

Snatched 881

Chapter 881 It Doesn't Matter

"It is beautiful indeed. But, why do I feel that this wedding dress looks familiar?"

Georgia looked at the wedding dress and muttered to herself.

Efren stretched out his long finger and tapped Georgia's forehead lightly. "You drew it yourself. Have you forgotten?"

Georgia was slightly surprised and said, "I drew it?"

Soon, she recalled that when she was in high school, she also had fantasies about wedding dresses.

So, she drew a wedding dress.

It was just that Efren happened to be a guest at Georgia's home at that time. He saw her paintings and teased Georgia, "Do you want to get married?"

Georgia remembered that she yelled at Efren very angrily at that time. "It's none of your business!"

Then, Georgia went back to her room angrily.

Later, the painting disappeared.

So, it seemed that the painting was taken away by Efren.

"Remember?" Efren raised his eyebrows and looked at Georgia.

"I remember, but I was just a kid at that time. You..."

Georgia glared at Efren angrily.

Efren drank a lot of wine tonight.

So, he had been lying on the sofa since he returned to the hotel.

Efren said, "You are not a kid. You are almost 18. You want to get married, and you are painting a wedding dress."

Georgia was annoyed. She picked up a pillow and went to beat Efren.

"You idiot! A wedding dress is every girl's dream. I do not want to get married!"

Before hitting Efren, he turned over and pressed Georgia against the sofa.

"It turned out to be like this. I thought you already wanted to get married at that time."

The more Efren said, the more his handsome face moved closer to Georgia.

Sensing the danger, Georgia quickly pushed Efren away. "Don't get so close!"

Efren smiled and said, "You are going to marry me in a month."

Seeing that Efren was close to her, Georgia became more and more anxious.

"Don't..."

Georgia pushed Efren away and her voice trembled a little.

In fact, Georgia was still afraid of Efren because of the experience that night. She was also afraid of being treated like that again.

Efren looked at Georgia firmly and said, "Georgia, trust me, OK? This time will not be like that before."

"Honey, I love you. And we're going to be husband and wife soon. It's normal to do this kind of thing.

"Believe me! I will treat you well. I will listen to you forever."

Maybe, Georgia was touched by Efren's gentle gaze. When Efren kissed Georgia again, Georgia didn't push him away but closed her eyes gently...

After that, for a whole night, Georgia heard Efren's exciting voice. She also enjoyed it.

At dawn the next day, Georgia woke up.

She didn't go home yesterday. She was a little afraid that her parents and grandparents would blame her. So she sneaked home after waking up.

"Last night, I..."

Just as Georgia entered the house, she happened to see her mother and grandma exercising in the garden.

She blushed.

Georgia's mother said calmly, "It's nothing. You are going to get married, and we can't be so strict."

Georgia became unhappy and said, "I'm not married yet. You don't worry that I'm not safe outside?"

"You stayed with Efren last night. What are we worrying about?" Nora's words made Georgia so ashamed that she didn't know what to do.

At this time, Efren came.

Chapter 882 Strange

"Georgia?"

Efren entered the Hansen Mansion and looked worried.

It wasn't until he saw Georgia that he felt relaxed.

Efren didn't care that Georgia's mother and grandmother were still present. He directly hugged Georgia and said, "Don't be angry with me! No matter what you think I did wrong, I will apologize to you."

Being hugged, and hearing his sincere apologies over and over again, Georgia was in a daze.

"Tsk tsk, it's nice to be young!"

"Yeah, look at them. I want to be young again."

Hearing the conversation, Georgia and Efren came back to their senses.

Georgia saw the smiling faces of her grandma and mother. She flushed immediately, and she quickly pushed Efren away.

"What are you doing?"

Probably because the progress from engagement to wedding date was too fast, Georgia was still very afraid of getting close to Efren in front of her elders.

Even though Efren was pushed away by her, he still held Georgia's hand tightly.

"Are you angry? What did I do wrong? You can say it, and I will do it again."

Seeing Efren behave like this, Georgia's mother and grandmother were surprised.

As long as Georgia felt that they were looking at them, she became annoyed and said, "I'm not angry.

Let go of my hand. My mother and grandma are watching!"

Under Georgia's reminder, Efren finally realized it and hurriedly greeted them.

