

The Heiress' Return: Six Brothers at Her Beck and Call ( Wynter Quinnell ) Chapter 491

Posted by AdminM, 107 Views, Released on May 10, 2024

Chapter 491 That's My Sister

Wynter had never seen someone with such a nature before. He possessed heavenly luck but also countless burdens? What did that mean?

Before Wynter could figure it out, Dalton coughed and said, "He's afraid to come see you, so he sent me to ask what you want. As your brother, he'll buy anything for you."

Tobias hid quietly behind, completely devoid of his usual energy.

Jacqueline had originally been worried that he would argue with Dalton and felt it inappropriate to bring up the matters online. She hadn't expected Tobias to handle it on his own.

His approach was correct. Since everyone had seen their interaction on the show, it wouldn't do to criticize his partner once the show ended. But... wasn't he paying too much attention to a nobody?

Jacqueline admitted that Wynter was quite attractive. Even her first reaction upon seeing her was to have her join showbiz. But someone like that wouldn't be interested.

However, Tobias was different. He usually couldn't care less about women, but he was so proactive today. There was definitely something wrong.

"Your contract clearly states that a qualified idol cannot date. You remember that, right?" Jacqueline couldn't help but remind him.

Tobias looked puzzled. "Of course. I won't date anyone."

"You better not." Jacqueline withdrew her gaze. She was genuinely afraid that there would be rumors of him dating. After all, it had been so difficult to bring him up to this position.

Tobias knew Jacqueline had misunderstood and immediately explained, "That's my sister."

"Sister?" Jacqueline's eyes lit up. "Like by blood?"

Tobias grinned. "Yeah. She's my biological sister." His affectionate expression looked out of place on him, especially with his trendy blue hair.

Jacqueline was surprised. "I've never heard you mention having a sister, and you two didn't seem close.

on the show."

At this point, she squinted her eyes. "Are you lying to me because you're afraid I'll restrict you even more?"

"No." Tobias casually put his hand in his pocket and looked away from Wynter's direction. It was only then that his usual icy demeanor returned. "We just reunited recently, so we're 'not very close yet. But we'll get there."

It was the first time Jacqueline had heard Tobias talk so specifically about his family affairs.

Previously, she only knew that he had many brothers. He had always worked hard to become successful, so she assumed that his family conditions weren't great.

Well, with so many children, what kind of family could afford to support them all?

Chapter 491 That's My Sister

Now he had a sister. Jacqueline's eyes shone brightly. "Since she's your sister, I can sign you up for the jewelry appraisal show!"

Tobias was about to refuse when Jacqueline smiled and said, "Your sister seems very knowledgeable... Let her join the show with you, and you two can win together. It'll surely make the headlines."

When his brothers saw it, they would all be jealous of him.

Tempted, Tobias cleared his throat and replied, "I'll ask her. If she says okay, we'll join together."

"There's prize money." Jacqueline decided to mention the benefits of participating in the show. "It's quite substantial."

While they were discussing the matter, the bodyguards stood in a row, blocking their view.

Wynter didn't get angry with Tobias for his casual remark on the show. That wasn't her character anyway.

What she was most concerned about now was Dalton's true nature.

Although some of her memories hadn't returned yet, she was certain that Dalton possessed more than just heavenly luck.

Chapter 492 The Symbol of Demons

Dalton raised an eyebrow when he noticed that Wynter was staring at him. "Looking at me like that makes me feel like you're about to ask me to cover the medical bills again."

"Medical bills?" Wynter didn't quite understand.

Dalton raised his hand and pointed to his neck. After a light cough, he chuckled softly. His laughter sounded pleasant.

It was only now that Wynter noticed the marks spreading under his neck. They were a series of Fankrit Inscriptions. Those unfamiliar with Fankrit might have mistaken them for tattoos.

In fact, they were another form of earthbound spirit, especially with the red spider lily imprinted beside them.

