

Snatched 831

Chapter 831 Repeating the Same Mistake

Georgia was not blind, and soon she saw Lenard's cloth come toward her.

She quickly let go of him and took several steps back. "Lenard, what are you planning to do?"

Her intuition told her that something was wrong with the cloth in Lenard's hand.

At this moment, Lenard no longer had the hypocritical smile he had before, and his calculative expression was beyond words.

"Honey, you're still the person I love the most. Come on, come with me."

He called Georgia affectionately, but Georgia had goosebumps all over her body instead.

"I'm warning you, don't play tricks on me! All members of the Hansen family are here today. If you dare to do anything to me, you will die."

Georgia was not stupid.

Lenard even looked like he was going to kidnap her. How could he say that he still loved her?

Something must be wrong with her brain if she believed him!

As she spoke, she hid her hands behind her back to take out the phone in her bag and call Efren.

The backstage was indeed quite hidden.

After Cora went up the stage to accept Byron's marriage proposal, the backstage staff also followed to the stage, running here and there.

So the only thing Georgia could use to communicate with the outside world was her phone.

But Lenard was sharp-witted. When he noticed Georgia kept having her hands hidden behind her back, he immediately dropped his crutch to rush over and snatch her phone.

"You still want to call for help? In your dreams!"

After Lenard snatched Georgia's phone, he put it in his pocket, then continued approaching Georgia with that piece of cloth.

Georgia was almost forced into the corner by him.

"Lenard, if you dare to do anything to me, you will definitely end up in prison for a long time. By then, you will even lose your current life. Why do you keep repeating the same mistake?"

"You're the one that left me with no choice!"

In Lenard's mind, Georgia always refused to give her body to him was the cause that he fell into Layla and her family's trap!

And right now, he chose to take such a risk because he found out she was cheating on him.

Hearing Lenard's words, Georgia felt that Lenard had gone crazy and there was no way to talk sense into him.

So when Georgia saw his hand coming toward her, she immediately kicked his injured foot.

Lenard's foot hadn't recovered completely, and after receiving the kick, he instantly felt a tremendous pain that he couldn't straighten up.

Georgia took advantage of him squatting down to run away in a hurry.

But sadly, the stiletto heels she was wearing today caused her to sprain her ankle before she could run far.

And because of this, Lenard soon caught up to her after his pain subsided.

Georgia struggled to dodge him, but Lenard grabbed her by the hair.

"Help! Help!"

As Georgia called for help, Lenard immediately covered her mouth and nose with the cloth.

Not long after, Georgia stopped struggling and fainted on the ground.

Lenard looked at Georgia's fainted figure and sneered, then he picked her up and left backstage.

Efren had been waiting for Georgia, even though their seats were not arranged at the same place.

He kept feeling that Georgia was in a weird state just now, and she was even panicking when she ran to find Cora.

He waited at his seat for more than ten minutes, and every once in a while, the people he knew came over to toast him.

Although he was chatting with those people, his eyes kept scanning around the surroundings to look for Georgia.

He didn't find Georgia, but he saw Cora go up the stage to accept Byron's marriage proposal.

The two of them kissed passionately on the stage, which made Efren unable to sit still, wanting to see his sweetheart.

But as he walked around the hotel lobby and still couldn't find Georgia, he suddenly felt agitated.

At the same time, Cora and Byron had just finished their marriage proposal and were getting off the stage.

Efren immediately stepped forward and asked Cora, "Have you seen Georgia?"

Chapter 832 Take Me There!

Cora said, "Georgia was looking for me in the background just now. I think she should still be in the background!"

When Cora saw Efren's nervous look about Georgia, she knew that her previous guess was right, and she even winked at Byron on purpose.

"Then I'll go backstage to find Georgia first." After Efren finished speaking, he slightly nodded at Byron.

Byron still didn't feel that Efren was willing to call him uncle, so Byron just nodded at him and watched him leave.

As Efren walked away, Cora couldn't help gossiping, "Look, this relationship is about to surface."

