taking it from him. That elite guard wanted to follow me over, but I just raised my hand and stopped him.

I was the only one that came up to Rhycu in the end.

She was looking at me with tears in her eyes the entire time as she said, "Don't do this, please don't do this. I'll give you whatever you want, just don't do this."

When I stood there in front of her, I said, "I've already asked you the question that I want the answer for and you still haven't answered. You can't blame me for doing this."

Without waiting for an answer from her, I brought the dildo bat that I was holding down so that it was pointing at her.

Or specifically, it was pointing right in between her legs, at her opened inner parts.

She was trembling at this point as she said, "No, no, I swear I'll answer any other question. Just give me another chance."

But once again, her words fell onto deaf ears as I took a single step closer, bringing the dildo bat forward towards her inner parts.

At this point, Rhycu could almost feel it from her bottom half.

That was just how close it was to her.

And because of that, there were more tears and more begging that came from her.

Finally, she said, "We can't talk, we signed a contract! As long as we have this contract sealing us, not a single one of us is able to say a thing!"

I stopped when I heard this, which seemed to give her a bit of hope when she saw this, but it wasn't as if I would be satisfied with just this.

I coldly looked down at Rhycu and said, "That's your problem, not mine. Figure out how to break that contract and tell me what I want to know, or else you know what will happen."

Her expression immediately collapsed when she heard this.

There was nothing that she could do at this point...she could only go back to begging, but I was completely immune to it.

Even though there was one piece of important information gained, that didn't mean that I was satisfied. After all, this was something that I had already guessed and it was just her confirming it.

It wasn't the main point that I wanted to find out, which was why I wasn't satisfied with just this.

Since she wasn't saying anything else important, I took that final step.

The dildo bat had reached her entrance, but I didn't push it into her just yet.

After all, I knew that there was nothing worse than suspense that came from something that one didn't want to happen. Instead, I knew that it would be better to...

I brought the dildo bat so that the tip of it was just touching her clit.

The moment that it made contact, there was a yelp that came from Rhycu before her entire body trembled.

That was just from the tip of the dildo bat touching her clit.

If I visit Texas, I'll assume it's like Red Dead.

Chapter 865 Breaking the contract

I didn't move my hand even though she had yelped like this.

I just waited to see how she would react.

There was this strange look that was on Rhycu's face after I put the dildo bat on her clit.

There was the same unwillingness as before, but her face had turned a bit red.

It was almost as if...there was a part of her that wanted this.

Well, it wasn't that she wanted this, it was just that her body was reacting even if she didn't want it to react like this.

That was why there were also traces of shame that were in her eyes.

Even then, I didn't move as I just left the dildo bat on her clit, though it did shake from time to time since just keeping it there wouldn't have an effect. So I did move my hand a bit from time to time...it wasn't just that the dildo bat was heavy and it was hard for me to hold still.

As time passed, the blush that was on Rhycu's face grew darker and her breathing became more ragged.

It was clear that she was being affected by the teasing from the dildo bat.

It seemed like there was more and more weakness that was coming through onto her face...

It seemed like she was slowly getting closer and closer to breaking.

When Vulme saw this, it was as if there was something tearing apart his heart.

He could feel the numbness filling him as if he had been plunged into a bath of ice.

His mouth was dry and his breathing was ragged.

His eyes were opened wide even though he didn't want to see this.

It felt like there wasn't a single thing that he could do in the world, it felt like he was completely powerless.

It didn't even feel like he was a man as he watched Rhycu being tortured like this.

When he slowly came back to his senses, Vulme bit his lips so hard that they started to bleed as he said, "Stop, don't do anything to her. Just do whatever you want with me, don't do anything to her."

However, his words fell onto deaf ears.

There was no response that followed after he said this.

The only thing that Vulme could do after that was try to break free of his captors, but that didn't turn out well. The elite guards were chosen for their abilities, so not a single one of them was weaker than Vulme.

All that resulted in was pointless struggle on his part.

Seeing that he still hadn't been broken completely yet, I knew that there was no point in stalling any longer. After all, I could see just how red Rhycu's face was and there was nothing more that I could do to her.

In that case, I brought the dildo bat away from Rhycu's clit.

There was a trace of disappointment that appeared on her face when that happened, but then she had a look of relief as if she had come close to losing her mind. It was as if she had stopped herself from falling at the last second.

But that look of relief didn't last long as she saw what I was doing with the dildo bat.

I brought it down so that it was no longer just pointed at her clit, but rather it was ready to penetrate her.

That look of relief was quickly replaced with a look of despair and fear.

Part of it was because...well, this thing was just too big and she wasn't that big of a girl, so she was afraid that it wouldn't even fit if it was pushed inside of her.

The other part was naturally the fact that this was happening in front of her lover.

Seeing this, Vulme said, "No, don't! I'll do it, I'll tell you!"

I stopped my hand when I heard this and looked down at Vulme on the ground.

There was a twisted look on his face, as if he wanted to rip me apart as he looked at me, but that stopped quickly. He immediately made that expression disappear when I moved the dildo bat in my hand slightly forward.

Taking a deep breath, as if gathering himself, Vulme said, "We were here to..."

Before he could finish saying what he wanted to say, there was a sudden tremble that came from his body.

At the same time, there was this dark energy that appeared around him.

The moment that this dark energy appeared, there was a dark tint that appeared on Vulme's skin.

This was different from the dark tint that it already had, this tint was completely black and it looked like it was corrupting him. At the same time, one could see that Vulme's face had twisted in pain.

It was as if whatever had happened was incredibly painful for him.

It was easy to guess that this was most likely the contract that they had mentioned before. That was why it had appeared the moment that Vulme tried to tell me what they were here to do.

The dark energy of the contract had activated to stop him from saying anything else.

After the dark energy ate away at Vulme for a bit longer, it suddenly disappeared without a trace.

The elite guards had let go of him when they saw the dark energy appear around him, but they quickly went forward to restrain him once again when they saw the dark energy disappear.

However, the reaction from Vulme wasn't over yet.

Before they could grab him, Vulme suddenly grabbed his chest as if he was filled with pain before spitting out a mouthful of blood.

This blood was different from the blood that came from his lips before, this blood was completely black as if it had been corrupted by some kind of dark energy.

After spitting out this blood, Vulme fell to the ground with his eyes closed and he didn't move a single inch.

Chapter 866: Consequences of your own actions

There was only silence that lingered in the air as everyone looked down at Vulme who was on the ground.

The only ones that moved were the elite guards who held him before.

They didn't know what he was capable of or what he would do, so they had to at least hold him again.

It was their job in the first place and they had let him go when that dark energy appeared.

But once that dark energy disappeared, they made sure to hold him so that he wouldn't be able to do anything.

However, there was just no reaction from him.

The one that broke the silence in the end was Rhycu who screamed, "Vulme!"

The moment that she screamed this, all of us slowly came back to our senses while waiting to see what his reaction would be. It was just that Vulme didn't seem to react at all as he was completely unconscious.

It might have even seemed like he was dead...

So I asked, "Is he dead or alive?"

Two of the elite guards who were free moved over and checked his pulse.

When they did, they couldn't help slightly knitting their brows.

Neither of them said anything as they checked Vulme's condition. From time to time, they looked at each other and shook their heads, as if they were uncertain about something.

Seeing that they wouldn't say anything, I asked, "What's the matter?"

The two of them looked at each other with strange looks as if they didn't know what to say, but eventually one of them said, "He's not dead, but there is a strange energy flowing inside of him. It almost seems like it's corrupting him with the way that it's flowing inside of him."

I raised a brow as I looked at Vulme who was being held down.

A strange energy?

Even when I went through the memories of the game that I had, I couldn't think of a single item that would do something like this.

There was nothing in the lore either that seemed to have a similar effect.

Did the demons have a magic that was like this?

I couldn't think of a single thing that seemed like it was related to this...

Still, regardless of if it was related or not, it didn't matter to me.

There was only one thing that I had to think about right now.

I looked at the two elite guards and said, "Wake him up."

They were surprised to hear this and a bit confused about how to do it, but they eventually woke Vulme up by throwing water in his face.

The look on his face wasn't good, showing that he had been injured by what happened just now. However, the first person that he looked at when he woke up was Rhycu who was still being held in position.

There was a trace of relief when he saw that nothing had happened to her yet, but then that look of relief quickly disappeared as he could see that she was still in danger.

As such, his gaze turned to look at me.

I had been standing there the whole time waiting for him to wake up and now that he was awake, I said, "It seems like there really is a contract forbidding you from talking about this."

