

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 111 - Chapter 110(Unedited) Chapter 111: Chapter 110(Unedited)

Thomas Andre sat across from Suho with an embarrassed expression.

And next to them were his secretary Laura and representative Yoo Jin-ho.

"Sorry. Unconditionally, Thomas is the fault of this human being. I ask for mercy."

Ignoring Thomas, Laura was apologizing to Suho and Yoo Jin-ho on behalf of him.

In particular, he had no choice but to pray unconditionally to Yoo Jin-ho, the major shareholder of the scavenger guild.

"Stop talking Thomas and apologize first."

"Huh. No, I own the Scavengers, why do it for just a few pennies?"

"The moment our stock is cut in half because of CEO Yoo Jinho, just know that your earnings will also cut in half."

1

"I am sorry. I was a bit late, CEO Yoo Jinho."

It was Thomas Andre, who hesitantly straightened up at Laura's words and sat down.

Even so, he didn't forget to add a few words.

"Heh heh heh. This is all happening because I am not good at Korean, so let's just laugh and pass it on."

"...For that matter, your pronunciation is really good. Even if you said you are Korean, I would believe you."

"This is because I am such a fan of Korean dramas. I've been watching a lot of revenge lately, so my Korean is a bit on the extreme side."

"Thomas. Just apologize, just apologize."

Laura let out a sigh and shook her head at the gesture of Thomas, who was giggling and trying to pass it off as a joke.

Even so, the reason why he couldn't help but notice Yoo Jin-ho was because Laura, who was the first to come to Korea, knew the value of the brand 'Ajin Soft' very quickly.

'Ajin Soft. A global company leading virtual reality games around the world.'

It is said that the hunter world and the game world are completely separate businesses, but from the point of view of companies, in the end, large companies were bound to be intertwined in some way.

In particular, the fact that Ajin soft is preparing a game featuring hunters named 'Only I Level Up' was a great amount of high-quality information that was secretly spread among entrepreneurs.

2

Recently, information has been released to the public little by little, but in fact, few people know that Ajin soft started planning the project from the moment the cataclysm occurred.

And as if proving that fact, CEO Jinho Yoo had already been steadily buying stocks of large guilds around the world since then.

As if predicting in advance that the share price of hunter guilds would skyrocket the moment a virtual reality game featuring real hunters was released.

'CEO Jinho Yoo is truly a scary person. That they are making their own market and buying all related stocks before the market is created. That's not something anyone can do.'

Unlike Thomas Andre, who was only strong and immature, Laura was the one who knew the true face of CEO Jinho Yoo more than anyone else.

So, I had no choice but to do my best in dealing with him.

Anyway, thanks to that, the situation was resolved amicably, and Yoo Jin-ho let out a sigh of relief.

"Whoa. I'll get it right away. But why did Mr. Thomas come to our Suho?"

"Hmm. I will explain it myself."

When the atmosphere seemed to be getting better, Thomas smiled and looked at Suho.

"Sung Suho, we need your help."

"So suddenly?"

Suho looked at him with a genuinely shocked expression.

Do you think someone who needs help will come and attack you like you're going to kill them?

'Is your brain full of muscles? Or even senility.'

However, there was a part where Suho was stabbed right away to be angry with him over this.

"Okay. At first, I was going to drag it in moderation, but I never dreamed that it would be this difficult. I'm sorry anyway. I apologize."

"..."

"Uh huh. I apologized, so let go of your anger, man. I'm not saying anything because you killed our guild members."

Hearing those words, Suho flinched and almost lost his expression.

But, on the outside, he maintained a shameless expression and responded to his words.

"I don't understand what you mean at all."

"What are you talking about now? Our Suho has lived only in Korea all his life. How can a guy who has never been abroad claim to have killed a scavenger guild member?"

[Well done! Keep pushing!]

It was Beru who was cheering Yoo Jin-ho hard in the shadows.

"Hehe. Actually, that's a very strange part for me, too."

As if he knew it would come out like that, Thomas grinned and leaned back in his chair with a relaxed attitude.

"Of course there is no evidence. no witnesses Not only the corpses of our guild members who went missing in the first place, but even the pyramids that they said they went in to attack has disappeared."

"CEO Jinho Yoo, we don't have anything to argue for on this, so you can pretend you didn't hear."

Laura, who was commenting next to me, raised her glasses and said.

"But I heard that the Asura Guild hunters who survived and returned from the pyramid submitted strange reports. He said he became acquainted with a Korean figure called Hunter Sung Su-ho."

1

[I knew it would be like this! Little lord, I must rip their mouths apart!]

Beru stood up from under the shadows in a huff.

Suho stomped on the guy with his foot and talked casually.

"I don't know who it is, but it seems to be the same person."

"Of course it could be, but that is fine. After all, the guild members who went missing there were always a nuisance that caused a lot of trouble."

"okay. It doesn't matter where or by whom those idiots were beaten. Of course, if I were in my prime, I wouldn't let go of those who dared touch my property."

Thomas rolled his eyes and gnashed his teeth.

But he didn't spew out a life so hastily as before.

Rather, he muttered in a low voice mixed with a sigh, with a bitter expression on his face.

"...because I have much more important things to do now."

Thomas looked into Suho's eyes and spoke in a serious tone.

"Then I need you to help me."

"...what the hell are you asking for help with? I'm just a C-class hunter."

At this point, Suho also became curious.

What on earth is it that an American S-class hunter is asking for when he comes to him in Korea?

"It doesn't matter if you're C-class or E-class. Because Norma Selner's prophecies have never been wrong."

"Norma Selner? Could it be that the prophet prophesied about Suho?"

The first to react to those words was Yoo Jin-ho.

He was the only one of these four who had memories of his past life, so he knew better than anyone how important Norma Selner's prophecy was.

"okay. The old woman made a prophecy by picking out the Korean Sung Suho. Only this guy can help me."

When he pointed out himself, Suho asked.

"What kind of help do you mean?"

"I don't know. Because the grandmother's prophecy ended there. But my grandmother told me to tell you this."

"...?"

"Glacier Dungeon. Maybe there you can find a clue about your mother."

2

...!

Suho and Yoo Jin-ho, who suddenly heard words they couldn't even imagine, opened their eyes at the same time.

Even Beru, who was eavesdropping from below, couldn't help but be astonished.

[Kiehehehehe! A clue about Hae in! Little lord! It's a miracle! It's a miracle!]

'Be quiet for a moment! Organize your thoughts.'

Suho's mind suddenly felt like it was completely messed up.

does this make sense?

The first words of an uninvited foreign guest who came from a completely unexpected place are the actions of a mother who disappeared a few years ago.

Yoo Jin-ho hurriedly looked at Suho.

"Sung Suho! Norma Selner's prophecies are to be believed! You may not know, but she is...!"

[Even the small man knows! Once upon a time, my lord told me, that old woman was a prophet who even answered a prophecy about a war between the Shadow Legion and the Lords! I don't know what a glacier dungeon is, but this is one we absolutely must go to!]

4

While Beru was rambling in the shadows like that.

Thomas' secretary, Laura, was persuading Suho with a serious face.

"I can vouch for Norma Selner's prophecy, as I heard it with him. He didn't say more details, but he said that if you help us, it will definitely help the Hunter Sung Suho in some way."

1

"...I'll think about it for now."

Suho managed to open his mouth while calming his complicated mind for a moment.

In response, Thomas chuckled and said:

"Yes, yes. well thought out I knew you would accept it."

"Thomas Sung su-ho Hunter replied that he would think about it. Please study Korean more."

"That word is that word."

It was Thomas who accepted Suho's answer as he pleased and laughed heartily.

* * *

[Of course you're going?]

After Thomas went back to the hotel, Beru was stomping his feet anxiously at Suho who came home.

[No matter how much Haein-nim is blessed by his lord, in the end she is just an ordinary human being. Even at this moment, just thinking about where and what kind of hardships Haein-nim is going through makes me so worried... Hehehe!]

3

Beru, clinging to Suho's shoulder, wept bitterly.

Of course, he said he would think about it, but in fact, Suho's answer was fixed.

"Of course I will go."

It was the first clue about her mother found after several years of disappearance.

1

Even if the prophecy was false, it was right to go and check it unconditionally.

But the reason he was hesitant to answer now was another matter.

"Glacier Dungeon. The problem is that there is absolutely no information about where it is."

1

I don't know where it was, but it was a dungeon that even an S-class hunter would have a hard time with.

I was going to enter such a place, but I couldn't answer that I would go in without any information.

'Especially if there is a mother's clue there.'

1

Judging by Thomas Andre's temper today, there was a very high probability that he would kidnap him on the spot and take him to the United States the moment he answered yes.

'It's obvious that I'm senile. It's because he's an old man who came to ask for help and started attacking without hesitation.'

Let's be careful and careful again.

It wouldn't be strange if the old man came and kidnapped him, even tomorrow morning.

Before that, it was urgent to find out information about the Glacier Dungeon as soon as possible.

But the problem was that even Thomas Andre didn't have much information about it.

In the first place, the scavenger guild itself was not a guild with good information for a large guild.

The reason, ironically, was that next to Thomas, the guild leader, was Mrs. Norma Selner, a famous prophet.

With an excellent prophet right next to him, his ability to collect information while working hard was gradually deteriorating.

So, after sending Thomas back to the hotel, Suho asked Yoo Jin-ho to gather as much information as possible about the glacier dungeon.

And he also began to track information using Hunter Net and other means.

"If you're sure there's a mother's clue there, you can't make a mistake. I have to be fully prepared and go..."

2

That was then.

Suho's phone rang.

"Anyway, my phone never gets a break."

Perhaps, since Suho became a hunter, it was his cell phone that suffered more than anyone else.

"Is this a number you don't know?"

Suho looked at the number on the screen and made a puzzled expression.

I suspected it was spam for a moment, but it could have been a call from Thomas or Laura, so I pressed the call button.

Then, the voice that came from the other side was a completely different person.

—Hunter Sung Suho! I'm here! I'm Rio Singh!

"...Who was it?"

Suho covered his phone with his hand and looked at Beru.

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 112 - Chapter 111(Unedited) Chapter 112: Chapter 111(Unedited)

"...Huh. Is this the country of Hunter Sung Suho?"

As he left the airport, Rio Singh face was convoluted.

Rio Singh, the raid leader of the Asura Guild.

He was an Indian B-class hunter who fought the scavenger guild with Suho in Egypt.

Although he came to Korea to meet Suho, the situation he was in was not good.

'I never thought I would be demoted.'

relegation.

The vagueness of those two letters was heavy.

Not long ago, he went to a dungeon in Egypt to build up his performance, and came back with a solid taste of failure.

The guild leader of the Asura Guild held all the responsibility for him, who barely managed to return with his life, far from achieving any significant results.

In the process, Rio Singh came to report everything he had experienced.

The difficulty of the pyramid dungeon was much more dangerous than expected.

The tyranny of the scavenger guild, which monopolized the place without permission.

...In particular, at this point, Rio Singh repeatedly emphasized the story of the 'Korea's Hunter Sung Suho' who saved them in crisis.

I couldn't help it.

For Rio Singh, it was because the relationship with Sung Su-ho was actually the only achievement he had achieved in the Pyramid.

– Guild leader. He was a strong hunter, like an incarnation of Asura, and without him the pyramid would have become our tomb.

– Asura's incarnation? That Hunter was that strong? Talk about it in more detail.

When the guild leader showed interest in Suho, Rio Sing talked about Suho with more enthusiasm.

After hearing the story, the guild leader rubbed his chin in interest and nodded.

-hmm. He is definitely an extraordinary person. It's definitely a good thing from the guild's point of view that you've been interacting with such a hunter. It was a good choice to make friends with him by giving him a dungeon item as a gift.

– Thank you! Guild Leader!

-Good. In that sense, I will give you a special mission. Rio Singh! You should immediately go to Korea and recruit Hunter Sung Suho.

-Yes? Are you saying I'm going to be a scout myself?

-Then you should go yourself, who is close to you? Go to Korea, ask how much he is paid in the guild he is currently in, and scout him for an appropriate ransom.

-...!

-Oh, and don't even think about coming back until you recruit him.

At the guild leader's last words, Rio Singh finally realized.

Although the justification was claiming to be a scout, in fact this was the guild leader's last consideration for himself.

But I couldn't help but ask directly.

-Then, what will happen to my raid leader position in the meantime...

-It's not your part to get involved.

...it's cut.

He had no choice but to accept reality.

He tried to climb to a higher place by accumulating performance, but he even lost the position of raid leader.

'...but it's still too early to give up.'

Despite this situation, Rio Singh has not lost hope yet.

The last hope left for you.

Because there was Sung Suho!

'As long as I recruit him, the guild leader will see me again!'

Because he had witnessed the battle of Sung Suho right in front of his eyes, he could be sure.

The image of him wielding twin swords and slaughtering his enemies was truly the incarnation of Asura.

He was a talent more suited to the Asura Guild than anyone else.

