Chapter 421 Three Days

After saying this, Davis looked quite calm. He tasted his red wine and looked at Gerald.

Gerald said indifferently, "It's normal to see people miss, but they mysteriously disappeared in front of some experts. This is not normal. Only a super expert can do this. You have control over all the information in Sin City. I think you must know what is going on."

"It seems to have nothing to do with you," Davis said.

"It has nothing to do with me?" Gerald's eyelids twitched slightly. "You mean that it is really related to you? It is you who did it, right?"

Belinda and Charles both looked at Davis.

Davis frowned slightly. Then he put down the glass in his hand and smiled at Charles. He said, "Mr. Dominic, I admit that this matter is indeed related to me. I have secretly observed some of the children in this city. If I find someone with good talent, I will get them and train them myself. It will be useful in the future!"

Charles narrowed his eyes slightly. He did not say anything. He just said calmly, "You don't have to explain anything to me."

"So you are training some children in private?" Gerald asked with a smile. "I'm afraid you can't do that. If you want someone, you can recruit someone in this city. Everyone in the city is willing to join you. If you want to train their children, just tell them yourself. Do you need to be so sneaky?"

Charles glanced at Gerald and shook his head. "Gerald, leave it alone!"

Gerald frowned.

"I can promise you that those children are fine," Charles said.

At this time, Gerald noticed that the corner of Davis' mouth twitched a few times, and there was a trace of fear in his eyes!

From Charles' words, it seemed that he already knew what was going on.

Previously, Gerald had mentioned it to him. Charles had said that he had no idea at all. Looking at him now, Gerald thought Charles should have already known.

In fact, Gerald had never understood Charles' true identity. If he was Watchman No. 1, even if he was a super expert, he shouldn't have made Davis so afraid.

Later, Gerald discovered that Charles was the trump card of the so-called Watchmen hidden in the dark!

However, Gerald also felt that it was unlikely. This was Sin City. If Davis were to shout, who knew how many people in this city would be willing to follow him and shout with their arms?

The existence of Davis was relatively special. On one hand, his existence restrained the city, and to a certain extent, he was an ally of the Watchmen!

But on the other hand, if Gerald brought such a large group of people out of Sin City, then this force might not even be inferior to the Night Watch!

Gerald didn't know much about this city.

But now that Charles had spoken, Gerald couldn't say anything more. He let out a breath and said, "Alright, but no matter what, I promised one person that you would let her child go. Even if you wanted to train the child yourself, you had to tell her."

"Recently, there is only one person called Averie. She is the daughter of Julisa, right?" Davis asked.

Gerald was speechless. He looked at Davis with a faint smile and said, "As expected, you know everything about me in this city."

Davis said, "That's not true. I have never paid attention to you in this city. It is just that there are not many people I got. In recent months, there is only one person."

Gerald did not agree with his words. He did not believe it. He waved his hand and said,

"Remember!"

"I will bring Averie to her at night to make things clear," Davis said.

"OK, then cheers!" Gerald smiled and nodded.

Everyone raised their glasses.

Gerald and Davis chinked glasses, but he couldn't see through this man!

Gerald might be on the same level as Davis now, but Davis had stayed at this level for too long. He had stayed in this city for too long. As for the secrets of this city and the secrets of Davis, no one else in this world knew about it except those few people.

This celebration banquet was held smoothly, and Gerald and the others had enough food.

While eating the dessert, Davis suddenly looked at Gerald and said, "To be honest, among the people I have seen in my life, your talent is second only to Blaine!"

"Blaine?" Gerald asked in surprise. "He reached the super level not long ago?"

"It's not about when he reached that level," Davis seemed to be lost in his memories as he said. "I only remember that the first time I met him, he was still a person who fed pigs in the countryside. Then because the war spread to their village, he picked up a butcher knife.

"Then he succeeded just like that. He became the leader of the American Night Watch." Davis wanted to say more, but Charles coughed. So Davis did not mention it anymore.

Gerald was curious and wanted to ask more, including Theo and the others. But no matter how they asked, Davis was not willing to say more. The dinner lasted until it was almost ten o'clock in the evening, and Gerald and the others stood up to say goodbye.

At the entrance of the manor, Belinda looked at Gerald and said, "Then we will meet at the dock three days later. From today on, I will be one of your team members."

Gerald looked at her and smiled, "Team? I don't have any team now. But maybe there will be one in the future. No one knows."

"See you in three days!" Belinda smiled with excitement in her eyes.

To her, leaving the city made her feel happy from the bottom of her heart!

On the way back to Roger's house, Gerald received a call from Julisa. Davis brought Averie over and explained the situation to her. Julisa especially called to thank Gerald.

Obviously, when Davis brought the child over, he mentioned Gerald.

Gerald only said a few words before hanging up the phone.

When he returned home, he found that Scar and the others had not left. Scar was also waiting for news from Gerald.

Seeing that Gerald and the others had returned, Scar quickly came over and asked, "How is it?"

"Three days later, two cruise ships. You can announce it to the people from Lightbringers!" Gerald said.

Scar was delighted!

Milo's eyes also turned red!

After twenty years, he could finally leave this city. The hope of revenge was not far ahead.

Chapter 422 Is This About Obeying Your Husband?

Gerald arrived at Roger's house.

In a small mansion in the Eastern District of Sin City, Davis was sitting on the sofa.

In the room, a trace of an excited smile appeared on Julisa's face. Julisa looked at Davis and said, "Mr. Hodges, I'll have to trouble you with Averie in the future."

Davis smiled slightly. He bowed and said, "Sorry to trouble you."

"It's fine. It's Averie's honor to be able to stay by your side and receive your guidance," Julisa quickly said.

Davis ranked second on the Sun List, and he was the owner of Sin City.

A smile appeared on Davis' face. Davis smiled faintly and said, "Then I'll take Averie back!"

"Alright. See you," Julisa quickly said.

Davis got up and held Averie's hand as they walked downstairs. When they reached downstairs, he rubbed Averie's head and said, "Averie, wait for me in the car!"

Averie nodded obediently. Davis' butler, who was next to Davis, opened the door for Averie. After Averie got into the car, Brendon Potter, Davis' butler, looked at Davis and said, "Mr. Hodges, what do you think?"

Davis frowned and said, "This woman plays tricks with her words. Now Mr. Dominic knows that we are quietly developing our own forces. He didn't say anything just now, but I couldn't figure out what he was thinking."

"What do you have in mind?" asked Brendon.

Davis patted his clothes and looked at Brendon. Davis smiled slightly and said, "When Gerald leaves, take this woman to Burgundy Bordello! Also, tell Farris to keep his mouth shut. He didn't discipline his son well. He deserved it. Don't cause trouble for me again."

"Understood!" Brendon nodded and said.

Gerald didn't know what Davis had done. When Gerald returned home, he felt a little tired. After a simple wash, Gerald returned to the sofa on the second floor and lay down.

This sofa was bought when Malcolm paid Theo. As more and more people lived in this small building, Gerald, Claude, and Theo began to sleep on the sofa. Fortunately, the sofa was quite big when it was unfolded, and the three people could sleep on the sofa!

Gerald went upstairs and found that Valery was sitting there.

There was no one in the living room on the second floor.