There was a trace of hope that appeared on Vulme's face when he heard this before he quickly said, "That's right, it's a powerful contract that forbids us from saying anything. As long as you let us go, I promise that I'll work with you to dispel this contract and then tell you every..."

I had been deliberately waiting for this since I knew that this was the best way to make him feel despair.

As soon as he reached this point in his words, I said to him with a cold look on my face, "But that doesn't matter to me. You're the ones that chose to accept this contract and invade our land, so it's the consequences of your own actions."

I turned back to Rhycu and moved my hand forward as I said, "If you can't figure out a way to break the contract, you can only blame yourself for accepting it in the first place."

Vulme's chin dropped the moment that he heard this.

But he didn't dare hesitate since he knew what was about to happen.

He quickly said, "Wait, I'll form another contract with you! I'll even sell you my soul! Just don't hurt her!"

Once again, his words fell onto deaf ears as I moved my hand forward.

"Ah!"

That was the answer that Vulme received.

The moment that he heard this answer, it was like his heart had dropped into a world of ice and his entire body went numb. It was so numb that it didn't even feel like his body anymore...

"No! Please don't go any deeper!"

Or at least that was what he thought until he heard this...

It was like each word was cutting deep into his heart and ripping him to pieces.

However, none of that mattered to me as I pushed the dildo bat into Rhycu.

It was only the tip at first, but then I pushed it deeper and deeper until it wouldn't go any further into her.

I could see that there was blood that came out of her as I pushed the dildo bat in, showing that she had been a virgin before this.

It must have been devastating for her to lose her virginity like this, but I still didn't care.

I kept pushing until half the bat was inside of her and then I couldn't push anymore.

Since I couldn't push it forward, I started pulling it out of her.

In and out, I pushed and pulled the dildo bat.

Each time that I pushed it in or pulled it out, there was a moan that came from Rhycu.

It was a pained moan at first, but it soon turned into a moan that was filled with pleasure.

"Ah, it's so big..."

"Ah, no more!"

"Ah, I can't hold it in anymore!"

Those words were like blades that made countless marks on Vulme's heart.

Chapter 867: Did you think it was over?

With those last words, Rhycu really couldn't hold herself back anymore.

But I waved my other hand at the elite guards that were holding her up to follow me before she could climax.

I had them bring her right up in front of Vulme so that she was right in front of him.

She had reached the point where she couldn't notice a single thing since she was completely caught up in the pleasure that this gave her. So she didn't notice that she had been moved right in front of him.

But when Vulme saw her close up like this, his eyes completely turned blank and it almost seemed like there was a part of him that died.

Still, Rhycu didn't notice at all as she couldn't take it anymore and came right in front of him. Since Vulme was on the ground and Rhycu was being held up in front of him, she ended up... A mix of love juice and blood fell right onto Vulme's face, even a bit of it got in his mouth. Though he had been sprayed in the face by his lover's love juice, Vulme just couldn't react at all. The blank look on his face was almost as if his mind had been completely broken by this scene.

He didn't try to struggle, he didn't make a single sound, he just looked up at his lover climaxing in front of him like he was nothing more than a doll with its strings cut.

When Rhycu finally calmed down and came back to her senses, the first thing that she saw was Vulme on the ground in front of her.

There was a moment where she was dazed, but then her face filled with shame and her heart split into pieces.

It felt like she couldn't feel a single thing...other than the pleasure of the dildo bat that was still in her.

Since she had completely broken, she just gave up and fell to the pleasure that she was feeling.

"More, give me more! Make me forget all of this!"

She shouted, but I just completely ignored her.

Since it was over and both of them had completely broken, there was no need for me to do anything else to her.

I gave a nod to the elite guards holding Rhycu and they were a bit confused before they slowly brought her down.

It was hard for Rhycu to stand since her legs were shaky, but she didn't care at all as she kept screaming for more. It seemed like she no longer cared about her image, the only thing that she wanted to do was fill the hole in her heart.

This hole that had been made because of the torment that she had been put through, the hole that was left from her heart being ripped apart by the onslaught of the dildo bats...

But I just completely ignored her.

Even though she screamed, I just ignored her as I waved my hand at the elite guards to take her aside.

Instead, I turned to look at the other dark elves who were still being held on the ground. Some of them had looked away and some of them were watching with horror.

But they all looked at me when they heard me walking over.

The way that they looked at me was filled with disgust, as if they were looking at a monster. However, I didn't care at all about the way that they were looking at me since I already knew that this would happen.

Instead, I just held the dildo bat that still had love juice and blood dripping from it over my shoulder before stopping in front of them.

Once I stopped, I pointed the dildo bat at the dark elves which made them tremble with fear. There had been a sort of relaxed feeling since they thought that this wouldn't affect them. They had thought that this would be over once the torture of Rhycu was over since this human would realize that there was nothing to gain from torturing them.

But...it didn't go as they planned.

Looking at the dark elves on the ground, I could see what they were thinking based on the expression on their faces.

Since I could tell what they were thinking, naturally it was up to me to crush their hopes and dreams or else everything that I had done just now wouldn't have had any meaning.

"Who said that we're done here? Did you think that it was all over?" I held the dildo bat up to point at them as I said this.

The dark elves trembled when they heard this before looking at me with terrified looks.

All of them were scared of me as I pointed the dildo bat at them.

Then some of them started to speak as they realized that they had no other choice.

"Why are you doing this?"

"You should have seen that it's impossible for you to get any information from us like this."

"If you're willing to spare us, we'll go along with you and try to give you what you want."

They all tried to beg for their lives, but I didn't care at all.

I just calmly stood there listening to them begging for their lives like this.

Seeing me act this way, they felt that there was a chance that they might be saved...but then...

I calmly said, "Why do you think that I care about any of this?"

All of the dark elves immediately shut their mouths when they heard this.

They all looked at me with eyes that were filled with shock, almost as if they couldn't understand what I was saying.

Seeing this, I continued by saying, "You're the ones that came to harm the people of our country. Regardless of what your situation is, did you think that you would really escape this place unharmed if you were caught? You should have already been prepared for this from the beginning."

Chapter 868: Objective accomplished

The dark elves looked like they wanted to say something, but it also seemed like their mouths were stuffed with something.

No matter how they tried, they couldn't say a single thing.

After all, there was nothing that they could say to refute this logic.

This was indeed the situation here, so there was nothing that they could complain about.

They just never thought that they would be caught like this, so that was why they had never thought of the consequences.

This mission that they deemed to be easy had turned out to be a lifelong mistake...

Seeing that they didn't say anything, I didn't bother arguing with the dark elves any longer. Instead, I pointed at two of the dark elves and said, "Bring them over."

"Yes."

To my surprise, the elite guards actually responded this time.

Before this, they had never said a thing since they clearly didn't approve of the method that I was using. They had been acting like they were above it, so they just followed my orders without a word.

But now that they heard what I said, it was like they had completely changed.

The way that they looked at me had completely changed.

It was as if they had been disdainful of my actions just now.

But with just a few words, it seemed that their mentality had completely changed.

It seemed that the words that I said had resonated with them and they now viewed this as a patriotic thing. After all, we were torturing invaders who had come to hurt the people of our country.

It didn't matter what kind of torture we used, we were just doing our part in protecting our country.

As soon as the way that they viewed all of this changed, they acted completely differently. Some of them even seemed like they were willing to help...

Of course, I didn't let them do it since I had no idea if they would be able to do the same thing that I was doing.

I was now an experienced person with how many times I had done it with my wife, so I knew the right way to torture women like this. I had no idea if they would be able to do the same, so I did it all myself.

After two more couples were tortured like this, I suddenly stopped and said, "Let's tie them up and get ready to bring them back with us."

The elite guards were surprised that I had stopped all of a sudden.

The way that they looked at me, it was as if they thought that I would keep going until I had tortured all of the female dark elves.

However, that wasn't what I was going to do.

There was simply no time for all of that.

We were in the middle of a forest that was filled with monsters and I had already spent quite a bit of time doing what I had already been doing. If we wasted more time here, there was no telling what would happen.

I could see the way that the dark elves looked at me, so I knew that I had already accomplished my objective.

I had put a deep trauma of myself in their minds.

It would help us later when we tortured them for more information.

So for now, it was best to get out of this place before we were surrounded or ambushed by a group of monsters.

Of course, there was still one more thing that I had to do.

The dark crystal was still in the center of the clearing.

It wasn't as if I could just leave that there since it was what was attracting the monsters in the first place.

I had to get rid of the dark energy that it contained and then take it away.

But when I thought about it...

"Bring the dark elves along with us."