If he joins the guild and shows great performance...

'I, who recruited him, will be promoted as well.'

Rio Singh was confident.

Before I came here, I was fully prepared to convince Suho.

"This is the 'way out!'"

Rio Singh's eyes were unusual as he skillfully read signs written in Korean.

'Only a week! That's how long it took me to master Korean perfectly.'

2

Even so, he was a well-known scholar in India until the cataclysm. There was nothing difficult about learning a new foreign language to a conversational level.

' Okay I can do it! Let's think of this as a new opportunity, not a demotion.'

And this was a good thing for Hunter Sung Suho as well.

Because he also wants to expand into a wider world than this narrow country!

Bell ring.

The moment he turned on his phone outside the airport, messages from the guild began to arrive as if he had waited.

-I found out the contact information of Hunters Sung Suho. Contact is here.

"Heh. Is it already It's fast too."

Rio Singh's expression showed pride.

After all, the information power of the Asura Guild is the best in India.

Digging up the information of hunters in other countries was nothing.

But that was then.

Tring! Tring! Tring! Tring!

"Yes?"

After that, his eyes widened as he checked the contents of the urgent messages that arrived one after another.

"What is this!"

-Emergency)) Information about 'Sung Suho' was leaked to the scavenger guild.

-Emergency) Thomas Andre took a private plane and departed for Korea.

-Urgent) Thomas Andre arrives in Korea!

-Emergency) The Korean Hunter Association failed to stop Thomas Andre's at the airport.

-Urgent) We are currently tracking Thomas Andre's movement through close cooperation with the Korea Association.

-Urgent) The prediction that Thomas Andre is visiting Sung Suho is certain...

"This is really a big deal!"

Realizing the seriousness of the situation, Rio Singh's complexion turned white.

Even so, the scavenger guild was panicking recently when the guild members who went to Egypt did not come back.

And as a result of the investigation, they found out that they entered the pyramid and disappeared from the earth together with the pyramid.

If you look that far, the case would have just fallen into the labyrinth...

"I never thought information would leak from us! The scavengers, these bullies again!"

For a large guild, the scavenger lacked information.

Ironically, the reason was that Thomas Andre, the guild leader, was close friends with the famous prophet Norma Selner.

There was a magical prophet right next to him, so naturally, he had to go out on his own to find information.

Then, when he needed information, he always used this method to extort information from other guilds.

Whatever the case, things got out of hand.

Considering Thomas Andre's personality, there was no way he would leave the people involved in the deaths of his guild members alone.

"Hunter Sung Suho is in danger!"

It was Rio Sing who urgently contacted Suho.

* * *

After some time.

When he arrived at the area where Suho was, Lio Sing was shocked.

4

"What the hell happened here?!"

Had a storm swept through it?

Or did the earthquake happen only in this area?

Sidewalk blocks that were horribly broken and smashed.

Asphalt shredded and crushed like a spider's web.

Rio Singh couldn't keep his mouth shut at the surrounding scenery where everything he could see was half destroyed.

And, circumstantially, there was only one person who could do such a great thing.

'Thomas Andre! Thomas has already been looking for Sung Suho!'

Rio Singh calmed his startled heart and scanned the surroundings thoroughly.

After all, he is a specialist who started from the bottom of the harsh Asura Guild and was quickly promoted to the leader of the raid in just two years.

With a keen eye coupled with his own seasoned experience, he could deduce what kind of battle was taking place here with little visible information.

Fire!

'I saw it!'

Rio Singh's eyes were wide open, and an illusion of clashing fictional characters was drawn in front of him.

once one.

'Thomas Andre stood here and used a magic field!'

It was clearly visible in Rio Singh's eyes.

Thomas Andre The figure of a gigantic silhouette unfolding a terrifying magic field centered on this place.

and two.

'The other party stands here and uses that magic field...'

Startled.

But something was strange.

'Wait a minute.'

After reading the situation, Rio Singh got goosebumps.

"You got through this? Thomas' magic field?"

Even after washing my eyes again, it was clear.

1

The opponent who was hit by Thomas Andre's magic field must have easily received the pressure.

It seemed that he even had a power struggle with Thomas Andre inside the magic field.

Looking at the traces left on the half-destroyed land, it was clear.

The problem is the outcome of the match...

"My God."

Rio Singh was astonished.

"Is this possible? Is it equal to that Thomas Andre, the strongest Hunter of mankind? How could this happen..."

There was no sign of using any other skill, so it must have been a clash of pure power and power.

Even so, this makes no sense.

No no no...

'It makes sense!'

Realizing the tremendous truth, Rio Singh trembled on the spot as if he had been struck by lightning.

"That's right! At that time, he was holding back his power because he was afraid the pyramid would collapse!"

Looking back, at that time, Suho leisurely left to hunt the giant centipede that had entered the pyramid.

Although he discouraged him, saying that he was obviously dangerous.

"You really had the confidence to hunt that centipede! Oh my God!"

In the end, only Rio Singh realized the whole truth.

He no longer felt sad about being demoted.

Information is power.

Unwillingly, he had learned the advanced information that Sung Soo-ho was a 'Goliath-level' before anyone else.

'This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity! I have to recruit Hunter Sung Suho at all costs!'

Sung Suho finally appeared in front of him who was so determined.

However, even after clashing with Thomas Andre, Rio Singh couldn't help but be astonished at his appearance, which was so fine.

"Rio Singh?"

"Hunter Sung Suho! Namaste!"

Finally, Singh realized that the moment had come to demonstrate his mastery of the Korean language.

Now is the time to let your splendid speech skills shine.

'First of all, an apology! After that, we'll make a scouting offer to protect you from Thomas Andre!'

A truly perfect scenario.

He desperately apologized to Suho with an extremely sincere look.

"Sung Suho! I'm sorry! It's because of Thomas Andre. It's okay?"

"hmm?"

"Thomas is scary! sign up? Asura Guild!"

1

"...What are you talking about again?"

[It seems to be a new type of voice phishing, Master.]

"Asura Guild! join!"

1

"..."

Suho was just devastated.

"Do I really have to move..."

Following Thomas Andre, the second foreigner came to visit today, and neither of them were sane.

'At this point, my personal information seems to be a real public good.'

How did you find out the alternate phone number?

How did you know the address?

Heck, even recently, even the Hyunmu Guild, which is only known in Korea, came to visit his house, so I wonder if anyone can't.

However, apart from Suho's dejection, this moment was the most serious for Rio Singh throughout his entire life.

He explained in detail what had happened to Suho.

"I told the guild leader. Sung Suho is a strong hunter. Between our Friendship!"

...It was an explanation I did my best without needing to summarize.

[Kieeaek! Did I say we were friends now?]

Beru, who had been holding on to him, burst out of the rage he had been holding back and jumped out of the shadows.

[A traitor who dared to sell out the little lord, come here shamelessly?! A worm that would not be happy even if it was divided into five parts for this crime of treason...!]

But.

"What does it mean? I don't know difficult words. easy easy."

[...kiik?] When

Rio Singh tilted his head with a puzzled expression, Beru's vitality shook.

Then, I chose the word juseomjuseom.

1

[Hmm... Tearing the limbs for treason...]

Tilting?

"It's hard. easy easy."

[Pull off the arms and legs from the torso and tear off the hair...]

Tilt?

"Easier and easier."

[...]

Oh yeah.

You really can't speak Korean, you b*stard.

Beru eventually snarled in his face with clear intent to kill.

[you. bad. Human.]

"Right! I'm bad! Namaste!"

1

[Eh eh EX-!]

In his serious eyes, leaning and joining both hands, Beru turned his head to Suho.

[Little Lord! Can I chew and eat this human brain?]

1

"No, more than that."

Indeed, Suho suddenly smiled kindly and looked at Rio Singh.

"Rio Singh. Thomas Andre is here to kill me. Did you know?"

"I know. I'm very sorry."

"Only in words?"

"...huh?"

"Are you sorry for just words?"

Suho was smiling brightly.

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 113 - Chapter 112(Unedited) Chapter 113: Chapter 112(Unedited)

Suho thought.

'It just went well.'

The Asura Guild that Rio Singh belonged to was one of the most popular guilds in India.

If it was the Asura Guild, it might have known information that the Scavenger Guild didn't know.

"I need information."

"...information? What information?"

"Information about dungeons."

Suho asked Rio Singh, who was watching him with a nervous expression

"Do you know about the Glacier Dungeon?"

"Glacier? What's that?"

It must have been a difficult word for Rio Singh.

Rio Singh quickly turned on the translator to find out the meaning, and his expression brightened.

"Ah Glacier Dungeon! I know where that is!"

"You know? really?"

Suho's eyes widened.

I've been asking, but I'm sure you know!

[Kieek!]

Beru was also surprised and grabbed Rio Singh by the collar and yelled at him

Even though those two arms were finger-thick, their momentum was brutal.

[You better be telling the truth! If you're lying, I will tear you limb from limb]

"Kekeke. I really do know where it is! Asura Guild! Asura has a lot of information!"

It was Rio Sing, who, even in the midst of embarrassment, was well-informed about promoting the guild.

It was not an exaggeration. The Asura Guild has got quite good information.

In the first place, the scavenger guild was only weak in information compared to its size.

It was normal for most guilds to make an effort to build their own database by buying and selling each other's information.

And the scavenger was also planning to change its policy to further strengthen its information power with this incident as an opportunity.

At the unexpected income, Suho said that he was doing well and his eyes lit up.

"You said you knew where it is right? So can you tell me everything you know about the Glacier Dungeon? And don't leave a single detail behind."

"Yes! Why are you going there?"

"I decided to enter that dungeon sooner or later with Thomas Andre."

"What?!"

At those words, Rio Singh trembled as if struck by lightning.

What did I hear just now?

Where are you going with Thomas Andre? In Glacier Dungeon?

"No! It's very dangerous! Everyone who has gone there has died!"

"I have to go even if it is dangerous. My mother might be in that dungeon."

flinch.

Rio Singh's expression hardened at Suho's determined words.

"Uh, why is your mother there?"

"Anyway, yes."

'It's not exactly my mother, but my mother's clue.'

Suho explained it in a condensed way so that he could understand it as much as possible, and unintentionally, the words were more persuasive.

Rio Singh shook his head with a serious expression.

It was difficult to judge the situation because there was so much information coming in at once.

'Sung Suho's mother is in the Glacier Dungeon? It is a dungeon known only to a small number of guilds and yet...'

It seems that the preliminary research on Seongsu Lake was insufficient.

I never thought Seong Soo-ho's mother was also a hunter.

2

Is that a level hunter to enter the glacier dungeon?

'No, more important than that...'

The problem was the name Thomas Andre that came out of Suho's mouth.

Why is Suho going to enter the dungeon with Thomas Andre?

'...for a moment. Could it be that the purpose of his visit to Sung Soo-ho was not for revenge, but for recruiting?'

I suddenly woke up.

Feeling giddy, Rio Singh hurriedly turned his gaze around to see the devastated landscape around him.

Looking back at the traces that Suho and Thomas Andre created while clashing, it was impressive.

And I realized

'...Now I know.'

If Thomas Andre had put all his strength into it, it couldn't have ended just like this.

'The interview was held here! It was a test of Seongsuho's strength!'

2

What kind of interview is so lousy?

That was understandable enough when I recalled Thomas Andre's usual personality.

Feeling like he was cut in the line by a hair's breadth, Rio Singh felt desperate.

'Couldn't you have already signed a contract? It doesn't seem like it if you look closely.'

He swallowed dry saliva and asked Suho directly.

"Has Sung Suho joined the Scavenger Guild?"

"No. Why?"

"No?"

Rio Singh's expression suddenly brightened.

And with a determined expression, he banged his chest.

"I know! I'll tell you about the Glacier Dungeon!"

Suho's eyes widened at the difficult answer.

'done!'

I was lucky.

Information about dungeons is more precious than a thousand gold.

In particular, information on places that are still unknown, such as the Glacier Dungeon, is difficult to convert.

Even from Rio Sing's point of view, it was a sensitive matter that could directly or indirectly cause economic damage to the guild if leaked.

But now wasn't the time for Rio Singh to slow down.

'We can't have this kind of talent stolen from another guild right in front of our eyes!'

He quickly checked to see if there were any other hearing ears around.

Confidently, he started listing the information he knew to Suho one by one.

"It is very cold there. Breathing, eating, sleeping, walking are all dangerous."

"It's a glacier, so it's natural. Anything else?"

"It is really very cold. It's too cold, so the action slows down. Debuff area!"

"Debuff area?"

[Small lord, it seems that the place is cursed with slowness in a wide range.]

This information was so important that even Ber intervened.

1

It's not simply a matter of the weather, but a dungeon with a curse that has a direct adverse effect during battle.

but.

'It doesn't matter to me'

Fortunately, Suho was immune to all curses thanks to 'Kandiaru's Blessing'.

However, this was only a blessing for the guardian individual and would be a definite risk factor for other hunters who would move together as a group.