"Let's talk when it surfaces." Byron rubbed Cora's hair, with tenderness in his eyes that couldn't be concealed.

Cora skipped the topic just now and frowned. "Hasn't Georgia returned to the hall after such a long time?"

"Maybe Georgia meet some acquaintances and talk a little more," Byron said.

Cora thought about it. The people who came to the dinner party today were basically related to the Hansen family.

If Georgia met one or two people at each table and chatted, it would definitely take a lot of time to return to the hall.

At this time, several people came up to toast Byron and Cora.

It was the first time for Cora to socialize with Byron, and she was still not used to it, so she could only temporarily forget about Georgia.

Efren went backstage but did not see Georgia.

On the contrary, there was a staff member who was busy tidying up things at the backstage.

Efren hurried forward and asked, "May I ask if you saw Miss Georgia Hansen just now?"

"No," The staff replied.

This made Efren suddenly have a bad feeling.

Efren quickly took out his mobile phone and called Georgia.

But there was no one on the phone.

Just then, Susan appeared.

"Mr. Serrano, why are you here?" Susan looked slightly surprised.

Efren asked, "Why are you here?"

This trip to New York was Efren's private itinerary.

Including going to Byron's birthday party today, Efren didn't contact Susan to come with him.

So the appearance of Susan was very suspicious.

But Susan obviously expected that Efren would ask these questions, with a smile on her lips, "I have been staying in this hotel recently, and I am afraid that you may need me temporarily."

It was only then that Efren remembered that Susan had indeed sent a message and told him about this before.

Efren nodded and was about to leave, continuing to look for Georgia.

Susan's tone was slightly surprised, "But if you are here, Mr. Serrano, the person who was with Miss Georgia Hansen just now is..."

These words made Efren narrow his eyes immediately. "What is the person who is with Miss Georgia Hansen?"

Susan looked like she realized that she had said something wrong. "It's okay. It's okay. Maybe I just misread it."

Some words had already attracted Efren's attention, so how could he let it go?

Efren immediately clasped Susan's wrist, and his eyes brightened. "What did you see just now?"

"I, I..." Susan felt that her wrist was about to be broken by Efren.

"Say it!" Efren's eyes were filled with ice.

"I just came out of the room and saw Miss Georgia Hansen walking and chatting with a man, and they entered the room next to me. I..."

Susan also wanted to say that she wanted to avoid suspicion, so she went downstairs and walked around, but she didn't expect to run into Efren.

But Efren didn't even wait for Susan to finish speaking, so he asked her directly, "Which room did they enter? Take me there!"

So, Susan led Efren to the door of the room logically.

Up to this point, Susan still had no idea until Efren just kicked open the door.

In the next second, the scene of a young man and woman entangled together also caught their eyes...

Chapter 833 It's a Joke!

"This..." Susan looked terrified by the scene that was happening in the room.

But Susan's hanging heart had returned to its original position.

Fortunately, Lenard was quite open-minded at critical moments.

Otherwise, Susan was still worried that this play would not be effective enough!

At this time, Lenard and Georgia seemed to be very selfless.

Efren was furious and went straight into the room to pick up the man covering Georgia's body.

"Who are you? How did you break into my room with Georgia?" While Lenard was yelling, he was afraid that Georgia would be seen by Efren, so Lenard hurriedly took his clothes to cover Georgia.

But Efren punched Lenard directly, making him roll on the ground several times.

Lenard managed to get up again and started yelling again, "Who the hell are you? I share a room with my girlfriend, but you barge in out of nowhere, and you still hit me!"

The veins on Efren's forehead were almost protruding, and his voice was frighteningly cold, "Girlfriend?

Who do you say is your girlfriend?"

Georgia didn't inhale much medicine, and it just happened to wake up slowly at this time.

The moment Georgia saw this strange room, she was still a little dazed.

"Georgia is my girlfriend. Everyone around us knows it." In order to prove his words, Lenard ran to Georgia's side and put his arms around Georgia. "Georgia, do you think so?"