Since the marks extended down his neck and he loved to wear collared shirts, Wynter hadn't seen them clearly before.

Now that she noticed it, she wanted a closer look. So, she pulled him closer and gently unbuttoned his collar.

According to many myths, red spider lilies grew along the road to the underworld to guide spirits to the afterlife. It symbolized the gentleness of demons.

Due to its association with death, most people wouldn't choose to ink this flower.

"Are you interested in this?" Dalton looked down at her. Even with his sickly appearance, his naturally good looks were not diminished.

Wynter could sense that the closer he got, the more terrified the three little spirits became. Even though they were nestled within the pendant and coin, they still trembled with fear.

Even though there was nothing apparent, at that moment, Wynter felt an overwhelming tension,

"I was born with it," Dalton said casually, adjusting his umbrella toward her. "It seems like many people are scared of it."

Wynter buttoned up his collar. "It's indeed unusual. Anyway, save up the medical expenses. You'll need to change your medicine. Your cold is getting worse."

"I actually feel much better than before." Dalton tucked her long hair behind her ear. "At least I'm not as fragile now, getting sick at the slightest touch."

With that, he glanced down. "This sugilite pendant seems different from before."

"You can tell?" Wynter raised an eyebrow.

Dalton chuckled in a low voice. "The color is deeper.

Frightened, the spirits hiding inside shivered slightly. They thought he had sensed them.

Chapter 492 The Symbol of Demons

20

"Is that so? It means I wear it all the time." Wynter changed the subject. "Where's Tobias? I want to take him to see someone."

Dalton was puzzled, "Who?"

"My mom," Wynter answered casually.

Whatever issues he had, they could address them later. For now, it didn't seem like there were any evil items on him. Instead, it seemed like his true nature possessed a power that frightened spirits.

Last time at the hotel, the old woman selling flowers was the most evil spirit in the Earthbound Formation.

When someone encountered her at the center of the formation, she would approach them and use them.

as nutrients for the formation.

Yet, she didn't sell Dalton any flowers and even allowed him to use the elevator freely.

Logically, the better one's luck, the less likely they were to encounter such spirits. However, Dalton entered the Earthbound Formation so casually, like it was his home. That was quite ridiculous.

Thinking about that gave Wynter a headache, so she didn't dwell on it. After all, the most important thing now was to resolve the misunderstanding between Marie and Tobias.

The messages Marie sent her all indicated that she wanted to make amends with Tobias, but that she also didn't know where to start.

It was because of Wynter that Marie had lost a part of her soul. When Wynter found the missing soul fragment in the hotel basement, she could see the woman clutching a tiger head hat.

Marie had preserved everything Wynter had, which allowed the latter to come home.

Chapter 493 The Misunderstanding Between Marie and Tobias

Wynter knew better than anyone how difficult it was to maintain one's sense of self within the Earthbound Formation.

Marie had already sacrificed so much. Wynter didn't want any more rifts in this family.

When Tobias heard that Wynter wanted to take him to see someone, he didn't hesitate. Hat, sunglasses, and mask on, he appeared before Wynter.

Though he still seemed a bit nervous in front of her, he swiftly handed her a black card. "Here, Wynter.

This is for you.

Tobias had never been this sweet before. After all, he was known for his aloofness throughout Kingbourne. Once when he got angry, he beat someone up with a poker face.

Everyone knew not to mess with the Quinnell family's tyrant. Even Chad and the others only dared to gossip about Wynter behind her back because of Tobias' formidable reputation.

Now, he was speaking so gently. "There are 50 million dollars inside. I earned everything myself. Spend this first.

"In a few days, when my paycheck comes in, I'll transfer more to you. Now that I'm an adult, I can earn money for you to spend. I can fulfill everything I promised you when we were young."

Tobias could finally look at Wynter calmly now. As he did, his eyes reddened.

"Elliot told me that those people were worse than animals. They're nothing but fucking human traffickers I won't let anyone bully you anymore."

