CHAPTER 1 ~ FAMILY LIES

MADELYN'S POV

I heard loud banging on my bedroom door and I slowly and sleepily opened my tired eyes to the bright light of my small room.

I was still exhausted, having stayed up late into the evening sing Sky's dress for the upcoming ball tomorrow night.

Skyler was the Alpha's daughter and the most putrid girl alive. Admittedly, she was gorgeous, most children of alphas were attractive and she was no exception. Long curly blonde hair, perfectly tanned skin, and a curvaceous body that I'd kill for, but she was cruel and cunning. But as pretty as she was, she was ugly on the inside. She tortured everyone and got away with it because of who her father was. She had him wrapped around her disgusting finger.

Her older brother Scott was the same. he was our future Alpha and a bigger pig had never been born. He tried with everyone and slept with whomever he desired and if a girl refused him, he would punish her. Everyone was terrified of him, rather, Alpha Troy to throw them out of the pack under false pretenses.

He had hit on me for years now, but two years ago, his advances had increased. Every time he saw me alone, he would try to talk.

I refused every time which would send him into a rage, but he couldn't really do much to me. I was already tormented by most of the pack and his father wouldn't kick me out. I was his slave , no worry... mad or at least that's what he liked to tell people when they would ask.

I had been found as a baby in the woods and the Alpha had taken me in, a gesture he said I should be grateful for.

"If it wasn't for me, you'd have been eaten by wolves." He would say when I was little. "Be grateful for my mercy, now go clean the kitchen."

It's hadn't saved your miserable life, you'd have frozen to death in those woods." He said another time, "Be grateful now, go do the laundry."

"If it wasn't for my protection, you'd have nowhere to live and no pack" he liked to say, "Be grateful you're not a rogue, and go cook dinner."

I had been told I'm an hale as his children, and he was one of those Alphas that thought, because he was an Alpha, they could do anything to anyone, and there'd be no consequences for it. I say I thank it's by him for not killing me as well, but I wouldn't let him bully me into doing things I found morally wrong, no matter how much hell when he punished me.

His wife, our Luna Morgan, on the other hand, was extremely sweet, and I often felt sorry for her to have such a monster for a mate, not that she knew who he truly was. He never showed her his true colors. He was always thought he was a sweet man who took care of everyone, but boy, she was wrong.

When I had turned 16 and didn't shift, the torment from the pack increased, but the Luna would always stand up for me and assist anyone who did anything to me of that only made it that much worse when she was gone.

I did eventually get my wolf at 18, but the name 'Wolfless' is still stuck.

I was sneaking away at the time. I'd always planned to escape at 18 when I was an adult, but when I was nearly of the land. I shifted, and the patrol guards found me and brought me back to the pack house.

The Alpha's attitude towards me changed again after my shift, and he was angry that my wolf was nearly as big as his, and he'd forced me to wear enchanted shackles around my wrists in order to stop me from shifting without his permission. Stats was everything to an alpha. he couldn't have another wolf standing at his height.

Though when our Luna asked why he'd put them on me, he told her it was to help bring my wolf out, a last ditch effort on his part to help me shift.

What a joke. He even ordered me to go along with his lie.

The loud knocking echoed again, and I groaned.

"Get the hell up, wolf less!" Kia, an omega I slept in the pack shouted. "And go get breakfast ready for the boss. He's have enough to do today with all the packing. His mate is on hour!"

I growled and threw my pillow at the door. "I'm coming, y're off!"

I had to get back to dressing with us. She was going with a group of her friends, she was as bad as Sky, and I couldn't stand her.

Kia hit the door angrily again before I heard her marching back down the hallway.

My bedroom was on the side of the pack house near the kitchens, and no one ever came down here, which I liked. I preferred solitude.

I quickly went into my small closet-sized bathroom. There was a toilet, a small sink, and a shower, but I didn't really need more than that.

I washed up and dressed in a blue singlet dress I'd brought last month from the second-hand store and pulled up my long blonde hair into a pigtail and left the room as I pulled on my slip-on shoes.

I headed into the kitchen sleepily and began breakfast, and I was nearly rattled when Scott came downstairs holding his girlfriend Brianna's hand.

I rolled my eyes and turned back to the stove, switching off the ams and transferring the eggs from the pan to the large bowl.

