

Silly Teen 72

Chapter 72

Cao Ge's words carried a very serious tone. I had no intention of making any contact with Fatty Zhu. As I listened to Cao Ge's words, I naturally nodded my head in agreement. And as we spoke, we arrived at the Star Internet Cafe. Because Cao Ge and the others had left in such a hurry earlier, they didn't even turn off the machines.

The three of us, Guo Xiaoming, Liu Bingbing and I opened a few temporary cards, got on the machines and got on the numbers.

"Ah Chao, platooning?"

Cao Ge asked at me.

"Totally!" I said with a grin as I bought a pack of Furong Wang.

"Then I'll lend you a platinum number and we'll go platinum together to play." Cao Ge said just that.

I was a bit worried as I listened, "But with my current strength won't I screw you guys if I go platinum?"

Cao Ge patted me on the shoulder and said, "With your current strength, you're still at the platinum level. You're still screwing us? I'm still counting on you to take up the position and lead us to Carry the whole game!"

"It's not that exaggerated." I was a bit embarrassed and scratched my head.

"I'm not exaggerating at all! Your strength is rising just like a rocket. I've been in contact with this game for over a year and as a result you've only been in contact for half a month and you've almost caught up with me." Cao Ge said, very sorrowful glance at me said.

I listened to his words, only had to be a laugh, and went with him to the platinum section of the campaign.

I was bitter over, but I knew better than to get my hands on the money and make sure it was worth what it was worth.

With two grand in hand, I covered everyone's internet bill straight away, including all the drinks too. And the first time I went on the number, I played the wilderness route. I had also watched a lot of wilderness videos in internet cafes before, and I basically just copied and used what those masters said about their routines.

"Cao, I'll go around the back of the lower road for a wave, you guys hurry up and bring in the soldiers." I said to Cao Ge as soon as I crouched in the grass.

"Good!" Cao Ge agreed.

"Go!" I ordered in a hurry.

The two of us, Cao Ge and I from the lower lane, then rushed into the tower. With the three of us, we surrounded and pinned the opposite side's lower lane ADC and support. Weak, ignite, and I take the damage from the defence tower. Flash, walk, and I make up the last damage to collect the sub's head. By then, the lower lane ended the battle with a zero-for-two wave.

"Chao, you're half-blooded now, go! It's dangerous to crouch in the bushes!" Cao Ge reminded me.

"It's alright. I have medicine on me, and I didn't release my big move just now, so I'll crouch here for a wave. The opposing fighter is out of eyes." I counted correctly and spoke to Cao Ge.

"Then we'll stay and help you?"

Cao Ge then asked me hastily.

"No, no, I'm alone, one set of bursts can take it away directly." I then said to Cao Ge. With the situation on my end, if the two of them, Cao Ge and his little brother, didn't go, the opposite side would definitely be able to guess that we had a crouch. As a fielding player, with no vision, the opposite side would definitely not know that I was there.

So I was relieved!

I didn't see anyone coming after crouching for a while, but I wasn't in a hurry. My level crushed the opposite wilderness by two levels, so I could still delay for a while longer.

"Ah Chao, it's almost time to go. You've been crouching for over a minute now." Cao Ge, who was already back online, said right at me.

"Don't rush, the stoner has already swiped, I don't believe he won't come!" I said very insistently.

Heaven forbid!

After I crouched in the grass for a minute and a half, the opposite fighter finally appeared. The opposite wilderness chose to clean up the stoner first because there was no conflict between Cao and the opposite lower lane. I continued to crouch and waited for the opposite wilderness to be bloodied by the stoner wilderness.

The actual stoner is the one that is in the best position to take away the stoner. This was followed by a set of bursts that hit the opposite fighter.

Bloodied! A pu attack takes away the head!

"Cao, hurry up and open the big one, I'll go around the back and take another wave." I hurriedly then spoke to Cao Ge.

Cao Ge listened and didn't dare to think too much.

He and the two of his assistants, then hurriedly opened up big. The cold ice's big move, first stunned the opposite side, and then connected with Hammerite's slowing move, raw was to buy me a few seconds of time. I burrowed out of the grass, because I play a blind monk, directly touch the eye, W to the ADC to shift, a big move kicked the two.

"Cao, you take the head."

I then spoke to Cao Ge.

“It’s better for you to take it. Gear up and go take the tempo of the other lane.” Cao Ge then turned me down.

“Alright, alright, you two just don’t let each other have it. Both bloodied ones are going to run away.” Cao’s little brother then hurriedly said.

“Sh*t, there are no soldiers under the tower.”

Cao Ge said with a very, very dark face.

“It’s alright. I’ll go straight over to fight against the damage.”

I said and rushed in alone. I gave the defense tower a total of four hits back and forth, with only but four hundred points of blood left. The ADC on the other side saw the opportunity and together with the support, turned backwards to backhand me. I gave him a storm hit, but only had less than 50 blood left, even more black face.

Now I was basically pronounced dead even if I was A’d by the support.

And I was nothing but a preemptive Q from the midst of a million armies, taking care of the ADC directly, while picking up the E and taking care of the assist smoothly. The scariest part is that by this point, I wasn’t dead.

I watched as I was hit by minions one by one, and my last fifty blood points were close to being consumed.

Thirty!

Twenty!

The last five points!

I was at the very limit of my blood, the limit of my escape. The two sets of captures I made in the lower lane alone, plus the heads I had on me, made it seven heads. It was about to go over the top. But it was at this juncture that I didn’t want to be finished off. I got very lucky and went home, outfitted and rejoined the wilderness.

At the current pace in the lower lane, I only had to be caught once and the opposite side would have collapsed for sure. But it was at this juncture that I went up and was inexplicably crushed.

I was anxious and rushed to the top lane.

The whole game, I was basically looking around for killing opportunities, leading the tempo of the whole game, the opposite side of the three lines collapsed!

“Five kills, five kills!” I got excited all of a sudden.

“Secondary hook, big move, weakness.” Cao Ge hurriedly said from the side.

“Four kills already, one last head to go!” I was so full of blood that I boiled up in a flash.

“Wandering drive with soldiers into the spring and abuse it directly!”

I didn't know how much faster my hand speed was all of a sudden because of my emotional excitement. Wandering is a friend of Cao Ge's, right in the other internet cafe. He also heard what I said in the hacking voice. He was very decisive and took a large wave of and under the defense tower and killed it directly into the spring.

With the minions absorbing damage from the defense tower, I went up for a set of bursts and gave a punishment, and said goodbye directly to the opposite side.

Five kills!