His voice was hoarse as he continued, "All these years, I wanted to see you and apologize. It was because I didn't keep my eye on you back then that you suffered."

"Tobias." Wynter finally spoke. Silently, she reached out to embrace the tall and handsome young man. You weren't much older than me, and you didn't do it on purpose."

All of this might have been related to the fortune of the Quinnell family, but Wynter wouldn't mention this until there was solid evidence. She needed to investigate thoroughly first..

"The traffickers are ruthless. If you had followed me, we might have ended up being a buy-one-get-one-free deal."

Wynter patted his back. "I'm doing fine now. With you and Elliot here, it will only get better."

Tobias looked down, feeling the weight that had burdened his heart for so many years being lifted.

He often had nightmares, reliving the day he lost Wynter. She could barely walk at that time, only being able to eat, laugh, and babble. Yet, he had been careless with her.

Later, he followed the crowd, running until he fell and scraped his arm. He looked for Wynter for a long time but couldn't find her. In fact, no one blamed him except for himself.

Chapter 493 The Misunderstanding Between Mane and Tobias

Now that Wynter was back, she wasn't angry at him at all.

For so many years, his stupid father had treated Naomi like a substitute for Wynter.

At this thought, Tobias immediately said, "Wynter, if anyone bothers you from now on, just let me know. I'll deal with them. I'll make sure they regret it if they dare to upset you.

His assertive nature was fully revealed. This was more like him.

Wynter chuckled softly. "Let me bring you to meet someone first."

"Okay! Let's go." Tobias would meet whoever Wynter asked him to.

He didn't care at first, but when he saw the familiar figure outside the set, he suddenly froze. For so many years, he didn't dare to face Marie. He was afraid that seeing him would worsen her condition.

Marie's eyes seemed to remind him that it was he who lost his sister.

Chapter: 494 A Mother's Love

Chapter 494 A Mother's Love

Tobias instinctively took a step back. The reason he hadn't returned home for so long was because he was afraid to face Marie.

When he was younger, he wanted to make Marie happy, so he brought back good grades. But at that time, she was already sick and emotionally unstable.

He thought Marie would hit him. He would have preferred that.

But she was like an empty shell of a doll, staring out and asking him, "Why didn't you keep an eye on her?"

Did you have to eat ice cream at that time?"

Then Marie would start crying, and there were even instances of self-harm.

The doctors said it was depression and advised them to avoid anything that could trigger her. Anything or anyone that could cause her to have an episode should be kept away. Later, her condition worsened. She started losing her hair and became very thin.

Tobias and Elliot followed the doctor's advice and tried to avoid being around Marie as much as possible.

Then Shane brought Naomi back home. Initially, Marie reacted badly.

Tobias vividly remembered her lying in bed, refusing her medication, and looking at him with pleading eyes. But after some time, her condition improved. She seemed to have forgotten about Wynter.

Every time Tobias brought it up, the doctor would tell them it was a coping mechanism. Since she had forgotten, they shouldn't remind her. Tobias was just a teenager at the time, so he didn't know what to do,

When he saw Marie again, she had indeed improved a lot. She never mentioned anything about Wynter again.

Just when Tobias thought she was completely healed, one night, he saw Marie wandering around looking for Wynter.

She saw him and softly called out, "Toby, I haven't seen you in a long time. I missed you so much."

Tobias' feelings for Marie were complex because he couldn't distinguish which one was his impression of his mother.

He remembered when Wynter was first kidnapped, he ran around with scraped knees and a fever while sobbing.

Marie had firmly told him, "Tobias, remember, this is not your fault. I'll find her."

At that time, she was like a superhero. Even if there was the slightest news about Wynter, she would ask and search for her. She even said he was a little man.

But then everything changed. Even until now, Tobias didn't understand why.

He stood there and poured out all these thoughts before smiling wryly. "I don't know how to face her."

