

Snatched 911

Chapter 911 His Scandal

When Cora saw that hand, her hand tightened a bit.

But Byron only glanced at her and then said to the woman, "Didn't you see that I was in the video? Go over there and play by yourself."

The previous sentence, as usual, was because he didn't like being disturbed when he was alone with Cora. His tone was obviously cold and warning.

But the latter sentence was strange, with a hint of pampering.

"Who is she?" Cora still couldn't bear the jealousy in her heart and asked this question.

But Byron just gave her a cold look. "No one."

At this time, he had already smoked. And the smoke began to envelop him, making him look lazy and inexplicably charming.

So tonight, was he going to spend the night with another woman?

The intimate things he did to her, he now wanted to practice on other women, right?

Cora felt she was going to break down.

But Byron didn't say anything, not even break up, just looked at her like this and let the video call fall silent.

Cora wanted to simply break up. After all, she couldn't accept those intimate things now. Byron also cheated because she couldn't bear these things.

But when those words of breaking up came to her mouth, she found that she couldn't say it no matter what.

Only then did she suddenly realize that she was so reluctant to part with the sweetness of the past, and also Byron...

After a long time, Cora finally said, "When are you coming back?"

The cigarette in Byron's hand was almost finished. And he snuffed it out in his hand.

"In a few days, it's rare to take a break." After Byron finished speaking, there seemed to be something else in those eyes staring at Cora.

But Cora was afraid that if she kept staring at him like this, she would get deeper and deeper.

So she quickly turned her face away. "Then let's talk about it when you come back."

Byron had already escaped from him. And she couldn't let herself sink.

"Well, wait for me for a few more days. You hang up."

After Byron finished speaking, he walked away without taking the phone.

Cora didn't hang up for a long time, as if she was looking forward to getting some information from the video.

But no. Just as Byron left, a woman's delicate voice came out from a hidden corner.

"Don't stab me with your stubble!"

Cora suddenly felt sick and didn't want to listen to it anymore. She hung up the video call directly.

The next night, she couldn't sleep, no matter what. She sat in front of the window until dawn.

Before Byron came back, Cora worked very hard to deal with the scandal about Byron.

But Byron didn't stop. His scandal became more and more intense.

It used to be an occasional gossip. But soon, it became even news about him on New York's entertainment channel.

The day before was a secret meeting with Thea on Breezy Tides Island. But the day after, Byron was photographed entering a hotel with a popular actress and did not come out of the room all night.

Dating partners once spanned from young models and actresses in the entertainment industry to gymnastic beauties in the sports world and even some innocent college students.

Moreover, every time Byron went out on his date, he was photographed by the paparazzi and became discussed.

In this increasingly intense scandal, Cora had not taken any action yet. But some people couldn't bear it anymore.

Chapter 912 Didn't Hold Him

It was Jerry who called Cora first.

Cora did not expect that Jerry would call her at this time. She was a little surprised. "Jerry, is it you?"

"Yes!" Jerry's voice was as clear as ever.

"Are you still in some tropical islands?" Cora only thought that Jerry was too lonely at sea, so he chatted with her.

"Of course, I'm in some tropical islands. I feel free and comfortable." Jerry said with a smile.

Jerry was about to ask Cora how long he was going to stay on some tropical islands. When John was worried at home, Jerry suddenly asked,

"Do you regret not choosing me now?"

Cora was taken aback.

She suddenly thought how could Jerry know this?

How could he have a chance to see Byron's scandals?

So...

"Have you returned home?"

When Cora asked, Jerry laughed and said, "Why are you so smart?"

"Are you back? When did you come back?" Cora treated Jerry like an old friend.

Jerry said, "I just came back a while ago. But don't deliberately change the subject. I was just asking you if you regret not choosing me!"

Jerry studied Byron's scandals carefully, trying to find clues from them.

It was puzzling that Byron's dating partners were irregular and spanned all walks of life.

The only commonality was that they were fair-skinned, beautiful, and had long legs!

In the end, Jerry began to believe that Byron had cheated, so he contacted Cora.

Cora hesitated for a while and said, "Yes, I regret it."

As soon as Jerry heard it, he knew that she wasn't telling the truth.

