

I Am Born With A Silver Spoon Chapter 206

Liu Min, who was still reproaching Chen Hao a short while ago, was especially shocked.

She was so shaken that her eyes were on the verge of popping out.

Damn!

She knew Chen Hao's family background clearly. He was just a poor loser with no money.

What about Young Master Chen?

He was the man of the hour in Jin Ling City. He was about to transform Ping An County into a whole new place.

Anyhow, Liu Min failed to see the connection between the two.

However, Li Zhenguo and Zhao Zixing definitely knew Young Master Chen personally.

Surely there was no mistake about the identity of Chen Hao.

Damn, Liu Min's mind was in a turmoil.

"General Manager Li, are you guys mistaken? Why are you guys addressing this poor dude as Young Master Chen?" Liu Min could not help but ask.

Li Zhenguo frowned slightly. He took a glance at the stain on Liu Min's dress before addressing the organizing staff with annoyance, "What's happening? Why is this woman allowed to be onstage? Did you not see that her dress was dirty? What's more, she is being so rude to Young Master Chen!"

"We're so sorry, General Manager Li and Young Master Chen. It's our mistake!"

The staff immediately nodded their heads to express their apologies.

The staff pointed at Liu Min and Wang Qiang, then ordered, "You and you! Get out of here!"

"Huh? Why? He is an impersonator. He is just a poor student. You guys have mistaken him for Young Master Chen. I am his teacher. Damn, Chen Hao, please say something. Please clarify to them that you are just a poor guy and they have mistaken you for the wrong guy!"

A few guys were already there to shove Liu Min and Wang Qiang off the stage.

Nonetheless, Liu Min cried out reluctantly.

Firstly, they had to suffer the public humiliation of being ordered to get off the stage.

The other thing was, how could Chen Hao be Young Master Chen? Liu Min felt like dying if that was the truth!

Therefore, the only thing she wanted was for Chen Hao to offer some clarification.

Afterall, Chen Hao was just a loser. He even stepped forward when someone was calling for Young Master Chen just now at the lobby.

At that moment, Li Zhenguo averted his gaze toward Chen Hao.

His gaze was inquisitive, trying to gauge Chen Hao's decision.

Afterall, if that woman knew Young Master Chen personally, Li Zhenguo could not be too rude to her.

Unexpectedly, Chen Hao replied, "We are just acquaintances. She used to be my teacher."

Chen Hao revealed a slight smile and said, "However, if you really want me to say it aloud, I will say it. Yes, I am just a poor guy. I am just a student with no money. They have mistaken me for the wrong guy!"

"Ha! General Manager Li, did you hear that? Hahaha, he admitted it. He just admitted it!" Liu Min exclaimed.

She wondered whether Li Zhenguo was impressed by her actions.

However, Li Zhenguo cast Liu Min a smirk before saying, "Someone please get these two people out of here!"

Several guards were already standing by. In the blink of an eye, they got hold of Liu Min and Wang Qiang, who was in a daze, and shoved them off the stage.

Only then did the hall return to a much peaceful state.

Chen Hao really could not stand Liu Min any longer. Ever since Liu Min treated him that way at the petrol station, their relationship had turned sour.

Back then, Chen Hao decided to be tolerant with her, just like how he was tolerant with Zhao Yifan for taunting him. It was for the sake of Ma Xiaonan and the girls. Therefore, he let it go.

However, Liu Min was a different case. He had no need to endure her attitude any longer.

Hence, Chen Hao decided to become decisive.

Anyhow, Chen Hao was the winner of a Mercedes-Benz G500 from the lucky draw event. At the beginning, the organizer thought that Chen Hao would think that the prize was too shabby. After all, the prize was sponsored.

Yet, Chen Hao had no comments about the prize.

For him, the car was already quite decent.

Also, he had already returned to this small county. It was unrealistic for him to travel around the county with his Lamborghini.

Initially, he had thought of borrowing a car from Li Zhenguo. Now, the G500 would come in handy.

After that, the guests started to drink and chat among themselves.

In the blink of an eye, a week had passed.

Uncle Wu had also been discharged from the hospital.