"Where are Claude and Theo?" Gerald asked.

Valery said, "They went to sleep in Adam's manor with Scar. You're probably the only one sleeping here tonight."

Gerald was stunned and scolded, "These two bastards went out to enjoy the life of a rich man, but they didn't take me."

Valery was speechless. Valery then said, "Come here. I'll give you a massage!"

Hearing Valery's words, Gerald couldn't help but be slightly happy.

Valery's massage technique was not bad. The key thing was that Gerald enjoyed the feeling of resting his head on Valery's thigh.

Gerald lay down on the sofa and put his head on Valery's leg.

“Where are Jolie and the others?” Gerald asked.

“They’re all asleep, so you need to be a little quiet!” Valery said.

“Quiet?” Gerald’s eyes lit up. Gerald said, “You want to make some noise with me?”

“Do you want to die?” Valery’s gaze turned cold.

Gerald quickly shut up. Valery couldn’t help but smile. Valery placed her hand on Gerald’s head and gently massaged him as she asked, “What are you going to do in the next few days? You don’t seem to care about the arrangements. You just wait to leave in three days!”

Gerald smiled and said, “Recently, my nerves have been tense. For these three days, I’ll just stay at home. Then I will go see Jacob and the others and wait for the preparation of the next few days!”

Those three days were meant for these people in Sin City so that Gerald could have a few days to give them some things to do.

Many people wanted to leave this place, but there were also many who were not willing to leave.

They had long since taken root in this city.

If they were to leave with their families, perhaps most of them would be willing, but if they left their families here and left by themselves, they might be unable to accept it.

Moreover, even if they wanted to leave, they would have to prepare a lot of things, including luggage, food, and fresh water.

Gerald had to leave some time for them to prepare.

Valery nodded and said, “That’s fine. This time... I hope that we can successfully take revenge for Terry!”

“Humph, the United Army Headquarters is also in Europe. When the time comes, we will go there directly. I want to ask who proposed to expel me from the Night Watch,” Gerald said and sneered.

“You intend to make a scene?” Valery said, “It is indeed time to make a scene.”

Gerald nodded and said, “Let’s talk about it after we get there. When the time comes, I’ll smash my medals of gold and above into their heads.”

Valery smiled and said, “This is indeed something that you would do. Are we going to Europe directly?”

“Yes!” Gerald nodded and said, “Let’s go there first. There’s no need to hide anything. Let’s put these two cruise ships over there. They want to fight. Bring it on. If they want to talk, then I will talk to them seriously. Anyway, we are in the right. They are playing tricks with me. I have a clear conscience.”

“Justice will win!” Valery smiled.

Then Valery looked down at Gerald and said, “Do you ... have any resentment?”

“Yes!” Gerald said, “But it doesn’t matter.”

“Will you return to the Night Watch?” Valery asked again. “Or do you plan to establish your own sect?”

Gerald froze. He hadn’t expected that Valery would suddenly ask this.

“I don’t know!” Gerald said honestly.

Gerald had lived a muddled life for the first eighteen years. After Gerald turned eighteen, he joined the Night Watch. In the days after that, he had been on the Night Watch and had always contributed to this world!

But this time, Gerald had been expelled by the organization that he had made countless contributions to, and they had issued the highest bounty order, the Blood Order, on Gerald!

It was impossible to say that Gerald wasn’t hurt.

Gerald didn’t know if he would go back or not.

Valery fell silent, then smiled and said, “Alright. Wherever you go, I will follow you.”

“Is this about obeying your husband?” Gerald said with a smile.

“Do you want to die again?” Valery asked.

Gerald quickly begged for mercy!

Valery didn’t really do anything to Gerald. Her hand kept massaging Gerald’s body. They chatted like old friends, one asking and one answering!

Under the slightly yellow light, the scene was a bit beautiful. At night, Sin City also had a trace of tranquility!

Slowly, Gerald felt a bit tired. Gerald closed his eyes and fell into a deep sleep.

Chapter 423 People Who Are Willing to Leave

The next morning, Gerald woke up very late.

After waking up, Gerald walked downstairs. The food was made by Valery last night. Because they didn’t eat dinner, there was a lot left. It was simply heated and placed on the table, but it still looked very delicious.

What surprised Gerald was that downstairs, only Jolie and Valery were there. The others seemed to be gone.

“Where are they?” Gerald asked.

Valery said, “Carolyn went shopping with Kristen. Theo and Claude haven’t come back yet.”

“Alright!” Gerald asked, “Do you have any plans in the afternoon?”

Valery shook her head. "Nothing. I'll help Jenna with her study and then treat Roger and the others! What about you?"

"I plan to go see Jacob and the others," Gerald said with a smile.

Valery nodded and said, "Okay, the car keys are upstairs. You can get them yourself!"

Gerald nodded. After eating, Gerald drove to find Jacob and the others.

Just as Gerald went to find Jacob, in Adam's house in the Northern District, there were many people in a room in a conference hall. All the top experts of Lightbringers were gathered here!

Rayna and Ellamae were there too!

After the last battle, they also joined Lightbringers. Of course, Malcolm joined as well!

In fact, during this period of time, there were many people who wanted to join Lightbringers, but Scar felt that it was almost enough. After Malcolm joined, there were more than four thousand people. If this went on, it was really a little too much.

At this time, there were eighty-six people in total at the top level, including the ones brought by Malcolm.

This was the first meeting since they took down the Northern District. Scar wanted to explain some management affairs.

At this time, most of the people agreed with Scar!

Scar looked around and said, "In addition, I want to ask everyone a question..."

Everyone looked at Scar. Gavyn, who was ranked ninth on the Moon List, quickly said, "Mr. Scar, if you have any questions, just ask."

"Everyone... Have you thought about leaving this city?" Scar asked.

This time, all the people in the conference hall fell silent, including Malcolm!

Others did not know, but Malcolm was aware that although it seemed that Scar was the super expert of Lightbringers, the person in charge was Gerald.

They knew that Gerald was going to leave the city, but now that Scar asked this question, it meant that this was also what Gerald wanted. Gerald seemed to want to take a group of people from Sin City with him!

Leaving this city was the wish of most people.

At this time, their hearts were about to jump out.

They knew, but that did not mean that others knew. Gavyn frowned and said, "We want to leave, but Davis won't let us leave. We can't beat him."

"What if I have a way to deal with Davis?" Scar said faintly, "Of course, there are conditions to leave!”

“Wow!”

At that moment, there was an uproar. Everyone looked at Scar!

They didn't want to stay in this city!

Some people enjoyed life in the outside world, and some people heard about it. They knew that with their ability, they could live a good life outside, and the life outside was wonderful.

“What conditions?” someone couldn't help but ask.

“We leave by ourselves. We are not allowed to take our families with us, because we are going to war this time!” Scar said calmly, “We are going to Europe. Some people should have heard that it is a very developed area. We are going to Europe's Exploro.”

“Hiss...”

The people present were all at the top level, and they knew something about the Sun List and the underground world.

Exploro was said to be the main battlefield of the first war. After the war ended, this place became the stronghold of the Dempsey family. Scar meant that he was going to fight Perrin.

Gavyn swallowed his saliva and said, “Mr. Scar, is there any enmity between you and Perrin? He...

is the third on the Sun List!”

