Chapter 851 Patience Sold Out!

After hearing Georgia's words, the Kardon family was a bit confused.

They couldn't figure out that Lenard could work in Georgia's company, so what did he want to do with avenge?

So they still didn't believe Georgia's words, but after hearing what Georgia said, Efren became more serious. "I believe you."

Efren believed in Georgia. The Kardon family felt the pressure again.

Seeing Efren staring at them coldly again, Jennifer almost collapsed.

"We don't know where Lenard is. Miss Georgia Hansen is the last person to see him. Only she can hide Lenard." Jennifer said.

Not only Jennifer, Hadley, and Layla also shifted the responsibility to Georgia.

"It must be Miss Georgia Hansen. They were boyfriend and girlfriend before, and they had a deep relationship. To protect Lenard, she can hide him."

"Yes, it must be her. She violated her uncle Byron's order and arranged for Lenard to work in her company before, so she must have dared to hide him."

The Kardon family didn't want to go through the severe beating just now.

So no matter what, they all shifted the responsibility to Georgia.

Georgia insisted on breaking up with Efren after such an intimate incident, for which Efren misunderstood that Georgia and Lenard had an affair before.

Now that these people had shifted responsibilities on Lenard viciously, Georgia was furious.

"I have nothing to do with Lenard now. Why should I hide him? Are you not afraid of karma for wronging people in such a way?

"I shouldn't have interceded for you just now. I should have let those people beat you to death."

Georgia said.

After yelling at the three members of the Kardon family, Georgia yelled at Efren angrily, "Believe it or not, I didn't hide Lenard."

"If Efren misunderstood that she had something to do with Lenard again this time, she would not only use the power of the Hansen family to make the Kardon family incapable of survival but also break with Efren!" Georgia thought.

Seeing Georgia stomping, Efren thought, how could this girl be so cute?

Georgia looked like a puffy puffer fish.

Efren stared at Georgia and couldn't help laughing.

"Why are you laughing? No matter what you think, I have nothing to do with Lenard! But if you dare to do those things to me again, I will..." Georgia said.

Seeing Efren still laughing, Georgia became even angrier and cursed.

But Efren didn't wait for Georgia to finish speaking and stepped forward to kiss her on the forehead.

Now, Georgia was perplexed.

Efren asked her with great interest, "You will what?"

"I..." Georgia thought for a long time but couldn't believe what to say and became even more annoyed.

Seeing this, Efren rubbed her hair. "Alright, I believe you."

That tone was pampering and indulgent without a bottom line.

"I feel like I'm treated like a child!" Georgia thought.

Sensing that the situation was not good, Georgia immediately backed away a few steps. "Just speak with your mouth. Why use your hands and feet and your mouth!"

Seeing Georgia annoyed and eager to get rid of him, Efren inevitably became sad.

"So, Georgia still refused to forgive me?" Efren thought.

It made Efren realize his patience with the Kardon family was sold out.

"If she still doesn't tell Lenard's whereabouts, bring them back to Cloudville, June will like it..."

Chapter 852 Too cruel?

"June? What is June?" Hadley asked.

Hadley was well-informed and always felt that June, mentioned by Efren, was not like a human being.

"We don't know the whereabouts of Lenard. Since he learned that Miss Georgia Hansen is from the Hansen family, he has always hated us. If I didn't go to him when I was pregnant, he wouldn't show any care for us," Layla said.

Layla had many affairs with men, so she undoubtedly understood Efren's love for Georgia from Efren's pampering tone just now.

Now that Hadley and Layla had shifted the responsibility to Georgia again, it was likely to anger Efren ultimately, so Jennifer decided to tell everything.

Jennifer said, "It's true. Later, Lenard was injured and could no longer do heavy work. Our family planned to wait for the child to be born and send him to the orphanage, then let Layla find another reliable man."

Layla even took a poisonous oath. "Our words are all true. If there is half a lie, God'll punish us."

If the Kardon family had known it would end up like this, they would not have dared to come here today.

