

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 121 - Chapter 120(Unedited) Chapter 121: Chapter 120(Unedited)

Quay! Guess whoever sees it first!

2

The only command given to Quay, who turned into a shadow arrow and was shot out.

To accomplish that task, Quay made her way through the blizzard and turned in search of the nearest prey.

1

And I realized

1

That there are too many enemies.

1

frozen forest.

1

There were so many eyes watching the hunters who were falling through the cracks in the sky all over the glacier dungeon.

And a few of them unrelentingly attacked the black arrow, Quay, who was flying through the blizzard before anyone else.

Shush shush shush shush!

Quay's eyes flashed as he watched the countless arrows flying in the blizzard to intercept him.

[Who dares to stop me!]

Quay growled ferociously.

It was just laughable.

He is his master's arrow.

It was the strongest arrow that added the attack power of the bow to the power of the Shadow Soldier.

1

How can those ordinary arrows block his path!

[I am the master's spearman Quay! It will become a single bolt of lightning and pierce the enemy's heart!]

1

Kurrung!

Quay literally became a black thunderbolt, deflecting all the arrows and flying away.

Then, following Suho's order, he attacked the 'first seen', that is, the ice elf in the forefront.

"Aww...!"

[Did you get rid of it!]

But the confident Quay's wish didn't come true.

It was because Quay's momentum had run out at the last minute as he had already passed through a rough blizzard and numerous arrows.

Quay's arrow, which was trying to pierce the heart with a single blow, eventually pierced the opponent's side and stuck on the cold floor.

At that moment, Quay quickly looked around and judged whether the enemy was alive or dead.

[It's shallow!]

But it didn't matter.

Because Quay's attack was poisoned by Suho himself.

['Debuff: Kasaka's Poison' damages the opponent's muscles.]

[Muscle Strength -35]

Stagger!

In Quay's field of vision, the ice elf was overcome by the venom and collapsed.

At that moment, Quay was faced with a choice.

Are you going to return to your master?

Or will you completely finish off the wounded enemy and return proudly?

Of course it's the latter.

Wow!

In an instant, the bee's wings spread out from Quay's body, which had become an arrow and was stuck on the floor.

And in an instant, it changed to its original form and blended into this fierce blizzard storm.

1

bee himself

1

He was a natural assassin who secretly approached his prey and shot and killed it with a bee sting.

However, the Ice Elves were not easy either.

Even in the blizzard that obscured his vision, the Ice Elf opened his eyes wide, accurately capturing the sight of Quay, who was aiming for his life.

[It's too late.]

At that moment, Quay's spear pierced her heart.

2

"...a shadow soldier?"

1

tall.

Suddenly, a word came out of the prey's mouth and Quay's spear stopped instantly.

Nettles – Crack!

Then, he immediately took the spear out of the water, grabbed the opponent's neck with his other hand, and lifted it up.

1

[What did you say just now!]

"Kek kek...!"

The Ice Elf struggled, suffocated by that strong grip.

Despite the unexpected situation, Quay was not taken aback.

In the first place, Suho had two purposes for entering this dangerous place.

It was to find a clue about Itarim and Suho's mother.

In the current situation, it was rather welcome.

1

And soon, amazing words flowed from the ice elf's mouth.

"You, too... you know the Shadow Lord...!"

[...!]

At that moment, Quay's eyes narrowed.

Just in time, people were gathering from all directions through the blizzard.

Probably the companions of this ice elf.

There was no more time for leisurely conversation.

puck!

"...!"

At that moment, without hesitation, Quay struck the ice elf on the back of the neck, knocking him out.

Then, with a drooping ice elf wrapped around her waist, she soared into the sky and melted into a blizzard.

1

He just carries out orders.

He said he would leave all judgment and thoughts to the Master.

* * *

"...he said he knew the Shadow Lord."

Suho, who heard the whole story from Quay, first looked at the ice elf's condition.

Fortunately, he didn't die, but his complexion was pale because of the wounds from Quay and Kasaka's poison.

"I don't know what the situation is, but I'll try to keep it alive first."

Suho immediately ordered the shadow soldiers to find a nearby cave where they could escape the blizzard.

[Master I found. I will guide you right away.]

1

Quay returned first and guided Suho there.

Indeed, there was a small cave that appeared to be an ice kobold's nest.

As soon as I entered, the ice kobolds attacked, but after defeating them without difficulty, they settled down inside.

snap.

[Purchased 'Item: Bonfire Set'.]

A camping set containing the right amount of dry firewood and kindlings appeared in front of Suho.

I looked it up just in case, but the store that sells all sorts of things also sells these things.

[I will fan it. The little lord is resting.]

1

Verga quickly took care of the bonfire with a fan.

5

Roaring!

Surprisingly, with skillful workmanship, a warm fire was built in an instant.

Suho sat down in front of the bonfire and laid the fainting ice elf on his side.

[I purchased 'Item: Intermediate Healing Potion'.]

1

When Suho took out the healing potion, Quay said with a worried expression.

[Are you okay, Master? Ice elves are warlike beasts. You can attack the master as soon as you wake up.]

1

"Yes. That's why I'm going to eat only potions and leave poisoning behind."

1

[also! That's a good decision.]

Healing potions alone aren't detoxifying anyway.

As long as this Ice Elf was poisoned by Kasaka's poison, even if he woke up, he would be much weaker than usual.

[The King of Bugs, Lord of Plague, is satisfied with the poison, saying it is a convenient poison when capturing prisoners.]

1

Suho forcibly opened the Ice Elf's mouth and poured the potion into it.

"...cool cool!"

1

"If you want to live, swallow well."

2

The wounds of the Ice Elf who drank the potion while in a dream gradually healed.

And when you finally come back to your senses.

1

"..."

The ice elf opened his eyes and soon realized the situation he was in.

chuck.

The eerie tip of Quay's spear, made of black energy, touched her neck.

2

On either side of it, two giant shadowy Minotaurs surrounded it, emitting fearful energy.

[If you act foolishly, I'll kill you.]

Quay's bluff continued, but strangely, the ice elf didn't show any signs of embarrassment or fright.

Rather... he looked around with a pleased expression.

As if looking for someone.

"What are you looking for?"

surprise.

When Suho asked, the ice elf looked like a surprised rabbit and turned his gaze to Suho.

Then he stared at Suho's face with a strange expression.

"How can you speak our language?"

I don't know if it was because of his birth or because of the system, but Suho was able to communicate with the Witchbeast.

2

But now that wasn't the point.

The ice elf started pouring out words at Suho like a rapid-fire cannon, as if it had gone well.

1

"Anyway, that's fine. I am Sirka, the guardian of the Baruka tribe!"

"..."

"More than that, Sung Jin-woo, the shadow lord! What kind of relationship do you have with him, why are you with the Shadow Soldier?"

Suddenly, his father's name popped up, but Suho was more cautious than surprised.

[...For now, I can't feel the energy of Itarim.]

Suho calmly nodded at Ber's whisper.

1

Even so, there was a part of me that was cautious about answering questions about my father.

1

'I have to get the information out there first somehow.'

While Suho carefully chooses what to say.

1

Sirka, who had been staring at that expression intently and waiting for an answer, suddenly realized something and widened her eyes.

"...uh?"

"huh?"

"Wait a minute. Are you?"

"...?"

Suho made a puzzled expression at Sirka's unknown reaction.

Shirka kept examining her own face with an expression as if her eyes would pop out of nowhere.

1

"what? uh huh Do they really look alike?"

1

"Who do you think I resemble...?"

Suho asked again, thinking all 50,000 things in his mind.

'Are you my father's enemy? If I saw my father during the war, of course I resemble him...'

But his guess was completely wrong.

Now, Sirka, who had been sniffing even Suho's scent, suddenly pointed at Suho's face and shouted.

"that's right! Definitely look alike! You were the son of Chacha!"

1

"...cha-cha?"

Suho put on a puzzled expression for a moment.

However, the next moment, Suho's expression hardened when he heard Sirka's confident voice.

"Yes Cha Cha! Cha Hae-in!"

2

"...!"

[...!]

At that moment, not only Suho's eyes, but also Ber's eyes widened.

1

Seeing that reaction, Sirka burst into laughter with a bright smile.

"okay! That's right! I heard a lot about you from Chacha! The name must be... Sung Soo-ho! Suho! Right?"

"How do you know your mother?"

1

"I just want to know! I'm Cha Cha's friend! Chacha is the savior of us Ice Elves!"

1

Even Suho, who doesn't panic at all, couldn't keep his composure this time.

My mom's friend who popped out of nowhere was like that, and I just heard something strange.

"My mother... what about the ice elves?"

"Dragon Shaman Cha-Cha! Cha Hae-in is the savior of us Ice Elves."

"Dragon Maiden? What does this mean again..."

4

A strange nickname was attached to the mother who had been missing for five years.

[Wait a minute.]

In this chaotic situation, Ver suddenly realized something.

1

[Solord, I think I know at what point Cha Hae-in went missing.]

1

Ver remembered it clearly.

1

The point at which the shadow lord Seong Jin-woo and the shadow soldiers entered the foreign press war in earnest.

2

[...That day was the 16th wedding anniversary of the two of you.]

1

And at that time, the two of them were enjoying a date in the sky on the shadow flying dragon Kaisel.

And...

[He gave Cha Hae-in a special necklace made by bearded dwarfs with excellent dexterity.]

4

A special gift for the 16th wedding anniversary.

Seong Jin-woo put a beautiful necklace shining in the sunlight around his wife's neck.

At that moment, the shadow soldiers who were quietly cheering for their master's perfect wedding anniversary event in the shadows cheered.

Wow-!

And just before the lips of Seong Jin-woo and Cha Hae-in, who were getting closer and closer, collided.

1

[Your lord said that.]

-Honey, go back first. I'll follow right away.

Cha Hae-in, who received back the memories of the forgotten world with the power of Sung Jin-woo, knew the situation when he said this very well.

– Are you coming soon?

Seong Jin-woo silently nodded at those words.

1

He gave an order to the dragon Kaisei.

Send your precious wife Cha Hae-in home safely.

1

Kaisei, who turned to the ground like that, quickly moved away.

Seong Jin-woo, who was watching his wife's back, turned away.

And with the most ferocious eyes, I glared at the blue mist leaking out of the twisting and bending outer space.

1

[All powerful beings can attract terrible things from other worlds like a magnet.]

And the number of cracks in the dimension from which the blue mist flowed began to increase rapidly.

Hundreds of thousands? Maybe more.

[...that was the beginning of the foreign press war.]

1

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 122 - Chapter 121(Unedited) Chapter 122: Chapter 121(Unedited)

The Foreign Press War Begins.

4

At that time, Seong Jin-woo personally led soldiers to the distant universe to fight against the enemies of outer space.

An all-out war soon followed.

