

Skeletons 179

Chapter 179 Gale nodded repeatedly. "Okay, okay, I see."

Thank God.

The child was saved.

She raised her hand happily and wiped away the tears.

Shawn's hand grabbed her chin abruptly. "Gale, why can you keep this child of yours!?" The same fall, the same rolling down the steps, his child was not saved.

Yet, Gale escaped unharmed?

It was not fair!

Gale was forced to look up at him. "Susan's child... was not saved?"

"Yes!"

She said, "I understand your feelings, you are a first-time father, and you must be fantasizing about having children. But it wasn't me that caused it. I didn't do anything."

LL

Shawn gritted his teeth. Blue veins burst out on his forehead." It was you who fell, grabbed Susan, and rolled down the steps together. I can see it clearly! If you want to drag her with you, you have already thought about harming her!"

Gale shook her head, her voice soft but firm. "I didn't."

TA

If it were her fault, she would have admitted it and apologized.

If it were not her fault, she would never take the blame!

However, Shawn would not believe her.

He only believed what he saw in Susan's cries.

"Gale, your family now owes me two lives." Shawn looked directly into her eyes. "This debt will never be repaid!"

Gale looked at him sadly.

In fact, the Warm family had not owed him a single life.

f

Gale said, "I can swear. If I, Gale, wanted to harm the child in Susan's womb, I would be struck by lightning, and I would die and never enter reincarnation!"

Shawn thought deeply. If he had not seen the scene where the two fell together, he might have believed Gale.

Shawn grabbed her hand. "Your trick is useless to me. Get down and come back with me!"

Gale's body had red marks.

She was limp, and she struggled to speak. How could she walk?

Gale replied, "I'll be back, but not now."

Before she could finish her words, Shawn directly pulled her up from the hospital bed and picked her up by the waist.

Gale had to hook his neck. "Shawn!"

He was silent, not saying a word, the corners of his lips pursed tightly.

Aurum wanted to say something, but his eyes swept over coldly. "You, an outsider, should stay away from our business."

29

Aurum was indeed embarrassed.

On the one hand, he wanted to help Gale.

However, Gale is Mr. Wood's lover... Why did she embark on such a road of no return?

Looking at Aurum's expression, Gale thought that Shawn had spoken about the hidden marriage.

It was really difficult for others to interfere in the affairs of husband and wife.

Therefore, she felt guilty for a while. "I'm sorry, Mr. Aurum... I will always remember this kindness in my heart."

"You're welcome. As long as you have a good life, I will be relieved."

It is very lucky to have someone who is not a relative but is willing to help you.

Gale thought that when there was a chance in the future, she would repay the debt.