Chen Hao had quite an empty schedule for today. Therefore, he planned to check on the business plans over at Li Zhenguo's.

He had also received several calls from his sister.

In the midst of their conversation, Chen Hao suddenly remembered that his father had asked him to do something. His father had asked him to visit his previous comrade in arms in Ping An County. He had been here for one whole week but he had totally forgotten about this.

Chen Hao had nothing else to do today. So, after getting some gifts, he made his way to a high-end residential area of Ping An county where Jiang Weidong, also known as Uncle Jiang, stayed.

As previously mentioned, the two families were driven apart due to several incidents that had happened between them.

However, his father was a person who treasured his old friendships.

His father was not convinced. Despite the selfish nature of humans, it was hard to forget a relationship completely.

Six years ago, Chen Hao's father had brought him along to Uncle Jiang's place to ask for his help to get into high school. At that time, Uncle Jiang treated them with indifference.

Chen Hao knew how his father felt about this.

This time, the only difference was that he was here alone, and he had come with a brand new identity!

He wondered whether he would be treated in the same way as before. Hehe...

As he was deep in thought, Chen Hao had arrived at the right location according to memory.

He knocked on the door.

"Who is it?"

A middle-aged lady opened the door.

Of course, Chen Hao recognised the lady. Her name was Tang Lan. He used to address her as Aunt Tang, and she was Jiang Weidong's wife. According to what he heard, she was a director at a bank. She was great at what she did.

"Hi, Aunt Tang. Do you still recognize me? My name is Chen Hao. I used to frequent your place with my father!" Chen Hao greeted her with a smile.

"Oh! I remember you. You are the son of one of Jiang's comrades in arms, Chen Jindong. It has been a while. You have grown up a lot! Please come in!"

She took a look at the stuff in Chen Hao's hand.

Tang Lan offered the pleasantries nonchalantly.

She had gotten very used to these visitors. Judging from Chen Hao's look, she knew that he was here to ask for help.

Deep down inside, she had already come up with an excuse to turn him down.

However, she could not be too rude to him.

He walked into the living room and saw a middle-aged man reading papers on the sofa with his legs crossed.

He acted as though he was the president of a company.

Naturally, that person was the Uncle Jiang whom Chen Hao had mentioned. He had heard that Jiang Wei Dong was the current director of the Development Bureau.

They were a typical family full of government officials.

"Hi, Uncle Jiang!"

For some unknown reasons, Chen Hao was still very uptight around them even though so many years had passed.

"Hi. Oh, you're Little Chen. It's been a long while. Oh right, I heard that your father was trying to make money abroad to pay for his debt?" Jiang Weidong tossed the papers aside and asked.

"Yes, he's earning money overseas!" Chen Hao said with a laugh.

"You just graduated from university this year, right? What do you major in?" Jiang Weidong inquired nonchalantly. He lifted the cup and blew on the tea leaves that were floating on the surface.

"I am from the Literature Department. I major in Chinese Language and Editing."

"Ahem. Although the subjects you do are quite unpopular, it would be easy for you to seek a job. By the way, have you found a job?" Jiang Weidong asked.

"Not yet, Uncle Jiang! I am here today just to visit you. Besides, my father has instructed me..."

"Jiang, you have a meeting later right?"

At this moment, Tang Lan, who was standing at the side, suddenly interrupted their conversation.

"Oh yes, there's a meeting I need to attend later. It's quite urgent. If it wasn't for this, I would have made Chen Hao stay for lunch!" Jiang Weidong smiled lightly.

Chen Hao was not too dumb himself. He could sense in their tone that they thought he was here to ask for a job.

Therefore, they were trying to come up with an excuse so that he would leave.

Alas, it appeared that little to no friendship was left between the two families. He would tell his father about everything that happened on this trip. He guessed his father would give up any hope of reviving the friendship from now on. Before waiting for them to finish, Chen Hao had already stood up and was about to leave.

Right at this moment, a girl walked out from her room on the second floor of the duplex building, wearing earphones. The girl was quite pretty.

“Mom, my friends are coming to have lunch later. Is the food ready? Do you need help?” the girl said with a smile.

When she caught sight of Chen Hao, she stared at him and asked, “Mom, who is he?”
