

CHAPTER 13 - SO MUCH FOR MY SLEEP IN

KODA'S POV

We waited for Maddie to come back, and together we climbed back into bed.

I was dying to know what she'd dreamed about that had caused her so much stress, but I had to let it go, she wasn't ready to open up yet.

I pulled her close and snuggled back up against her back while she nestled against Jax who wound his fingers through hers and held her hand on his chest.

'We're here if you have another nightmare' Jax told her as he pulled her hand to his lips and kissed her gently.

'Thank you' She said softly, I could still feel her slightly shaking, and it killed me to know she was so distraught.

Holding her tighter, I closed my eyes and drifted back to sleep, I was having a wonderful dream when I felt something hit my arm and shake me slightly.

'Koda!' Jaxson said through the link, but I growled and swatted his hand away that was tapping my shoulder.

'P*ss off!'

'Get up and don't wake our mate!'

'No, go away' I complained and nuzzled my face back into her hair 'It's my morning to sleep in, and I won the bet!'

'Who cares about the stupid bet' My brother hit my shoulder again 'Get the hell up, it's Madelyn's first morning here, we're making her breakfast'

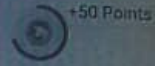

'Who decided that?' I grumbled 'Get Julia to do it and go away'

'No, we're making it for her' He went on, and I felt a great desire to throw him from the balcony 'Shes probably never had anyone make her breakfast, so we will. It'll be a nice welcome gift, so get up you lazy dog!'

'I swear sometimes you make me wish I was an only child!' I complained as I finally opened my eyes.

Jax was already dressed in dress pants and a pale blue button up shirt with his sleeves rolled up, and his hair pulled back, how long had he already been awake for.

I turned and looked at the alarm clock beside the bed, it was only 6:25.

'What the hell Jaxson!' I glared at him 'We could have slept longer and just taken her to breakfast in the dining hall!'

'Just get your arse up'

Jaxson walked quietly out of the bedroom as I glared after him, but he was right, it would be nice for Maddie which was the only reason I gave in and got out of the warm bed.

Choosing to make breakfast over laying in bed with a gorgeous girl, what the hell was wrong with me.

I jumped into the shower and quickly washed up and got dressed in dark blue jeans and a white shirt sleeve shirt, I was taking Maddie shopping today, so I didn't bother dressing up.

By the time I walked into the kitchen, Jaxson was already underway with everything.

'Finally' He complained as he whisked up some eggs 'Start cutting up the tomatoes and grill them'

He pointed with his chin towards a cutting board and knife.

My brother knew I couldn't cook, this was going to be interesting.

'You're only doing this to get even for me winning the bet' I complained, but got to work.

'I am not' He argued but he had a slight smirk on his stupid face 'Not everything is about you, this is about our girl and cut them properly'

'I am'

'They're not even' He complained 'Everything has to be perfect'

'I'll give you perfect' I growled 'I will perfectly aim my foot up your'

'Just shut up and cut the dam tomatoes' He rolled his eyes at me

I growled and continued working on my task 'I could be in bed with Maddie right now but no...'

Jax ignored me and continued cooking and occasionally ordering me with a task.

We were nearly done when I heard footsteps and looked up eagerly, only to realize it was Julia.

'Good morning Alphas' She said happily as she walked in 'Morning' We both greeted her.

'Alpha Jaxson, the guards said someone dropped this off for you'

I looked over from the table where I was placing the last of the fruit and saw that she was holding a white bag.

'Oh good, Maddies dress' Jaxson smiled and put down a jug of juice.

'Why did you buy her clothes?' I asked as I walked over and took the bag from Julia 'Im taking her shopping today'

I noticed Julia frown slightly when she looked at my throat, she was probably wondering why I wasn't marked, I hated this, I was going to get these looks all day.

I chose to ignore her confusion and looked into the bag to see a blue dress and shoes.

'I know but judging by her clothing last night, I doubt she has anything nice to wear' Jaxson commented 'And I am not having our mate dressed in sh*t, can you go give it to her and wake her up, I have to go soon'

'Fine but if she hits me for waking her, I'm blaming you'

Jaxson laughed as I wandered off.

'Once Madelyn's awake you can go clean the room' I heard Jaxson say to Julia 'Until then, can you go clean the spare bathrooms, we used them last night'

'Yes Alpha' She responded, sounding very confused as to why we'd showered there and not our own one.

I walked back into the bedroom and smiled when I saw that Maddie had pulled both of our pillows close and was snuggled up to them, she must have been missing our scents or our warmth, I'd noticed that she was alot colder than any Lycan female I'd ever been with, perhaps to compensate for having two mates, Alphas ran a little hotter than most.

I sat down beside her and gently ran my fingers through her hair that had gotten a little knotted throughout the night.

'Maddie' I lent in and kissed her head 'Baby'

She moaned softly, and her eyes began to open, but when she saw me, she jumped a little.

'Sorry' I panicked 'I didn't mean to frighten you, I was just trying to wake you up for breakfast, it's nearly ready'

'Im sorry, I keep forgetting that I'm here' She yawned and slowly sat up.

I grabbed her waist and helped pull her into a sitting position, and she blushed, making me smile.

