

Shota's Isekai NTR Adventure #Chapter 921: Unwavering loyalty - Read Shota's Isekai NTR Adventure Chapter 921: Unwavering loyalty

Chapter 921: Unwavering loyalty

Six hours, that was all it took for the former second prince to quell the unrest in the former Midra Kingdom.

When it was over, he even had me come to the balcony of the castle to announce that our kingdom was taking over the Midra Kingdom.

There were many people that came to the ceremony that seemed unwilling to accept this, but it didn't seem like they said a thing.

I could see that it was all because it was the former second prince making this announcement that they chose to accept this. Though at the same time, it seemed like many of them wanted the second prince to take over as the new king instead.

Their faces did look better when I announced that the former second prince would be the regent for the area, but it didn't seem much better.

Once that was over, the former second prince had his men take care of the rest before leading me to the royal study.

The two of us sat down while the guards just stood on the side.

The former second prince looked at me and we both agreed to let the guards leave, though Cecilia did stay behind.

The former second prince raised a brow to question it before it seemed like he had remembered something. He looked at Cecilia for a few seconds before giving a nod as if agreeing to her being here.

The three of us just sat there in silence for a bit before the former second prince started making some tea for all three of us.

It was at that moment that I said, "Former second prince, no, Regent Andrew, do you want to tell me what your goal is now?"

The former second prince, the one who was now known as Regent Andrew stopped when he heard this. However, he didn't remain still for long as he continued making the tea.

Only when he finished pouring the cups for all three of us did he sit back down.

Even after sitting back down, he didn't answer my question as he just casually took a sip of his tea.

It was only after he put his cup down that he said, "I wish to serve you with unwavering loyalty, that is why I've put on this show."

The way that he said this was as if he had no hesitation at all.

It was as if he found that there wasn't a single thing wrong with what he said, even though his words seemed like they were wrong in the first place.

After saying this, Andrew looked me right in the eyes as if he was waiting for my answer.

My expression didn't change as I looked at him, but then I suddenly gave a laugh before saying, "Is that really all that there is to it?"

With a faint smile, Andrew said, "That is all there is to it."

He looked at me with a serious look before saying, "I can see that you are someone special. With the way that you ended the war, the way that you built a relationship with both the dwarves and the elves, the way that you tamed all of these wyverns, I can tell that you possess knowledge that no one else does."

I couldn't help feeling surprised, but I kept my face calm on the surface.

Andrew didn't seem to mind as he said, "I know that for someone like this, it's better to join them or take care of them as soon as possible." A faint smile appeared on his lips again as he said, "I've chosen to join you."

The way that he said this made his thoughts very clear, but there was something else that confused me.

Slightly knitting my brows, I asked, "Why?"

It seemed like a redundant question, but it was one that I had to ask.

This time, Andrew didn't answer right away.

After a slight pause, he said, "All I want is the prosperity of my people. I know that my father and his cronies would never be able to do that, so I chose to side with your majesty."

Then in a colder voice he said, "Of course, if your majesty strays down the wrong path..."

He didn't finish his words and there was no need for him to finish these words.

Hearing him say this and seeing the way that he looked, I couldn't help revealing a faint smile.

That was because he reminded me of the former fourth prince.

The game did set them as rivals, but it seemed that they were more similar than one thought.

Both of them just wanted what was best for their people, it turned out.

Well, this former second prince was a bit more extreme than the former fourth prince as he personally executed his own father and the nobles that once served him.

But I could tell that this was something that he did to show his determination.

Since that was the case...

"Well, I don't know anything about your unwavering loyalty, but I do understand your conviction. All I can say is that I won't trust your so called unwavering loyalty, but I do trust your conviction to your people."

Then in a colder voice, I said, "But if you ever cause harm to the people that I care about..."

I didn't finish my words just like Andrew had done earlier, but there was no need for me to finish these words in the first place.

Andrew revealed a smile when he heard this before bowing his head to say, "It is an honour to serve your majesty."

I gave a nod before saying, "Before you put any of your plans in action, at least give me a rough outline. That is the only thing that I request from you."

Andrew gave a slow nod in response with a faint smile on his lips.

He might be more extreme than the former fourth prince, but the former fourth prince had mellowed out.

So there was no reason why he shouldn't be able to.

Chapter 922: What did you just say?

Two days later, we were all gathered in the throne room.

Since most of the ministers of the former Midra Kingdom had been executed because of the former second prince, that meant that we had to get replacements for them.

The former second prince who was currently the regent was the one that picked them out.

They were all nobles that had been scattered around the country, who had been ignored by the previous king because of their lack of wealth.

For the previous king, the only ones that received positions were those that were able to afford bribes. As long as the bribes were big enough, they would receive a prestigious position in the capital.

That was why there was so much corruption in the former Midra Kingdom's government.

Those people were greedy people who only cared about their own benefits, they didn't care about the good of the people.

That meant that they didn't even have the skills to work in the positions that they held. This was the main reason why the former second prince had been so busy in the first place.

He had been the one that made up for all those incompetent people that had been in those positions.

Naturally, it was impossible for him to do this all on his own since he was just one person. There were too many departments for him to take care of all on his own.

So there were already people that were trained to take over the positions that had been emptied because of the executions.

But these subordinates of the former second prince weren't the ones that took these positions.

These subordinates of the former second prince weren't nobles, so they couldn't take these positions.

The noble caste were still in charge in this world, so it wasn't as if commoners could just take positions like this.

That was why the ones that took these positions were nobles summoned from around the country.

They were partly figureheads and they were partly department heads since they knew what they were doing. But in the end, it was the subordinates of the former second prince that would be doing most of the work required.

This meeting that we were currently in was just for them to report to me what the current situation of the former Midra Kingdom was.

Since my kingdom had taken over the Midra Kingdom, I should at least know what was happening in these lands.

But for the most part, I was just bored.

This wasn't the kind of thing that I dealt with in the first place, so it wasn't as if I could make heads or tails of most of the things that they presented to me.

I had some idea because of my modern era education, but there were just too many details for me to understand what was happening.

Most of this would be left to the prime minister when he came out to supervise this place.

Since we had taken over, naturally a message had been sent to the prime minister who would come here to supervise the takeover. He would work with the regent and organize how these people would fit into the departments that ran the Kite Kingdom.

Though judging by the letter that the prime minister sent back, it didn't seem like he was happy that I had revealed my identity when taking over.

He stated that Klein was more than enough of a representative to accept this surrender and that there was no need for me to personally do it.

But it wasn't as if this was my idea.

It was the regent's idea to do this kind of handover since it seemed more official.

One could say that this was the only trap of the regent's that I had fallen for.

It was already too late to regret it, so I could only accept what happened and move on.

Though the consequences of my actions were a bit...

Well, it was just sitting here and listening to their reports, so it wasn't considered that bad of a punishment.

It was just a bit boring since I had no idea what they were even talking about.

After a certain point, it almost seemed like their words were blending together and I wasn't really hearing anything that they were saying.

At that point, I figured that I had sat there long enough that I could stand up and leave without a problem.

But before I could...

"New material has been detected. Host, please obtain a sample for the system."

"Huh?" I was frozen the moment that I heard this.

This was a voice that I hadn't heard in a long time since it had acted like a dead fish this entire time.

But there was no mistaking this voice since it was a voice that only I could hear.

Not a single other person in this room reacted to this voice since they couldn't hear it in the first place.

Even without that, it was a voice that I would never mistake since it was a unique voice that didn't belong in this world.

It was the mechanical voice of the system.

I had to sit there in a daze for a few seconds to react to what the system had said, but then I quickly said, "What did you just say?"

Everyone in the room was shocked to hear me suddenly speak up like this.

I had been fairly silent the entire time, so they had just been going about their reports like it was normal.

The one who was currently up there reading was someone from the department of land management who was reporting on the various resources of the kingdom.

He didn't think that he did anything wrong, so he was shocked to hear this and a bit afraid.

The regent said, "Your majesty, if there's a problem, we can..."

I raised my hand to stop him before saying to the person reporting, "Just read back what you said earlier, I missed something."

It seemed like everyone let out a sigh of relief when they heard this, but they didn't let their guards down yet.

"The ores that we have in abundance are iron ores, copper ores, void ores..."

"Wait, what are these void ores?"

Chapter 923: Void Ore

"The Void Ores?" The person who was reporting had a confused look on his face when he heard this.

I nodded before saying, "Tell me everything that you know about these Void Ores."

Everyone in the room looked confused when they heard this, though it seemed like there were different reasons for the confusion.

Klein and the others were confused since they didn't know what these Void Ores were either.

But the ones that came from the former Midra Kingdom were confused like they didn't know what was special about these Void Ores. They were confused like I had asked them a question about something that everyone should know.

It was the regent who took over explaining what the Void Ores were.

The Void Ore was a special ore that was found in the Midra Kingdom's land and the reason it wasn't as well known was because...

"It has no use at all."

The Void Ore was hard to break down and it seemed to be resistant to magic to a certain extent.

Well, resistant was a bad way to put it since it was better to say that it directly absorbed magic or rather it absorbed mana out of the air.

That meant that even natural fire that had traces of mana in it would be weakened because it would be absorbed by the Void Ore.

Right now, the only reason that it was being mined was because of how hard it was. It was used in different places as a type of paperweight rather than being used for anything proper.

The few samples that were melted down with special flames were turned into special shields that were strong against magicians, but these things weren't used for long either.

After all, there were rumours that the Void Ore shields would explode.

It wasn't just a rumour actually.

Since the regent was the former second prince, he had access to records that no one else could access. Those records showed that in the past, when they used one of the Void Ore shields too much, it suddenly exploded.

No one understood why it exploded like that, but no one dared to use items made from Void Ore that easily since then.

They were afraid that the same thing would happen where the Void Ore would explode like before.

So all of the Void Ore shields that had been made before were stored in the royal treasury.

It did take quite a bit of effort to make these Void Ore shields, so they were considered treasures.

After hearing everything that the regent had to say about the Void Ore, I was filled with excitement.

Though I did keep a calm look on my face and didn't show any of the excitement that I felt. The more that I heard about this, the more certain of a guess that I had about the Void Ores. After all, it seemed like the only logical explanation for the properties of the Void Ores. But I didn't let myself get too excited just in case I was wrong.