So he said, "It's useless even if you regret it. I'm going to be a man you can't get in this life, and make you regret it forever!"

If she intended to break up with Byron, it was better to give her some time.

In this way, she could completely let go of the past and accept him.

After that, Jerry chatted with Cora again.

Perhaps it was the reunion after a long absence. Cora and Jerry chatted very happily and temporarily forgot the unhappiness brought about by Byron.

But early the next morning, Cora received a call from Isidra.

As soon as Cora got on the phone, Isidra said in a worried tone, "Dr. Lane, why didn't you keep Mr. Hansen?"

Cora laughed, "Whether I can keep him or not, what does that have to do with you?"

"Why not?" After Isidra finished speaking, she probably felt that this was a little unreasonable and hurriedly added,

"Actually, I have liked Mr. Hansen for a long time. It was because of you, Dr. Lane, that I didn't take any action. But now I see that you have completely given up on Mr. Hansen. So it won't be a problem if I pursue Mr. Hansen now."

Before Cora thought about it, Georgia reminded her that Isidra liked Byron.

At the time, she didn't care about it. But now it seemed there was something wrong.

"So, do you want to declare war on me, Miss Isidra Wolf?"

Cora didn't lose control as expected. Isidra was a little surprised.

"If Mr. Hansen still belongs to you. Then it would be I declare war if I want to intervene. But now it seems that Mr. Hansen has nothing to do with you. I just want a chance to compete fairly."

"Then I suggest you contact Mr. Hansen directly."

After saying these words, Cora hung up the phone directly...

Chapter 913 Fair Competition

Isidra looked at the phone that was hung up, cursing,

"You are so useless that you can't control a man. But you still show off in front of me."

At this time, Vaughn just brought her soup and came in. "Who are you scolding? Eat it quickly."

After Isidra recovered, Vaughn was still very concerned about her health. So he hired a team of professional nutritionists to prepare meals for Isidra.

Isidra took it and muttered, "I didn't scold anyone."

"Then drink it and go to the studio."

After Vaughn brought Isidra back, he arranged a lot of things for her to do every day, hoping to distract her as soon as possible.

Vaughn felt that so far, the situation was okay.

At least with his busy schedule, Isidra didn't have time to go to New York to make trouble.

After Vaughn reminded him, he planned to leave.

But Isidra stared at his back. She hesitated and said, "Vaughn, I like Mr. Hansen. I plan to confess to him."

Vaughn immediately turned his head and glared at Isidra. "Didn't I tell you not to destroy others' families?"

"I didn't destroy his family. Dr. Lane can't stop Mr. Hansen from spending time outside. Besides, they haven't held a wedding yet. How can I destroy them?"

Vaughn's words made Isidra frown.

"Was Mr. Hansen spending time and drinking outside? That's impossible."

Although Vaughn hadn't had much contact with Byron, he was a good judge of people. He always felt that Byron was not that kind of person.

"How is it impossible? All kinds of news are flying all over the Internet." Isidra also directly took out her phone and showed Vaughn the news.

When Vaughn saw that there were many photos of Byron and various beauties on it, his eyes were full of disbelief.

"This..."

He still remembered seeing Byron's affectionate look towards Cora in New York before. His eyes couldn't deceive anyone. He could see that Byron loved Cora.

But how did it become like this after only a few months?

Did something happen?

Just when Vaughn was puzzled, Isidra said again, "So now I don't want to intervene in their family, but to compete fairly with her."

Vaughn didn't know how to stop Isidra. He just looked at the various photos on the news...

A day later, Isidra went to Breezy Tides Island.

Because according to the latest gossip news, Byron brought female celebrities to Breezy Tides Island to play again in the past two days.

They were walking on the beach of Breezy Tides Island yesterday. Byron was only wearing a pair of beach pants, showing a beautiful figure.

And the female celebrity beside him was wearing a bikini, which perfectly showed her proud bust and long legs.

The two walked side by side. No matter how they looked, they were so eye-catching.

But when Isidra was staring at that photo, she had only one thought!

It turned out that Byron liked this type.

So when she came to Breezy Tides Island today, she brought a lot of beautiful bikinis.

Once she got inside the hotel, she changed into a bikini and went to the nearby beach.

