

I Am Born With A Silver Spoon Chapter 200

"Tomorrow, after exams, let's have lunch together! Hmph, I'll wait for you!"

Qin Ya sent Chen Hao a bunch of messages.

Of course, Chen Hao had read them all.

After some consideration, he replied, "Thanks, but I'll pass. After the exam, I have to rush home!"

Since he had finished a few exams before, his 'finals' only included tomorrow morning's last two subjects.

Also, Chen Hao no longer wanted to be involved with Qin Ya anymore.

After he replied, he turned off his phone, and went to sleep early.

The second day, Chen Hao finished all his subjects.

He finished packing his luggage.

He kept his blankets and whatnot into a snakeskin bag.

Originally, Li Zhenguo wanted to book a car to come and pick Chen Hao up to Ping An County.

Ping An County's case was put into action after the phone call from yesterday.

Li Zhenguo was already busy with Zhao Zixing and the others who had stayed behind, and he had to go back and forth.

But Chen Hao did not want to be so high-key.

When he went back, the first thing he wanted to do was go and see Uncle Wu and Aunt Wu.

Regarding the investments, Li Zhenguo and Zhao Zixing could go deal with that on their own.

He wanted to use these three months of summer vacation to relax and read more, as well as learn a few things.

After summer vacation, there would be three more months of school. After that, they would start their internships.

By then, he would truly be busy. For now, he would relax while he still could.

When he turned his phone on, his messenger still showed Qin Ya's notifications.

Chen Hao replied, "I'm already on the way to my hometown, goodbye!"

"Oh, okay then! Then I won't bother you anymore!"

Chen Hao didn't reply, and Qin Ya also didn't continue.

Besides, after today... they probably wouldn't meet again, would they?

Sitting on the Jin Long bus, Chen Hao finally got a chance to look at the scenery outside his window.

He couldn't help but feel melancholy.

To think that a few months ago, when he first arrived on the Jin Long Bus, he only had two hundred on him. At the time, he was wondering, how would he face life in the future and his school fees? It was also going to be Yang Xia's birthday soon, so how would he get money to buy her a gift?

He also remembered how hard it was raining on the day he took the bus to come to school. When he was on the bus, Yang Xia hadn't forgotten to call him, saying that she had already reached school and was waiting for him so that they could have dinner together.

She brought some good food from home.

Back then, Yang Xia was still a rather nice girl.

But this time, as he was going back home by bus, so much had happened since then.

He had learned that he was from a rich family, and a pretty wealthy one at that.

Yang Xia had somewhat changed, and the two of them had broken up.

One thing, however, stayed the same—a few months ago when he was in school, he was troubled by how he should spend his money, and now, he was still thinking of how to spend his money!

Hehe.

Chen Hao zoned out as he looked out the window.

"Chen Hao?"

At this time, a female voice sounded from beside him.

Obviously, she had only just recognized Chen Hao.

Chen Hao turned and saw a pretty woman roughly twenty-five years old sitting across the aisle from him.

She had on some light makeup and was dressed rather nicely.

"Miss Liu?"

Chen Hao had never imagined that he would meet someone familiar on the bus.

What was more, an English teacher from high school.

Her name was Liu Min, and she was a substitute English teacher in his high school, having taught him for two years. She was rather young and pretty. At that time, she had just graduated from university and was teaching in high school based on her family's connections.

The reason Chen Hao had such a deep impression of her was simply because Miss Liu had almost all the qualities of a modern girl.

For example, she wore super revealing clothes. At the time, she wore miniskirts and crop tops when she taught her classes.

And with her looks, everyone knew she had an extremely rich boyfriend who even bought her an Audi A6. She was absolutely fabulous!

Of course, her most obvious trait was that she loved the rich and hated the poor.

Just like his tutor, Meng Cairu.

The rich students were all her good friends.

But the ones with no money or power, well, they could die before her eyes and she wouldn't even bat an eyelid.

At times, she couldn't be scrupulous about her words and it could be pretty hurtful, so Chen Hao had a deep impression toward her.

"Damn, what a coincidence! This is my first time taking a bus and I just so happened to run into you!"

Liu Min laughed bitterly.

As if she was afraid that people would think she was the type of woman who always took the bus.

"Min, who is he? Your student?" a handsome young man in a suit next to Liu Min asked.

"Yeah, I told you before, right? That class I was in charge of had this one poor kid who would bring two buns and a bag of pickled vegetables to class and that would be his only meal for the whole day. You know, right?"

"Oh yeah, I remember!"

"Yup, this is him! Speaking of which, I haven't seen him in almost three years! He went to a pretty good college, Jin Ling College!"

"Sigh. There was a kid named Li Xiao in my class who was a pretty good student. Sadly, he didn't have any luck with college. If the world was in his favor, he would have gone to Jin Ling College! Too bad. The ones who should have gone didn't end up going, and vice versa! Really!" Liu Min said unhappily.

"Anyway, Chen Hao. I haven't seen you in two or three years, right? You're pretty charismatic now! You also don't look as self-conscious anymore. Looks like going to the city was good for you!"

Liu Min said lightly.

“Thank you, Miss Liu! You too, you’re even prettier than before!”

Chen Hao replied.

To be honest, he didn’t have a good impression of Liu Min.

But who cares? She was his teacher after all, so why hold grudges?

“Hehe, you even have a silver tongue now. You should just be more straightforward and honest, don’t learn those kinds of things. It’s the same compliments, but out of your mouth I somehow feel unhappy!” Liu Min said, straight-faced.

Rich people’s compliments make you feel good, but poor people’s compliments probably don’t give you any satisfaction.

It was that simple.

Chen Hao thought.

But on the surface, he changed the subject: “Miss Liu, where did you both go this time?”

“Hehe, we travelled overseas! If not, do you think we would take the bus back, really? Anyway, you wouldn’t know!”

Liu Min affectionately held onto the besuited man’s arm.

Chen Hao just nodded.

Seeing that Liu Min no longer paid attention to him, he also stopped talking and turned toward the window, continuing to look at the scenery.

Very soon, the bus reached Ping An County.

The passengers all got off the bus.

Chen Hao also carried his luggage, planning to get a taxi to go back.

“Hey, since Chen Hao is here, let’s have him carry our suitcases to the pick-up spot. How can that driver of yours be late for such a little thing? How will he be in the future?”

Liu Min and her boyfriend each had one suitcase, and it looked like neither of them wanted to carry it.

They probably felt as though it was embarrassing.

They just happened to see Chen Hao, and Liu Min waved to him: “Chen Hao, come here! Help us lift our suitcases! I can’t move it!”

Liu Min didn’t wait for Chen Hao to agree, instead pushing her suitcase in front of him.

Can’t move it? Then just go and die!

Chen Hao scolded inwardly. But thinking about it, oh well. He wouldn't lose anything by helping his teacher lift her suitcase.

One hand on his own luggage, his other hand pulling the other two's suitcases, he followed them and walked out of the station.

"Darling, this Ping An County financing you mentioned, can your family get the funds? If you do, then you will really become rich! Haha, thinking about how our Ping An County will become a county-level city makes me super excited!" Liu Min held on to her boyfriend's arm as she spoke.

"Hehe, of course! My dad's company counts as a more powerful one in Ping An County!"

As her boyfriend spoke arrogantly: "Huh? Why are there so many cars outside the station? And they are all cars from companies in the county, looks like these people are here to fetch someone."

"Yeah, isn't that Jiang? Why is he here?"