"What is it?" That kind of medicine made Georgia's mind feel chaotic, and she couldn't think clearly.

So much so that Georgia didn't even seem to notice the disgusting hand that Lenard put on her shoulder.

Lenard urged, "You are my girlfriend! Georgia, tell him quickly that you are my girlfriend."

"I..." Georgia felt a headache as if it was about to explode.

It wasn't until Georgia saw that Efren was standing in front of them with scarlet eyes that she realized what had happened.

"Efren!" Georgia turned her head and saw Lenard's upper body bare and her own clothes in a mess.

She panicked and didn't know what to say.

But Georgia didn't know that she didn't shake off Lenard's hand touching her shoulder, which deeply hurt Efren's eyes.

Efren stretched his slender legs and approached Georgia step by step.

Efren's pupils were scarlet, and his whole body was extremely hostile. Efren looked like a ghost crawling out of hell, which made people fearful.

It was also the first time Georgia saw Efren showing such a frightening expression. Georgia was so frightened that she couldn't help but want to hide herself.

But Georgia didn't know that at this moment, in Efren's eyes, her timidity became her affirmation of Lenard's words in disguise. Because Georgia liked someone else, she was afraid of him.

Anger directly reduced Efren's sanity to zero.

Efren suddenly stepped forward, grabbed Georgia's arm, and dragged her to him.

"Just like Lenard so much, to the point where you want to make a fool of yourself at your uncle's birthday party?" Efren yelled and roared. The anger in Efren's eyes was about to turn into substance.

"I didn't! Don't say such ugly things, okay?" Georgia wanted to explain the current situation clearly, but the effect of the medicine made her unable to piece together her thoughts.

And Efren didn't stop his roar, "No? No? Then tell me, what are you doing with him?"

Efren pitied Georgia so much that he was reluctant to ask her in the hotel.

But Georgia actually had sex with another man behind Efren's back.

This made Efren feel that his previous caution was a joke!

Chapter 834 I Will Fulfill You!

"I didn't, I..." Georgia wanted to say something else.

But Lenard rushed forward at this moment and helped Georgia push Efren away, still speaking plausibly. "Don't touch Georgia! Although my family background is indeed not as good as yours, if you dare to hurt Georgia, I will risk my life to fight you."

Efren originally thought Lenard was an eyesore, but now that Lenard was still running up to him, so it was even more impossible for Efren to be merciful.

So, Efren punched Lenard directly in the face.

The force of this punch was not small, and Lenard was thrown several meters away, bleeding from his nose and mouth.

But Lenard wiped off the blood and quickly got up again. "Even if you beat me to death, the person Georgia loves the most is me, not you."

These words obviously touched Efren's bottom line again, and he went up to punch and kick Lenard again.

Efren was a person who kept fit all year round. The speed and strength of his punches were beyond the reach of ordinary people.

Not to mention, Lenard's leg injury had not healed.

Lenard couldn't parry Efren at all and was beaten to death in a short while.

But Lenard was also stubborn.

Even though Lenard was dizzy from the beating, he still spoke plausibly, "Georgia is with you only because your family background is similar, and she won't be laughed at by people in your circle when you get married... But she promises me that she will be nice to me after you get married, so I can rest assured that I will stay and develop in her company!"

Efren simply grabbed Lenard's hair, dragged him to the corner of the wall, knocked his head down, and smashed it against the wall.

Soon, the walls were covered with blood, which looked very scary.

Seeing this scene, Susan panicked. "Mr. Serrano, there's no need to put yourself in it for such a person."

Susan just wanted Efren to misunderstand that Lenard and Georgia were still inseparable, but Susan never expected that Lenard would add so much drama to himself.

Especially what Lenard just said was a challenge to a man's dignity.

Based on Susan's understanding of Efren for many years by his side, at this moment, Efren wanted to directly kill Lenard!

If this matter happened in Cloudville, it would be easy to solve. After all, all the forces of the Serrano family were there now. But if it was in New York, it would be a lot of trouble.