Scar said indifferently, “Of course, this is voluntary. Those who are willing to leave with me will leave. Those who are unwilling to leave, stay in Sin City. I will choose someone to temporarily take care of things here for me. I may come back in the future.”

At this point, Scar paused and said, “Of course, as you think, we are going to Exploro to challenge Perrin. You should know something about this battle. I have some connections with Watchman No. 0, Gerald. The main force of this battle is them. We just need to help him solve some miscellaneous things.”

“Isn't Perrin also a Watchman? They are...” Someone asked suspiciously, “Watchmen are going to have an internal war?”

“Don't ask too many questions about things that you shouldn't ask.” Scar said proudly, “Anyway, you heard me. When you go back, ask your people. If you are willing to leave, leave. If you are unwilling to leave, I won't force you. Since you joined Lightbringers, you are my subordinates. Even in this city, no one dares to bully us.”

“I am willing to leave!”

“I am willing to leave!”

For a moment, many people stood up to express their willingness!

Even though they had to leave alone, they did not want to give up hope of leaving this city.

Of course, there were also some people who fell silent because what Scar said was that they were not allowed to bring their family!

This was also something that Gerald could not do anything about. If everyone brought their family, the cruise ship would not be able to fit all those people.

Some people planned to consider it, and some people had already run back to make a headcount of their people.

When Gerald arrived in the town, he watched Jacob and the others train for the afternoon. After having dinner there, Gerald chatted with them for a while and then returned to Roger's house alone.

When Gerald arrived, he found that Scar was also among them, including Frederic!

Frederic was extremely excited. Frederic had also joined Lightbringers a long time ago. When Frederic heard that he could leave the city, Frederic ran over eagerly. Frederic was a bachelor. It was good that he could leave here!

"I have already told them the news. I've got a number," Scar said. At the same time, Scar threw a notebook on the table and said, "There are a total of 2,132 people willing to leave. Among them, 53 are top-level, 462 are advanced-level, and 1,032 are intermediate-level. The rest are all primary-level!"

Gerald touched his chin and nodded, "It's almost enough. Have you told them the time? We will meet at the dock in two days!"

Scar nodded, licked his lips, and said, "I have already told them!"

Chapter 424 The Harbor

"That's good. Let's meet at the dock in two days," Gerald said.

Scar nodded and said, "OK. Bye."

Gerald nodded and smiled, "Bye."

The next two days, Gerald didn't do anything special. He seldom went out for a stroll. Most of the time, he went to see Jacob and the others. Because he did not know when they would meet again. after this farewell. Gerald wanted to spend more time with them.

Theo finally had some free time to start his great plan of dating girls. He had only come back a few times recently.

As for Claude, he went to Belinda's manor whenever he was free. Because he was interested in Aleen. Gerald felt that Aleen was a little scheming. But Claude liked her, so he didn't say anything about it.

But no matter what, Gerald would not let his brother suffer even a little loss.

In this way, two days passed in a flash.

One morning, at the entrance of Roger's house, he was talking to a person.

This person was Roger's relative. Now that Roger was leaving, the house would be empty. He planned to let one of his relatives live there.

After all, it had air conditioning, water heaters, a sofa and appliances, and so on. As a house on Slum Street, this kind of place was almost luxurious. And the neighborhood was safe. It was in the territory of Lightbringers. Now that Lightbringers was influential in this city, no one dared to provoke it.

After saying that, Roger slowly exhaled. He said with a sigh, "Let's go."

Roger grew up in this city. He was eager to see the world. But when it was time to leave, he felt a little sad.

"Let's go," Jolie pulled Nikki and said.

Jolie couldn't wait to go back to Sacramento. She had been here for more than a month and was not used to life here.

Nikki nodded and said, "OK."

In addition to their two cars, there was another one that belonged to Frederic.

On the opposite side of their road, Gloria was wiping her tears. She had a big backpack on her back.

"Don't cry. Don't cry." Ari smiled and said, "We will meet again in the future. I still expect you to take care of me when I get old."

Gloria wiped her tears and said, "But you are already old."

"Bah!" Ari scolded, "I am still young, and I feel that we will meet soon. After you leave here, you should listen to Gerald. Understand?"

Gloria nodded and said, "OK."

Then she walked back to Gerald and kept looking back at Ari.

Ari looked at Gerald and waved his hand. It seemed that he didn't want to watch it anymore. Ari adjusted his sunglasses and then walked to the room. He was a little stooped.

Gerald frowned slightly. He looked at Ari and sighed in his heart. Then he turned around and said, "Let's get into the car. Let's go."

Frederic nodded. Roger and his family were in his car. The three cars headed directly to the dock.

Everyone knew what the dock of this island was. But few people had seen it personally. Because it was Davis.

In that place, there were all the lifelines of the city and the only place where the city communicated with the outside world. And this place was controlled by Davis' territory.

Of course, Gerald had seen it once.

Five years ago, he left here from this dock. After five years, he had come to this city again and was now leaving.

They drove away from downtown. As for the people of Lightbringers, they had been waiting at the harbor with Scar early.

When Gerald arrived, it was around nine o'clock in the morning. Outside the harbor, Scar looked at the containers below and swallowed.

There were many huge cargo ships at the harbor.

The city was unable to be self-sufficient. Most of the goods had to be purchased from other places.

Of course, it was all controlled by Davis.

At this moment, Davis was standing at the entrance of the harbor with a smile. Charles was beside him. Behind Charles was Franklin, who was tied up. When Franklin saw Gerald, he twitched his mouth slightly.

Seeing Gerald, Scar and Milo hurriedly came over and said, "Our people are all here."

Davis and Charles also came up and said, "I've prepared two cruise ships. One can hold 2,500 people, and the other 1,400 people. That should be enough."

"It's enough," Gerald said indifferently.

Davis smiled slightly and said, "I hope you won't come here anymore."

Gerald smiled and didn't reply. He said to Scar, "Let your people board the cruise ship that can hold 2,500 people."

Scar nodded. With the help of the people brought by Davis, the 2,000 people, carrying big and small bags, walked towards the dock.

Not long after they left, Charles walked up with Franklin. He pushed Franklin to Gerald and frowned. "Be careful. The news of Alan's death has probably spread out. I think there are European Watchmen in this city. They will do everything they can to pass the information."

"I didn't do anything wrong. This person deserves to die. I have a clear conscience," Gerald said lightly.

Charles patted Gerald on the shoulder and sighed. "Get rid of Perrin as soon as possible. We don't have much time left."

Gerald frowned slightly.

“Don’t think too much.” Charles seemed to see through Gerald and said, “You’re welcome here. No one will drive you away.”

After saying that, Charles thought of something and took out an envelope from his pocket. He handed it to Gerald and said, “After you leave here, go to Washington and give this letter to my senior.”

Charles’ senior was Kaven.

Gerald was actually quite curious. What exactly is Charles’ identity? He was a Watchman and was an extremely mysterious person in Sin City. Moreover... He was a top-notch chef. It was really strange.

As they were talking, several buses slowly drove over. The buses soon stopped at the entrance of the harbor. Belinda, who was in a black dress, got out of one of the buses.