Efren stared at the Kardon family, who was trembling, and asked again, "So, do you know if he has contacted anyone during this time?"

Efren's intuition told himself that Lenard could precisely intervene on the point he cared about. And Lenard could completely irritate him and make him go berserk. There must be someone guiding him from behind.

The Kardon family shook their heads one after another, saying they didn't know.

It was Hadley who suddenly thought of something.

"I remember two days before Lenard disappeared, I went downstairs to smoke secretly and happened to bump into Lenard on the phone," Hadley said.

"Who is he calling?" Efren asked.

"I don't know, but I can hear a woman's voice," Hadley said.

Because the environment of low-rent housing was very chaotic, Lenard didn't notice when Hadley approached.

Because of this, Hadley heard a woman's voice vaguely coming from the phone.

Later, Lenard turned around and saw Hadley still showing a slightly flustered look.

So Hadley felt that something happened in the phone call.

"A woman..." Efren pondered for a while and said, "Sell these two women to a prostitute and let the man work in a coal mine."

The Kardon family once thought that they had given all they could to Efren, so Efren could spare them, even though Efren didn't provide any compensation.

Unexpectedly, Efren would sell their mother and daughter to a prostitute and send Hadley to dig coal.

"We have already said everything we can. How can you be this cruel to us?" Jennifer shouted hysterically.

Layla was already old and sold to a prostitute, so she might not be able to get out alive for the rest of her life.

And Layla was so scared that she got up and ran. "I don't want to go to the prostitute. I don't want..."

Layla didn't want to go to that kind of dirty place.

Even if they could come out from there in the future, no one would dare to marry Layla and Jennifer, let alone be the wife of a wealthy family.

Seeing this, Hadley quickly dragged Jennifer away.

But Efren's men quickly caught the three of them in a van they had just driven and then drove away.

It wasn't until the van disappeared that Georgia muttered softly. "Will this... be too cruel?"

They told what they knew, but Efren refused to let them go.

It reminded Georgia of that night when Efren believed Lenard's words and bullied her recklessly...

Chapter 853 Full of Blood?

"Do you think this is cruel?" Efren asked.

When Efren's voice came, Georgia suddenly turned around, only to realize that Efren had come behind her at some point.

"It's cruel..." Georgia said.

Georgia's voice was still cautious, fearing that she would repeat something wrong and anger Efren and fall into the same fate as the Kardon family.

"But Georgia, believe it or not, if I don't send them far away today, they will come to find you some troubles in the future," Efren said.

Moreover, Efren felt that the Kardon family should bear part of the responsibility for the current situation between him and Georgia.

If they could live a good life with Lenard, Lenard wouldn't have so many messy thoughts.

"Then at least wait until Layla gives birth to the child," Georgia said.

Probably they were both women. Georgia always felt it was too cruel to be sent to that place while pregnant.

"Didn't you hear what she said just now? Will the child be sent to the orphanage after birth? Anyway, the child has to go there, so it's not a big deal to get in first," Efren said.

When Georgia heard this, it seemed reasonable.

But when Georgia came back to her senses, she realized that Efren had already stood beside her at some point.

Georgia hurriedly said, "Since the matter is settled, I'll return to the meeting."

Then, Georgia ran into the company like a beast chasing her.

Looking at the back of Georgia running away quickly, Efren became a little more helpless.

Efren wanted to follow in and take a good look at Georgia.

It was just that Efren had to deal with some things on hand now.

Thinking of what would be dealt with, Efren was horrifying cold...

Susan was in the hotel.

In the past two days, Efren had to the country.

But Efren didn't return to Cloudville for long, and Susan didn't go back either.

But Susan's mother probably didn't see her for a long time, so she called her especially.

"Susan, are you okay?" Susan's mother asked.

"What's the matter? I'm in the hotel, and nothing happened! You must be having a nightmare." Susan replied.

Susan comforted her mother.

"It's fine. I did have a nightmare just now. I dreamed that you were bitten in the mouth by a tiger and covered in blood..." Susan's mother said.

