

The Heiress' Return: Six Brothers at Her Beck and Call (Wynter Quinnell)

Chapter 206 The Public Opinion Has Changed

“Oh my god! Does this mean that they’re supporting Wynter?” Susan exclaimed excitedly as she opened the platform page.

“Mrs. Yates Senior, look at this! This headline is getting boosted!” Margaret set her pen down and swiftly put on her reading glasses.

It was an official statement by the livestreaming platform. The content was concise but powerful.

“Regarding the recent defamatory remarks against our platform’s Empathy Clinic’s streamer, our company has issued legal notices to all gossip accounts involved. We reserve the right to pursue legal action against any defamation targeting Empathy Clinic’s streamer.

“Our company upholds all legal principles. We promise the public that our streamers have no violations on record. These are baseless complaints and provocations from the troll army. Our company will thoroughly investigate this matter!

“Furthermore, our company’s stance reflects the stance of our responsible personnel. We hope for clarity on the internet so that doctors can heal and patients can be treated.”

As soon as this statement was released, it immediately stirred a wave of reactions!

“Unbelievable! The platform is still defending her?”

“Isn’t the platform’s stance too firm?”

“Look at the last sentence, ‘Our company’s stance reflects the stance of our responsible personnel. We hope for clarity on the internet so that doctors can heal and patients can be treated’. It’s so well written!

It’s touching!”

The p platform's public relations strategy is undeniably strong. But it's a fact that the streamer assaulted the police!"

"I sense there's more to this situation. The platform probably has insights that we're not aware of."

"I guess they're reluctant to ban her because she's a major source of revenue for them."

"Wait, have you guys noticed that the gossip accounts are unusually quiet this time?"

"Indeed. Usually when they receive legal notices, they become even more provocative ..."

Did the gossip accounts dare to provoke? Absolutely not!

BlazingTea, a gossip account notorious for delving into people's privacy and often collaborating with The Nines Entertainment, was dumbfounded!

This wasn't a legal notice from the platform. It was from the Yarwood Group! The Yarwood group was capable of altering circumstances with a flick of their hand! Who would dare to provoke them? They must've had considerable leverage to wield such power.

It was rumored that the Scotts' legal team was invincible. But that was because they had not yet encountered the Yarwood group.

BlazingTea panicked. He quickly deleted all provocative videos related to Empathy Clinic on the platform. But it was too late. The next moment, the police found him and requested his cooperation in the investigation.

BlazingTea was experienced in such situations. He claimed to be a first-time offender, unaware that his actions constituted cyberbullying. He pleaded to the police officers to show him leniency this time and cited his family responsibilities.

BlazingTea thought that he would be left alone after he deactivated his account. To his surprise, the police officers were stern and requested his immediate cooperation.

The netizens remained oblivious to what had happened to the gossip accounts. Even some of the gossip accounts thought it wasn't a big deal, diminishing it as just a few rumors.

But just three minutes after the platform issued its statement, the police department's official website posted an announcement!

"Everyone! Take a look at the police department's official website!"

The netizens had anticipated severe criticism of the platform by the authorities. However, as they eagerly opened the announcement, their hands froze!

The official announcement stated, "The case involving a certain online streamer is a defamation case. The informant was hired by Wanda Scott to appear in the streamer's live stream, intending to damage the streamer's reputation.

"Due to the large number of individuals involved in this case, we are unable to disclose further details at this time."

"Regarding the issue of public officials who illegally arrested individuals, we will conduct a thorough investigation. We will provide the public with an explanation and clear Empathy Clinic's name."

If the police department issued a simple announcement as they had done in the past, it would've likely gone unnoticed. However, the livestream platform had released a statement before this official announcement.

This was bound to spark significant discussions. Whether positive or negative, everyone awaited eagerly for the official outcome. So when this public announcement was made, the internet exploded!

"Arresting people illegally!?"

"I've said before that the streamer was framed. I was on the livestream channel at the time. The procedures were all wrong."

"I apologize for criticizing the streamer!"

"But I'm baffled. Why would the police officers arrest people illegally?"

"It seems someone spent money to ensure the streamer's case was ironclad, making it impossible for her to recover!

Before the netizens could inquire further, another announcement appeared on the police department's official website.

"After investigation, it was found that Adam Weissman, the former chief of the Ravenwood Police Precinct, had long abused his powers, engaged in bribery, and framed over 20 innocent people.