Davis sighed when he saw her. He looked at Belinda and said, “I’ve been pursuing you for decades. You still don’t feel anything for me? Are you really going to leave?”

Belinda looked at Davis indifferently. She walked to Gerald and said, “I brought 179 people. All of them are above the advanced level. Some people don’t want to leave, so I let them stay. Let’s go!”

Chapter 425 A Purple Lotus

Belinda had no intention of talking to Davis at all. This made Davis a little embarrassed, but he smiled and didn’t say anything.

“You can get into the ship first,” Gerald said. “Arrange Davis to go to the other cruise ship.”

Most of Scar’s people were on the larger cruise ship. Gerald and the others would take the other one. Of course, the two cruise ships would set off together and head to the destination.

Belinda nodded. Then she bowed to Charles and said, “Goodbye, Mr. Dominic.”

Charles still looked calm. He forced a smile and said, “Don’t cause trouble. Otherwise, I will come to you personally.”

Belinda nodded slightly and said, “Don’t worry. I won’t. I just want to see the outside world. I have been in this place for too long.”

Charles nodded slightly.

Following Davis’ people, Belinda led more than one hundred people to the cruise ship.

After they went away, Gerald looked at Charles again and said, “Please take care of Jacob and the others after I leave.”

Charles nodded and said, “No problem.”

At this time, Gerald thought of something. He touched his nose and said, "Oh. Right. Davis, I want to ask you something. Two other people came here with my friends at that time. Alex and Landen. They are brothers. Do you know where they are?"

Davis shook his head and said, "What you asked for were only Jacob and the other three people. We knocked out the rest and didn't pay attention to them. They were two nobodies. What's wrong?"

Hearing that, Gerald didn't ask more questions.

He looked at Davis and said, "There is another thing."

"Why are you so talkative?" Davis was a little annoyed. "Hurry up. Just say it, and then leave. I don't want to see you."

Gerald slowly let out a breath. He looked at Davis with a burning gaze and said, "I once had a teammate, Watchman No. 69. He came to this city about a year ago. At that time, he should have been at the top level. After coming here, he suddenly disappeared. Do you know anything about him?"

"I know most of the news in Sin City, but not all of it. I don't have to manage everything. We won't care too much if someone dies or goes missing," Davis said. "It happened a year ago. Maybe it didn't draw my attention at that time."

Davis' words made the others frown.

There were fewer and fewer people left on their team, so they hoped they could find Watchman No.

Since Davis couldn't provide any information, Gerald could only sigh in his heart. Then he smiled slightly and said, "It's all right. Take us to the ship."

Davis nodded and waved to Brendon next to him.

Charles turned around and walked to a car beside him. He thought of something and said, "I will turn Dax over to Blaine personally. Don't worry."

Gerald nodded. He did not ask much about Dr. T. It seemed to be a taboo.

They passed through the dock. Many people were working there. They were all Davis' people. In fact, Gerald knew that Davis had many experts. And his people had chances to leave the city. They went outside to purchase goods, discuss business, and so on.

Gerald was taken onto the cruise ship. It was very big and had five floors in total. Most of Belinda's people were on the first and second floors. Gerald and the others were arranged to stay on the highest floor, the fifth floor. The top floor was larger, but only Gerald and his team stayed there.

h floor. The top floo

Apart from the team, the Aubin family and Milo also took this floor.

Milo had officially joined Gerald's team, but now Gerald wasn't a Watchman, so he wasn't a

Watchman for the time being.

Of course, Belinda was also on this floor.

After picking a room, Gerald put his things in it and walked to the deck.

On the shore, Davis and Brendon were standing there. He stood there with his hands behind his back like a gentleman and looked at the deck.

The deck of the other cruise ship was also full of people. They all looked at the island. Some were excited, some were worried, and some had complicated expressions.

In any case, many of them had lived on this island for years. Some were even born there.

Although this city was filled with darkness and violence, it was their home!

Hoot...

Suddenly, the sound of a siren rang out above the sea.

Gerald felt the cruise ship sway slightly. Then it slowly left the harbor and the island.

At the harbor, Davis waved his hand with a smile.

It was unknown whether he was bidding farewell to Belinda or hoping that Gerald would never come back.

"I'm finally going home." Jolie found a chair on the deck and sat down. She muttered, "I feel much better."

Gerald looked at this mysterious island. For some reason, he felt that he would come back.

Suddenly, Gerald heard someone say, "Davis is a very mysterious person."

He turned his head and found that Belinda was standing beside him in a black dress. Belinda had a good figure. As the wind blew, the black dress was pressed against her body, revealing her curve.

"You have known him for so many years. Don't you know about him?" Gerald asked.

"There are two puzzles on this island. One is Mr. Dominic and the other is Davis. Mr. Dominic is obviously mysterious, but Davis' case is not that apparent," said Belinda. "Perhaps even Mr. Dominic doesn't know much about Davis."

Gerald looked at Belinda with interest and asked, "How much do you know about Charles?"

"Not much." Belinda pouted and said, "The only thing I know is one of his identities. He is Watchman No. 1 of American Night Watch. He seems to be junior to you."

At that moment, Gerald and the others looked at each other at the same time!

As they expected, Charles was the mysterious Watchman No. 1.

"Damn it!" said Theo. "I knew it. But Cat Lady, is he powerful?"

"I don't know. We have never seen him fight," said Belinda. "He isn't on the island most of the time. He is the only one who can enter and exit this island freely. Even Davis can't come and go at will."

"Davis can't do that?" Valery asked in surprise, "How is that possible? Isn't he the most powerful person on this island?"

"He is indeed the most powerful person on this island," Belinda said. "But the situation on this island is very complicated. I have been here for so many years, but I haven't figured it out. The four Holy Lords are not the only forces on this island. People who hide in the crowd may be the most important. In short, I feel that Davis wants to leave, but he can't."

"Do you know how this island and city are formed?" Gerald suddenly asked.

Belinda shook her head and said, "I was ... sent here many years ago because of something."

Gerald was speechless. When he heard that, he felt that his knowledge of this city was not enough.

"Then why can Charles enter and leave freely?" Carolyn asked.

Belinda shook her head and said, "I don't know. He rarely shows up. But when he appears, Davis would be respectful to him. About twenty years ago, Charles was only fifteen or sixteen years old. At that time, he was angry. Davis knelt in front of him and trembled. Many big shots in this city saw that scene, so after that, no one dared to provoke Charles. He left when he was seventeen or eighteen years old and only came back not long ago."

Gerald knew it. Charles had gone to Washington and stayed there for many years.

While they were talking, in the harbor, Davis was still waving his hand as if he was bidding farewell. However, his gaze was ice-cold.

His wrist was revealed as he stretched his arm. And there was a small tattoo on his wrist.

It was ... a purple lotus!

Chapter 426 They Leave

"Master, your tattoo is exposed," Davis' butler reminded him.

Davis was stunned. Then he quickly put down his arm. He looked at the tattoo on his wrist and said, "I became off guard after I saw him leave."

"Master, are you afraid of him?" The butler couldn't help but ask.

"Afraid? I'm not afraid of him." Davis pulled his sleeve and patted his suit. He said lightly, "It's just that I don't know what this guy is thinking. He's just like Charles. But it's alright. Time is almost up."