'Should I be offended that you keep forgetting about us'

Maddie smirked and shook her head 'It's more like I keep getting scared. I'll wake up and have it all be just some wonderful dream'

'Oh' I smiled and pulled her face in 'You've always been my dream'

I kissed her gently and wished I could just rip her clothes from her body and climb back into bed.

'I have?' She asked

'Ever since I found out what mates were when I was younger' I admitted to her 'I have been dreaming of you and wishing you'd arrive and now here you are and all my dreams are finally coming true'

Maddie smiled shyly and looked down, I'd never spoken like this before and I felt like an idiot admitting all of this but she seemed to like my confession.

'But, I am also mad at you' I added, and she looked up in confusion 'What the hell took you so long?'

Maddie giggled and shoved me 'Its not my fault I wasn't born yet'

'Yes well you still owe me' I lent back and thought of a suitable compensation 'Since I had to live without you for 94 years, you owe me at least once kiss for every year I went without'

'Oh, is that all?' She asked in amusement.

'We'll come up with other ways you can make it up to me once we start having s*x'

'Koda!' She gasped and blushed red

'Anyway' I said and held up the bag 'This is for you, Jax got it for you to wear today and he has to go into a meeting soon so can you please go have a shower and get dressed so we can eat together before he leaves, we'll wait for you in the kitchen'

'Of course, thank you' She said and took the bag 'I should have gotten up earlier and made breakfast for you both, I'm sorry, I just..'

'Enough' I cut her off and held up my hand 'Firstly, you will never be required to make us anything, breakfast or otherwise, if you want to cook then do it but not because you think you have too, Julia is an amazing chef, and she usually cooks for us but Jax wanted to do something nice for you this morning so we prepared breakfast for you, okay'

'Okay' She nodded 'That will take some getting used to, I usually cook for everyone in the mornings. Well, me and one of the other maids, Kia'

'Well you're not a maid anymore' I told her firmly and stood up 'Now go shower'

She nodded and climbed out of bed while I returned to the kitchen.

'Did you hear that?' I asked my brother quietly

He nodded once 'I knew they'd never made her breakfast' He said angrily and turned back to the stove where he was cooking the eggs 'F*cking werewolves, I wish we'd wiped them all out during the war'

'Me too' I agreed, and began putting the cutlery on the table.

Ten minutes later everything was ready and I was starving, but Jax's made me wait for Maddie, who came out a little while later wearing her new blue dress that fell to her mid thighs, thighs I wish I could have wrapped around my head.

She looked so pretty, I must have been blind to think any of those other women were attractive.

'Good morning angel' Jax said, attempting another nickname, but by the frown on his face, he didn't like that one either 'You look lovely'

'Thank you' She touched the dress awkwardly 'I've never worn such an expensive dress, I feel a little stupid'

'Well you don't look stupid' I told her 'Come and eat, everything's ready for you'

'I didn't know what you liked, so I just made, well.. everything basically' Jax laughed.

'No ones ever done anything like this for me'

Maddie looked around the kitchen, taking everything in, there was about twenty dishes of food and several drinks.

'We figured' Jax commented angrily 'Please, come sit down and eat'

Maddie frowned as she looked around the room again, but then tears filled her eyes and she quickly looked down.

'Madelyn?' Jaxson walked over and lifted her face
'What is it, don't you like it?'

Maddie shook her head and stepped back 'I just..'
She hesitated for a moment and looked up at us 'I don't deserve any of this, you don't know me, you think that I'm something I'm not, you should pick someone else, I don't belong here with either of you or in this home, or..'

My heart started racing in fear. Was she going to try and reject us?

'Maddie stop' I pleaded as I walked around the island towards her.

'Do you know that other than the jewelry you gave me, this dress costs more than everything I own put together' She stepped back from both of us 'I have nothing to give either of you, and you're both so sweet and I..'

'Hey, stop this' Jaxson grabbed her and pulled her into a tight hug 'You, my princess, deserve the world, and we'll give it to you, you don't have to give us anything in return, just... just let us be with you, that's all we want, we just want you for the rest of our lives'

'You'll change your minds' She broke my heart, the pain in her voice was torture 'You won't want me once you actually know me'

'Enough' I told her firmly and pulled her away from Jax's and into my own arms 'We will never change our minds, we will always want you'

'But'

'Please stop' Jaxson reached out and pulled her hand to his lips 'I know you don't believe it right now but we swear, you're perfect, you're everything we've ever wanted'

I lent back and wiped the tears from her cheeks.

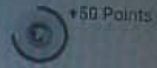

'I'm sorry' She said shyly 'I don't mean to keep breaking down, I don't know what's gotten into me, I never cry in front of anyone'

Jax laughed softly, and I glared at him, but he rolled his eyes at me.

'Madelyn, do you remember what I told you last night' He asked 'About Ava, her emotions are mixing with yours, so when you're sad, you feel it from yourself and her, that's probably why you feel so overwhelmed, it's not just coming from you, but you will get control of it and don't ever apologize for crying, we want to know how your feeling, even if it hurts us to see you upset'

'Ok' She sniffed, and I reached back and grabbed a napkin from the table and have it to her 'Thank you'