[And that day...]

Remembering the fierce battle that day, Ver calmly continued.

2

[The flying dragon, Kaisel, who left with Cha Hae-in on board, never came back. Even now, several years later.]

At the time, Seong Jin-woo's order to Kaisel was to return Cha Hae-in safely home.

However, Kaisel, who left after hearing the order, did not return to the Shadow Legion no matter how much time passed.

However, Seong Jin-woo at the time did not care much about him.

2

In the meantime, it was because they had already left too far from Earth for the foreign press war.

1

When the distance between dimensions widens too much, the shadow soldier's connection with Seong Jin-woo gradually weakens and is cut off.

Just like Ber does now.

1

Isn't it because of the 'distance between dimensions' that Seong Jin-woo can't re-summon Ver from the universe after immediately reverse-summoning him on Earth?

1

If the distance is too far, mana cannot be recharged or reverse summoned.

[As you know, the method of summoning shadow soldiers is a kind of 'gate'. It is a way to call the soldiers waiting in the shadow world to this dimension through the dimension gate.]

But that gate is, after all, an act of breaking through the dimension wall.

[If the distance between the dimensions becomes too far like this, the gate will not be connected directly. You have to fly through the dimensional gap while tearing down countless dimensional walls.] A representative example of this is the War of Lords, which took place in a time zone that has now disappeared.

1

Even the powerful rulers took years to reach Earth from their own dimension.

So over the years, the monarchs who arrived one step ahead were preparing for war on Earth first.

In any case, it meant that the dimension in which the foreign press war was taking place was also too far away from the earth.

After hearing Ber's explanation, Suho's expression hardened seriously.

1

"Then, from then on, mother..."

[Yes. It seems that Cha Hae-in had an unavoidable accident on the way to move by Kaisei and was unable to return home in the first place. You got caught up in a dimensional rift on the way.]

1

That's right.

an unavoidable accident.

It must have been an absolutely unavoidable accident for Cha Hae-in and the flying dragon Kaisei, who was carrying her.

[...Because at that time, a dimensional rift was opening in the sky.]

After finishing his speech, Ver nodded with a serious expression.

1

However, regardless of the mood of the two, Shirka, who was listening to their conversation from the side, nodded with a bright expression.

"that's right! That's why the black dragon Kaisei always guards Chacha's side! That's why it's Cha Cha, the dragon priestess!"

At those words, Suho looked at Shirka and asked.

"So where is my mother or my mother now?"

1

Suho's voice cracked a little when he said mother for the first time in a while.

Somehow, my throat was choking.

* * *

Whoo-oh-

When I came out of the cave again, a magical blizzard blew in from all directions, covering my vision.

However, the ice elf Shirka did not mind the severe cold weather and set out on the road.

"Just follow me. I will guide you to where our tribe lives."

"...."

Suho's expression as he silently followed Sirka was full of thoughts.

On the other hand, Sirka's expression when she actually met Cha Hae-in's son, whom she had heard so much about, was smiling all the time.

"I was born in this forest. Weather like this is normal for the Ice Elves."

As if to prove that those words were not false, Sirka quickly found her way and moved even in this magical blizzard.

His steps were surprisingly light, and he even showed off his talent of jumping over the thick snow.

1

On the other hand, the feet of Suho, who followed him, kept sinking into the snow.

Looking back at her, Shirka smiled happily.

3

"I'm afraid he's not someone's son, so even that is the same as Cha Cha! If your feet keep slipping out, try spreading your mana thinly across the soles of your feet."

"Magic power on the soles of your feet?"

1

"huh. Chacha was difficult at first, but I quickly learned the trick. You are also Chacha's son, so it's definitely possible."

3

However, Shirka's expression when she saw Suho was full of mischief.

The look on his face was as if he was watching his little nephew begin to walk with excitement.

'Actually, I didn't learn it right away.'

It was said to be a trick, but in fact, this skill was not an easy skill for non-Ice Elves.

How hard did Cha Hae-in try to learn this skill?

It was possible only when the detailed and sophisticated mana control was fully ingrained in every step.

"The trick is simple."

Shirka twitched the corners of her mouth and taught Suho personally.

"We Ice Elves crawl on snow like this before we can even walk. So, at first, I instinctively crawled with mana all over my body, and then gradually reduced the distribution of mana..." "

Aha. Like this. I get the hang of it."

"huh?"

For a moment, Shirka, who was eagerly teaching her nephew how to walk, became bewildered.

Before he knew it, Suho was standing comfortably on the thick snow.

"why? What's wrong?"

"Ugh. It's still a bit clumsy."

Silka, who was dumbfounded for a moment, pointed out Suho's feet to save face as an adult (?).

2

"Look at this. Are your eyes still squinting? Originally, you shouldn't leave footprints like this like me."

1

"You say there are no footprints left?"

At those words, Suho turned his head and looked back at the path Shirka had passed.

'surely! Only my footprints remain!'

What a strange talent.

Walking in the snow and leaving no footprints.

When Suho realized his shortcomings, Shirka arrogantly folded her arms in relief.

"Isn't it? Of course, it can be a bit difficult at first. But if you try a lot..."

"Oh, this is it."

"..."

Before the words were finished, Suho's footprints were gone.

1

[You have learned 'Skill: Elf's Step'.]

'A new skill?'

A strangeness appeared in Suho's eyes.

They said it was just a trick, but it must have been a greater skill than I thought.

Silka, at a loss for words for a moment, stared blankly at Suho.

2

"...Somehow, whenever Chacha opens her mouth, she brags about her son like that."

"mother?"

At that, Suho tilted his head as if he didn't understand.

"Did my mother brag about me? Couldn't it be?"

Whenever Shirka talked about his mother, Suho felt strange.

His mother Cha Hae-in, whom he knew, was not the type to be stingy with praise, but he was not the type to go out and brag about his children.

2

Rather...

'He always wanted me to grow up normally.'

2

His normality really...

Looking back, his childhood was 'normal' itself.

Although he was always on the superior side compared to his peers in terms of strength and physical strength, everything else was extremely ordinary.

That was his childhood guardian.

'And my parents were strangely delighted with me.'

Maybe because of their happy expressions, I think I tried to live a more normal life.

At the time, I took it for granted, but now that I think about it, it was a very strange part.

Isn't it normal for parents from other families to like it when their children show a little better than the children from other families?

[Khem. That's it. It's the consideration of parents who want the little monarch to lead a normal life...]

Ver suddenly jumped out from the side and started looking back on Suho's childhood.

1

But there was no room for that.

"arrived."

1

Just in time, their steps stopped and a certain scenery unfolded in front of them.

This is the village of the Ice Elves.

But above all else, the first thing that caught their attention was a large beautiful ice sculpture standing in front of the village.

And surprisingly, the shape of the ice sculpture...

"Mother?"

[Haein?!]

Suho and Ber's eyes widened.

1

The ice sculptures carved by the Ice Elves were in the form of a huge flying dragon, Kaisel, and Cha Hae-in.

* * *

5 years ago.

The shadow dragon Kaisel, who was returning with Cha Hae-in, was unable to bring her safely to the ground.

All in all, a dimensional rift had arisen in front of them, which had been multiplying randomly due to Itarim's invasion.

Kwa-O-O-O

-A powerful dimensional wind that suddenly blew Kaisel's wings and turned sharply.

-Kyaaak!

Cha Hae-in, who was just an ordinary human at the time, screamed as she clung to Kaisel's staggering back.

Kaisel tried his best not to let Cha Hae-in fall, but it was impossible to escape once he was caught up in the dimensional rift.

However, when he turned in the opposite direction, a tremendous battle had already begun in the direction he came from.

That moment.

Kaisel, the flying dragon, repeated the order Seong Jin-woo had given him.

That order is...

'Send Cha Hae-in back home safely.'

Cha Hae-in's safety.

Because he was Kaisel, who had been watching Seong Jin-woo, he was well aware of how important Cha Hae-in's safety was to Seong Jin-woo above all else.

The moment he remembered that fact, Kaisel jumped into the dimensional rift without hesitation.

Initially, there were no options.

Hold on and get sucked in.

jump on my feet

In the end, they were destined to be sucked into the dimensional rift.

But if you jumped in on your own, you could at least choose which crack to get sucked into.

And Kaisel turned into the most stable crack for Cha Hae-in's safety.

And the moment they crossed the rift, they could see it.

A mighty blizzard raging beyond.

The beautiful frozen forest below.

"...So Chacha came down to the forest where we live."

Remembering the scene of the day, Sirka looked at the ice-carved Cha Hae-in with a hazy expression.

The moment Cha Hae-in passed through the dimensional rift.

The moment we arrived in this frozen forest.

The moment I encountered the Ice Elves.

Cha Hae-in....

Awakened the tremendous power he had long forgotten.

1

S-class Hunter.

The magic that was stronger than anyone else in Korea.

"And you saved our tribe."

1

"From whom?"

"From the ice spirits of the Echo Forest."

Echo Forest.

The sanctuary where even an ice elf cannot come out alive once they set foot in it.

That moment.

belt ring.

1

[The quest has arrived.]

A system message appeared in front of Suho.

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 123 - Chapter 122(Unedited) Chapter 123: Chapter 122(Unedited)

"Wow! Sirkkada!"

2

Just then, lively voices were heard from all over the place.

"Sirka!"

"Sirka is back!"

When Sirka, who had suddenly disappeared, returned safely, ice elves came out from all over the village to greet her.

2

But that's only for a moment.

The moment they found the stranger standing next to Sirka, they became ferocious and immediately prepared for battle.

"intruder!"

"It's an intruder!"

"There is an intruder in town!"

Chwwwwwwwww!

Bows and arrows and sharpened daggers were aimed at Suho in an instant.

Shirka jumped between them and hurriedly waved her hands.

"Everybody stop! don't fight! He's not an intruder! Look Carefully! Cha-cha's son!"

"what?"

"Cha-cha?"

"Are you Chacha's son?"

Everyone looked at Suho's face with puzzled expressions.

"What?"

Then, one by one, they realized something and their eyes began to widen.

"Huh?"

"Uh huh? Really?"

The ice elves, who were wary of Suho, hurriedly turned their heads and opened their mouths while comparing the faces of the 'ice statues' standing in front of the village with those of Suho.

"wow! You really look like Cha Cha, right?"

"Come to think of it, our eyes are a bit similar!"

1

"Kodo!"

"Smell too!"

"What's your son's name? gender?"

1

"You fool! Chacha's son's name is Seongsuho!"

1

"What is Shirka! Are you really Chacha's son? Where did you find it?"

2

The immediate, bloody atmosphere suddenly loosened up and turned into a riotous one.

Even before entering the Glacier Dungeon, the atmosphere was so friendly that it was disheartening to have fully prepared to face the Ice Elves.