"Okay. Anything else?"

"Mmm."

When Suho nodded and asked again, Rio Singh hesitated for a moment.

Because this is really important information.

"This is a secret. promise?"

"huh. promise. What are you so lazy about?"

"There are Ice Elves in the Glacier Dungeon. A lot of them"

3

"what? Ice elf?"

A strangeness appeared in Suho's eyes.

If you were an ice elf, it was a rare beast that was rarely seen in dungeons.

However, the information Rio Singh gave me was very different from the ice elves' habits listed on HunterNet.

"Don't ice elves usually go in pairs? And don't they use bows from a distance?"

"Right! However, the ice elves in the Glacier Dungeon are different."

In response to Suho's question, Rio Singh spoke clearly, using a translator to avoid any misunderstanding.

"There is a tribe of ice elves living there. At least hundreds of known numbers."

"Hundreds?"

This was the advanced information the Asura Guild had.

"huh. Glacier Dungeon is the country of ice elves."

* * *

Meanwhile.

Even at this moment, the Hunters who recklessly set foot in the Glacier Dungeon were being pursued helplessly.

"Huh! Huh!"

pure white snow.

Shush shush shush shush!

Arrows rained down on the cold wind that would freeze even your breath. The arrows

pouring down from all directions were relentlessly aiming for their lives.

Puppy pew!

4

"Keep!"

"My leg...!"

1

Dozens of arrows were stuck in their backs and legs as they fled.

However, the expressions of the hunters crawling on the floor, saying that they would try to survive somehow, were full of desperation.

"Hey. Those tenacious b*stards...!"

"They intend to kill us by drying us out!"

There was no hope here anymore.

Never thought that they, who were hunters, would fall into a miserable prey...!

And there were hundreds of hunters who were indifferently looking down at them from a high place in despair.

ice elf.

They aimed their bows at the strangers who invaded this land with cold eyes.

hundreds of bows.

A rain of arrows pouring down from there.

"Nonsense! Ice elves swarm!"

"If I had known this place was like this, I would never have entered!"

The ice elves known to the public were 'relatively docile' monsters that were found with very rare probability.

They always had a habit of sticking together, always carrying a crude bow and arrow made of wood in their hands.

Strangely, however, they were so-called 'non-professional mobs' who never attacked until someone approached them first.

Even the moment the hunters attack the dungeon and the gate closes.

They just silently hid themselves in the depths of a faraway dungeon and watched the hunters quietly.

That's why the nickname given to them was...

[The Watcher]

...'the one who watches'.

However, the hunters who rushed to hunt them even once never called them by that name.

ice elf.

They thought they were docile, but the moment someone turned them against them.

He turned into a brutal marksman who hunted enemies with unusual movements.

Contrary to their beautiful appearance, they are actually very cruel and warlike ice elves.

So another nickname was born....

Baekgwi (白鬼)

It meant an elusive white ghost.

However, despite this, 'Baekgwi' still belonged to a safe beast.

Their archery skills were excellent, but at most they traveled in pairs, so their numbers weren't threatening.

Most of all, because it was a non-linear mob.

But that information has now lost its value.

At least here in the Glacier Dungeon.

A land where hundreds of sharpshooters live together.

Even if you knew this information in advance and prepared for it, would you have survived safely?

"Aww! Do not come! Don't come!"

A man hurriedly crawling across the floor with arrows stuck in his legs and back.

Turbuck.

A cold shadow fell over his face, pale with fear.

1

"You are the last."

The man looked up in fear at the ice elf who approached and spoke to him.

Because he had already shed too much blood, he could barely see his opponent through his blurry vision.

Silver eyes with gray hair and fair skin.

and pointy ears.

By human standards, she was a small and young girl who looked only about 10 years old.

"You stranger who invaded our land. I am Shirka, the guardian of the Baruka tribe."

5

An ice elf girl wearing a furry cap proudly introduced herself with cold eyes like frost.

But even after hearing that, there was no response from the man.

It was natural.

Because there was no way humans could understand the demon's language.

However, Shirka continued her words as if it was okay.

"I will ask only one question. If you want to live, you will have to answer well."

Sirka took a short deep breath and asked him a question clearly.

"Do you know the Shadow Lord?"

2

"What the hell are you talking about!"

Seeing the girl speaking to him in an unknown language, the dying man cried out in anger.

"I ask you one last time. Do you know 'Sung Jin-Woo'?"

"Just f*cking kill me! Kill me!"

"If you don't know, die."

Chew!

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 114 - Chapter 113(Unedited) Chapter 114: Chapter 113(Unedited)

The next day.

As soon as the day dawned, Suho headed for Euljiro.

Thanks to Rio Singh, now that I knew the enemies I had to deal with, it was time to prepare accordingly.

'Hundreds of archers ....'

Of course, I didn't think this information was unconditionally certain.

Perhaps there were more unrevealed ice elves, so we had to assume the possibility that they were much more numerous than that.

Besides, just in time, he had a money line to hope that Suho would not die.

"Our guild leader has a lot of money. I will buy you a guardian item."

Just Rio Singh.

On a business trip to scout Suho, he had a corporate business card given to him by the Asura Guild.

He was willing to swipe his credit card anyway to pay off his debt to Thomas Andre and to buy Suho's favor.

But Beru grabbed Rio Singh by the collar and growled ferociously.

[Don't boast about the price you deserve. The crime of putting the little lord in danger will disappear...]

"Kekkeek. hard to say easy easy."

[...I'll use it well]

Beru quickly took his corporate card and presented it to Suho.

Caang- Caang-

Kiyiing-!

Upon arriving at Euljiro, noises from all directions awaited them.

Once in Euljiro, I used to hear these words like a running joke.

'Everything is sold in Euljiro except people.'

A store where you can find anything you need.

A special area lined with special workshops with a lot of specialized equipment.

That place was Euljiro.

It was only after the cataclysm that Euljiro began to become more famous in earnest.

Eventually, the moment they came out of the narrow alley.

Fire!

...!

Sucked into an open field of vision, a tremendous sight unfolded before them.

[Euljiro Blacksmith]

This

is how Euljiro adapted to this era of upheaval.

[Hunter Exclusive Survival Kit Wholesaler]

[Shield special processing]

[Sword and ax blade sharpening.]

[Plate armor workshop]

[Making/processing blunt weapon castings]

A rare scene with various signboards.

Hunter goods were displayed in front of them.

There would be no Hunter who would not roll his eyes even after seeing this.

'iced coffee! Is this Korea's Hunter Mall?'

So did Rio Singh.

Of course, there are places like this in India as well, but new weapons are waiting for new weapons dealers.

In addition, it was quite unusual for him to see arms dealers concentrated in one area like Korea.

"Guardian! Steering here too! Item Shop! Blacksmith!"

In fact, regardless of nationality or grade, if you are a hunter, you have no choice but to become an equipment enthusiast.

It was because normal hunters couldn't level up like Suho, so there was no way to become stronger.

First of all, since the amount of magic power is a fixed value, the only effort they can make is to increase their physical strength.

4

In other words, physical training through rigorous training such as gym or sports.

Or, it was just to develop proficiency in using their skills in various ways based on their numerous practical experiences.

However, there was one sure way to grow up that could easily ignore all those hardships.

right temp.

A stronger weapon!

More durable armor!

If you change the equipment you use to something slightly better, you can become just as strong.

So, it was only natural for Hunters to change their equipment.

* * *

"Tsk. Are you here now?"

In front of Blacksmith in Euljiro, there was a person who arrived first and was waiting for Suho.

The middle-aged man, who was leaning his back against the wall with his arms crossed, looked at Suho and made a disapproving expression.

"...You're probably the first person to call me out to recommend some usable items."

Suho was absurd.

"No, uncle. 'Why did I call him uncle?' I just asked for a recommendation for a weapons store you know! You insisted on coming out and showing me yourself..."

Oldly, you have to touch and pick a weapon yourself. What if I texted you Tick for no reason and you get caught somewhere? Are you going to spread rumors that the guild leader you bought at that time was not good at paying attention?"

"Oh, I hope I do."

"...!"

Rio Singh, who was listening to their conversation from the side, realized the man's true identity and trembled as if he had been struck by lightning.

'oh my god! I wonder where I've seen it, isn't it Lim Tae-gyu, an S-class hunter?! Did this person know Hunter Sung Suho?'

While on a business trip, Rio Singh had already familiarized himself with the information about hunters in Korea.

Of course, I knew someone like Lim Tae-gyu.

'Now I see that Scavenger wasn't the only competitor. Of course, I had no idea that large guilds in Korea would also covet Sung Suho.'

1

He looked at Suho's intentions with a nervous expression.

"So Suho, wanna join the Reaper Guild?"

"No."

"No!"

Rio Singh's face lit up again.

But it was still too early to let go.

"Who is this guy again? A new friend?"

"Yes. I am an Asura Guild Hunter."

"Ah, was it an Indian hunter?"

At that moment, indifferent Lim Tae-gyu's gaze and Rio Singh's eyes collided in the air, and Rio Singh suddenly noticed.

The fact that Lim Tae-gyu's expression toward Suho is full of regret (?).

'I can't do it. I need to contact the guild leader and ask for a higher limit on the corporate card.'

3

Sung Suho could have been taken away right in front of me if I was pushed back here.

Moreover, right in front of his eyes, a conversation was going on that justified Rio Singh's anxiety.

"...Anyway, thank you very much for coming in person. You must be busy, but please make time for me."

"The guy who kept chewing on the contact of that busy person until now speaks well."

"Oh, I'm really sorry about that. There are so many guild sign-up messages these days, so I haven't read them all."

"What happened? You say you're building your career to set up a separate guild anyway?"

"How did you know?"

"...somehow I found out about it. Originally, this floor was narrow."

It was Lim Tae-gyu, who quietly changed his words with a shy expression.

Because of the Vice President Lee Min-seong's case, the Reaper guild was not making sense these days.

It was also a problem that his image plummeted in one shot, but he was also experiencing financial difficulties.

He ran out of money to give away the death consolation money for the hunters who died at the time of the incident to the bereaved families by robbing Lim Tae-gyu of his personal expenses.

He did everything he could, but that doesn't mean that his image once lost could not be easily restored.

'...so I tried to recruit this guy somehow.'

In a situation where many hunters are lost and manpower is urgently needed, it is natural to miss one talented person like Suho.

However, there was no way to bring in a guy who said he would set up a guild himself.

'Besides...'

Lim Tae-gyu, who stared at Suho's face for a while with a complicated gaze, opened his mouth.

"Anyway, what are you going to buy today?"

"A bow. You are the best expert on bows in Korea."

"That is normal."

"...bow?!"

Rio Singh was greatly taken aback by the conversation between the two.

'This is crazy! To use the same bow as a countermeasure against hundreds of ice elves!'

The strategy is terribly wrong!

Naturally, Rio Singh, who thought Suho had come to buy armor and shields, panicked and stopped him.

"Guardian! There are so many ice elves! Full plate mail! I recommend a tower shield!"

"...There are a lot of ice elves?"

Lim Tae-gyu's eyebrows twitched as he heard Rio Singh's words.

Then, he quickly turned serious and glared at Suho.

"Just a moment. Are you thinking of entering the Glacier Dungeon right now?"

"Uh? Do you know about the Glacier Dungeon?"

"Who do you think I am? Do you think I, Lim Tae-gyu, don't even know that much information?"

At Suho's reaction, Lim Tae-gyu sighed heavily and gnashed his teeth.

No matter how bad things got, the Reaper Guild was considered the best guild in Korea until recently.

That much information was, of course, well known.

"No wait. Then why did Thomas Andre come yesterday...?"

It was only a small piece of information, but it was Lim Tae-gyu who noticed a lot with that alone.

Recently, rumors were circulating in the industry that Scavengers were aiming for glacier dungeons.

He looked at Suho with a strange expression.

"Were you acquainted with Thomas Andre?"

"No. I just met him yesterday."

"What the hell... no, if you don't know anything else, don't ever go in as a Scavenger. They are ignorant."

"I'm not going in. Somehow, we only ended up entering the dungeon together this once."

1

"Good luck then. But why are you buying a bow when you're going to the Glacier Dungeon? Against hundreds of archers, of course you would need large and sturdy armor, right?"

"That's right! Armor! shield! Buy a tower shield!"

Even Rio Singh joined in to try to change Suho's heart.

However, Suho's mind was already set.

The defense was already sufficient.

Even without a shield, there were plenty of ways to block the arrows.

And above all...

'Of course it's more about attack than defense.'

Rather than standing still and blocking an attack, it suited his temper to attack first.

5

However, Lim Tae-gyu and Rio Singh, who did not know Suho's intentions, continued to nag while following Suho as he entered the bow shop.

"Okay. Aside from the shield, why is it a bow? you're a swordsman It's not like the Scavenger guild doesn't have archers."

"That's right. Suho originally uses dual swords. Asura."