"I will see you when I get back, baby." I heard Scott say sweetly and I gagged internally. "Don't miss me too much."

"I still don't understand why I can't go with you." She complained.

"You know why," He countered. "You're not 21 yet, and those fk Lycans don't let anyone in unless you're of age."

"But how would they know?"

Brianna had been begging Scott to take her for weeks now, but he wasn't in a position to give it. The Lycans were very clear about their rules for alphesses, one being, no one under 21.

"They just would." Scott countered. What an intelligent response. The boy was a regular rain man.

Brianna growled grumpily, and I heard her stomp her foot on the carpet.

"It isn't fair!"

"I know, angel." I heard Scott say in his fake sad tone, "I'm sorry, but I will bring you back a present. Would that help?"

"I guess." She responded. "While you're away, are you going to tell your father that you're taking me as your chosen?"

"Of course, baby," He answered, and I frowned. Great, I couldn't wait to have that fk on my Luna. "Now get that sweet ass home and rest, you must, just tired after last night."

I rolled my eyes again and began moving things to the table.

The family often ate in the kitchen, only bothering with the dining room when guests were over.

I heard the back door close and the sound of footsteps getting closer.

"Morning, wolves." Scott sneered as he came into the kitchen, putting on a shirt.

"Good morning, pig." I commented as I picked up the hot metal spoon out of the porridge.

Scott growled as he grabbed my arm and spun me around.

"Get off me!" I ordered and tried to rip my arm free, but the bastard grabbed my throat instead and shoved me against the sink.

"Don't f*cking tell me you don't like it!" He said aggressively, and I cringed back. "You love it when I put my hands on you. Admit it, it gets you wet."

"You wish!"

His eyes sweat down my body, making me feel sick.

"I bet you wish you were on this c*ck last night, don't you?" He commented and pressed up against me. "Is that why you're being a f*ck so early in the morning, because I can take you upstairs and shove it in, we both know you could use a good f*ck."

"I-no." I stepped. "I'm urging by all the fake orgasms I've heard Brianna give you over the years, I wouldn't get that from you."

"I'll f*ck you so hard you won't be able to walk for a week!" He growled, and I cringed back. "You love it when I put my hands on you. Admit it, it gets you wet."

"You wish!"

His eyes sweat down my body, making me feel sick.

"I bet you wish you were on this c*ck last night, don't you?" He commented and pressed up against me. "Is that why you're being a f*ck so early in the morning, because I can take you upstairs and shove it in, we both know you could use a good f*ck."

"I-no." I stepped. "I'm urging by all the fake orgasms I've heard Brianna give you over the years, I wouldn't get that from you."

"Let off me!" I ordered and tried to rip my arm free, but the bastard grabbed my throat instead and shoved me against the sink.

"Don't f*cking tell me you don't like it!" He said aggressively, and I cringed back. "You love it when I put my hands on you. Admit it, it gets you wet."

"You wish!"

"I'll crush it that mouth of yours to keep a lesson on how to respect your Alpha."

"Kill my mouth!" I snapped, "What you have couldn't even f-er ant's mouth!"

"If I'm you f*ck!" Scott growled and tightened his grip on my throat as his hands ran up my waist and over my chest. "Maybe we should go upstairs and have some fun before we leave."

"Get off me!" I snapped and hit him with the hot spoon, burning his skin.

"You b*tch!" Scott snapped and hit me across the cheek.

I gasped and held my cheek as it stung, and I hated that my eyes tied with water from the pain.

"SCOTT!"

We both turned to see Luna and Sky walking into the kitchen, both already dressed in comfortable but high-end sweats for our long 8 hour drive to the Lycan territory.

"EXPLAIN YOURSELF! RIGHT NOW!"

Yes. "I linked him, "Le your way out of the one pig!

Scott glared at me before looking at the spoon still only in my hand.

"She burnt me!" Scott defended himself.

Oh, he could play the innocent game here, you mutt.

I turned to Luna and gave her my best puppy dog eyes.

"It was an accident, Luna. I swear." I told her sadly "I turned around holding the spoon and didn't realize Alpha Scott was so close. I didn't mean to burn him, but the spoon wasn't hot, I swear it's not an alpha. I'm surprised it even hurt him. I didn't deserve to get hit for an accident."

