

Snatched 1041

Chapter 1041 Awkward Scene

Maura tried to prevent the embarrassing thing from happening. She called the boss of the cake shop not to deliver the cake, and the boss agreed on the phone. But the next second, the staff pushed the engagement cake, which was more than one person high, into the hall.

The guests looked at the two beautiful little action figures on the cake and knew that the Chambers family would announce Maura's wedding date, so they all congratulated Maura.

But some guests asked curiously, "Isn't the Chambers family going to announce the wedding date?"

Why didn't Mr. Gollust come here?"

Some guests guessed something from Maura's ferocious expression. They whispered.

"It seems that Mr. Gollust is going to break a pledge of marriage. Otherwise, he would not leave his fiancée here alone."

"Have you heard this? There was a position change in the Gollust Group in the past two days, and Mr. Gollust is no longer the general manager."

"Don't you know that Mr. Gollust and his assistant, Freya, are a couple? They've been together since college, and he always took Freya with him wherever he went. I heard some news from the staff of the Gollust Group that he accompanied Freya back to her hometown."

Someone said, "Even if Miss Chambers can get married, she probably won't be happy."

Maura planned to keep her smile and cut the cake to pretend that everything was going well.

But listening to the guests' discussion, she knew that she would only be a laughingstock even if she kept smiling. She rushed forward and pushed down the tall cake.

"Get out! Get out of here!" She roared at the guests.

Because of her wealthy family, Maura was arrogant. She had never been so humiliated.

She couldn't stand others pointing at her and talking about her. Even their sympathetic eyes would make her feel uncomfortable.

But at this moment, these people were commenting on her marriage.

Maura lost her head. While yelling at the surrounding guests, she also picked up the cake on the ground and threw it at those gossipy people who liked to talk about others.

Those who came to the birthday party were all famous in this city. They couldn't bear being scolded and treated rudely by Maura.

They left the banquet hall and shouted, "I would never accept the Chambers family's invitation. Even if you beg me, I won't come!"

The Chambers and Gollust families feared Maura would continue doing something extreme, so they hurried forward to stop her.

Maura's extreme behavior was restrained, and the party was ruined.

She ruined her previous good reputation and the Chambers family's reputation.

She blamed herself and fell to the ground sadly, covering her face and crying loudly.

"Don't cry, Miss Chambers. You deserve better. It's Hayden's fault. He doesn't cherish you."

Brian comforted Maura.

But Maura said, "I don't care. I want to marry Hayden. He made me notorious, and he must stay in hell with me. I won't let him go!"

Seeing her crazy state, Brian suddenly realized that such a woman was not suitable for Hayden and the Gollust family.

Maura ordered the engagement cake. Even though he had repeatedly reminded her that Hayden might not be here, she insisted on going her own way.

Her birthday party was ruined, but she blamed the Gollust family for all her faults.

She was a crazy woman!

Brian was also angry. He said, "It's none of my business."

Then, he left the banquet hall quickly.

In this situation, the Chambers family could only persuade Maura.

But Maura didn't listen to them. The next day, She knew that Hayden stayed with Freya in her hometown, so she immediately went there.

Chapter 1042 Blame Them

In the McBride family.

Hayden diligently helped Freya's parents do farm work these few days. Her parent treated him as a prospective son-in-law.

There was a family banquet this morning. They allowed Hayden to appear at the banquet as a prospective son-in-law.

Hayden wore a haze blue shirt with a long black suit.

Although he got tanned quite a bit in the countryside these days, it didn't hide his noble aura. His appearance was outstanding. The McBride family's relatives liked him very much.

Since Freya and Hayden went to the McBride's residence, these relatives surrounded Hayden and talked to him warmly.

Fortunately, Hayden had been the leader of a big company. Even if a group of people surrounded him, he could answer their questions and talk to them with ease. Besides, he still had time to pass coffee to Duncan and Maeve and ask if Freya was cold.

Therefore, the relatives of the McBride family praised him even more.

But no one talked to Rose and her husband, Gaven Willis, since they entered the hall. They could only sit silently in the corner.

Rose looked at Hayden and Freya, who were surrounded by many people. She felt inexplicably depressed.

"Why don't you go out and help others?"