Shirka boasted in front of them, saying that she had found Suho.

Standing in the middle of that atmosphere, Suho was calmly examining the ice elves one by one.

'...Everyone is young.'

The lifespan of an Ice Elf may not be the same as that of a human, but once you look at their appearance, all of the Ice Elves who are talking in front of you now appear to be in their early to late teens.

He hardly looked like he was in his 20s or older.

'There are no adults.'

Besides, there was another strange thing.

'It's weaker than I thought.'

At that, Berdo made a strange expression and whispered to Suho.

1

[Most of the Ice Elf warriors I know are A-class, no matter how weak they are, they are at least B-class monsters. But the guys here...]

"Up to B-class to D-class. There is no A-class at all."

[You're too weak.]

1

Silka, who heard the conversation from the side, nodded.

1

"It has to be. All the capable warriors of our tribe were called out and killed during the war. The only ones in this village now are the tribe members who were too young or weak at the time."

In the war between rulers and lords that had been going on since the beginning of time, the 'King of the Yetis, the Lord of the Cold', used to capture all the new Ice Elves and lead them to the battlefield when they were born and became useful.

Of course, for the Ice Elves, being a soldier of their lord was an honor, and even being able to die heroically on the battlefield was a source of pride as a warrior.

However, it did not mean that those left in the village were not given a role.

They also had an important mission that was as important as the role given to the warriors.

That is to nurture my next generation by nurturing newly born children.

It was to raise those children into excellent warriors who could send them to the next battle.

To continue the war with the rulers that has been going on since the beginning.

"...That's us. Children born during the war."

The babies had grown up to this extent, and they were carrying bows and arrows and holding daggers in their hands.

In order to emulate the parents' generation and become a full-fledged warrior.

Suho found a contradiction in Sirka's words.

"But if all the weak were left behind, not all adults were strong, so why are only the children visible?"

"...It wasn't like this from the start. On the day the spirits of the Echo Forest ran rampant, most of the adults in the tribe died, and only one adult is still alive."

Echo Forest.

At those words, Suho's gaze naturally turned to the ice sculpture of his mother.

There ....

There was a carving of a dynamic battle scene of Cha Hae-in, who seemed to be dancing a 'sword dance' with daggers in both hands and his hair fluttering.

And right behind her, a huge flying dragon was spreading its wings as if to protect her.

It was just astonishing to Suho, an art student, how he made such an elaborate and outstanding statue out of ice.

1

"Looks like your mother is using a dagger."

1

"huh. He said he didn't have any weapons, so he lent me a dagger used by our tribe. And from then on. The fact that Chacha became our savior."

2

One day, Cha Hae-in suddenly descended from the sky on a black dragon through a blizzard.

When she just arrived in this frozen forest.

Just in time, the Ice Elves who lived in this forest faced a great danger.

"For some reason, the spirits of the Echo Forest came out of the forest all at once and poured into our village."

* * *

[Echo Forest]

This forest was a sacred place for the Ice Elves, who said that once they stepped into it, they would never come out alive.

And at one time this forest used to be called by another name.

It's called 'Forest of Trials'.

The Echo Forest was also the place where the adult ice elves went through the 'trial of the warrior' in order to be recognized as brave warriors.

However, even that ordeal did not dare to go into the depths of the Echo Forest, and only took place on the outskirts of the forest.

It was because if he went deeper than that, he could be possessed by the spirits of the Echo Forest and go insane.

"You're possessed by a spirit?"

"huh. The spirits of the Echo Forest are insubstantial. that's why it's scarier can change in any form. But it's hard to tell even if it's in its true form."

"...I have no idea what you mean by that explanation."

While Suho was listening to the legend of the Echo Forest from Sirka, the surroundings were still noisy.

The Ice Elves were preparing a small reception for Suho.

"Today is a party!"

"It's a welcome party for Seongseong!"

"Who keeps saying Seongsung! It's Seongsuho!"

2

Where did all the bloody looks from the beginning go? Those youthful faces were full of lively expressions.

Before I knew it, an elf was making art out of ice sculptures for protection in a corner.

Another elf brought out specially saved fruits for protection.

And another elf...

[Uh-huh! The little lord likes meat! Also, do you have any magic stones I can eat?]

Verdo was oblivious to the preparations for the welcome party for Suho, meddling hard.

2

Either way, Shirka's story continued on this side.

"But originally, the spirits of the Echo Forest were beings that never came out of the Echo Forest."

Due to the location, the forest where the Ice Elves lived and the Echo Forest were right next to each other.

Still, as long as they didn't invade the realm of the spirits first, they weren't dangerous at all.

"At least that's how they knew until 'that day'."

1

One day, 'the day' when the sky in the frozen forest was suddenly torn apart and a dimensional crack opened.

Perhaps under that influence, the spirits of the Echo Forest suddenly ran out of control.

Then, it popped out of the Echo Forest and started attacking the Ice Elves indiscriminately.

It was a catastrophe for the young Ice Elves who were left behind in a village where excellent warriors had already left.

"That was a few years ago, so we were much weaker than we are now."

"You said my mother saved you then?"

"huh. The cha-cha was amazing."

1

Cha Hae-in suddenly appeared on a flying dragon and asked the Ice Elves to lend him a sword.

1

The moment the dagger was gripped in both her hands.

"Skill sword dance."

Shirka muttered her technique Cha Hae-in had taught her.

Cha Hae-in started to draw fancy curves with daggers in both hands as her movements became faster as if she was dancing.

Pod! Pod! Pod!

The wondrous and overwhelming battle that shrewdly cuts down the spirits as if dancing at a fast tempo.

Because of her beauty, the Ice Elves initially tried to nickname her 'Dancer'.

2

However, another nickname was created because the party banned it because it was embarrassing.

1

"That new nickname is 'Dragon Shaman'."

"...Are you not ashamed of that?"

"Kaisel liked that nickname. So, reluctantly, they let me just call it."

And as the nickname suggests, Cha Hae-in's battles were always accompanied by the black dragon Kaisel.

Suho didn't know about Kaisel, but Ber quickly appeared and explained.

1

[Kaisel was once so great that Baran, the lord of the white flame, rode under the name of the flying dragon, Kaiselin. By the way, it was an S-class monster.]

"S-class monster?"

Suho's eyes widened.

Isn't it said that my mother suddenly awakened the power of an S-class hunter and rides an S-class beast?

It was a completely different image from the mother who usually led a peaceful life at home.

1

"Anyway, thanks to Chacha and Kaisel, the spirits that were attacking us fled back to the Echo Forest. And Chacha stayed with us for a while and taught us swordsmanship."

"You learned swordsmanship from your mother?"

3

"huh. Until then, the village elders who raised us had all been killed by the spirits. That's why I don't know when the spirits of the Echo Forest will suddenly attack again, so it's chacha who protected us."

This was the reason Cha Hae-in was called the savior of the ice elves.

She even taught the surviving children how to fight and was responsible for their safety...

"Chacha is the mother of all of us."

Seeing Shirka smile brightly as she said this, Suho felt a sense of longing.

"So after that, my mother is now..."

"Yeah. As I said before, I suddenly rode a Kiesel into the Echo Forest a while ago. He said there was a strange smell there. He hasn't come back yet."

1

"Is it a strange smell?"

"hmm. What should I explain? Cha-cha can smell magical powers as sensitively as we ice elves."

Along with those words, it was Shirka who sniffed Suho's scent.

"Suho, you have a very nice scent. so i knew right away That you are Cha Hae-in's son."

2

Cha Hae-in talked a lot about his family while living with the Ice Elves.

1

"Chacha said that. His son looks just like his father and smells great. So, by chance, if her husband comes looking for her while she is in the Echo Forest, she told me not to attack her first and tell her this."

2

"what are you saying?"

At Suho's question, Shirka opened her mouth with a serious expression.

"...found a place where 'gray snow' falls."

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 124 -
Chapter 123(Unedited)
Chapter 124: Chapter 123(Unedited)

Cha Hae-in spent a lot of time hanging out with the ice elves and living in their village to return to Earth.

Whenever they had a chance, they flew on Kaisal and searched for the rift in the dimension they rode over.

At first, I thought I would be able to go back soon.

I was just going back the way I came.

However, Cha Hae-in had no choice but to hit a wall soon.

First of all, flying through a terrible blizzard that obscured your vision was a problem.

Above all, the biggest problem was that when I went up to the sky, there was not one dimensional crack that existed there.

A world that has lost its monarch.

This frozen forest was being torn to shreds in real time, wandering through the dimensional rifts.

In the sky of the frozen forest, countless dimensional cracks were forming.

Finding the rift in the dimension connected to Earth was never an easy task.

However, Cha Hae-in and Kaisal did not give up and wandered through the blizzard every day.

In the meantime.

A really big thing happened.

-Grrung....

-Kaisal?!

At some point, the power of Kaisal, the dragon that protected Cha Hae-in, began to weaken day by day.

The reason was simple.

The reason why a shadow soldier could be immortal was because he was supplied with magic from the shadow lord.

However, Kaisel could no longer receive his magical power because the distance from Seong Jin-woo was too far away.

– I can't. If this happens, Kaisel will be destroyed before he can find the gate back to Earth.

This wasn't Earth.

You couldn't predict when and where what kind of enemy would appear.

If he had to encounter an unexpectedly strong enemy, Kaisel's power was absolutely necessary.

Cha Hae-in stopped trying to find the gate through the snowstorm from then on.

It was never about giving up.

– Let's trust our husband. He will definitely find me wherever I am.

1

A confident voice.

Cha Hae-in trusted Sung Jin-woo.

He believed that he would surely find him wherever he was.

2

Because he was the one who came to find himself even in this world, where he was destined to never meet.

1

While waiting for Seong Jin-woo here quietly, Cha Hae-in began teaching swordsmanship to the young ice elves.

Even if you leave this place someday.

I hope that these children will develop the strength to protect themselves from the ice spirits that invade the village whenever they have a chance.

And it was about then.

Cha Hae-in, who frequently dealt with spirits near the Echo Forest, discovered 'gray eyes'.

* * *

To find his mother, Suho decided to leave for Echo Forest.

"Are you really going?"

The expressions on the faces of the ice elves watching the scene were full of uneasiness.

"Are you okay? The Echo Forest is a really dangerous place..."

1

"That's right. I also said To enter there, you have to be at least Class A by human standards."

"Is Suho grade A?"

"Even though Suho is Chacha's son, why does he look so weak? I don't think the energy I feel is less than half of the chacha."

"Ah, that's the same for everyone. Of all the humans who have invaded here, no one has been stronger than Chacha."

Ironically, soon after Cha Hae-in left for Echo Forest, heavily armed humans began to come over, as if a new gate connected to the earth had opened.

How absurd it would be if Cha Hae-in came back and found out about this later.

