

Silly Teen 55

Chapter 55

I followed Wah and was instead led around the alley by him. It was a surprise to me that he was so familiar with the alleyways. And behind us, Xu Ying's men were still chasing us with all their might. But it was in between me looking back at the pursuing men that I realised that Hua was gone in front of me!

In just a few seconds, where had the man gone?

I literally froze for a moment.

"Jinchao, come here!" A voice came, and when I turned my head to look, I saw Guo Xuefu.

I didn't even dare to think more, so I followed Guo Xuefu and left. I didn't know exactly where Hua had gone now, but right now I, for one, couldn't afford to be the least bit broken.

"Go this way." Guo Xuefu then led me down the alley and raced in.

"Chase!" Those who were pursuing behind us were also very dedicated to chasing after us. When we were about to be caught up, there was a pair of bloodied hands on the side, and they pulled us both in. Before I could react, Hua hurriedly closed the door.

This is a small civilian warehouse near Guo Xuefu's house, which basically put basically some miscellaneous things that are not usually used.

The three of us were inside with our voices closed, listening to a series of footsteps passing outside, but not daring to relax. Guo Xuefu didn't understand, she thought that when these people passed, it was considered a crisis lifted. But aside, Hua was covering her mouth with his hand, very alert to listen to the movement outside.

We stayed in the small warehouse for more than ten minutes. And Xu Ying's men, back and forth, passed as many as three times through the door of the room.

It was only after the sound of their footsteps had completely disappeared from behind that Hua was relaxed.

"Brother Hua, are you alright?"

Guo Xuefu asked with great concern.

Brother A-hwa?

My head suddenly went blank.

I had previously wondered how Guo Xuefu had suddenly appeared and how she could help me at this juncture. The way she addressed me made me understand all of a sudden.

"I'm fine." Hua was waving his hand at Guo Xuefu.

"Look you're still bleeding otherwise let's hurry to the hospital!" Guo Xuefu said anxiously.

But Hua said with a shake of his head, "I can't go to the hospital yet. There must be their eyes in the hospital, if I go, I'll be throwing myself into the net."

"Then let's call the police! Let the police handle this matter and they will definitely ensure your safety!" Guo Xuefu thought of a solution as best she could from her point of view.

And Hua said with a bitter smile, "Xuefu, you also know that I just got out of prison. If I go to the police with such a status, the police will definitely be on my back."

"What should we do then?"

Guo Xuefu was in a hurry.

"It's not a big problem, just don't worry about it." Hua said, about to stand up. Guo Xuefu, who was at the side, hurriedly stepped forward. Even though there was a lot of blood on Hua's body, she didn't care at all. The blood was staining her snow-white school uniform, and her attention was all on Wah.

And Wah looked at me and thanked me very seriously. But in response, I was shaking my head in a way that said it was fine.

"Jinchao, thank you for what happened today. I'm going to take Brother Wah to have his wounds treated first, so you can go back first." Guo Xuefu's attitude towards me, however, was still not any better. But her words did cause Hua to literally freeze for a moment. He did look at me and Guo Xuefu with some amusement.

"Xuefu, you guys know each other?"

Guo Xuefu responded to him with a nod, "I know each other, Jinchao and I are in the same class."

"Such a coincidence?"

Hua also gave an awkward smile.

"Yeah, I didn't think at first that you and Xuefu were acquainted as well." I laughed dryly as well.

"Jinchao, enough talk for now, we're leaving." Guo Xuefu said, about to take Hua away. But it was before they left that Hua Chai turned his head's to look at me, his prior fell on me and was making me feel a bit bad. I could only remain as calm as possible under his eyes.

"Jin Chao, thank you for this today. We'll see you some time later." Wah said to me abruptly.

"See you again?"

"Well, you'll know in a while."

Before Wah left, he was throwing a subject at me that made me care a lot. Combined with the look in his eyes earlier, it was hard not to make me think more about it. I thought back carefully to the way he had just spoken, and in my mind I was speculating: had Wah found out something? What did his words mean, exactly?

It was at this point that Cog called to ask where I was.

I said that it was a bit hard to find where my end was, and instead asked where they were and went to meet them.

When Cao Ge looked at my appearance, he hurriedly pulled me aside: "Chao, can you tell me why the people you just told us to deal with were all from 1908?"

"Brother Cao, you shouldn't ask so many questions about this matter. Just pretend that you don't know Manager Xu's people and pretend that you haven't seen them!"

I said solemnly.

"But you should at least tell me a general idea, right? So that I can have a base in my mind and know whether we'll offend 1908 by doing this or not." Cao Ge's scorn for 1908 was clearly deep in his bones. He was terrified of having a clash with such a giant.

"This is a plan that Manager Xu and I have, so I can't tell you the exact details. Anyway, you must bear in mind that you and your people must not reveal that we have had contact with 1908! You must not reveal it!" I then added an emphasis.

"Okay, then I know."

Cao Ge also agreed.

Looking at him, he was also really relieved.

"Chao, then, since we're fine, let's go have a meal together." Cao Ge suggested with a bark.

"Where are we going?"

I asked, puzzled instead.

"When Jean is a stall! Go over and order two dishes and get two pieces of wine. It's the weekend anyway, so even if we drink all night, it's not a big deal." Cao Ge chuckled harshly.

"That's fine! This evening meal is on me. It's not good to let everyone get beaten up for nothing because of my decision, is it?" I said with a smile as well. I still had the thousand yuan Xu Ying had given me on me, so it was more than enough to treat them to a meal.

"Then we're welcome!"

A group of us said and decided. Since the stalls weren't open so early, we went to the internet cafe to play games for a while, and then headed for the stalls that Cao Ge often went to. All of us were more or less injured. But no one said anything.

We sat down at the stall and Cao Ge really ordered two drinks.

He knew I could drink, and at the table, he didn't say anything polite to me.

It was nearly nine o'clock and the crowd was basically drunk and confused. And it was at this juncture that something suddenly happened