The elite guards were surprised to hear this, but they still followed my orders in the end.

But it was clear that they were much more on guard compared to before.

They were ready to deal with the dark elves the moment that they did anything.

When we came back to the clearing, the eyes of the dark elves immediately went to the dark crystal. There were a few of them that looked like they wanted to try something, but those looks quickly disappeared.

That was because they saw what I did with the dark crystal.

The moment that they saw the dark energy being pulled out the crystal, they all revealed looks of shock. The shock that was on their faces was even greater than the shock that they revealed when they saw what I did earlier.

It was as if they couldn't believe their eyes when they saw the dark energy being pulled out. When it was all over, they still stood there with looks of shock and disbelief on their faces. They just simply couldn't understand what had happened.

I had no idea what this dark crystal was, but it seemed like it was something that was far beyond important for the dark elves. It seemed like it was some kind of special artifact that they most likely didn't even understand themselves.

Which was why they were so shocked when I sucked the dark energy out of it.

I just waited to see how they would react, but it turned out that this was also part of the contract that they signed.

When one of them tried to ask something, it seemed like he was suddenly stopped by something. When that happened, this dark elf immediately closed his mouth and stopped trying to ask anything.

Though the look in his eyes made it clear that he was still in disbelief over what had happened.

It seemed that the contract that they signed also prevented them from asking questions like this since it would reveal information about the dark crystal.

In that case, there was no need for me to wait for them any longer.

With that, I picked up the crystal and we started heading back.

Chapter 869: Time to pay the price

There was a part of me that dreaded our return since I knew that it would be the end for me.

After all, there was no way that I would be able to hide what I had done to the dark elves from my wives.

There were too many witnesses in the first place and they would surely report what had happened since this was a matter of national security. Once the prime minister knew about this, there was no doubt that my wives would learn about this since he could never hide anything from his sister.

Though even without that, they would be able to get this information since they all had high ranking positions.

No, even without that, they would have been able to get the information since one of my wives had been there to watch all of it happen.

There was no way that Cecilia would hide this from the rest of them, no matter what I said to her.

Especially Rose...she would never hide anything from Rose.

The relationship between the two of them was still as deep as ever, even after the three of us got married.

It wasn't something that I could come in between and it wasn't something that I wanted to come in between.

So the only thing that I could do was feel dread over this.

It was just a good thing that I had a few extra days to prepare since we had to travel slowly with the dark elves.

It didn't seem like they would resist with how submissive they were around me, but we had to be careful just in case. They were enemies of the nation, so it wasn't as if we could just let our guards down around them.

With that reprieve, I was able to figure out a plan to deal with my wives.

The other lucky thing that happened was that I was pulled into my study by the prime minister as soon as I came back to the capital.

That gave me a bit more time to think of excuses and also ask the prime minister for some help.

Since he was Angela's brother, I was certain that he would have ways of dealing with her. Once the prime minister finished listening to my report, he gave a nod of acknowledgement and was silent for a bit.

It didn't seem like he was surprised to hear about what happened, but that wasn't strange since he had already read the reports on the matter.

Instead, he was looking at me with a strange look.

The way that he looked at me was almost as if he couldn't believe that I had done the things that I had just described to him.

That made me feel a bit awkward, but I didn't show any shame.

After all, I had done what I felt I needed to do for our country, so there was nothing for me to feel ashamed of.

After staring at me for a bit, he said with a sigh, "Well, it's a good thing that things have settled down, but this certainly is a mess."

There was a bitter smile that crept onto my face when I heard this, but I didn't say anything in response.

The prime minister just gave another sigh before saying, "Let me see the crystal."

I had already been expecting him to say this, so I pulled out one of the crystals that I brought back for him.

The prime minister immediately took the crystal and started looking at it from different angles.

The way that he looked at it was as if he was trying to figure out something about this crystal, but the look on his face made it clear that he wasn't able to figure anything out. The longer that he looked at this crystal, the more frustrated the look on his face became until...

"Thud!"

The prime minister had completely lost his temper and threw it to the ground with all his might. But the only thing that happened was that it created a hole in the ground of the study... my study.

This was my study and he had just created a hole in it...

As for the crystal itself, there wasn't even a single scratch on it.

It was still as hard and indestructible as before.

There wasn't anything that we had been able to do to this crystal even when we used a bunch of weapons, so there was no way that the prime minister would be able to damage this thing just by throwing it to the ground like this.

Even if he was the strongest man in the world, he wouldn't have been able to do anything to this crystal just by throwing it on the ground like this.

It was clear that it wasn't just because the crystal was hard that it was so strong.

There had to be some kind of special enchantment on this crystal that made it this hard.

The prime minister was annoyed seeing the hole that the crystal made, but he stopped when I gave a cough.

With a cough himself to calm down, the prime minister picked up the crystal and said, "It certainly is a special item."

I didn't say anything in response, I just raised a brow and looked at the hole in the ground.

He gave another cough before saying, "I'll get someone to fix the floor."

I gave a nod in response before asking, "So what I was asking you about earlier."

I had asked him for advice earlier, but he had insisted on listening to the report first.

Now that I had finished giving my report, I wanted him to answer my question before I went to see my wives.

"I have no idea." The prime minister said with a shrug which shocked me.

I looked at him in a daze as if I was trying to figure out if he was being serious or not.

The prime minister just gave another shrug and said, "If I knew how to handle her, do you think I would have suffered for that long?"

It was over...

I could hear a knock on the door.

It seemed that it was time to pay the price for my actions...

Chapter 870: Do the same

I felt dread as I headed to the room that I shared with my wives.

I knew that they were all waiting behind the door for me, that was what the maid who had come to my study to get me had said.

There was a part of me that wanted to run, but I knew that it would only be worse if I were to run.

The only thing that I could do now was face the music and own up to what I had done.

Taking a deep breath, I opened the door and found all of my wives sitting at the table in the living room of our private quarters. They were all just sitting there talking to one another as if they didn't have a single care in the world.

There was even tea and cookies that were set up on the coffee table in front of them.

When I walked in, they didn't even seem to care as they continued talking.

There was a part of me that wondered what to do, but there was a bigger part of me that just told myself to remain silent.

I didn't know what was happening, but it didn't seem like a good idea to draw attention to myself in this situation.

Especially since it seemed like they were in a good mood.

But that didn't last long as they finished up what they were talking about and turned to look at me at the same time. The worst part of it all was that they didn't seem to have any expressions on their faces for me to read.

It was like staring at a blank screen as they didn't give me any clues with their faces at all.

There wasn't anything that I could do as I just stood there awkwardly waiting for them to say something so I knew what to do.

In the end, Rose was the one that broke the silence by waving her hand at me and saying, "What are you doing standing there? Come and sit with us."

The others nodded in agreement to this.

I was completely stunned deep down, but I forced myself to reveal a calm look.

I had no idea what was happening here, but there was nothing to gain from showing that stunned look on my face.

After a moment of hesitation, I walked over to where they were sitting and sat down in the place that they opened up for me.

It was right in the center of one of the couches by the table, which meant that I was completely surrounded by my wives. They all completely surrounded me without giving me a single opportunity to run.

Though I wouldn't run away in the first place.

After sitting down, they poured some tea and picked out some cookies for me.

The way that they did this, it almost seemed like they were good wives that were taking care of their husband.

However, I just couldn't see it that way.

"Is this my final meal?"

That was the only thought that was on my mind when I saw them acting like this.

But it wasn't as if I could deny what they were offering me, so the only thing that I could do was go along with this and take a sip of the tea.

My wives just sat there in silence looking at me like there was nothing wrong, but that just made me feel more anxious. It was almost as if they were acting like this just to make me let my guard down so that they could trip me up.

I didn't dare let my guard down for even a second.

Finally, Rose was the one that broke the silence by saying, "How was it?"

I couldn't understand what she meant by this, but there was a bad feeling that filled me when I heard her ask this.

There was a part of me that could guess why she was asking this, especially in a situation like this.

So instead of reacting slowly, I decided to just take a risk.

I suddenly stood up and with a perfect ninety degree angle, I bowed to them all as I said, "I'm sorry."

I didn't hear anything in response to this, not even a single whisper.

There was only an awkward silence that followed after I gave this apology.

But even if I didn't hear anything, it wasn't as if I would move.

I knew that the key to all of this was sincerity, so I had to show this sincerity before anything else.

There was a long silence that followed after this apology from me, but eventually...
"What do you have to apologize for?"

The moment that I heard Rose say this, there was a bitter look that appeared on my face.

It was a good thing that I had my head down, so they weren't able to see that expression on my face at all.

