

Snatched 490

Chapter 490 Byron and Elena

On the other side, after Cora left the coffee shop, she hurried to Byron's villa.

She knew that Nora didn't want to see her now, so if she directly persuaded her, she might not listen.

So she planned to start with Byron and asked him to coax Nora into taking some medicine.

No matter what, Cora needed to make Nora recover first.

But She waited in the villa from dawn to dusk without seeing Byron.

She called his cell phone, but he didn't answer it either.

In desperation, Cora had no choice but to contact Carter again.

"Carter, where is Mr. Hansen?"

But Carter refused to tell her whereabouts and only said, "Mr. Hansen is quite busy today, so he probably won't go back there."

"What is he busy with? I have an urgent matter to find him. Carter, I know you are prejudiced against me, but I really have an urgent matter to find him."

Cora's tone was burning with urgency.

Carter finally compromised. "Madam Hansen was discharged from the hospital today, and the whole family is in the mansion."

"Thank you, Carter. I'll go find him now."

Cora only wanted Nora to take those medicines as soon as possible, so she hung up the phone very quickly.

But she didn't know that Carter actually wanted to remind her not to go there today because there might be scenes she didn't want to see.

The Hansen Mansion.

Although it was a small party, quite a few people were invited to it.

There were many of Byron's right-hand men, including Elena, who was also gorgeously dressed.

"Madam Hansen, congratulations."

When Elena went up to say congratulations, Nora held her hand tightly.

"Elena, you have really worked hard these years. If you hadn't been by Byron's side to take care of him, I can't imagine he would still be able to stand in front of me safe and sound."

"Madam Hansen, this is also Byron's fate. We outsiders only play a supporting role, and the key depends on his personal will."

Elena didn't dare to take the credit because she knew Byron didn't like people eager for quick success.

But she didn't expect that Nora would say this, "I like your modesty the most. So I want to ask your opinion on something."

"What's the matter?" Elena took a sip of champagne.

"I want to entrust Byron to you."

Elena couldn't help it and sprayed the champagne from her mouth.

Really, she didn't expect Nora to have such an idea at all.

"Madam Hansen, I'm sorry. I was just too surprised..."

Elena quickly took a tissue and went to help Nora wipe it.

But Nora said, "It's okay. You just need to tell me if you have the will or not?"

Will?

Elena was among the crowd and quickly caught Byron's figure.

This man was always the most eye-catching, allowing her to capture his existence at a glance.

Even though he was only wearing ordinary white shirt and black trousers tonight, the extravagance of his gestures made people feel palpitations.

Many years ago, Elena also spotted him at Sunda Group through countless people.

From that moment on, the feeling for him was deeply rooted in her heart, making her follow him no matter what.

She really walked to him step by step.

So how could she refuse such an offer?

"Em..."

She blushed and nodded.

Nora happily patted the back of her hand. "Alright then, wait and see."