Anyway, humans started to come over here, but the ice elves did not develop friendly relations with the humans.

In the first place, the purpose of the demons' existence is to 'destroy' everything according to the orders of the lords they serve.

It was an existence that destroyed everything but themselves.

It was impossible to have friendly relations with mere humans.

In that respect, Cha Hae-in could be said to be a very unusual existence.

Because she was a savior who helped them.

No, even if that were the case, if it were not possible to talk to each other, the relationship like now might not have been created.

The reason Cha Hae-in was able to talk with the Ice Elves in the first place was because of the 'necklace' gifted by Seong Jin-woo.

It is a special necklace prepared by Seong Jin-woo as a gift for the 16th wedding anniversary.

Seong Jin-woo put a number of strange functions for Cha Hae-in into the necklace, and one of them was the interpretation function.

In fact, the purpose of Sung Jin-woo putting that function into the necklace was for a very personal reason.

It is to make the conversation work so that Cha Hae-in can run errands even for shadow soldiers who cannot speak Korean.

And thanks to that private function, Cha Hae-in was the only one who was able to communicate with the Ice Elves and not antagonize them.

However, other humans who were unable to communicate with them were just prey to be hunted as soon as they were seen by the Ice Elves.

So when I met humans, I only asked one question.

Do you know 'Sung Jin-woo'?

It was because they could be the people Cha Hae-in's husband sent to find her.

Even if he couldn't speak the language, he was able to pronounce at least his name, so if someone who understood the name 'Sung Jin-woo' appeared, he was willing to save it.

Of course....

Unfortunately, no one knew Seong Jin-woo.

At that fact, the Ice Elves clicked their tongues in complete disbelief.

'Shadow Lord Seong Jin-Woo' rather knew people from other dimensions like themselves.

He was the only victor in the long and grueling War of Lords, and as a result he became the true ruler of all these planes.

However, none of the people on Earth who were saved by him really remembered him.

It was a really brutal thing.

"I will guide you on the way to the Echo Forest."

Shirka hopped over the snow and stepped in front of Suho.

His movements were much lighter and more agile than before.

It was thanks to Suho confirming that Shirka was not an enemy and deciphering 'Kasaka's poison'.

1

As her muscle strength, which had been damaged by the snake venom, recovered, Shirka opened her chest more confidently than ever before.

1

"Ahem. Even if you look at it like this, I am the guardian of the Baruka tribe."

Guardians are those who guard the borders of the Echo Forest.

Of course, I knew exactly how to get there.

"Then please."

Suho disappeared through the blizzard with Shirka, and the ice elves of the village left behind looked at them worriedly for a long time even after they disappeared.

* * *

The moment we reached Echo Forest through a snowstorm.

Suho was able to see with his own eyes the true nature of the spirits feared by the Ice Elves.

In the air where the blizzard was blowing, the ice blocks suddenly coalesced and turned into monsters.

[Ice Golem]

[

Ice Golem]

[Ice Golem]

...

Shirka's complexion turned pale at the sight of countless ice golems thumping in the forest.

"be careful! They are the spirits of the Echo Forest! But why did it come out already?"

At those words, Suho and Ver's eyes lit up at the same time.

1

The spirits that had no substance nested in the ice and created their own substance.

That was the true identity of the Ice Golem.

[Little Lord! Apparently, all the golems that destroyed the ground outside the dungeon were also spirits!]

Even before Ver's cry was over, Suho was already running towards the ice golems with his twin swords out.

1

"Wake up!"

11

Wow!

At that moment, around Suho, the shadow soldiers swaying black steam rose up all at once.

[Because I am the master's spear!]

Wedge-!

The shadow spearman, Quay, jumped forward faster than anyone else as if he had been waiting for this moment.

[illegible]

5

1

The Shadow Minotaur Minnow and Tau pushed the Ice Golems from Suho's left and right with force.

[Number of storable shadows: 3/3]

This is just a full-time job.

They were shadow soldiers that Suho could save, but there were a lot of day laborers that Suho had just extracted today.

"Everyone come out!"

[Shadow Kobold Lv.1]

[Shadow Kobold Lv.1]

[Shadow Kobold Lv.1]

....

[Shadow Troll Lv.1]

Knight Grade

All those monsters I hunted as soon as they fell right here.

Suho had extracted all of the hunting tribes and hid them in the shadows.

That number is...

[Number of shadows that can be extracted: 36/36]

"Wipe it all out!"

1

Kerruk!

Wow!

At Suho's command, a total of 36 shadow soldiers began to attack the ice golems.

"What is this number?!"

Shirka, who was taken aback by the untimely appearance of the ice golems, widened her eyes as she saw the soldiers summoned by Suho.

1

"As expected, you are Chacha's son!"

Of course, compared to Cha Hae-in's shadow dragon, Kaisel, the power was far less than that, but instead, Suho's soldiers were more numerous.

In addition, unlike Kaisel, who was getting weaker the more he used his strength, this one was truly an immortal army that would never die as long as the guardian had enough mana!

However, Sirka fell behind and shot an arrow herself to help Suho, telling him something he didn't know.

2

"Suho, be careful! Same goes for the spirits of the Echo Forest! No matter how many times I kill them, they keep appearing!

[illegible]

1

!

Just in time, the Ice Golem's body, made of ice, was shattered by Minnow and Tau's brutal strength.

1

[The Ice Golem has been defeated.]

[The Ice Golem has been defeated.]

At the same time, an amazing sight unfolded.

Shwaa
aa

new spirits penetrated into the wreckage of the ice golems that collapsed after riding the cold wind.

Then, the surrounding ice coalesced again, and the ice golem was resurrected in a normal state.

Seeing this, Suho's eyes flashed.

'Playing?'

They were weird guys.

Although the principles are opposite to those of the Shadow Soldiers, in the end, they were similar to those who were infinitely regenerated no matter how many times they were killed.

"Good?"

Suho's eyes sparkled.

Enemies that continued to regenerate no matter how many times they were killed were obviously difficult to deal with.

But what about the count?

"Wasn't this a good place to level up?"

snap.

[Purchased 'Item: Intermediate Mana Potion'.]

Suho immediately drank the Mana Potion in one shot and fiercely exposed it.

"Come, however you like."

3

And be my experience.

[Status Window]

Name: Holy Guardian

14

Level: 40

Occupation: None

1

Title: Wolf Slayer, Enemy of Bugs Demon Slayer

1

HP: 15310/15310

MP: 2411/2411

2

[Stats]

Strength: 115 Stamina: 49

Agility: 49 Intelligence: 49(+10) )

Sense: 49 (+5)

(distributable ability points: 0)

[Skill]

Passive Skill: Strength Lv.5 Dual Swordsmanship Lv.3 (Unknown) Lv.max

1

Active Skill: Ruler's Power Lv.1 Shadow Extraction Lv.2 Saving Shadows Lv.1 Storm Slash Lv.3 Giant's Armor Lv.1 Rigid Combat Lv.4 Living Lv.1 Elf's Steps Lv.1 Grassland Wind Lv.1 (Spiritual Only) [

3

Number of shadows that can be extracted: 36]

[Number of shadows that can be stored: 3]

[Blessing]

Kandiaru's Blessing,

Rakan's Blessing, Plague

Blessing

[Equipped item]

Volkan's Horn x2

1

Gray Ring (Sense +5)

Horus' Ring (Intellect +10)

Ice Bear's Robe (Defense +50)

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 125 - Chapter 124(Unedited) Chapter 125: Chapter 124(Unedited)

[The level has risen!]

1

[The level has risen!]

1

....

Suho continued to march into the Echo Forest while mercilessly smashing the ice golems that were endlessly swarming.

[Clear the way! Keep pushing!]

[A death mace to all the cursed tribes that stand in the way of the little lord!] The Guardian Shadow Corps, supported by Quay and Ver, moved forward without hesitation.

3

Even if the ice golems that obsessively block them continue to regenerate.

At this rate, even if it was like stepping into the middle of enemy lines.

'If only there was a mother in front of me!'

Suho never stopped advancing.

"Pierce!"

[Geuuuuuuu!]

A terrible battle that kills each other fiercely and resurrects endlessly.

And the back of Suho, who doesn't hide behind the soldiers and takes the lead in destroying and smashing the golems...

'...my God.'

Shirka was watching with a shocked expression.

'Is this the son of Chacha?'

If Cha Hae-in's battle was like watching a beautiful dance, Suho's battle is truly a storm.

In the center of the storm, he was crushing the bodies of enemies bigger than himself.

oh oh!

The shadow soldiers did not lose either.

A grueling hand-to-hand combat led by two shadow minotaurs.

The overwhelming violence emanating from that strong body!

When Ber's support was added to it...

1

[Ber uses 'Skill: Harsh Command'.]

['Skill: Harsh Command' increases the stats of beast-type shadow soldiers by 50%.] [

'Skill: Harsh Command' As a side effect of 'harsh command', beast-type shadow soldiers are cursed with insanity.]

[Kwoaaa]

Minnow and Tau, who suddenly turned into berserkers themselves, completely went berserk.

He wielded his muscular arms, which were swollen as if they were about to explode, and began to literally destroy not only the ice golems, but also the forest itself.

Kwajik! Bang!

Kwak Kwa Kwa Kwa Kwam!

It was to the point where the ice golems looked pitiful.

'But the real thing starts now.'

Sirka warned Suho.

"This is the Echo Forest! And from now on...!"

Before he could finish his words, a huge number of ice arrows began attacking the Shadow Soldiers in the forest.

Shush shush shush shush shush!

"...!"

Seeing this, Suho's eyes flashed.

The bodies of the soldiers hit by the arrows were immediately frozen.

And blah blah!

It became a piece of ice and shattered on the spot.

Suho turned his gaze to find the guys who shot the arrows.

Familiar figures atop the densely grown trees of the Echo Forest were aiming their bowstrings in this direction.

"Ice elves?"

"no! They...!"

Shirka opened her mouth with a complex expression.

"...Our tribe members whose spirits were eaten by the spirits of the Echo Forest."

'Ah, that's it.'

Suho recalled the story the Ice Elves had told him about the Echo Forest in the village.

The Echo Forest was a forbidden land that even the Ice Elves could not come out of alive once they set foot in it.

That's why.

'Is that what it means to be possessed by a spirit?'

Suho deflected their arrows with his sword and quickly inspected them.

White ghosts aiming their bows on top of a dense tree branch.

Their eyes were unfocused, and what I felt in those empty eyes was pure madness itself.

In addition, their bodies were half-frozen, and even if their bodies were torn or cut by the shadow soldiers' counterattack, a cold blizzard came from somewhere and reattached the wounds.

No, to be exact, it was 'freeze'.

"It looks like an ice golem."

"Exactly... they're the same guys."

Suho nodded his head at Sirka's answer, which seemed disturbed.