"Then what about Franklin?" the butler asked.

“Forget about him. Anyway, he doesn’t know of my existence. We should deal with Charles during this time. Don’t reveal any clues. I didn’t expect him to return here at this time. It’s quite strange.”

Looking at the two cruise ships that were getting further and further away, Davis chuckled and said, “Night Watch will have an internal strife. Hehe. It will be interesting to see them fighting each other.”

Of course, Gerald didn’t see all of this. He was standing on the deck, enjoying the sea breeze. A uniformed sailor walked over. He worked on this cruise ship and was one of Davis’ subordinates. He said to Gerald, “It will take ten days for us to go to Europe. The supplies on the ship are enough for about seven days. Seven days later. We will go to another harbor to replenish them.”

Gerald nodded and said, “OK.”

“It’s just that the fees of the supplies... can only be paid with a card. We may have to trouble you...” He looked at Gerald embarrassedly.

Carolyn said lightly, “Do they accept credit card payments?”

“Yes,” the sailor hurriedly said.

“Use my card then,” Carolyn replied calmly.

“Also, the supply point is not a country or city, but the base of some pirates. Therefore, the price may be much higher. Usually, when we go out to sea, we bypass that place. We mainly transport goods, so we have enough food for our people to stay on the sea for a long time. But this time, there are too many people. And this is a cruise ship...” the sailor said.

“Pirates?” Gerald said with interest, “That’s quite interesting. I remember that the last time we dealt with pirates was when we were on our first mission. At that time, they hijacked a cargo ship. Dennis took us to rescue the people.”

After leaving Sin City, it was not so easy to meet warriors or people from the underground world.

Any country’s Night Watch would find Gerald’s team hard to deal with.

“I see. Just sail in the designated way,” Gerald said, “And don’t disturb us unless it’s time for a meal.”

“The dining room is on the third floor. The chefs are personally arranged by Mr. Hodges. They are on standby for 24 hours. You can go there to eat at any time,” the sailor hurriedly said.

“OK.” Gerald nodded slightly and said, “Can you let the chefs make some food for us and send it to this floor?”

“OK.” The sailor nodded quickly.

There were tables on the deck, Gerald and the others didn’t want to leave. After all, the scenery on the sea was very good. Jolie was the most excited one. After all, after half a month, she could return to Sacramento and her stable life.

Jolie grew up in a peaceful environment. She hated seeing death and blood. She also couldn't bear to watch fighting. Jolie wanted to obey the law and live a peaceful life.

She leaned against the railing with a smile. As the island became smaller and smaller, the smile on her face became more and more bright.

Soon, someone brought food and a bottle of champagne.

"Champagne? Are we celebrating our departure?" Carolyn asked.

Valery did not eat it at once. She examined the food carefully. After Valery confirmed that there was no poison, she nodded and said, "It's safe. You can eat it!"

Everyone got a glass of champagne. They clinked glasses and chatted. Looking at the island that had become a little spot, Theo murmured, "I feel that this city is quite suitable for me. The girls here are passionate. But I only enjoyed myself for three days. It's not enough."

"You!" Kristen could not help but kick him. "Why can't you get a serious relationship and settle down? Your reputation in Night Watch is terrible. Those girls would avoid you after hearing your stories. How are you supposed to get married?"

"At worst, I won't date Watchmen from now on." Theo curled his lips and said, "Anyway, I'm not a Watchman now."

They got farther and farther away from the island. The ship was sailing on the vast and boundless sea. In the surroundings, except for the sea, there was nothing else. One could get a wide view.

One would feel very excited when he saw the vast sea for the first time.

But as he looked again, he would find it dull. He couldn't see anything else but seawater.

And when he watched the sea longer, he would get bored. And the sunlight was too intense.

That was what the girls thought. After staying on the deck for two hours, they all returned to their rooms. There were casinos on this cruise ship.

The girls were not bored. They found cards in Kristen's room, so they stayed there to play cards.

Theo and Claude had nothing to do. Theo heard that the other cruise ship was noisy. Its passengers seemed to be very happy. The two cruise ships were quite close, so Theo directly found a way and ran to the other ship. As for Claude, he went to see Aleen.

Only Gerald and Belinda were left on the deck. Gerald held a glass of champagne and leaned against the railing, looking at the vast sea.

Belinda walked to Gerald and sat down. She smiled slightly and said, "Why have you stopped asking me to join your team?"

Gerald looked at Belinda and said, "You know that I am not a Watchman anymore, don't you? Now we are alone here. You can tell me the truth. What is your real purpose for leaving this city?"

"I just want to travel around the world. I'm so young. I don't want to be trapped in this city for the rest of my life," Belinda said.

Gerald naturally did not believe that. He looked at Belinda and said, "My team members know each and other's background. And we are very clean. If you want to join us, you have to make us trust you accept you. You can't hide everything."

"You want me to help you defeat Perrin. I will do my best. After it's done, I will still follow you. As for the rest, does it matter?" Belinda asked.

"Of course." Gerald said, "I don't want you to stab me in the back when the fight begins."

Belinda looked at the sea and smiled. "Since you want to know, I will tell you my story. Perhaps... 1 also need your power."

In Derick's home in Washington, Leana frowned and said, "Derick, is there any news?"

"No." Derick shook his head and said, "They disappeared completely. The only thing we can confirm is that this matter is related to Blood Lotus."

"But..." Leana pursed her lips and said, "Ingrid is fine. But Daphne is just an ordinary girl. She has never dealt with anyone from the underground world."

"Calm down. Red Rose deliberately left her signal, and she seemed to be working with Gerald. She is telling us that she did it," Derick said, "So, we will be able to handle it after Gerald comes back."

"Gerald... is coming back?" Leana asked.

"Probably." Derick nodded, and then he knitted his eyebrows slightly.

Chapter 427 Belinda's Story

On the vast sea, two cruise ships sailed forward slowly. One was a giant ship, and the other was relatively small.

At that moment, Gerald and Belinda were standing face to face on the deck of the small five-story cruise ship.

The sea wind blew Belinda's dress, revealing her curve, which made her tempting. If not for her age, Gerald would be attracted to her.

Belinda's long hair was messy because of the wind. She smoothed her hair and looked at the sea. "That happened about forty years ago."

Forty years. It happened in the last century.

Belinda continued, "At that time, my family was distinguished. We offended another family. Then, my family was almost wiped out, and I was the only one left. I had just reached the intermediate level and was sent to this city. Then, I spent fifteen years reaching the super level. That year, I was thirty-three years old and thought I could go back to take revenge."

“Davis told me there was only one way to leave this city. That was to defeat him. Therefore, I practiced for a long time. During that period, I formed a force and became the Holy Lord of the Northern District. However, I couldn’t defeat Davis no matter how hard I tried.

“I have a blood feud but can’t take revenge.” Then, Belinda asked calmly, “Do you know what that feels like? The hatred has been in my mind for forty years. However, I can’t defeat Davis.”

Belinda looked up at Gerald. She looked calm. She said that as if she was talking about someone else.

After all, forty years had passed. Belinda didn’t talk about the details.

Gerald looked up and smiled. “Who wiped out your family? Are you sure they are alive?”

Belinda shook her head and compressed her lips. “Deal with Perrin first. If you can’t and die in Europe, you are useless to me.”