Rose was angry, so she vented her anger on Gaven.

But Gaven was most disgusted by women's irresponsible remarks, especially in front of many relatives.

He suddenly slapped Rose.

"Are you commanding me?"

This slap was hard, and all the relatives turned to look at Rose and Gaven.

"What's the matter? Why did you quarrel?"

"Can't you watch your actions? Today is Hayden's first time participating in our family banquet. Don't scare him!"

These relatives scolded and blamed Rose, but no one comforted her.

Rose felt aggrieved and ashamed. She burst into tears and yelled at them hysterically.

"We are always quiet, but you only care about money. Freya's boyfriend is rich, and you all focused on pleasing them. We are poor, so you ignored us!"

Rose even pointed at Duncan and said, "Uncle, before I married Gaven, you said he was a good man.

If it weren't for you, I wouldn't have married him, a loser! He doesn't work, stays at home, and even hits me when he gets angry..."

Then, she scolded Hayden and Freya, "You live a happy life. Why do you have to show off and embarrass me? Right, you are rich. So what? What is the big deal?"

Everyone did not expect Rose to turn the lively family banquet into a criticism meeting. For a while, they look at each other.

Those people who Rose scolded also became the focus of the discussion. Everyone glanced at Duncan, Hayden, and Freya.

Even if Rose's parents apologized repeatedly, they could not alleviate the embarrassment.

Finally, Hayden said, "It shouldn't be my turn to say these words, but you are married and still can't understand this truth. So I think it is necessary to wake you up."

As soon as Hayden spoke, Maeve pulled him and tried to stop him from speaking.

Rose always liked to be shrewish and make a scene for no reason.

After marrying Gaven, she would make trouble every month.

She had blamed Duncan several times because he praised Gaven as a good man.

They endured Rose's scolding all the time. After all, they were relatives and had to contact each other.

But Hayden said, "If you don't make some things clear, she will always think it is your responsibility."

Chapter 1043 Married the Wrong Person

Duncan probably thought Hayden's words made sense, so he dragged Maeve to stop her persuasion.

So, Hayden said, "You said that Freya and I deliberately showed our affection in front of you, but in fact, this is our life normalcy."

Freya also nodded.

Hayden didn't promise to marry her at the very beginning, and their relationship was not as good as it was now. But since Hayden knew that her bronchitis would flare up whenever she caught a cold, he would always pay attention to her if she felt cold in winter.

So today, they didn't make public display affection.

Then, Hayden said, "You said everyone pleased us because we are rich. Actually, I suppose you might be wrong. We noticed their relatives, so they are willing to chat with us."

Hayden continued, "I also admit that I am trying to please them today, but I want to become a family with them and be a member of the McBride family. So I paid a little more attention to them. So I think there should be nothing wrong with it!"

The relatives of the McBride family felt what Hayden said was reasonable, so they all nodded and looked at him with admiration.

Their discussion made Rose and Gaven lower their heads in shame.

But Hayden didn't stop.

"In the end, you kept saying you married Gaven because of Duncan's praises. Over the years, you have blamed your unfortunate marriage on Duncan. But don't you think that when you asked other relatives, what did they tell you?"

"Your personality is paranoid, and you won't easily repent of the things you believe. Even if they denied Gaven at that time, you would think they did not hope you live well. So I believe that most of the relatives praised Gaven at that time. But after you knew Gaven's true colors, you dared not to blame those people but only blame Duncan. In a word, you think Duncan and Maeve are honest and easy to bully."

Rose's head lowed her head because Hayden exposed her real thoughts.

She had an unfortunate life and wanted to find someone to take this responsibility.

Duncan was honest, generous, and kind. So she simply blamed her responsible person on Duncan.

She had mocked and scolded Duncan overtly and secretly these years. But Duncan had never taken her words seriously.

Unexpectedly, all of her thoughts were exposed by Hayden in front of so many relatives.

Rose felt guilty and sad. She began to cry. "But if I don't blame him, how can I survive this unlucky marriage?"

Her life was unhappy, and she was not allowed to hate others. Then, she had no purpose in life at all.

But Hayden asked, "Do you want to hate others to improve your life? You should ask yourself. When you first married, was your life as messed up as it is now?"

