

Chapter 143 Alivia Made A Scene

Fiona had initially planned a small company with her friends, but her father provided a generous amount of startup capital, significantly expanding the business's scope.

Alivia, representing her father, came to assess Fiona's company and report back to him.

Arm in arm with Robert, Alivia entered the company and saw Fiona and Rhonda engaged in a cheerful conversation.

"What a disappointment! Why is she present here as well?" Alivia expressed her hostility towards Rhonda, "If I had known she'd be here, I wouldn't have come."

"Let's leave then," Robert replied coldly, turning to walk out.

"No, wait! I was just speaking off the cuff. Why are you actually leaving?" Alivia quickly tried to stop Robert. "We're here already. Let's just go inside and stay for a bit."

"Don't grab me. It's inappropriate." Robert frowned and removed Alivia's hand.

At that moment, Fiona spotted them and hurried to welcome them.

With a displeased expression, Robert walked ahead of Alivia, who then caught up to him, linking her arm with his while pretending to cheerfully greet Rhonda.

"Hi, Rhonda, we meet again!"

"Hello." Rhonda looked at Robert with embarrassment.

"I heard your ex-boyfriend hit you recently? Such a shame about your face." Pointing to the scar on Rhonda's forehead, she then asked Robert,

"Do you think this scar will ever fade?"

"With modern technology, it's only a matter of time before it heals," Robert replied.

"What a shame!" whispered Alivia.

"What was that?" Robert heard her whispering as he was standing closest to her.

"I said, that's wonderful! It would be such a pity if Rhonda's beauty were marred by that scar, right? Then, how would she be able to keep seducing, no, attracting men in the future?" Alivia sarcastically said, rolling her eyes.

"Keep your mouth shut if you can't say something nice," Robert snapped irritably.

"Are you really yelling at me?" Alivia exclaimed, shaking off Robert's hand. "All because of her?"

"Can you stop creating drama for no reason?" Robert was fuming with anger. He had enough of Alivia's stupidity.

"Me? Creating drama? Sounds more like you have a guilty conscience." Alivia raised her voice, drawing the attention of those around them.

"Alivia, what's gotten into you this time?" As soon as Fiona returned from setting up the dinner, she saw Alivia shouting and became furious.

"You arrived just in time. It's either her or me who needs to leave. The choice is yours." Pointing at Rhonda, Alivia shouted.

"Why are you lashing out at Rhonda again?" shouted Fiona.

"Fiona, I remember that I have something to do tonight. I'll go back first and come to see you another day." Rhonda, not wanting to be the cause of a quarrel between Fiona and Alivia, offered to leave.

"Let me drive you home," Robert offered.

"No, thank you. Stay here with Alivia." Without waiting for Fiona's response, Rhonda quickly left.

As Rhonda entered the elevator, she was about to exhale in relief when

Robert squeezed in just as the doors closed.

Behind him was Alivia's curse.

"Robert, if you leave with her today, our relationship is over!" Alivia rushed towards the elevator, but the doors had just closed.

Rhonda glared at Robert, confused as to why he acted that way. The situation might give the impression that they were having an affair.

"Did you see it?" Robert stretched out his long arms and surrounded Rhonda in the corner of the elevator.

"See what?" Rhonda sensed a change in Robert's behavior.