"Yes, Suho. I'm sure you're mistaken, but a bow is by no means an easy weapon to handle. you know?"

Lim Tae-gyu, who is acknowledged to be the best archer in Korea, could not allow a newcomer like Suho to take the bow lightly.

"Anyway, everyone is mistaken for the image of an archer because of the games that have come out these days, but in fact, there is no occupation that requires as much strength as an archer. The higher the attack power, the bigger and heavier the bow, so pulling the bowstring... Huh?"

The reason why Lim Tae-gyu's nagging, which seemed to last forever, suddenly stopped.

It was because Suho just picked up the biggest and heaviest bow in the store.

[Strength: 115]

Waahia-

Suho was so light that he was pulling a bow demonstration.

"...?"

"...?"

"Mister, can you see if this is a good bow... Why are you looking at me like that?"

When Suho's eyes met, Lim Tae-gyu cleared his throat with an embarrassed expression.

"Hey, the power is good. By the way, you were a class C Mana Power, right? Are you sure it's C-class?"

Lim Tae-gyu, who recalled Suho's battle he had witnessed, looked at Suho with a slightly suspicious expression.

"Did you get a re-measurement after that? No, even if it's roughly grade B. Do you have archery skills in the first place?"

"I don't have one."

"What? no? If you don't have archer skills, your mana will run out quickly after just a few shots, right?"

Lim Tae-gyu touched his forehead, realizing how much Suho was a rookie hunter.

If he forcibly condensed mana to create an arrow without an archer skill, the efficiency of mana per arrow was too poor.

Compared to normal archer hunters, it consumes 3 to 10 times more magic power.

Suho shrugged at his question.

"Everything has a way..."

It was then.

As he spoke, Suho's complexion hardened terribly.

—!!!!

A huge wave of magical energy spread throughout the area.

"...!"

"...!"

At that moment, all the hunters in the store opened their eyes almost simultaneously and turned their eyes in the same direction.

A tremendous energy was felt far beyond that direction.

"It's a dungeon break!"

"It's around here!"

Urgent voices erupted from the mouths of the hunters in Euljiro, no matter who said it first.

But there was nothing to worry about.

This is Euljiro.

Maybe it was the place where the most hunters gathered in Korea.

"Whoever catches this first is the owner!"

The hunters all put down the things they were going to buy and started running to the place where they felt the dungeon break.

in the middle of the mess.

Lim Tae-gyu was looking at Suho standing next to him with a strange expression.

'Is it an illusion?'

When everyone looked at the place where the energy wave was felt at the same time.

There was a person who turned his head first than anyone else.

'...I think this guy was the fastest.'

Maybe even more than myself.

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 115 - Chapter 114(Unedited) Chapter 115: Chapter 114(Unedited)

An archer is a job that requires you to be more sensitive than anyone else.

Feeling the opponent's presence and predicting the next move is the basic of the basics.

Even more so, he had to calculate the direction of the wind and let go of the bowstring.

In that sense.

Lim Tae-gyu was proud of his senses.

To be sure, he was confident that he would be the best in the world in terms of the sense of presence.

So there was nothing more absurd.

'Do you have better senses than me?'

No way.

No matter how much I knew that Suho was a very talented person, this was also nonsense.

'...It must be because of my mood.'

But it wasn't my mood.

In fact, Suho felt the signs faster than anyone else here, and he had no choice but to do so.

[An urgent quest has arrived.]

The quest has arrived right in front of you.

[Urgent Quest: Swamp]

A dungeon break has occurred near the player.

Solve the demons of the swamp that pollute the city and earn rewards.

'They're the magic beasts of the swamp.'

Apparently, the demonic beasts that protruded were on the beast side.

The sense of guardianship that calmly checks the quest is already an instinct itself.

It had become a predator that had found its prey in the wild.

[The 'Title: Wolf Slayer' buff effect is activated.]

The title effect popped out on its own before I even realized it.

1

The smell of beasts mixed with the magic wave of the Dungeon Break was vibrating everywhere.

"Let's go too."

"Where are you going?"

"Where is it? The dungeon break has exploded."

"Didn't you see the number of people who just came? They will figure it out."

Even at Suho's words that ignited his fighting spirit, Lim Tae-gyu only shrugged his shoulders.

Probably, if it was this much of a commotion, all the hunters who were shopping in Euljiro would have run.

No matter how much natural disasters belong to the dungeon break, there shouldn't be a big problem with that many people.

In addition, there was also the issue of commercial morality.

"If you don't know yet, it's polite for an S-class hunter like me to leave the kids out. Besides, we didn't even carry weapons anyway... Huh? Are you really going?!"

Suho was running out of the distance holding the bow he was already holding.

Embarrassed, Lim Tae-gyu shouted after him.

"Hey man! The bow you're holding now is a lot more expensive than I thought...!"

"It's okay! I will buy it for you!"

At that time, it was Rio Singh who suddenly took out a corporate card from the side.

After quickly paying for the bow Suho carried, Lim Tae-gyu put on a puzzled expression when he saw Rio Singh following Suho.

"Are you a hogu or a water owner?"

"It's okay! Our guild leader has a lot of money! Guardian Asura Chinguda!"

1

"What the. If we lose him to India like this, it will be difficult as it is."

Lim Tae-gyu grumbles with a puzzled expression.

It was not uncommon these days for useful Korean hunters to be taken away from other countries in exchange for large sums of money.

From a long-term perspective, this will lead to a weakening of national defense...

"Go with me, you b*stards!"

Lim Tae-gyu brushed off the old-fashioned thoughts that continued in his head and quickly caught up with Suho in an instant.

And as if it had nothing to do with it, he reached out his hand toward the bow holding Suho.

1

"How many rounds can you fire with your magical power anyway? Alright, pass that bow. I will especially show you what a real archer is like... What are you doing?"

I don't know how many times his nagging has stopped halfway through.

After coming out of the store, Suho was aiming his bow at the sky.

It was the direction where the dungeon break was felt, but it was covered by buildings, so nothing could be seen from here.

Lim Tae-gyu asked Suho with a puzzled expression.

"I can't even see it from here, but what are you doing now..."

It was then.

The reason why Suho's eyes flashed toward invisible enemies.

"Spring up, Quay."

Shuwook-!

At that moment, a pointed spear of black energy rose from within Suho's shadow.

[Quay Lv.3]

Transformation-Arrow

3

"...!"

In an instant, Lim Tae-gyu's eyes were colored with astonishment.

'Magic arrow?! Is something different?!'

Something is wrong.

Even if it's wrong, it's firmly wrong.

Just at the moment Suho created the arrow, there was no feeling of mana being compressed in the process.

'Generate arrows without consuming mana? No, that can't be possible!'

when he gets confused

Glance.

Quay's gaze, which had turned into a shadow arrow, briefly passed Lim Tae-gyu's face.

[...]

Lim Tae-gyu.

A love-hate relationship that was once friends.

But now, as if it were all good, Suho pulled out Quay, who turned his gaze forward again, and held the bowstring.

A terribly hideous energy flowed from the swollen shoulder muscles and arms.

"Quay."

[Yes Master.]

"Fly and pierce."

[As directed.]

Whee-ae-ae-ae-!

As soon as he let go of the protest, Quay immediately became a single black bolt of lightning and soared into the sky.

Towards the invisible enemy beyond.

* * *

And about 30 minutes ago.

An ominous disaster was happening near Suho's house.

"...Suho. You cute baby."

Thomas Andre, who returned to Suho's house after a day, was smiling with a bloody expression.

Suho was not at home.

Even when he zoomed in, he couldn't feel his aura anywhere nearby.

"How pathetic! Did he get scared and run away even though his mother was caught?"

Koo Goo Goo!

The ground shook as if toppling from his anger.

However, his secretary Laura, who was next to him, was not taken aback and just looked around indifferently.

Yesterday was a bit embarrassing, but she was already used to the antics of the old man, who is said to be the strongest of mankind.

'Anyway, as I got older, my temper only got worse.'

Laura immediately calmed him down.

"Look Thomas, he didn't run away. See the note here."

"Hmm?"

Only then did Thomas Andre notice the small note attached to the door and raise his eyes.

-I'm going out for a while.

"Outing? Not running away?"

After checking the note, Thomas' anger faded in an instant.

"Yes. Come to think of it, I only gave a business card to CEO Yoo yesterday and didn't leave a contact information for Hunter Sung Suho. So I guess he left a note."

"Ah, that's right. So where did he go?"

"I'll find out right away."

Despite Thomas Andre's sudden request, Laura didn't panic and turned her gaze behind her back.

"Did you say you were the team leader Han Jae-hyuk?"

"...Yes."

At the sudden question, a tall man awkwardly walked out from behind the alley.

It was Han Jae-hyeok, the team leader of the Hunter Association.

"Do you know where Hunter Sung Suho went out to?"

"...Yes. I figured it out in advance."

"You are competent. I heard that the Korean Hunter Association is quite amazing."

"Thank you."

"What thanks. I was telling the truth."

In spite of Thomas Andre's praise, who was in a good mood, team leader Han Jae-hyeok could not relax.

'It feels like dealing with a time bomb that doesn't know when it will explode.'

1

Since Thomas Andre arrived in Korea yesterday, the Hunters Association have been circling him.

Thomas Andre is literally a walking bomb.

I couldn't take my eyes off him for a moment, not knowing what he would do in Korea.

Even when they clashed with Suho here yesterday, they were watching the two from afar.

Fortunately, Thomas didn't seem to be doing his best, so he just watched.

2

They didn't know how nervous they were because they had planned to jump out all at once and stop Thomas.

'Okay. Why did this happen when the president of the association was away...'

1

Team leader Han Jae-hyeok sighed, blaming the president of the association for helping North Korea just at the right time.

Only two years after the cataclysm.

Although the association is working hard, the Hunter Act is still weak and has many loopholes.

Experts put forward the view that at least five more years will be needed for the Hunter Act to be properly established.

In any case, physical time is required because of the procedures required for new laws to be enacted.

Given the circumstances, it was common for savage gangsters like Thomas Andre to lightly ignore trivial laws.

However, he could not be accused and put in prison.

Rather, it was thanks to humanity that he did not walk the path of a villain and quietly (?) acted as a hunter.

"So Mr. Han. Where did this little boy go after cheating on me?"

6

"...they say they are in Euljiro right now."

Fortunately, Thomas Andre didn't seem to be hostile to Sung Suho, so Team leader Han Jae-hyeok answered meekly.

"Euljiro? What kind of town is it to be going there?"

2

"Euljiro is a special area that sells hunter specialized equipment."

"Oh, the arms dealer? Look at this wonderful guy?"

Thomas Andre immediately felt better and grinned.

What did it mean when he said he went to buy weapons when t wondered where he was going so early in the morning?

Laura nodded.

"I guess he made up my mind last night, to come with us."

"Catch a taxi Laura."

"...?"

"Does that kid have eyes for weapons? Of course I have to choose."

'Ah, finally...'

Han Jae-hyeok, the team leader, felt dizzy.

In an area where a lot of hunters are already gathering, the strongest old man of mankind has appeared.

He sighed and said, looking as if he had aged 10 years.

"You'd rather move with us. I have prepared a big tea for you."

"It is. Can we go this way?"

Thomas Andre walks out as if he knew it would happen.

Team leader Han Jae-hyeok sighed once again at the villainous expression on his lips and guided him to the car.

'There is no real tyrant.'

But he didn't know.

The fact that the appearance he has shown so far has been a real 'joke'.

Thomas Andre was traveling to Euljiro in a car prepared by the Association.

Doo kung-!

"...!"

"...!"

In the middle of downtown Euljiro, a tremendous energy wave suddenly burst out.

"It's a dungeon break!"

At that moment, the association hunters instinctively prepared for battle.

Among them, the only one who is relaxed.

"What did you prepare for this event?"

Thomas Andre raises his body with an expression as if he has found some interesting entertainment.

As soon as he opened the car door and came out, Euljiro was already in trouble.

Team leader Han Jae-hyeok quickly grasped the situation and ordered everyone.

"Situation happens! Situation happens! A swampy area has arisen in the middle of the city! The type of monster is...!"

Kiaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa!

At that moment, the vicious monsters had already risen from the swamp and attacked them.

It was then.

"enforce."

Thomas raised one corner of his mouth and swung his big fist and struck the beast's torso.

Bang!

The beast's body, half of which had disappeared, landed in a distant place.

"...!"

The eyes of the association hunters were stained with astonishment at that tremendous sight.

"Oops. Did I hit too hard?"

Behind Thomas, who was scratching the back of his head, a number of hunters rushed out of Euljiro and started a full-fledged battle with the beasts.

"Did I tell you last time?"

Thomas smiled as if he was having fun and spoke leisurely to team leader Han Jae-hyeok.

"I've never let anyone who stands in my way live."

As he said that, Thomas' stern eyes turned to the biggest of the beasts.

"Is that guy a boss mob? It's a huge snake that lives in the swamp..." A huge snake the size of a log was coiled in the middle of the swamp.