Wynter pondered Tobias' words, her eyes deepening. "Tobias, Mom was really sick at the time, but it wasn't just ordinary depression. It was a disorientation disorder because a part of her soul was missing."

"Her soul was missing?" Tobias frowned, realizing things were more complicated than he thought. "What do you mean?"

Wynter told him about the incident at the hotel. "Someone used my abduction to bait Mom. Since her soul was unstable back then, they used the Earthbound Formation to trap her soul. That's why she seemed different when she saw you again.

"She really did call out to you for help, but it might not have been about the medicine. She might have realized some other danger."

After hearing this, Tobias clenched his fists. "So are you saying that everything Mom said wasn't of her own will? Someone caused her mental instability?"

"She's very resilient. She's been fighting against them to avoid forgetting about me." Wynter looked into Tobias' eyes. "Tobias, you should have some idea of what I do now.

"It's difficult for ordinary people to resist the Earthbound Formation, especially with a powerful medium behind it like this formation."

Tobias' eyes reddened with anger upon hearing her words. "Wynter, who is this medium you're talking about?"

"I'm still investigating." Wynter replied calmly. "Tobias, I'm telling you this to prevent you from acting

"The Earthbound Formation isn't something an ordinary fortune teller can accomplish. The person's abilities should be comparable to Mr. Stavius."

Dalton, who had been silently listening in, raised an eyebrow at this. "Comparable to Mr. Stavius? That narrows it down significantly. There aren't many of them."

“There aren’t many registered ones, but I’m still looking for the ones who aren’t.” Wynter paused for a second.

“The formation is very strange. Rather than wanting to bring misfortune upon the Quinnell family, it seems more like they’re aiming to seize the Quinnell family’s fortune.

Dalton narrowed his eyes. “So, you, the youngest child, became his most suitable target.” He was as clever as always.

Wynter nodded. “Yes, but he picked the wrong person. I’ve already given him a taste of his own medicine.”

With that said, Wynter looked back at Tobias. She knew that he needed time to process everything.

“Tobias, aside from mystic arts, I also know a bit about medicine. Including psychology.” Wynter said solemnly.

“Seeing me being abducted, you felt guilty and kept tormenting yourself, which is why you had a fever that same day. As far as I know, Mom used to be a lecturer. She told you those words because she didn’t want you to be traumatized.

“She was worried about your mental health, so she gave you psychological counseling as soon as possible. She didn’t mean anything she said later.

“Sometimes, losing a part of the soul can completely change a person. Someone wanted to imprison Mom forever in that mansion.”

Wynter continued, “No one could help her at that time. Whenever she was mentioned, everyone’s immediate reaction was that she had mental issues. To isolate Mom, the best way was to use her words to hurt you and Elliot.”

Wynter lowered her gaze. “Her craziest moments were actually her truest moments. Didn’t she tell you? She said she missed you.”

Tobias’ eyes suddenly widened, and he felt himself growing hot. So Marie had expressed her love for him in her own way. She had even made faint pleas for help, which they had ignored.

Marie used to wear bright dresses when she picked him and Elliot up from school with Wynter in her arms. She always stood out in the crowd. But the Marie now...

Tobias' gaze fell on the figure not far away carrying two large bags of clothing, running back and forth. His vision blurred slightly. "What is she doing?"

"Mom's back to work," Wynter said with a smile. "Although she didn't say it explicitly, she chose to work in your industry so she could help you and be closer to you.

"As you know, it's hard for women to get a job after 40. And Mom has been a housewife for so many years. She tried hard for a long time and finally got into your company."

Tobias' voice grew hoarse upon hearing her words. "I never knew. Dad said... although she recovered, she still wasn't suitable for crowded places."

Wynter didn't comment on Shane's actions. She just looked up and said, "Go, Tobias. She'll be happy to see you."

Without hesitation, Tobias strode toward the set

Chapter 496 Marle Was Bullied

Typically, newly hired assistants would start with miscellaneous tasks. When assigned to work outside the set, they were expected to run around and fulfill various requests.