After calming myself, I looked up to say, "The things that I did to the dark elves..."

Before I could go on to explain myself, Rose suddenly cut me off by raising her hand.

I closed my mouth immediately and just waited for her to say what she wanted to say, but to my surprise...

"What do you have to apologize for?"

This time, it was completely different from the way that she said it before.

I didn't understand why she said this before, but now I could understand why she said it.

The way that she said it was almost as if she was saying...

There's nothing for me to apologize for...

But...

"You were just doing what you needed to do for our kingdom. There's nothing that you need to explain."

I was even more shocked when I heard this.

I slowly looked up and found that all of them were nodding in agreement to what Rose said.

The way that they looked at me...

It was as if they were saying...

"We'll support you no matter what."

It seemed that I had misunderstood them.

It seemed that I might have even been petty with them,

I had thought too little of them.

I thought that they would be disgusted by what I had done, but it seemed that this wasn't the case.

Well, it was possible that they were disgusted by what I had done, but they were most likely holding it back.

They were saying that they would support me no matter what happened, no matter what kind of things I did.

When they put it like this, I really didn't know what to say in response.

I didn't even know how to feel.

No, I did know how to feel, it was just that I didn't think that I deserved this kind of trust from them...

At least if they were going to trust me like this, I should give them a reason to trust me like this.

So I took a deep breath and said, "I'll do whatever it takes to protect you all."

All of them suddenly stood up and came to surround me before reaching out to take me in their arms at the same time.

It was a bit awkward with how many of them there were, but they did surround me in the end.

Only that wasn't the end of it.

I heard Rose whisper, "I am a bit jealous of what you did with them. You should do the same with us."

I looked at them in shock and found that the others had looks on their faces that showed that they were thinking the same thing.

If they were offering...I wouldn't be a man if I said no.

Shota's Isekai NTR Adventure #Chapter 871: Broken dark elves - Read Shota's Isekai NTR Adventure Chapter 871: Broken dark elves

Chapter 871: Broken dark elves

I was completely exhausted when the next morning came.

There were dark circles around my eyes, but I didn't regret a single thing.

When the prime minister saw me, he looked at me with a faint smile.

The moment that I saw him looking at me with this smile, I couldn't help feeling annoyed since he hadn't been any help yesterday. He had actually caused me even more anxiety since he had told me nothing that I could use with Angela.

So there was a small grudge that filled me when I saw him like this.

I really wanted to punch that smile off his face, but I held myself back in the end.

"What are we doing today?" I just ignored the way that he looked at me and directly went into business.

The prime minister was someone that could adapt, so the moment that I started talking about business, that smile disappeared from his face. He immediately revealed a serious look as well before speaking.

"The dark elves. We still have to take care of them."

I gave a simple nod when I heard this without showing any expressions.

I had already expected this, but to actually deal with them...

Now that I had come back and reflected on what I had done to the dark elves, there was a part of me that regretted doing it.

Though that part of me wasn't as big as the part of me that agreed to doing this for the sake of the kingdom.

Still, I feel that I could have treated them a bit differently...

Perhaps things would have gone more smoothly if I treated them a bit differently?

Regardless, that wasn't what was important right now.

After the dark elves had been brought to the capital, they had been locked up in the most secure prisons.

The prisoners that had been in those prisons before were some of the worst people to come out of our kingdom, but we still moved them because of the dark elves.

It wasn't that we were afraid of the dark elves doing anything to them or them doing anything to the dark elves, it was just that we couldn't risk anything happening to the dark elves.

They were our important source of information, which was why they had been put in the most secure prison in the first place.

It was all to keep them from escaping.

Of course, the most secure prison naturally wouldn't be in the castle.

It wasn't as if we could keep prisoners near us since that was just too dangerous.

So the prime minister and I left the castle under the guard of the shadows.

When the shadows appeared, they looked at me completely differently from before.

Before, there was a bit of carelessness in the way that they greeted me since they didn't respect me as much as the prime minister. But now, there was no carelessness in the way that they greeted me.

They greeted me the same way as the prime minister, showing that I was on the same level as the prime minister in their hearts.

The prime minister looked at me with a surprised look when he saw this.

After all, he had no idea what I had done in this period of time that would make the shadows respect me in this manner.

With the shadows protecting us, we were able to make our way to the prison without any problems.

At the prison, the guards naturally didn't dare stop us.

We weren't here with our identities hidden, we had come openly since this was an important matter to the kingdom.

As such, the guards naturally didn't dare stop us.

We were able to make our way into the part of the prison where the dark elves were being held.

However, when we arrived, we couldn't help feeling that it was strange.

"It's too quiet..." I said when we arrived at this block.

The prime minister gave a nod before saying, "I was thinking the same thing..."

The two of us looked at each other before looking at the guards that had come with us.

The prime minister revealed a serious look and asked, "What is going on here? Are you trying to play a trick on us?"

The eyes of the guards were immediately filled with fear when they heard this.

After all, the one that was asking them this wasn't their superior, but rather the superior of their superior of their superior. In short, the prime minister was someone who was far above them in terms of the organization, so it was easy for him to get them fired.

Not only that, if they really offended the prime minister...they might even be executed for treason.

Which was why they didn't dare offend him at all.

The guards quickly bowed their heads and said, "No, no, we wouldn't dare."

Both the prime minister and I raised a brow when we saw the reaction of the guards before he asked, "Then where are they? Why is it so quiet here?"

The guards had strange looks on their faces before the leader of the guards pointed at one of the cages in the distance to say, "They are in there."

The prime minister and I looked at the cage that was in the distance and we were able to make out some figures inside of it. However, it didn't seem like they were moving at all...

It almost seemed like there was no life in them.

Both of us immediately knitted our brows when we saw this before the prime minister said, "We told you to keep them alive!"

The guards were terrified once again before saying, "They're alive, they're alive! We made sure that they were alive...It's just that...Well, you have to see them to understand."

Both the prime minister and I looked confused when we heard this, but since the guards wouldn't explain what they meant by this, we had no choice but to take a look for ourselves.

When we came over, we were surprised by what we saw.

The dark elves were just laying there in the cage with blank eyes, as if they weren't interested in doing anything.

It seemed like they had been completely broken...

Chapter 872: Same threat

The way that the dark elves laid there in the cage was like they were puppets that had their strings cut.

With the way that they looked, it didn't seem like they would react to anything around them.

It even seemed like they would stop breathing at any moment, but at least for now, it seemed like they were still breathing. Though how long they would keep this up with the way that they looked was hard to tell.

After looking at them for a bit, the prime minister looked at me with a strange look.

I didn't have to ask him anything to know what he was implying with the way that he looked at me.

"Just what did you do to them that they're in this condition?"

I didn't say anything in response to this gaze, I didn't even look in his direction as I just focused on the dark elves inside of the cage.

I didn't think that they would be this despondent from just that alone...

After all, these were the dark elves that I hadn't even touched yet.

The ones that I had touched had to be separated because they had been completely broken because of what I had done. We had to make sure to separate them from the rest so that they wouldn't hurt anyone.

So these dark elves shouldn't have been this way...

It was confusing, but it wasn't as if trying to figure out what happened to them would help. Instead, I went up to the cage and rapped on one of the bars to get their attention.

It didn't seem like the dark elves cared at all about the sound that I made as they just laid there without a single light in their eyes.

However, there was one dark elf that was facing us.

The sound still attracted his attention to a certain extent and he did look at me.

It didn't seem like he processed it at first, but then...

"Ah! It's the devil!"

The moment that he said this, all of the other dark elves started to react.

Their first reaction was a tremble.

The first thing that they did was tremble in fear when they saw me.

Then they immediately moved to the other side of the cage while dreaming in fear.

"The devil! The devil is here!"

"Hide the women! Hide the children!"

"What more do you want from us, you devil!?"

The reactions that they had were certainly a bit too much, but it wasn't as if I couldn't understand why they were acting this way.

After all, what I had done to them...

Though the way that they acted definitely did not help my image...

I could see the way that the prime minister and the guards were looking at me. It was only the shadows that didn't change the way that they looked at me since they already knew about this.

They had been there to personally witness what happened after all.

I just let the dark elves continue like this for a bit before saying, "I'm here to talk."

All of them once again trembled in fear when they heard this.

They didn't dare move, almost as if they were afraid of attracting my attention by moving. That naturally meant that not a single one of them said a thing in response.

With the way that they were acting, it didn't seem like we would be able to get anything out of them.

Well, that was if it wasn't for the fact that I had come prepared.

