

The Heiress' Return: Six Brothers at Her Beck and Call ( Wynter Quinnell )

Chapter 201 Too Late to Regret

Ewan was so shaken by the situation that his phone nearly slipped out of his hand. What had occurred to prompt the arrival of the police and officers from the Industry and Commerce Bureau?

Ewan pretended to be calm and stepped forward. "How can I help you..."

However, the police officers ignored Ewan. They went straight to Wanda and presented their identification. "Are you Wanda Scott?"

"Yes."

"We need your cooperation for an investigation. Please come with us."

Wanda assumed that he was referring to Wynter's incident. Adam had mentioned that someone would visit her regarding the matter..

So, she wasn't worried and even felt at ease. "Is Captain Weissman the one who sent you all? Come on, sit down and have some drinks first. You've all worked so hard this time. If it weren't for you all-"

"We'll discuss the case further back at the police station," the police officer said sternly. "You have the right to remain silent now."

Only then did Wanda realize something was amiss. "Are you all from the Ravenwood Police precinct?"

The police officers neither confirmed nor denied that fact. They proceeded to escort her away. Wanda started to panic. She turned back and looked at Ewan.

Ewan had been intercepted by the officers from the Industry and Commerce Bureau. "We need to inspect some accounts."

Initially, Wanda didn't think much of it. She assumed everything would be fine, especially with Adam's presence. However, as she got into the police car, she realized something was really wrong.

This didn't seem like what was agreed upon earlier. They hadn't mentioned anything about bailing someone out. Instead, she was treated more like a suspect!

Wanda's heart sank. She shouted, "I want to see Captain Weissman! I want to call my lawyer!" However, the car door had already been closed.

In the center of the business district, and full view of the public, Wanda exited the Yates Group's office and was escorted into the police car.

The Yates family's company wasn't the only company in the vast office building. Numerous other companies that were partners with the Yates group shared the same building.

The news of Mrs. Yates' arrest spread in less than three minutes! In the vast office building housing dozens of companies, the incident was the talk of the town.

The speed of dissemination due to the internet was rapid, especially when it came to gossip.

Before Ewan could resolve matters with the Industry and Commerce Bureau, calls from their business partners started pouring in. They all questioned if there were any potential risks involved.

Even the small investors that they had previously engaged with reached out.

"Mr. Yates, there's no need to hide from us anymore. The entire business district of Southdale knows about your wife's arrest."

"What's really going on!"

Ewan pondered and recalled what Wanda had said earlier. He then explained, "There's nothing wrong my wife, so there's no need to be concerned about this."

with

"It's all because of our previous adopted daughter, who insisted on doing medical livestreams. She's the one who had been arrested. My wife and I are simply cooperating with the investigation."

“Yes, there’s absolutely no risk involved. Don’t worry, Mr. Larsen. I can assure you of that.”

“We have completely severed ties with that girl. Yes, she won’t affect us.”

*Of course. Our company will announce once there’s any outcome. Please be reassured.”

This explanation temporarily appeased some of the small companies. However, the scrutiny from the Industry and Commerce Bureau seemed endless.

There were internal issues within the Yates Group. Ewan was worried that the officers might uncover something.

At this moment, he couldn’t care less about Wanda’s situation. He simply arranged for a lawyer to accompany her.

Despite their concerns, the couple still had some confidence in the situation. Even in the worst-case scenario, if the Wynter chose to expose the Yates group, with Adam’s presence, they believed everything could be settled easily.

It was the scrutiny of the Industry and Commerce Bureau that posed the greatest challenge.

Ewan had meticulously planned everything—or so he thought. He hadn’t anticipated Wanda’s immediate panic as soon as she arrived at the police station. None of the people she knew were present.

That wasn’t even the main issue. The main concern was that the auxiliary police officer she knew was being interrogated in the interrogation room!

Chapter 202 Do You Know Who That Is

Wanda stole a glance through the glass of the interrogation room. Her mind was in such a state of chaos. that her steps were unsteady. She tried to take a closer look.

The two police officers who took her in didn't allow her any time to look around. They took her into another interrogation room straightaway! With a click, she was handcuffed to the chair.

At this moment, Wanda's face turned pale. However, she remained steadfast in her demands. "I want to see Captain Weissman." She was fully aware of the situation. "I won't say a word if Captain Weissman doesn't come."