As soon as she arrived at the beach, she saw Byron and that female celebrity.

They were walking on the beach, still talking and laughing.

Isidra immediately walked towards Byron...

Chapter 914 His Favoritism

"Mr. Hansen, let's eat the barbecue like last night tonight. That kind of barbecue is delicious, I have never eaten such delicious ones. You will bring..."

When the female celebrity and Byron were chatting, a woman showed up in front of them.

The female celebrity froze for a moment, then looked at Byron.

Byron looked at Isidra, who was chatting and laughing with female celebrities just now. His handsome face, which seemed extremely amiable, now gradually became gloomy.

"Mr. Hansen." Isidra smiled lightly, trying to create a very charming look.

Byron only nodded to Isidra and then said to the female celebrity, "Let's go back."

Upon hearing this, Isidra hurriedly said, "Mr. Hansen, I have something to tell you."

Then, she looked at the female celebrity, as if she wanted to let the female celebrity leave, and she wanted to have a private conversation.

The female celebrity recognized Isidra. They also knew that the Wolf family's background was not simple. After all, the live broadcast of Isidra's treatment for cancer made a lot of noise.

So although she seldom disliked Isidra's defiant attitude, she still had to say to Byron, "Mr. Hansen, then I'll go back and wait for you."

Unexpectedly, the next second, Byron grabbed her. "You don't need to go. Just stay here."

The female celebrity was a little surprised, while Isidra was full of embarrassment.

"Mr. Hansen, I really have some private matters to discuss with you. It would be inconvenient if others are present."

That tone, that gesture, it seemed that she was nobler than the female celebrity, so the female celebrity was not qualified to listen to her private affairs.

She knew that she couldn't afford to provoke Isidra. So she could only subconsciously ask Byron, "Mr. Hansen?"

Byron said, "In my case, Cathy can stay."

Cathy was the name of the female celebrity.

When Byron called her name out, Isidra felt it was indescribably ambiguous.

Combined with what Byron said just now, it seemed that Cathy was Byron's true love.

Isidra had always felt that women were easy to pursue men.

Now that Byron had just separated from Cora, as long as she took the initiative a little and behaved well in bed, it was easy to win Byron.

But now that Byron called Cathy so affectionately and protected her so much, Isidra felt that Cathy had taken the opportunity to take away the love that Byron should have given to Isidra.

But after finally catching up to Breezy Tides Island, it was naturally impossible for Isidra to cancel her original plan just because of Cathy.

So after taking a few deep breaths, Isidra said what she had buried in her heart before.

"Mr. Hansen, from the moment you saved me, I have admired you very much. But because Dr. Lane is my savior, I have always buried this love deeply in my heart."

While Isidra confessed, she blushed. Her eyes were full of admiration, expectation, and affection.

But under her gaze, Byron's expression remained unchanged.

There was no surprise or joy.

There was nothing.

Except for the indifference that was dedicated to her, there was nothing else on his face.

On the contrary, Cathy looked at Isidra in surprise, as if it was an immoral thing for Isidra to fall in love with Byron.

After Isidra had a panoramic view of the expressions of Byron and Cathy, she continued, "I am not violating ethics and morals. I only came to confess to you, Mr. Hansen, after you break up with Dr. Lane. So I come to you, Mr. Hansen."

But just now when she mentioned this, Byron suddenly asked her, "Have you said enough?"

Chapter 915 See Her to Be Ruined

Isidra frowned, thinking she had already expressed her love for Byron, but why did Byron still act like this?

Could it be that he didn't know that once he married her, with the strong support of the Wolf family, he would be powerful in the country?

But the matter had come to this point, so Isidra decided to go for it.

"Byron, I really didn't lie to you. Besides, you and Dr. Lane have already come to this point anyway, so why don't you try it with me? Maybe you will like me more than Dr. Lane?"

As soon as she said that, not only did Cathy look at her with a strange expression, but Byron's handsome face was cold as ice.

"You can't even compare to a strand of her hair. What qualifications do you have to compare with her?"

Byron's words made Isidra stunned.

What was going on?

Didn't Byron cheat on Cora because he was tired of her?

But why did he still defend Cora so much, acting like he loved Cora with all his heart?