Rose recalled that when she and Gaven first got married, Gaven was different from what he was this year. He wouldn't hit her from time to time, and even say something considerate and take the initiative to help her with housework.

At that time, their lives were still sweet, even if they had little money.

When did Gaven become a loser like this?

Since she heard that Freya found a rich boyfriend, she blamed Gaven and scolded him for no money, complaining that she married the wrong person.

It was also from that time that Gaven slapped her for the first time and became decadent.

Chapter 1044 His Fiancée

Rose suddenly realized that all the faults were on herself.

Her unceasing complaint made Gaven become irritable and lose confidence in this marriage. In the end, he turned all the grievances into violence.

Only then did Rose realize that the person she should have hated the most was herself.

She would have gotten an ordinary and happy life if she hadn't been too greedy.

She burst into tears again but did not argue with Hayden again this time.

After Hayden finished speaking, he went on to chat with other relatives.

At the dinner later, he made a toast to Rose and Gaven, "What I said was a little impolite, so don't take it seriously. I just really want to be a member of the McBride family, and I hope you two will get better."

Rose lowered her head guiltily and did not speak.

On the contrary, Gaven picked up his wine glass, drank happily, and even thanked Hayden.

Gaven knew what their problem was, but he was not good at expression, so he could only turn his anger into violence to stop Rose from saying more hurtful words.

But Hayden said it bluntly and helped them make it clear.

At least it could make Rose realize the problem and start to repent.

Ross made up with Gavin. The atmosphere of the banquet became even better.

After the family banquet, everyone was about to go home when they saw a luxury car on the side of the road.

The people in the village had never seen such a luxury car. They all looked at the car curiously.

Hayden stared at the car and suddenly had a bad feeling.

He recognized that it was Maura's car.

Freya noticed that Hayden's expression had changed all of a sudden. She immediately realized something was wrong.

"Wow, what's the brand of the car? Look at its logo! The car looks expensive!"

"Even if the tires are covered in mud, it looks shiny."

Maura opened the door and got out when the villagers were talking about the car.

She wore a good-looking black woolen coat with a belt tied around her waist, and her long curly hair fell around her shoulders.

She wore sunglasses. When she went to Hayden and stood in front of him, she slowly took off her sunglasses and smiled.

Not only Freya's relatives but even the villagers watching the car on the side of the road noticed that this beautiful woman was coming for Hayden.

Therefore, everyone did not leave in a hurry but quietly gathered around to watch.

Maura stood in front of Hayden and smiled.

She asked, "Hayden, you haven't seen me for a few days. Don't even recognize me as your fiancée?"

As soon as these words came out, almost everyone was shocked, especially the relatives of the McBride family.

Hayden participated in the family banquet and greeted all the relatives. Everyone accepted and recognized him as the future son-in-law of the McBride family.

But that woman came here and said she was Hayden's fiancée!

What on earth was going on?

Everyone looked at me each other and glanced at Freya, Hayden, and the beautiful women.

In addition to doubts, there was more gossip.

Hayden knew that he could not let Maura mislead the crowd. Otherwise, the rumors in the village would push Freya and her parents into hell.

So he immediately refuted Maura, saying, "I have already proposed to call off the engagement. You are not my fiancée. My fiancée is only Freya!"

Chapter 1045 She Is My Only Love

Maura didn't expect that Hayden would deny it so directly. She could no longer maintain elegance.

"You get engaged with me. Now, you want to call off the engagement at will. Hayden, I'm not the one to be bullied!"

The short conversation made the onlookers guess that Hayden and that woman named Maura were an unmarried couple.

In this case, Freya's situation was embarrassing.

Then, those villagers who were jealous of Freya for finding a wealthy boyfriend began to ridicule her.

"I thought she was a rich man's girlfriend. It turned out that she's just a mistress!"

"It's no wonder that rumors spread all over the city. It turns out that she is both an assistant and a mistress. She hooked up with her superior and slept with him!"

Those villagers did not lower their voices. They deliberately discussed loudly. Their sarcastic words and laughter reached Freya and her parents' ears.

Duncan and Maeve were embarrassed, let alone Freya.