Wolf had pulled Marie away during the filming and had no idea what had happened on set. He had been acting strange, not letting her enter the set.

It was only after she returned that she found out that Tobias was one of the guests on the show. Seeing police cars around and people constantly coming out, Marie couldn't help but be curious.

She set down the coffee requested by a celebrity and sought information about the situation in the rest

area

7 Is he safe?

"Excuse me, young lady, may I ask what happened during the show? And where's Tobias?"

The celebrity was actually just an internet celebrity from the same company. She was Ava Cherry, who was shooting YouTube videos in the adjacent set.

Sometimes, the less known the celebrity, the bigger their ego. Ava first glanced at Marie and completely ignored this "production assistant" ..

Instead, she commented to the person next to her, "Is our company so lacking in people? Why did they hire such a clueless person?"

Even the makeup artist applying makeup to her said, "Who knows? She really doesn't know the rules."

Marie didn't know what rules she had broken.

Just as she was about to ask, Ava, holding the coffee, choked on her first sip. "What did you buy? How can I drink this? I said I wanted it without ice. I'm not feeling well, and you make me drink this?"

“What’s even funnier is that she called me ‘young lady.’” Ava raised her hand as if she were about to throw the cup of coffee at Marie. “Don’t you know who I am?”

Before she could act, a hand suddenly reached out and grabbed her wrist.

A tall figure loomed over her. The man’s handsome, yet icy, face, accompanied by short blue hair, made him exude overwhelming pressure.

“Who are you calling funny?”

Ava was so shocked that her mouth hung open.

Although they were from the same company, Tobias never participated in company activities. She could only occasionally catch a glimpse of him practicing dancing in the studio from a distance, so her excitement was beyond words.

She wished there were media present to capture this scene so that she could start a dating rumor with Tobias. With that, her value in the industry would double.

Chapter 496 Marie Was Bullied

“Why are you here?” Ava exclaimed. “I’m your fan, Tobias. I’ve liked you for a long time. Can you give me an autograph?”

Tobias smirked. “I’m not worthy of that. I’m not worthy of being the Idol of a big shot who throws coffee at people for no reason.”

Ava paused at his words and she quickly explained, “I- I didn’t. I was just fooling around with her. We’re friends. Right, Marie?”

She smiled sweetly at Marie, implying that if she wanted to keep her job, she had to be sensible.

Unexpectedly, after Tobias shook off her hand, he looked at her like she was a joke. “You’re friends with my mom? Are you kidding me?”

Mom? Before Ava and her makeup artist could react, Tobias had already taken the other bag from Marie’s hand.

“Mom, you’ve never carried such heavy things. Who gave you this assignment?”

“To...” Marie instinctively wanted to call Tobias by his nickname but hesitated. She smiled faintly. “It’s not heavy. Wolf helped me carry it just now.”

As she spoke, she wanted to pat Tobias’ head, only to realize that he had grown too tall.

Tobias wasn’t used to appearing in front of his mother like this. He cleared his throat. “The blue won’t last long. I have a concert soon, so I need this exaggerated style.”

Chapter 497 Wolf Is His Little Brother

“You look good.” Marie’s voice was somewhat hoarse as she spoke.

She expected Tobias to be afraid or to ask why she was there. But to her surprise, he naturally helped her out. Marie was touched.

Tobias put the coffee on the table and turned to look at an astonished Ava and her makeup artist.

“Enjoy your coffee.” His gaze fell on Ava. “Being a celebrity doesn’t mean you’re superior to others.

“You’re lucky you didn’t throw this cup of coffee on my mom’s face. Otherwise, you won’t be able to stay in this circle anymore.”

Marie wanted to stop Tobias from speaking like that as it was inviting trouble. But Tobias didn’t care.

“Mom, I started as a nobody too. But even so, I helped around and respected everyone on set. I never mocked the crew like she did.”

