

Silly Teen 48

Chapter 48

“Hello, Manager Xu, what can I do for you?” I picked up the phone as I walked to the bathroom between classes.

“Something’s up. Jin Chao, do you want to know where Guan Dongxuan is now?” Xu Ying then asked at me.

“You know?” I was surprised.

“Of course I know!”

Xu Ying was rushing me down with certainty.

She said to me that this was something that she hadn’t wanted to care so much about. But Guan Dongxuan’s disappearance would make people suspect me. Given my current situation and the relationship with her, it was not appropriate for me to make too much of a fuss now. So, she took the matter in hand.

She told me that Guan Dongxuan had been found, and that the next step was up to me.

“If you want to get Guan Dongxuan out, I’ll pick you up from school now.” Xu Ying on the other end of the phone then said to me.

“Good! Then I’ll go and ask for leave with the teacher now.” I said hurriedly.

Although I was still a bit upset with Guan Dongxuan, in my heart. But with things going so wrong, I also instinctively didn’t want anything to go wrong with Guan Dongxuan. If I could bring Guan Dongxuan back, I could at least make Ms. Lin less suspicious of me.

And after hearing my words, Mr. Lin looked at me even more suspiciously, “Jin Chao, do you really know where Guan Dongxuan is?”

I nodded very seriously.

“Then the teacher will go with you!”

Teacher Lin said in the following.

I listened to her and was instantly anxious: “Teacher Lin, this isn’t a trip to have fun. You wait for me at school, I will bring Guan Dongxuan back as soon as possible. My friend, has her own way. If you go over there together, it would be a problem if you mess up her plans.”

And she was hesitant for a moment before agreeing, “Good, then the teacher will wait for you at the school. Until ten o’clock at night, is that much time enough?”

“Enough!” I affirmed down.

“But if you don’t come back with Guan Dongxuan at 10pm, teacher will get the police involved and have them look into it from your side.”

Teacher Lin's words were more like a threat to me.

When I heard that, I had to be the one to agree to it through clenched teeth. Her suspicion made my heart feel even worse, but there was nothing I could do about it.

The security guards at the entrance didn't stop me when I walked out of the school because I had Ms. Lin's leave slip in my hand.

In between my waiting, a BMW pulled up in front of me.

"Jin Chao, get in!" Xu Ying's voice, was coming down from the car.

"Where is Guan Dongxuan now?"

I asked the first time I got in the car.

"Don't ask so many questions first, just follow me." That was all Xu Ying said. As she said that, she stepped on the gas and left. But it was between our departure that Xu Ying also called a number of people. There were more than twenty of us, divided into four or five cars, and we all headed for the countryside.

And between parking, we were arriving at an abandoned chemical factory in the outskirts of Xuancheng.

"Let's go."

Xu Ying spoke at me.

She led me towards the interior of the chemical factory. Because this chemical factory had been abandoned for several years, the iron door in front of us even made a tooth-aching scraping sound when we pushed it open. The concrete floor was littered with cracks. There were even weeds, which had burst out from between the cracks.

The interior of the chemical plant was huge.

And Xu Ying was leading me straight ahead, into a factory building.

"The people are inside."

Xu Ying and I explained.

"Let's go in then!" I didn't hear any movement inside.

"Don't rush yet, the key people, they all have to come out last." Xu Ying, however, was still joking with me. With her command, those sociopaths beside her, opened the door of the factory. I watched their entry, but waited outside, with Xu Ying.

Xu Ying, however, looked aloof and stood right beside me, holding a cigarette in her long, slender fingers.

She felt my eyes and asked me with some amusement, "What? Do you want one?"

"Forget it." I shook my head.

She laughed softly, and it was between her light smoke that there was a sudden commotion from inside. It was the people inside who had spotted the ones she had sent and the two groups clashed. During the process, I asked her, somewhat puzzled, what was the reason for Guan Dongxuan's abduction.

But she told me that if I wanted to know, I could ask Guan Dongxuan when he came out.

And it was between her words that the movement inside suddenly became much less. Then her phone rang, and it was a text message from someone inside.

"Okay, we should almost be out." She said, and led me inside the factory.

The grey concrete floor was a thick layer of dust. It also highlighted a series of footprints. It was the particles of dust that, between our walks, raised even more gently around our feet.

"Sister Xu, it's all taken care of." Those sociopaths, who were each fierce and vicious, looked at Xu Ying's walk and said. Beside us, a bunch of thugs fell to the ground. They were wearing different T-shirts, not like Xu Ying's people, all of them were mainly black.

"Where's Guan Dongxuan?" Xu Ying looked at those who had fallen to the ground, and on her lips was a question.

"Over here!" At the side, someone brought out Guan Dongxuan.

Guan Dongxuan's body was covered with a black hood, and his eyes and nose were not exposed. His hands were tied behind him and his clothes were torn, revealing the injured flesh inside. His clothes were stained red with blood and he had obviously suffered some abuse.

The man beside Guan Dongxuan then removed his hood, revealing his bruised nose and swollen face.

I told the men on the side to release Guan Dongxuan, but in the process, Guan Dongxuan looked at me with an extraordinarily sinister look. It was as if I was one of the people who had abused him last night.

"Alright, since the person is fine, take him away!" Xu Ying then said.

"Don't even think about leaving!"

The men suddenly stood up again.

"I'll leave it to you guys! Guan Dongxuan, you come here." Xu Ying said, and waved at Guan Dongxuan. Guan Dongxuan listened to her words and hesitated for a moment, but still rushed over to us. His eyes were wary, and Xu Ying laughed lightly at this, "Don't worry, we won't harm you."

As Xu Ying spoke, the gang at the back fought again. But Xu Ying acted as if nothing had happened.

"Manager Xu, you can take me and Guan Dongxuan to school first, I need Guan Dongxuan and me to go back and give my teacher an explanation." I then said to Xu Ying.

But Xu Ying was the one who suddenly said, "Don't rush, I happen to be looking for Guan Dongxuan for something else!"