If I let myself get too excited, then I would just be disappointing myself in the end.

The system hadn't said a single thing even though the regent had said all of this, so there was no way of confirming if what he said was real or not. At the same time, there was no way of confirming if my guess was correct or not.

The only thing left for me to do now was...

"Show me a sample of the Void Ore. I'm sure that you have a sample in the castle, right?"

Everyone was once again surprised and confused when they heard this.

They all looked at me with a strange look as if they couldn't understand why I was so insistent about this Void Ore. But there wasn't anyone that said anything since they didn't have enough information to say anything.

They just waited to see what would happen.

The regent paused for a few seconds, but he eventually nodded in agreement before saying to everyone, "Then let's adjourn the meeting here. We'll come back tomorrow and continue this meeting then."

Then after that, he stood up and waved at me to follow him as he walked out of the room.

Though they had been dismissed, it didn't seem like anyone was planning to leave.

They were all staring over at me as I stood up to follow the regent.

At the same time, there were a few people that came along as if they wanted to see what would happen.

There were Klein and a few other royal guards, as well as people from the former Midra Kingdom.

All of them were higher ranked than the others, which was why they had been chosen as the representatives to follow me.

I followed the regent without a word until we arrived at what seemed to be a storage room. However, this wasn't just a simple storage room.

The luxurious decorations on the door, the powerful guards that stood at the entrance, and all the different small things about this place made it clear that this was a very special place.

This was the royal treasury.

The regent just gave a simple nod to the guards that were at the door before saying, "Open the doors."

The guards were surprised to hear this and to see us here, but they still followed the regent's orders.

When the doors opened, there was this sparkle that came out from inside.

All of the things in this royal treasury were the precious items that had been stored by the former Midra Kingdom's royal family over the years. Any one of these things would be considered a priceless treasure if they were taken out, but they were all gathered here. However, the regent just ignored all of this as he headed in a certain direction.

Only when he reached a corner did he pick something up and turn around with it in his hand. "This is the Void Ore shield."

Chapter 924: Energy conversion system

The thing that he was presenting to me was this dark and round thing that seemed like a plate rather than a shield.

But since the regent was calling this thing a shield, then it should be the Void Ore shield that he mentioned earlier.

Looking at this thing, it didn't seem that special at all.

However, I could tell that there was a strange feeling that was coming from it.

I slowly took the shield from the regent and held it in my hands without saying a thing.

Everyone looked at me with a strange look, but I just kept silent as I waited for a response from a certain something.

Well, it wasn't as if I wasn't doing anything at all.

I was also probing the Void Ore shield in my hand to see if there was anything special about it.

I remembered the regent saying that this was an ore that could absorb mana, so I gathered some of my mana in my hand to see what would happen.

As expected, the Void Ore shield in my hand started to absorb the mana that was gathered around my hands. It was absorbing it so fast that I had to quickly scatter that mana before it completely drained me of all my mana.

It seemed that the absorption power of this Void Ore was quite good that it was able to absorb all of this mana in an instant.

After it absorbed this mana from me, I could also feel the mana that was gathered inside of it.

It seemed that it had been empty after being left alone for so long, but now that it had absorbed some of my mana, I could feel the mana that was coming from inside of this Void Ore shield.

It was only because my mana sensitivity was better than most people that I could tell that there was a capacity to this Void Ore shield.

If I had to guess what happened before, they most likely overloaded the Void Ore shield that exploded.

There was only a certain capacity that could be put into this Void Ore shield and if they tried to put more than that in, it would result in a burst of energy. Namely, it would result in an explosion that released all of the energy in one violent burst.

But that did get me thinking...

"If this thing can store mana, does that mean that it can also...?"

I didn't get a chance to finish this thought as the system suddenly gave a notification.

"Special material has been found. New energy conversion system has been created. New products are available to be produced."

The moment that I heard this, I realized that my guess was correct.

After all, the system has just created an energy conversion system for me, which meant that it was possible to store mana inside of this Void Ore.

Though I was a bit confused why it created an energy conversion system.

That was until I realized that even though there was a way to store mana in this Void Ore, that didn't mean that there was a way to get mana out of it. So the system had to develop a completely new system to achieve this.

What the system had just made was a battery.

That was right, this Void Ore could be used to create a battery that stored mana and that mana could be used to power different things.

As for what it would be used to power...

Right now, there was only the new sex toy that the system had developed.

However, since it was a battery, that meant that there were different things that it could be used in. As long as there was an energy conversion system and it was used to take power from the Void Ore, it could be used to power all kinds of things.

With my ideas from the modern era, it would only be a matter of time before all kinds of things were created in this medieval magic world.

Or at least that was what I thought until the system said, "Host, please do not arbitrarily raise the technological level of this world. The system will not allow its energy conversion system to be used in this manner."

There was a bitter feeling that filled me when I heard this, but I could tell that there was no convincing the system.

It was clear by the tone of the system's voice that it would do all that it could to stop me. That included taking away this reward that I had just earned.

If I tried anything with the Void Ore, it wouldn't be surprising if the system took away the energy conversion system.

Still, being able to get a new product from the system was already a good thing.

The last one was the dildo bat and it was now standard issue in our army.

I'm certain that whatever this was now, it wouldn't be worse than the dildo bats.

The only thing that I had to do was arrange for the Void Ores to be sent back to my former territory where the factory was set up.

As soon as the Void Ores were delivered there, I could start producing these new things.

But even before that...

"This Void Ore is exactly what I'm looking for. Where is the mine that this Void Ore came from?"

The regent was surprised to hear this question from me before slightly knitting his brows as if he didn't know how to answer this.

It wasn't strange that he didn't know how to answer this since no one would have expected me to suddenly ask something like this.

After a moment of silence, he said, "There's a vein not far from the capital..."

"Good! We're going there now!" I said in an excited voice.

Once again, no one knew how to react.

But they didn't get a choice in this matter since I was already leaving the royal treasury and heading to where the wyverns were.

The only thing that everyone could do was follow me.

Chapter 925: Sample

With the wyverns, we made our way out of the capital city and to the place where the mine was.

There weren't many people at this mine since there wasn't a high demand for the Void Ores in the first place.

The only reason why there was even a mine set up here was because of the royal family.

They didn't want this resource to be wasted, so they were gathering it in hopes of finding some kind of use for it.

So it didn't matter that we showed up all of a sudden.

Though the people that were working in the mines were freaked out when they saw the wyverns appear.

Even though the second prince had received wyverns previously, the wyverns were rarely seen since they had been kept in the capital. The former king and his noble lackeys had kept the wyverns near them the entire time.

They had treated these wyverns as their personal defense tools instead of things that could be used to defend the entire country.

That was how the wyverns were wasted in the end.

That was also why most people were terrified to see wyverns since they weren't used to seeing them.

It was completely different from our kingdom where people were just used to seeing the wyverns flying around and they weren't afraid of them anymore. Though it was a bad thing that they were curious about wyverns that they approached most wyverns that appeared.

If it was a wyvern that wasn't controlled by me that appeared, then it would cause a large disaster with the people of my kingdom approaching them.

It could be said that they lost their natural fear and their natural defenses against wyverns with the way that they had been desensitized, but that was just how it was.

After landing at the mine, I didn't even bother listening to what the foreman had to say as I said to the regent, "Get them to take out a sample for me."

The regent had a bitter smile when he heard this, but he still said to the foreman, "Can you bring out some of the freshly mined Void Ores?"

The foreman naturally knew who the regent was since he was the former second prince and this was a mine that was owned by the royal family, but he couldn't help wondering who the person commanding the regent was.

Seeing the way that the foreman looked over here, the regent said, "This is our new king." The foreman and all of the other miners were shocked to hear this, but then they quickly ran off to get the Void Ores that they were asked for.

I narrowed my eyes to look at the regent as if I could tell what he was trying to do, but I didn't say anything after that.

It didn't take long for the foreman and the miners to come back since it was the regent that was asking this of them. When they came back, their hands were filled with Void Ores.

It seemed that they had brought as many as they could carry.

But when they came over, they just awkwardly stood there since they hadn't thought about where to put these ores.

The regent shook his head and pointed at the ground before saying with a sigh, "Just drop it on the ground."

The foreman and the miners slowly nodded before dropping them down, but they looked like they still felt awkward and wanted to do something.

I just ignored them as I went forward to pick up one of the Void Ores.

This ore wasn't refined yet, so there were still bits of stone that were attached to it.

Even then, the moment that I picked it up, there was a notification from the system. "Yes." I silently said in my mind.

When I said this, the Void Ore suddenly disappeared and the stones that were attached to it fell to the ground.

This was done in front of everyone, so they were all shocked to see the Void Ore suddenly disappearing like this.

Once again, I just ignored them all as I focused on the system notifications.

"Void Ore sample has been obtained. The new product design has been released and a sample has been provided. Host, please take a close look at the new product sample."

My eyes lit up the moment that I saw this notification.

There was no hesitation at all as I opened up the system inventory and my eyes went right to the new thing that was added.

After thinking about it, I closed my hand.

When I opened it again, there was a small thing that was in it.

In my other hand was a remote that was connected to this small thing.

The small thing that had appeared in my hand was a little round thing that seemed like a bead, but it was longer than a normal round bead would be. At the same time, it was this strange pink colour that seemed out of place.

But there was a faint smile that appeared on my lips when I saw this thing since it was a staple in the world of sex toys.

With the remote in my other hand, I turned the knob a bit.

The moment that I turned it, the small bead that was in my hand started to vibrate.

I didn't keep testing this thing and put it back into the system inventory before turning to everyone who was looking at me with a strange look.

Since I had my back to them all, they hadn't seen what I had done and they hadn't seen the thing that I took out.

Once more, I ignored all of them as I turned to the regent and asked, "Can you send this to a place for me each month? I need a set amount of this to be sent to that place every month." The regent was surprised and confused to hear this, but he slowly gave a nod in response.

I patted his shoulder with a smile on my face as I said, "Good."

It seemed that I would be able to get a steady supply of these Void Ores.