[Ice Golem]

[Ice Golem]

....

As Sirka explained, the name tag 'Ice Golem' was attached to the heads of the ice elves who were possessed by spirits.

And as the battle continues to prove it.

The more ice clings to their wounds and regenerates over and over again.

Gradually, their appearances were changing from ice elves to ice golems.

If the golems outside the forest were created by spirits dwelling in the blizzard, the golems here were spirits inhabiting the corpses of ice elves who died in the Echo Forest.

However, seeing them skillfully shooting arrows using their innate skills even after death, Suho suddenly realized.

"Were these guys the ones who shot the arrows in the first place?"

The ice golems that caused the ground to collapse and cause them to fall here.

Right before they appeared, it seemed that these guys were the ones who had shot arrows and attacked this side.

Basically, they were on the same side.

'...That means there is another gate leading to the outside somewhere in this Echo Forest.'

There was no way these guys flew through the sky and came over to Earth, so there was another passage.

"I am here now."

Shirka, who had been following Suho until now, suddenly hesitated and spoke.

"I want to follow you further, but if I go further into the forest, I will be possessed by the spirits like that."

At those words, Suho looked at Sirka.

In this sense-disturbing blizzard, Shirka was a road guide I liked, so I wanted to keep taking her with me.

2

"Is there any way to stop the spirits?"

"Very few. Basically, our tribe and the spirits here have a high affinity. So, if I make up my mind and the spirits target me, there is little way to protect my mind."

"Does saying there are few mean that there are?"

"Ugh. That's actually..."

"...?"

When Suho suddenly saw Sirka looking at him, Suho had a puzzled look on his face.

"I'm asking just in case, that fur."

"A fur coat? Oh this?"

"huh. Isn't that Ice Bear's fur?"

"ah. that's right."

Suho nodded, and Sirka opened her mouth hesitantly.

"Actually... Ice spirits don't get along well with Ice Bear. That's why the spirits won't come close to me if I'm wearing that fur coat."

"Oh, was it like that?"

"ah! Of course, I absolutely do not mean to ask for the clothes! Ice Bear's skin is the symbol of a warrior. I know how important the clothes are to the warrior who killed Ice Bear..."

Jjag-lak.

1

[I purchased 'Item: Ice Bear's Robe'.]

1

"Now, put it on."

"...!"

Suddenly, a new fur coat appeared on Suho's hand, and Shirka's widened eyes filled with emotion.

"you you...! What a nice guy!"

"Hurry up and get dressed. Can't you see I'm busy right now?"

Even in the midst of this, a huge rain of arrows was pouring down from all sides.

While Shirka quickly put on her fur clothes, Suho immediately opened her inventory and changed items.

1

Coincidentally, there were two 'bows' in his inventory prepared for the glacier dungeon.

One was Daegung, bought with Lio Xing's corporate card.

2

And the second bow was a pretty amazing item that Lim Tae-gyu, the head of the Reaper Guild, lent me.

[Grim Reaper's Bow (Imitation)]

Difficulty to obtain: A

2

Type: Bow

Attack Power +90

This is an industrial product modeled after the 'Grim Reaper's Bow (S)', the symbol of the Grim Reaper Guild.

Although the attack power is not outstanding compared to the grade, the cohesion of magic arrows is very good, so the archer's skill effect is amplified by 3 times.

...Of course, this item was an item that Suho didn't really need.

In the first place, Suho did not condense mana to create magic arrows like normal archer hunters, but just made shadow soldiers into arrows and fired them.

However, if something might happen in the dungeon and it was lent for free, shouldn't we accept it unconditionally?

'As expected, I'm glad I accepted it.'

Suho took the great bow Lio Xing had bought him and handed the other one, the 'Grim reaper's bow (imitation)', to Sirka.

1

"Now, I'll lend you this too, so from now on you fight too."

"...!"

Then, Sirka's expression was several times more shocked than when she received the fur coat.

"What what? You're giving me such a good bow?!"

"No, I'm lending it. Not even mine."

"Thank you so much! I will work really hard!"

I knew right away what he meant by hard work.

After receiving the bow of the imitation god of death politely with both hands, Shirka's momentum immediately changed.

1

If Ver's harsh command drives beast-type beasts mad, a good bow drives archers mad.

1

Shuwaaaaaaa-!

In an instant, a great concentration of magical power raged from Shirka's bow, and six arrows of magical power were immediately created.

"Is this happening?!"

Shirka, who could only create two magic arrows at the same time, was deeply moved.

And when I let go of the bowstring, the six magic arrows flew at tremendous speed and intercepted the arrows of the enemies flying this way in the middle.

Damn it!

The arrows that collided with each other in the air became ice powder and flew away.

"Just trust me and follow me! I'll keep guiding you to a place where you can find Cha-Cha!"

Shirka became bold again and stood at the forefront of Suho.

But then.

"Move."

Shirka's pupils widened as she hurriedly looked back with a chilling feeling.

There...

kuwaaaaaaa!

There was a figure of Suho carrying a black arrow of great momentum in the great bow.

"Stir as much as you like, Quay."

1

Kwa-O-O-!

At that moment, a black bolt of lightning flew through the white snowstorm.

"oh my god."

Shirka was shocked.

The black arrows fired by Suho were literally thunderbolts, and they pierced the bodies of enemies, freely changing directions in zigzags instead of straight lines, as if they had eyes.

1

Kwajangchangchang!

8

The ice elves hit by the lightning began to shatter in a chain like an ice statue breaking.

At that moment, it was visible in Shirka's eyes.

The spirits of the Echo Forest that dissipate like smoke from the broken and crumbling bodies of the Ice Elves.

And as if they had waited for this moment, new spirits approaching to reclaim that empty body.

However, Suho felt the presence of those spirits as well.

"I can't take it away."

The ice golems he had encountered so far were nothing more than blocks of ice without a body.

However, these guys were still 'corpses' with even a little bit of flesh left.

There was still a chance until the corpse was taken back by the spirits.

[This is a target that can extract a shadow.]

[This is a target that can extract a shadow.]

[This is a target that can extract a shadow.]

....

A smirk.

Suho quickly sent a few shadow kobolds back to nothing and created an empty slot.

And before the spirits take away those precious corpses.

"Wake up."

20

It was intercepted from this side first.

That moment.

Shuhua ah!

1

Black shadows began to rise from the shattered corpses like pieces of ice.

[Shadow extraction succeeded.]

2

[Shadow extraction succeeded.]

[Shadow extraction succeeded.]

....

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 126 - Chapter 125(Unedited) Chapter 126: Chapter 125(Unedited)

[Shadow Elf Lv.1]

Knight Grade

[Shadow Elf Lv.1]

Knight Grade

[Shadow Elf Lv.1] Knight

Grade A

2

shadow archer unit stands proudly in front of the guardian, waving black steam. appear.

Bows made of shadows were held in their hands, and at Suho's command, they drew the bowstring at the enemies without hesitation.

Suaaaa!

At that moment, several strands of shadow arrows were created from their bows.

"oh my god."

Realizing their identity, Sirka couldn't help but be astonished.

"To bring back the souls stolen by the spirits!"

The souls of the Ice Elves were finally freed through true death.

And now, Sirka realized the true meaning of the word 'son of Chacha'.

Cha Cha No Cha Hae-in's husband Seong Jin-woo.

He is the one who controls death.

King over death.

The 'Shadow Lord'

3

and the fact that the one who inherited his blood is Seongsuho.

"Full-arms advance."

At Suho's command, the black archers aimed their bows at the enemies.

* * *

On the other hand, contrary to Suho, who is attacking the Echo Forest from the outside...

The scavenger hunters who came in with Suho had already been wandering deep in the Echo Forest for a long time.

Shush shush shush shush!

Ice arrows flying from all directions.

"Come again Damn!"

"Stop!"

"I can't stop you this time! There are too many!"

"Then, behind that tree...!"

Unlike Suho, who fell alone, they fell into the Echo Forest from the beginning.

If Suho hadn't attempted to glide through the blizzard with a storm slash while falling, he could have fallen this way from the beginning.

However, even though it was not the same way as Suho, they were able to calmly land in their own way, keeping everyone alive.

Anyway, these are the scavenger's guild members representing America.

Their ability was verified just by being a part of it.

However, even after landing safely, they did not have time to catch their breath.

As if they had waited for that moment, ice spirits from all directions began to attack them.

"...an ice elf possessed by a spirit."

Likewise, Eshil, who had fallen into the Echo Forest and continued the battle, clicked her tongue as she saw the Ice Elves possessed by the spirits.

1

With a look that's really ridiculous.

"It's worth it. Yeti were eaten by ice spirits? How weak were they in their lifetime?"

Perhaps if the King of Yetis, the Lord of the Cold, saw this now, he would not be able to close his eyes gracefully even after he dies.

"To think that a yeti specializing in spiritism could eat spirits instead of commanding them."

Demon noble Esil knew very well the true fear of 'Yeti'.

The protection of the Ice Spirit always followed the Ice Elf warriors who were put into the War of Lords.

So, no matter what bows or weapons were lifted in their hands, the 'Curse of the Cold' was carried on every attack.

If they get hit by an arrow, the area freezes.

When cut by the blades wielded from their hands, blood did not splatter and the cut surface froze intact.

If that cold and relentless attack accumulates only a few times, the opponent's entire body freezes and his movements slow down.

As a result, the Ice Elves were warriors who demonstrated tremendous power the longer the fight went on.

'If it weren't for the ice bear robe I received from Suho, I would have been in danger...'

Damn it!

"Keep! My arm is broken! healer! healer!"

"Wait! I'm on my way...!"

Just in time, during the fierce battle, among the scavenger hunters, there was a victim with a broken part hit by an ice arrow.

At that moment, Ash's eyes lit up.

3

Once it was like that, it was impossible to even heal the wound with ordinary methods.

Schwack!

Eshil quickly approached the injured Hunter and tore off the wound on his shoulder with one hand.

1

"Keah!"

"Be patient. It can be cured only when all the cold air that has penetrated the blood vessels is removed."

bloodstone formation.

Wow!

In front of the Hunter screaming in pain, Eshil quickly pulled the frozen bloodstone from his wound.

Then, he ordered the healer who had arrived next to him.

"Now regenerate a new arm! So do the other guys! First, cut out all the frozen wounds and then heal them!"

"Yes yes!"

Due to the charisma of the demonic aristocrat displayed in this melee, Healer was submissive to her orders without even realizing it.

And that charisma influenced other hunters as well.

"Everyone, don't get hit by arrows and don't even rub them! The curse of the bitter cold seeps into your body with the slightest touch!"

Since there were so many strong bodies in the scavenger, there were many hunters who fought while just getting hit with their bodies.

However, if a blind arrow accidentally strikes between armor and armor, it was a fatal blow at that moment.