But Efren didn't seem to hear a word of what Susan said and continued to hit Lenard on the head with red eyes.

In desperation, Susan could only ask Georgia, who was still staring at this scene, for help. "Miss Georgia Hansen, stop Mr. Serrano quickly! I'm afraid this will kill Lenard!"

Georgia came to her senses under Susan's call and was also afraid that Efren would kill Lenard, so she rushed to the two of them, trying her best to stop Efren.

"Efren, stop hitting! Please, stop hitting... You'll kill Lenard like this!"

Georgia didn't feel sorry for Lenard. Because all of this was caused by Lenard.

But Georgia couldn't just watch Efren take Lenard's life!

Nobody would have thought that such an effort to stop Efren would turn bad in Efren's eyes.

Efren saw that Georgia was dressed in rags but tried her best to stand between him and Lenard. So the light in Efren's eyes completely disappeared.

"You really like Lenard so much that you can give up yourself?" Efren's angry roar reminded Georgia of a wild beast.

Georgia didn't know how to answer, and her mind was left blank.

Seeing that she was speechless again, Efren sneered, "In that case, I will fulfill you!"

At the same time as the words fell, Efren dragged Georgia outside...

Chapter 835 She Left

During the runaway, Efren dragged Georgia out of the hotel, stuffed her into his car, and drove away quickly.

Because Byron's birthday party was just starting at this time, most of the people were busy eating and socializing.

And when Efren left, he deliberately chose an inaccessible route, so no one knew that Efren took Georgia out of the hotel in such a cruel way.

Except Susan.

But Susan couldn't take care of Georgia right now. Susan was busy sending Lenard to the hospital.

Lenard couldn't die. Otherwise, once the police intervene, the deal between Susan and Lenard would also surface.

As for Georgia... Let it be fate.

Anyway, with Lenard's words, it was impossible for Georgia and Efren to be together.

On the other side, Efren galloped all the way and soon arrived at the hotel where he stayed before.

Efren dragged Georgia to his suite, and his actions also showed no sympathy.

Even during this process, Georgia kept crying desperately, begging for mercy.

But Georgia's crying didn't seem to have any effect on Efren now.

After a while, Georgia was dragged to the bed in the suite, and then Efren bullied her.

It wasn't until this moment that Georgia seemed to realize that Efren wanted to do something to her.

Then Georgia began to struggle desperately. "Efren, let me go. I didn't do anything. Why are you doing this to me?

"Don't touch me! I warn you. Don't touch me! Otherwise, I will hate you forever!"

Tears blurred Georgia's vision. Her voice was also hoarse from crying.

Georgia even cut off her fingernails in order to resist Efren.

But even so, Georgia still couldn't stop Efren's arrogance.

At the moment of the sinking, Efren announced in a cold voice, "If you can give it to others, why can't you give it to me? If you want to hate me, you can hate me. Anyway, everything is meaningless..."

At first, Efren really just wanted to torture Georgia.

But later, Georgia's beauty still made Efren forget his original intention, and he couldn't stop all night...

The next day was just dawning, and Georgia woke up.

When Georgia moved, the bones all over her body seemed to be falling apart.

The pain reminded Georgia of what happened yesterday.

Georgia turned her head abruptly and saw the man who made her worry.

During this period, Georgia really experienced the beauty of being in love for the first time and also longed for the first time to be a couple with someone for the rest of her life.

But everything yesterday made Georgia realize for the first time how terrifying this man was.

Especially Efren's distrust also hurt Georgia.

Georgia suddenly didn't want to love.

Georgia quietly lifted off the quilt, put on her own clothes, and left.

During the whole process, the man was still in a deep sleep.

That's right, Efren tortured her so much all night, so of course, he desperately needed to catch up on sleep.

But that was good. The two didn't have to wake up and face each other awkwardly.

As for the unhappiness last night, it could be regarded as the end of the love between the two during this period...

Georgia quickly took a taxi and returned to the Hansen Mansion.