When Susan heard the scene described by her mother, she couldn't help but think of June, the tiger Efren raised in Cloudville, and suddenly felt a heart stop.

But when saying this, Susan's mother quickly stopped. "Bah, bah, I must have seen too much animal world these two days."

Susan smiled. "Yes, you must have watched too many bloody scenes, so you have nightmares. Don't watch these lately!"

"I know." Susan's mother paused and asked, "How are you and Mr. Serrano going?"

Susan's parents divorced when Susan was five years old because her mother couldn't bear a mediocre life.

After the divorce, the mother took Susan alone and vowed to train her to be a woman worthy of any heir to a wealthy family.

Susan looked well and was in good shape, much up to her mother's expectations.

In terms of Susan's knowledge, it exceeded.

By chance, Susan's mother met Efren and felt that this man who stood proudly in Clouldville was worthy of Susan.

So Susan's mother planned to get acquainted with Efren's mother and took the opportunity to arrange with Susan to work in Efren's company.

When Susan first came to work at Serrano Group, she could only start from the grassroots.

But later on, Susan knew how to use every opportunity to get close to Efren and successfully became his assistant.

Susan also knew that her mother was more anxious than she was about marrying Efren.

"Mr. Serrano and I are fine," Susan always responded like this.

But Susan's mother was dissatisfied again. "You've said 'good' for so many years. Why don't you consider further relationships? For me, women just become a bit proactive..." Susan's mother said.

Susan had heard these words so many times.

Susan was about to find an excuse to hang up the phone, but the doorbell rang.

Chapter 854 Shift Responsibility?

"Mom, I have something to do here. Hang up first!" Susan said.

Susan hung up the phone without waiting for her mother to speak.

When her mother's voice stopped abruptly, Susan was visibly relieved.

But the doorbell was still ringing, and Susan couldn't help but think of the dream her mother mentioned just now.

Susan was bitten in the mouth by a tiger...

"No!

"Probably not,

"She fooled Lenard that he didn't even dare to show his face, so the things should not be exposed,

"Besides, she has served Efren for so many years and has worked hard without credit,

"No matter how cruel Efren is, he should not be willing to feed her to June." Susan thought.

Thinking of this, Susan quickly opened the door.

It was just that the moment she opened the door, her heartbeat suddenly stopped for a few seconds.

It was Efren and several of his men that appeared outside the door.

Efren didn't show any expression, and neither did his men.

However, after working for Efren for many years, Susan was used to seeing Efren's terrifying aura and soon greeted him as usual.

"Mr. Serrano, what do you want from me?" Susan asked.

Efren was condescending and cast a cold glance at her. "Where is Lenard Sheldon!"

Susan felt her heart suddenly beating as if it wanted to break free and run out of her throat.

But Susan still tried her best to keep a smile and asked Efren, "What, Lenard Sheldon?"

"The previous contact between her and Lenard was deleted entirely, and even the number card was thrown into the river,

"Efren definitely couldn't find evidence. As long as she was calm enough to deal with him, the crisis would be resolved soon." Susan thought.

"Don't play dumb with me! Didn't you let Lenard destroy my relationship with Georgia?" Efren asked.

Efren's voice was so cold that it made Susan's scalp tingle.

But what scared Susan more was that Efren was staring at her coldly.

It felt like a wild beast lurking in the dark, ready to open its mouth and tear Susan apart at any time...

However, Susan still didn't dare to show any timidity.

Susan knew that one could never be timid when confronting ferocious beasts.

"Mr. Serrano, I have worked diligently for you for many years. I am also pleased that you and Miss Georgia Hansen have developed a deeper relationship. But why do you think I will want to destroy your relationship with Miss Georgia Hansen?" Susan asked.

"Then tell me why you happened to attend Byron's birthday party that day?" Efren asked.

Efren had always felt he seemed to have overlooked something until Hadley mentioned that a woman had contacted Lenard.

"A woman....." Efren thought.

Efren immediately understood what he had overlooked.