"It's okay. You are in a period of passionate love. We understand."

"Georgia, why do you return so early? Look, how worried is Efren?"

Georgia's mother and grandmother said, which made Georgia feel uncomfortable again.

"How did I know he would make a big fuss?" Georgia wanted to withdraw her hand as she spoke.

Efren still held her hand tightly and said, "You were so angry that you ran abroad last time. Have you forgotten?"

It was because of Georgia's resoluteness at that time that Efren was afraid. This morning, when he turned over and found that Georgia was not on the bed, he was worried that she would go abroad. So Efren rushed to the Hansen Mansion to look for her.

Georgia's mother and grandmother were listening to the conversation between Georgia and Efren.

They were still talking in low voices.

"It turns out that Georgia fell in love with Efren when she went abroad last time."

"No wonder Efren ran to our house early in the morning. When Efren heard that Georgia had gone abroad, he was so angry..."

"Bad girl, why do you do this? I will teach her a good lesson! No matter what problems she faces, she has to solve them. She shouldn't run away, and avoid facing it!"

"Yes!"

Although their voices were lowered, Georgia was standing beside them. She could hear it.

After hearing their conversation, Georgia knew that Efren had looked for her at the Hansen Mansion back then.

Now, Georgia seemed to understand what Efren was worried about. She felt a little sad and sweet.

Efren still held her hand tightly.

Efren looked at Georgia firmly, as if telling her that no matter what, he would never let her go in this lifetime.

Georgia felt his determination and didn't struggle anymore.

Time flew, and it was the eve of August 15th.

The wedding of Cora and Georgia would be held soon. They met to have SPA together.

The beautician who did the SPA for Cora today was a bit strange...

Chapter 883 Kill You

"Are you a new beautician?"

The beautician wore a mask that covered most of her face.

The upper part of the face looked kind.

But for some reason, Cora felt a little uncomfortable.

"Yes, I'm new here." The beautician responded with a smile.

Cora still stared at her face.

At this time, Georgia changed her clothes. Seeing that Cora was still looking at the beautician, she asked, "Cora, is anything wrong? How about I change my beautician with you?"

Cora originally wanted to propose changing the beautician, but after Georgia said so, she gave up.

"No, I'll finish doing the SPA quickly."

They made an appointment to shop for shoes for the wedding and a dress for their honeymoon.

Cora didn't want to waste too much time on changing beauticians.

"Okay, I'll do the SPA quickly as well."

Then, Georgia and Cora went to their room.

"I'll just make a simple project. Choose the ingredients suitable for pregnant women." After entering the room, Cora said directly.

"Pregnant woman? Are you pregnant?" The beautician looked slightly surprised.

"Yes, I just found out."

After feeling sick the last time, Cora went to the hospital the next day, but nothing was wrong.

When Cora woke up yesterday, she felt dizzy as usual. So, she bought a pregnancy test stick to test herself. The result was positive.

Cora thought that she should have had an early pregnancy last time, so the gestational sac was too small to be found by B-ultrasound.

Cora had not shared this news with anyone.

Byron went on a business trip, and he would be back this afternoon.

Cora planned to wait for his return and share the good news with him.

Then, Cora would ask Byron to accompany her for a pregnancy test.

"Really? Then choose this. It is safe, and the ingredients are good." The beautician brought a can of masks.

Cora didn't think much about it, and let the beautician apply it on her face.

Just as it was applied to her face for more than ten seconds, Cora suddenly grabbed the beautician's hand and said, "The composition of this mud mask is strange!"

Cora noticed that it contained the ingredients of a sleeping pill.

Cora wanted the beautician to change to another mud mask to ensure the safety of the baby in her belly.

Unexpectedly, the beautician took Cora's hand, and said coldly, "You realized it? It's too late!"

Cora immediately knew that something was wrong.

"Who are you? I have no grievances with you. What are you going to do to me?"

Cora quickly broke free from the beautician and quickly moved to the other end of the beautician's bed.

"We have no grievances or enemies, but someone paid to ask me to kill you!"

As the beautician said, she jumped over the beauty bed and rushed towards Cora.

Cora reacted quickly. She immediately slid from the bottom of the bed to the other side and looked at the beautician again.