Yesterday at Byron's birthday party, the Hansen family was extremely busy.

At this time, they were still resting, and no one knew that Georgia was back.

Georgia went upstairs to take a shower, then simply packed a few clothes, took her passport, and left.

This love made Georgia scarred.

Now Georgia just wanted to find a place where no one was around and licked her wounds...

Chapter 836 Very Self-Blaming

Efren slept until noon.

When Efren woke up, he was still a little uncertain whether what happened last night was his dream or reality.

Until he lifted the quilt and saw the withered red rose on the quilt.

Efren's pupils dilated violently.

Last night... wasn't a dream!

Did Efren really bully Georgia?

And the most important point was this was the first time for Georgia?!

This also meant that Lenard's previous remarks were all false.

His Georgia, even when she was with Lenard, was reluctant to give herself to Lenard. How could Georgia love Lenard deeply?

Thinking deeper, Efren felt that Lenard's previous remarks were full of loopholes.

Moreover, Efren watched Georgia grow up. Did Efren not know what kind of character Georgia was?

But Efren was actually provoked by Lenard's words. Efren didn't trust Georgia to do such a hateful thing to her!

The more Efren thought about it, the more he regretted it. And the more Efren thought about it, the more he blamed himself.

But the top priority was to find Georgia first.

Georgia must have been very ill after bleeding so much last night.

Besides, Georgia must have been terrified that Efren was so fierce to her yesterday.

At this moment, what Efren wanted to do the most was to hold Georgia tightly in his arms and calm down all the uneasiness and anger in her heart.

So Efren went to the Hansen Mansion immediately after washing up.

The Hansen family happened to be having breakfast and were slightly surprised by Efren's appearance.

But Efren said, "I'm going to go abroad for a while soon, and I may not be able to come back to attend Byron's wedding. So while I'm still here in New York, I come here to give the wedding present."

Osborn and Nora thanked Efren with a smile and then asked about Efren's marriage.

Before Efren could figure out how to answer, Cora joked with a smile, "It should be your turn soon.

Right, Efren?"

Efren was slightly surprised, and when he looked up at Cora, he realized that Cora's words must have ulterior motives.

When Efren was in Cloudville, he had also heard rumors about Cora.

It was said that Cora was extremely intelligent and had amazing medical skills, and even cancer had been conquered by her. Such a woman must have a pair of wise eyes.

So Efren thought that Cora had already guessed his relationship with Georgia.

What Cora asked just now was the best proof.

Efren originally planned to answer this question vaguely, but under the gaze of Cora, he had no choice but to answer seriously.

"It's really fast." Efren smiled elegantly and gentlemanly at Cora.

Efren had already done such an intimate thing with Georgia, so he was naturally responsible.

Moreover, this had always been Efren's dream.

The Hansen elders were a little surprised when they heard the news for the first time.

"Really? Congratulations.

"Which family is the lady from?

"What do your parents think of that lady?"

They asked Efren one after another, and Efren answered very seriously.

"Really. She is a very kind person, and I will let you meet when I have a chance."

"We haven't met our parents yet. But she is really nice, and I believe my parents will like her very much."

Seeing Efren full of praise for the lady, Osborn couldn't help but tease Efren, "You must like her very much. Otherwise, I haven't seen you have praised a lady so much..."

Nora also said, "If you like someone, you can't hide your love."

But speaking of this, Nora always felt that Efren's eyes now were very similar to when he saw Georgia before...

Chapter 837 She Went Abroad?

Then Martin ran down from upstairs.

The attention of the Hansen elders quickly shifted to Martin.

"Martin, are you awake?"

"Are you hungry? Grandma has someone prepare delicious toast for you, which can be spread with delicious honey."

After Martin obediently went to greet the Hansen elders, he saw Efren and greeted, "Hello, Efren."

Nora inevitably talked about seniority again, making Martin change his mind.

Efren smiled, "It's okay. Martin is very good."

Martin and Efren looked at each other and smiled. Then Martin looked around, but Georgia was nowhere to be seen, so Martin asked, "Where's Georgia?"