"It was Susan,

"It was she who led him to Lenard and Georgia's room,

"So, it can only be her!" Efren thought.

"I said that I lived in that hotel! It was very lively because of Mr. Hansen's birthday party that day. I had never seen such a scene, so I just went in and had a look!" Susan said.

Susan was still defending, but she was calm, not like a suspect.

Even Susan quietly praised herself that she was even more capable than a powerful actor.

Susan thought that with her superb acting skills, she could get away with it and even win Efren's trust.

But Susan never expected that Efren immediately ordered his men after hearing her sophistry. "Bring her back to Cloudville and get her to June."

Susan couldn't believe it, looking at Efren's face, shocked.

"Mr. Serrano, you... you want to bring me to June?" Susan asked.

But after the shock, Susan was more hysterical.

"Miss Georgia Hansen and Lenard are inseparable. What can I do? They have an affair. Do you think it will work if you put all the responsibility on me?" Efren said.

But at this moment, Efren jokingly smiled. "That night was Georgia's first time..."

Chapter 855 Love at First Sight?

"What?" Susan looked at Efren in astonishment.

"That night, Georgia was raped by Efren... For the first time?"

"If it is true, then what she and Lenard said before is a lie,

"No...

"This must not be true,

"Nowadays, girls are much more open and different,

"Especially Georgia, who has such an excellent family background. Many of them are brilliant in relationships,

"Besides, Georgia lived in Efren's lakeside villa in Cloudville for a while before,

"Efren liked Georgia so much before. They must have confirmed the relationship during that time. How could it be possible for Georgia to keep that precious first time?" Susan thought.

Seeing Susan's astonishment, Efren told her firmly, "My Georgia, from the beginning to the end, only belongs to me. I have personally verified that. There is absolutely no mistake!"

"No... It must not be true. She must have deceived you!" Susan said.

Susan panicked!

Because being afraid, Susan was also full of jealousy.

Susan had been with Efren for many years and was most aware of Efren's love for Georgia.

Now Efren got Georgia's virgin. No matter whether Georgia would forgive him or not in the future, Efren was destined to protect her for the rest of his life.

This absolute love and cherish made Susan mad with jealousy.

So Susan unconsciously tried to alienate them. "Now, there is a technology that can be repaired the virgin. She must have done this on purpose..."

It was just that as soon as Susan finished speaking, she turned around and saw Efren looking at her coldly, with superimposed disdain, as if he was treating Susan like a joke.

"You keep talking. Didn't you intend to separate Georgia and me?" Efren said.

Susan froze immediately, suddenly recalling what she said just now.

Although Susan insisted she was not alienating, her every word showed the opposite.

Such discrepancy between words and deeds, undoubtedly, Efren saw the flaw.

Susan knew that the excuse was useless, so she admitted it.

"Yes, I found Lenard and asked him to help make a misunderstanding between you and Georgia!

Because... I love you!" Susan said.

As if immersed in her world, Susan suddenly described her first meeting with Efren.

"That was the first day I was promoted to the Secretariat. When you inspected the company, I saw you were unparalleled in beauty, and I fell for it. It is what others said, love at first sight...

"Later, my ability also improved. Many people came to dig me, and many suitors were among them.

But I didn't waver once because I like you and want to stay by your side for the rest of my life.

"But after Miss Georgia Hansen appeared in your life, you rejected me. You didn't let me help you tidy up the room or even give me the daily work. You insisted on drawing a distance from me. I couldn't stand it, so I destroyed your relationship with Georgia..." Susan said.

Susan said a lot and even shed tears.

But Susan moved herself and the world, except Efren.

Hearing Susan's affectionate confession, Efren showed no emotion.

Efren even felt that Susan was noisy and signaled his men. "You stay here. Deal with her and send her back to Cloudville to June."

When the men started attacking Susan, Efren had already left the room.

Susan couldn't believe it. Even though she confessed her love for Efren, this man was still indifferent and even wanted to feed her to a tiger.

Chapter 856 Can't Stop!