Seeing them act this way, I shook my head and said with a sigh, "It seems like you want to do this the hard way...."

The expressions on the faces of all the dark elves twisted when they heard this.

There were some of them who had wanted to say something, but I didn't give them a chance.

I simply turned around and gave a nod to the shadows.

They didn't say a thing as they pushed the guards aside and came forward to stand in front of the cage. They all stood behind me as they pulled something out.

The moment that the dark elves saw the things that the shadows pulled out, their eyes widened in shock and fear.

Trauma immediately flooded their faces and all of them moved back even further than before. It was as if they wanted to move to the very edge of the cage that their bodies could take them.

They were trying to get as far away from us as they could.

That was because what we had taken out were the dildo bats.

I had been waiting for this reaction from them.

Once the fear had been put in them, I raised my hand and pulled out The Penetrator.

The Penetrator was a special reward and was much stronger than the other dildo bats, so it was naturally also bigger than the mass produced dildo bat.

That was all that was needed to scare the dark elves.

Especially the female dark elves.

They looked even more terrified compared to before.

It was as if they wanted nothing more than to be released from this hell.

It finally reached a point where one of the female dark elves suddenly collapsed.

There was a silence that hung in the air until I broke it by shouting, "Don't let her die!"

The guards immediately snapped back to their senses and went into the cage. The shadows moved forward with the dildo bats just to threaten the other dark elves into moving out of the way.

There was no better threat than the dildo bats that traumatized them.

As expected...she had bit her tongue in an attempt to end her suffering.

The guards had to take her away to the infirmary to save her life. But that just went to prove how effective this threat was.

Even though they looked at me with strange looks, I didn't back down as I kept threatening the dark elves with The Penetrator.

In the end, I was able to bring back the light in their eyes and get them to work with us to break the contract binding them.

Though that method used was fear...

Chapter 873: Mercy

Since that matter was taken care of, there was nothing else that I had to do with the dark elves.

Or that should have been the case if there weren't a few dark elves that were different from the rest of the dark elves.

The reason why they were different was because I had made them that way.

Because of what I had done, there were dark elves who had their minds broken and couldn't function the same way as before.

As such, they had been locked up separately from the rest of the dark elves.

When we approached, we could hear the screaming that was coming from the separated area where these dark elves were being held.

"More, give me more!"

"Kill me! I don't want to live in this world anymore!"

These were the two kinds of things that were said by the dark elves trapped here.

But both sides seemed to be filled with despair.

It was as if they just didn't want to remain in this world anymore.

It just seemed like they wanted it all to end.

That was why I was here in the first place.

They didn't seem to react to the sound that we made when we entered.

They just seemed like they were completely lost in their own world.

Even when I tapped on the cage, it didn't seem like they reacted.

The ones that should have reacted were the male dark elves who were sitting in a fetal position in their cages. After all, I was the one that had ruined everything for them, so their hatred for me should have been something else.

But it didn't seem like they reacted to my face at all.

It was like they just didn't see me as they just sat there mumbling to themselves.

Like they had given up on life...

Well, that wasn't a bad thing...

After all, there was a reason why I was here to see them in the first place.

I was the one that had turned them into this, which meant that I was responsible for them until the very end.

Since it didn't seem like there was anything that we would be able to get from them, it didn't make sense to keep them in pain like this.

The reason that I had come here was to give them mercy.

But it wasn't as if they could just be allowed to go free since they were criminals who had come to attack our country in the first place.

There was only one way to give them mercy.

I gave a nod to one of the guards who had gone to get something that I requested.

That guard looked at me with a shocked look when he saw me nod at him like this, but he still brought the item that I requested forward.

It was a large executioner's axe.

This was used by the prison when executing the prisoners and since this was a prison for the worst prisoners in the kingdom, it naturally had a high number of executions.

These executions would be held in the prison itself, so the prison was well stocked on execution items such as these axes and other things needed.

Though the guard was skeptical of whether I would be able to use this axe or not.

It was quite the heavy axe since it had been designed to cut right through a person's neck and take off their head. It was an axe that wasn't something that just anyone could wield.

However, the muscle training that I had been doing had come in handy.

I was able to lift the axe by using both hands to hold it up.

With the axe in hand, I moved to one of the dark elves who was in a fetal position.

This dark elf was one that I was familiar with since he was the first one that I had tortured.

It was Vulme.

I gave a nod to the guards to put him in position.

They brought over a chopping block and made him put his head in place before holding him down while waiting for me.

Once he was in position, I moved forward with the axe in hand.

Before I could reach him though, the prime minister came forward to say, "Your majesty, is there a need for you to personally do this?"

The way that he was asking this made it clear that it wasn't just this problem that he had with this. The way that he was asking this clearly showed that he was worried about me since I had suddenly wanted to do this myself.

Even if I had caused the deaths of many people during the war, personally killing someone was not something that I had done before.

As someone who had done this before, the prime minister knew how hard the first kill was.

However, I knew that this was something that I had to do.

I was the cause of all of this, so it was my responsibility to give them mercy.

I shook my head and said, "No, it has to be me."

The prime minister had a concerned look on his face, but he still backed down in the end.

Though he did make sure to have two shadows come forward with me just in case something happened.

After walking over, I lifted the axe above Vulme's head and took a deep breath before saying, "Be on your way. You'll be at peace soon."

As if he recognized this voice, Vulme started to turn his head like he wanted to look up.

It was just that from his position, he wasn't able to look all the way up to see me.

At the same time, I had already started swinging the axe down.

When the axe cut through his neck and his head came off, there was a look of recognition in his eyes as his head turned to see me.

In his final moments, there was a look of utmost hatred that appeared in his eyes.

But I didn't let it bother me since I had seen this look from others before. When it was over, I looked at the guards on the side and said, "Bring the next one."

Everyone looked at me with a strange look, but they still followed my orders.

Chapter 874: Strange water monster

When we came back to the study, there was only the prime minister and me left in the room. After walking in, I sat down in the chair and just let my body slump down in the chair.

It was as if all the tension that had been in my body had been released and I felt like there was no energy left.

As I laid there, I couldn't help letting out a deep sigh.

The prime minister stood there on the side looking at me with a concerned look when he saw me acting this way. But after a moment of silence, he walked over with a sigh and patted me on the shoulder.

"You just did what you had to do." He said in a voice of comfort.

I gave a slight nod without saying a single thing in response.

There was a moment of silence that hung in the air before he patted me on the shoulder again and said, "Just take the rest of the day off. There's nothing important that you need to do anyway, so just take some time for yourself."

The way that he said this made it clear that he was worried about my mentality after what had happened in the prison.

After all, it wasn't just a single dark elf that I killed.

There were five couples that had been tortured during that time and all of them had been in the same state.

I was the one that had put them in that state, so I was the one that had given them mercy.

This was not something that normal people experienced, this wasn't even something that extraordinary people experienced.

This was certainly a one in a kind experience that was hard for most people to adjust from, so the prime minister knew that it would be best if he gave me some space.

However...I didn't want that.

I had already come to terms with what I did since I knew that this was what had to be done. Rather...if I were to stop now, the memories might actually make it harder for me.

In a sense, I needed work to distract me until it became numb enough for me to process properly.

So I just shook my head and said, "I'm fine."

The prime minister looked at me with a worried look, but I just looked right into his eyes without saying anything.

In the end, the prime minister gave a sigh as he could tell from the look in my eyes what I wanted. At the same time, he knew that if he were to force this, it would only backfire on him.

I could see in the prime minister's eyes that his mind was turning.

It wasn't hard to guess that he was most likely trying to figure out a way to make sure that I didn't deal with anything stressful during this time.

It might seem like he was babying me, but I knew that this was just his way of showing that he cared, so I didn't stop him.

But before he could say anything, there was someone that rushed into the study.

The prime minister immediately knitted his brows when he heard the sound of the door opening since everyone should have known not to bother them when they were alone.

However, he waited to see what the person that came in had to say.

Last time, it was about the increased monster activity.

He couldn't help wondering what it was this time that had this person acting this way. As for me, I was just silently waiting to see what it was about.

I just wanted something to distract me.

It wasn't Shadow One that came in this time, but one of the lower numbered shadows that came in.

As soon as he came in, he immediately bowed to the prime minister and said, "My lord, there's been some strange activity by the Kleen River lately."

The prime minister narrowed his eyes when he heard this before saying, "Is that really it?"

The shadow didn't raise his head, but it was clear by the tremble that he gave that he knew that this wasn't good for him.

No, even without any other signs, it was clear by the cold tone of the prime minister's voice that this wasn't good for him.