In this way, Eshil encouraged the scavenger hunters and gradually increased their power by gathering scattered colleagues one by one.

1

Of course, among the hunters, there were A-class hunters who were stronger than Esil, but even so, their experience was only two years after becoming a hunter.

The charisma shown by Esyl, a demon aristocrat who has lived fiercely in the demon realm where she is eaten and eaten since birth, was not comparable to human hunters in the first place.

4

The result of helping each other and helping each other like that.

As the number on this side gradually increased, the aspect of being chased one-sidedly at first gradually stabilized.

"You're getting used to it!?"

"Anyway, you just have to destroy everything!"

"By the way, where did our guild leader go!"

"Thomas! Thomas Andre! Can you hear us!"

As soon as I started to breathe, I started to look for Thomas Andre, the most important core force.

But it was never easy.

My senses were dizzy as a snowstorm raged all around me.

"Where the hell did Suho fall?"

Eshil was trying to find the energy of Suho rather than Thomas Andre.

Then all of a sudden

Creepy.

"What!"

Eshil hurriedly raised her head at the sudden, creepy sensation.

Whoa oh oh!

As I wandered aimlessly through the forest, gray snow was mixed with the blizzard that was raging.

"...gray eyes?"

Eshil's eyes widened.

'no! It's not like snow!'

Eshil was basically a demon who was familiar with blood and corpses, so I was sure.

"This is... ashes! The ashes from burning the corpses are flying in the snow!"

In this bitter cold, did the corpse burn without freezing?

It wasn't such a simple matter.

It was because the identity of the aura felt in this tiny gray ash like dust made me feel really unbelievable fear.

"Could this be... a dragon?"

The energy of the dragon race was clearly felt in the gray ash.

Eshil, who realized the identity of it, was startled and looked around urgently.

But there was nothing to be seen, and only one thing could be guessed.

slap!

1

Esil's eyes stared at the direction where more gray ash was flying.

"Somewhere over there, a dimensional rift has opened! That also led to the world of dragons...!"

Or maybe it was a completely different world.

The war between the shadow army and the monarchs led by Sung Jin-woo took place in all dimensions along the dimensional gap.

And no matter how much you think about it, Sung Jin-woo was the only one who could kill the 'dragon' race so mercilessly that it would become ashes and scatter like this.

There was no way that dragons of the same kind would fight each other.

'This... isn't good.'

Ethil had an ominous feeling.

1

Among all the races living in the entire dimension, if you were asked to pick the most dangerous ones, there were only two.

giants and dragons.

Especially among them, the dragons were a race armed with tremendous magical power and power, and the bones and corpses they left behind when they died were treasures with tremendous power in themselves.

'But the corpse is turned to ashes and scattered all over the land like this?'

This is never good.

'The dead dragon's curse was being sown on this land!'

Eshil exclaimed, looking back at the hunters who were hurriedly fighting the forest spirits.

1

"Go back the way you came! We need to get out of here ASAP!"

"what? What's wrong with you all of a sudden?"

"This forest is cursed! These gray eyes...!"

It was then.

In Esil's eyes for a fleeting moment, a silhouette passed over the gray blizzard.

"...!"

In an instant, Esil's eyes were stained with astonishment.

"It's a dragon!"

1

The identity of the silhouette was a huge dragon.

The shadow of a dragon with its huge wings spread wide was flapping its wings beyond the gray blizzard!

And the hunters of the scavenger who saw it couldn't help but be frightened.

"crazy."

"What is that?"

"A dragon!"

Among the Demonic Beasts that have appeared on Earth in the past two years, there has never been a race called Dragon.

At least there were gargoyles that looked similar to dragons, but even gargoyles were not that big.

"You have to run away too!"

"iced coffee! At a time like this, where the hell did Thomas Andre go!"

9

"retreat! retreat!"

"It's impossible for us alone!"

The hunters hurriedly retreat before Eshil's command is finished.

Looking at that dragon, I realized that ice golems were really nothing.

But what a fuss they caused while they got here.

It was a fight for survival, but it seemed that the disturbance had touched the heart of the dragon who was sleeping quietly deep in the forest.

"...shit."

Eshil, who was retreating while keeping an eye on the dragon, swallowed a dry spit.

2

The dragon that was flying over the blizzard suddenly turned this way.

Then he opened his mouth and let out a roar full of life.

That moment.

oh oh oh-!

"...!"

"...!"

Dragon Fear.

A suffocating, terrible living thing engulfed their bodies.

At that moment, everyone's body stiffened on the spot.

will only realize

A frog placed in front of a snake.

1

The fact that they are nothing more than mere prey in front of that powerful being.

However, in the immediate situation.

Whee-a-a-a-a-

they could see it.

Just at that moment, a new dragon flew to the side of the dragon that was flying towards its prey through a blizzard and crashed into it.

1

Tuquaang!

"...!"

"...!"

And the bodies of the Hunters, caught in the tremendous shockwaves that exploded in all directions, were thrown back helplessly.

However, even at this moment, Eshil, who was holding on tightly to her mind, could clearly see the scene in front of her with her own two eyes.

1

And then his eyes widened as if they were about to pop out.

"...Can you stand?!"

will only see

The second dragon appeared, its whole body shimmering with black steam.

1

And is it an illusion of the eye?

Someone was riding on the dragon's back.

2

The distance was too far and the detailed face was not visible because of the snowstorm, but the silhouette was... a woman with daggers in both hands.

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 127 - Chapter 126(Unedited) Chapter 127: Chapter 126(Unedited)

Whoaaa

[Oh dear!]

Vere's antennae at Suho's side twitched, and he hurriedly turned to Suho and shouted:

2

"My lord! Suddenly, the forest is in turmoil!"

At the same time, a magical storm of magnitude erupted from the depths of the forest.

A shockwave unlike any previous blizzard sent the Guardian Shadow soldiers back.

Suho quickly evacuated the rest of the shadow soldiers into his shadows, except for the Shadow Minotaur, and shouted:

"Mino! Tau!"

[Mmm

At Suho's command, Mino and Tau each threw their arms around Suho and Sirka and slammed their opposing fists into the ground.

Stomping!

Minowa and Tau's strong forearms sank deep beneath the snowy ground like the roots of an old tree.

1

Thanks to this, Suho and Sirka managed to survive being swept away by the magic storm, and Suho stared out into the blizzard with narrowed eyes.

"What's going on all of a sudden?"

[It seems that there has been a great clash of forces in the distance!]

Ver replied, clinging to Suho's head and glaring at the same spot.

1

"Even the spirits are panicking!"

As Sirka had said, it had nothing to do with the spirits of the Echo Forest.

The problem, however, was that this storm was not a one-off event, but an ongoing one.

It was hectic because of the blizzard, and when this situation was added to this, it became difficult to move forward.

But Suho had no intention of stopping his advance.

"Maybe there is a mother beyond this storm."

3

[I think so.]

"I'm going to get through it like this."

[Mmm!]

[Moore-uh-uh!]

Mino and Tau roared at Suho's resolute determination, drawing on the strength of their bodies.

With Suho and Sirka in his arms, he fell flat on the floor and began to crawl forward.

Even though the speed was slow, the magic storm stopped the spirits' attacks for a while, making it easier for them to move.

As I continued to make my way through the magic storm.

Suddenly, Sirka sniffed.

"Is there something strange smelling near Suhoya?"

2

"What smell?"

"I don't know. I've never been here before. By the way... It smells like something warm."

"Smell warm? What kind of expression do you have?"

The smell of warmth?

At first, Suho expressed his doubts, but then he realized that maybe it wasn't nonsense.

Ice elves are distinctly different from humans.

Maybe he was feeling something that humans couldn't.

As he thought about it, something came to Suho's mind.

This is the quest that arrived at the Ice Elves' Village as soon as they arrived.

[Quest: Spring Water of the Echo Forest]

1

Somewhere in the Echo Grove hides a mysterious spring.

Find the spring and earn the reward.

'... I was ignoring it because I had to find my mother first.'

Suho hadn't paid much attention to it since he received the quest.

The purpose of coming to the glacier dungeon was to find clues for my mother.

There was no time to waste on a quest that didn't even know how long it would take.

"In this cold, everything would have been frozen in the spring, but if it was covered in snow, how would you find it?"

However.

'What if the spring water hadn't frozen in this cold?'

Warm smell.

There will be only a limited amount of warmth that can be held in this cold.

'Ten thousand.'

Or hot springs.

If it was a hot spring formed by hot groundwater, it would surely not freeze in the cold, but would still exist as a spring.

"In which direction do you feel that warm smell?"

"Where? Mmmm, wait a minute. I can't tell for sure if it's the smell of this magic storm, but..."

Sirka furrowed his brow at Suho's question and kept sniffing.

"I can't fathom the distance, but... We're definitely on the right track."

"Really? If we go in the same direction, keep going and we'll run into each other."

1

Even if the direction was slightly different, Suho nodded, daring to ignore the quest.

And after a while.

A hot spring appeared in front of Suho's eyes.

The sight of the hot springs steaming up in the bitter cold was a mysterious and exquisite sight in itself.

Strangely enough, as I got closer to the hot springs, the magic storm that had been raging like crazy seemed to have weakened a little.

"There was a real hot spring."

However, Suho's reaction to the discovery of the hot springs was unexpected.

It was a quest, and on the way to find my mother, I wasn't in a position to take a leisurely look at these hot springs.

"Plus, the quest difficulty is so easy that I can't expect the rewards themselves."

Wasn't that the case with this Kosaka Quest?

1

If the quest difficulty was too easy, the rewards didn't seem to help much.

However, contrary to Suho's reaction, Sirkka's expression was one of dismay when he discovered the hot springs in the Echo Forest.

"Oh my God! This is it...!"

Sirka was surprised to realize the true nature of the energy in the hot springs.

"I can feel Szilard's energy here! Could it be that this is Szilard's...?!"

"Szilard? Who's that?"

2

At Suho's question, Sirka swallowed dryly and looked at Suho's face with a serious expression.

"... Szilard, King of the Yetis, Lord of the Frost."

"...!"

[Kiek?]

"Apparently this is the place where our king, now deceased, used to stay."

Cirka's answer widened his eyes as he looked at each other.

1

Come to think of it, this Echo Forest is a sanctuary for the ice elves.

It wasn't unusual to have a place associated with the king of the yetis, the Lord of the Frost.

* * *

Ring!

[Obtained "Item: Spring Water of the Echo Forest."]

[You've completed the quest.]

As soon as Suho bought an empty potion bottle from the shop window and filled it with hot spring water, the quest was completed.

For some reason, I've always felt that quests are too easy these days, but when I think about it, this quest wasn't easy at all.

Wandering aimlessly in this awful place, looking for a spring that I don't know where it is.

Maybe that's why Suho didn't even bother with this quest in the first place.

