

Still Loving You Nonetheless Chapter 1457

Ivy watched as Cooper walked out of the room, and as soon as Cooper was no longer in sight, she said, in a relieved manner, "Cooper did improve a lot."

"He did, indeed. He's getting much better by the day." Looking at Ivy, Meredith said, "Miss Ivy, Joe, and I already know about everything that had happened. We really don't blame you for anything. So, there is no need for you to apologize to US."

"Miss Ivy, all we hope is that you are well."

Looking back at Meredith, Ivy smiled bitterly. "Meredith, I can finally understand why Joe likes you this much. You are a really nice and kind person."

"That's because I know you are a victim too, you didn't do any of those on purpose," Meredith added, "there were some cases where you didn't want to hurt me and Joe, and you ended up being locked up and beaten up by Mrs. Shelby. Joe and I are both aware of this."

"I'm glad that everything is over and you're finally free."

"I am finally free..." Ivy murmured softly as tears rushed out of her eyes.

had to endure the pain of losing her child in beaten up by Mrs. Shelby. In that case, her child would still be alive and she would still have the coming in between Liam and Yanne's relationship, there was no meaning to quickly apologized, "I'm really sorry.

before saying," Meredith, even though you said that you don't blame me body and said sincerely, "I'm sorry for what I've done her and went on, "because I've been really happy these days and I'm utterly grateful for what I have. That

Nia had made her happy and she did not you," Ivy replied earnestly, "I'm sure someone as kind as you will be greatly blessed for the could sense that Ivy was making plans to leave worried that Ivy would do something out job?" Wearing a smile on her face, she suggested, "I

Maybe I'll give it

Maybe?

Meredith hesitated before saying, "Oh, and about your child..."

Seeing how Ivy's expression started to change, Meredith quickly corrected herself, "I'm sorry Miss Ivy, I just wanted to ask if your child had really passed away."

Not uttering a word, Ivy clenched her fists tightly together.

"I'm not sure if you know about this but I've been through what you're going through now. I thought that Nia had left me and I couldn't take it and lost my sanity in the end. But in the end, I found out that it was just a misunderstanding and Nia was actually still alive."

Ivy was staring at her in disbelief.

Of course, she heard about what happened to Meredith and Nia but she had never thought about the possibility that her child could still be alive.

Mrs. Shelby had even shown her the video of her dead child and there was no reason for Mrs. Shelby to lie to her.

If her child is still alive, Mrs. Shelby would definitely use her child to threaten and torment her.

"Miss Ivy, are you sure that it was your little girl in the video that Mrs. Shelby had shown you? What if it wasn't your little girl?"