2

Blue venom was dripping from the frightening fangs in its wicked mouth.

sigh.

"Good. listen! That guy is my prey! Anyone who dares touch mine...!"

It was the moment when Thomas Andre was approaching the boss mob, making a confident declaration with the most ferocious momentum.

Whee ae ae ae-!

2

"...uh?"

Just in time, a black arrow from the sky pierced the boss mob like lightning.

1

Kyaaaaagh!

"What insolent b*stard dares!"

Thomas, whose prey was stolen right in front of his eyes, roared with a ferocious expression.

2

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 116 - Chapter 115(Unedited) Chapter 116: Chapter 115(Unedited)

The atmosphere at the moment when the dungeon break had just occurred was, in one word, 'Jung-gu Heating'.

Hunters and soldiers who felt the wave of magic were gathering every moment, but since they were strangers, it was impossible to get a system in place.

Rather, it was accurate to see them as competitors at this time.

"Hey! This is our mob! Don't touch it!"

"What! Whoever catches it first wins!"

If this was a normal dungeon, there wouldn't be any ownership disputes.

The order of attack will be decided, and the proportion of the loot will be determined through an accurate contract.

But now, this place hadn't even become a field dungeon yet, and it was just treated as a natural disaster.

In this case, whoever catches it first should be the winner.

In other words, it is 'first come, first served'.

That's why the hunters were scattered all over the place and were moving to catch even one more beast.

and.

That greed caused the problem.

"But why don't these guys die like this?!"

"shit! All of these venomous snakes have their bodies covered in ironclad scales!"

In the swampy area in the middle of the city, 'iron-clad vipers' were crawling.

The level of each of the magic beasts was not very high.

But there were too many of them, and above all, they were hiding deadly weapons.

Poison teeth.

The venom of ironclad venomous snakes was strong enough to make even quite a few hunters unable to control themselves with just one bite.

"Ah! F*ck! I was bitten...!"

"Does anyone have a healer with detoxification skills?!"

"Now is not the time to compete with each other! If you don't clear it quickly, a field type dungeon will appear!"

"that's right! Let's join forces!"

As casualties continued to rise here and there, the alert hunters began to join forces one by one.

In fact, the most important thing during the dungeon break was to wipe out the monsters 'as quickly as possible'.

As the blue mist permeated the bodies of the monsters who crossed the gate, the contaminated area gradually expanded as they spread in all directions.

The result was the so-called 'field dungeon'.

And then.

Bang!

The S-class Hunter Tyrant Thomas Andre, who appeared like a savior in this chaotic place, exploded a monster.

Only then did the hunters here realize Thomas Andre's intrusion one by one and opened their eyes wide.

"The Goliath?!"

"Why is that person here?!"

I heard that you came to Korea yesterday, but I never imagined that you would suddenly meet in a place like this.

However, the Hunters were relieved by his appearance.

It was because everyone knew that to Thomas Andre, monsters of this level were nothing.

However, on the other hand, the signs of concern could not be completely erased.

"Mr. Thomas Andre! Beware! Snake venom runs throughout this swamp!"

Someone yelled out loud to give him information, just to impress him.

"If you touch this swamp, your muscles will be damaged and your strength will be weakened! I have the decryption skill, so I will assist you!"

The person who shouted was a healer with detoxification skills.

If you use this opportunity to help Thomas Andre, a world-class hunter, you might be famous or receive a great reward.

But perhaps not hearing his cry, Tomas Andre walked into the swamp without hesitation.

The snake venom flowing through it seeped into his body and weakened his strength, but this was no problem to him.

"Listen! That guy is my prey! The one who dares touch mine...!"

At the center of the snake venom, it was the moment when Thomas Andre made a declaration by pointing to the largest venomous snake that appeared to be a boss mob.

Wedge-Ae-Ae-!

Just in time, a black lightning bolt from the sky pierced the boss mob.

Kyaaaaaagh!

The largest venomous snake in the center of the swamp was pierced by a black arrow and collapsed with a terrible scream.

"What insolent b*stard dares!"

Seeing the scene, Thomas Andre roared fiercely and raised his head.

Others were astonished at the sight.

No matter how much he caught it first, he was the owner, but he couldn't imagine who the archer was who stole the prey announced by Thomas Andre first.

"Let's see how much of a coward he's lost!"

bang!

Thomas Andre, who was in the middle of the swamp, immediately kicked off the ground and jumped high.

Black magic arrows flew in a parabolic arc from the sky, and you should be able to spot them if you look for them from high up.

Thomas Andre climbed to the roof of a nearby high-rise building with a single leap.

I followed the direction in which the black arrow flew and ran over the buildings.

thud.

The moment I climbed the tallest building in Euljiro like that.

"...!"

he ran into

The image of 'Suho' who had just jumped up to find the tallest building over there.

There were two other people beside him, but they didn't even come into Thomas' line of sight.

[Shadow Minotaur Lv.1]

Shape Transformation – Arrow

Pajikpajik!

Heavy and destructive energy was condensed in the bow of the guard, which was aimed at the swamp.

[Number of shadows that can be stored: 3/3]

Suho, who was able to store two more shadow soldiers through leveling up in the demon realm, filled the empty slots with the two strongest minotaur minotaurs.

"Go and stir Mino."

1

Suho set the bowstring toward the swamp.

[Mmmuuuuu!]

The arrows, whose arrowheads looked like cow heads, flew like cannonballs from siege engines.

Wow!

[You have killed Blue Fangtooth Kasaka.]

[You have killed Blue Fangtooth Kasaka.]

[You have killed Blue Fangtooth Kasaka.]

2

....

Countless messages appeared one after another.

However, there was no level up message that I had been waiting for.

It was only a problem because the uniqueness of swamps and poison made combat difficult.

It was because the magic beasts themselves were absurdly weak compared to the ones Suho had been dealing with.

Now these guys couldn't even give Suho experience.

even.

[You have killed Kasaka, the ruler of the swamp.]

2

This boss mob I first killed by shooting Quay.

Even when I killed this guy, I didn't level up, so I said it all.

However, Suho was satisfied enough.

'I only told you to solve the dungeon break, because I didn't tell you to catch it all by yourself.'

The dungeon break began to be settled at a rapid pace just by Suho arranging the boss mob and some monsters.

He had only shot two arrows, but the quest was progressing quickly on its own thanks to the activities of others.

Like the difficulty, this quest seemed to be lucky in many ways.

bell ring.

[You have completed 'Emergency Quest: Swamp'.]

A message arrived just in time.

Thanks to the Minotaur's arrows that had just been shot through the swamp, it seemed that the other hunters had finished off with an all-out attack on the demonic beasts that appeared in the gap.

Suho was satisfied with the quick completion of the quest and nodded his head in satisfaction.

However, unlike Suho, who took the situation lightly, the two S-class hunters seemed to have different positions.

"for a moment. Little boy, what the hell was that arrow... No, were you an archer?"

Thomas Andre, who came to me with a lot of rage, was quite surprised.

"Suho, what was that? Didn't you say you don't have archery skills?"

The shock felt by Lim Tae-gyu, who had seen this twice, was twice, no, ten times greater than that of Thomas.

This is because the condensation of magical energy, which is essential to creating magic arrows, was not felt at all in the arrows of protection.

The first time I saw it, I thought I was mistaken, but the moment I saw it twice, I was convinced.

Suho had the skill to create arrows without consuming any mana.

"It's ridiculous to have such a skill..."

It felt like the common sense he knew was collapsing.

However, Suho just brushed it off as if it was no big deal.

"Ah, I'm a summoner. I also summoned arrows. just."

"I know who is stupid! Even the summoning skill takes mana!"

1

It was true, but the problem was not knowing that Suho's summoning technique was not a skill but a realm of authority.

Suho decided to check the quest rewards, ignoring the people who were interested in him as if he were looking at a mysterious animal.

[Completion reward has arrived.]

[Do you want to check the reward?] (Y/N)

'I don't expect much reward because the difficulty is too low. check.'

Suho's current level is 40.

8

The quest was so easy that even the boss mob, 'Ruler of the Swamp, Kasaka the Blue Poison Tooth', was captured in one shot, so I confirmed the reward without high expectations.

1

'hmm?'

But it wasn't.

[The following rewards are prepared.]

Rewards1. Kasaka's Poison

Fang Reward2. Kasaka's Poison Glands

'Give me two?'

What kind of windfall is this?

A different color appeared in Suho's eyes, which he hadn't even expected.

Suho entered the bathroom of the building after avoiding the S-class men who kept bothering to follow him from behind and ask him to explain about the magic arrow.

"check."

As soon as I took out the first item, a sharpened dagger appeared.

[Obtained 'Item: Kasaka's Poison Fang'.]

1

"What is it? It's a dagger, isn't it?"

Suho's expression cooled as he accepted the dagger.

"Somehow, the difficulty of the quest was easy. Who would use such a weak-looking weapon..."

2

[Keeek!]

Beru, who had been quiet until now, suddenly jumped out and clung to Suho.

[Little Lord! A dagger is never weak! Especially when it comes to this dagger...!]

"It only has 25 attack power?"

[Kkiek?]

It was Beru who flinched at those words.

[Item: Kasaka's Fang]

Difficulty to obtain: C

Type: Dagger

ATK +25

A dagger made from Kasaka's venom. Kasaka's poison remains, granting paralysis and bleeding effects when attacking. You can keep it in your inventory or sell it in the shop.

Effect 'Paralysis': The attacked target becomes unable to move with a certain probability.

Effect 'Bleeding': The target's HP is consumed at a rate of 1% per second with a certain probability.

Suho clicked his tongue as he skimmed through the item information.

"Isn't it? The length is too short, and the basic attack power of my volkan horn is 40 and the damage is increased by 300%, so why am I using this?"

2

[No that...! Hehehehe! Complaint! If only it came out a little faster!]

Beru said sobbing with a frustrated expression.

[Little Lord! This dagger is the weapon that the monarch treasured in the past!]

"My father said he used it?"

When Beru said that, Suho looked at Kasaka's fangs with new eyes.

but.

"no way. It must have been a bit bitter in the beginning." The effects were good, but the damage was too weak.

Still, the next reward was useful.

1

[Item: Kasaka's venom gland' has been acquired.]

[Item: Kasaka's venom gland]

Difficulty to obtain: A

Type: Elixir A bag containing refined Kasaka's venom. There is an extremely rare chance of getting it by catching Kasaka. Drinking the venom gives you hard skin, but the poison permanently damages your muscles.

Effect 'Kasaka's ironclad scale': Physical damage reduced by 20% Side effect 'Damaged muscle': Strength -35

"It's poison."

Suho's eyes sparkled.

The type is classified as 'Elixir', but the identity of this was snake venom that was flowing in the swamp.

A deadly poison that damages muscles when touched or eaten.

[The King of Bugs, the Lord of Plague, swallows his mouth.]

2

"This sounds good, right?"

And Suho also swallowed his saliva and poured Kasaka's venom into his mouth without hesitation.

gulp.

[Poison: Kasaka's Poison' was ingested.]

[Poison: Kasaka's Poison' can be handled.]

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 117 - Chapter 116(Unedited) Chapter 117: Chapter 116(Unedited)

.

A sticky liquid continued to flow down Suho's neck.

1

The taste was disgusting and fishy, but it was still edible.

'It's not like I've eaten this kind of poison once or twice anyway.'

While Suho ate away every single drop of Kasaka's poison.

In Suho's body, Queresha's 'Blessing of Plague' and Kandiaru's blessing 'Healthy Longevity' were steadily being activated.

belt ring.

1

[A harmful ingredient has been detected.]

[Treatment begins with the effect of 'Buff: Detoxification'.]

[3 2 1... Detoxification is complete.]

['Side effect: Damaged muscle' disappears.]

First 'The fatal side effects of 'Kasaka's Poison' were completely purified.

belt ring.

1

[Effect 'Kasaka's ironclad scales': Physical damage is reduced by 20%.]

Now, only the positive buff effect with no side effects remains intact, increasing the defense of the guardian.

In addition, Suho's toughness skill was recently raising his defense by +100%, so when combined, he had a whopping +120% defense.

At this level, Suho had become a tanker who would never be outdone anywhere.

But more than that, what Suho welcomed the most was that he was able to use Kasaka's poison itself for attacks.

[Debuff: Kasaka's Poison]

A poison that damages the muscles of the poisoned target, reducing their strength by -35.

Damaged muscles literally means that the opponent's strength and speed are weakened as a whole.

In the meantime, it was like getting a much stronger level of debuff than 'Paralysis Poison', which simply slowed down movement.

'I'm sure this will help?'

Suho immediately summoned Quay.

"Quay."

[Yes Master.]

"From now on, you will fight by coating all your attacks with Kasaka poison."

[Okay.]

Suaaaa.

At that command, 'Debuff: Kasaka's Poison' seeped into the tip of Quay's spear.