"He was one of the masterminds behind this case. He had been handed over to the higher authorities for handling. After investigation, former Southdale.

Upon this announcement, the online fervor intensified! Nobody expected that such a massive corruption case would be uncovered through the gossip of an online streamer! All of Southdale was rattled!

Those associated with Adam and Jerome now wanted to distance themselves as much as possible. It was evident to anyone that they were in serious trouble this time! However, they couldn't comprehend why a mere streamer would wield such a great influence.

Susan pointed at her phone excitedly. "Mrs. Yates Senior! Remember what I said? Good people will be rewarded! Wynter will be fine!"

Margaret also saw the announcement. She breathed a sigh of relief and carefully put away the contracts in her hand. These were all evidence

'Sorry Empathy Clinic' and 'Who is Wynter Quinell' instantly skyrocketed to the top of the trending list! Soon after, an insider revealed more information.

"I know this Wanda. She's the wife of the owner of the Yates Group. She's notorious for being a mistress, mistreating her mother-in-law, and abusing her employees.

"Who's more despicable is Ewan. He forgot about his mother after marrying his wife. He lives in the lavish villa his parents toiled for, while his mother lives in an old alley.

"The old lady initially severed all ties with him. She wanted nothing to do with that wicked daughter-in-law

"When the old lady gained fame from livestreaming, the couple immediately came forward. They asked her to hand over the Empathy Clinic. When the old lady refused, they threatened her.

*Now it appears they had support from government officials. If she refused, they would seize it forcefully."

Instantly, public opinion flipped! On this day, the Empathy Clinic became famous all over the country! The netizens began to search for the truth.

Meanwhile, Ewan remained preoccupied with the ongoing investigation at the Industry and Commerce Bureau. He was still waiting for Margaret to sign the contract and deliver it to him.

Unbeknownst to him, the Yates Group's external accounts had been frozen!

"Guys, this is the company! It's owned by Wanda's husband!

"I heard you're the scumbag who abandoned his mother once he got a wife?"

"Scum!"

The negative comments flooded in. The employees grew anxious. They wanted to seek guidance from Ewan. However, before they could reach him, the investors had already contacted Ewan.

"Is this what you meant by risk-free?"

A loud bang echoed over the line, and the call ended abruptly. When Ewan attempted to reconnect, he found that the investors had blocked him. Furthermore, at that moment, all their partners had issued him.

termination notices.

Chapter: 200 A Slap in the Face From Wynter

Chapter 208 A Slap In the Face From Wynter

The Yates Group collapsed overnight. The hypocritical facade that Ewan had cultivated over the years. was completely exposed!

A swarm of reporters gathered outside of the Yates Group's headquarters. Ewan covered his face and escaped through the basement. He had never felt such embarrassment in his life.

He hid like a rat in the car. He read the messages online and finally realized the seriousness of the situation. Desperately, Ewan reached out to his contacts. However, nobody responded to him.

Finally, a relative secretly revealed, "Your wife's predicament was Mr. Buchanan's decision."

Otis Buchanan? Ewan's legs went weak. His phone fell to the ground with a bang!

In the interrogation room, Wanda appeared ghostly pale.

The couple, accustomed to power and authority, had previously looked down on individuals like Wynter.

They believed that they could force Wynter to hand over her livestream channel and leave Southdale with just a little pressure. Little did they expect their downfall at the hands of the City Bureau Secretary.

As Wanda—listened to her crimes, she knew she was finished. When she was brought out, she saw Wynter in the corridor. Wanda's gaze was filled with hatred. She gritted her teeth and attributed Wynter's release to pure luck.

If the City Bureau Secretary hadn't stepped in, she would've achieved her goal. Anyone who witnessed Wanda's arrogance and stupidity would laugh. Only she would think it was luck.

Lucas, who was experienced in the bureaucracy, recognized Wynter's extraordinary abilities through this ordeal.

Wynter said that she only knew little about the internet. Despite the lack of knowledge, she managed to solve two major cases. One of corruption, and the other of murder.

The evidence against The Nines Entertainment was also uncovered by Wynter. When the incident of 'Strawberry Cloud' was announced, countless netizens were terrified. The methods were so vicious that they frightened people.

"The Nines Entertainment deserves to die!"

"May there be no more unjust cases in this world."