[Quest completion reward has arrived.]

[Would you like to check your rewards?] (Y/N)

Before checking the rewards, Suho first checked the information in "Item: Spring Water of the Echo Forest".

[Item: Echo Forest's Spring Water]

Difficulty to obtain: ??

Type: Consumables

It is a mysterious spring in the Echo Forest.

When drunk or applied to the body, it has a neutralizing effect on toxins.

"Aha, it's kind of a detox potion."

It was said to be a mysterious spring, and it seemed to have a neutralizing effect on toxins.

It was a mystery, but for the Guardian with the Blessing of the Plague, this kind of detoxification ability was mana.

However, that thought changed 180 degrees the moment I saw the quest rewards.

[The following rewards are available.]

Reward: Runestone: Crafting the Divine Beast of Life

1

"Hmm? A skill that can craft the Divine Beast of Life?"

2

From the name, something unusual came out.

And Ver, who knew exactly what the name meant, said with great amazement.

1

"The Divine Beast of Life...!"

1

Sometimes it's much easier to see item information than to explain.

Listening to Ver's explanation, Suho learned the skill by breaking runestones.

1

Strapping.

[Crafted Item: Beast of Life.]

1

Then, at the very end of the Guardian's skill window, the [Crafting Skill] slot appeared.

[Crafting Skills]

Consumables: Divine Beast of Life (1/3)

2

Suho's gaze stared at the Divine Beast of Life, and an explanation came to mind.

1

[Item: Divine Beast of Life]

1

Acquisition Difficulty: S

Type: Consumables

It is a mysterious potion that heals all ailments with its powerful magical powers.

Only when the entire bottle has been used will the full effect be achieved.

"Cure all diseases?!"

[Yes, the Divine Beast of Life is a legendary elixir that is completely different from a mere healing potion.]

1

Vere's eyes widened, and he nodded in agreement.

1

Suho, who hadn't expected much from this quest, became quite serious.

Of course it had to be.

1

When healers first appeared after the Cataclysm, there was a great deal of interest in them from the world.

What a skill that can restore others.

People were frenzied by its amazing ability, which far exceeded the level of modern medicine.

But unfortunately, the healers' healing skills were not one-size-fits-all.

A good healer could heal even a mortal wound, but very few were able to do so.

Also, no matter how good a healer he was, even if he was an S-class healer, there were limits.

"But this is the elixir of immortality, isn't it? Oh, it's not 'immortality.'"

[Such an ability as fire is really useless, and if you die, you can become a shadow soldier...]

"Anyway, I'm going to take as much of this as I can. But what about the other ingredients?"

Suho immediately checked the ingredients of the Divine Beast of Life.

1

[Divine Beast of Life]

3

-material

Purified Blood of the Demon King (0/1)

2

Fragment of the World Tree (0/1)

Echo Forest's Spring Water (1/1)

"Purified Demon King's blood? Fragments of the World Tree?"

When Suho saw the names of the ridiculously absurd ingredients, he had a look of bewilderment.

Now I saw that the spring water of the Echo Forest was the easiest material to obtain.

I don't even know where the World Tree grows.

Besides, the Demon Lord means the Lord of Demons.

"The Demon King died a long time ago? Where do you get this blood?"

[I have an idea.]

Suddenly, Ver's eyes flashed with a sinister expression.

2

[Make Esil the Demon King and draw blood.]

"Oh, that's how it should be."

It was Suho, nodding in agreement with the evil plan.

3

Esil was the only demon nobleman in existence and the only candidate for the king of demons.

It was still unknown if Esil would be able to become the monarch's vessel, but it was most likely.

Now there's only one ingredient left.

"If we can find the World Tree, we can create the Divine Tree of Life."

All the while, the Shadow Soldiers had already been diligently pumping the Echo Forest Spring Water into empty potion bottles at the behest of their guardian.

I couldn't stay here forever and lose time, so I had to hurry.

But while Suho is doing this.

Beside him, Sirkka looked around, marveling at the aura of the Lord of the Cold in the hot springs.

Then, at some point.

"...."

Sirkka's gaze glazed and unfocused.

Their expressions resembled those of the ice elves possessed by the spirits of the Echo Forest, and as if possessed by something, Sirkka slowly began to approach the hot springs.

Suho, who spotted the situation a little late, called out to Sirkka.

"What are you doing? If you get wet, you'll only get colder later..."

Splash.

It was too late.

The moment Sirkka dips his toes in the steaming hot springs.

Whoaaa

Suddenly, a tremendous light began to emanate from Sirkka's body.

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 128 - Chapter 127(Unedited)

Chapter 128: Chapter 127(Unedited)

The place they discovered was truly a wonderful sight.

Suddenly, the hot spring water from the Echo Forest began to swirl around Sirkka's toes, and soon enveloped her whole body and gushed out.

Kuwaah!!

At that moment, the hot steam of the hot spring and the frigid cold intertwined and resonated.

What a bummer!

Centered on Sirkka, the misty steam rising above the hot spring quickly turned into pure white frost and froze.

It was a wonderful moment, as if the whole world froze.

... In fact, it had.

T-Ring!

[The Sanctuary of Snowfolk'(1) is activated.]

Just then, a message appeared in front of Suho.

[Passive skill '(Unknown)' is activated.]

Time Froze.

* * *

The void of the universe appeared in front of him.

Suho stood alone at the end of the empty horizon.

'... I'm back here again.'

Suho calmly looked around.

He found the being who called him here.

Found you.

The end of the empty horizon, An old, shabby ice elf was sitting on the other side of it.

Suho took a step and slowly approached him.

'Did you call me?'

[...]

When Suho spoke first, the old ice elf slowly raised his head.

In that moment he revealed his old and weak expression and tired, empty eyes.

[The Frost Monarch, King of Snowfolk, is watching you.]

3

At the system message that appeared just in time, Suho was convinced of his identity and nodded.

'As expected, you are the King of Snowfolk, Frost Monarch, Sillad.'

[...]

However, even when Suho spoke to him, there was no reply from Sillad.

He just stared at Suho with a tired look.

'What?'

Suho felt a sense of wonder at the atmosphere so different from other Monarchs he had met so far.

Suddenly, he remembered the moments when he faced other Monarchs.

The King of Beasts, even in death, still radiated the power of a king all over his body.

The King of bugs, also attacked with numerous poisonous insects, burning her vengeance even to the point of death.

But what can I say about the lord of the cold sitting in front of me...

He was just an old, weary old man.

[...Yeah. You are his son]

After staring at Suho's face for a long time, Sillad, the Frost Monarch, finally opened his mouth.

[That is quite a strange skill you have. To be able to rescue my soul from the sea after death. So, you are the son of the Shadow Monarch.]

'The sea after death?'

[Don't you know? It's where the souls go after they die. Hey, why are you making such a face? ...]

Sillad looked up at the void sky with a remorseful expression on his face.

Of course, nothing was visible on it.

Nothing.

[... Waking up in a world of nothingness is such a rare experience. Tsk tsk.]

A self-deprecating smile formed on Silad's lips.

[Yeah. Death is such a futile thing. Even though I knew it would end like this anyway, what on earth did I struggle so hard for?]

'...'

Suho silently looked at him without even making eye contact as he complained like a madman.

[You know? I don't know if other Monarchs are any different, but I actually fought because I didn't want to die. The darkness within me constantly whispered to me to destroy everything, but I knew that in the end it would bring me my own destruction.]

woo woo-

[Yes, I knew I would be like this someday.]

As he sat down, he sighed softly.

Then, the pure white steam that flowed from its mouth turned into frost, creating a mirage in the air.

Countless illusions of ice elves appeared in front of Suho and Sillad.

[Do you know? We have been forced into war from the moment we were born. From the beginning until now, maybe since the beginning of time. That is why God created us.]

Kuaaaaah-!

In the illusion of a mirage, the Ice Elves were fighting.

No, they were running toward certain death.

And among them...

'Sillad' stood amongst them.

[You know, at the end of that war, we 'almost' won. I managed to kill your father with my own hands.]

'... !'

At that moment, Suho's eyes widened.

The image of a young man reflected in a mirage.

The identity of the man who looked so much like him was clearly his father, Sung Jin-Woo.

Fu-wook!

[I thrust a knife into your father's heart with my own hand.]

In that fantasy, Sillad was stabbing a frozen blade into Sung Jin-Woo's heart.

Father!?

Seeing this, Suho widened his eyes.

[The Frost Monarch, King of Snowfolk uses 'Skill: Echo'.]

Just in time, the conversations that were taking place in fantasy passed by Suho's ears like an echo on a frosty wind.

-I'll return your weapon to you. Alright. Now, can you heal like you did earlier? Probably not. No matter how strong you are, you are not a complete Monarch.

Sillad in the fantasy was whispering into 'Sung Jin-Woo's ear. In an extremely vicious voice.

-Is this far as you go, human? If that is the case, you will not be able to witness it. The moment our armies set foot on this world. When that time comes, there will be a mountain of human corpses, and their blood will form endless rivers.

Sillad was pouring a terrible curse on Sung Jin-woo, who was dying from the stab in his heart.

-But this country which you grew up in will be different. I shall personally freeze every single human in this country and make them suffer through an eternal agony. They will have to live for an eternity, unable to die or live.

1

[...So show me your endless contempt for me within your death.]

At some point, the voices of Sillad in the echo and Sillad here overlapped.

-That will also be my pleasure.

[That will also be my pleasure.]

Passeuk.

And at that moment, Sung Jin-woo's body, which was crumbling, shattered and scattered into ice powder.

Sillad, who sat staring at the ice powder in vain, looked at Suho with a puzzled expression. [Have you seen it? I murdered your father in the cruelest way possible, and I intended to curse every life close to your father. The reason is also the same. Just so that I wouldn't die.] Sillad did not bother to show Suho what happened next.

After that, Sung Jin-woo was resurrected, and it was Sillad himself who lost his life after being defeated in the war.

What does that matter in the first place? The fact that you are right now proves all the results.

'... Why are you showing me this?'

As he watched his father fall apart, Suho's eyes were boiling like hot flames.

His fists were full of energy, as if he would run at the man in front of him at any moment, but he did not act rashly.

He didn't know if that fantasy was real or false, but at any rate, at this point, he knew his father was still alive.

Rather, it was Silad who was dead and here now.

So this was even more confusing.

Why was Sillad showing such an illusion?

Why was he provoking himself like this?

[...So the moment I suddenly woke up from the sea after death, the moment I realized that it was the son of the Shadow Monarch who woke me up.]

For a moment, a terribly cold sense of life passed through Sillad's eyes, which had been empty until now.

[I was thinking of killing you right away.]

That handful of bloodlust gave him goosebumps, as if the bitter cold had been compressed to the extreme.