Susan yelled angrily, "Why are you so cruel to me? I want to destroy the relationship between you and Georgia because I love you. You should not be so cruel to me."

When Efren heard this, he stopped suddenly and said in a hoarse voice,

"If Georgia and I hadn't restrained ourselves, we would have been a couple long time ago. The ending would be different when you and Lenard lied to us that night..."

Of course, even if he found out that there was no opportunity for him and Georgia to be a couple, he still couldn't let it go.

Perhaps, he would take her to a deserted place and imprison her so that she would only stay with him for the rest of her life.

But in that case, Georgia would never be happy in her life.

Because she was a stubborn woman, she might choose to commit suicide.

Every time Efren thought of these things, he felt worried.

So while rejoicing that lifelong misunderstandings did not occur, he strengthened his determination to eradicate insecure factors like Susan and Lenard.

After Efren finished speaking, he walked away.

Efren's subordinates continued to pick up the sack, trying to put Susan in it.

Susan was unwilling to die. She was still struggling and clamoring.

Susan asked, "But isn't everything okay? Now that you have Georgia, you have not lost anything..."

No matter how clamoring she was, Efren didn't stop and leave directly. And Efren's subordinates continued packing sacks.

About five minutes later, Efren's subordinates left the room with an extra sack in their hands.

It seemed that there was a big and motionless object contained in the sack.

The skincare brand created by Georgia has become popular recently. As the festival was approaching, many companies came to Georgia's company to talk about customizing the public relations gift box.

Thus, when the secretary informed that there was a gentleman surnamed Wayne who wanted to order a public relations gift box, Georgia didn't think much about it and allowed the secretary to invite him in.

Alton said, "Georgia, last time at your uncle's birthday party, we didn't have time to chat, so I asked someone to inquire about your company, and I didn't expect it to be quite good."

Georgia looked up at the young man with a big head and a thick neck, who smiled at her so much that his eyes were squeezed into a line. It took her a long time to remember that this was Alton, whom she had met at her uncle's birthday party last time. It was said that Alton just came back from abroad.

In fact, she still couldn't remember when they attended a class in kindergarten, and she didn't think there was anything to chat with him. Considering that she was the owner of the company, she couldn't refuse her potential customer to get into her office.

So, Georgia smirked and said, "Oh, so it's Mr. Wayne."

Alton said, "Georgia, I said we've known each other since childhood, so there's no need to call me Mr.

Wayne. You can call me Alton or Sweet Alton from now on!"

Alton smiled and sat down in front of Georgia's desk.

Georgia couldn't figure it out and wondered, "How could an adult weighing more than two hundred pounds have the nerve to ask people to call him 'Sweet Alton'."

In order to avoid this disgusting topic, Georgia asked him directly, "So which kind of public relations gift box is Mr. Wayne going to order? We have some templates for you to look at."

As Georgia said, she handed Alton a book of pictures containing all the custom-made public relations gift boxes.

Unexpectedly, Alton took the opportunity to grab Georgia's hand and said, "Georgia, there's no need to be so anxious about these things. Let's just take our time..."

Chapter 857 Did He Start?

However, Alton probably didn't know that his fat hands made Georgia feel offended.

Georgia immediately withdrew her hand and looked coldly at Alton. "Mr. Wayne, if you don't want to discuss business with me, please leave my office!"

Alton said, "Of course, we need to discuss business. I think these gift box styles are good..."

Seeing that Georgia was annoyed, Alton could only point to a few gift boxes.

After Georgia saw Alton pointing out several gift boxes, she could restrain her antipathy temporarily and introduced to him the contents contained in these gift boxes.

However, Alton was not interested in the contents of the gift box. His eyes gazed at Georgia obsessively.

At Byron's birthday party that day, the first time he saw Georgia, he felt that Georgia was the one who matched with his love fantasy.

After hearing that Georgia was not married, let alone had a boyfriend, Alton became even more excited.

So today, he came to find Georgia under the guise of ordering public relations gift boxes.