Isidra couldn't bear such a hit and shouted with red eyes.

"Mr. Hansen, you haven't tried to be with me, so why are you refusing me so quickly? Even if I'm not as good as Dr. Lane, I'm still many times better than these fucked up bitches around you."

Hearing this, Cathy couldn't help but twitch the corners of her lips a few times.

She really didn't understand why Isidra cussed others when she couldn't get the man.

Didn't Isidra know that what she did was very hurtful?

If it weren't for the support of the Wolf family behind her, Isidra would have been torn apart countless times.

Byron saw Isidra's resentful and dissatisfied expression, and there was a hint of sarcasm in his indifferent expression.

"Do you think you are nobler than others by delivering yourself to others to play with?"

Isidra was extremely embarrassed and annoyed. "I didn't deliver myself to you. I just don't want to see you degenerate like this. I..."

But before she could finish her sentence, Byron directly reprimanded her.

"Shameless hoe. Get out of here. If you fuck off, I'll ask people to throw you into the sea to feed the fish."

Isidra was stunned.

Byron actually wanted to kill her.

Why did Byron hate her so much?

Why could Byron coax a woman who was not as good as her but humiliate her with all his might?

After he said that, Byron dragged Cathy away without even looking back.

Isidra, who was left alone on the beach, cried for a long time facing the sea and thought a lot.

She really didn't understand how she lost to that influencer named Cathy.

Byron could flirt with Cathy, but why wouldn't he even take another look at her?

She had always been conceited, so she naturally didn't think there was anything wrong with her.

It must be because Cathy had taken too much of Byron's attention, which caused Byron to be too lazy to deal with Isidra.

This shameless influencer dared to snatch a man from Isidra.

Then, she would let this shameless thing regret being born in this world.

Isidra was a man of action. As soon as she had an idea in her mind, she started to put it into practice.

She called her friend who worked on the social media platform and asked him to help dig up dirt on Cathy.

In addition, Isidra also ordered, "You must do it quickly. I want to see her to be ruined tonight!"

Chapter 916 Did You Miss Dad?

So, that night, the news that Cathy had been someone's sugar baby and ruined others' marriages and that she was still a bully in middle school suddenly spread all over the Internet.

In addition, there was another influencer who had a relationship with Cathy before taking the opportunity to publish a few intimate photos with Cathy before, which created a wave of popularity and made Cathy completely notorious.

At Isidra's request, most of the media tried to get Byron involved.

There were all kinds of titles. [The homewrecker had no moral bottom line. Does Mr. Hansen regret dating her?] [Mr. Hansen's new girl, Cathy, is canceled. The relationship is about to come to an end!]

At this time, Cora was still in her LO apartment, tutoring Martin in writing.

Before the phone rang, Cora was still patiently teaching Martin. "If Martin finishes writing all the numbers on this sheet today, I'll take you to the playground tomorrow. How about that?"

"Mom, are we going to bring Dad?" Martin's face, which was very similar to Byron, was full of anticipation.

He hadn't seen Byron for several days, so naturally, he missed Byron very much.

It was just that Cora looked depressed every day, and he guessed it had something to do with Byron, so he didn't dare to mention it.

Feeling that the timing was right today, Martin finally dared to ask about Byron.

Cora didn't directly answer his question but asked him softly, "Do you miss Dad?"

Martin hesitated for a moment and then nodded.

Cora looked at Martin's eyes full of yearning for fatherly love and fell into deep thought.

It was the phone ringing that brought her back to reality.

Cora was a little surprised when she saw the caller ID on her phone.

But later, she still answered the phone. "Hello, Mr. Wolf. What's the matter?"

After answering the phone, Cora's tone instantly became polite and alienated.

Hearing this completely different voice from before, Vaughn was a little hesitant to continue the call.

Cora didn't hear Vaughn say anything, so she simply said what she had kept in her heart before.

"If Mr. Wolf calls me because Miss Isidra Wolf wants to pursue Mr. Hansen, then I can tell you that it is useless to ask me about this matter. It depends on whether that man will agree or not."

Vaughn frowned. "I didn't call you for this. Did Isidra come to you because of this matter?"