"No, you didn't." She said angrily and hit her son up the back of the head, "What is wrong with you? Is this how I raised you, to hit women?"

"I didn't mean it, mom!" He said back, looking down in fake shame, "It was just a knee-jerk reaction. I'm sorry, Madds." He said seriously, if I didn't know better, I'd believe him. I'm so sorry, Madds." He said seriously, if I didn't know better, I'd have believed him. "Please forgive me."

"Beat that b*tch." He linked me back.

"There now." Luna Morgan said softly as she grabbed an ice pack from the freezer, "What do you say, dear? Do you forgive him? It was just an accident after all."

"Of course, Luna." I said sweetly and took the ice pack she offered and pressed it to my cheek. "Thank you."

"Why don't you go sit down and eat?" She told me, "I will bring the last of the food over."

I quickly sat down and pulled my plate closer while Sky and Scott sat down on either side of me.

I glared at Scott, who winked at me and picked up a glass of juice.

"Are you both packed and ready to go?" Luna asked as she placed the porridge on the table.

"Kia's packing my stuff now." Sky commented as she began to eat, "I lost track of time and didn't rush, so I asked her to do it."

"Kia has enough to do without packing your clothing, Skyler!" Her mother said sternly, "Honestly, you will most likely be a Luna in another pack one day. You have to learn to manage your time better."

"I'm sorry, mommy." She pouted, "I will try harder, and you know what, daddy thinks I might be mates to one of the King's sons."

I rolled my eyes, the King and Queen had two boys, twins I believe, but they hadn't found their mates yet. Their parents threw a ball for them every year to help rid their mates, but with no luck.

This would be the nit year I went, and I would turn 21 tomorrow on the day of the ball. I was thinking of it as a birthday present, something I'd never been given, and I was really looking forward to it.

I'd even sewn my own dress for the occasion, a long silk, royal blue dress with silver beading around the waist. It took me weeks to save up enough money for the material, but I managed to get it done, and it was safely packed into my brown due by my bedroom door.

"Let's hope so." Scott commented and shoved some sausage in his stupid mouth. "Would be great to get rid of you."

"Scott!" His mother said in amusement, not knowing that her son was probably being serious.

"It would actually work out well for us though, if you were mates with one of them." Scott went on thoughtfully, "We'd have the backing of the royal family, and we'd be unstoppable."

"Who would be unstoppable?" Alpha Troy asked as he entered the kitchen wearing jeans and a loose shirt. He very rarely dressed casually like this, preferring his suits, but I guess he was dressing down for the road trip.

"Nothing, daddy." Sky greeted him.

"Good morning, baby." He kissed her on the head before going over to his mate.

"My Sweet." He said and kissed her gently.

Luna Morgan was his only redeeming trait, he treated her with such love and respect, and it was a pity he was a monster to everyone else.

"What happened to you?" He asked in annoyance as he looked over at me still holding the ice pack to my cheek.

"Nothing to worry about." Luna Morgan commented, "Just an accident between the kids, are you packed? We leave in half an hour."

"I'm ready." He kissed her cheek and picked up his plate. "So, who's going to be unstoppable?"

"Us." Scott answered, "If Sky is mated to one of the princes."

"She has to be mated to one not." Troy commented. Though it wouldn't hurt to introduce them even if they're not mates, one of them could take a shine to her and Sky would be the perfect choice."

I gagged internally, and it I feel so sorry for whomever of princes if they were mates to her.

"Queen Skyler." Sky said in a dreamy tone, "I love the sound of that."

"What do you think Maddie?" Scott smiled at me and I felt the urge to knock him out. "Wouldn't Sky make a great Queen?"

"There are no words." I said softly and bit into the egg toastie I'd just made.

Alpha Troy glared at me, and he clearly understood my meaning. No doubt he'd be punished for my comment after the Ball.

How great would it be if I found my mate tomorrow night, then I'd be free to leave this place and not even Alpha Troy could stop me.

I looked down at my wrists where the cuffs were. Would to take these off me if I got to leave, or would he leave me to suffer?

I always felt a constant stinging over my skin and through my bones, I felt trapped in my own skin and it hurt. How I'd couldn't even speak with these cuffs on, though I would often talk to her, thinking she could hear me, made my life a little more bearable.