He wanted to take advantage of this cooperation to have more contacts with Georgia.

After he ordered the gift boxes quickly, Georgia said, "As for the contract, I will ask my secretary to send it to you tomorrow."

But Alton ordered this batch of gift boxes for the purpose of communicating with Georgia. How could she ask the secretary to send the contract?

So he said, "I have something to do tomorrow. Why don't we finalize the contract today?"

"But if we make the contract now, I'm afraid it's too late," Georgia said.

"Let's find a restaurant and sign the contract directly when it comes out. Then, the process can be completed in a day!"

Alton's proposal won Georgia's heart.

After all, she didn't want to see his fat face tomorrow.

As for eating...

Now that it was daytime, she didn't believe this fat man would offend her!

Georgia said, "That's fine. I'll order some people to start making contracts now."

When Georgia started making internal calls and instructing the staff to prepare the contract, Alton was busy making a restaurant reservation.

However, Alton kept gazing at Georgia foully. He was so fat that his eyes were squeezed like a piece of thread...

About an hour later, Georgia and Alton ate some food and chatted about their freshly baked contract at a nearby Holiday Inn.

"Mr. Wayne, please go over the contract first."

Alton ordered so many dishes that Georgia lost her appetite.

But Alton said, "Georgia, I'm very hungry. I'm dizzy and can't see the contract clearly. Let's eat first and then read the contract after eating?"

Georgia couldn't find a reason to refuse him. "Okay, you can read it after eating, and then we will go through the process as soon as possible."

She didn't want to deal with this fat man at all. She wanted to finish work as soon as possible and have ice cream to relieve her boredom.

"Okay, no problem," Alton said. He was about to pour wine for Georgia.

But Georgia said, "I'm sorry. I have work to discuss later, so let's forget about drinking."

Alton said, "The alcohol content of this wine is not high. Let's have a drink. It's a celebration of our first successful cooperation."

As Alton said, he raised his wine glass towards Georgia. "Georgia, please take a sip!"

Georgia had no choice but to raise her wine glass and clink glasses with him.

However, she only took a symbolic sip and didn't drink it.

Alton didn't seem to mind and invited Georgia to eat again.

Georgia didn't have an appetite, so she drank a bowl of soup in the end.

But within a few seconds after finishing the soup, her vision blurred, and even Alton became several...

Chapter 858 Obey Him?

Seeing Georgia lying down, Alton stepped forward and asked with concern, "Georgia? Are you OK?"

Seeing Alton approaching, Georgia wanted to get up and leave.

However, she felt the whole body seemed to have been drained of strength.

As soon as she stood up, she fell back to her seat.

At this moment, Alton hurriedly stepped forward to help her. "Georgia, are you feeling uncomfortable?"

Georgia shouted, "Don't touch me..."

Georgia screamed with the last bit of strength, but the voice was as quiet as a mosquito.

And Alton also took the opportunity to wrap his arms around her waist tightly and said with a smile,

"Baby, you must be very uncomfortable now. I will help you have rest."

Later, he dragged and hugged Georgia to the room he had reserved upstairs in the hotel.

After entering the room, Alton put Georgia on the bed and placed a mobile phone in the room, which was prepared for shooting.

During this process, he received a call from his father, Rouston Wayne.

Rouston asked, "Alton, what's going on?"

Alton said, "Dad, it's exactly as you expected. Georgia refused to drink but drank soup, and now she fell into a coma."

Actually, Alton and Rouston made this scheme.

Because the capital chain of the Wayne family was broken, and if there was no capital injection, they would face a collapse next.

At Byron's birthday party that day, after they saw Georgia, they had the idea of marrying Georgia.

As long as Georgia and Alton were married, the Hansen family would not just watch the Wayne family collapse and would definitely save them.

But Georgia didn't like Alton, Alton tried several times, but Georgia didn't even bother to talk to him.

In desperation, Rouston came up with the trick of date-raping.

However, Rouston also speculated that Georgia would be on guard against Alton, so Rouston found another way to ask Alton to invite Georgia to have dinner in the daytime.

