

Still Loving You Nonetheless Chapter 1502

sitting on his lap and hugging his neck with a smile. "Do I need to make up for you as well? Say sorry to you?"

"Yes, of course."

"I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I was wrong. I shouldn't have kept it from you for so long. I shouldn't have kept the news about Siena's from you until now, okay? ■

"Do you think I'll let you off with just that?" Liam was not satisfied.

"Then what do you want?"

"The rest will be paid in the evening."

"Okay, double compensation," Ivy responded generously.

Hearing her say that, Liam was extremely satisfied.

He did not mind his daughter's presence at all. He instructed her, 'Siena, turn around. I'm going to kiss Mommy."

"Why can't I see you kiss Mommy?" Siena was puzzled.

He got closer and closer, his hot breath on her face.

Ivy pushed him away a little. "Don't force like this, or I'll get nervous and can't remember."

"Are you still nervous in front of me?" Liam did not believe it.

"Why not? You should look at how scary your face is now."

"Tell me."

"When the three of us were drinking, I got you and Joe drunk together, and then sent each of you back to the hotel suite to rest, and then..."

Then you poured me a glass of water to drink." Liam took her words and continued on her behalf. "So you drugged me at that time?"

Ivy coughed dryly and said, "So you still remember that I poured you a glass of water."

"Ivy, you are awesome!"

Ivy dodged Liam's gaze for a moment, and she continued to say, "As for how it felt, you worked really hard at the time, and it felt pretty good. We were at it until three or four in the morning, and then you fell asleep. I helped you get dressed before I left."
