

Silly Teen 42

Chapter 42

When Guan Dongxuan heard my words, he simply looked like he was going to explode. His little brother was on the side, but he also dared not speak out in anger. After all, even Cao Ge, whom they had to please, was instead helping me on this end. And Guan Dongxuan looked at me with a clear look of hesitation on his face.

“Brother Chao.” Guan Dongxuan said reluctantly.

“Fine, go back and get ready for class.”

I then said to Guan Dongxuan.

The scene between me and Guan Dongxuan was more than enough to make the crowd in the class react half-heartedly. Because class was about to start, Guo Xuefu also went back to his seat. I sat in my seat and listened to the bell ringing outside, but in my mind I was thinking: how should I explain to Ms. Lin about what happened to me?

And what should I tell Uncle Chen about my being able to return to school so that he wouldn't know about the collaboration between me and 1908?

“Brother Chao, where are you going after school here?” Guan Dongxuan's little brother, on his own initiative, surrounded me and asked me very eagerly.

“Home!”

I said straightforwardly.

“Brother Chao, why don't we go out to eat, we'll treat you!” Guan Dongxuan's little brother seemed to be abandoning Guan Dongxuan.

“Is this what Guan Dongxuan wants, or what you guys want?” I asked instead, rushing at them warily.

“Brother Xuan is not coming again, just a few of us.” They said so. But I'm afraid they didn't call Guan Dongxuan at all!

It was between our words that Guan Dongxuan, with a stern face, rushed past us. I looked at him and stopped him.

And Guan Dongxuan looked up at me and asked me what was wrong.

“Guan Dongxuan, you don't have anything to do at noon anyway, let's go eat together.” I extended an invitation at him.

“No, I have to go to the hospital later to see me I guess.” Guan Dongxuan said, and then looked at me with a malicious look. It was obvious that he was very upset about his dad getting hurt again.

“What's wrong with that, isn't it the same if you go early or late? And your dad's problem isn't too big, so you can go at night.” That's what I said.

A few of Guan Dongxuan's little brothers at the side also went along with my words and told Guan Dongxuan to go along. And their words were what made Guan Dongxuan even more upset. He felt the sight of me and gritted his teeth before finally agreeing. But it was when we left the school that those of his original juniors simply ignored him.

Guan Dongxuan was left out all the way and was in even less of a good mood.

One of them, Xu Dazhi, told me that there would be others coming over for dinner later, all from our year group and the same wave of people who were on the rooftop earlier.

I laughed coldly as I listened. I wanted to see what kind of purpose these people had in mind.

"Dongxuan, sit here."

'Guo Xiaoming', who was fighting with Guan Dongxuan in Class 5, was about to welcome Guan Dongxuan over. But it was between the time Guan Dongxuan was about to sit down that someone at the side was constantly giving Guo Xiaoming a wink. It was clear that Guan Dongxuan had already sat down, but Guo Xiaoming called up for Guan Dongxuan again on the pretext that someone else was sitting here.

"Guan Dongxuan, you sit here with me." I then waved at Guan Dongxuan.

"Hmm." Guan Dongxuan, however, looked like a robot, with a stern face and no expression at all.

"Chao, I heard that you've been getting close to Cao lately, what's going on?" It was in the process of ordering food that people started to pry into my details.

The words I wanted to explain to them reached my lips, but I swallowed them back. I didn't really have to explain myself to them. They couldn't get to the bottom of me now, so naturally I had to put my posture up and let them come after me.

Anyway, the relationship at Cao Ge's end was already established! That was also enough for me to scare the hell out of these delinquent students at school.

"What are you guys asking so much for?"

I shot straight back.

The one who asked me, Zhao Yangbo, was not happy to hear my words. But the people at the side hurriedly gave him a wink, and only then did he calm down.

Xu Dazhi, who was beside me, saw that the atmosphere was a bit awkward and hurriedly came out to help me explain: "Brother Bo, Brother Chao is now Brother Cao's brother. Even those of Brother Cao's men have to call him Brother Chao!"

"Really?"

Someone muttered in a small voice.

"There are still people who want to question me?"

I snapped and stood up with a slap on the table. But as I said so, my hands were trembling slightly. It was also the first time I had ever lost my temper in front of a crowd, and in front of such a bunch of delinquent students.

I was still a bit underwhelmed.

But the more this happened, the more I needed to stay calm!

“Brother Chao, take it easy for now.” Xu Dazhi, who was at the side, then hurriedly blocked me.

“Brother Chao, you should smoke a cigarette first to cool down.” Guo Xiaoming hurriedly handed over a cigarette.

“No need, I don’t know how to smoke.” I said this while Guo Xiaoming crossed half the table to deliver a cigarette, and it was very awkward. Xu Dazhi and Guo Xiaoming’s stepping forward was a step down for me. As for the man who had whispered earlier, he didn’t dare stand up for himself.

After the food was served, the crowd substituted drinks for wine and all asked me for a toast. Everyone was trying to defuse the awkwardness of the morning rooftop, but basically, there was not much of anyone, to bother with Guan Dongxuan.

After all, as long as I was at the table, Guan Dongxuan was a very sensitive person!

Halfway through the meal, Guan Dongxuan couldn’t help but ask me, “Jin Chao, have you humiliated me enough? If you have nothing else to do, I really need to go to the hospital to see my father.”

“How can I call this humiliating you? Your words are also funny!” I said with a cold snort.

“What’s wrong Chao?”

Xu Dazhi asked, rushing to me.

“It’s just what Guan Dongxuan said that upset me a bit Forget it, leave him alone.” That’s all I said.

“Don’t. Since he’s upset Chao, he should teach him a lesson anyway!” Xu Dazhi just said that. His words were what made Guan Dongxuan’s face, completely cold. Xu Dazhi had been following Guan Dongxuan for a year, but he had turned against him so easily.

And Xu Dazhi’s attitude was more like a slap in the face that landed on Guan Dongxuan’s face.

Xu Dazhi wanted to drag Guan Dongxuan up.

The crowd at the side watched and had little reaction.

“Xu Dazhi, I said forget it, did you hear me?” I looked at Xu Dazhi’s foot about to kick Guan Dongxuan’s body, so I hurriedly shouted to stop. The current Guan Dongxuan was undoubtedly a dog in the water. Everyone thought that anyone could go up and kick him and not get bitten.

But after all, Guan Dongxuan is a second-generation official, plus he has other forces outside, and I don’t want to push Guan Dongxuan too hard.

“Jin Chao, that’s almost enough for you! Why do you have to be so sycophantic here?”