"Whoever buys my life, I will pay double the price to ask you to kill her or him!"

Cora was calm. The beautician said, "You are smart, but I am professional. I won't betray the one who paid me. If I do so, I will not be employed again."

"Then do you know that if you hurt me, you will die, let alone be employed again?"

Cora was trying to get her mobile phone.

She took the opportunity to delay the time and also diverted the beautician's attention. She wanted to take the opportunity to call for help.

But the beautician also quickly noticed something. She immediately kicked the mobile phone away...

Chapter 884 Fearless

Cora watched the phone fly to the corner and quickly ran towards the phone.

The beautician knew that if Cora got the phone, things would become more difficult. So, she quickly jumped forward, picked up Cora's phone, and threw it out of the window.

Cora watched helplessly as the phone flew out of the window, and could only run towards the door in despair.

The beautician followed her. Cora threw everything that could be smashed at her.

The beautician was a professional killer. She was much faster than Cora.

After easily dodging Cora's attacks, she stood in front of the door.

"Miss Lane, stop struggling."

"Shit!"

Cora couldn't help but swear.

If she stopped struggling, she would die!

Cora thought, "I experienced a lot being together with Byron. I finally got pregnant again. I will have a grand wedding. How could I be willing to die now?"

Seeing that Cora refused to give up resisting, the beautician simply pushed the bed to hit Cora's.

Cora hurriedly clutched her belly and stepped aside.

If she hadn't been pregnant, she would have had the chance to beat the beautician.

She was pregnant, and there was no chance of winning.

Cora couldn't get close to the gate, and she had no chance to escape.

The sound insulation effect was very good.

This was the reason why the two of them had been fighting for a very long time, and no one from the outside discovered it.

Cora thought, "If no one finds out about the current situation here, I am afraid that I will be in danger."

Cora felt that the sleeping ingredients that had been applied to her face just now had begun to work.

Even though Cora had wiped off quite a bit, she felt that her legs were starting to go soft, and she was about to fall asleep.

Cora tried her best to grab all the bottles and cans that were placed on the side and smashed them towards the door.

She thought, "As long as I can make a sound, the people outside will hear it."

At first, the beautician thought Cora was targeting her and dodged a few bottles.

As a result, there was a knock on the door outside.

At this moment, the beautician realized that Cora was playing tricks. She was completely irritated.

"Do you want someone outside to rescue you? In dreams!"

She jumped over the beauty bed and rushed towards Cora.

Cora dodged away, but she didn't escape the last attack that the beautician landed on her neck.

A few seconds later, Cora passed out.

Before she completely lost consciousness, a tear slipped from the end of her eye.

She thought, "Happiness is so close to me. Why?"

"If I die like this now, what will Martin do? What will Byron do? What will my family do..."

The beautician heard the knocking on the door getting more and more urgent. She kicked open the secret door behind the cabinet and dragged Cora away.

From the very beginning, the beautician didn't plan to kill Cora in the beauty salon, because her employer wanted to meet Cora before she died.

Cora quickly disappeared into the secret passage. The waiter outside the door became more and more anxious, and even called the store manager.

"Just now, there was a sound of banging on the door. No matter how I asked, there was no sound from inside."

Georgia's hydration project has been completed, and she is about to come to find Cora. She saw several people gathered around the door of Cora's room.

"What's wrong? Is something wrong with the customer in this room?"

Chapter 885 Disappeared Without a Sign?

"We don't know what's going on. Just now, the waiter said that there was a voice coming from inside."

He knocked on the door several times but there was no response, and the door was locked. I found a spare key and opened the door. As a result, Dr. Lane and the beautician were not there inside."

It was the director of the beauty salon who reported the situation to Georgia.

She had been working in a beauty salon for many years, and she had never encountered this situation before, so she was a little confused as well.

Georgia said, "Who are you? My auntie is missing?"

Georgia hurriedly pushed away the director and several other waiters, and rushed into the beauty salon, only to see the things lying in a mess, and a lot of mask mud spilled on the ground.

But in the small space of the beauty salon, it was empty, and there was no one person.

Georgia said, "It's not right!"

Georgia looked at the scattered things on the ground and felt that they must be traces of a fight.

Georgia said, "My auntie may have been kidnapped. You have to call the police immediately!"