She stood there frustrated, like an abandoned puppy, looking dazed and at a loss.

Seeing Freya's expression, Hayden knew that she was very hurt.

He explained, "Freya and I have been together since college. It's my fault. I got engaged to another woman behind her back and still loved her. But in the end, I found that she is my only love. So I intend to call off the engagement and marry her..."

Hayden blamed himself for all the faults, making the crowd puzzled. At the same time, Maura felt extremely embarrassed.

She yelled at Hayden hysterically, "Hayden, why did you treat me like this for that woman? She is just a farmer's daughter!"

Maura still wanted to say something, but Duncan hurriedly stepped forward and stopped her.

"If you have anything to say, find a place and talk to Hayden."

Hayden knew that Duncan didn't want the villagers to listen to gossip and didn't want Freya to be hurt by these contemptuous remarks.

He hurriedly said, "Okay. I'll find a place to talk to Maura first. Duncan, please take Freya home with Maeve first. She drank a lot tonight, and she will feel uncomfortable."

Hayden wanted to hold Freya's hand and tell her a few words, but Freya looked very sad. She dragged her parents away without even looking back.

Seeing this, Hayden dragged Maura to the nearby river to talk. It was cold there.

The crowd saw that the main characters of this gossip left, and there were no interesting things to watch, so they left.

The river still ran in winter.

The cold wind blew, bringing the smell of damp and green grass.

Maura stood by the cold river. She didn't like this smell and hated the damp and cold temperature here.

But what was colder than her body was her heart.

Hayden brought her here and asked coldly, "What the hell do you want and then agree to break off our engagement?"

Maura was annoyed. "I said I would not agree. It was you who decided to get engaged to me at first.

Even if you regret it, you can't call it off. I won't let you abandon me."

"We will not be happy if we get married." Hayden never expected that Maura had such a crazy side.

"I don't care. I want to be with you all my life!" Maura stared at Hayden. She looked almost mad.

"But I don't want to be with you. If you want any compensation, just say it. I will give it to you if I can do it."

Hayden's words angered Maura. "Why do you want to be with Freya? Am I not as good as her? I am more beautiful and capable than her! And my family background is many times better than hers!"

Chapter 1046 I Only Want You

Hayden shook his head, then looked at the cold moonlight in the sky.

"Actually, liking someone is not because of how perfect she is. She is the only one in my heart, and I want to see her when I wake up every day."

Hayden persuaded Maura earnestly, saying, "Maura, you will meet such a man one day. He will wish to give you the best in the world every day. But that person is not me. Do you understand?"

But Maura said, "I don't want anyone else! I only want you! Hayden, I only want you!"

Others thought Hayden chose Maura. But in fact, Maura had a crush on him many years ago.

When Hayden and the Gollust family said that they wanted to make connections with the Chambers family through marriage, Maura was very excited.

So even after Donny investigated and told her that Hayden's first love still stayed with him, and the relationship between the two was ambiguous, Maura still agreed to be engaged to Hayden.

Although she found out Hayden had a relationship with Freya after she got engaged, she didn't show anything.

She thought she had enough time to win Hayden's attention.

Unexpectedly, before her happiness started, Hayden stopped it.

But Maura knew that Hayden was determined to leave her today. It would be futile to continue the conversation.

"You'll regret what you did to me today!"

Maura said this and left quickly.

Hayden thought Maura figured it out, so he didn't think too much and went back to the McBride House.

At this time, Duncan and Maeve were in the living room.

Freya lowered her head with a guilty look.

Hayden quickly explained the matter between him and Maura to them, "It's not Freya's fault. I don't want to let her go."

He said and tried to hold Freya's hand, but Freya pushed him away, so he tried again until Freya no longer broke free from his hand.

Freya's parents didn't speak during that process. Seeing Hayden hold Freya's hand, Duncan finally spoke.

"Hayden, we'll talk about your relationship with Freya after you have settled those matters."

"But..."

Hayden was worried that Duncan didn't want him to be with Freya anymore.

But Duncan said, "You'd better solve those things first. Otherwise, the outsiders will discuss Freya. I don't want my daughter to be called a mistress."

Hayden wanted to say something more, but he knew Duncan and Maeve McBride couldn't accept Maura's relationship with him.

