Chapter 1074 His Baby?

Maeve was in a daze when she saw Hayden.

She thought of Duncan's death and the days and nights Hayden had with them.

During that time, seeing that Hayden and Freya engaged in various activities with delight, she and Duncan were happy for them both from the bottom of their hearts.

They even agreed that if Hayden and Freya got married in the future, they would use their life savings to buy them a pair of splendid rings.

Unfortunately, Duncan passed away before seeing Freya get married and bear children.

"No, I'm fine," Maeve said perfunctorily and didn't intend to talk to Hayden anymore.

She passed Hayden and was about to leave.

Hayden just wanted to ask if Freya had a good time during this time.

But Maeve's hasty look made him suspicious.

He even reminded himself of the pregnant woman who asked for directions just now...

"Is Freya..."

Before Hayden could say those last words, he caught the panic in Maeve's eyes.

At that moment, he almost confirmed that the pregnant woman was Freya.

In spite of his condition, he immediately ran in the direction in which the pregnant woman had gone.

Maeve also realized that Hayden must have discovered something and hurriedly chased after him.

At the entrance of the ultrasound examination room, many pregnant women were waiting in line for check-ups.

Freya was among them.

She had reached the third trimester of pregnancy. Either standing or sitting, she felt uncomfortable.

Even if she was just queuing up here for a check-up, she felt uncomfortable.

At this moment, a noise came from behind, which attracted everyone's attention. novelbin

The same went for Freya. She couldn't help but look behind.

A man in a hospital gown ran towards the ultrasound examination room, followed by a middle-aged woman talking plausibly.

"Hayden, didn't you promise me that you would not interfere in Freya's life? What are you doing?"

Freya saw Maeve rushing forward and speaking with reason. She hurriedly looked at the man who was running ahead.

It was Hayden!

It was really Hayden!

Why was he here and wearing a hospital gown?

Also, why did he lose so much weight?

During this period, a lot of news about Hayden was on the TV.

Freya had been trying to avoid it!

As soon as Hayden's name appeared on the news, she immediately changed to another channel.

Hayden's had even become a blocked word on her major news apps.

Also, because Freya kept avoiding Hayden's related news, she didn't know that Hayden had lost so much weight recently.

Perhaps due to overwhelming surprise or a long-awaited longing, Freya kept staring at Hayden's face.

It wasn't until Hayden was about to come to her that she hurriedly lowered her head. She thought that her long hair could hide her face from being recognized by Hayden.

However, Hayden came straight to her.

With the encounter in the small garden just now, Hayden had already memorized her clothes.

"Freya..."

A pair of men's slippers appeared in her field of vision, and Hayden's panting voice sounded above her head. Freya had no choice but to raise her head.

The moment their eyes met, they felt the deep affection and longing in each other's eyes.

Especially Hayden's eye sockets turned red almost instantly.

"It is my baby, right?"

He looked at Freya's bulging stomach. His words were a question, but his tone was firm.

He had been with Freya for so many years, so he firmly believed that Freya couldn't forget him so easily and become pregnant with someone else's baby.
