

Still Loving You Nonetheless Chapter 1467

Ivy was indeed a doctor, and Yanne knew she was a good one too. However, could Ivy really tell if she was pregnant by just holding her wrist and taking her pulse?

Even if Ivy was blindly guessing, she only needed to sway Liam through pillow talk, and he would probably grab her to confirm whether she was indeed pregnant. However, things had already reached this point, and Yanne could only bite the bullet and continue her acts.

Yanne even deliberately asked her friend to exaggerate her condition just to distress Liam.

The phone call frightened Liam, and he immediately came from his company.

When Yanne heard footsteps, she quickly put down her phone and acted aggrieved.

"How are you feeling?" Liam asked, "what happened? why did you run to Ivy again?"

Then, Liam looked at Yanne and added, "Since you said Ivy is such an evil person, I'll talk to her. Have a good rest."

"Liam!" Yanne called him.

"Anything else?"

"We didn't mean to scold Miss Landers in front of you. We just wanted you to show more love to your child," Yanne begged, "Liam, can you please stay with me and the baby?"

"Did you hear that? Yanne's request is straightforward—She just wants you to stay and accompany her and the baby. That's not a ridiculous request, right?" Madam Sheldon said angrily.

Even though Liam did not want to dwell here any longer, he could only stay obediently when he saw Madam Sheldon blocking the door, looking as if she would not let him leave.

After all, there was no benefit in clashing with his mother. Hence, it was not until Liam had dinner with Yanne and watched her fall asleep that he finally left the ward and visited the hospital where Ivy was.

Ivy had already turned off the lights and was about to go to bed. When she saw Liam coming in, she looked at him suspiciously. "Aren't you supposed to be with Miss Young?"