'Like today, it would be more effective if I first shoot Quay with an arrow and debuff the opponent with Kasaka's poison before starting the battle.'

Of course, quite a few guys will all be sorted out on the quay line like today.

'Unexpectedly, I got a very good ability.'

It was Suho who nodded with a satisfied expression.

* * *

While Suho was checking the compensation, the post-processing of the Euljiro incident was also going smoothly.

After annihilating the monsters, the area of the swamp area gradually decreased and disappeared.

From the moment safety was secured, reporters rushed in and began to report this urgent situation to the media.

Of course, it was always up to the Association Hunters to deal with this hectic situation.

"I am Reporter Oh Seok-hoon of the Hunter Daily! What kind of hunter's skill was that black arrow that suddenly flew from the sky!"

"Those two arrows are actually hunting the boss mobs and everything...!"

"No, wait a minute. Please ask me one question at a time..."

Team leader Han Jae-hyeok, , was crying while surrounded by the microphones of numerous reporters.

'This isn't the time for me to be like this.'

He was besieged by reporters in a situation where he had to chase after Thomas Andre, who had suddenly disappeared.

But that doesn't mean you can't pretend you don't know what's going on and leave.

Anyway, the association hunters closest to Euljiro were themselves, and it was the association's job to do this post-processing.

Fortunately, the situation was quickly suppressed and there were few casualties, so the most urgent task now was to fairly distribute the bodies of the demons.

"I caught this beast!"

"What nonsense! The wounds from my skill are clearly visible here!"

'...Actually, from now on is the most troublesome moment.'

Team leader Han Jae-hyeok felt his head pounding at the sight of the hunters arguing over the bodies of the beasts and claiming that they were theirs.

But curiously, none of them touched the demons killed by the two black arrows that flew in the middle.

'The first shot flew like lightning and killed the boss mobs, and the second arrow overturned the entire swamp like a siege cannon. The second step aside, the problem is the first step.'

He understood the meaning of the 'first arrow' better than anyone else because he was team leader Han Jae-hyeok, who had seen numerous archer hunters while working for the association.

Other hunters must have known the meaning, so they would not have dared to claim ownership of the arrow.

'I turned the direction in the sky to find the boss mob and sniped it. As if the arrow had eyes.'

I would have understood if it was a guided missile.

It was rather a method of confirming the reality in front of your eyes and then chasing it until the end to hit the target.

But flying in a parabolic arc from the far sky and then turning around like thunder and lightning to hunt the strongest beast?

'Who was an archer hunter with this skill? It's a skill I've never seen before.'

However, all these questions were resolved sooner than expected.

Suddenly, the best archer in Korea, Lim Tae-gyu, appeared nearby.

"omg! Im Tae-gyu!"

"Reaper guild leader!"

"ah! Somehow I thought someone shot the arrow!"

"As expected, the only archer with this skill is Lim Tae-gyu!"

Rush!

"What! for a moment! Why are you here?!"

Lim Tae-gyu couldn't help but be frightened when he saw the reporters suddenly rushing towards him.

"As expected, Im Tae-gyu is the Guild leader!"

"Isn't it Hunter Lim Tae-gyu who shot the arrow a moment ago?!"

"Im Tae-gyu! Please say something! I heard that the victims of this immigration risk were generously compensated for the damage...!"

"Just a moment! Just a moment! One question at a time please!"

Even the world's best S-class hunter could not help but be embarrassed by this situation.

Lim Tae-gyu turned his head to look for Suho with a tearful face.

Then, suddenly, his eyes met with Suho, who was standing in a corner far away where no one could see and leisurely watching him suffer.

'Ah, that b*stard is real!'

Suho just smiled warmly and nodded toward Lim Tae-gyu.

With a nasty expression, asking the uncle to make an excuse on his own.

'What the. You don't want to be exposed, is this? What sorcery is this again? Kids these days are real!'

2

Of course, on the other hand, I did understand.

Anyway, just getting media attention for this incident didn't mean the ransom would go up.

Rather, there are only a lot of annoying things.

In the end, Hunter's ransom was raised by himself even without anyone knowing.

If it wasn't for the purpose of getting a job in a large guild, it was a simple structure to make money as much as you hunted monsters yourself.

Or raising your own brand image and setting up your own guild...

'No, wait.'

stop.

It was Lim Tae-gyu who realized something from Suho's expression looking at him at that moment.

'Could this be for me...?'

Looking at the current situation, the moment he says that this is what he did.

It was clear that this was an opportunity to restore the image of the Reaper guild that had fallen into the abyss.

It was an opportunity to widely publicize to the media that even though the Reaper guild was criticized, the guild leader Lim Tae-gyu was still strong.

But why?

'The reason why you do this for me is...'

It was then.

What kind of voice came to Lim Tae-gyu's ears, who was just making a questionable expression?

[...With this, the debt was paid off.]

"...!"

Hearing that horrifyingly familiar voice, Lim Tae-gyu trembled as if he had been struck by lightning.

He hurriedly turned his head and looked around, but the owner of the voice was nowhere to be seen.

But I was sure.

'No way?!'

No, how could I not know?

It was the voice of his nerdy friend Lee Min-seong, who made the Reaper Guild look like this!

"Where are you!"

Suddenly, the reporters around him reacted curiously to the sight of Lim Tae-gyu shouting out loud.

But that kind of thing was good.

"Where are you? Whatever you are!"

[...]

But he didn't know.

His bad friend Lee Min-seong was no longer in this world.

There is only 'Quay' who has been reborn as a shadow soldier.

And then.

Quay, who was still looking up at his old friend's face while mingling in the shadows of countless reporters, spoke again.

However, the contents were not like an apology saying that he was sorry now.

In the first place, Quay had no intention of asking him for forgiveness.

So this is just...

doing what needs to be done.

[...There is a secret ledger hidden in the Reaper Guild. It's the slush fund accumulated by the dead Immigration Department.]

2

"...!"

[Anyway, since the money is the property of the Reaper Guild, no one but the guild leader will be able to take it out. If only he knew the location and password of the account...]

Lim Tae-gyu's eyes suddenly turned into astonishment when he learned that the information was hidden.

To him, Quay silently called Lim Tae-gyu the password of the secret account he had accumulated.

Repeat it several times until he can memorize it.

* * *

[...Thanks, Master.]

"Are you done?"

[Yes, there are no longer any lingering attachments.]

Beru growled as he watched Quay, who returned to Suho, and politely bowed his head.

[You are truly ungrateful. Giving away that much money to a friend without thinking of giving it to a minor lord.]

4

[I tried to do that at first, but what if it's legally impossible? That account is an account that only the guild leader or assistant guild leader of the Reaper guild can access.]

After making such an excuse, Quay looked at Suho with a slightly embarrassed expression.

It was hidden money that would disappear into the air without anyone noticing at the same time as the death of 'Lee Min-Seong'.

Now, the guild he bought with that money was able to put out an urgent fire, even if it didn't look like it used to.

So...

[I think I've done enough of this.]

I felt like I could throw away the name Lee Min-Seong with real peace of mind now.

"Good job."

Seeing Quay's relieved expression, Suho also nodded.

at that time.

Squeak.

Quay and Beru returned to the shadow of Suho.

Just then, Thomas Andre was trudging towards Suho from afar.

Thomas, like Lim Tae-gyu, seemed to have finally been released after dealing with annoying reporters.

"So are you ready now?"

At Thomas Andre's sudden question, Suho shrugged and nodded.

"yes."

The corner of Thomas Andre's mouth went up as if he really liked that cool answer.

"Departure is tomorrow morning."

Thomas Andre left that word and immediately turned around and went back to where Laura was.

A determined light appeared in Suho's eyes as he gazed at the huge back.

'tomorrow.'

It's finally tomorrow.

to find the missing mother.

'To the glacier dungeon.'

It was then.

"Suho."

Shaking off the reporters, Lim Tae-gyu approached Suho and started talking to him.

"Let's ask one thing."

"yes?"

"In that glacier dungeon... Are you the only one who enters? Or will your colleagues go with you?"

"A colleague?"

"Okay. Those who want to make a guild with you."

Suho put on a puzzled expression at the sudden question, then fell into deep thought for a while.

Of course, Essil would follow, but Lim Do-kyun was a bit vague about whether to say that he would go in with this.

Lim Do-gyun has been living in his shadow as he has been training under Ammut lately.

2

So, when Suho entered the Glacier Dungeon, Lim Do-gyun, who was in the shadow, was also taken with him.

"hmm. Let's go in together."

1

"Okay. I see ... Well, Thomas Andre is going with me, so it'll be all right."

1

"...?"

Lim Tae-gyu, who was muttering to himself with a disturbed expression, scratched his head and nodded.

1

"Have a good trip. If your colleagues are in danger, protect them well."

"That's obvious..."

Hmm?

Feeling a strange sense of déjà vu, Suho's eyes widened wide.

1

Someone else's face was overlapping on Im Tae-gyu's embarrassed face.

'for a moment. no way?'

"Mister, maybe..."

The moment Suho was about to ask something.

2

After cutting off the words in the middle, Lim Tae-gyu opened his mouth first.

"Oh, and the empty money came in that I hadn't even thought of."

"...?"

"There is a 'bow' that I was originally going to sell to raise money? I'll lend it to you, so use it in the Glacier Dungeon and give it back."

"...a bow?"

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 118 - Chapter 117(Unedited) Chapter 118: Chapter 117(Unedited)

[Facade Island]

'Façade' is a small island located in the Pacific Ocean and was the smallest republic in the world.

It was a very small independent country with the smallest population among the regular members of the United Nations, and its area was only about a quarter of Jeju Island.

However, the façade was also a fairly wealthy country compared to its size.

Since the island itself was made of phosphate stones, which were made by accumulating guano (animal excrement), it was possible to enjoy great wealth just by mining the huge amount of phosphate stones buried in the island.

1

This was all the more so because the population was small compared to the money they earned.

However, when the cataclysm occurred, problems began to arise from the very underpopulation.

If the population was small, the absolute number of hunters who naturally awakened was also small.

When the gate occurred, the Hunter, the only power that could block it, was utterly lacking.

And finally...

'that day' has come.

Ireland, which lacked the number of

2

'Dungeon Break' hunters, was quickly eroded by the blue fog without any chance to resist.

It became a 'field type dungeon'.

Belatedly, the president of the façade spent a huge amount of money trying to hire foreign hunters as mercenaries, but at that time the situation had already reached a point where it was out of hand.

Suddenly, ordinary citizens who had no aptitude for magical powers turned into mist buns here and there and started to run wild.

3

In fact, the façade was destroyed that day.

"...At that time, information about Mist Burn and magical aptitude hadn't spread all over the world yet."

"..."

While Suho flew to the façade in Thomas Andre's private plane, he was being briefed on the situation by Laura.

"Like that, the whole country of the façade disappeared. There are still a handful of survivors living there, but they are in effect refugees from a ruined country."

"But, fortunately or badly, the president of that country is still alive."

Thomas, who was leisurely looking at the clouds in the sky with his arms folded beside him, said Suho, looking back at him.

"Has the president awakened as a Hunter?"

"that's right. That was lucky. However, the first thing he did after awakening was to kill his own family members, who had turned into mist burns, so... you could say it was bad luck."

"..."

At those words, Suho had no choice but to keep his mouth shut.

It couldn't have been a really gruesome situation.

2

Laura raised her glasses and resumed the briefing.

"This is what experts say these days. When the dungeon break goes off, the most dangerous thing is not the monster, but the blue mist itself flowing from the gate."

Suho also nodded in agreement.

What I've learned through experience so far is that demon beasts are, in the end, just refugees wandering through the dimensional rift.

Of course, the habit is so vicious that it instinctively attacks and eats humans, but the more fundamental problem is the blue fog.

Suho's mind suddenly recalled a conversation he had with Ber and Lacan's fangs.

1

[This blue mist is the magic of outer space. It is used to forcibly penetrate the dimensional wall and cause cracks in the world.]

-That's right. Because of this fog, the sanctuary I was in also wandered through the dimensional rift and connected to Earth.

[After all, what the aliens want is to spread this fog all over the earth and cause a great rift. They're trying to drill a hole that's huge enough for their army to cross the dimension.] '

...And, just like the swamp we saw yesterday, the demonic beasts soaked in blue mist spread everywhere, and the contaminated area gets wider and wider.'

Suho put on a serious expression as he recalled the swamp area that was gradually widening in real time yesterday.

At that time, there were many hunters around, so the result of not being able to solve the situation quickly was the field type dungeons he had experienced many times.

At least, they are tightly wrapped around the circumference with barbed wire, and the outside is protected so that the monsters cannot escape, so the size does not expand any further.

By preventing the magic beasts that spread the blue mist from crossing over it.

Even these days, it was becoming more and more safe as the barbed wire was being developed with the magic of magic stones to develop various methods that demon beasts could not approach.

However, Façade Island, where I am going now, was all around the sea.

The problem was that the erosion had already ended before specialized equipment such as barbed wire was developed.