“I... I...” Ava flushed with embarrassment.

All this while, the other crew members on set were watching the scene unfold. She had originally planned to butter up Tobias to boost her popularity, but she had offended him instead.

Who could have expected his mother to be a production assistant on set? Wasn’t that absurd?

“It’s all a misunderstanding. Tobias.” Ava was defiant. “You’ve gone too far with what you just did. We’re all in the same industry. You may be popular, but you can’t bully us rookies.”

Tobias could tell from her sarcastic tone that she wasn’t there to film seriously. “I don’t care how you got in, but don’t put on an act in front of me.” After saying that, he left the rest area with Marie.

Ava angrily threw the coffee cup on the ground. Apart from the two of them, there were around four staff members from different departments in the rest area.

Everyone knew that Ava was hard to please and didn’t treat the crew like people.

“Last time, she stepped on my hand,” a lady who did costume styling couldn’t help but remind Tobias softly. Tobias, she’s only here because of the sponsors. You better be careful.

“Marie, you too. I’m afraid she’ll use her connections to get rid of you.”

Tobias reckoned that even if all the sponsors’ wealth were added together, it wouldn’t match Marie’s. But he still appreciated the lady’s reminder.

“This is my mom’s first time getting involved in this kind of work. Thanks for being patient with her.”

“Marie is great. She even brought Wolf along,” the lady continued with a hint of excitement in her voice. “Tobias, your family has great genes. Your little brother is so adorable and strong. He eats everything, even our leftovers.

“But he doesn’t let us touch his head, no matter what. He even has a QR payment code imprinted on his shirt like a little money-grubber. He’s pretty helpful with errands too.”

Her voice became even lower as she continued, “Tobias, you posted on Twitter that you were poor and needed to make more money.

“We didn’t believe it then, but now we know why. It’s for your brother’s treatment, right? Actually, it doesn’t even matter if Wolf is mute. He’s so smart.”

Tobias listened with a puzzled expression. When did he get a little brother? Even if his relationship with Marie wasn’t good, Fabian would have informed him about something as important as this.

Tobias couldn’t help but look at Marie. “Mom, do I have a little brother?”

“Silly, how’s that possible?” Marie couldn’t help but laugh. Tobias’ thoughts were still as erratic as before.

Tobias was confused. “Then what’s the deal with that Wolf?”

Wolf, who had run back to Wynter’s side, pointed to himself with a puzzled look when he heard this as if to say, “What about me?”

Chapter 498 Money Was Everything for Wolf

Wynter ruffled Wolf’s hair and met Tobias’ gaze. “Tobias, Wolf is my brother.”

Wynter’s brother? That meant Wolf was his brother too! Tobias quickly changed his attitude. He smiled at Wolf and opened his mouth to say something.

But Dalton turned Wolf around and revealed the QR code on his back. “Wolf can’t speak, so I’ll speak for him. He likes money.”

Wolf usually couldn’t stand being around Dalton because he always gave off an unsettling vibe. It was a feeling Wolf couldn’t quite explain, but he knew he just didn’t want to be near Dalton.

But unfortunately, Wynter had taken a liking to him. Wolf had asked the ladies on set about it.

For someone who typically showed no interest in men, her sudden attention suggested she found him attractive.

Wolf didn’t initially approve of this relationship, but being a hacker, he investigated it and found that the Yarwood family was filthy rich.

Well, that was the only upside to Dalton. Since Wynter fancied his looks, Wolf decided that he could put up with it until she lost interest for the sake of the money.

When Dalton's gaze fell on Wolf's round eyes, he raised his eyebrows. "What? Am I wrong?"

He coughed lightly. His sickly pale face added a bit of indescribable evil to him.

Seeing that, Wolf felt that he was even more familiar. It was like he had seen Dalton a long time ago. He couldn't help but reach out and tap his own head.

He then stood in front of Tobias and pointed to the QR code on his shirt. Wasn't it normal for the older brother to give some pocket money to his little brother?