In the end, he could only say, "Well. I'll go home tomorrow and solve these matters."

Duncan and Maeve's mood was ups and downs today. They were tired and soon went back to their room to sleep.

Hayden hurriedly followed Freya back to her room as soon as they left.

"Freya, are you still angry with me? Don't be angry, okay? I'll come back to you as soon as I settle these matters."

He hugged Freya from behind.

But Freya said, "If I got angry with you every day, I would have died of anger. I was sad and self-condemned. I caused my parents to suffer these rumors."

Hayden turned Freya to look at him and said, "Freya, I promise you. After I settle everything well, I won't let such a thing happen again."

He continued, "I suddenly had an idea after I saw the fish raised by your father in the past two days. I plan to build an ecological farm in this village and sell the wheat and fish to other cities."

That night, Hayden hugged Freya and didn't do anything. He said many things, including the matters he would deal with and his plans for his career.

Chapter 1047 The Unknown Future

"Tomorrow, I will quit as the general manager of the Gollust Group and hand over everything.

"I have some savings over the years and plan to invest some money in the village to build an ecological garden. Some are open to people in the city to visit and experience rural life, and some are used to plant green food and sell agricultural products to the city.

"In addition, I plan to start e-commerce. This business in New York has the best development prospects, so I plan to go to New York to implement this business.

"When the e-commerce is ready, I need you to inspect..."

Freya knew that Hayden worked hard to build their future and tried his best to connect everything with her, trying to make her feel involved and have confidence in their future.

She leaned in his arms and was full of expectations about their future.

Early the next morning, Hayden was about to leave.

When Freya sent him away, she still cried.

"Freya, trust me. I will never leave you alone again."

Hayden held her tightly and promised.

"I know," Freya said. Tears fell down her cheeks.

But no matter how hopeful Hayden promised, they knew their future was full of obstacles.

Not to mention other things, the Gollust family alone was a big challenge to Hayden.

Brian put a lot of effort into grooming Hayden these years. He would never let his son marry a country girl, who had no help to Hayden's career. What was more, his son even decided to give up everything he owned for that country girl.

So Hayden would face a great challenge after he returned to the Gollust family.

In addition, his road to entrepreneurship was not that easy.

"Can Hayden withstand these pressures and stick to our love?"

The more Freya thought, the more she felt their future was bleak.

She wanted to go back with Hayden to overcome these difficulties, but her parents didn't let her go with him.

Hayden was a treasured son of his parents, and Freya was their dear daughter.

They would not let Freya go back with Hayden and be hurt by the Gollust family.

What would Freya do if Hayden couldn't bear the pressure from his family and finally chose to inherit his family business?

So this time, Duncan and Maeve did not compromise. Freya felt even more helpless.

"Don't be afraid. I will make a video call with you every night. Freya, trust me, okay?"

"By the way, I prepared a gift for you and put it at the bedside. Go home and remember to open it."

Under Hayden's comfort, Freya finally stopped crying. She tried her best to smile and watched Hayden leave.

But she burst into tears when he left.

In the end, she had the strength to walk back to the room only by wanting to see what gift Hayden had prepared for her.

The gift Hayden prepared was a small USB flash disk.

Freya turned on the computer and found that the contents in the USB flash disk were her group photos from dating to the present and their individual photos of each other.

Some were taken on campus, and a few were taken together in their graduation caps.

As time went by, their outfits in these photos gradually became mature, and their appearance began to fade away from youthfulness.

Among them were a few photos taken in the village recently.

In these few photos, Hayden's smile was obviously brighter than when they were in the city and on campus.

Freya thought it should be why Hayden gave her these photos as gifts.

He hoped she could know that this kind of life was what he yearned for the most, and it also made him the most relaxed and comfortable, and he wouldn't leave her.

After watching these photos, Freya's mood calmed down a lot.

When Hayden called her at night, she could even smile at him.

Chapter 1048 A Man of No Scruples

"Freya, why are you smirking?" Hayden might be in his room, and the surroundings were quiet.

"It's nothing. You look so silly in these photos, and I was amused," Freya said.

"You're stupid too. From college to now, you're still a silly girl!"