Vaughn really didn't expect that Isidra would dare to provoke Cora so boldly.

Because in the eyes of others, Cora and Byron had been together for so long, and they even had a kid, Martin.

So even though they hadn't held their wedding yet, in the eyes of others, Cora was still Byron's wife.

Now that Isidra actually provoked Cora, which was simply a moral corruption.

"If Mr. Wolf wants to know what your sister has done, you should contact her directly."

Cora only felt that those two were so fake. One stabbed her in the heart, and the other pretended to make up for her, which was really disgusting.

"Dr. Lane, Isidra's personal behavior does not represent what I stand for. I called you today just to see if you are okay."

Vaughn's explanation only bored Cora, so she said, "Thank you, Mr. Wolf, for your concern, but it's unnecessary, and the Wolf family should not contact me anymore."

After saying this, Cora hung up the phone directly.

At this time, she happened to see a new post about Byron on her phone...

Chapter 917 Get Rid of This Relationship

Cora casually clicked on the news feed and saw various gossip about Byron's new girl, Cathy.

They said she had been a homewrecker, a bully in school, and had a messy private life...

Especially those spicy private photos...

But when Cora wanted to check the relevant content again, those pages couldn't be found.

Cora once thought that there was something wrong with her phone until she saw a new notification on her phone.

It was the lawyer's statement issued by the Hansen Group's legal team on behalf of Cathy and the company.

It said that because the news spreading on the Internet was not true and Cathy's daily life had been seriously affected, the legal team of the Hansen Group took a series of accounts to court.

In addition, if other people spread rumors about things related to Cathy and affected Cathy's life, the legal team of the Hansen Group would also sue these people.

After reading the entire statement, Cora couldn't help but read the comments below.

[It's Cathy's personal matter. Why is the statement issued by the legal team of the Hansen Group?]

[This is the act of protecting his woman. His love is so strong, which makes me jealous.]

[I think judging by Mr. Hansen's behavior of protecting Cathy, it seems that Cathy is so close to marrying into the Hansen family.]

Only a few people were mentioning Cora. [I remember that Mr. Hansen had a wife before, and it seems to be Cora, who is the first person to cure cancer.]

[Yes, I remember this too. It was reported earlier that Cora even gave birth to Byron's son a few years ago.]

[Sure enough, men are all fickle in affection. Look how long it has been. Mr. Hansen already abandoned his wife and son and got angry because of another woman.]

However, these comments were quickly outnumbered by other comments about longing for this kind of love.

After watching all these comments for a while, Cora felt that all this was quite boring.

Whether it was those people online or Byron himself, they all had left their sweet love in the past behind, but she was still here to look for any possibilities, trying to find a reason for this relationship to continue.

It was ridiculous.

When she put away her phone, she found that Martin was still looking at her.

"What's wrong?"

It was only later that Cora realized that she was discussing with Martin just now about whether to bring Byron to the playground tomorrow.

At this moment, she suddenly didn't know how to answer Martin.

It was Martin who took the initiative to say to Cora, "Mom, we won't take Dad, and we can go together tomorrow."

"Are you sure?" Cora did not forget Martin's look full of anticipation just now.

"Yes." Martin jumped off the chair, hugged Cora's leg, and continued, "And even if it's just the two of us from now on, it's okay."

Cora knew right away that Martin had guessed what had happened between her and Byron. He knew that they might even get a divorce, but he still chose to stand on her side quite sensibly.

"I'm sorry, Martin. I really want to give you a complete family, but it seems that I can't do it." Cora hugged Martin in her arms and apologized softly.

She understood that even if she was willing to continue this nominal marriage for Martin, it would not bring Martin happiness.

Instead of wasting her time on Byron, it was better to get rid of this relationship as soon as possible.

Chapter 918 He Lost Weight

Cora held Martin in her arms and talked to him a lot. Then, the two snuggled up in front of the French windows.

Everything seemed to be back to the beginning when Byron did not enter their lives.

Cora even thought that she and Martin could get used to it.

Even if Byron really never appeared in their lives again, it would be okay.

But in the end, this man who hadn't appeared in their lives for a month, appeared at the door early the next morning.

At that time, Cora and Martin were having breakfast when they suddenly heard the sound of the door lock being unlocked incorrectly.