To her surprise, the police officers agreed to her request. They glanced at the surveillance camera first, as if they had received instructions from someone.

"Seeing Captain Weissman is not a problem. Do it." The door of the interrogation room closed.

A groundless fear infinitely amplified within her. Wanda comforted herself by saying that everything would be fine. As long as Adam came, everything would be settled.

At worst, there was still Jerome to rely on. Jerome had some respect for the Scotts. When the police officers appeared again, Wanda's face immediately drained of color! Adam was brought in handcuffs!

"Captain Weissman, you-

As soon as Adam saw her, he tried to step forward and strangle her to death! "Wanda! You've ruined me!

What did you say? You said that she had no background! That she was just a countryside girl who wouldn't cause any big trouble! Just scare her a little and let her bleed!"

Adam stretched his neck and yelled furiously, "Why did you contact the troll army? Why? Do you want me to die with you?" Adam had been interrogated for three hours already. His emotions were at a critical point.

Now that he saw Wanda, his eyes grew even more bloodshot. It was because of this woman that he was

In this mess! If the police officers hadn't held him down, he would've rushed over to punch Wanda!

Wanda was dumbfounded by the scene in front of her. She had expected Adam to reassure her that everything was settled as he did in the past and that she only needed to pay some money to make Wynter apologize as much as she wanted.

But now, her pillar of support had crumbled.

She panicked. "Mr. Grayson, I'm looking for Mr. Grayson. I'm from the Scott family!"

"You're looking for Mr. Grayson?" Adam laughed as if she had told a joke. He stared at her viciously and said, "It's useless even if you seek God!"

"You

id that they were just poor relatives from the countryside! Wanda! Are you blind or just plain stupid? You can't even recognize the City Bureau Secretary of Kingbourne!"

City Bureau Secretary? Of Kingbourne? The more Wanda listened, the deeper her heart sank. Her breathing grew uneven. How was it possible?

Chapter 202 Do You Know Who That is

"Wh—who did you say is from Kingbourne?" Wanda asked in a shaky voice as her body trembled.

Now, Adam seemed to be lashing out like a rabid dog. "Those poor relatives you thought had been arrested? It's Mr. Fischer from the Industry and Commerce Bureau and the newly appointed Secretary the City Bureau.

"Wanda, I'm telling you, I'm done for. And you won't have it any easier! This time, even the Scott family can't save you!"

Of all people, Adam harbored the deepest resentment for Wanda for her foolishness!

Wanda was truly stunned this time. "How could it be? It's impossible! Impossible!"

She muttered to herself, "Why would the City Bureau Secretary be in such a rundown alley... They must be imposters. Yes, they must be imposters!"

"Your stupidity is really beyond belief," Adam said through gritted teeth.

Wanda shook her head rapidly, and her hair became disheveled. She couldn't figure out why. Why would the City Bureau Secretary appear there?

The lawyer had been outside the interrogation room from the start. He wanted to identify the best approach he could take to swiftly settle the matter.

Chapter 203 A Great Turn of Events

After all, he was only responsible for the economic and legal affairs of the Yates Group. Mrs. Yates' situation was just a side issue to look into upon Mr. Yates' Instructions. But when he learned about the case, he immediately gave up.

He politely bid farewell to the police officers. Afterward, he immediately called the law firm to inform the other partners to sever all ties with the Yates Group.

"It's not just a trivial business matter. Even the entire Yates Group's involvement wouldn't resolve this matter, Mrs. Yates had provoked the wrong people. I can't divulge the specifics..."

The stance of a law firm toward its client often set the tone for such situations. It's just that the storm hadn't fully started yet. The seriousness of the situation had yet to be realized by Ewan.

What was important to him was securing the livestream channel. Midway through the Industry and Commerce Bureau's investigation, Ewan sneaked into the bathroom and called Margaret.

The contents of the phone call were nothing but threats. If Margaret refused to sign, Wynter would definitely pay the price.

"Mom, take a look at what the public is saying. Do you honestly think you and that girl stand a chance?" The sentence hit Margaret right in the heart.

At the Empathy Clinic, Margaret sat next to the wooden medicine cabinet. Her hands trembled after she hung up the phone.

was by her side. Margaret used to not pay much attention to her phone. But now, she kept scrolling through her screen. Public opinion swept over her like a large tide, as if it could drown her.