Chapter 926: Yelled at Another few days passed before the prime minister arrived.

When he arrived, he came in a large group of carriages.

Otherwise if he came on the wyverns, it wouldn't have taken him more than two days to come even with the large group that he had brought with him.

It was just that he couldn't move all of those wyverns that easily since this was a tense situation.

There was no doubt that the surrounding countries had already found out that the Midra Kingdom was being taken over by the Kite Kingdom. If there were many wyverns that were moved at this time, they would misunderstand this as the Kite Kingdom mobilizing their troops for an invasion.

We had just finished a war, we couldn't fight a second one that easily or our people would suffer.

So the prime minister came in carriages.

As soon as he arrived in the capital, there was a large commotion that was stirred.

The regent actually didn't restrict the number of people that came to watch, so the streets were completely crowded. There were waves of people that were on both sides of the street and there were even people that were on the rooftops.

No matter how one looked at it, this seemed like a situation that was ripe with danger.

It seemed like a perfect chance to assassinate someone.

But that didn't happen in the end.

Since the regent planned for this, he naturally secured the whole area so that nothing like this could happen.

When it was over, it seemed like the citizens of the former Midra Kingdom were placated about the fact that their kingdom was being taken over. It seemed like they understood that the new rulers wouldn't be as bad as the old ones, so there was something to look forward to. It seemed that the regent had already thought of everything.

It was just too bad that they never got to see the other side of the prime minister, a side that only a few people would be able to see.

It was different from the usual calm and collected manner that he had.

Though this was a side of him that even I rarely saw because he usually tolerated what I did quite a bit.

"Your majesty, what do you think you're doing?"

Those were the first words that came out of the prime minister's mouth when he saw me.

He didn't call me brother in law, he just simply called me your majesty in this cold voice.

It was clear that he had completely lost his temper and that there was a lecture that was about to come.

But since we were in front of everyone else...

I just raised my hand and said with a smile, "Sorry, I didn't follow the plan."

The prime minister was completely taken aback when he heard this.

He looked at me as if he didn't know what to say, which gave him the time to realize the place that we were in.

It seemed that he had forgotten himself a bit in the rage that he felt over what I had done that he actually forgot where we were.

Once he calmed himself down enough and realized this, the prime minister gave a cough before saying, "In the future, please inform me before you do anything."

The two of us both felt strange when he heard this since it was a familiar scene.

Though it was usually me saying this rather than the prime minister.

But this wasn't the only thing that the prime minister had for me.

He came forward and leaned in to say, "The queens asked me to bring this letter for you."

I trembled the moment that I heard this, but I took the letter that he offered me.

I knew that even though I had avoided being yelled at by the prime minister, it was impossible to avoid this second scolding.

There was no doubt that this second scolding would be much worse than the first one, but there was no one to blame but myself for this.

I was the one that went along with the former second prince's plan, so I could only live with the consequences of my actions.

But that was for later.

After this moment with the prime minister, I called him over to where everyone else was and introduced him to them.

The one that I was the most concerned about was the regent, the former second prince.

This former second prince and this former fourth prince, though they came from different countries, their reputations had been the same.

They had both been known as people who were calculating and would do what needed to be done.

Though based on what I had seen from the two of them, it seemed like the former second prince was more vicious than the former fourth prince.

At least when it came to family, the former second prince didn't show any mercy at all whereas the former fourth prince had just let someone else take care of it.

I was worried that the two of them might suddenly fight against each other for power.

As I watched with an anxious look, the two of them came up to each other after being introduced to each other. They just looked at each other for a bit as if they were sizing up the other side and then the prime minister and the regent reached out their hands at the same time.

They both reached out only a single hand, but it didn't seem like they were about to hit each other.

Instead, they just grabbed each other's hand and gave a shake.

The way that they looked at each other was as if they had suddenly found a friend.

It was as if they had connected on a deeper level, a level that didn't need a single word.

I couldn't help shaking my head with a bitter smile seeing this, but at least it seemed like they were getting along.

Chapter 927: Go do your job

After meeting, the two of them didn't waste any time at all.

The regent had already prepared the room, while the prime minister had prepared the people. That was the reason why there were so many carriages in the first place.

This was the start of another reporting session where the regent's subordinates gave different reports on the territory of the former Midra Kingdom.

This was something that had happened with me a few days ago, but I had interrupted them when I heard about the Void Ore.

Since then, I had been focused on different things that interested me instead of governing the land like the regent wanted me to. So there hadn't been another reporting session like this since I had gotten the Void Ore.

But it was different for the prime minister.

He was the one that took care of most of my duties in the first place, so it was only a given that he would be managing the territories of the former Midra Kingdom as well.

For that, he would need to know the situation of these territories and he would need subordinates that he could trust.

That was why he had brought all these people with him.

They would be his hands and legs in these different departments that would help transition them to becoming a part of the unified government.

That didn't mean that the prime minister was sacking anyone, he was just sending people to unite the two departments into one since this would all be the lands of the Kite Kingdom from now on.

In short, there was nothing for me to do since I wasn't a part of this in the first place.

The only thing that I could do was sit there with a bored look on my face as the regent and the prime minister organized everything.

But after a while, the prime minister turned to look at me and asked, "What are you still doing here?"

I was very confused when I heard this.

I didn't understand what he meant by this and was even more confused with the tone of voice that he had.

The way that he said it was almost as if he expected me to already know what I should be doing.

But I had no idea what the prime minister expected of me.

Seeing that I wasn't moving, he said, "Go and take care of them already."

"Take care of who?" I couldn't help asking in a confused voice.

The more that he pushed me, the more confused that I was.

But it wasn't as if we were in a relationship where I wasn't able to ask anything.

So I just directly asked him what he wanted me to do.

The prime minister looked at me with a surprised look for a bit.

The way that he looked at me was almost as if he was trying to figure out if I was being serious or not. But after looking at me like this for a bit, he realized that I really didn't know what he was talking about.

So the prime minister lowered his voice and waved for me to come closer before saying, "The monsters are still active in this place. Since they are active, naturally we have to do something about it since this will become land of our kingdom soon. You're the only one that can deal with that, right?"

I was surprised to hear this since I hadn't even thought about this after taking over.

We were supposed to take care of this problem, but we had stopped because of what happened with those that had been sent to watch over us. Because of them, we had been pretending that we were tired the entire time and had never taken care of these areas of increased monster activity.

Though I was more surprised that the prime minister was actually agreeing to me going personally.

Before this, he had been a strong opponent of me going personally to handle these matters. He had wanted me to send the royal guards to take care of this on my behalf instead of me going to handle this matter personally. Now he actually agreed to send me out to take care of this matter myself.

It seemed that his opinion on this matter had changed.

Though it still confused me why his opinion on this matter had changed.

After a moment of silently looking at the prime minister, I figured out what it was.

He accepted the fact that there was no one else that was able to do the same thing that I could do. After everything that happened, the prime minister just accepted that I had abilities that no one else could copy or match.

There were things that could only be handled if I took care of them personally.

As such, the prime minister decided to leave these matters to me.

Well, this was the best decision that he could make since only I was able to take care of these things. Even if he wanted to leave this matter to someone else, I definitely wouldn't have agreed to this.

After all, I had already seen the concentration of demonic energy that these crystals contained.

Even if he wanted to send someone else, there was no way that they would have been able to deal with these crystals.

If something went wrong, they would all die.

If things took a turn for the worst, there was a chance that they would be corrupted or the wyverns would be corrupted by the demonic energy.

If a wyvern were to be corrupted by the demon energy, then it would be a disaster.

So that was the last thing that could be allowed to happen.

With a nod, I said, "Alright, then I'll be taking Klein and the others."

The prime minister gave a nod before saying, "Take care of everything."

There was some kind of implication in his voice, as if he was worried about something else.

I didn't need to think to guess what he was implying, so I just gave another nod in response.

Chapter 928: Variant monsters

With Klein and the other wyvern riders, we headed off right away.

I left the meeting to the prime minister and the regent, though it wasn't as if I would have gained anything from staying there.

The only thing that was developing was a headache rather than knowledge.

So it was a better use of my time to take out these places that were filled with monsters instead.

After all, I should be the only one that could handle this.

Since we were going out again, that meant that we would need a guide to show us all of these places.

Instead of being followed by people who only wanted to watch over us, we were now being followed by people that actually wanted to help.

That included the same dark clothed person that the former second prince sent before.

This person was following us as a guide that would lead us to the different places filled with monsters.

The first place that we arrived in was a canyon filled with orcs.

This was a place that had been blocked off since there were only so many entrances to this canyon in the first place. So that meant the ones that were assigned here faced fighting that was quite intense.

They would have to fight several times a day against the monsters that tried to escape this canyon.

It was clear by their appearances that they had all suffered injuries to varying degrees fighting these monsters, but it didn't seem like they were planning to give up. Even though they had been injured to this degree, it seemed like they were still willing to keep fighting for those that they protected.

It seemed that even though the Midra Kingdom had terrible people at the top, there were still good people at the bottom.

The country shouldn't be judged just based on the people that were at the top, there were people that could be considered good at the bottom.

As we arrived, there was a commotion that came from the canyon itself.

As soon as the soldiers heard this, they didn't even bother greeting us as they armed themselves.

It was clear that there were monsters that were trying to escape.

So they were all arming up to face these monsters.

It was just that...

"Ah! They're not just normal orcs! There are high orcs!"

"It's not just high orcs, there are also Black Orcs and Blood Orcs!"

"There's no way that we'll be able to fight all of these orcs!"

The commander gritted his teeth when he heard this, but he still raised his weapon and said, "It doesn't matter! We just have to fight them for our families! Charge!"

The soldiers hesitated a bit, but they still followed the commander's orders in the end.

It seemed that these soldiers were quite brave, but I had already seen this during the war when I slaughtered the Midra Kingdom army.

But this time, there was no need for them to kill themselves like this.

I waved my hand at Klein and he nodded back at me before saying, "Charge!"

As soon as he gave this order, the wyverns dive bombed the orcs that were charging up from the valley. As they dive bombed the orcs, there were flame breaths that were unleashed on these orcs.

