

Still Loving You Nonetheless Chapter 1455

Seeing how Ivy was just stuttering over her words, Liam felt heartbroken and pulled her into his arms.

"There now, V, try and calm down now."

He was worried that at this rate, Ivy would become mentally unstable again and she might lose her memories again.

And Ivy who was all worked up earlier started sobbing silently.

Thinking back on all the things that she had done back then, she felt an enormous amount of pain that was suffocating her.

After a while, she uttered softly, "I wish to apologize to Meredith and Cooper personally."

Ivy was not expecting them to forgive her. She just simply wanted to apologize for the wrongs that she had done.

"Okay," Liam patted her shoulders lightly and replied, "Meredith had been wanting to visit you. If you're okay with it, she can come over anytime you want."

"Slightly. But I hope it's just temporary."

"What if it's not?" Josiah hesitated and said, "From what we know of Ivy, she would be reluctant to rely on a man."

"I don't expect her to do that. But I'm just worried that she would mind about the matters between Yanne and me."

"You've already made yourself clear, haven't you?"

"The thing is...Yanne is pregnant."

Josiah was stunned. Later, he sighed, "Oh well. What more can I say."

"Josiah Shelby, aren't you going to help me come up with a way?" Liam sighed helplessly.

"What could I possibly come up with? I can't possibly incite you to force Yanne to get an abortion right? Even if I did, it's not like Yanne is going to listen to you."

This was what troubled Liam the most.

He did not expect that his carelessness would end up getting Yanne pregnant.