Cora and Martin once thought it was some bastard, seeing that they were easy to bully and wanted to come in and steal.

As a result, Cora saw through the peephole that a man in a black shirt and trousers was standing at the door.

After several unsuccessful attempts to unlock the door, the man frowned.

Cora thought about it and opened the door anyway.

When Byron saw Cora open the door, he kept frowning.

"You deleted my fingerprints, didn't you? Did you also change the password?"

"Yes." Cora looked up at Byron.

She couldn't remember how long it had been since she met Byron's eyes like this.

This man was still handsome, but he had lost a lot of weight during this month.

The face that was originally sharp and angular now had even more prominent cheekbones.

Cora didn't understand. This man was out with his lover, and he didn't even care about his work, so shouldn't he gain some weight? Why did he lose weight?

Could it be that he was too tired from messing around with his new lover at night, so he lost weight?

"Why?"

When Byron's voice came again, Cora came back to her sense.

"You know why, don't you?"

She returned to her senses and realized that this man had cheated, so why should she care about how he lost weight?

Seeing Cora's reaction, Byron frowned.

He was about to say something when Martin's voice suddenly came from the room. "Mom, come here quickly!"

Cora thought that Martin had trouble with something, so she hurried into the room without caring about Byron.

"What's the matter, Martin?"

Byron was also worried about Martin, so he also followed into the room.

"Mom, breakfast is getting cold. Have breakfast first, and we'll go to the playground later!"

Martin's face was so indifferent that he didn't even glance at Byron.

Byron didn't see the child for many days, so he squatted down to talk to him.

"Martin, why don't you say hello to Dad? I haven't seen you for a long time. Don't you miss Dad?"

Byron even wanted to reach out and hug Martin.

But Martin stepped back a few steps and asked Byron with a vigilant face, "Mr. Hansen, please leave our home as soon as possible."

Byron frowned and felt a little surprised and sad. "Martin, I'm your dad, not Mr. Hansen..."

"Only the husband my mother admits is my dad."

Seeing the indifference on that little face, Byron found it hard to accept.

"Cora, did you teach him this?"

Byron felt that children should not understand such complex emotions in the adult world, so it was probably Cora who had taught him these things.

"Do you think I will do such a boring thing, Mr. Hansen?" Cora was slightly annoyed.

This man had been hanging out with those young models and influencers for a month, and he had not set a good example for his kid, but now he blamed her for not teaching her kid well.

How ridiculous!

Byron was also very annoyed when these two called him Mr. Hansen.

But without waiting for him to express his anger, Cora said to Martin, "Let's go. We can take breakfast with us and eat it on the way."

Chapter 919 A Family of Three?

Breakfast was sandwiches with milk.

So as long as she put them in a lunch box, she could take them out.

Martin agreed and then asked Cora, "Mom, can I bring two more bottles of juice?"

"Okay. You can go to the refrigerator and bring them to me."

After Cora finished speaking, Martin walked to the kitchen.

Seeing the two busy with their own things, Byron couldn't help asking, "Where are you going?"

"Mr. Hansen, you have no right to ask."

When Cora gave Byron this answer, they were already very well-prepared.

Cora took Martin's hand, turned around, and said to Byron, "Remember to lock the door for us when you leave later."

Then, the two left.

Byron looked at the backs of the two with a complicated expression.

But after hesitating for a moment, he followed them out.

When Cora took Martin and waited for the Uber car in front of the apartment gate, Byron's car had already driven up from the underground parking lot and stopped in front of the two of them.

He lowered the car window and asked Cora and Martin, "Where are you going? I'll take you there."

But both Cora and Martin chose to ignore him.

Especially Martin, when he saw the Uber car, he took Cora's hand. "Mom, the car is here. Let's go."

Then, Cora was taken away by Martin.

Seeing the two get into another car, Byron wondered whether he had a son or a rival in love.

Soon, the two had arrived at the playground.

When they entered the gate, Byron also followed.

"I bought a package ticket for a family of three. If you want to play in the playground, I actually built one especially for Martin."

Byron followed behind them. His voice was light, and his tone was a little flattering.

"No need. We are not that close. Why do we accept your things?" Cora said.