"The streamer is done for."

*Anyone who caused medical accidents should pay with their life. She's ballsy if she dares to defy the law!

"The streamer didn't refuse to cooperate with the law enforcement during the livestream. I was there. It was the two police officers who had problems."

"This is ridiculous. What problems could the police officers have? Some fans are spreading rumors just to protect her?"

"It's unjust if the streamer isn't severely punished!"

"I watched the video. The old lady was too pitiful. Her grandson was in a coma."

*The streamer deserves to die! Didn't they say she cheated in school? She must've faked everything online too! Those diagnoses she made with just a glance were definitely staged!"

"It was scripted, and now it has backfired. She had it coming!"

There were too many negative comments. As the moderator of the Empathy hall, Moderator 007 felt immense pressure.

Chapter 203 A Great Tumultuous Event

Another colleague in the medical field, Mr. Hughes, was unaware of Mr. Yarwood's existence. He had already warned him three times.

"The streamer you signed made a mistake. Do you expect other streamers to suffer the consequences for you?"

"I never liked Empathy Clinic from the start."

"Their tips seemed too fake, especially that VVIP user's. It all felt too contrived!"

"Even the data seems manipulated. Why keep such a streamer?"

The bosses had reminded Moderator 007 not to disclose Mr. Yarwood's identity. During the meeting, he could only rely on his authority to defend Empathy Clinic.

Mr. Hughes sneered. "If something goes wrong, you'll need to resign!"

Moderator 007 gritted his teeth. "I'll wait for the notice."

Mr. Hughes remained silent. He thought it wouldn't be too bad if things went wrong. As long as 007 was present, he would always diminish some of Mr. Hughes' authority.

Once 007 was no longer around, he would be able to dominate the medical field. Moderator 007 had been attempting to contact someone overseas. Finally, he got through to Mr. Yarwood's phone.

After he explained everything, the voice on the other end turned cold...

Chapter 204 My Vulnerable Girlfriend

Ethan had never seen Dalton with such a cold expression. From the moment he received the call, a storm of coldness brewed within his gaze. As he approached the car, the surrounding air was filled with a palpable coldness.

Nobody could hear the conversation clearly, nor did they dare to eavesdrop. His towering form alone sent shivers down the spines of those that surrounded him.

What exactly happened back home to provoke such hostility in their typically composed boss? Dalton talked on the phone for over 15 minutes,

No one dared to get close to him. His oppressive tone could be felt through the sound of the rain. After hanging up the call from 007, Dalton called Otis.

Otis was still at the station. He grew angrier as the investigation progressed. When he saw Dalton's call, his chest tightened with a pang of guilt.

Dalton

got straight to the point. He spoke politely, "I apologize for disturbing you at this time. It's just that I've received some troubling news and would like to consult you about it, sir.

"If a public official abused their power to frame my girlfriend, how would you address such a situation?

"The reason why I asked for your help when I left Southdale was not because I wanted you to give her any special treatment..

"It's just that it's difficult for her to support her family at such a young age. I simply hoped for a smoother path for her. Now I hear that my girlfriend will be convicted of a serious crime."

If Dalton had exhibited the typical intimidating attitude of those from prominent families, Otis might not have felt as guilty.

However, Dalton maintained his composure while he criticized Otis. He presented facts and even brought up Wynter's background.

Hearing Dalton's words, Otis desperately wished he could drag people like Jerome and sacrifice them to the heavens. It was not permissible to disclose the general details of the case, but Otis recognized that Dalton had a close relationship with the girl who was convicted.

Otis didn't hide anything from him and provided Dalton with the fact that the City Bureau Secretary was among those who were arrested."

the story

He even included the fact

He explained the reason why he had not made any statement was because there was another case of severe cyberbullying involved. Wynter, who had gathered evidence, was currently coordinating the final operation with the Special Unit.,

“Her? Special Unit?” Dalton’s eyes darkened as he got lost in his thoughts.

Otis lowered his voice and said, “This young lady is remarkable. She remained calm throughout the investigation, She even had such a big trump card. She’s extremely intelligent.

Chapte 204 My Vulnerable Girlfriend

“Mr Buchanan, you should not disregard the fact that she’s vulnerable and at a disadvantage just because she’s smart,” Dalton remarked in a subdued tone as he twirled the beads of his bracelet.