Different from when we fought in the forest, we used the flame breaths without any hesitation here. This place wasn't a place that was filled with things that could burn, the canyon was just filled with rocks and more rocks.

So there was no reason for us not to use the wyvern flame breaths.

With the flames raining down, there was the smell of burnt pig that filled the air.

Though there were some of these orcs that didn't burn from the flame breaths of the wyverns.

These were the orc variants that were mentioned before.

The Black Orcs and the Blood Orcs were variants for a reason, they had skin that was much thicker than the normal orcs and were able to resist the flames.

Though it was impossible for them to completely resist the flame breaths of the wyverns so they were still burnt to a certain extent.

But the flame breaths didn't completely rout them like with the other orcs.

These Black Orcs and Blood Orcs continued charging, but all that meant was that they charged into the claws of the wyverns.

There were wyverns that shot flame breaths and there were wyverns that dived down with their claws.

Even if their skin was thick enough to resist the flames of the wyverns, that didn't mean that they were thick enough to resist the sharp talons of the wyverns.

They were ripped apart before they could even realize what happened.

With the combination of flames and claws, the orcs were all wiped out in no time.

But even with the orcs gone, the soldiers didn't let their guards down for a single second.

They were looking at the wyverns as if we were the next enemy.

In the end, it took the former second prince's seal to convince them that we weren't and the elite guard of the former second prince explained everything.

The commander quickly bowed his head to me as he said, "Your majesty, I never thought that you would personally come to our rescue. This is..."

He didn't get a chance to keep going since I knew that he would just keep flattering me.

I cut him off by asking, "The orc variants, how long has it been since they started showing up?"

The commander was surprised to hear this question, but he answered with a bitter smile, "Today was the first day. If they showed up before this, there would have been no way for us to stop them."

I gave a nod as if I agreed with him.

I could see the soldiers that were here, so I knew that what he said was true.

But that wasn't a good thing either.

It seemed that the monsters were changing into higher ranked variants and there were so many of them that they were even coming out of their breeding grounds.

Just how powerful would the monsters guarding the crystal be?

Chapter 929: Sped up

Since there was the chance that there would be more variant monsters coming out, I didn't want to take any risks.

This place was now part of our kingdom since the former Midra Kingdom's territory was now incorporated into the Kite Kingdom's territory.

So that meant that these people were our people and it was our duty to protect them.

So I had Klein pick out ten wyvern riders to leave here.

Ten would be enough to clear out the orcs even if there were variants.

But it wasn't just ten that we were leaving here.

We also sent twenty other wyverns out to check the other entrances into the canyon.

They would provide support if necessary, but their main task was to patrol the area around this canyon to see how many variant orcs there were.

They didn't understand why I gave them this order, but they would follow that order.

The rest of us had the hard task of clearing out the valley and reaching the crystal that was buried somewhere here.

After all, if we only took the crystal away, that wouldn't get rid of the orcs.

Instead, that would just cause them to leave the canyon en masse and swarm to the villages that were around the area. That would cause even more damage and that was something that we were trying to avoid.

So we had to clear out some of the orcs that were in the valley.

As we headed down, we found that there were far more orcs than expected.

We never would have expected all of the orcs that were waiting for us inside of this canyon.

It seemed like there were even more orcs than could fit in this place, but they had built several camps all over the place.

They didn't know we were here since we were watching them from above, but we could see everything about these camps.

Including the fact that there were many variant orcs that were wandering around in these camps.

It seemed like almost the entire camp was made of variant orcs.

What we had seen before was just the peak of the iceberg, they were the ones that were too weak to remain in the canyon and had been forced out by the variant orcs that were still in the canyon.

They weren't even the strongest even though they were variant orcs.

It seemed that the orcs in the canyon had developed much faster than anyone would have expected them to develop.

It should have been only around a month since the monsters started showing increased activity and yet there were so many of these variant monsters already.

It was almost as if their development was being sped up.

If we hadn't taken care of the crystals that were in our kingdom, would the same thing that happened here have happened in our kingdom?

Would we have had to deal with the same thing as this?

That was a thought that passed through my mind, but I quickly shook that away since it didn't have anything to do with this situation.

Even if that was the case, there was nothing to gain from thinking about it.

Rather, it was better to focus on taking care of the orcs in front of us.

So I gave a nod to Klein and he started the attack.

Even if they were variant orcs, that didn't mean that they were strong enough to overcome the flame breaths of the wyverns.

Not to mention that with the flame breaths, we were basically able to trap the orcs in their camp.

Their camp was made of wood since that was the extent of the building abilities of the orcs, even if they had evolved into variants.

So the camp was easily lit on fire by the flame breaths that rained down on the orcs.

The orcs didn't stand a chance at all as they were surrounded by the flames and burnt to a crisp.

Though as variant orcs, they did have a certain amount of intelligence and tried to break free of the burning camp.

There were some that gathered some of the weaker orcs to act as orc shields for them as they broke through the flaming walls.

It was just too bad that all of these orcs met the same fate.

They were faced with the sharp talons that came right at them

They didn't stand a chance as they were ripped apart by the sharp talons and then left to burn to a crisp in the flaming camp.

When it was all over, there were only ashes that were left behind.

None of us felt a single thing as we looked at the ashes that had been the orc camp in front of us.

We all knew that if we had left them be, the orcs would have just harmed more people.

it was better to kill them all than to leave them in a position where they could have harmed more people.

We didn't even bother cleaning up the camp since there was nothing to gain from that.

Once we finished off this camp, we headed off in a certain direction.

I was the one that was leading the group since I was the one that could sense the demonic energy.

But along the way, we stopped to clear out several more camps.

Even though there were variant orcs in all of these camps, it wasn't hard for us to clear them out since we had the wyverns with us.

The wyverns really were cheats in that the orcs couldn't do a single thing against them.

They were just too strong for the orcs to fight back against.

So with these wyverns, we were able to clear out several more orc camps and thin out the herd of orcs in this canyon.

Once we took the crystal, it should be easier for us to sweep through this canyon and wipe out the rest of them.

As for the crystal, I was able to follow the trail to where it was buried.

Chapter 930: Defending the crystal

As we followed the trail, there was something that seemed off.

It seemed that the closer we came to the source of the demonic energy, the more orcs that were along the way.

Even though we had already expected orcs to be there, it was an abnormal increase.

It was almost as if they had deliberately gathered in the path of the source of the demonic energy. It was almost as if they were spread out in a manner that would allow them to create walls on the path to the source of the demonic energy.

That didn't seem right since these orcs shouldn't be smart enough for something like this. Especially with how they ran as soon as they encountered the wyverns.

They were scattered like bowling pins in front of the might of the wyverns and they ran right away, with no intentions of staying in the burning camps to keep protecting this path.

The way that they just scattered right away instead of standing to the end was as if they had been ordered to stay here, rather than choosing to stay here.

It was as if there was something or someone that had told them to guard this place.

It was hard to tell what it was just based on the clues so far, but I could guess what it was. That guess was confirmed when we finally reached the source of the demonic energy.

At this point, it was so dense that it was almost impossible to miss it.

That was because there was a camp that was right above the area where the crystal was buried. At the same time, it seemed like the demonic energy was seeping right out of the ground up into the camp that was above it.

From above, we could see that the camp was filled with different variant orcs that all seemed quite powerful.

Each one seemed like they were stronger than the bosses of the camps that had been along the way.

But that wasn't the most surprising thing.

The most surprising thing was that at the center of the camp, there was an orc that was larger than the rest of the orcs sitting there. Atop this large orc's head was a crown that seemed to be made of leaves and branches.

Just a single glance was enough to tell that this should be the king of these orcs.

It seemed that they had evolved enough that there was a king that even evolved.

This was most likely the reason why the orcs had been stationed on the way to this place.

Was it because they could tell that staying in this place filled with demonic energy would make them stronger?

It seemed that was the case as the orcs were all gathered around the area where the demonic energy was the most concentrated.

It was only when they had to go out into the surrounding area to gather materials that they left this area.

When they could choose, they would always stay in the place that had the highest concentration of demonic energy.

They seemed to recognize that it did make them stronger to absorb this energy.

But I also couldn't help wondering if there was something about the crystal that naturally made the orcs want to protect it.

This wasn't the case with the other ones, but those ones didn't have the same concentration of demonic energy in them. Perhaps it was only when they reached this level that it would instill a desire to protect in the monsters that were nurtured.

It was a mystery since we had no idea what these crystals were in the first place.

"Your majesty, should we attack?"

I was pulled out of my thoughts by Klein who suddenly asked this.

After being pulled out of my thoughts, I said with a nod, "Yes, destroy them."

With that order, Klein didn't hesitate to give the order to attack.

Since there were stronger variants and this was our target in the first place, he took a different approach.

Instead of diving down and wiping them out quickly, he had the wyverns form a circle formation around the camp before shooting their flame breaths downwards.

This created a circle of flames around the camp that completely boxed the orcs in.

The orcs were gathered around the center of the camp, so it wasn't hard for us to trap them in this camp in the first place. With the way that they were gathered, it was almost as if they were asking to be trapped like this.

However, the orcs didn't seem as afraid of the flames as the other camps that we attacked. Since they were stronger variants, they had thicker hides than the other orcs that we killed.

It was just that it was impossible for them to stop all of these wyverns that were around them.

Orcs and wyverns, there was no need to compare the two.

If one flame breath wasn't enough to burn down an orc, then they would use two.

If two wasn't enough, then they would use four.

The flames that surrounded the camp were enough to make them cautious enough that they didn't scatter like cockroaches after the light was turned on. At the same time, it seemed that the Orc King was gathering them around it to protect something.

It was where the demonic energy was the most concentrated, so this was most likely where the crystal was buried.

The way that the Orc King acted was completely different from the way that the orcs acted previously.

The Orc King seemed like it was ready to lay down its life to defend this crystal.

It almost seemed like it cared more about the crystal than it did about its own life.

The other orcs though were just staying because they were being suppressed by the power of the Orc King.

It was the king of the orcs, so it had a natural suppression on them.

That meant that it was easy for us to pick them off one by one with the flame breaths and let the encroaching flames completely surround them.

