

Skeletons 413

Chapter 413

Shawn was surprised and raised his eyebrows slightly.

He was willing to go up the mountain of swords and down the sea of fire without blinking, not to mention she was asking in such a pleading tone.

“Don’t target Sam again. Let him and his company go. Shawn, can you promise me that?” Gale said.

Sam had done so many things for her, and she had to do something for Sam.

Shawn walked slowly to the hospital bed and looked down at her. “Gale, you are finally willing to plead with me, but it’s because of another man...”

“I only ask for one thing.”

“What if I refuse?”

Gale bit her lip and lowered her eyelashes.

After a while, she replied, “Then I don’t know what to do... My ability is not worth mentioning in front of you.”

Sam said angrily, “Why do you lower yourself down because of him?”

“But you want to gain a foothold in the Carson family, and you can make a difference. You can’t ruin your future because of me.”

Shawn looked at the two of them coldly, and a feeling of indifference sprouted in his heart.

There was a chill.

She would think about Sam!

“Okay. I promise you,” Shawn said suddenly.

Before Gale could react, she heard Shawn speak, “Not only will I let Sam and his company go, but I can also let Wood Group invest in Carson and cooperate to achieve a win-win situation!”

Sam was startled.

Such conditions are too tempting.

How many companies in Sea City lined up to cooperate with Wood Group? Shawn agreed so easily?

“However, I have conditions.” The corners of Shawn’s lips curled slightly, and a calculating light flashed in his eyes.

Gale asked, "What?"

"I want you and Sam to never meet in private again! Whenever you meet on any occasion, you must consciously avoid him and keep a distance of more than two meters!"

This was Shawn's possessiveness.

They could not meet each other, and even if they did, they could only take a look from a distance!

"Alright." Gale agreed without even thinking about it.

However, Sam shook his head. "I disagree.

Shawn narrowed his eyes slightly.

"Gale, you don't need to worry about me, my business, and my company. I will find a way out of this predicament. I'll take my leave," Sam said.

Gale looked at him disappear.

Her chin suddenly hurt because Shawn pinched it lightly, forcing her to turn her head and look at him.

"Everyone is gone. Are you still so reluctant to part?"

"Shawn, I agree with everything you just said. You will do what you promise!" Gale emphasized.

"You are doing this for Sam's sake, and he doesn't seem to appreciate your favor!"

"I don't want him to appreciate me. I just want him to be successful and successful in his career."

Shawn pursed his lips tightly, and the strength in his hand suddenly increased, but he saw her frown in pain, and he let go of her quickly.

After all, he still felt distressed and did not want to touch her.

However, Gale grabbed his sleeve. "I won't see Sam again, and I will avoid him when I see him. I can do it!"

"Okay, okay. I will help you!" Shawn said repeatedly.

He strode away.

Not long after, the nurse came in with medicine.

The smell...

Gale retched for a while again.

“Mrs. Wood, time to take your medicine. You are so lucky, the nurse said.

“Lucky?” She was puzzled.

“That’s right, Mr. Wood personally watches over the medicine for you. His hands are scalded and blistered.”
