Still Loving You Nonetheless By Snow de Eira Chapter 1447

Fortunately she turned out fine.

“Ivy will definitely survive.” she said expectantly.

Josiah nodded. “It is possible.”

After Ivy was transferred to the intensive care unit, Liam could only look at her through the glass window.

But even so, he never left for a moment.

Yanne took a deep breath. After she was mentally prepared, she stepped in front of him.

She said with concern, “Liam, you’ve been sitting here all afternoon, why don’t you take a rest?”

Liam heard her voice, but without even looking up, he spat, “what are you doing here?”

“I’m here to see Miss Ivy and see you by the way.”

“I’m fine, Ivy will be fine, so you can go back.” Liam’s attitude was still indifferent.

Yanne did not leave immediately, and continued to comfort him, "Liam, your attitude. Is it because you still suspect that Ivy's car accident was caused by your mother?"

Liam did not say a word, he did not have the heart to think about that now, he only thought about when Ivy would wake up.

"Liam, you really misunderstood Auntie. Auntie is right. She wouldn't be so foolish as to ignore the future of the family and frame Miss Ivy this way."

On the surface, it seemed like she was pleading grace for his mother, but in fact, it was for herself, she hoped Liam could think that she would not commit such stupidity.

"Did she do it? I believe the police will look into it. Is there anything else, Yanne? If not, go back quickly."

At this time, Mr. Crawford came over.

He glanced at Yanne and said to Liam, "Liam, the truck driver has been restrained. He said that the brake pads of the car were broken, that's why it hit Miss Ivy."

Liam finally raised his face and looked at him. "Just because of that?"

"Yes, the driver fainted twice because he was worried about compensation."

Yanne looked at Mr. Crawford and then at Liam, feeling relieved.

Fortunately, the driver did not betray her.

“By the way, Kaylee has already woken up. Are you going to see her?”

“Okay.” Liam glanced at Ivy in the intensive care unit. Anyway, Ivy had not woken up yet, so he might as well find out.

As soon as Kaylee saw Liam, she immediately rolled over from the hospital bed nervously. “I’m sorry Master Sheldon, I didn’t expect this kind of thing to happen, it’s all my fault!”

The medical staff hurriedly helped him back and said, “Miss, you still have an injury on your leg, so you can’t get out of bed.”

Liam glanced at her gauze-wrapped legs, and said lightly, “Just go back to bed.”

Kaylee just went back to bed.

Without Liam asking, Kaylee cried and said, “Master Sheldon, Miss Ivy cooked ham pasta and waited for you to come and eat, but she couldn’t wait any longer. That’s why she thought about going to the company to find you. I persuaded Miss Ivy not to go to the company to disturb you. But Miss Ivy said that you once said that you wanted to see her anytime, and you would not blame her, nor would you be angry...”

“So I...went with her.” Kaylee wiped the tears from his face. “Then there was a car accident, I’m really sorry...”

Liam looked at her regretful look, and calmly reassured, “It’s okay, it’s not your fault.”

“Really?” Kaylee looked at him in disbelief.

When Windy made Miss Ivy lose face, he fired her directly.

If she caused Miss Ivy’s car accident today, and she has not been out of danger yet, how could he not blame her?

How can that be

“It’s not your fault, it’s my fault.” Liam said bitterly.

Ivy had a car accident because she wanted to go to the company to find him.

If he had not ignored her, she would not want to go to the company to find him.

When he found out that he was locked in the room today, he only cared about finding a way to get out, but he forgot that he promised Ivy last night that he would go to her place to eat the ham pasta she made.

He also forgot to call her so that she wouldn’t have to wait for him.

Liam did not ask any more questions and left the ward.

He went back to the door of the intensive care unit.

Seeing the doctor coming out, he hurried up and asked, “Doctor, how is Miss Ivy?”

“She’s still under observation.”

“Why is there still no improvement!” Liam roared in a hurry, then grabbed the doctor’s sleeve and said, “Can you transfer her now? I’m going to transfer her to a better hospital!”

“Mr. Sheldon, of course we won’t stop you if you want to transfer to another hospital, but I have to tell you responsibly that Miss Ivy’s current condition is not suitable for transfer.”

Liam was stunned.

It would be dangerous to transfer to another hospital, but staying here has not improved, what should he do...

The doctor sighed and said, “Mr. Sheldon, why don’t you go home to rest first, and wait for Miss Ivy to recover overnight before checking the situation?”

“No, I’m fine here.” Liam shook his head, turned to find a chair and sat down.

At night.

Meredith and Josiah were still worried about Liam and came to the hospital to see him.

“I knew that he would definitely be like this.” Meredith shook her head and said.

Josiah gestured with his eyes, and Meredith walked towards him.

“Liam, I guess you haven’t eaten for a day, right?” Meredith said while taking out the food in the thermos flask, “You can’t go on like this, Ivy still needs someone to take care of her in the future, and She doesn’t even have a single relative or friend here, if you ruin your health, who will take care of her?”

Liam glanced at the food in her hand and said softly, “I’m not hungry.”

“I know you’re not hungry, but you have to eat something.” Meredith handed the soup in front of him, “I made some chicken soup for you. I remember you said that you liked it very much.”

Liam still didn't answer.

Josiah could not help but say, "Liam, I tell you, I haven't even had a sip of the chicken soup that my wife cooked by herself."

"Yes, I'm not even willing to give him a bite." Meredith nodded in agreement. "So you can't waste it on me, Master Sheldon, not even a drop."

After the couple's persuasion, Liam finally took the chicken soup and drank it.

Seeing him finish the chicken soup, Meredith finally felt relieved.

Josiah said, "I asked my assistant to book a room for you across from the hospital. You can sleep there, and Ivy will probably wake up later."

Liam shook his head. "I don't need to sleep. I can't sleep anyway."

In order to avoid them continuing to persuade him, he added, "I'm waiting here for Ivy to wake up, I'm afraid that she won't find me and that she will be afraid."

"You think Ivy is weak" Josiah said.

"Ivy has lost her memory, only I am the closest to her in her memory." Liam took a bitter breath and raised his eyes to stare at them both.

"If Ivy didn't have amnesia, she wouldn't necessarily need me, nor would she want to see me."

Josiah and Meredith looked at each other, not knowing what to say for a while.

"Meredith, thank you for the chicken soup, just go back" Liam urged.