While coaxing Freya, Hayden didn't forget to say sweet words, tempting her not to give up on him.

He said, "Keep these photos for me. I will use them at our wedding and tell everyone we are the happiest couple from school to marriage. I want them to envy us."

Freya wrinkled her nose and said shyly, "Humph! Who is going to marry you?"

Unexpectedly, Hayden smiled evilly and asked, "If you don't want to marry me, why did you agree to give me a baby?"

Freya thought of the crazy night and blushed uncontrollably.

Fearing that Hayden would tease her, she quickly changed this subject.

"How about you? Did your family embarrass you?"

Hayden said, "It's better than expected."

At least his father didn't force him to marry Maura. He just said to let him find someone who was matched for marriage.

But Hayden refused and even proposed resigning from the position of general manager of the Gollust Group. Brian was furious.

Brian also said, "I thought you were the most like me among my children. To achieve success, you would take advantage of anyone or anything. But in the end, you decided to give up everything you have for that country girl!"

When Brian was young, he fell in love with a woman, Mabel Deleon.

But Mabel's family background was not good, so the Gollust family did not accept her.

Brian could only accept the engagement arranged by his family and keep a secret relationship with Mabel.

To win a project, he even sent Mabel to a business partner's bed who liked her.

Mabel collapsed when she knew what had happened. But Brian promised he would treat her better if she continued to stay with him.

Things didn't go as he expected. No woman could accept the man she loved to take advantage of her.

Not long after that matter, Mabel left him. He didn't get any news of her for decades.

Brian put his attention to his family. But when he was drunk, he would stay in the study and secretly watch Mabel's photo.

He never regretted his decision. He would only feel sad when he was drunk.

He had long known about Hayden and Freya's relationship.

So he always felt that Hayden was the younger clone of him, who could do anything for benefit.

They were the most suitable for doing business.

Brian planned to hand over all the Gollust family's business to Hayden after he married a suitable woman.

But he didn't expect Hayden to back down at such a critical period. How could he not be angry?

Hayden told Brian, "Dad, I don't want to be like you to live the rest of my life with regrets and pain."

"Regret? Pain? I don't have it!" Brian was furious, like a cat whose tail was stepped on.

Hayden said, "I saw the photo of the woman hidden in your study. My mom should have seen it too. We knew you would look at that photo in the study when you get drunk."

Brian paused for a moment but quickly came to his senses. "That photo is just a symbol of the good memory of my youth. I just look at it occasionally. It doesn't mean that I regret it."

He didn't regret how he treated Mabel back then. Otherwise, the rest of his life would have been a joke.

Chapter 1049 Rejected Her Call

"It's good if you don't regret it. I wanted to tell you that I saw a woman who was very similar to the woman in the photo..."

Hayden continued, "But I guess you don't want to see her either."

Brian froze.

"Hayden saw a woman very similar to Mabel!

Could that be Mabel?

Is she still in this city?

How come I haven't heard from her for so many years?"

Brian thought in surprise. But after a while, he calmed down, thinking Hayden was lying to him. He said coldly, "I don't want to see her. I am different from you. After all, I will never give up my career for a woman."

Hearing what he said, Hayden smiled. "Okay, since you don't want to see her, there's no need for me to tell you what I've investigated."

Hayden thought the conversation was meaningless, so he returned to his room and made a video call with Freya.

He felt at ease when he saw Freya's smiling face.

"From tomorrow on, I have to deal with some taking over work and meet a few entrepreneurs in New York. I may be busy in the coming days. But don't worry. I will make a video call with you when I finish my work."

Hayden did what he said. No matter how late he was busy every night, he would make a video call and chat with Freya.

What Freya looked forward to the most was the video call from Hayden.

But she could see that Hayden's eyes were getting tired gradually. Occasionally, he would fall asleep before chatting for a few minutes with her.

Hayden was fighting for their future, and Freya didn't want to be idle.

She used the funds invested by Hayden to start ecological agriculture in the village.

According to Hayden's previous idea, Freya packaged the agricultural products and invited two well-known online celebrities to start live sales.

Many villagers initially questioned the construction of ecological agriculture, and some people even opposed it.

Freya didn't argue with them. She started selling the fish her father raised, and the live-streaming background was the fishpond.