Shota's Isekai NTR Adventure #Chapter 931: Sudden transformation - Read Shota's Isekai NTR Adventure Chapter 931: Sudden transformation

Chapter 931: Sudden transformation

With the flame breaths picking them off, the number of orcs started to decrease.

It was only a matter of time before there were only a few orcs that were surrounding the king.

All of them looked like they didn't know what to do and the only reason that they hadn't run off was because they had seen what had happened to those that ran off. They knew that there was nothing to gain from acting rashly like the others had done.

There was no loyalty in their actions at all, they didn't feel this kind of loyalty to the Orc King. They only cared about their own lives.

However, that didn't mean that they had all the time in the world to keep stalling like this.

They were surrounded in flames and the flames kept approaching them since everything in the camp was flammable. The camp was made of sticks and stones and those sticks burned quite well since this was a dry area in the first place.

Even if they were variant orcs and had resistant hide, that didn't mean that they would be able to stand in the flames forever.

The Orc King hadn't done anything this entire time because it was standing over where the crystal was.

With the way that it closed its eyes and ignored everything, it was as if it didn't care what was happening to the orcs that were around it.

All of a sudden, the eyes of the Orc King opened and it let out a roar.

This roar seemed to shake the entire area around it with how powerful it was.

At the same time, there were black lines that appeared on the skin of the Orc King. It was as if there was some kind of strange energy filling the Orc King's body that was corrupting it.

This strange energy also made the body of the Orc King swell up.

It was like the muscles of the Orc King were about to burst with how they were swelling. With this sudden change, the Orc King had grown to one and half times its normal size. At the same time, it had turned into a burst of muscles.

All of the orcs that had been around it couldn't help being pushed back by the Orc King's sudden change.

They didn't do anything even though the Orc King had suddenly changed like this and just looked at the Orc King in a daze, but that didn't mean that the Orc King remained idle.

The Orc King suddenly grabbed two of the orcs that were beside it by the head and then looked up into the sky.

Klein and the others were surprised to see the Orc King looking up at them like this, but they found that the Orc King was looking at two specific wyverns.

These were the ones that were the closest to the ground.

Lifting up the two orcs in its hands, the Orc King suddenly swung its hands with the two orcs in them at the two wyverns.

In the middle of its swing, the Orc King suddenly released the two orcs in its hands and sent the two orcs flying through the air at the wyverns that were flying there.

The two wyverns and the two riders that were on the wyverns were all caught off guard by the sudden actions of the Orc King. But that didn't mean that they didn't have a way to deal with this sudden attack.

The two wyverns just reached out with their claws and caught these orcs that had been thrown into the air.

Holding these orcs in their claws, they didn't hesitate to rip them apart.

The orcs still weren't able to react in time since they never expected the Orc King to throw them like this.

So they weren't even able to put up a fight as they were ripped in half by the wyverns.

The Orc King didn't seem to stop as it grabbed two more orcs around it.

The orcs had been in a daze since they never expected the Orc King to grab them like this and they weren't able to do a single thing. They could only let the Orc King just throw them like this at the wyverns.

The wyverns were considered S Rank for a reason.

It didn't matter which ore the Orc King threw into the air, they were able to grab them and rip them apart.

The orcs just had aggrieved looks on their faces as they died, as if they didn't think that they deserved this death.

After these four orcs were thrown into the air, the other orcs started to run in all directions. They didn't even bother attacking the Orc King since they knew that they wouldn't be able to win.

So they didn't care that they were surrounded by the flames like this and started running in all directions.

Klein immediately reacted to this as he split up the wyverns.

Half of them were shooting their flame breaths at the orcs that were running away and the other half were shooting their flame breaths at the Orc King.

The Orc King had grabbed two more orcs before they were able to get far away from it, but the Orc King didn't throw these two orcs at the wyverns. Instead, it swung the orcs in its hands at the plumes of flames that were coming at it.

It was using the orcs that had been its subordinates as orc shields against these flame breaths.

The orcs had strong skin and even stronger bones, so the Orc King was able to block the flame breaths with them. Though the burns on the bodies of these orcs used as shields made it clear that they were no longer alive.

At this point, they were nothing more than tools used by the Orc King to block these flame breaths.

It seemed that this Orc King was harder to deal with than they thought, but that didn't mean that they couldn't deal with it.

Simply put, they had the advantage of being able to fly in the air.

Chapter 932: Strange crystal

From our position in the air, Klein was able to easily take care of the orcs that were running away while suppressing the Orc King.

The Orc King was being shot at from different angles, so there was nothing that it could do other than suffer under the bombardment of these flame breaths.

It only took a few shots to destroy the shields that it was using, so there was nothing that it could do other than block the flame breaths itself.

The Orc King's fists were covered in this strange black energy as it swung at the flame breaths.

To our surprise, that black energy actually helped it block these flame breaths and it was able to punch through these flames.

But Klein didn't remain surprised for long as he said, "Keep shooting in turns. Don't let it have a chance to recover at all."

There was a reason why he was the captain, he wasn't affected that easily.

Even if the Orc King had a way to block it, it wasn't as if this was something that it could do forever. At the same time, it only had two hands in the first place.

When the flame breaths came from all directions, it was only able to block two of the attacks while the others hit it from behind, from the side, or even from the front when it blocked behind itself.

However, there was always this layer of black energy that appeared above the Orc King's skin whenever it was hit with these flame breaths.

This layer of black energy seemed to be the same layer of black energy that appeared around its fists.

At the same time, it was the same colour as the black lines that had suddenly appeared all over its body when it transformed earlier.

It was clear that whatever this black energy was, it came from the same source as those black lines.

That meant that eventually it would run out.

Once half the wyverns had taken care of the orcs that were running away, they focused their fire at the Orc King.

Now that there was a full bombardment coming down at it, the Orc King just wasn't able to fight back at all and was soon charred all over.

Even if it had the black energy still, it seemed like it was running out.

It seemed that the black lines on its skin were quickly disappearing, as if it was reverting back to the form that it had before.

Klein didn't let his guard down as he didn't let anyone go down to confront the Orc King.

Instead, he gave the order, "Keep firing until it's completely turned to cinders!"

So the wyverns and riders just kept flying there in the air shooting flame breaths in turn.

The Orc King was truly pitiful as there was nothing that it was able to do.

It tried its best to resist the flames that were coming down at it, but there was nothing left for it to resist with. It had simply run out of steam...or rather it had run out of energy.

The black lines faded from the Orc King's skin and it ran out of the black energy, so all it could do was resist with its hide.

It was able to take quite a few flame breaths and it didn't seem to move a single inch even though it was covered in burns.

The way that it stood there made it clear that it was protecting something.

It was just that it didn't have the power to protect it.

Eventually, the light in the eyes of the Orc King dimmed and it collapsed on the ground.

It was obvious that the Orc King was dead, but Klein...

"Keep firing."

He didn't stop them from shooting at the Orc King's corpse.

It might seem like he was being overkill, but with the way that the Orc King had suddenly transformed just now, there was no telling what could happen.

It wouldn't be strange if the Orc King was just playing dead and suddenly stood up when they went to land.

So Klein didn't take any chances as they kept firing at the Orc King's corpse.

With the amount of flames that landed on the Orc King's corpse, it wasn't able to resist at all as it was turned into ashes.

Only when the ashes were blown away in the wind did Klein finally give the order to stop shooting.

But that wasn't the only thing that he wanted to turn to ashes.

"Fire at the other corpses."

Even though they had followed him for a long time, everyone couldn't help looking at Klein with a strange look even though they still followed his orders.

When it was all over, the land had turned black, but there were no more corpses that were on the ground.

Only then did Klein give the order for the wyverns to land.

I gave him control of the battle, but I certainly didn't expect Klein to go this far.

Though I didn't oppose his ideas since there was nothing wrong with being cautious.

Once we came down, the first thing that I did was suck in the demonic energy that was around this area.

There was no way that we would be able to do anything here with how concentrated the demonic energy was, so I absorbed all of the demonic energy that was in the air here.

After that, I personally dug in the area where the demonic energy was the most concentrated. There was no way that they would be able to dig without causing a problem, so I had to do it personally.

As I dug, I drained away the demonic energy that was seeping out of the hole.

It really was too concentrated here that it was hard to dig without causing an explosion.

Finally, the crystal was revealed.

Though the moment that it was revealed, I couldn't help looking at it with a strange look.

This was a strange looking crystal.

Chapter 933: They were here as well

The crystal itself was the same as the other ones that we found, but it wasn't completely clear like the others.

Even the one that we had obtained from the Midra Kingdom before didn't look like this crystal.

In the center of the crystal was this black mass that seemed to be swirling around. With the way that it was moving, it seemed like some kind of black cloud that was condensed in the center of this crystal.

There was no real way to describe it, but it did seem like it was alive...

Almost like some kind of worm that was crawling around inside of the crystal.

After being stunned by this crystal, I grabbed it firmly in my hand and held it tight as I tried to absorb whatever was inside of the crystal.

But I found that other than the demonic energy that was leaking out, there was no way to absorb the black thing that was inside of this crystal. It almost seemed like this black thing wasn't just energy, but instead was some kind of matter.

There was no way of getting to this black thing since we couldn't break the crystal in the first place.

At the same time, there was no telling what would happen if the black thing inside of the crystal was released, so it wasn't as if we wanted to even break the crystal.

So the only thing that could be done was put this crystal in a special box and hope that it wouldn't do anything. At the very least, it didn't seem to be releasing any demonic energy after I drained it of the demonic energy that it had.

But there was still that black thing that was inside of the crystal.

What had changed in just a little bit that there would be this kind of crystal formed?

It wasn't just that crystal alone, it was also the Orc King.

Or rather the strange transformation that the Orc King did at the very end...

It seemed that there were far more mysteries concerning this crystal than we thought.

But for now...

The fact that this happened here meant that it was impossible for the same thing to happen in the different parts of the former Midra Kingdom's land.

It was clear that the longer that this was put off, the more dangerous things became. While it was unknown just how things would develop, it was clear that they would keep developing unless they were taken care of.

There was a bit of regret that filled us over not having dealt with this sooner.

It was clear that if we had dealt with this before, then things wouldn't have become as bad as this.

But at the very least, we could still depend on the wyverns to clean up the mess.