After all, compared to before, this didn't seem like: was that important.

It seemed almost trivial since this was something that could be reported through the normal reports. There was no reason to barge in on a private meeting between the prime minister and the king like this.

It really seemed like the prime minister was set on punishing this shadow, but I said, "Wait, what is this about the Kleen River?"

Both the prime minister and the shadow looked at me with surprised looks.

I didn't care since this was something that I recognized.

The moment that I heard of the words Kleen River, I immediately thought of an event from the game.

As for why I immediately thought about it, it was because I had already been thinking about how to activate this event.

This was supposed to be an event that happened much later, which was why I was agonizing on how to activate it.

But now it seemed like it had already activated on its own.

This was one of the times where the plot of the game being moved up seemed to work in my favour.

Seeing that he didn't say anything, I said, "Tell me already."

The shadow snapped back out of his daze when he heard this and he said with a bow, "Your majesty, it's a report that there's this strange monster that has appeared on the banks of the Kleen River. It seems to be a monster that's able to control the water according to the local residents."

The prime minister knitted his brows when he heard this.

It seemed that this might be connected to the increased monster activity, which was why the shadow had barged in like this.

But I had a wide smile on my face when I heard this.

It was indeed the event that I had been waiting for.

Chapter 875: I'll deal with it

The prime minister had been thinking about how to deal with this when he saw the look that was on my face.

The moment that the prime minister saw this look, he immediately knitted his brows even more.

After all, the prime minister had been with this brother in law of his long enough that he was able to read him. He had gotten used to the strange things that this brother in law of his did and could guess what he was planning to do.

So before he could say anything...

"No."

The shadow was confused when he heard this, but I just looked at the prime minister with a surprised look.

The way that I looked at him was almost as if I was saying...

"How did you know?"

The prime minister said with a sigh, "You just went to deal with the dark elves and the monsters, we can't just let you leave the capital as you will. You have to realize that you are a king now, this isn't the kind of thing that you should be doing personally. You have people to send to take care of this."

There was a bitter smile that crept onto my lips while the shadow looked at me in shock.

The shadow naturally understood what the prime minister meant by this, so he quickly put away the report and looked like he wanted to leave the room.

Before he could, I said, "Stay."

At this, the shadow had no choice but to awkwardly stand there.

Though he was standing there with a look on his face as if he wanted to blend into the background.

He stood there like he didn't want anyone to notice him.

The prime minister and I just looked at each other without saying a thing after I made the shadow stay.

The look on his face made it clear that he didn't support this idea of mine, but there was no way that I was going to back down on this matter. This was the event that I had been waiting for since this was an important thing for our kingdom.

Especially after what happened at the trial that we held.

It was related to a certain person who had given all of us a shock.

After a long silence, I said, "Just leave this matter to me, I'll deal with it."

The prime minister immediately shook his head before saying, "No."

I responded with, "I'm the only one that can deal with this since I'm the only one that knows the true identity of this thing."

The prime minister just calmly shot back, "Then you can tell us and we'll handle it on your behalf. You're the king, it's your job to give orders, not to go to the field personally. There are plenty of subordinates that can go on your behalf."

The shadow nodded in agreement at this, even if we were both ignoring him.

I just shook my head as I said, "No, you won't be able to since you have no idea how to handle them."

The prime minister just calmly replied, "If you tell us how to do it, then wouldn't we be able to take care of this matter?"

I just calmly shook my head in response.

The prime minister narrowed his eyes to look at me before asking one simple word, "Why?"

I didn't answer right away this time.

There was a moment of hesitation from me before I finally said, "It's something that's completely out of the depths of a normal person, so it won't matter even if I tell them about this. They won't be able to do the same thing as me."

The prime minister narrowed his eyes even more when he heard this.

He looked at me as if he was sizing me up after hearing this.

Instead of rejecting me, the prime minister suddenly said, "You should know what kind of position being the king is. The king is someone that the kingdom cannot do without, the king is the heart of the kingdom. A king is not someone who..."

He went on to give a rant about how the king is someone that shouldn't put his life at risk at the drop of a hat, as well as how important a king was to the kingdom.

From my understanding of the prime minister, I knew that it would be impossible to stop him once he started ranting like this, so I just calmly waited for him to finish.

When he was done, he looked at me and said, "Do you understand what a king is now?"

I just looked at him with a calm look on my face and said, "This is something that I have to do to protect the people that I love."

The prime minister was surprised to hear this since he didn't expect me to say something like this.

When he was caught off guard, I went for the jugular by saying, "This is something that is related to the Tide Empire, so there's no other way. It has to be something that is done by me."

The prime minister deeply knitted his brows when he heard this.

He looked at me with an uncertain look for a bit before saying, "Are you sure that you have a solution for the Tide Empire?"

Seeing that he was finally breaking, I said with a firm look on my face, "I guarantee that this will help us with our Tide Empire situation."

The prime minister might not believe this if it was anyone else, but this brother in law of his had shown him many miracles that he had no choice but to believe him.

After all, he was the one that had brought the wyverns to their kingdom and had saved them in the war...

In the end, the prime minister said with a sigh, "Of course, you won't be allowed to go alone."

I shook my head and said, "I have to go alone when I meet that monster."

The prime minister deeply knitted his brows when he heard this.

Chapter 876: Kleen River

It took a week before the prime minister was able to arrange everything for me and I set out from the capital.

It was a strange feeling being watched from afar like this, but this was the only way that I could convince him to let me leave the capital.

If I didn't agree to this, there was no way that the prime minister would have let me go.

The entire shadow squad had been sent out just to watch over me.

At the same time, I had some strong guardians this time.

They weren't strong that they were unparalleled in battle, they were strong that they were people that I couldn't go against.

As if to spite me, he sent five of my wives with me.

The only ones that he didn't send were Rose and Haley who had important positions that they couldn't leave suddenly or else they might have all come with me.

After all, they had shown their displeasure at the fact that I was leaving so soon.

They weren't angry because they knew that I was doing this for a good reason, they were just displeased that I would be gone so soon after coming back.

That was part of the reason why all five of them had agreed to go along.

Though I knew that the prime minister had another reason for sending them along like this.

His reason was that they would be the only ones that could restrain me if I tried to do something crazy.

It wasn't as if I couldn't see where he was coming from, but it also wasn't as if they would be able to stop me if I really wanted to do something. They had never been able to stop me before and I doubt they would stop me now...

I knew that they supported me regardless of what I did, so it was hard for them to actually try and control me.

So I just relaxed and enjoyed the trip instead of thinking too much about it.

As we headed along, there were a few questions that they had for me.

The biggest one was...

"What is this monster in the Kleen River?"

This was a hard question for me to answer since it was hard to explain to them what it was without scaring them a bit too much. There was one defining thing about this monster that I just couldn't tell them.

So the only thing that I could say was...

"It's some kind of sea monster."

"Sea monster?" They all repeated when they heard this.

"That's right, a sea monster."

"Would a monster really come that far?" They were very confused when they heard this.

It wasn't strange since they were right about this.

The Kleen River was a river that ran across the entire continent, so it was a river that went all the way to the sea. However, that didn't mean that it was a small distance to go from the sea to our kingdom since we were a landlocked kingdom.

It was actually quite a long swim, so there were few ocean fishes that reached our area. Most of the monsters and fishes in the river were usually from the surrounding area, namely lakes and other rivers that fed into the Kleen River.

It was very strange for something from the ocean to come this far after all.

There weren't many things that would come this far away from their natural habitat after all.

But that was one of the reasons why this event was so special.

It was because one of those rare ocean creatures had actually come all the way to our part of the kingdom through the Kleen River.

If I were to explain any more, it would be giving too much information.

So I just shook my head and said, "It's a secret."

They all glared at me with unhappy looks when they heard this, but they didn't say a thing since they could see that I wasn't planning on saying anything.

In that case, they would just enjoy the sight of the river.

Since it was a large river, it didn't take us long to reach the Kleen River from the capital.

However, that didn't mean that we had reached the spot where the water monster was spotted and it would take a while in our horse carriages. We would have taken the wyverns if not for the fact that we had left in secret.

So we could only leisurely make our way to the area where the water monster was spotted. It took four days of traveling when we pulled up into a town called Greves Town.

This was a town in the middle of nowhere, but since it was along the Kleen River, there were quite a few people that passed through here.

It was basically a transit town built for people that traveled by boat and at the same time, it was a transit town for merchants that wanted to sell their goods to the surrounding area.

They would transport their goods to this area by boat and then rent carriages from this town to transport those goods to where they needed to go.