Moreover, the drug was not added to the wine but to the soup.

Georgia was falling into a coma right now.

Rouston said, "Then you remember to shoot a video or picture! That's the only way to make Georgia obey you."

Rouston repeatedly urged.

Alton answered, "Got it. Dad, I'll hang up first!"

After Alton finished the phone call, it was almost time to set up his mobile phone to shoot, so he caressed Georgia's cheek lewdly.

Alton said, "You're so pretty. You must have dated a lot of boyfriends, right? In this way, it's a loss for me to accompany you. But since your family is so rich, I decide to accept you..."

Speaking of this, Alton began to unbutton Georgia's skirt.

When he was about to see Georgia's naked body, the doorbell rang.

Alton shouted angrily, "I don't need room service now!"

Alton was upset to be disturbed at such a moment. He didn't even open the door and yelled towards the outside.

But instead of stopping, it became more and more intense.

Alton yelled, "Are you deaf? I said I don't need it, but you still come to make noise. Do you wanna be killed!"

Alton cursed.

But the movement outside the door was not just knocking but kicking.

The deafening sound made Alton feel slightly scared.

However, Alton didn't even have time to hide. The door was kicked down.

In the next second, he saw the man who had been intimate with Georgia at Byron's birthday party before rushing up and lifting Alton up with one hand.

It was the first time for Alton to smell the breath of death.

He looked at Efren with astonishment.

Efren asked him, "Where's Georgia?"

Obviously, Alton was so frightened that he couldn't even speak.

Efren glanced around the room. When he saw Georgia whose clothes were messy on the bed and she was in a coma, Efren became furious...

Chapter 859 Take Her Away!

Efren asked, "What do you want to do to Georgia?"

It seemed that Efren was infuriated. Alton was frightened.

Alton answered, "I... I haven't done anything to her!"

Alton quickly denied it.

Without repeated thinking, he refused what he had done just now.

Alton knew that he would be beaten if he confessed what he had done!

Efren asked, "You didn't do anything? Then, what are these things for?"

Efren kicked the shooting pole. Then, the shooting pole fell.

The mobile phone on it was instantly torn apart.

Seeing this, Alton trembled intensely.

He seriously suspected that if he admitted it, the fate of the broken mobile phone would be his own fate.

Alton said, "I just asked Georgia to take a few photos. She felt a little uncomfortable, so I let her rest first."

Alton was stupid in doing his proper business, but he was good at sophism.

However, Efren hated hearing sophism.

He kicked Alton, which made Alton curl up.

Alton said, "Please forgive me. I know I'm wrong. If you continue to beat me, I will die."

Efren said angrily, "Now that you dare prepare to rape Georgia, you must be prepared to die."

Efren did not stop. He continued kicking Alton.

Alton screamed in pain and shouted, "If you hit me again, my father will not let you go."

Although the Wayne family had problems in the recent economic chain, they were powerful in New York.

The Wayne family could ruin any normal people's life as long as they expressed their order in New York.

As for why Alton thought that Efren was a nobody, the reason was that he had never met Efren in the top social circle of New York.

But the fact was that ever since he could remember things, the Serrano family had moved to Cloudville, where the Serrano family dominated.

Besides, the Serrano family was the most influential family even though people in the top wealthy circles in New York would be afraid of annoying the Serrano family.

Especiallly, Efren was currently in charge of the Serrano family!

It was a pity that the one standing here was Alton, not his father, Rouston.

So he dared to continue cursing and threatening Efren.

Efren kicked Alton a few more times and said, "Your father? Don't worry. Your family would be expelled from the wealthy circle tonight, and your life security would be threatened."

Alton didn't believe Efren's words at all, and he said, "Who are you? You dare to threaten me!"

Even the Hansen family didn't dare to threaten them that they would kill Alton's whole family.

This strange man dared to boast his strength.

Efren said, "You are not qualified to know my name!"

Efren kicked Alton's lower body so violently that Alton rolled on the ground with a painful expression.