As long as we had the wyverns, we would be able to take care of any monsters that appeared regardless of what kind of monsters they were. Even if they were evolved variants of normal monsters, it should be easy to take care of them with the wyverns.

Though the real problem was that the same thing with the Orc King happened with the other monsters.

A Wolf King that was covered in black energy appeared in one forest.

A Goblin King that swelled up just like the Orc King appeared in another forest.

There were all kinds of different bosses that seemed to be drawing on the power of the crystal that appeared.

Though they were still no match for the wyverns that we brought with us.

Klein just used the same tactic where he bombarded down all of the bosses that we faced.

In the face of these flame breaths, the bosses really weren't able to do a single thing.

They could only accept the baptism by fire before being turned to ashes.

Each time that we finished off a boss, we would find the same thing.

After draining the area of the demonic energy, we would find a crystal that seemed to have something inside of it. However, not all of the crystals had the same black thing inside of it like the first crystal we found.

There was this blue thing that was inside of the one that the Wolf King was guarding.

There was a green thing inside of the one that the Goblin King was guarding.

It really seemed like they changed based on what kind of monster was present, but that still didn't explain what these things inside of these crystals were. It even added more confusion as none of us had a single idea what these crystals were.

"Just what is going on here..." I couldn't help muttering to myself as I held the crystals in my hand, looking at the strange coloured things inside of them.

But I was interrupted by...

"Your majesty, there are people that are here."

Klein suddenly spoke up which had brought me out of my thoughts.

I looked up at him and then followed his eyes to look at what he was looking at.

I wasn't surprised to see the things that were down there below us since we had already expected to find these things.

During this time, we had already found clues that they would be here, so we weren't surprised at all that they were here.

Since we had already encountered them in our own territory, it was only natural that we would encounter them here.

After all, they were the ones that were responsible for planting these crystals in the first place.

Down below us, hiding in the forest were a group of dark elves.

These dark elves thought that they were completely hidden, but they didn't know that we were watching from above.

This was the last place that needed to be cleared out, so it was only natural that this was the place that they would gather since there was someone removing the crystals.

It was what had happened back then and it was happening now.

"Make sure that you capture all of them." I calmly said to Klein. Klein just gave a simple nod in response.

Chapter 934: Need some ores

Half an hour later, all of the dark elves had been captured.

They had been no match for us in the past, so of course they were no match for us now.

The dark elves didn't even know what was happening as they were suddenly descended on by the wyverns. When they realized where they were, they had been clutched in the talons of the wyverns and disarmed.

They couldn't fight back at all as their hands and feet were tied up by the knight that was hanging on the claws of the wyverns.

So in no time at all, there were a bunch of tied up dark elves that were dropped on the ground.

The only reason it had taken half an hour was because there was one dark elf that had managed to escape.

It took half an hour to capture her since she ran quite fast.

It seemed that there was a reason why she had been able to escape from the claws of the wyverns.

But she was captured in the end since there was no way that she was able to outrun the claws of the wyverns. The wyverns were much faster and stronger than her, so it was only natural that she would be caught by them.

Once all of the dark elves were captured, we didn't waste any time.

This was the last area where monsters gathered, so it was time to clear it out.

The dark elves were left with ten knights with wyverns to be watched over, though it would be hard for them to escape in the first place as they were completely tied up. It was hard for them to even break free, let alone escape from this place.

With the other wyverns, we easily cleared the area where the monsters gathered.

It was a bunch of ogres and one giant ogre that received the buff of the crystal.

But with the wyverns, we easily burned them down just like before.

When I obtained the crystal, I found that it was also the same, though this time there was this yellow thing inside of it.

The strange thing was that no matter which crystal it was, there was never any that had the same coloured thing inside of it. It was as if all of these things inside had to be a different colour from each other.

I didn't think too much about it since there was something else that we needed to take care of. Once the crystal was obtained, I had the others pick up the dark elves and we headed back to the capital where the prime minister and regent were waiting for us.

It had been over a week now, so I was sure that they would be wondering where we were.

It was just too bad that this thought was wrong.

They didn't seem to care at all that we were gone as they were focused on organizing the territory of the former Midra Kingdom.

The prime minister's response when he saw us was...

"Oh, you're back."

There was a bitter smile that appeared on my face when I heard this from him, but I held that bitter feeling back.

After all, if one looked at it from a different angle, it was basically them saying that they had enough faith in us that we would handle this without a problem. That was why they hadn't been worried about us at all.

"Yes, that has to be the reason." I said as if I was trying to convince myself.

But there also wasn't time to be bitter as there was something else that had to be done.

"You've found dark elves?" The prime minister asked in a surprised voice.

He was surprised since he didn't think that we would be bringing them back, though he wasn't surprised to hear that there were dark elves. It seemed like he had already expected this to be the case since there was a precedent.

The regent was surprised though since he had no idea what was happening.

Once it was explained to him, the regent had a deep look of thought on his face before asking, "So what do we do with them?"

The prime minister revealed a strange look when he heard this before slowly turning to look at me.

With the way that he looked at me, it was clear that there was some kind of implication.

I could guess what he was thinking, but I didn't say anything. Instead, there was a look of deep thought that was on my face as if I was considering something.

Seeing this, no one said a thing as I was just deep in my thoughts.

It was as if they were all waiting for me.

It was as if they had confidence that I would be able to think of a solution.

As for what I was thinking about...

"Since I have the Void Ores now, I should be able to make the new things. But it'll take some time before they can be transported there and then there's the matter of transporting them back..."

"No, since I'm the king, I should be able to be a bit willful. After all these are things that are needed to help my country."

As this thought passed through my mind, I slowly came to a decision.

"Throw them in the dungeon for now." I said all of a sudden.

Everyone seemed surprised to hear me say this, but I wasn't finished yet.

"The Void Ore, I need a bunch of the Void Ore."

They all looked at me with a strange look, but eventually the regent said, "Your majesty, what do you mean by that?"

"I mean get a bunch of the Void Ores for me, I'm going to bring it somewhere with the wyverns."

They looked at me with even more confused looks in the end, but I just simply said, "Trust me on this. I know what I'm doing."

It took a while, but they eventually gathered the Void Ores for me and I headed off.

Chapter 935: Speedy delivery

As we were flying through the air with the Void Ores, the ones that had come with me all looked at me with strange looks.

After all, they were all wyvern riders that were considered elites.

They never thought that they would be used on a simple task such as delivering ores.

It didn't seem like a task that matched their status as wyvern riders.

If it wasn't for the fact that I was the king, then they most likely would have objected to this order.

I just ignored all of them as I focused on delivering the Void Ores.

Even though we had so many Void Ores, it wasn't a problem for the wyverns at all. The wyverns were just too strong to be bothered by a simple load of Void Ores.

That was how strong the wyverns were.

I certainly didn't expect the wyverns to be this capable at transporting goods.

In the future, it might even be a good idea to use wyverns to transport other goods such as military goods. Or it might even be possible to have wyverns replace carriages and ships in transporting normal goods.

Though it seemed very unlikely with how unwilling the riders of these wyverns seemed.

Perhaps it might be possible if there were more wyverns, but it was impossible to keep up just by raising the wyverns alone.

There were wyverns in other countries after all.

It might be a bit hard to subdue them, but it wasn't as if it was impossible to do that.

It seemed like it was a matter that would be solved in time, it wasn't something that could be solved in a day or two.

For now, it was better to focus on what was happening in front of us.

With the wyverns, it took no time at all to reach my town.

Though it was certainly a surprise for the people of my town to see me again.

Even before I was the king, I was already well known in the town.

Once I became the king, I became even more famous in this town.

It reached the point where everyone recognized me with just a single glance.

This wasn't a good thing though, especially since we arrived in a very conspicuous manner such as landing with wyverns.

It took no time at all to draw in a crowd, but I needed space since I wanted to go to the factory as soon as possible.

It was a good thing that Rose left someone very capable in charge.

Nicole immediately came out and cleared everyone away with Jessica before they escorted me to the factory. Though I could see in the distance that there were some people that were following us.

I knew that these people didn't have any bad intentions since they were people from my town. These were people that had lived in the town even before I had become a baron.

As for the reason why they were following us...

Well, one could say that they were fans.

They often talked with me when I was still the baron and slowly gained more and more respect for me. I didn't know what Rose did while I was gone, but each time they were filled with more and more respect for me until they became obsessed fans.

So that was why I wasn't concerned when I saw them following us.

Though I didn't let them enter the factory.

I didn't even let the wyverns riders enter the factory, so there was no way that I would let these obsessed fans in.

In the end, I entered the factory alone.

I had the wyverns drop the Void Ores in the warehouse that was near the factory before using the Storage Ring to take the Void Ores and head in.

If this wasn't my territory, they definitely wouldn't have allowed me to enter alone like this.

However, since it was my territory, I had the final voice here.

With that, I started production of the new item that was available to be produced.

The system only lacked the Void Ore, it had a store of all the other materials needed since we traded often with the Dwarven Kingdom. So even if this factory didn't operate that often, it was still well stocked because I told them to stock it.

With all of these materials, it took no time at all to produce the first product.

As soon as it came out, I picked it up and held it up in my hands to take a closer look at this. After that came the testing of this first product.

"Bzz."

It did work, but it seemed like the quality of this item wasn't as good as the one that the system gave me before.

When I compared the two, the material seemed like it was different.

It was like how The Penetrator was better than the dildo bats that were produced afterwards. However, that didn't mean that this product was bad, it just meant that it wasn't as good as the one that the system gave.

Regardless, these things would have their use just like the dildo bats.

In that case, it was time to start mass production.

With the Void Ores, I was able to create many of these products in just a single day.

It didn't take long before the inventory of the factory was filled and there was no space to produce more of them.

So I quickly took out the ones that had been made and cleared out room before depositing more Void Ores in.

Since I was here, I was going to mass produce these things.

--

When the next morning came.

"It's time to head back."

That was the first thing that I said as I came out of the factory.

There was someone posted here to watch over me, but most of the others had gone off to rest since I had stayed in the factory all night.

Though it didn't take long for them to gather and for us to head back to the Midra Kingdom's capital again.