"Im here."

3

After a while, the private plane carrying them finally landed on the coast of Façade Island.

When the plane door opened, the fierce cold blowing from outside awaited Suho.

"...omg! Did you arrive too?"

Lio Sing, who had been sleeping on the side seat all this time, felt the cold and took off the blindfold.

1

Laura pointed to Rio Singh and asked Suho.

"By the way, why did you bring this Indian hunter? Are you in cooperation with the Asura Guild?"

"I help Suho. I came as an interpreter."

1

Lio Sing proudly introduced himself.

2

Although he is clumsy because he has just learned Korean, he was basically a scholar who could speak four languages.

'I can't lose the Holy Guardian to the scavenger.'

English was essential to move with the scavenger guild, which was mostly made up of Americans, but Suho didn't know how to speak English.

4

Leo Singh had been requesting that he be included in the raid team for this reason.

2

'Anyway, if I move with Thomas Andre, my safety is guaranteed, so I thoroughly help only translate and make Seong Su-ho depend on me.'

It was Leo Singh, who said it was a very perfect plan and his eyes lit up.

2

But the problem was elsewhere.

Outside the plane, the scavenger guild members who had arrived and were waiting for Thomas Andre set up barracks and were stationed there.

"Guild leader!"

"The guild leader has arrived!"

Rush!

Fearing that someone might not be the scavenger, all of them came towards Thomas Andre with a formidable impression.

"Thomas! Why are you so late... oops!"

"Shut up, you kids."

Thomas Andre kicked the first one who ran up to him with his feet, then looked back at the faces of the guild members one by one with grim eyes and smiled.

"Is it very cold?"

"No, do you mean that!"

"Why are you leaving the elite like us here!"

"How much money would it cost to go through one more dungeon at a time like this!"

"It's really cold! It's cold!"

As if waiting for a word from Thomas Andre, a noisy uproar broke out.

Everyone, without exception, was full of dissatisfaction.

However, perhaps because of a colleague who was beaten while fighting, his momentum was a little less than at the beginning.

"By the way, Boss. What are those little ones?"

One of them asked, pointing to Suho and Leo Singh, who happened to be standing near Thomas Andre.

6

Being caught up in the midst of the already large scavengers, the two of them had no choice but to look relatively small.

"what? Could it be that you kept us waiting just to bring these guys?"

"Does it look weak?"

1

"no. Still, I think the mana I feel is about B-class, right?"

"What if it's B grade? Would you use your strength here with such a poor body?"

The scavenger guild members, who had already arrived here a few days ago, frowned as they glanced at Suho and the others with open eyes.

However, while receiving such stares, Suho had no thoughts.

'What do you mean?'

Because I didn't know English.

However, just by looking at their expressions, it was enough to feel that the atmosphere was not welcoming them.

"Boss, did you really make us wait in the cold to get them?"

"Ah, what is it really... Kkeok!"

Another was babbling and was kicked by Thomas.

But their reaction was completely natural.

The tanker, who had just been beaten, stood up again and protested to Thomas Andre with a genuinely angry expression.

"boss. No, I'm not kidding. You've been here for the first time, right? In this cold, Hunters with such weak stamina can't use their strength properly. We also said that our stamina was lost just by being here for three days."

"you're right. But the problem is that even though this place is still outside the dungeon, it is at this level."

It was.

This is the outermost area of the field dungeon that has not yet been eroded.

So, in Korea, it was right in front of the barbed wire.

However, now this area has turned into a zone of severe cold as if it had come to Antarctica.

really glacier.

"If you go into the Glacier Dungeon with these guys, it's just a burden. You said you haven't seen those guys come back alive until now?"

"So what are you doing? Of course you're not a tanker, are you a dealer?"

1

The guild member just glanced at the sword in Lio Xing's hand and laughed.

3

But the problem was the moment his gaze passed the two of them and turned to Suho.

"Why doesn't he have a weapon? Is it magic?"

"Hmm..."

To that question, Thomas Andre put on a slightly puzzled expression.

To be honest, leaving the guild members alone in such a cold place for several days was not good.

Even though he was acting like that, he knew that his guild members were by no means weak.

In the meantime, they must have been playing their roles while hunting the nearby monsters on their own.

The only problem is that the reason they kept waiting was because of Suho, but the words to introduce Suho were very ambiguous.

Fortunately, Laura gave it to me at the right time.

"The Hunter Seong Su-ho here... is a Korean Hunter and a C-class summoner."

"her?"

3

"Summoning?"

"Did I just hear wrong?"

I told the truth, but the reaction was even more absurd.

In the end, he couldn't stand it and a large scavenger guild member strode towards Suho.

The tall man with a head a head taller than Suho looked down at Suho with kind eyes and gnashed his teeth.

"A summoner? yes kid what can you summon Since it's cold, it would be really appreciated if you could summon a fire moth."

The only problem was Suho's poor English skills.

I couldn't understand his angry English pronunciation, so Lio Xing, who heard the words from the side, quickly translated for Suho.

2

"Guardian. Is it possible to summon?"

"Summons? Ah yes."

At that, Suho said he forgot and took out the key to the Shadow Dungeon.

Then, plugging into his own shadow, he said.

"Me and Esyl."

1

Wow!

"Did you call?"

"...!"

"...!"

At that moment, Eshil suddenly appeared in Suho's shadow.

The eyes of everyone who were staring at Suho with an annoyed expression at that shocking appearance were stained with astonishment.

"Four people?!"

"Summoning someone?!"

"What is this again!"

Surprisingly, the same was true of Thomas Andre, who brought Suho.

While Esil was on the plane, he was staying in the Shadow Dungeon of Suho, and the reason was, of course, because of his overseas visa.

He somehow registered as a hunter with the help of Yu Jin-ho to apply for a guild, but Eshil was basically a demon.

2

Even getting a visa was a cumbersome task.

"Su Su-ho? Summon someone too? Summons?"

Even Rio Singh couldn't help but be greatly embarrassed when Esil, whom he had seen in Egypt, suddenly popped out of Suho's shadow.

Esyl also recognized Rio Singh.

1

"hmm? What is this human I saw at the pyramid the other day?"

"A colleague too? Summons? People?"

However, Lio Xing's mind was getting more and more confused.

2

'It was a big deal.'

A sense of crisis prevailed.

There were two interpreters.

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 119 - Chapter 118(Unedited) Chapter 119: Chapter 118(Unedited)

"This is a skill to summon a humanoid pet?!"

"Do you have a summoning skill like this?"

"I've seen a B-class summoner summon a puppet, but..."

"You like puppets! Doesn't this woman look like a real person? Even the mana you can feel is at least B-class!"

"Does this make sense? A C-class summoner? But how does C-class summon B-class?"

buzz buzz.

"...Suho, can you translate for me?"

4

"no. Just by looking at his expression, I think I can understand what he means."

Suho and Esil looked at the hulking figures surrounding them and even thought they were somehow cute.

Haha, the main interest of hunters was the same regardless of nationality.

'What item does that person use? Where did you buy it?'

'What is that skill again? Interesting?'

It's only been two years since the cataclysm occurred.

It was a time when information sharing had not yet been actively carried out, so even a high-ranking hunter in a large guild had to have a lot of information that he did not know.

Of course, all the curiosity always came down to who was stronger in the end, but the summoning (?) skill that Suho showed stimulated the curiosity of the scavenger guild members to the point of overwhelming them.

In particular, the expression of Derek Johnson, the A-class hunter who was the first to estimate Suho's magical power, was difficult to express in words.

"No, no matter how well you look at it, it's at the level of B-class, but there's no way this kind of skill is possible with just that much magical power..."

He was quite confident in estimating the amount of magical power of others.

It is common sense that no matter how good a skill is, if the amount of magic power is low, it will not be able to demonstrate its ability.

However, the amazing ability that Suho showed was never at a level that was possible for a 'class C summoner'.

that means that.

'Are you hiding your magic? How amazing is mana control!'

The higher the rank of hunter, the more people hid their magic.

Rather than hiding it because he wanted to hide it, it was the result of having perfect control over his magic power.

Why?

As long as Hunters are human, just by living and breathing, they will consume their mana little by little without realizing it.

However, the more completely he controlled his own magic power, the more he could save unnecessary consumption of magic power.

"Then, is this really how much magic is hidden? So what is the original grade? Class A? S-class?"

"Hmmm. I just introduced Seong Soo-ho as a C-class summoner."

1

"...!"

Derek Johnson put on an expression of disbelief at the words of Laura, who justly repeated what he said next to him.

"No way! Laura must have misunderstood something! I assure you, this kid is definitely A-level or higher! I could bet my entire fortune!"

How could a C-class summoner summon a B-class summoner in the first place!

It was then.

"Okay, enough of the small talk, and since we're all gathered, let's start right away."

tall.

Thomas Andre's words changed the expressions of the scavenger guild members at that moment.

The atmosphere of chatter and chatter just before disappeared in an instant, and only the warriors of the reverse who radiated hot fighting spirit existed there.

As preparations began in earnest, Laura immediately boarded a plane and returned to her home country.

Leave a message that you will come back when the attack is over.

"Guild leader, then I will brief you on the work of the past three days."

"The rough information has already been delivered through Laura. It's cold anyway. And there is some new information I just got from Korea."

That information was about the ice elves he had heard from Suho.

And in return for that information, Thomas Andre promised to pay Suho a fair price after the raid was over.

He had to pay the price for participating in this raid anyway, so he decided to pay it all at once.

Thomas Andre, who delivered the information to the guild members and thoroughly prepared for the archers, gave an order to the guild members who were staring at him with a smirk.

"Let's end this biting talk. you know our style The rest of the body hits and goes out."

"yes! boss!"

The scavenger's shout echoed through the cold wind.

* * *

The moment you set foot inside the field of Façade Island.

Suho realized that the cold so far was nothing.

Suddenly, a huge blizzard mixed with blue fog obscured the view, and the cold like an ice age began.

['Debuff: Curse of Cold' is applied.]

[Attack speed decreases by -30%]

[Movement speed decreases by -30%]

But, of course, Suho didn't have that.

[Candiaru's blessing is applied.]

2

['Debuff: Curse of the Cold' disappears.]

'Is this the Glacier Dungeon?'

As the name suggests, all the landscapes that come into view were literally as if the ice age had come.

In the streets, the wreckage of buildings and countless cars that collapsed under the weight of the thick snow were covered in snowdrifts and buried.

High-rise buildings such as large shopping malls and officetels were covered with snow and ice, making them look like ice castles.

This miserable landscape felt like it had frozen and preserved the horrors of 'the day' when the dungeon break occurred.

"It is terrible."

For some reason, it seemed that this place perished because of the cold rather than the Witchbeasts.

1

While walking through the snowstorm with the scavenger guild, step by step through the frozen city.

He was busy exploring his surroundings with only his face sticking out from Verdot's shadow.

4

[It seems that there is no sign of Itarim yet. By the way, my lord. Aren't you cold? How about wearing something?]

In the meantime, I didn't forget to carefully check Suho's safety.

At those words, Suho nodded and opened the shop window.

In fact, the higher the magic power, the more cold and hot it was able to endure.

1

But the cold here was beyond imagination.

snap.

[Purchased 'Item: Ice Bear's Robe']

[Purchased 'Item: Ice Bear's Robe'] [Purchased '

Item: Ice Bear's Robe']

Suho has three fur coats decorated with pure white fur . I bought bees and gave them to Esil and Leo Singh.

2

"Put it on."

Ethil accepted the suit and put it on, but Lio Singh was shocked.

2

"Su Su-ho! This awesome artifact gift! I am impressed!"

"...I'm borrowing it."

'Because I have to earn gold by selling it later.'

Despite Suho's word of lending, Lio Xing was still thrilled and surprised.

2

[Item: Ice Bear's Robe]

Difficulty to obtain: Grade B

Type: Robe

Defense +50

A robe made of Ice Bear's fur.

The leather is tough and strong, so it has high defense and is effective in blocking the cold.

(However, if your strength is less than 80, your movement will be slow.)

-Effect 'cold resistance': It blocks cold and has resistance to freezing magic.

Effect 'cold tolerance'.

The effect of this simple option was amazing.

The moment he put on Ice Bear's robe, the ice age level of cold was cut off in an instant.

[What a good choice. If it's Ice Bear's skin, it should be able to defend against the Ice Elves' freezing magic. Of course, if the arrow is loaded with freezing magic, be careful as it can damage your clothes...]

While Ver was diligently explaining to Suho.

1

The scavenger guild members' eyes widened once again when they saw the fur that suddenly appeared in Suho's hand.

"What! Are you also summoning clothes?"

"Well, I summon people too, but it's about a fur coat."

"Does that fur look very warm?"

"for a moment! I think that's made of Ice Bear's hide?"

"what? please give me too!"

"me too!"

"Shut up, you b*stards!"

Seeing the guild members flocking to Suho again, Thomas Andre intervened by threatening them.

Then he shyly held out his hand to Suho.