The director was a little embarrassed, "But if you call the police, the business of our store will be over."

Georgia said, "Are you still in the mood to think about your business at this moment? You know, if something happens to my auntie, my uncle Byron will definitely make you suffer."

When the director heard the word "Byron", she immediately realized the seriousness of the matter, and quickly called the police herself.

And Georgia immediately called Byron.

The moment the phone was connected, Georgia felt a sore nose. She said, "Uncle..."

Her uncle was looking forward to the wedding so much.

But at this time, when the wedding was just around the corner. What should he do if Auntie really has trouble?

Byron said, "Georgia? Are you still in the beauty salon? I'm coming soon. Don't tell Cora. I plan to surprise her."

Byron originally told Cora that he would not return to New York until evening, and he and Cora made an appointment to meet at the airport.

But in order to create a surprise for Cora, he took care of all the difficult things last night and returned early.

Hearing Byron's joyful tone, Georgia couldn't help but burst into tears.

Georgia said, "Uncle, hurry up to the beauty salon, Auntie seems to have been kidnapped and disappeared without a sign!"

Byron was shocked and said, "What!"

A few minutes later, Byron appeared in the beauty salon.

Even though he already knew from Georgia on the phone that Cora was missing, when he arrived at the seemingly closed beauty room, Byron still felt like his heart was about to jump out of his throat.

After seeing Byron's innate aura of superiority, the director followed behind him and explained everything that happened today.

The director said, "We really don't know what's going on. This beautician has always been doing maintenance for Dr. Lane, so when she came today, we also arranged for the same person."

"That is not true. Today is not the beautician before! The one you arranged for today is a newcomer."

Georgia said hastily, remembering the new beautician before.

But the director said, "No, the beauticians in our store are all professionally trained, and newcomers will not be hired."

Her words were also supported by other employees. "Yes, we have to train for a long time before we start work. There have been no new colleagues recently!"

Georgia said, "But what we saw today is really a new beautician. I saw Auntie is a little bit repulsed, and I planned to change someone with her."

When Georgia blamed herself, Byron had already checked around in the beauty salon, his eyes finally fixed on the shelf, and then he kicked the shelf.

Chapter 886 Well-prepared!

The shelf flipped over in an instant, and a dark staircase appeared behind it.

Looking at the gloomy staircase, Byron had an increasingly ominous premonition.

Georgia felt her whole heart pulled.

There was a secret passage in this beauty room, which proved that the other party had already set her sights on Auntie, and she was well-prepared!

And the director was also stunned, "Why are there stairs here? My God, what is going on here?"

The waiter also looked confused and said, "I have cleaned this beauty salon countless times, but I never found out that there is a secret passage here."

But Byron ignored their exclamations, and only asked, "How many people usually use this beauty salon?"

"Dr. Lane and another beautiful woman named Amber Gilbert." The store manager also said, "That beauty just came to our store for maintenance recently. She likes this beauty salon very much. She has ordered several sets for this beauty salon."

The more information Byron got, the more suspicious this person became.

Byron said, "Hand over this person's contact information and the surveillance video of her appearance."

When Byron said so, Carter had arrived with the Hansen family's bodyguards.

Besides, Efren also came with his subordinates.

The director dared not to bargain with this group of people, who seemed to be very difficult to mess with, and immediately explained all that she knew.

But even after getting Amber's contact information and surveillance footage, Byron still didn't let them go.

"Carter, take them all back."

The director said, "We've said everything we know. It really has nothing to do with us!"

A waitress said, "I don't want to go. Please let me go."

The director, other beauticians, and waitress were all women. They had never been in such a situation, and they were so scared that they almost cried.

But no matter how much they begged for mercy, Byron never backed down.

Everyone was suspicious until it was confirmed that Cora was safe.

Since they were suspicious, then some necessary measures must be taken.

Soon, Carter took this group of people away.

The police also arrived later, and began to collect some possible clues at the scene.

When they learned that the director of the beauty salon and others were taken away by the Hansen family, they did not dare to complain.

Especially their director, who had taken the initiative to act as an understrapper, watching the surveillance video by Byron's side.

Seeing Byron's gloomy face, it felt that if the missing woman couldn't be found today, New York would be in a rain of blood.