Martin also said, "Mr. Hansen, you should leave your playground to your future children."

Byron was slightly annoyed. "How can we not be close? How could I have other children?"

After Cora got the abortion, the doctor announced that it would be difficult for her to have another baby in the future.

So in Byron's life, he only had Martin.

For this reason, Byron even grabbed Cora's hand, wanting to explain clearly to her.

But Cora directly shook off his hand and said to Martin, "Martin, let's go in. Just ignore him."

Soon, the two left.

Then, Cora and Martin went on many rides.

Byron just followed behind the two of them.

At this time, a girl ran over and asked Cora, "Excuse me. Could you please help us take a photo?"

Cora saw that the girl was young and cute, so she readily agreed.

After Cora helped the girl take several photos in a row, the girl smiled and said, "Thank you. I can help you take a few photos for your family of three too."

Cora was about to refuse and explain that she and Byron were not a family, and they didn't need a group photo, but Byron had already handed over his phone.

"Thank you so much."

It was also his words that made Cora and Martin look up in astonishment at the same time.

Because in their memory, this man had never needed to be so polite and alienated.

By the time they came back to their senses, the girl was already standing in the distance, shouting to them, "Smile..."

Chapter 920 Deeply in Love With His Wife

Cora and Martin were still shocked in place, feeling a little hesitant to take a photo with this man.

At this moment, Byron suddenly put Martin on his shoulders and then put his arms around Cora's waist.

Cora and Martin looked at each other and saw surprise and joy in each other's eyes.

So in the end, they still did this photo...

After taking the photo together, when Byron just took back his phone from the couple, he turned around and found that Cora and Martin had already left.

Byron hurriedly thanked the couple and chased after the two.

And the couple looked at the back of Byron leaving in a hurry, and the girl muttered, "I seem to have seen that guy somewhere."

The boy asked her, "I remember you said the same thing when you hit up on me before. You don't have a crush on that man, do you?"

The girl punched the boy's chest and said, "Am I crazy? He already got a kid. Do you think I'll destroy his family?"

"Then why are you still staring at him?"

"I really think I've seen that guy somewhere!" The girl pondered for a while, and then suddenly she was delighted. "Mr. Hansen! That man just now seems to be the head of the Hansen family."

"Hearing what you said, I also think it's Mr. Hansen." The boy said.

Recently, gossip about Byron had been all over the internet. Even a person like him who didn't like gossip had been forced to read a lot, so he had a deep memory of Byron's appearance.

Just thinking of Byron's scandal, the boy said again, "But isn't Mr. Hansen busy with young models and influencers on vacation now? How is he with his wife and child suddenly? He is really a master at cheating!"

However, the girl said, "Didn't you see how Mr. Hansen's gaze was fixed on his wife just now?"

After she finished taking the photos just now, she took a look at the photos and found that in the few photos that were taken, Byron didn't look at the camera very much but stared at the woman affectionately.

"I think Mr. Hansen must still be deeply in love with his wife, and there must be some unavoidable reason for him to do those things."

The girl was still looking at the backs of Byron and Cora as they left, whispering softly.

...

There were not many rides here that were really suitable for Martin's age.

Soon, Cora had already taken Martin to play all the attractions he could play.

Cora bought some souvenirs for Martin and was ready to go home.

Byron was still following them. "Are we leaving now? Martin probably hasn't had enough fun yet. How about going to Martin's own playground?"

For Martin's exclusive playground, Byron consulted many experts' opinions and specially designed all the rides that were most suitable for him.

So if they went there, Martin should be able to have a good time.

Byron could also see that when he proposed this, Martin was a little moved.

But he shook his head quickly. "Mom, I want to go home."

Cora also knew that Martin did it for her and felt helpless in her heart. "Then let's go back."

After the two finished speaking, they left hand in hand without even looking back at Byron.

Byron watched their leaving backs and was about to follow.

At this time, his phone rang.

The moment he answered the call, Cathy's scream came from the other side of the phone.

"Mr. Hansen, please, come and save me. I don't want to die..."

In addition to Cathy's screaming, there was also a terrible sound of smashing things.

"Cathy, what's going on?"

Byron's words stopped Cora's pace.