Gerald asked in surprise, “What? Are you still testing me? Aren’t you afraid of being thrown into the sea by me? You have more than 100 people now, but I have 2,000.”

Belinda smiled and said, “If you die in Europe, I will die with you.”

Gerald was stunned. He looked at Belinda in surprise.

“I chose to come with you, so we are on the same boat. I won’t step over the line and am ready to join your team. I don’t know if I can integrate with your team. However, I will try my best.” Belinda murmured, “To be a Watchman to perform tasks and take risks might be a good choice. It’s much better than staying in the city.”

Gerald was speechless. Belinda was right. She had reached the super level. It was impossible for her to be in great danger when she performed tasks unless someone wanted to scheme against her.

“As long as you are sincere, we will accept you. The members of my team have accompanied one another on many dangerous and thrilling journeys. We are closer than family,” Gerald said calmly.

Belinda smiled and said, “That’s right. Actually, you and I can be closer. I haven’t had that experience so far. Maybe we can get married. Am I right?”

Looking at Belinda’s figure, Gerald couldn’t help but feel amazed.

“Why? Are you touched?” Belinda asked.

Gerald coughed and said, “Well, I finally see an aged virgin.”

“Nonsense!” Belinda cursed. “By the way, do you want to see Wendy?”

Wendy was a witness who would accuse Perrin. Gerald took her with him.

Gerald shook his head and said, “No need. Let’s see what she will do in Europe.”

Belinda nodded and said, “I am going back to the cabin. Otherwise, my skin will be tanned.”

After saying that, Belinda turned around and went into the cabin.

Gerald smiled.

He didn't have the concept of tanning. He used to work at a construction site and was at the mercy of the weather. Gerald lay on the chair and smiled as he admired the scenery of the sea.

The next few days passed peacefully. The two cruise ships sailed forward smoothly. Gerald changed his SIM card to the one he used abroad. However, there was no signal.

After playing cards for a few days, the girls found it boring.

They didn't play cards for money. Money was meaningless to them.

However, keeping playing cards for fun was boring.

When Theo heard the girls complaining about the bet, he suggested they bet the chance of being his girlfriend. Carolyn and Valery were furious. Theo was beaten by Carolyn and tortured by Valery's special tool.

Gerald was surprised when he found Jessie and Eileen also following him. Theo met them on the other cruise ship, so they asked Theo to help them to board Gerald's ship.

One week passed.

One day, everyone sat on the deck and felt bored.

Theo looked at the vast sea and said, "It is so boring."

At that moment, a crew member ran onto the deck. He looked at Gerald and said, "Mr. Kenneth, we will arrive at the supply point in an hour."

Gerald looked forward to it. Then, he nodded and said, "How long will we stay? Can we disembark to take a walk?"

"Yes, but you have to restrain our people. The people there are pirates, and most of the people on this ship are ruthless. It's better not to have a conflict with them," the crew member said. Gerald touched his nose and said, "I will tell Scar about this. I hope some of us can disembark."

"No problem. The ship will stop for about four hours. You have to go to pay with us, so you can disembark. Moreover, we need about a hundred people to carry the supplies," the crew member said.

"No problem. You can discuss it with Scar and tell him to choose the people. The others are not allowed to leave the ship," Gerald said.

"Okay." The crew member nodded.

Theo and others, who were beside Gerald, got excited. Theo said, "Damn it! I can finally step on the ground. If I stay on the ship for a few more days, I will forget the feeling of stepping on the ground."

Then, Theo licked his lip and said, "I wonder what the wife of the island head looks like. If she is beautiful, I will make her my wife."

Gerald was speechless about Theo's thoughts.

Gerald said, "Don't make trouble. I don't want to waste time here."

"I know," Theo said.

After a while, an island came into view. There were many buildings at the seaside, and it looked like a small town.

There were many ships at the port, and a cruise ship surprised Gerald.

The cruise ship was huge, and there was a French word on it.

"Sunlight."

"I didn't expect another ship to replenish here. They are brave enough to deal with pirates," Claude said.

Gerald glanced over and didn't pay much attention to it. Soon, the two cruise ships stopped at the port. Gerald stretched and said, "Let's go. It's time for us to disembark."

Chapter 428 Conflict

They walked along the deck towards the island.

On the ship aside, Scar led a group down from the deck. None of them were carrying weapons.

Few places allowed people to be armed outside Sin City.

This was the place where pirates lived. Too many weapons might cause some conflict.

The captain of Gerald's ship took the lead. When he reached the shore, quite a few people stood there, dressed in rags. Their skin was very dark and should have been exposed to sunlight and rain for a long time.

What surprised Gerald most was that they all had guns hanging on their chests. The captain walked to the front and communicated with the people there with words Gerald had never heard before.

Gerald estimated that there were about a hundred people at the port.

When Jolie saw these pirates, she said in fear, "Can... I stay on the ship?"

Gerald nodded and said, "Alright. Stay on the top floor with Milo. Don't go anywhere else."

Milo was not interested and did not come down. He only wanted to arrive in Europe as soon as possible and took revenge on Perrin.

The people at the port were unashamedly sizing up Valery and the others standing on the deck.

Valery, Carolyn, and Belinda all looked dazzlingly beautiful. Moreover, their skin was so flawless that these weather-beaten pirates had never seen it.

Many locals even whistled at them.

Belinda could not stand being treated this way. No one dared to tease her in Sin City. Therefore, she asked coldly, "Can I kill them?"

Theo and the others were shocked. Though armed, most pirates were ordinary people and could not be Belinda's match.

The locals would not let Gerald's team go easily if a conflict occurred here. After all, they stopped here to get supplies and did not want to waste too much time here.

Theo quickly said, "My dear Belinda, that's where you are wrong. They whistled at you because of your beauty. People often tease girls like you and even want to friend you on Line. What if you go outside in the future? Are you going to kill hundreds of people in a day?"

There was nothing wrong with what he said. Any woman would be delighted to hear it.

But the way he addressed her made Belinda roll her eyes.

"I think I need to beat you first before dealing with them," Belinda said with a dark face.

Gerald smiled when he saw their banter.

Over the past few days, he could see that Belinda was trying her best to get along with their team. Instead, Milo still spoke very little.

They stood there and waited. Soon, the captain came over and said, "They agreed. Let's go ashore!"

Gerald nodded. They got off the ship and walked onto the island. After they landed on the ground, Theo narrowed his eyes and said, "It's so comfortable!"

A few men were closing in on them. They surrounded Valery, Belinda, Carolyn, and Kristen while chattering about something.

One of the locals reached out his hand to touch Kristen.

The girls were already a little unhappy that they were surrounded by these locals. That man's action annoyed Kristen, whose eyes suddenly turned cold. She grabbed the wrist of that man and twisted his arm. Instantly, that man cried out and fell to his knees.

"Blah, blah, blah..."

These pirates seemed to be irritated by Kristen's reaction and the scream. Several people raised their guns in response.

Gerald frowned.

He did not want any trouble, but troubles did not seem to let go of him.

He threw a cold stare at one of the coordinators at the port.

This guy looked extremely strong with tanned skin. Instead of stopping them, he watched this scene with great interest. His gaze also fell upon Valery and the others.