"May Strawberry Cloud rest in peace."

Amidst these sentiments, one comment stood out.

"Darling, can you see it? Everyone believes in you."

It was from Strawberry Cloud's parents. They had fought their case for 107 days, from the lower court to the Intermediate court. The opposition's legal team wielded formidable power.

They dismissed it as unreasonable agitation, all for profiting from the deceased. Today, someone finally addressed the issue head-on. Their daughter's death was unjust! The elderly couple only learned about the internet after their daughter's death.

Although they had never met the Empathy Clinic's streamer, they knew of her kindness. She had sent them the evidence and helped them source for lawyers.

It was important to rectify the injustice. Not just for the dead, but for the living too. This time, even the Scott Group's legal team dared not contest this case.

The Scott Group swiftly severed ties with The Nines Entertainment. They even sacrificed their subordinates. They provided the court evidence against The Nines Entertainment to protect themselves.

Indeed, the Scott Group remained impenetrable. Their swift and decisive actions made it hard for Lucas to investigate them. After all, they were a listed company that was based in Kingbourne.

Wynter wasn't surprised by this outcome. It was evident someone was behind the rise of prominence of the Scott family in Kingbourne.

It was unlikely that a small mistake in Southdale could topple the whole Scott family. But it was still effortless to sever one of its limbs.

Wynter kept her hands in her pocket and chewed on a piece of candy. Her gaze gleamed with determination. No one could have fathomed that this was all part of her plan.

Chapter 209 Took Orders to Praloo Myself

Wouldn't the Scott Group suffer without The Nines Entertainment as a publicity outlet? Of course, they would.

This matter even prompted the reclusive patriarch of the Scott Group, Peter Scott, to speak out. "Next time, cut off any irrelevant connections."

Without the Scott family's support, Wanda was finished. Initially, Lucas came to pry open Southdale's door, but now this case was famous. Naturally, the situation in Kingbourne would change accordingly.

Peter sat in his study, his gaze clouded as he observed the people below. "Didn't I instruct you to prevent Lucas from achieving anything in Southdale? Did you ignore my words?"

"Dad, I="

Peter raised his hand. "We can't afford to lose Southdale, Losing The Nines Entertainment was nothing, but we absolutely cannot allow Lucas to make further progress. This is also what Mr. Stanley desires."

"Dad, don't worry. This was just an accident."

Peter looked at the livestream on his phone and narrowed his eyes. “Go and investigate the girl around Margaret. Her luck seems unusually favorable. If there are any issues, resolve them quickly.”

“Yes, Dad.

Wynter was not afraid of being investigated. The Dark Web Alliance wasn’t just for show. She was notified as soon as the Scotts made a move.

There was also another message that read, “Boss, we discovered that it was the Yarwoods who supported you online this time.”

The Yarwoods? Wynter raised an eyebrow in surprise. Sir Yarwood was too generous toward their soon-to- be collaboration partner.

“Boss, the Yarwoods have also reached out to us. They’ve deposited eight million dollars and requested us to write a press release praising you.”

Wynter’s fingers paused for a while before she replied, “Where’s the money?”

“We haven’t accepted it yet. This deal seems suspicious.

Did they truly intend to pay them to write a press release to praise Wynter? It was plausible, but it seemed too shameless.

Wynter hummed and replied, “Return it.”

“Will this insult the Yarwoods? After all, they’re allies.”

Wynter contemplated for a few seconds. “Offer them a half-price deal and inform them we’ve already praised her.”

Chapre, 209 Took Diders to Praise Myself.

“Noted!” The money came too easily.

Now that the truth was revealed, everyone online waited eagerly for Wynter to start livestreaming again. Did they even need the praise? Not at all. The fans came naturally.

Together with the comment of gratitude from Strawberry Cloud’s parents, the Empathy Clinic became the most popular livestream channel.

If the Empathy Clinic was popular before, it now broke the traffic of the live stream platform.

Mr. Hughes, who had been consistently hostile toward 007, went silent. Not only that, he was also summoned to the office and warned to be more cautious in his future actions.

He shouldn't suppress 007 simply because the streamers that signed with 007 were popular. Even if he intended to do so, he should have done it discreetly. The individuals in charge here shared the same interest as Mr. Hughes

"Take some time to study this year's top ten streamers. Are there any streamers you'd like to support?"

There's substantial profit potential here."