That was the basic function of this town.

As for why we were here...it was because this was the town that was the closest to where the incident reported happened.

That meant that there were quite a few boats that were delayed because of this.

After all, no one wanted to sail in a place where there was a rumoured monster.

Everyone valued their lives, they wouldn't risk it just for profit that wasn't worth it.

It was clear that the mood of the town was tense, we could see it when we passed through the gates.

The guards that were at the gates looked very tense as they checked the people entering the town, but it wasn't because of the people that they were tense.

From time to time, they looked at the Kleen River outside of town, as if they were afraid of something.

Or rather, it was better to say that they seemed like they were afraid of being attacked by something.

Chapter 877: Tales of the deep

It was very clear that whatever had happened during this time had affected this town, which was why everyone seemed tense.

Even after coming into the town, we could see that everyone was just as tense in the streets.

It was as if they were all afraid that they would be attacked at any moment.

When we listened closely, we could hear bits of the conversations around us.

"How are we supposed to do business like this?"

"What is the government doing? How could they just let that monster be?"

"If we don't do something, we'll be in the red this month."

Since most of the people that came to this town were merchants, it meant that most of the conversations that they had were about their business. It seemed that the water monster that was just outside of town was attacking ships that belonged to the merchants, which was why they weren't able to make any profit since they had to save their lives.

There were even some merchants who had lost all of their merchandise and had suffered large losses because they were attacked.

As such, it wasn't strange that the merchants were all anxious because of this.

If this continued, there was no doubt that many of them would go bankrupt.

"Did you expect this when you came here?" Angela suddenly asked from behind me.

"I didn't think that it would be this bad. I thought that the monster would at least have a bit of mercy on the people, but that doesn't seem to be the case." I said with a sigh.

When Angela heard this, she looked at me with narrowed eyes to say, "Do you regret it now?"

I just calmly shook my head as I said, "I would never regret this."

This was a fact.

Even if things didn't go the way that I wanted them to, it was still a fact that the general situation was still what I had expected them to be.

I had no idea what had changed that caused the monster to attack, but it didn't seem like there were any casualties so far. After all, if there were casualties, there would be more of a response from the royal army.

So for now, it seemed that they were just sinking ships for whatever reason...

Since we had come to find the monster, naturally the first thing that we looked for was a boat.

This was a monster in the water, so of course we would need a boat to find it.

When we arrived at the dock, we found that it was quite empty.

The town itself was filled with people, but the dock was completely empty.

It was as if there wasn't anyone trying to set off, which was strange considering that this was a port town in the first place. This was a place where ships and boats came and went on a daily basis.

But it didn't seem like there was any activity at this dock at all.

It was as if all boats and ships were forbidden to sail.

However, that wasn't the case as we were called out by some people that were on the docks.

Even though there were no boats and ships leaving the port, there were still people that were here.

"What are you people doing here? Haven't you heard of the monster?"

That was the first thing that this chubby man said to us after running over. Though he did have to catch his breath after running over.

I just narrowed my eyes to look at this chubby man for a bit before saying, "We're here to rent a boat."

The chubby man had a shocked look on his face when he heard this before quickly saying, "Didn't you hear what I said? There's a monster in the river right now! If you sail out right now, all you'll be doing is sailing to your deaths!"

There was a faint smile that appeared on my lips when I heard this before saying, "We know about the monster, but we still need a boat. I hope that you will rent a boat to us."

I had guessed that this chubby man was someone that worked at the docks, but it turned out that I had underestimated this man.

"Kid, I know that young people like you are reckless and brave, but trust this old man when I say that this is not something you want to do. The monster shows no mercy to anyone that sails down this river and you'll be prime bait if you set sail now."

He shook his head and patted me on the shoulder before saying with a sigh, "I don't know what your intentions are for setting sail now, but there's nothing more important than your life."

The way that he said this showed that he was concerned for us, but that wouldn't stop me since there was something that I had to do.

"Thank you for your concern, but we need to rent a boat. I hope that you will rent one to us." The chubby man's face twitched when he heard this before saying, "Look, I won't be responsible for your deaths! It's my responsibility as the head of the docks here to make sure that the people that set out are safe and I just can't in good conscience rent you a boat in these conditions!"

I just had a firm look on my face like I wasn't planning to listen to him.

This made the chubby man even more annoyed as he started telling us the different stories that the people who have encountered the monster brought back.

All of them included a period where they spent under the water, in the domain of the monster.

It was terrifying hearing the stories of the deep from these people, but they still didn't make me back down since I needed this boat.

In the end, one of the shadows appeared and pulled the chubby man aside to have a private talk.

After that, he said with a sigh, "Alright, I'll rent one of my boats to you."

Chapter 878: Beautiful song

I looked at the shadow with one raised brow as if I was asking him what he had done, but he didn't say anything as he suddenly disappeared.

It seemed that he had been given the order not to interact with me.

Well, they were here to watch over me, so it wasn't as if I had to talk to them.

Though it was clear that he had done something to the chubby man who was the head of the docks here.

When the chubby man led us over to a boat, we were surprised by the boat that he led us to.

That was because this wasn't just a boat that he led us to.

This was a proper sailing ship.

This wasn't a ship that would be used by just a few people like we had in our group, this was a ship that would be used by a large company to ship a large amount of goods. This was definitely not something that we would be able to sail on our own.

"Isn't this a bit too..."

Before I could say the word 'big', all of the shadows suddenly appeared.

We were all caught off guard by the sudden appearance of the shadows, but they didn't say a word as they all moved onto the ship. Before anyone could react, they had already taken their posts on the ship and looked like they were ready to sail out at any moment.

It seemed that the shadow that appeared earlier had been responsible for this.

He had most likely talked the chubby man into letting us take this ship.

After all, the chubby man didn't say a thing even though he saw the shadows appear all of a sudden like this.

With a sigh, I said to my group, "Let's go then."

They nodded in agreement before following me onto the ship.

The chubby man didn't even ask about payment which made me a bit worried, so I looked at the shadow that had talked to the chubby man earlier.

"It's already been taken care of. We wouldn't do things like forcing people to give us stuff, we would properly compensate them." The shadow said as if he had read my mind.

I didn't doubt him as I just gave a simple nod in response.

Like this, we secured a ship and we started sailing down the river.

The shadows knew exactly what to do without me telling them a single thing.

Though from time to time, they looked at me as if they were saying...

"See, we can do our jobs."

I couldn't help feeling a bit bitter when I saw them looking at me like this since I could already tell why they were looking at me like this.

They had most likely heard me say that I was the only one that could take care of this.

They wanted to show that they could do anything that I could do, which was why I should be able to trust them.

This was just their way of acting hurt from what I had said to the prime minister before. The one that was responsible for telling them all of this was the shadow that had come to report this matter that day.

I could see him in the distance, as if he was trying to stay away from me.

As if he was afraid of what I would do to him for spreading this rumour.

I just ignored him and focused on the river in front of us.

Since they were here and they were willing to do this work, it didn't matter what they thought.

I actually preferred them to act this way since it meant that they would work harder than normal.

I was completely focused on the river instead of paying any attention to the shadows.

From behind me, the five girls just waited for me to say something or to have any kind of reaction, but I didn't react even after half an hour of sailing.

That was because...we hadn't found a single thing.

Angela once again spoke up by saying, "Are you sure that it's here?"

I just calmly gave a nod as I said, "I'm sure."

Then as if to prove me right, there was a sound that suddenly cut through the air.

The moment that this sound cut through the air, everyone suddenly fell into a daze.

That was because they were stunned by the beauty of this sound.

It was someone's singing that had suddenly cut through the air like this.

This was a beautiful song even though there were no words. Just the voice alone was more than enough to make everyone fall into a daze like this.

It reached the point where some of the shadows forgot about what they were doing.

That was a bad thing since the shadows had been controlling the ship.

With them falling into a daze like this, the ship actually started to list and it seemed like we were going to crash on the bank of the river.

I was the only one that was able to react in time since I had already been prepared for this.

I quickly went over to the shadows and started to slap them.

They looked aggrieved when they saw me after I slapped them, but I just said to them, "Get the ship on course!"

Hearing this order from me, the shadows realized their mistakes and went back to sailing the ship. Though there was a bit of a daze in their eyes as the song was still drifting in the air.

At the very least, it didn't seem like we would crash onto the bank.

After the song had appeared for a while, everyone slowly came back to their senses.

They had awkward looks on their faces as they didn't expect to be so caught up in this, but there was no denying the beauty of the singing.

"What is this?" Angela asked me, but I didn't say anything as I looked carefully in front of us for the source of this singing.