Tobias understood his intentions and transferred some money to him.

Meanwhile, Marie watched with a smile. Being a wise woman, she knew that Wynter had arranged all of this.

"Thank you, Wynter." Marie reached out and removed some leaves from Wynter's head. "You saved me.

"Without you, my relationship with Tobias would probably have gotten worse. I hurt him deeply when I was sick.

"When you were kidnapped, I was frantic and anxious. But I don't regret acting quickly. I feared if I didn't find you soon, you would never return. Luckily, you came back safely."

She didn't mention her struggles of how nobody understood her and she was treated like a lunatic. That was just how Marie was as a mother.

Leo envied Wynter. "Master, you have a good mom."

Chapter: 498 Money Was Everything for Wolf

Even in the face of witchcraft, she didn't lose her nature. This was the superpower of a mother. Leo subconsciously wanted to get closer to Marie, but he was afraid of bringing bad luck to her.

Wynter flicked the copper coin with her fingers to boost his luck before smiling gently. "Go ahead. You can touch my mom."

Marie didn't know who Wynter was talking to. But based on what she saw, she knew that Wynter had abilities in mystic arts.

"Are there other children I can't see?"

Wynter knew that Marie had a strong ability to accept new things. Smiling, she said, "Yes. He calls me Master, who protects you?" Marie looked around. "Where should I touch?"

"A boy

Wynter placed the lucky token in her palm.

Instead of just touching the lucky token, Marie held Wynter's hand. "I hope all the children around you can be happy and live in peace."

Living in peace was the key. Leo had seen Wolf, so he could hold himself together when facing Chaos. As for the other two...

Chapter 499 Tobias Felt That Dalton Was Pretending

Carol and Dora nearly fainted. They hid inside the purple sugilite pendant because they were too scared to come out. The people they met around Wynter seemed increasingly dangerous.

In the end, they decided to stay as they were afraid they would bring bad luck to Wynter. After all, they were evil spirits.

But upon seeing Chaos, they didn't know how to react. Since Wynter dared to keep Chaos by her side, perhaps she didn't care about her fortune.

At the same time, Wolf also detected a different scent on Wynter. It was tantalizing and made him hungry.

Instinctively, he touched his stomach and shifted his gaze to the purple sugilite pendant while gesturing to Wynter.

Knowing what he wanted, Wynter pinched his cheek. "You're all siblings now. You can't eat them, got it?"

Wolf was shocked by her words. He didn't know that food could be considered a sibling.

But he reluctantly agreed for now. He could wait for other opportunities to act. After all, he couldn't reveal his true self in front of Marie. That would scare her. But he could still sneak a bite...

At this thought, Wolf licked his lips. The twins grew even more frightened at this.

Dalton had been watching Wolf all along. Upon noticing his actions, he lifted Wolf up and examined his canines.

Wolf wanted to push Dalton away. No matter how rich Dalton was, he wouldn't allow Dalton to look at his teeth.

However, no matter how hard he struggled, it seemed like his strength was being neutralized. He could only raise his face in frustration and let Dalton look at his teeth.

Annoyed, he glanced at Wynter, as if he were saying, “Boss, help me beat him up!”

Unexpectedly, Wynter simply smiled and bent down to inspect his teeth like Dalton.

Dalton looked at her with a smile. “What do you think?”

“They're really growing fast.” Wynter tapped Wolf's cheek with her finger before asking Dalton, “Do you have a solution?” She seemed to be thinking of something.

Dalton didn't hide his understanding of Wolf. “Ancient texts say that Chaos' awakening is caused by greed and violence. We can send him to Mr. Stavius for purification.”

“Why didn't I think of this before?” Wynter patted Wolf's cheek. “Sending him to study the Arcane Way could also solve the problem of his education.”

Though she didn't mention it, she had been thinking about Wolf's education lately. She had searched.

around, but no school seemed suitable for him.