On the other side, as soon as Efren finished the phone call, he told Byron, "I have already found someone to set up a card to block the road near here, and will not let any suspicious vehicles leave."

"Thank you." Byron looked very bad, even if he was saying thanks.

But Efren understood Byron's mood very well. If it happened to Georgia, he guessed that he would also have the same aura that would destroy the world.

Georgia looked at Byron, who was concentrated, staring at every frame of Amber in the surveillance.

She blamed herself in her heart.

Georgia said guiltily, "It's all my fault. If I had changed the beautician with Auntie, Auntie would not have been kidnapped."

Efren patted her on the back and comforted her, "The other party obviously came prepared. Even if you switched with her, you would probably just be kidnapped together."

But Georgia was not comforted, "Even if I am also kidnapped, at least Auntie would have a companion."

At this moment, Byron and the others found the picture about Amber.

Byron said, "This person... looks familiar."

Chapter 887 Is This Jane?

Georgia said, "I seem to have seen this person somewhere, but I can't say it!"

Georgia also hurried up and stared at Amber on the surveillance screen.

That was an outstanding-looking woman, looking elegant and bright.

She felt a little inexplicably familiar, but her face was very strange.

Byron said, "Could it be because you touched each other in the beauty salon?"

Byron suddenly pointed to one of the pictures, in which Georgia and Cora were also present.

Amber was listening to the waitress' introduction of the content of the project, but her eyes always looked in the direction of Cora and Georgia.

From this point of view, in fact, Amber had lingered beside Cora and Georgia for a long time, so she was able to choose the right opportunity to take Cora away.

Georgia said, "I seem to have met her, but I really don't remember where I saw her before."

Georgia racked her brains and couldn't figure out why Amber seemed so familiar.

At this moment, Sara and William also received the news and rushed over.

Sara said, "Did the kidnappers call? Tell them, we can give them no matter how much money they have, as long as they don't hurt Cora..."

As soon as Sara came in, the tears didn't stop.

William originally planned to go bankrupt as long as Cora could come back safely.

But Byron shook his head. He became more uncertain whether Cora could come back safely. His hair seemed to have turned gray in an instant.

Because the kidnappers haven't called so far, and they didn't want money, they definitely didn't plan to let Cora come back.

Byron said, "The people in their store have been restrained, and all roads have been blocked. We are tracking any suspicious vehicles that have just left the store door."

After Byron finished speaking, Sara and William also directly helped to join the ranks of searching for suspicious vehicles.

While Sara was watching the surveillance video, tears kept falling.

But she also knew that she had no time to be cowardly.

If Cora was found one minute later, Cora would be more dangerous.

But at this moment, William also saw the screen about Amber being played on one of the computers.

"This woman..." William stared at the woman, frowning.

"What's wrong? Do you know her?" Georgia asked.

William answered, "I don't know her, but she came to see me once."

William remembered that it was an afternoon.

After this woman named Amber came to the hospital to see him, she chatted with him and asked questions about his daughter.

William thought that this woman also knew Cora, so he chatted with her casually.

Byron asked, "She is most likely the one who kidnapped Cora. Can you find out her address?"

Byron knew that in the hospital system, the patient's registration information, including home address, could be queried.

William said, "I'll have someone transfer her information now."

When William was on the phone, Sara also came up to take a look at the woman named Amber.

She just wanted to see what the suspect looked like, but when she saw it, she frowned.

She said, "Jane?"

Everyone was a little taken aback by the name Sara suddenly called out.

After all, this name and this person have faded out of all of their lives for a long time.

"Mrs. Sara Yoris, are you mistaken? This person's name is Amber Gilbert, and she looks different from Jane." Georgia said.

Sara said, "No... she's Jane. I brought her up since she was a child, so I can't be mistaken."

"Jane Yoris died the second day after she fled the country." Byron's tone was so firm because he sent the person who killed Jane.

Chapter 888 It's Really Her!

Sara said, "But this person is really Jane."

Sara was still very determined.

Although the woman in the surveillance screen had a completely unfamiliar face, her demeanor, movements, and some subtle habits were all unique to Jane.

After hearing Sara's words, Georgia once again set his eyes on Amber.

She also had contacts with Jane before.