However, Efren didn't even look at Alton, and he walked towards Georgia who was on the bed.

Right now, Georgia's condition was not very good. She was sweating, and her hair was sticking to her forehead.

Efren was so distressed that he quickly took off his suit jacket, covered her body, and then hugged her by hanging on her neck.

Maybe it was subconsciously thought that Alton was going to hurt herself. The moment she was hugged by Efren, she struggled slightly.

Efren hurriedly reminded her, "Georgia, it's me! Efren! I'll take you to the hospital. Don't be afraid!"

Perhaps hearing Efren's whispers, Georgia had become relaxed since she fell into a coma.

And Efren didn't dare to delay and hastily sent Georgia to the hospital...

Chapter 860 Unable to Have Children?

Georgia received a gastric lavage immediately after being sent to the hospital. Then, her condition was relieved.

However, she was too tired.

Even though she wanted to open her eyes and see what was going on around her, she couldn't lift her eyelids.

Perhaps seeing her uneasiness, Efren whispered by her ear, "It's okay. I'm here!"

Georgia knew that she shouldn't trust Efren, but Efren's voice seemed to have a magical power, which made her feel relaxed inexplicably.

Finally, under his soothing voice, she fell into sleep.

And while waiting for her to wake up, Efren held her hand tightly all the time...

On the other side, Alton crawled out of the room with a pale face and asked for help from the passing waiter.

"Help me..."

Seeing that Alton's pale face was not much better than that of a dead person, the waiter was shocked and quickly asked someone to take him to the hospital.

After Rouston heard that, he rushed to the hospital immediately.

However, the doctor informed, "Your son is not in danger of life at present, but he may not be able to be a father in the future."

Hearing this, Rouston felt the whole world inverted.

"No... Doctor. Please cure him. Our Wayne family has been passed down through man more than a dozen generations, so we can't be ruined here!"

Rouston almost knelt down to the medical staff.

But the medical staff still told him with a look of regret, "I'm sorry. The chances are slim. Because the injury is so severe that his genitals are basically rotten, it is impossible to repair it."

Rouston suddenly felt that he couldn't see anything, and he fell back straight.

The medical staff could temporarily rescue him so that he could wake up.

But after waking up, Rouston's face was still full of sadness.

Especially when he saw Alton's condition was awful after waking up, his heart almost broke.

Rouston asked, "Alton, who hit you so violently?"

Rouston knew that if their plan failed, they would most likely be counterattacked by the Hansen family.

But at most, they lost their advantages in the market. Anyway, the current situation of their family was not much better.

But they didn't anticipate that it would lead to Alton losing the ability to be a father.

At this moment, besides regretting planning these things, Rouston couldn't wait to shatter the bones of the person who hurt Alton.

Alton hadn't known that he had lost his fertility yet. He only wanted to let his father take revenge on Efren for him.

Alton said, "You've seen that person at Ms. Georgia Hansen's birthday party before."

Rouston asked, "Who?" He still had a stern face at this moment.

Alton replied, "I can't remember the name, but he was very close to Georgia at the time."

Rouston recalled the scene at that time, and a figure of a person suddenly flashed in his mind, which made him feel shocked.

Rouston said, "Efren?"

People in the Serrano family and the younger generation in New York didn't know much about it, but people in Rouston's age group had a deep memory.

Especially when Rouston heard that after the Serrano family moved to Cloudville, they were still influential in all fields of Cloudville. It was impossible for Rouston to ignore them.

So when he met him at Mr. Hansen's birthday party that day, Rouston wanted to go up and make friends with him.

It was beneficial for him to make friends with influential people like Efren.

But at that time, Efren just glanced at him coldly and left with Georgia directly.

Therefore, Rouston could only give up his thoughts...

If someone else attacked Alton, Rouston would have the courage to take revenge for Alton. If it was Efren, he might be helpless.

Rouston hoped that Alton could deny this name, but Alton told him, "Dad, It was him that attacked me. I remember that's what Georgia called him before."