After breakfast, we all piled into Alpha Troy's car, the Alpha and Luna in the front, Scott and Sky in the middle and I sat in the back with all the luggage, though I didn't mind. I would hate to be sitting in between those two idiots.

The drive was long, and we only stopped once for lunch. Alpha Troy wasn't the type to prefer the journey, not the destination. He was very much to drive from A to B and then go home, but sadly, we arrived in the Lycan territory.

We stopped at a large gate where several cars were paused.

"Name?" A large black man with a very big mustache asked when we sadly made it to the entrance of the gate.

"Alpha Troy of the Calico pack." Troy announced proudly.

The guard looked through the window and scanned the car before looking down at his iPad.

"Right." He nodded and stood up. "You're in the west tower, and the room information and the city's laws have been emailed to you.

Read them thoroughly. We don't make exceptions for rule breakers, not even for Alphas. Off we go. You're holding up the line."

Troy glared at the guard but chose to ignore his attitude, and we drove on as a large dragon ever door beside our car and transformed into a gorgeous Asian woman.

"Cover up for goddess sake!" We heard the guard yell at her before we were too far away to hear anymore.

I had never seen a dragon in person, Alpha Troy didn't allow any outsiders onto our pack lands, not even Lycans, though I doubt he'd have turned away the royal family, he'd have been too scared.

"Damn, she was hot." Scott commented as he turned to look out the back window, "I always thought dragons were ugly, etc."

"That's enough, Scott!" Luna snapped at him, but Troy laughed.

"Calm down, my sweet." He hushed her, "You can't expect the boy not to comment. She shifted right in front of him. What's he supposed to do?"

"He is supposed to remember he was raised to be a gentleman."

I rolled my eyes and returned to the book I'd been reading before we reached the gate. Scott is a gentleman, yeah right.

After another hour of driving through a gorgeous golden city half covered in plants and vines, we really reached a large town hall-sized mine a mountain.

The Lycan city was a million times more beautiful than ours was, I wished I could live here forever.

I felt a strange sense of belonging when I got out of the car and stretched. It almost felt like I'd been here before, kind of like I was returning home rather than visiting for the nit time. How strange, perhaps my mate was here after all. I hoped.

I pulled out my due bag and threw it over my shoulder before following Luna Morgan, who was looking at her phone.

"Kids, make sure you read these rules." She turned to us, "Scott, you've been here before, so I expect you to lead the girls to rooms."

"Don't worry, mom." He said and placed his arm over my shoulder, "I will take good care of Maddie."

"Thank you, darling." She smiled at her son. "You're always such a big help."

When she turned back towards the town, I shrived Scott off of me, but he growled softly and gripped my wrist.

"Don't push me, wolves." He linked me angrily, "I will see you from this morning."

I pulled my wrist free and continued on after the Luna.

I hope he breaks one of the laws and gets his head cut off" I said to Ava, who I hoped was listening. "Stupid pig of an Alpha"

We all headed inside the large and very impressive lobby where several werebeasts and Lycans were sitting at tables and chatting. The appearance of the upcoming ball was 'Sing the air, and I were found myself getting excited.

Finally, we'd checked in and headed up to the seventh on, much to Alpha Troy's disgust. It was because the west tower feature was an opening that led you into the lounge room, equipped with a massive TV, a long black sofa that could fit many people, and two smaller sofas, along with a coffee table lined with various pamphlets.

Through the lounge room was a large dining table, and behind that was a kitchen with all the usual things you'd expect in a kitchen.

Besides the TV was another opening that led to two bedrooms and a bathroom and on the other side of the lounge room beside the sofa was yet another opening that led to two more bedrooms and a bathroom.

"Kids," Luna Morgan said as she placed her purse down on the dining table, "Go pick a room and get settled in, and Troy has a few meetings this afternoon, so we'll get changed and go explore the city until dinner."

"Yes, Luna." I nodded and followed Sky to one side of the suite. I had no intention of sleeping on the side with Scott.

"I want to go see the mall." Skyler announced as we headed towards the rooms, "Apparently, they have an Indian ski resort. Can you believe that? Oh, I guess you can't ski, as you've never been anywhere. This must be so thrilling for you."

I glared at her. "You might want to check a mirror before we head out again." I commented, "You have mustard on your cheek from lunch."

Without another word, I went into the bedroom and shut the door, happily listening to Sky scream angrily and march into her own room.