Moreover, Jane thought that she would definitely be able to marry into the Hansen family, so she has been working hard to build a good relationship with her, Georgia.

Basically, no matter what party Jane threw, she would invite Georgia.

Once Georgia was free to attend, she would be the guest of honor, and Jane will also accompany her in person.

Over time, she and Jane were considered to be relatively familiar.

Before, she felt that there was a strange familiarity in Amber, but she couldn't find the reason.

But through Sara's reminder, she also began to realize that the original sense of familiarity came from Jane.

Georgia said, "Uncle, I also think that this person is Jane."

Byron's expression turned cold. It seemed that the people sent out before had not been dealt with cleanly, leaving Cora with such a big safety hazard!

He would claim responsibility, but not now!

Therefore, he directly found someone to search for the recent entry information about Amber or Jane, as well as the hotel where she stayed, and then began to track Jane's whereabouts today!

Sure enough, there was feedback from the entry and exit information soon. Jane entered the country ten days ago and she was currently staying at Sky Hotel.

Sky Hotel was a hotel owned by the Yoris family, so William quickly called Sky Hotel and asked them to send him all the surveillance videos of the past ten days.

Sara broke down again when William called.

Sara cried, "What a sin! What the hell did I raise?"

"What are you going to do? Why don't you come after me? My Cora came back to me after going through a lot of hardships. Why did you hurt her like this..."

Georgia comforted her a few words, then hurriedly said, "Now is not the time to be sad. Auntie is still waiting for us to save her."

These words made Sara cheer up again, "Yes, Cora is still waiting for us! I must find Cora. I must make Cora come back to my side safely..."

While wiping away tears, Sara leaned over to the computer, the vehicles that came in and out of the hotel.

Soon, after some screening, they found out that Jane had taken a taxi this morning and went to the suburbs.

When the designated area came out, William frowned and said, "Isn't this area near the factory where Flora was killed?"

"But isn't that area already classified as a dangerous building, and entry is prohibited?" Georgia said.

Sara said, "She's as crazy as his mother, and she can do anything. No entry is just a display for them."

Byron also made a plan with Efren, "I will take my people and go to the abandoned factory to look for Cora first, Efren will take people along the surrounding area to search, and Georgia will stay here to guard. If there is any latest situation, let me know."

Naturally, William and Sara couldn't sit still, and asked to go to the abandoned factory with Byron to look for Cora.

Their intuition told them that Jane had come to avenge for Flora, so it was very likely that she would do something to hurt Cora in that place.

In this way, they acted separately.

On the other side, at the abandoned factory.

Cora was feeling drowsy when suddenly a basin of cold water poured down her head.

Chapter 889 Tortured To Death?

Cora woke up and quickly wiped her face.

Only then did she realize that she was in the dark inside of the factory, and there was a strange woman standing in front of her.

Cora suddenly recalled what had happened to her when she was in the beauty salon.

There was no one around at the moment, and the strange woman in front of her looked malicious.

So Cora simply said, "How much money do you need? I can give it to you. As long as you let me go!"

"Cora, did you earn that money yourself?" The woman asked her coldly.

Cora felt inexplicably familiar with this voice.

She stared at the woman's familiar face, "Jane Yoris?"

The calling of the first and last names immediately made the woman laugh.

As if she heard some funny joke, her laughter echoed over the abandoned factory building. It sounded very scary.

After laughing out loud, the woman grinned and said, "I haven't heard this name for a long time. If you hadn't called me that, I would have almost forgotten that my surname was Yoris."

Cora looked slightly stagnant.

Just now, she only felt that this woman's voice and demeanor gave her the impression that she was very similar to Jane, so she called out tentatively.

Unexpectedly, it was really her!

Cora's heartbeat suddenly missed a few beats.

Because she knew that Jane's hatred for her would most likely kill her.

However, Cora didn't show any abnormality on her face, and even asked Jane with a smile, "Have you had plastic surgery? I think this double eyelid and these thick European-style lips are quite suitable for you."

Jane was almost a different person from before.

In the past, she looked pure and cute with sweetness of first love, but now she was completely in the direction of bright and beautiful, which didn't match her thin figure.

But Cora still exaggerated, "By the way, your hairstyle is also good. Where did you get it? Can you send me the contact information of the hairstylist?"