Then, they used the method of placing an order in the live room and catching and packing immediately, which attracted many netizens to watch and place orders.

A week later, the first batch of buyers gave feedback, saying that the products sold in this live room were good, the fish was much fresher than the supermarket's, and the taste was also good.

With the promotion of customers, the live room attracted many netizens.

Time passed quickly. At the very beginning, no one was interested in the live room. But a month later, the live-streaming had been watched by countless netizens, and the supply exceeded demand.

The McBride family relied on the income from the live-streaming and suddenly became the family with the most substantial income in the village.

Other villagers learned that the McBride family had earned money that would take them several years to make in a short time, and they also began to believe in Freya's promotion and sales model. They signed consignment contracts with her and let their agricultural products be sold in the live room.

There were no middlemen to earn the price spread. The live sales doubled the villagers' income.

After the municipal government heard the news, they sent an interview team to do an interview program for Freya.

Freya wanted to tell Hayden this news, but he hadn't contacted her for two days.

She finally couldn't help waiting for his call, so she made a video call.

But she didn't expect that Hayden would reject her call.

Chapter 1050 Pregnancy

Upon seeing her video call request being rejected, Freya felt dejected.

"Freya, I made some chicken soup for you. You should eat it quickly. You've been looking thin lately."

As Maeve brought the chicken soup, she noticed Freya staring at her phone absentmindedly and could guess what was going on.

In fact, Maeve wasn't very optimistic about Freya's relationship with Hayden.

It wasn't that she thought Hayden didn't love Freya enough, but she felt that the gap between their families was too huge.

Love could be between two individuals, but marriage was about two families.

If one side was never fully accepted by the other family, there would be a growing distance between the couple over time.

Even though Freya never mentioned it, Maeve could still sense that Hayden's contact with Freya had been decreasing lately.

The smile on Freya's face was gradually fading.

Maeve had advised Freya many times about this.

But she was now worried that bringing it up again would only make Freya feel worse. So she tried to persuade her to eat something nutritious instead.

However, Freya wasn't very interested in the chicken soup, but she didn't want to disappoint her mother, so she took a few sips.

As soon as she had the first sip of the soup, Freya felt her stomach turning upside down.

She quickly swallowed it and took several deep breaths to calm herself.

"What's wrong, Freya?" Maeve quickly noticed that Freya didn't look well and gently touched her forehead.

"I'm fine. Just a bit hot! I'll drink it later..." Freya hurriedly replied.

"Well, make sure to finish it. I'll go help your dad. If you're tired, you should rest at home today and not go to the fish farm for work."

Maeve was concerned about Freya but also worried about Duncan, who was busy at the fish farm.

Lately, their fish had gained a great reputation on the live streams, and the sales were exceptionally hot.

They had already started pre-selling fish for the next year, so Duncan had brought in a new batch of fish fry and was meticulously taking care of them, working tirelessly at the fish farm for days.

Previously, Freya used to help Duncan at the fish farm, handle online orders, and sort out sales issues.

Maeve thought Freya might be feeling unwell due to exhaustion, so she insisted that Freya shouldn't work at the fish farm today.

Freya had initially wanted to help at the fish farm, but the thought of the upset stomach earlier and the night she had returned with Hayden, where he pleaded for her to have a child with him, flashed in her mind...

Suddenly, Freya wondered if she might be pregnant.

The thought worried her, and she became hesitant to go to the fish farm for help.

After Maeve left, Freya stared at the bowl of chicken soup, conflicted for a long time. In the end, she couldn't bring herself to drink it and poured it down the toilet.

In the evening, Hayden finally sent a video call request.

"Freya, what did you want to talk to me about earlier? I was busy at the time and couldn't answer."

Hayden seemed to be at a party, dressed in a suit, with evident redness around his eyes, indicating that he had had quite a few drinks.

At this moment, Freya had already forgotten what she wanted to tell Hayden earlier and was preoccupied with thoughts about whether she might be pregnant.

But they had only been intimate twice without using protection, so it was unlikely she could be pregnant so quickly.

Freya decided that she should buy a pregnancy test and have a serious talk with Hayden after confirming whether she was pregnant or not...