"...?"

"Do you have any left?"

5

"..."

At that time, Leo Sing proudly stood up to Thomas Andre and spoke for Suho.

1

"Show me the money."

1

"..."

Of course, contrary to what he said, even if he offered to pay, Suho had no intention of opening a shop window anymore.

After all, Thomas Andre's mana would be able to withstand this much cold.

The other guild members didn't stay here for a day or two anyway, so their clothes were thick.

Whoo-oh-oh-

But as the blizzard intensified, the scavenger guild members continued to glare at Suho and his party with envious expressions.

"come."

Suddenly Thomas Andre raised his head with a ferocious expression.

Whee ae ae ae-!

Carried away by a frantic blizzard, arrows began to fly from somewhere.

"defense!"

At his cry, the defense skills of the scavenger guild members spread all over the place.

Blasphemy!

2

When the arrows were blocked by the transparent magical barrier, white thin ice formed on the wall.

And the arrows keep flying.

The problem started there.

Blasphemy! Jump!

1

"Guild leader! The shield is about to break!"

"The freezing magic is weakening the defense of the shield...!"

"These!"

4

Hearing the urgent voices of the guild members, Thomas Andre raised his eyes towards the ice elves, who could not be seen due to the blizzard.

strengthen skills.

At that moment, a tremendous amount of mana condensed in his arm.

"Huh!"

As he swung his fist into the air, powerful energy surged like a wave, piercing the blizzard and exploding.

Kwaaaaang-!

The arrows flying in that tremendous explosion were extinguished all at once.

"The battle begins."

Finally, the battle of the scavengers began in earnest.

However, Suho's gaze was not looking in that direction, but in the other direction.

[Ice Golem]

[Ice Golem]

A huge presence felt over the blizzard.

Although there was nothing visible, the sensory stats were giving a warning.

'These are the real ones.'

Suho immediately took out his bow.

And Thomas Andre was already moving there.

"That way is real! All scattered!"

The S-class hunter's senses were already in control of the whole situation.

But then the problem happened.

In the first place, the ice golems had no intention of attacking this side.

below that.

Whoaaaaaaaaaaaaa-!

'Wait, no way!'

Realizing the sign, Suho's complexion changed terribly.

"Spring up, Quay!"

While black arrows are created from his shadow.

The ice golems were already striking the frozen ground with their hands together.

Kwak Kwak-!

From there, the ground cracked and the road began to collapse.

"Oh no! It's an earthquake!"

I heard the panicking Thomas Andre's cry.

At that moment, the floor they were standing on suddenly collapsed and they began to fall at the same time.

At the moment of the fall, Eshil suddenly realized something and urgently looked at Suho.

"Suho! It's the gate! A dimensional rift is being felt down here!"

Whoo-oh-!

At that moment, Suho was already aware of it.

Where is this terrible blizzard starting?

A sudden ice age on this tiny island in the sun-drenched Pacific Ocean.

This blizzard didn't come from the sky, but from the beginning, it came from underground on the island.

Wow!

And a huge cold blizzard sucked all the Hunters, including Suho, into the gate.

'Is this inviting us?'

Suho's eyes lit up as he watched the gate of the cold that engulfed him.

'Then I can't go empty-handed.'

Suho, who was falling down, recklessly pulled a bowstring and shot Quay at the moment he passed through the gate.

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 120 - Chapter 119(Unedited) Chapter 120: Chapter 119(Unedited)

Quay, who had turned into a black arrow, flew forward through the frigid blizzard that fluttered like a typhoon.

If ordinary archers saw this, they would have cursed at him, saying that he was wasting only so much mana.

Because it was a blind arrow.

However, Suho's arrow has an 'eye'.

"Quay! Guess whoever sees it first!"

[yes! Master...!]

Quay's voice was buried in the blizzard and Asrai disappeared.

1

At the same time, Suho stopped caring about Quay.

The important thing right now was this one.

Wow!

Even in the midst of this, all the hunters of the scavenger, including Suho, passed through the gate and continued to fall down.

"Everyone prepare for the impact with magic...!"

The voices of the scavenger guild members who responded to Thomas Andre's charismatic command faded away.

My vision was blurry because of the blizzard that raged relentlessly.

Because of that, I couldn't even see Eshil or Rio Sing right next to me, but I believed that I could deal with this on my own.

1

Wow!

Just like Thomas said, Suho himself maximized his senses by protecting his entire body with magic.

Then, through the pure white blizzard, I finally began to see a certain scenery down there little by little.

Whoaaaagh!

"...!"

Suddenly, Suho's eyes widened wide as he witnessed the scene with a strong headwind.

forest.

I could see the white frozen forest below.

Ice-covered river and snow-covered trees.

Ice crystals glistened in the stream that ran through the dense mountain range.

The spring water that flowed along the small valley formed a small lake and blended naturally with the frozen forest.

[Little Lord! You must bring Quay back! If it crashed like this...!]

1

It would be dangerous if it crashed like this because of Ver's urgent cry.

1

However, if it hadn't been for even the fluttering of Quay's wings, it would have never been able to penetrate such a violent blizzard.

This blizzard is not just a meteorological phenomenon, but the storm itself.

It was a blizzard loaded with magical power that could penetrate even the rifts of the dimension.

However, while listening to Ver's urgent cry, Suho couldn't help but lose his gaze at the wonderful scenery that came into his field of vision through the fluttering snowstorm.

1

The scenery that unfolded before my eyes was so spectacular that it could not be compared to any dungeons I had experienced so far.

I only regret one thing.

It was that he was falling n.a.k.e.d from a high altitude over that beautiful sight.

2

'Are you saying that ice elves live in that forest?'

Anyway, I figured out the situation, now it was time to deal with it.

"Grey River God!"

1

Whoa-

[Reinforces 'Pet: Grey'.]

Hui-oh-oh!

Even in the harsh snowstorm, a divine wind blew and wrapped around Suho's body.

[Uses 'Skill: Grassland Wind'.]

[The Grassland Wind frees the priest's body.]

[Movement speed temporarily increases by 30%.]

[Attack speed temporarily increases by 30%.]

Chew!

Suho, who had bleached his silver hair in an instant, quickly opened his inventory and replaced the item.

A faint smile appeared on Suho's lips as he held the two horns of Volcan in both hands.

1

If your opponent is a storm.

'Just cut.'

Wow!

[Use 'Skill: Storm Slash'.] A fierce blizzard entwined Guardian's twin swords.

1

Twisting the wind in reverse forcibly slowed the fall.

Whoop!

Suho's body began to slowly fall into the middle of the forest as if gliding down.

He slashed Volcan's horn straight down at a large tree that just happened to be nearby.

1

Kwajijijijik-!

A huge tree split into two from Volcan's horn, and the speed of Suho's fall further decreased.

...chuck.

"Well, I lived for now."

1

Suho, who had safely landed on the thick snow at the noble sacrifice of the tree, looked around with a calm gaze.

All I see is pure white snow and trees.

The hunters who had fallen together could not see whether the points where they crashed were different.

2

"I was suddenly in distress."

[I know the reason why so few hunters have come back alive.]

"Sure. If this is the case, I must have completely failed... Wait a minute?"

Suho, who nodded at Ver's words, suddenly had a question in his head.

1

He raised his head and looked up at the sky where the dimensional rift was wide open, with a puzzled look on his face.

"Then how did those who returned alive get back? Could it be that he flew over there?"

1

[Kieek?]

At that, Verdo finally narrowed his eyes and looked at the gate in the sky.

1

Of course, it would have been possible for Hunters with flying skills.

But before that, there was a snag.

[Hmm. Come to think of it... I don't think those ice golems would have smashed the ground like this every time.] If all the hunters who came to attack the glacier dungeon had passed through the gate in the same way now, all the land on Facade Island should have already been devastated. did.

1

However, there was no way that the ground was covered over it again after falling like this every time.

[Perhaps there is not one entrance.]

"There is not one gate?"

[yes. Look at that sky right now. Humans simply refer to it as a gate, but in reality, the cracks in the dimension widen more and more as time goes on.]

As Ber said, the gate through which Suho passed was not just an ordinary hole, but a space torn apart.

1

Since Façade Island was already an area polluted with magic uncontrollably, it was not strange that there were holes leading to the dungeons here and there.

"So until now, other hunters have come this way through other holes..."

Startled.

Suho stopped talking until the end and immediately twisted his waist and swung his sword.

Chow!

"Keruk...!"

[The Ice Kobold has been killed.]

With that single blade, the head of the monster who sneaked up on me while hiding in the blizzard was cut off.

2

Suho immediately looked around and smiled faintly.

"Looks like I fell too loudly."

[It's already surrounded.]

1

Hwi-oh-

oh- In the midst of the blizzard, Suho was surrounded by life-threatening gazes.

[Ice Kobold]

[Ice Kobold]

....

Vision and hearing were disturbed due to the magical blizzard, but it seemed that this was no problem for those monsters whose main habitat was here.

1

"...that's fun."

Suho just laughed.

A situation where you have to rely solely on your sensory stats.

It was at the level of such a kobold now, but how strong enemies lurked beyond that.

1

Besides, of course, he is now separated from his colleagues who came in together.

[It's rather good.]

Ber also laughed.

1

Wouldn't it be a perfect situation for Suho to level up comfortably if his vision was blocked and he was alone?

[The time to level up has arrived.]

"Mino Tau. come out."

3

Wow!

Two gigantic shadow monsters that rise from the shadows at the command of the guardian.

[Shadow Minotaur Lv.1]

Knight Grade

[Shadow Minotaur Lv.1]

Knight Grade

The madmen that Suho had personally killed and saved in the demon realm had now become Suho's dependable soldiers.

[Mmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmmm!]

1

The shadowy minotaurs that swayed black steam all over their bodies spread their muscular arms and roared ferociously.

The bodies of the ice kobolds, who seemed ready to rush at Suho at any moment, trembled instinctively at that momentum.

Pointing at them, Suho ordered.

"Trample everything."

[Mumu U-!] [

Moody Ah-

1

!]

[The ice kobold has been killed!]

2

[The ice kobold has been killed!]

[The ice kobold has been killed!]

...

The ensuing battle was overwhelming.

The number of kobolds constantly appearing in the forest exceeded hundreds, but they were trampled to death by the brutal violence of the Minotaur, the shadow of the tribe.

And only then did the real, who had been holding its breath behind them, finally begin to reveal itself.

[Ice Troll]

"Kwoaaaaa!"

The monster, similar in size to the ice golems seen above, swung a log in one hand and struck the shadow minotaur 'Tau' in the head.

Kwajik!

Tau's neck was snapped by the destructive force so great that the log was shattered.

but.

"...!"

[Mum?]

It was useless.

Enveloped in black steam, Tau's savage gaze returned to normal with a broken neck.

In front of him, the Ice Troll felt a chill.

Tau was laughing with an eerie expression.

As if it was only this much.

And right away, Tau's arm muscles swelled as he raised his fist at the ice troll.

[Mummuu...!]

The moment when that overwhelming violence was about to be poured out on the Ice Trolls.

Pooh-!

"...!"

A black spear suddenly pierced the Ice Troll's back and stabbed it into its chest.

Chew!

When the spear was pulled out, the ice troll lost his life and collapsed on the spot.

[I killed the ice troll.]

The owner of the spear was none other than Quay.

Quay, who was shot with an arrow and immediately returned to Suho's place, smiled meaningfully at Tau as he trampled on the ice troll's corpse.

[I was faster.]

[Mmmoo!]

[What? I can't even speak, it's like a slow bursting rib head.]

1

Ignoring Tau, who was purring in anger, Quay immediately approached Suho and knelt down.

chuck.

[The window knight Quay has returned.]

1

However, Quay did not return empty-handed.

A strangeness appeared in Suho's eyes.

Quay's ankle was caught in his hand, and he was holding 'something' that had passed out.

"What did you catch?"

[This is the ice elf I flew to and hit.]

Surprisingly, what Quay caught was a young ice elf who looked about 10 years old.

Of course, I knew as soon as I saw his appearance that he was an ice elf.

1

More than that, what Suho paid attention to was none other than the name tag floating above the elf's head.

[Sirka, Guardian of the Baruka Tribe]

2

'Guardian of the Baruka Tribe?'

It was a Witchbeast with some meaningful modifier attached to it.

1

First of all, evidence that the Ice Elves are living as a tribal unit, as Lio Singh informed.

1

But even more mysterious than that was the fact that the ice elf was still breathing.

"Are you still alive?"

1

[yes. Unfortunately, I couldn't bear to kill him.]

1

"What?"

Suho was genuinely surprised.

The truly amazing words came out of Quay's mouth.

There was no way that Quay would have realized the preciousness of life now.

6

But what came out of Quay's mouth was even more surprising.

[This ice elf recognized me. He asked me if I knew the Shadow Lord. So I wondered if it might be a clue...]

2

"What?"

Suho's eyes widened.

Quay asked for a big catch.

1