

Still Loving You Nonetheless Chapter 1496

Ivy was initially not convinced, but she was afraid that her reluctance would provoke his domination, so she could only nod and admit it. "Yes, if you were to continue on this way, I really won't be able to take it, so be good and go and sleep."

"Are you coming with me?"

"Yes." Ivy followed him to the bed.

Liam hugged her. He sighed in satisfaction and said, "It's so great to have a wife. Every single second is like a celebration."

Ivy chuckled and patted him on the head. "If it's so great having a wife, why didn't you have one earlier?"

"Sorry, I misspoke," Liam corrected himself, "it's so great to have V. Every single day spent with her is like a celebration."

"Okay, go and sleep."

"Why are you rushing me to sleep?"

"Because Siena is almost done with school in a while. I still have to go pick her up, go get groceries, and make dinner," Ivy said dotingly, "but don't worry, I'll accompany you until you sleep before going."

"You don't have to go get groceries and make dinner tonight."

"Why?"

tonight. I hired a

at him curiously. "You even have guests

the Shelby Group, but not by a lot,

"That's true." Ivy nodded.

then, the Sheldon Group was already doing well. Their had been abroad for all these years, she had been paying attention to the matters regarding the Sheldon family. After all, her heart was with one of the

nothing to do with is it?" Ivy was getting even more curious. "Is really considered," Liam said, was being, Ivy could only sigh, "okay then,

"I guess so."

patted his arm once more. "Let's

and fell asleep

to pick Siena up from school. Ivy did not get up from the bed immediately, she stayed next to Liam and help but reach her fingers out and gently traced

She suddenly remembered the first time she met him back then.

were equally handsome, equally

She remembered that she was accidentally splashed with juice by a bad friend. Josiah merely glanced at her coldly, looking down on her for being useless, yet Liam went into the crowd and pulled her away.

She liked Liam right at that moment. At that time, she was only about ten years old.

Love at first sight probably felt that way.

"Liam, thank you for not forgetting me." Ivy leaned in and kissed him on the lips.

Liam was perhaps exhausted. He was sleeping soundly.

Ivy tenderly smiled, she carefully moved his arm away from her waist before getting up to go pick Siena.

Siena had been extremely happy for the past few days because she had her Daddy and Mommy sending her to and picking her up from school.

Seeing Ivy, she rushed over to her.

"Mommy, you're up!" Siena's face was beaming under the sunset. Her smile was as bright as the sun.

"Daddy said that you were too tired, so you needed rest." Siena, who has only watched a few love movies, naturally, did not understand what this meant.

She thought that Ivy was too tired of taking care of her for the past few days.

She even said understandingly, "Mommy, thank you for taking care of me. In the future, I'll take care of you, okay?"