Efren was very grateful to Martin. Otherwise, it would have taken Efren a little more time to politely and unobtrusively ask about Georgia.

"Georgia and her friends go abroad to relax, and it will probably take more than ten days," Nora said.

But to Efren, this news was like a thunderclap on the ground.

"Go abroad?!" Efren lost his composure for a moment and stood up directly.

Efren and Georgia stayed together last night, and he didn't seriously apologize to Georgia!

But after the most intimate thing, Georgia left without saying a word...

It was difficult for Efren not to realize that Georgia planned to break up with him.

"What's the matter? Georgia goes abroad to play. Is there any problem?" Osborn looked at Efren, who suddenly stood up, and Osborn was a little confused.

The Hansen family was relatively free-range for their children, so their children had also developed the habit of traveling with their friends frequently.

Like going abroad for fun, Georgia used to do it quite frequently.

It was just that after talking about Lenard as a friend, the number of times was relatively less.

But even so, the Hansen family would not ask too much. They believed that the children could handle everything on their own.

But Efren's surprised appearance surprised them a little.

It took Efren a while to realize that he had lost his composure, and hurriedly said, "It's nothing. I just happened to have cooperation and wanted to talk to Georgia, but I didn't expect her to go abroad."

After returning to his original seat, Efren asked again, "By the way, which country did Georgia go to?"

"Georgia didn't say anything. Anyway, she knows a lot of languages, so it's fun to go to any country,"

Osborn laughed.

"Georgia hasn't gone out to play for a long time, and it's good to go out to relax. Going out when she is young is nice, or she will not have such good physical strength when she is old," Nora said.

It was just that these words obviously didn't comfort Efren.

Cora even felt that Efren's current complexion was not much better than the one in the morgue.

With that appearance, no matter how Cora looked at it, it seemed that there was something wrong between Efren and Georgia's relationship.

The more Cora looked at it, the more she worried about Georgia.

So when Efren left on the pretext of urgent business, Cora quickly chased him out. "Efren, Georgia didn't go abroad by accident, right?"

Efren knew that Cora and Georgia had a good relationship, so he didn't hide it. "Well, I did something that made Georgia very unhappy yesterday. She might be angry with me and want to break up with me, so she just left."

"Then let me help you find out which country Georgia has gone to." Cora felt that blindly avoiding couldn't solve any problems. It was better to talk about the matter face to face.

Furthermore, Cora felt that since Georgia developed a relationship with Efren, Georgia's overall condition had improved a lot.

Moreover, the two met at the Hansen Mansion before, and Georgia looked at Efren with eyes full of light. Anyone who saw it knew that Georgia liked Efren very much.

Therefore, Cora also wanted to help the two reunite.

After all, people had only a few short decades, and this life was only worthwhile if you were with the person you like.

Then Efren said, "Thank you... I'm going to prepare a private jet now. If you have any news, please contact me. If you can contact Georgia and tell her that I know I'm wrong. I will go to find her immediately and let her take care of herself. Don't do anything foolish."

Chapter 838 He Went to Find Her

After giving some instructions, Efren exchanged contact details with Cora and immediately headed to the airport.

Cora sensed from Efren's tone that this matter was not ordinary.

Cora quickly dialed Georgia's number, but there was no answer, indicating that Georgia was probably still on the plane.

She had no choice but to reach out to Georgia's mother and found out that Georgia was currently flying to the Southern Island. In a hurry, Cora sent a message to Efren.

Consequently, Efren boarded a private plane and set off for the Southern Island.

Before the plane took off, Efren repeatedly messaged Georgia using his work number, as she had blocked his private number.

"Georgia, I'm sorry. Last night, I didn't listen to your explanation, but he kept saying that you liked him, and I completely lost my rationality.

"I did something so unforgivable, and I know that no matter how I explain now, it would seem like I'm making excuses. But I still hope you can give me one more chance. I really can't live without you..."

Efren sent many messages, but Georgia never replied.