Chapter 936: Interrogating once more

When I arrived back in the capital, the prime minister and the regent were completely caught off guard.

"You're already back?" The two of them both asked me this.

In response to this, I just simply said, "I already got what I need, let's go interrogate the dark elves."

Both of them had skeptical looks on their faces when they heard this, but they didn't stop me as I headed to the dungeon where the dark elves were being held.

The only thing that they did was send away the guards that were in the dungeon at my request.

They seemed unwilling to do this at first, but then they decided to agree when I called for Klein and a few of his royal guards. Though they looked at me with strange looks when they heard where I was heading.

It was clear what they were thinking, but I ignored them as I headed into the dungeon.

Once we reached the place with the dark elves, I looked at the dark elves that were being held in the cells.

All of them had defiant looks on their faces and it was clear that they were thinking of ways to escape.

It was completely different from the dark elves that we were holding in our dungeons.

But that wasn't strange since these dark elves hadn't been touched since we captured them.

It wasn't strange that they didn't feel any fear since they hadn't been broken just yet. However, that didn't mean that we would leave them be for long.

We needed information from them and the best way to get that information was to break them.

After looking at the dark elves, I used the same tactic as before as I went to one of the cells and looked at one of the female dark elves that were there.

When this female dark elf saw me looking at her like this, she couldn't help moving back a bit even though she was chained up. At the same time, one of the male dark elves came forward to block her as if he wanted to protect her.

As soon as Klein and the others saw this, they looked at the two dark elves with looks of pity.

The prime minister and the regent on the other hand had confused looks as they didn't understand what was happening.

I just ignored all of this as I looked at the female dark elf and said, "The two of you are a couple, right?"

The two dark elves were completely caught off guard when they heard this.

This was certainly the last thing that they expected to hear based on the expression on their faces, but they didn't say anything in the end. They knew that there was nothing to gain from saying anything, so they firmly closed their mouths.

Though I didn't really need an answer from them.

The action that they took was more than enough of an answer for me to understand what the situation between them was.

In that case...

I looked at Klein and said, "Bring the two of them out and separate them. I think you know what to do."

Klein and the other royal guards had strange looks on their faces, but they still nodded in agreement after hearing this.

During all of this, they didn't say a single word as if they were afraid of saying anything extra. They just dragged the two chained dark elves out of the cell and placed them in the center of the dungeon. The way that the two dark elves were placed was that they were standing in front of each other, but they were not allowed to reach each other.

It seemed that they knew how to do this even better than I expected.

Though that did make me think some strange things...

Still, I tossed those thoughts out of my mind and focused on the two that were in front of me.

The two dark elves both knew that something was about to happen, so they had been struggling to break free of their captors. It was just that they were completely chained up and they were surrounded, so it wasn't as if they could break free that easily.

Once they had been brought to the center of the dungeon, I came forward to say, "Now, I would normally ask for your names, but since I'm in a bit of a rush, I don't think that there's a need. Though thinking about it, it really doesn't seem like there is a need to know your names anyway."

The way that I said this was very casual, but it was also taunting.

The moment that the two dark elves heard this, they knew that whatever they had been chosen for was not a good thing. It seemed like they were about to be made an example in front of everyone.

The two of them trembled after this thought passed through their minds, but then they forced themselves to reveal calm and firm looks.

It was as if they had prepared themselves for death.

It was just too bad that it wasn't their death that I was looking for.

"I'm sure that you can already guess what I want to ask you, so I won't waste words." I said in the same calm voice before my eyes suddenly turned cold and I said, "Tell me what those crystals are and what you were doing in this place, or else."

The expressions of neither of the dark elves changed when they heard this.

Instead, they had fearless looks in their eyes as they stared right at me.

I could appreciate the determination that they had, but it wasn't as if this was what I wanted to see in this situation.

If they didn't give me anything, I really had no choice...

Seeing that they wouldn't say anything, I gave a sigh before saying, "Alright, rip her clothes off."

The dark elves had stunned looks on their faces as the hands of the royal guards holding the female dark elf went forward.

Chapter 937: Vibrating bead

The male dark elf reacted before the guards could rip off the female dark elf's clothes.

He started struggling against his captives and doing what he could do break free to come to the female dark elf's aid.

It was just too bad that he was too weak for that.

These dark elves had been starving for over a day now, so they already had very little energy.

Not to mention that these were the royal guards that were holding him.

These were knights that were stronger than normal guards in the first place, so it wasn't as if he would be able to face off against them even if he was at full strength. Let alone when he was weakened from hunger and dehydration like this.

It was like a child trying to break free from the grasps of an adult.

They wouldn't budge even when he started hurting himself from flailing his limbs around.

In the end, the guards had no choice but to push him down into the ground to stop him from flailing, but they made sure that his head was up. They made sure that the head of the male dark elf could still look up at the female dark elf.

When the male dark elf had started to struggle, the ones that were holding the female dark elf had stopped their hands from reaching toward her clothes. It was only after the male dark elf was subdued that they started reaching for her clothes again.

The female dark elf had recovered from her daze and screamed, "What are you doing? If you want to shame me like this, just kill me!"

At the same time, she was struggling in the same manner as the male dark elf.

Only it was easier to subdue her since there were more guards that were around her holding her.

The male dark elf only had two guards holding him, the female dark elf had four around her.

Two of them had been standing on the side without doing anything, as if they were waiting for something.

So the moment that the female dark elf started to struggle, the two of them came forward and grabbed her by the legs so that she couldn't struggle anymore.

With the four of them holding her in place like that, the only thing that the female dark elf could do was scream and beg them to stop. However, none of them seemed to react at all to her words and the two holding her arms still reached out for her clothes.

In one swift move, the two of them ripped the front of her clothes and revealed her body.

This dark elf had a slender body, so her chest wasn't that big, but she had curvy hips and a slender figure.

"Ah!" The female dark elf screamed when her clothes were ripped off and she instinctively moved her hand forward to cover her body, but the guards firmly held her in place.

Seeing that she couldn't cover her body, the only thing that she could do was turn to the guards and look at them with pleading eyes as if she was asking for them to spare her.

But the guards acted like they were made of stone and didn't react at all to her looking at them like this.

Instead, they just looked at me and waited to see what I would do.

I didn't do anything as I looked down at the male dark elf whose eyes were wide open. They were so wide open that it almost seemed like he was about to start crying tears of blood at this rate.

However, that was just the beginning.

After letting the male dark elf suffer a bit, I finally stepped forward.

During this time, I could see the strange looks that the regent and prime minister were giving me.

The two of them had calm looks on their faces, but the looks in their eyes made it clear what they were thinking.

Especially with the way that they looked at me.

I just ignored them as I focused on the female dark elf.

The female dark elf also turned her attention to me when she saw that the guards were all looking at her. At the same time, she couldn't help trembling a bit when she saw that I was moving towards her.

Since she knew that pleading with the guards didn't work, she changed her tactic.

"I promise that I'll tell you what you want, just have them let me go."

She could see that I was the one that was in charge here, so she started begging me instead.

Though he looked like he wanted to kill me, the male dark elf on the ground was the same as he started begging me to let her go. He even said that he would take her place and suffer the torture for her if I let her go.

All of that just fell onto deaf ears.

I slowly walked over which made them seem even more anxious, but I eventually stopped in front of the female dark elf and just calmly looked down.

When she saw me looking down like this, the female dark elf felt the urge to cover her body once more, but she still couldn't move her arms.

After looking at her for a bit, I said, "There's only one thing that I want to hear from you and I think that you already know what it is."

Both the male and female dark elves shuddered when they heard this as if they knew what he was talking about, but neither of them said a thing.

"I see, so you aren't willing to say anything." I wasn't surprised at all by their reaction since I figured that this was how they would react.

The other dark elves had been bound by something and were unable to speak of this matter, so it only made sense that they were the same.

After saying this, I pulled out the thing that I was waiting to use and pushed the remote to give them a little threat.

In their eyes, they just saw a vibrating bead.

In my eyes, it was their worst nightmare.

Chapter 938: Let her enjoy it

Even though the two dark elves didn't know what this thing was, they knew that I wouldn't pull it out at this time for no reason.

That meant that whatever this strange vibrating bead was, it was most likely going to be used on them.

So the only thing that they could do was...

"Please, don't do this."

There was nothing that they could do other than beg.

But of course, the begging once again fell onto deaf ears.

Seeing that I just ignored them, the male dark elf bit his lip and said, "I'll give my life to you as long as you stop this. I promise that I'll sacrifice myself to break the contract placed on us so I can tell you everything."

I just shrugged as I said, "Then do it."

The male dark elf was shocked when he heard this.

He thought that I would at least be tempted by this, he never thought that I wouldn't care at all.

I just calmly looked at him to say, "Unless you can tell me anything useful, then perhaps it's better if you die. After all, it'll be hard for you to watch what happens next." There was an evil smile that appeared on my lips when I said this.

The male dark elf was completely shocked to hear this.

After hearing this, there was no way that he could actually do what he said he would do.

After all, there was no assurance that his lover would be safe after he killed himself trying to tell the truth.

If he was going to sacrifice his life, he would at least need some kind of assurance.

Just what was wrong with this person?

Didn't he even know the basic procedure?

I just ignored him as I turned to look at the female dark elf.

She was looking at me with a stunned look on her face as if she couldn't believe what I was saying.

I didn't care as I went forward while saying, "Now, let's begin. That is unless you have something to tell me." I paused for a bit as if I was waiting for her to say something.

The female dark elf just looked at me with the same stunned look as if she didn't know what to say.

I gave a nod before saying, "I already guessed that this would be the case. Then let's get started."

With one hand holding the bead and one hand holding the remote, I moved the hand with the bead towards her chest.

As I did this, the female dark elf looked at my hand with a strange and confused look. She didn't seem to understand what was happening, but that didn't mean that she was alright with me touching her.

So she snapped out of her daze and said, "I can't, you know that I can't! If I try, then I'll die! Is that what you want?"

I said with a shrug, "Even if you die, your body can be made an example of."

The female dark elf once again shuddered when she heard this.

The way that she looked at me completely changed.