At this time, the captain of Gerald's ship frowned. He walked to that strong man and said something.

The man frowned afterward. He rushed to the crowd and shouted at them.

Then the locals around Gerald left unwillingly.

"What did you say to him?" Gerald asked, frowning.

"I threatened them that I would not buy their goods if they kept doing this," the captain said. "He compromised on the money."

Money meant a lot in the real world. It could be used to buy weapons and food...

"These bastards!" Kristen snorted and threw the man on the ground.

Meanwhile, the captain said, "Everyone, come with me!"

They followed the swarthy man through the crowd and walked inside the island. With Scar's team, there were about a hundred people in total.

After walking for a while, Carolyn suddenly patted Gerald on the shoulder and said, "Look over there!"

Gerald looked in the direction Carolyn pointed out. Then, he was slightly stunned. Another luxury cruise ship came into their sight. On that deck, some armed men in pirate clothes were patrolling.

"This is..." Gerald frowned and said, "Those pirates raided that ship?"

"It's hard to tell," Theo uttered. "But if it is raided, we can take some action."

Gerald nodded.

Although they were not Watchmen now, they could not stand by and watch when a ship was raided.

"Let's see how it goes. Perhaps the people on that ship are making a deal with the locals. The cruise ship might be a cover," Claude said.

As they spoke, they walked through the town. The roads here were unpaved, and the buildings on both sides looked shabby and were barely enough for people to live in.

Gerald's team seemed out of place here. Their clothes were completely different from the locals. On the way, many people looked at these foreigners curiously.

Gerald sensed brutality in the people here, especially the men. This kind of vibe could only be cultivated on the battlefield.

He couldn't help but walk forward and ask the captain, "Are they just pirates?"

The captain of this ship was an Asian called Gabriel Hatch. He was one of the Lightbringers. He shook his head when he heard Gerald's question. "I don't know much, and I rarely come to this island to replenish my supplies."

Gerald nodded and said, "Where are we going now?"

"To negotiate with their boss!" Gabriel said, "Are your bank cards ready?"

Gerald nodded and said, "Yes, they are ready."

As they talked, they reached the top of the town. The houses there were much better than the ones below and looked like a big beach manor.

At the gate, there were a few bare-chested people with guns in their hands. Inside the manor, people stood in twos and threes, playing games.

arms. They sat there, smoking.

When Gerald and the others walked in, some people showed a trace of interest on their faces.

After passing through many corridors and corners, they arrived at a well-decorated hall.

In sharp contrast to the dilapidated houses outside, there were fewer people and less noise.

"Fuck, these pirates really know how to enjoy themselves." Theo looked around.

"What are you looking at?" Claude asked.

"I want to see how beautiful the boss' wife could be," Theo said with a smile.

At this time, they turned a corner and went to the other side of the hall. When they saw the scene inside, Gerald's lips curled up slightly.

Chapter 429 Deal?

In the hall, there was a table. It looked like a conference hall.

Opposite the table, there was a sofa. A strong man sat on it. He was in a special uniform, which was somewhat similar to military attire. This man was Brae Barber.

In front of Brae, there were several guns. He put his legs on the table. Besides him, several men in suits sat on the other side of the table. They all came from different countries.

"These people are rich men indeed!" Theo sighed in surprise. "Look at their watches and suits. All of them are top ones and very expensive."

Theo knew these brands.

Brae was sitting there. Hearing Theo's words, he became angry. Brae roared at Theo and said something.

"What the fuck are you talking about? I can't understand," Theo said.

At this time, Gabriel explained, "Their boss wants you to keep silent. Don't talk. Be quiet."

Theo raised his eyebrows and was about to say something. However, Gerald stopped him.

Theo snorted. The man who brought Gerald over ran to Brae and said a few words in his ear. Brae looked at Gerald and the others with great interest. Then, Brae said a few words to the people next to him.

Several people came over with guns and waved to the people sitting on the other side of the table. These people trembled and got up from their chairs, and then they were forced to go to another place!

At this time, Brae looked at Gerald and the others. He smiled.

What surprised Gerald was that this time, Brae spoke in French. He grabbed a gun on the table and played with it in his hand. "Are you here to buy something? What do you need to buy? I'll tell you first. The price here is much higher!"

Gerald's expression changed slightly, and then he looked at Gabriel.

Gabriel looked quite calm. He took out a book and handed it over calmly.

After all, Gabriel came from Sin City and he was at the top level. Therefore, although he was very polite, he did not behave like a coward.

Of course, Gabriel seemed to think that if he could avoid trouble, he should try not to cause trouble.

Brae took the book and looked at it. Then, Brae grinned and said, "You need that much?"

Brae threw the book to a man with glasses next to him. The man took the book and Brae said, "We need some time to estimate the value!"

Gabriel said in a low voice, "According to the price in the past, what we bought can support our life for about seven days. Since you said that your price is higher, it may cost about 500 thousand dollars."

Gerald gasped!

Gerald was surprised by the sum. They had more than 3,000 people. That was to say, everyone cost around 150 dollars per day for food.

This price was almost ten times higher than that of other places.

Hearing this, Gerald frowned slightly.

Gerald was not short of money, but he did not want to be a fool.

At this time, Brae took the initiative to introduce, "Let me introduce myself. You can call me Brae, or you can call me Mr. Barber. In the nearby sea area, I am the absolute king! Please have a seat!"

Gerald and the others sat down. Brae's gaze swept back and forth between Valery, Carolyn, and other women.

“Behave yourself!” Theo couldn’t help but say.

Brae raised his eyebrows, but then he smiled and said, “This is my fault. Because on our island, it’s rare to see so many beautiful girls. I couldn’t help but look at them!”

“I hope so,” Gerald said, then sat down in a chair, waiting for the result!

About ten minutes later, the man with glasses came back and whispered something into Brae’s ear.

Brae said and extended five fingers to Gerald and the others, “500 thousand dollars!”

Gerald frowned. However, Gabriel said, “OK. We will pay by card!”

It seemed that Gabriel didn’t want to have conflicts with the pirates on this island.

Although Gerald was a little unhappy, after Gabriel said this, he did not say anything. Gerald asked Carolyn to pay by bank card!

“Well!” Brae looked at the bank card that Carolyn took out and smiled, “This is the Diamond Card of New Bank. It seems that you are mysterious!”

Gerald didn’t expect that Brae would know about the New Bank.

Although Brae said this, he still swiped the card. Then, he said, “It’s done. Before you go to transport the supplies, can I ask you where your two cruise ships came from and where you will go?”

Gabriel frowned and said, “This seems to have nothing to do with you. We just made a deal with each other.”

Gerald looked at Brae and asked, “Well, Mr. Barber, I also have a question. On the cruise ship at the port, I saw your people with guns. Are the people on the cruise ship here to buy something? Or are they kidnapped by you?”

“I can’t tell you!” Brae smiled and said, “You are just here to trade.”

Gerald and the others raised their eyebrows. At this time, Brae said, “Take them to the warehouse to get supplies!”

Gerald and the others did not say anything more. When they just left the door, Gabriel said to Gerald and the others, “Mr. Kenneth, you can walk around this place for the rest of the time. Of course, try not to provoke the people on this island and avoid causing trouble. Otherwise, it will take too much time. We will need about four hours. Then, you can come to the port.”