Nevertheless, Efren kept editing and sending more content, using every opportunity until the plane took off...

In the evening on the Southern Island, the sunset presented a captivating orange hue.

The Southern Island was scorching hot, prompting Georgia to change into a cooler long dress once she arrived at the hotel.

After a quick tidy-up, she took a walk on the beach alone.

There were quite a few tourists around, but most of them were in groups, couples, or friends.

She was the only one alone.

It felt even more lonely when she saw couples passing by her.

Just yesterday, she had a passionate love affair just like the couple she saw.

But everything came to a sudden halt in just one day.

Until now, she couldn't forget the scenes where Efren couldn't listen, dragged and treated her roughly...

Her body was so sore now.

However, the physical wounds were far less painful than the emotional ones she endured.

Efren's lack of trust had truly hurt her.

She didn't want to see him anymore, and she would never love him again.

In this unfamiliar place, those sorrows were uncontrollable, and tears poured out alongside the warm waves of the sea.

But even if she cried out loud amidst the background sounds of the gentle waves caressing the shore, her sorrow seemed fleeting and insignificant.

She firmly believed that as long as she stayed here for a while, no matter how deep the emotional pain, it would eventually heal...

Efren rushed from New York to the Southern Island and immediately arranged for an investigation into Georgia's hotel reservation details.

Soon, he managed to book a room next to Georgia's.

However, Georgia didn't open the door even after Efren rang the doorbell for a long time.

Helplessly, Efren went directly to the beach near the hotel to see if Georgia was there.

Perhaps the heavens favored him, as amidst the crowded beach, Efren spotted Georgia at a glance.

She had fair skin and was wearing a light blue sleeveless long dress, looking as beautiful as a painting, even among the other tourists.

There were a few young men surrounding her, probably trying to strike up a conversation.

Efren hurriedly walked over and directly wrapped his arms around Georgia's waist, asserting his ownership in front of those young men.

"I'm sorry, but this is my girlfriend, and I'll take care of her myself."

He spoke the local dialect fluently, with an intimidating power that ordinary people couldn't rival.

Georgia didn't expect to see Efren on the Southern Island, so she instinctively wanted to struggle...
Chapter 839 Would an Apology Be Enough?

But Efren held onto her waist tightly and gently tapped her waist a few times.

Georgia quickly understood his meaning. He wanted to help her drive away these annoying young people.

She initially refused, but she didn't have the energy to deal with strangers now, even if they seemed well-intentioned, wanting to help her when they saw her crying alone.

Georgia stopped struggling, and the others assumed they were indeed a couple and spoke kindly.

"Since you're a couple, don't let her cry alone on the beach.

"She was crying very sad just now, and we thought she needed help."

Efren listened and quickly looked down at the woman in his arms.

He saw that Georgia's eyes were swollen from crying, and her nose was red, like a pitiful abandoned puppy.

Efren felt even more remorseful and quickly said, "It's my fault. I will never make her unhappy again.

Thank you all..."

Seeing that Georgia's boyfriend's attitude was still good, the young people said and laughed as they left.

But just as they were about to leave, Georgia immediately broke free from Efren's embrace and walked towards the direction of the hotel without looking back.

Efren naturally hurried to catch up.

"Georgia, it was all my fault yesterday. I didn't listen to your explanation and instead believed what others said. I did so many wrong things to you without caring. I know you're angry with me now. You can hit me or scold me, but please don't ignore me, okay?"

Efren even directly blocked Georgia's path, wanting to hold her in his arms.

She had bled so much last night, and her body must be very uncomfortable now.

In addition to sitting on the plane for such a long time and crying at the beach for so long...

In just a day, she had obviously lost a lot of weight.

He really felt heartbroken.

But as soon as Georgia saw him approaching, she kept retreating.

"What are you trying to do? Don't come near me!"

Her startled appearance immediately made Efren realize that he had been too overbearing last night, leaving a shadow on her.

She was now extremely afraid of him and extremely afraid of him getting close to her.