“Social connections hold weight everywhere. She has no connections or background. She would’ve been torn apart once she entered your bureau if she hadn’t been smart. She wouldn’t be standing where she is now.” Dalton’s words weren’t sharp, yet they pierced through Otis.

Otis felt remorseful and assured, “Don’t worry, we’ll set things straight and offer her an explanation.”

“Indeed, an explanation is needed.” Dalton’s gaze was dark and deep. “But this time, the explanation will be different from the past. I’m sure Mr. Buchanan is aware of the public sentiment online.”

Otis was aware that this case hadn’t been managed well in terms of public relations. Even if Wynter was innocent, her reputation would likely be tarnished.

After all, rumors spread like wildfire. It would be extremely difficult to debunk them.

Dalton noticed that Otis was lost in thought so he moved on to the main purpose of his call. "I need your to provide an initial explanation for the case. The Yarwoods will handle the rest."

Chapter 205 This Is a Huge Plot Twist

Otis understood Dalton's message. This type of large-scale public sentiment required someone experienced to handle it. There was a certain tacit understanding between Otis and Dalton.

Meanwhile, at the headquarters of the livestream platform, Moderator 007 was more confident. The matter at hand was crucial. He bypassed Mr. Hughes and directly contacted several branch managers of the platform.

The branch managers dared not refuse, as it was an order from Dalton. Time passed slowly. As the number of negative comments online grew, Ewan grew more confident. He was certain that Margaret would not be able to hold on and would eventually call him.

had been set by many gossip accounts. The information left by The Nines Entertainment was sufficient for them to celebrate.

Were these gossip accounts aware of the truth? Their intentions certainly weren't naive.

It's just that this matter was currently trending and everyone wanted a piece of the action.

Some netizens said, 'Just wait. The platform will make an official statement and shut down Empathy Clinic's livestream channel."

"This is a serious issue. If not handled properly, it will lead to trouble.

I

“What more is there to say? I fully support the platform in banning problematic streamers directly!”

Demands to shut down the livestream channel increased. Margaret couldn't comprehend the situation online, but the current situation was similar to her previous experience.

It was just that it shifted from reality to the internet, but the core of it remained the same. It was enough to crush a person.

There were even comments that said, ‘Does anyone know the streamer's information? Let's expose her!’

Margaret panicked when she saw the comment. It didn't matter much if the Empathy Clinic was shut down or if she stopped practicing medicine. However, she had to protect Wynter!

Some people tried to reason, such as retired leaders from the community.

Lovethepeople commented, “I saw the entire incident unfold. I advise everyone to remain calm until the outcome is revealed.”

Unfortunately, no one listened to their comment. Some netizens even argued back.

“This lovethepeople looks like a private account. He's probably a fan of the female streamer. The way he tries to defend her is shameless.”

“Who are you to advise us to stay calm? She assaulted the police!”

“Defending her with a private account? Show some guts and use a public one!”

Jackson had never faced criticism like this before. For the first time, he witnessed the consequences of aligning with violence. It seemed as if they wanted to push Wynter to her death.

The leaders of the Harmony Community were furious when they saw this. They gathered their respective students and lectured them.

“You mean to tell me this can’t be resolved now!”

“Why did you all allow the public’s opinion to spiral out of control?”

However, Jackson seemed to have sensed something and remained composed. “Don’t worry, let’s wait.”

“What are we waiting for?” The others were anxious. “If we wait any longer, they’ll ruin Wyner!”

“Lawrence, this is all because of you. Look at Jerome now!”

Lawrence couldn’t bring himself to raise his head. “I... I was blind before.”

“If you dare to speak for that Jerome guy, don’t think about playing cards with us anymore!” Zach fumed.

Look at how harshly Wynter got scolded!”

Lawrence clenched his teeth. “Me speaking for him? Zach, you can blame me, but don’t insult me. A scumbag like him deserves to be in jail!”

Almost all the administrators of the various communities in Southdale were reprimanded by their superiors.

None of them could comprehend the situation. Wasn’t the Yates family just a small noble family? Why did they stir up trouble with the leaders?

Meanwhile, at the Empathy Clinic, Margaret’s hands trembled. She finally made her final decision. Just as she was about to sign, Susan shouted suddenly with her phone raised.