Gerald nodded. Scar and Gabriel directed the people of Lightbringers to follow the pirates to the warehouse.

As for Gerald and the others, they walked in another direction.

“Boss, what are you thinking? Judging from the situation just now, those people are the people on the cruise ship. These people are all rich people, and it is almost certain that they were kidnapped,” Claude said. "Why don't we do it directly? The people on this island are nothing. We have nearly three thousand people, and it is easy to deal with them."

"Calm down!" Gerald touched his nose and said, "Do you think... they let us take the supplies away easily?"

At the same time, in the hall, after Gerald and the others left, several people walked into the hall. One of them stepped forward and said, "Mr. Barber, I checked and found that their two cruise ships. didn't be recorded. I estimate that they may be new ships owned by a rich businessman. It is likely the first time for them to travel!"

"What about the people on ships? Who are there? What are the weapons they use?" Brae asked again.

"According to our observation, there are about two to three thousand people. As for the weapons, we didn't find anything unique. However, all the people on one ship seem to be holding a party. It is probably a kind of retro party. Many of them are armed," the person said.

Brae sneered, "Retro party? These rich people on the cruise ship are boring! Find a way to control them. Gather all the women. In addition, three of them are very beautiful. I need you to send them to my room tonight!"

"Mr. Barber, can I be the second one to sleep with them?" another man said excitedly.

"Get lost! This time, I want to enjoy these three women alone!" Brae's eyes lit up. "Go down and settle this matter for me!"

"OK!" A few people went down.

Brae licked his lips and said, "I'm so lucky to meet three top-notch beauties."

Chapter 430 Big Trouble

Gerald was walking on the road. He observed the local people and customs here.

The sun was very hot here, so most people, especially women, wore headscarves. But even so, their skin condition was very bad.

They looked at Gerald and the others with strange expressions, as if they had seen a new species, or as if they had seen prey. Their gazes were very strange.

"Help!

"Help!"

At this time, Gerald suddenly heard a loud shout.

"English?" Claude was surprised.

They looked in the direction of the cry for help. At the end of the road, not far away, they saw a woman wearing a floral dress. Her dress was a little broken, revealing her body.

The length of her dress just covered her butt. Her thighs were a little dirty. Her hair was red, but it seemed to be stained with a lot of mud. The woman looked very miserable!

She was injured. Besides, the woman stood there barefoot. Her feet seemed to have been cut, and there were many bloodstains on her clothes.

The woman was running away in panic, shouting for help as she ran.

Many people were standing in front of their houses beside the road and watching her. Gerald found that most of them seemed to be watching a monkey show.

No one went out to save the woman. Some of them even let out a burst of cheers, like the cheers of bandits!

Obviously, this kind of thing often happened here!

Behind the woman, there were more than a dozen men with guns. They could catch up with the woman easily, but they did not do so. Instead, they followed the woman, as if they enjoyed the scene of a cat and a mouse.

The woman's face was full of despair.

Gerald looked around, and he frowned.

Gerald realized that it was home to pirates indeed.

Although the woman looked miserable, she still looked very good. As she ran, she noticed the commotion around her. Her face was full of panic and despair.

Finally, she saw Gerald. From the clothes of Gerald and the others, the woman thought that she had met someone who could save her. Her strength seemed to have increased a bit and her speed increased. The woman ran toward Gerald and the others.

Gerald and the others stood there. When they saw the woman coming over, Gerald frowned and caught her.

She fell into Gerald's arms and said with a pleading look, "Please, save me. As long as you save me, I will give you whatever you want. I will give you a lot of money!"

Gerald looked at her. Next to Gerald, Kristen came over and hugged the woman. Then she took her behind Gerald. Theo and Carolyn took a step forward at the same time to block the woman. As for Valery, she had already begun to observe the woman.

"She just has some superficial wounds. But she had a mental breakdown," Valery said.

Gerald let out a breath. He turned his back to the woman and looked at the group of people who were walking toward him with guns in their hands. He simply asked, "How did you come to this island?"

I was on vacation. I took Sunlight from Europe. It was said that Sunlight, the ship, would travel around the world. However, during the trip, we met many pirates. They controlled the Sunlight and brought us here. All the women were caught on the island, and some women were sexually insulted. I ran out while they were not paying attention. Ah..."

In the end, the woman began to cry.

"Can you save me? I beg you. As long as you help me leave this island, I am willing to give you anything. I have money. I have a lot of money," the woman said emotionally.

"Relax! No one can harm you!" Theo said. He stood in front with his hands crossed. There was a smile on his face.

At this time, the group of people had already come. Seeing Gerald and the others surround the woman behind them, one of them frowned and said something.

"What the fuck are you talking about?" Theo scolded. "Since Sunshine was robbed by you, we must rescue this group of people."

Both sides spoke in a language that they did not understand at all.

As they spoke, the group of people realized that Gerald did not want to hand over the woman. So, they directly pointed the guns at Gerald and the others.

"Are you trying to scare us with this? Foolish!" Theo shouted as he cursed.

"Don't talk nonsense with them. Let's fight directly!" Carolyn was angry and said, "This woman said that many women have been kidnapped to this island. We know what might happen. We have to hurry up."

Gerald nodded.

"Bang!"

At this time, the person in front of Gerald roared. When he saw that Gerald and the others ignored him, he was pissed off and directly shot Gerald.

The bullet's speed was so quick. At such a short distance, the bullet could shoot Gerald in an instant!

Gerald glanced at it. A light suddenly flashed in his eyes, and then his fingers moved at an extreme speed. His wrist was instantly raised, and then his two fingers slightly clamped!

The bullet was caught between his right thumb and fingers!

The group of people was instantly stunned. They were shouting something loudly.

"Humph!"

Gerald flipped his hand, and the bullet in his hand instantly whizzed out, directly shooting at the person who had fired the gun.

"Ah!"

The bullet directly hit his right hand holding the gun. He let out a scream and squatted down. Blood flowed out through his fingers.

Others were shocked. They were shouting something loudly. At this time, the residents on both sides of the road all stood up. They either held guns from their rooms or weapons. They began to surround Gerald and the others from all directions.

“We are in big trouble!” Claude frowned and said, “This is a fucking pirate’s base!”

At the same time, at the port, a large group of people began to gather here. They were all holding various kinds of guns. There were roughly a thousand people.

It had to be said that the scale of this pirate group was already quite large, and most of these pirates were equipped with relatively good firearms!

They began to approach the two giant ships from the port!

On a relatively small ship, Milo and Jolie were sitting together on the fifth floor of the deck. Jolie muttered, “Why haven’t they come back yet?”

Milo looked at the port. Suddenly, he frowned slightly and said, “Gerald and the others might not be able to come back for the time being. Stay by my side and don’t move later!”

Beside them were Jessie and Eileen. Jessie suddenly smiled and said, “What are these pirates planning to do? Are they planning to kidnap us?”

At the same time, among the pirates on the shore, a one-eyed pirate was holding a telescope. He saw Jessie, Eileen, and Jolie on the deck. He was surprised by their beautiful appearance.

“What! There are another three beautiful girls. Great! So great!” he said excitedly.