Chapter 879: Do you want to be human?

Seeing that I wasn't saying anything, Angela suddenly grabbed me and seemed like she was about to shake me until I gave her the answer that she wanted.

But before she could...

I suddenly raised my hand and put a finger to her lip before saying, "Shh, let me focus. This is important."

Angela was caught off guard the moment that she saw this.

If it was anyone else, she definitely wouldn't have allowed them to do something like this to her.

This was the privilege that I received as her husband.

So seeing that I was this serious, she let go of me and moved behind me while looking at me with a face like she was waiting to see what I was doing.

But I didn't notice any of that as I was still looking forward to the river in front of us. After another long silence, I suddenly pointed in a certain direction and said, "Over there!" It wasn't just the shadows that were surprised by this sudden outburst from me, my wives who had been standing behind me were also surprised. They all looked at each other as if they were trying to figure out what I was doing.

Seeing that the shadows didn't do anything, I pointed in the same direction, but I turned back to look at them to say, "What are you doing? Full speed in that direction!"

When they heard this, the shadows had no choice but to follow my orders.

Though they did look at my wives with worried looks because of the way that I acted.

It was as if they were worried that there was a screw loose with my brain.

Angela stepped forward again when she saw the way that the shadows looked at her to ask, "What did you find?"

I shook my head and just said, "You'll see soon enough."

She knitted her brows, but I didn't say anything else, so she had no choice but to back down again.

Though it was clear by the look on her face that she wasn't happy with this response.

Still, I was focused on the river in front of us.

From time to time, I suddenly changed the direction that I pointed in while giving the order, "Turn in that direction!"

The shadows all had worried looks on their faces, but they still followed my direction. However, the more that I turned, the more worried that they looked.

After all, it didn't seem like there was any reasoning behind the directions that I gave. With how sudden I changed the directions, it was almost as if there was no thinking behind this at all.

It was as if I was just going on instinct alone.

That was why they were all worried.

Though it wasn't wrong to say that I was relying on instinct alone.

It was based on the current of the river.

No one was really paying attention to the current of the river since they were still a bit dazed because of the beautiful song that was in the air. They could tell that we were getting closer to the source of the song as it was getting louder, but it didn't seem like anything serious was about to happen.

But they were wrong.

The current was leading in a certain direction and I knew that this current was leading to our goal, the monster that dwelled in this river.

As for how I knew...once again, it was game knowledge to the rescue.

After guiding the ship for a while, I suddenly raised my hand and said, "Slow down!"

The shadows were once again confused, but they didn't hesitate to follow this order since it was certainly safer to slow down than to speed along this river.

Seeing that I called for us to slow down, Angela suddenly came forward again to question me, "What are you..."

I raised my hand again to stop her before bringing my hands to my ears to listen carefully. Seeing this, she didn't finish what she was saying and just silently stood behind me, though it was clear by the look on her face that she seemed to be fed up with all of this.

I had been so focused that I had even closed my eyes as I listened carefully to the song around us.

Then all of a sudden, I opened my eyes and pointed in a direction to say, "Over there!"

Everyone looked in the direction that I pointed in, but they all had disappointed looks as they only saw some rocks that were sticking out of the river. They didn't know what to expect from me when I had acted all mysterious like this, but they were certainly disappointed seeing just these rocks.

I shook my head and gave a sigh when I saw the looks on their faces before saying, "Not the rocks, it's behind the rocks."

There were looks of doubt that were on everyone's faces, but I just ignored them as I said, "Pull us over to the rocks."

The shadows looked nervous hearing this since they thought that I might be risking everyone's lives with this order, but I just calmly said, "You don't have to bring us all the way over, just bring us close enough that my voice will reach."

All of them looked at me with doubtful looks, but narrowing my eyes to look back at them did the trick.

I was the king after all, so I had a certain amount of prestige.

Though because of this, Cecilia and Veronica moved forward just in case.

It seemed like they were prepared to tackle me and take me down if it turned out to be nothing.

They really thought that I was crazy, but I didn't have time to deal with them right now.

When we came over to the rocks, I suddenly raised my voice to say, "I know that this is our first time meeting, but there's something that I must ask you. Do you want to become human?"

The moment that my voice fell, the singing stopped.

Chapter 880: Deal with a mermaid or a devil?

The moment that the singing stopped, everyone slowly regained their senses.

At that moment, all of the shadows drew out their weapons and prepared to fight, but they immediately dropped them again when they saw me glaring at them.

I gestured with my hand for them to lower it while I was glaring at them, so they had no choice but to lower their weapons in the end.

But the vigilant looks on their faces made it clear that they were ready to react if anything happened.

There was a long silence that lingered in the air before a voice that was as beautiful as the singing said, "Human, you're not afraid of me?"

I gave a chuckle as I said, "Why would I need to be afraid of you?"

"Hmm? What if I do something like this?"

As soon as that beautiful voice fell, there were large tentacles of water that came out of the river. These tentacles were raised in a way that they were all pointing at the ship.

With the way that these tentacles surrounded the ship, it was almost as if they were ready to slap the ship into pieces, sending them all into the depths of the water.

All of the shadows and my wives looked worried about this.

They looked at me as if they wanted me to pull out of this place, but I just ignored them all. Instead, I said with another chuckle, "What would you gain from doing that?"

There was silence that followed this before the beautiful voice started to laugh as well.

As that beautiful voice laughed, the water tentacles suddenly turned back into water that fell into the river.

Once the beautiful voice finished laughing, it said, "Human, what are you doing here? Or are you here because of the rumours that have spread about me?"

I just calmly said, "I'm here to meet you, nothing more, nothing less."

"But you asked if I want to become human?" The beautiful voice said with a confused tone.

"Isn't that what you want? Why else would you come to a place in the middle of nowhere like this?" I calmly replied.

Another silence followed before the beautiful voice said, "It seems like you know a lot about us."

"No more than the average person..." After a pause, I added, "Well, maybe a bit more than the average person."

Both of us laughed after I said this.

"So how about you come out and we have a talk?" I said after we finished laughing.

After a moment of pause, the beautiful voice said, "Alright."

With a splashing sound, there was something that came out from behind the rock.

The moment that the splashing sound was heard, all of the shadows immediately raised their guard once more. They raised their weapons even though I had told them to keep them down since they had no idea what was happening.

But they were surprised to see that the figure that came out from behind the rocks was much smaller than they thought.

After that figure swam closer, they were surprised to see that it wasn't much bigger than a human.

In fact, it was basically a human that was swimming over.

The only difference was that instead of legs, this person seemed to have a fish fin for a lower half.

A mermaid!

Everyone except for me was shocked the moment that they saw that it was a mermaid that was swimming out from behind the rocks.

It was clear that not a single person had expected to see a mermaid.

Once they slowly recovered from their shock, they all slowly looked at me as if they were looking for some kind of confirmation.

"Ah, he knew." That was the only thing that they thought when they saw the calm look that was on my face.

When the mermaid swam over, she looked right up at me and asked, "Human, you're not surprised? Is this perhaps not the first time seeing someone from my race?"

There was a faint smile that appeared on my face when I heard this.

It was indeed not the first time that I was seeing a mermaid, but that was only in terms of meeting mermaids in the game. It was my first time seeing a mermaid in real life like this, so it could still be considered a monumental moment.

However, most of that surprise was negated by the fact that...I had already met this mermaid before.

It wasn't that I had met this mermaid in this world before, it was that I had met this mermaid in the game before.

I knew exactly who she was, I even knew just what she looked like without any clothes on. Though she was only wearing a shell bra in the first place, it wasn't hard for most people to imagine it.

This was a beautiful mermaid with flowing red hair and beautiful sparkling blue eyes, similar to the little mermaid of my past life.

In fact, her name was even the same as that little mermaid.

Ariel.

It was clear where the creators of the game had drawn their inspiration from.

Though she did look a bit more mature than the little mermaid of my past life.

Seeing this smile on my face, the mermaid revealed a strange look before saying, "Then human, do you know why I'm here?"

I came out of my daze when I heard this and said with the same faint smile, "I know that you want to become human and I can help you with that."

This time, there was a surprised look that appeared on the mermaid's face.

It was clear that she wasn't expecting to hear this.

It was the latter part that she wasn't expecting to hear. After all, the way that this human said this was almost as if he already knew how she could become a human.

After a moment of silence, the mermaid narrowed her eyes to look at me before saying, "Are you sure that you can offer your flesh that easily?"

Flesh?

The others all revealed shocked looks when they heard this.

Was this a deal with a mermaid or a devil?