Mr. Hughes was a smart man, he immediately understood. "I'll make arrangements right away..."

The online buzz had not subsided. Word had spread far and wide about the major events in the Yates family.

that happened

The Shepherds, who were already dissatisfied with Yvette, immediately contacted Charlie, who was studying in Kingbourne.

Charlie was puzzled. "Mom, I'm not going to break up with Yve. You have no idea how capable she is. She's currently treating Mr. Quinnell Senior from the Quinnell family."

"Did you know her mother was arrested and sentenced to prison?"

Charlie's expression suddenly changed. "Aunt Wanda was arrested?"

"Not only that, but the Yates family is on the verge of collapse. Your Uncle Ewan is scrambling to find a buyer, but nobody wants to touch that sinking ship."

Charlie was in disbelief. "How is this possible?"

"How isn't it? The Yates family is a black hole. Don't be foolish."

Charlie hesitated. "I'll think about it."

Meanwhile, Yvette who was with Fiona, remained oblivious to the situation. She had always taken pride in the Yates family. To learn that something this huge happened...

Chapter 210 There's Still a Chance If You Beg Wynter

Wanda remained in the detention center, awaiting her family's rescue. She stared longingly at the metal bars until her case was determined. Only then was Ewan permitted to see her under the supervision of Jurors.

It was impossible to save Wanda. Even Ewan found himself in a precarious situation.

Yet, Wanda couldn't grasp the gravity of the situation. She held onto the metal bars and shouted, "Ewan, you must find the best lawyer for me. I refuse to accept this!"

Ewan's stubble had begun to show. He urged her to calm down.

But Wanda persisted. "How can I calm down? I'm the one facing imprisonment!"

Ewan lowered his voice and said, "What else can we do? Even the newly appointed secretary was arrested!"

"Keep spreading the story that the old lady killed someone." Wanda was already hysterical at this point.

That's the truth!"

Ewan desperately wished he could silence her. "Stop talking."

"Why should I stop? Even if I'm unlucky and lose this battle, those two poor souls won't fare any better. Wanda sneered. "The netizens won't let them off. Empathy Clinic's reputation had already been tarnished!"

Ewan roared, "It's not the Empathy Clinic that's tarnished, it's us! Do you know what people are saying about us online? They're calling you a wicked mistress and me a bastard!"

Wanda was dumbfounded. "What do you mean?"

"Ivan from The Nines Entertainment had been arrested. Everything you've done has been exposed by the netizens,” Ewan said, rubbing his temples. “I warned you not to push too far, but you didn’t listen. Now look, everything’s gone.”

At those words, Wanda felt as if her lungs would explode. She couldn’t even process what Ewan said next. The Nines Entertainment had always been one of the most valued companies by the Scott family.

Wanda’s previous confidence stemmed from her belief that no one could touch it. Even the newly appointed secretary had to consider the pressure from Kindbourne. But now, even The Nines Entertainment can’t be saved?

Wanda clenched the metal bars tightly. “Contact the Scott family, they’ll surely-”

“It’s pointless,” Ewan interrupted as he stared at her. “I’ve consulted the lawyers. Our only option now is to beg Wynter for forgiveness. Maybe then, your sentence might be reduced.”

Wanda screamed, “You want me to beg that brat? You might as well just kill me!”

“If you won’t, I will.” Ewan’s eyes were bloodshot. “I need to save the company.” With that, Ewan rose and left without a backward glance.

Desperately, Wanda cried, “Ewan! You can’t leave me here alone! Ewan!”

Ewan wished he had not married such a foolish woman. Why hadn’t he cut ties with her sooner? When the gate closed, darkness enveloped Wanda. Gradually, she realized what her husband meant.

She was in a panic but she reassured herself it would all be fine. Yvette would surely come to her rescue once she learned about this. She couldn’t face Wynter, but she could persuade Yvette. Yvette was a top student. She would definitely find a way.

Wanda started to talk to herself. It was evident that the situation had taken a toll on her mental health.

the downfall of those side characters. After she submitted

Wynter wasn’t particularly concerned about the evidence against The Nines Entertainment, she immediately called Larry.

“We can begin wrapping up on the Yates Group’s end,” Wynter said in a soft voice. Her head was lowered. as she bit into a piece of candy.

Larry was unusually excited. “This time, Ewan will probably go bankrupt.”