Her increased frequency of seeking spiritual guidance had indeed impacted Wolf. She didn't want to see him awaken.

The Arcane Way Academy offered qualifications and could also alleviate some personal burdens. Sending him there would indeed be a good choice.

Wolf didn't know who Mr. Stavius was, but from Wynter's expression, it seemed like she wanted to send him to suffer. He felt that Dalton was just evil.

He shook Wynter's arm, hoping she would dispel these thoughts.

However, Wynter simply patted him. "Listen to Dalton." Wolf was speechless, Marie laughed as she watched from the side, while Tobias grew even more conflicted.

Did Wynter know she and Dalton resembled a married couple sending their mischievous child to school?

But Dalton didn't fit that image in Tobias' mind.

He should have been cold-blooded, cunning, unfathomable, and uninterested in anyone, according to Tobias' impression of him from their childhood.

Everything Dalton did in the business circle demonstrated that he was someone who was ruthless and not to be trifled with.

Despite Dalton's ailing appearance, the people he dealt with were on Fablan's level. How could he suddenly become so harmless and gentle in front of Wynter? Tobias felt that he was surely pretending

After all, no brother would ever find his sister's boyfriend pleasing to the eye, especially since Dalton had been divorced before.

While everything else was comprehensible, his transformation in front of Wynter was unsettling. He didn't behave like this with others.

Sensing Tobias' scrutiny, Dalton met his gaze with his deep, inscrutable eyes.

"I understand that Tobias may have some reservations about me. After all, I was in the wrong." Dalton admitted in a subdued tone, sounding innocent.

"It could be because I didn't spend much time with him when we were children, or perhaps because I was foolish enough to call off our engagement."

With his refined and pale face accentuating his long lashes, there was an air of fragile elegance about him. Who would dare to trouble such a beautiful person? Wynter certainly wouldn't.

"Our engagement has been restored anyway. Don't worry about it."

“How can I not worry? You have too many identities. It often leaves me with no room to act. The Quinnells dissatisfaction with me is inevitable.”

Dalton continued in a pleasant tone, “But since you saved my life, if the Quinnells are reluctant to let you live away from home after our marriage, I don’t mind staying with them.”

Tobias was not standing nearby. So when he heard this, he almost slipped on the ground. He couldn’t hold back anymore. He took out his phone to send a message to the group chat he had with his brothers.

“Dalton’s shamelessness is off the charts! Which media outlet called him aloof? I’ve never heard someone wishing to be a kept man described so politely!

“Wynter is no match for him at all. All of you need to come back ASAP!”

Wynter saw Tobias’ actions, but she turned her gaze to Dalton’s face.

“Staying with them? I’ll consider it. But I’m curious, was not playing with Tobias the only thing you did when you were younger? Did you not do anything else?”

“I raised a wolf,” Dalton said casually. “He saw it when I was training it, and he had some misunderstandings about me.”

Wynter immediately understood what had happened. Her handsome fiancé had always been different from others in terms of behavior since birth.

When ordinary children saw him, they probably wanted to approach him but were too afraid to do so.

After all, most people wouldn’t raise a wolf. Given his menacing look and noble destiny, it was understandable that people would avoid him.

Wynter looked at Dalton. “I suddenly feel like I don’t know you well enough.”

“You can get to know me better in the future,” Dalton said while holding her hand. “You must be exhausted from the show. I’ve made a reservation at a steakhouse. Shall we go eat?”

“After eating, we can grab some coffee and dessert. I’ve got an old edition of The Odyssey that your might enjoy.”

Wynter was indeed hungry and tired, so she couldn’t refuse such a tempting offer. “Okay.”

“Your hand is so empty. Let’s pick something out later.” Dalton held her hand up, looking extremely doting.

“By the way. Mr. Quinnell Senior has announced that the Winstons have encountered some issues, so the banquet has been canceled. I’m waiting for the Quinnells to formally acknowledge you.”