"Georgia, I won't hurt you anymore. I know I went too far last night, and I will never repeat it."

Efren repeatedly promised that he wouldn't touch Georgia without her permission in the future.

But even so, Georgia was so scared that she ran away.

Efren was afraid of chasing Georgia too closely and scaring her, so he controlled his speed.

But because of this, when he caught up to Georgia's room door, he could only helplessly watch as Georgia closed and locked the door.

In fact, for someone like Efren, the lock on the door of this hotel room was like decoration.

With a little force, he could easily break the lock, forcefully pulling Georgia back into his embrace.

But thinking about Georgia's frightened state just now, Efren withdrew his hand and leaned against the door, saying to Georgia,

"Georgia, don't be afraid. I won't forcefully open the door. I'll wait for you until you open your heart to me again."

However, Georgia hurriedly ran far away and was still out of breath.

It wasn't until she confirmed multiple times that Efren wouldn't barge in like yesterday that she relaxed and sat on the ground.

The soundproofing in this hotel was not very good, so through the closed door, she naturally heard Efren's apology.

But some damage had already been done. Would an apology be enough...

Chapter 840 Is He Sick?

Georgia stayed on the Southern Island for over ten days.

During this time, she purposely avoided running into Efren and never left her room.

Even her meals were delivered directly to her room by the hotel staff.

However, Efren followed her and stayed on the island for over ten days as well.

But unlike Georgia, who had her work team to assist her and the protection from the Hansen family, Efren had to personally handle all the matters, big and small, of Serrano Group.

He had to hold video conferences in his room and take one long-distance call after another.

But in his free time, he would wait for Georgia outside her room in the hallway.

He was afraid that Georgia would slip away right under his nose, so he didn't dare to sleep all night.

As a result, Efren fell ill.

One evening, after finishing her dinner, Georgia felt extremely bored staying in her room all day.

She came to the island to relax, but Efren had blocked her, and she could only stay in her room, which was driving her crazy.

So she packed her luggage on a whim and planned to sneak away tonight.

After buying her flight ticket, she picked up her suitcase and opened the door.

However, just as she opened her door, Efren from the next room seemed to have a GPS tracker on her and also opened his door.

The moment she saw Efren blocking her again, Georgia felt as if her body was filled with lead, making her unable to move.

Her body even involuntarily trembled, afraid that Efren would discover her plan to quietly leave without him and perhaps harm her again.

But the scene she feared did not unfold.

When Efren saw the suitcase next to her, he was stunned.

"Georgia, are you leaving the Southern Island?"

Georgia didn't dare to answer or meet his gaze, afraid of triggering him

As a result, she didn't notice how awful Efren's complexion was at that moment.

But fortunately, even though he didn't get a response from her, Efren didn't have any violent outbursts.

He only said,

"Wait for me. I'll pack my things and leave with you."

Saying that Efren hurriedly returned to his room, presumably to pack his luggage.

At that moment, Georgia saw the opportunity to escape right in front of her.

She even tightened her grip on her suitcase and took a step forward.

But just at that moment, there seemed to be a heavy object falling into Efren's room, the sound deafening.

Then, there was complete silence.

Georgia knew that at this moment, she shouldn't care about anything and just run away.

That scoundrel could be so ruthless to her, and he deserved whatever happened to him.

But her legs went against her rationality, and she walked toward Efren's room.

Then, Georgia saw the tall figure of Efren, over 6 feet in height, fainting on the ground, lifeless.

She knew she shouldn't feel sorry for this scoundrel who didn't believe her and had mistreated her.

But she couldn't help approaching Efren.

"Efren?"

"Efren?"

Georgia called out Efren's name multiple times but didn't receive a response.

Only when she reached out to touch him did she realize that he was burning up with a fever.

He had fainted due to a high fever.

Georgia knew that this was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for her.

Even if she left now and later asked hotel staff to come and save him, it would be considered her best effort.

With her suitcase in hand, she was ready to leave.

However, in the end, she still ended up by Efren's side...