She wanted to at least make Jane feel better so that she could chat with herself a few more times, so that she could earn some time for Byron and the others to find her.

Furthermore, she also bought time to untie the rope around her wrist.

It's just that Cora didn't expect that when she boasted to Jane, Jane would go up to give her a slap.

Jane said, "Don't think I don't know that you bitch just want to delay time!"

At this moment, Cora untied the rope, and immediately slapped Jane back.

Cora's slap was so strong that Jane almost was knocked down. She hurriedly ran towards the gate.

Jane shouted, "Stinky bitch, how dare you sneak away! Ash, catch her quickly!"

Following Jane's exclamation, a woman named Ash hurried over from the gate.

Cora took a closer look and saw that it was the beautician, and then hurriedly ran with all her strength.

But she was no match for a professional killer after all, and was caught by Ash in a short while.

But Ash didn't treat her violently. She just tied her hands and feet and then dragged Cora back to Jane.

"End this quickly. Procrastination will only lead to endless troubles," Ash said to Jane.

Jane kicked Cora hard, vented her personal grievances, and then said, "I know, don't rush!"

In fact, Ash had suggested a long time ago that Cora should be killed as soon as she was caught.

But Jane wanted to torture Cora slowly until she died!

Chapter 890 I Don't Want To Die!

When Jane kicked Cora in the stomach in early summer, she quickly turned sideways.

That kick hit her ribs, which probably broke her ribs.

But she didn't regret it, because at least she kept the little life in her stomach by herself.

Jane said, "Cora, what method do you want to die now, burn to death, or die with a brain burst, or have the carotid artery cut off, and watch your blood empty and die?"

Jane held a knife and gestured in front of Cora.

Cora also noticed that there was a lot of gasoline behind her.

What was more, there was a running car parked behind her.

These were all used to kill her, and Cora and Cora felt terrified looking at them.

Cora answered, "I don't want to die. Is that okay?"

Her answer seemed to please Jane.

She laughed again, a particularly harsh laugh.

But the laughter stopped abruptly in an instant.

She questioned Cora, "Then why didn't you ask Flora if she wanted to die when she died?"

Jane didn't have any feelings for Flora, but Flora arranged a way for her when she was about to die.

So during this time, Jane often thought of Flora about how she was so desperate in this abandoned factory, but still selflessly arranged a way out for her...

She thought, that was probably the true love between mother and daughter, who would protect her until death.

It was nothing like Sara who ignored her life as soon as she knew she was not her own daughter.

After thinking about it, she decided to go back to avenge Flora.

But Cora said, "That's her own choice! Have you forgotten that she filled the house with bombs and wanted everyone to be buried with her?"

"But even if she didn't detonate the bomb at that time, would you let him go? Byron Hansen wouldn't let her go, and neither would the Yoris family!" Jane scolded Cora angrily.

Cora said, "She will be punished for doing something wrong. This has nothing to do with letting go!"

Cora felt that Jane's habit of blaming others for her mistakes was really taught by Flora.

"She has done something wrong and she will be punished. What about you?" Jane suddenly asked again.

"What did I do wrong?" Cora asked.

Jane shouted, "I was living well in the Yoris Mansion, and I was about to marry Byron. It was your appearance that made all this mess."

"Jane's thought was so wrong. She really looks more and more like Flora, " Cora thought.

Although communicating with Jane like this was very irritating, Cora could only continue talking to her, distract her attention, and buy herself some time to break free from the rope.

Cora said, "Have you ever thought that you should go through all the hardships I experienced before?"

Flora didn't like me studying medicine, so she enrolled me in a lot of interest classes to stop me. If I couldn't complete those interest classes for difficult content, I was not allowed to eat or sleep that day, let alone study.

"The Lane family went bankrupt, and I struggled to survive. But Flora lit a fire and burned the rest of the house, and burned herself seriously, so I had to go around to raise money for her medical treatment."

When Cora said this, she was interrupted by Ash, "Hurry up and do it! It's not suitable to stay here for a long time! Why are you chatting?"

Jane sneered, "I paid you to come here. What's your attitude?"

"I'm reminding you! If you don't do it quickly, we will all be screwed if we get caught!" Ash said.