There was pure disdain and disgust in her eyes, but at the same time...they were filled with fear towards me. She realized that I was serious about this and that was what made her more afraid than disdainful.

But there was nothing that she could say...

Since that was the case, I just put the vibrator right up to her nipple and turned it on.

"Eek! Ah..." She screamed in surprise at first at the vibrator being placed against her nipple like that, but then that slowly turned into a moan of pleasure.

I just let it stay on light like this at first, but then I started turning the knob on the remote to make it vibrate faster.

The female dark elf moaned, but she also seemed like she didn't want this as she started struggling. Though there was no denying the liquid that was dripping down from between her legs...

As this was happening, I looked at the male dark elf with a smile on my face to say, "So, do you feel like talking yet?"

He didn't seem to hear me at all as there was an ashen look on his face.

He was looking at his lover with his mouth agape, like he had died on the inside and his soul had disappeared.

Seeing that he wouldn't say anything, I didn't bother asking him another question.

After all, this wasn't a sprint, but rather a marathon.

It might be different with the dildo bats, but these vibrators were things that needed time to play their real role.

So I suddenly stopped the vibrator and pulled it away from the female dark elf's nipple.

She was gasping for breath at this point, but she also looked at the vibrator that was being taken away with a trace of longing and disappointment.

I just ignored this as I looked at one of the guards on the side and said, "Bring that over." He gave a nod before coming forward with some kind of roll of something.

It was a roll of tape.

Tape was certainly a strange thing to have in this medieval world, but it was only because it was based on a H-game that this tape was here in the first place. After all, there were many scenes that would need tape, so they added it into this world even though it seemed out of place.

I took a bit of this tape and put the vibrator against it before bringing it forward towards the female dark elf.

She had caught her breath at this point and she asked, "What are you doing?"

I just looked at her with a smile as I said, "Well, since you seemed like you enjoyed it, I thought that I should let you enjoy it a bit longer. However, I'm not that free, so I'll use this tape to take my place."

With those words, I taped the vibrator to her nipple and then turned it on.

Chapter 939: Demonstration

"Ah..." The moans came from the female dark elf once more the moment that the vibrator turned on.

But this time, it wasn't just a single vibrator that was used.

With a wave of my hand, there were two more vibrators that appeared.

On the ground, the male dark elf once more looked like his soul had left him and he was filled with despair. Though there was a part of him that seemed like it remained as he seemed to glare at me with all his might.

It was as if he really wanted to stab a sword right through my chest with the way that he was glaring at me.

However, I didn't care at all as I took more of the tape that was offered to me and used it to stick the two vibrators that I pulled out onto the female dark elf.

One of them went onto her other nipple while the other one went somewhere else.

The strange thought that filled my mind as I went to put the second vibrator was... "This is going to hurt when it gets taken off."

That was because the place where I was putting the second vibrator was covered in hair.

It seemed that this female dark elf had quite the bush down there.

Though if one thought about it, since this was a medieval world, it wasn't as if shaving was that simple of a thing to do.

No...when I thought about it again, that shouldn't be the case...

Since it had something to do with hair down there, there should have been an easy fix to that. This was a world that was based on a H-game and being able to change hair down there was a part of it.

So there should be an easy way to take care of hair down there and even make it grow in this world. It would be like how this world had tape even though tape seemed like it didn't fit in the time period of this world.

Perhaps it was magic?

It was just that this female dark elf didn't care about stuff like that...

Then I realized that I might have become too desensitized to this that I was even thinking about this at a time like this. It seemed that I had really gotten used to doing things like this... Was it because of this world or was it because of me?

I shook my head to throw those thoughts out since this wasn't the kind of thing that I should be focused on at a time like this.

This caused the people around me to misunderstand since they thought that I was entranced by the sight that was in front of me. I could see the way that they looked at me, especially the prime minister.

I could even guess who he was planning to tell, but I would have a talk with him later.

For now...

I taped the second vibrator onto the clit of the female dark elf and just turned it to the max. "Ah!" The female dark elf said in a surprised voice before she started moaning in pleasure again.

With the stimulus coming from all three of these vibrators, she just wasn't able to resist the pleasure at all. The look on her face made it very clear what she was feeling right now and that caused a look to appear on the face of the male dark elf.

He looked like there were a thousand daggers stabbing into his heart.

There were traces of blood that were coming out of the corner of his eyes as he looked up at the female dark elf.

He could have turned away, but he didn't seem like he wanted to turn away.

It was as if he didn't want to miss a single bit of this...

Once I finished taping all three of the vibrators on, I just stood back and watched the female dark elf as the dam between her legs broke and she started pouring down her leg.

The other dark elves that were in the cages all looked at her in shock, but there were some that averted their gaze.

Instead, they looked at me with looks filled with hatred as if they really wanted to take me down.

I just ignored all of them as I admired my work a bit before saying, "Since you don't want to talk today, we'll give you a chance to enjoy yourself."

I turned to the guards and said, "Bring two chairs."

They looked at me with confused looks, but they still brought out the chairs that I asked for.

Since we were in the dungeon, these were the most basic wooden chairs that there could be, but that was good enough. Though if they didn't have a backrest, then I would have had to ask for another chair.

I pointed at the male dark elf and said, "Tie him up in one of them and then put them facing each other, but don't put them too close together."

The guards were still confused hearing this, but they still did what I told them to do.

Once the male dark elf was chained to the chair, I had the other guards bring the female dark elf over. However, I had them put her in a strange position compared to how the male dark elf was seated.

She was sitting in the chair, but her legs were brought up so that her feet were on the chair, spreading her legs wide open for all to see. At the same time, her knees were brought up so that it pushed the vibrator right up against her nipple.

With her legs like this, I took out more tape to wrap around her shin and thigh so that she was forced to remain in this position.

Her arms were put behind the chair and chained so that she couldn't move at all.

At the same time, I slapped a piece of tape on her mouth so that she wasn't able to say a single thing. There were only the muffled sounds of her moans of pleasure that came through the tape.

Once she was put in place, everyone understood what was happening...

A demonstration.

A demonstration was being made of these two.

Chapter 940: Put anything in me

After the two dark elves were placed in the center of this dungeon for all to see, I gave a satisfied nod.

Then I looked at all of the dark elves that were in the cages, to which they all couldn't help turning their gazes away. It was as if they were scared that they would attract my attention and would be the next ones to suffer this fate.

However, I didn't choose any of them.

Instead, I just said, "Alright, we'll let you think about it tonight. If there's anything that you want to tell us tomorrow, then we'll continue then. I hope that you all have a good night's sleep and are ready for what will come tomorrow."

All of the dark elves revealed terrified looks when they heard this.

If this was what they faced today, then what would they face tomorrow?

They couldn't help trembling in fear at this, but I just didn't care about what they were feeling.

After all, I had accomplished my goal by making an example of these two dark elves.

With that, I waved my hand at the others and left this place. Though there were a few guards that remained to tell the normal prison guards what to do with these two dark elves.

As we were leaving, I could feel the looks that were piercing my back.

These looks came from the regent and the prime minister.

It was obvious that the two of them had questions that they wanted to ask me, but this wasn't the time or place for that. If they wanted to ask me anything, they had to at least wait until we were out of this dungeon.

Which was exactly what they did.

I knew that they would do this, so I quickly turned around and raised my hand as they spoke. "Your majesty..." That was all that the two of them could say before they were cut off by me.

I looked at the two of them and said, "Just wait and see what the results are before you ask anything."

The two of them just looked at me with narrowed eyes that made it hard to guess what they were thinking, but it was hard to hide the doubt that was on their faces.

In the end, they just listened to me and waited for the next day to come.

...

The next morning, the prime minister and regent both came looking for me early in the morning since they wanted to check on the prisoners. Even before it was the set time to meet, the two of them came to my room to find me.

It seemed that they couldn't wait any longer, so they wanted to go as soon as possible.

I didn't mind since I had already expected this, but I had confidence in my plan.

There wasn't even a need to gather the guards since they had already been gathered by the prime minister and the regent.

It seemed that they really couldn't wait to see what happened.

When we arrived in the dungeon, there was something that we immediately noticed.

There was a large puddle that was on the ground and it surrounded the two chairs that were placed right in the center.

Based on the sounds, it seemed like the puddle was still growing in size.

To the side, I found that there was a bucket of water with a spoon in it and it seemed like it had been used recently.

It seemed that the guards had been feeding the female dark elf water this entire time since they were afraid that she would dehydrate herself.

After all, the large puddle that had formed had come from the female dark elf.

Even now, there was still more liquid dripping down her leg and creating a larger puddle on the ground.

However, it didn't seem like she cared at all as her eyes seemed to be rolled back in her head as if she had lost herself in the pleasure. Though it seemed like she was still conscious since we could still hear the muffled moans coming from under the tape that was on her mouth.

As for the male dark elf, his eyes were completely bloodshot, but it didn't seem like he was responsive at all.

If it wasn't for the slight movement of his chest, we would have thought that he was dead. But it seemed that he had lost consciousness with his eyes open in his complicated feelings. This seemed like far more of a mess than they had expected, so the prime minister and the regent both looked at me as if they were blaming me.

I just ignored them as I went forward to the male dark elf and raised a hand to slap him across the face.

Everyone looked at me with a shocked look on their face, but that slap had awakened the male dark elf.

The moment that he saw me, he pounced right at me. It was just that he was still chained to the chair, so there was nothing that he could do as he was pulled back into the chair by the chains that held him.

He looked like a mad dog with the way that he kept trying to attack me. He even went as far as trying to bite me with his mouth and roaring like a beast as he did so.

It was as if he had completely lost his mind...

But I just ignored him since he couldn't reach me.

The only thing that I needed was for him to be awake as I went over to the female dark elf.

I pulled the tape from her mouth and the first thing that she said was...

"Please, put something in me. I can't take it anymore...Please, put anything in me!" It was as if she was desperately screaming this as she said this.

It seemed like she had been pushed to the brink and had broken completely.

But I didn't respond to her.

Instead, I looked at the other dark elves and said, "Well, it seems like they aren't in any condition to respond. So how about all of you? Are you willing to say anything?"

As I said this, I pulled out more vibrators that caused the dark elves in the cage to tremble.