[I don't know how far my power will reach you, but I was planning to somehow drag your soul into the sea after death where I was... but.]

That didn't happen.

Because Suho wasn't the only one who woke him up.

Ice elf Sirka. Sirka, the guardian of the Baruka tribe.

Sillad was curious.

Who is the heir who discovered the Monarch's Sanctuary that he hid in the Echo Forest?

In order to determine whether or not it is a vessel that will pass on its power, he controlled Sirka's body and read the memories contained within it.

He soon regretted that.

[...I shouldn't have seen it.]

Sillad watched. He saw all the things that happened in this land after the end of the war, which Sirka had personally experienced.

Haaaa—

At that moment, Sillad's sigh created an illusion of frost again.

In that fantasy...

Surprisingly, there was Cha Hae-In, Suho's mother.

Mom...

Suho also saw the vision.

In that fantasy, Cha Hae-In was with the Ice Elves who survived the war.

She stood by those young and weak children and brought smiles to the faces of the children who were frozen in the cold.

As though a mother would.

[...She was like a mother.]

It was only then that Suho realized the identity of the expression on Sillad's face.

Even at the moment when he stabbed Sung Jin-Woo's heart with a knife, Sillad cursed at him.

—I shall personally freeze every single human in this country and make them suffer through an eternal agony. They will have to live for an eternity, unable to die nor live.

—So show me your endless contempt for me within your death. That will also be my pleasure.

Sillad, who had said so confidently, was sitting here dead like this.

And the tribes that survived after losing the war...they were all being taken care of by the wife of Sung Jin-Woo, the winner of the war.

In addition, the expressions of the ice elves being cared for by Cha Hae-In were filled with bright smiles without a single wrinkle.

Kuk.

For a moment, Sillad frowned with the most humiliated expression.

Ironically, their bright expressions were warm smiles that their king and monarch had never seen before.

That was natural.

They were just horses on a battlefield that would last forever to him.

From the beginning, they were created only for that.

However.

[I wonder how she was able to make them smile as much.]

He sighed and looked back at Suho.

[Yes, you guys won. In the end, I admit that I was defeated even in death.]

Tears were leaking from Sillad's eyes, who had a humiliated expression on his face.

[Now, far from hating you in death, I have come to feel endless gratitude for you. But even with such humiliation... Just— thank you.]

4

He thanked him to the point of tears. Sillad, who had been sitting the whole time, slowly got up.

[Son of the Shadow Monarch.]

1

Whoaaaah-!

All of the sudden, the Monarch's energy slowly swaying from his senile body filled the empty world.

[The Frost Monarch, King of Snowfolk is watching you.]

That arrogant gaze reached Suho.

[I will ask you one favor. This is the cowardly and servile will of a defeated Monarch and my last regret on this earth.]

'...'

[Please... Please give thanks to your mother on behalf of me.]

1

That was it.

[And just as your mother took care of my children, I will also protect you from now on.]

9

Shwaaa!!

At that moment, the energy of frost that filled this empty world blessed Suho.

T-Ring!

[The 'Blessing of the Cold' is applied.]

At that moment, Suho's frozen time started to move again.

The final voice of Sillad, the Frost Monarch that was getting farther away, reached Suho.

[Your mother is in danger nearby. I'll send you to her right away.]

-----

1: while the constant google translation seems to refer to The Frost Monarch as King of Yetis, the word Yetis is mistranslated from the word snowman [설인] which in this case is the snow beasts of all kinds, and more specifically its directed towards the Ice Elves.

3

Craftyprogamer

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 129 - Chapter 128(Unedited) Chapter 129: Chapter 128(Unedited)

Shwaak!

1

With a blink of an eye, Suho came back to reality.

1

At that moment, the first thing that caught my eye was none other than a pure white lotus, or an ice flower made of frost.

A single ice flower rises above the steaming hot spring.

Inside came Sirkka's muffled voice.

"... It's a guardian. I think I just saw my grandfather."

"What?"

'Could it be that Sirkha was the granddaughter of the Lord of Frost...'

That's when Suho questioned.

!

Suddenly, the ice flowers that had surrounded Sirkka bloomed and scattered in all directions.

At the same time, the ice crystals swirled and condensed in Cirka's hands.

1

Strapping.

[The King of the Yetis, the Lord of the Frost, inherits "Item: Spear of the Ice Tree" to his successor "Cirka."]

1

Chop Duk!

At that moment, a long stretch of ice stretched out of Sirkka's hand.

and a trident made of the ice that was created.

1

[Kihak! Could it be this energy?!]

Ver, who had no idea what Suho had just gone through, quickly stood in his way to protect Suho.

1

"It's okay."

Suho took him in his arms and patted him.

"It's on our side."

1

[Kiek?]

Ver tilts his head in his arms and looks at Suho's face.

1

But when he saw the confident look in Suho's eyes, he knew what was going on.

Suddenly, Sirkka's gaze, which had been staring blankly into the air, came into focus.

She looked away and spoke.

"I can see it now."

Sirkka swung the spear of the Icewood in his hand and pointed beyond the blizzard that blocked his vision.

"... That's where the cha-cha is."

Shhhhh

At that moment, a blizzard swept through the forest toward the frigid trident.

The energy swirled around Sirka and Suho's bodies, lifting them up.

Sirkka's eyes sparkled, and he smiled confidently.

"Hold on tight. I'm going to fly right away."

Huu

A streak crossed the Echo Forest.

* * *

Kuwaaa

The Scavenger Hunters were floundering in fear and despair.

A natural disaster was happening right in front of me.

The frigid forest where the earth roars and the sky shakes as if it is about to fall.

The Scavenger Guild is arguably the strongest guild in the United States, having tackled infamous dungeons many times that no other guild dares to challenge.

But the scene before them could not be compared to any dungeon they had ever conquered.

I didn't think I'd make it back alive.

The despair they felt now was impossible to express.

"Dragons...!"

Suddenly, dragons appeared in the middle of the forest and were engaged in a fierce battle with each other.

Caught up in the aftermath, the Hunters were just desperately fleeing like shrimp in a whale fight.

"Ahhh

"Oh please! Guild Leader! Guild Leader! Where the hell are you?"

"If only Thomas Andre had been...!"

They waited for only one person, with a glimmer of hope.

Mankind's Strongest Hunter Thomas Andre!

If only he would come here, he would solve all of this.

There was nothing they could do but pray so fervently to God.

But the longed-for Thomas Andrew, no matter how long they waited, it seemed unlikely to come.

In spite of the fact that the whole forest is in turmoil.

If it were his senses as an S-class Hunter, he would have been aware of the current situation long ago.

"Ahh Thomas!"

But what they didn't know...

It's not that Thomas Andrew didn't come, but that he was here from the beginning.

They didn't even dare to guess.

And there was only one person here who noticed it from the beginning.

"Ugh!"

It's just Cha Hae-in.

"How could he be here...!"

Cha Hae-in had a perplexed look on his face throughout the battle.

1

Cha Hae-in, who had been exploring the incident in the Echo Forest with Caesel, suddenly felt a tremendous presence in the Echo Forest, and hurriedly turned around.

1

And what he found was that demonic ice dragon.

1

The enormous, horrible thing was, in fact, the same kind of ice golem created by the spirits.

Banning the Ice Elves.

Another name for the Echo Forest is 'Forest of Trials'.

The spirits who live here visit the beings who invade the forest and give them the trials they deserve.

Therefore, the more powerful a person enters the forest, the more spirits will come to the forest, balancing their power.

And those who could not overcome the ordeal were eventually possessed by the spirits and deprived of their bodies.

They will be frozen forever, unable to live or die.

Of course, that only applied to the ice elves.

The ice elves were a race with great affinity for spirits, so they simply dealt with them.

On the other hand, it was easy for the spirits to take their bodies.

But humans are different.

From Cha Hae-in's experience so far, humans basically lack spirit affinity.

So at least I didn't have to worry about losing my body because of the ordeal.

Of course, there were a number of spirits that matched its power.

'But why?'

That's why Cha Hae-in was a little confused from earlier.

Cha Hae-in, who was fighting the closest to the ice dragon, could notice something.

No, I was able to smell it exactly.

A smell that is different from what you feel from the Ice Dragon.

Cha Hae-in squinted at him and examined the ice dragon, and soon discovered something ridiculous.

The existence of a man frozen in the most intimate part of that ice dragon made of solid ice!

1

A white-haired old man.

Regardless of his age, he is the strongest man on the planet with an immensely muscular build.

Cha Hae-in immediately recognized his face.

'Thomas Andre! Why is he turning into an ice dragon in a place like this?!

4

Oooo

Just in time, the ice dragon holding Thomas Andre near his heart roared and slammed into the Kaesel that Cha Hae-in was riding.

1

Boom!

[Uhh

A rather exhausted cry escaped Caesel's mouth against him.

1

"Caysel...!"

1

Cha Haein looked at Kaesel with a sad expression.

1

It's a big deal.

Caesel's power was waning.

1

Even if it weren't for today's battle, Kaisel had been weakening in real time for a long time.

2

Because he was so far away from Sung Jinwoo, there was no way to replenish his depleted strength.

However, as he began to fight an equal opponent like he did now, the speed at which he weakened was accelerating tremendously.

'If we wait any longer, Caesel's will be wiped out!'

1

Of course, if Sung Jin Woo was nearby now, it would be enough to be re-summoned back to Sung Jin Woo's shadow and try to recover in the shadow world, instead of returning to nothing.

But even that was not possible now.

'The only answer is speedy action. I have to do it.'

Cha Hae-in leapt off Caesel's back and slashed through the ice dragon's massive body with two daggers of sword qi.

3

Kaga ga gaga!

With a tremendous bursting sound, the ice dragon's body cracks and cracks.

But the wounds were repaired by a nearby blizzard.

New spirits inhabit the ice dragon's body and restore it.

"If we continue to fight like this, it's just a war of attrition! After all, the only way to do this is to attack Thomas Andre directly!"

The problem was that even that wasn't easy.

The body of the giant ice dragon is not made of ordinary ice, but of thick ice imbued with immense magical power.

The defense that came out of it was enormous.

No matter how much they smashed and destroyed, new spirits would appear and fill the gaps.

If it was a normal ice golem, it would have been enough to completely smash it before the new spirits arrived.

But it was so big that it didn't do any good to attack it partially.

While destroying the other side and attacking the other side, the other side is restored before you know it.

1

"That's why you have to put all your energy into the heart with a blow."

Climbing back onto Caesel's back, Cha Haein quickly crossed his two daggers.

2

Then he pulled up the mana he had.

1

Goooooooo

Skill "Sword of Light".

The magic power consumed is so great that it can only be used as a trick.

Two daggers began to shine brightly in Cha Haein's hands.

'You only get one chance!'

1

Cha Haein's eyes lit cold.

"Caesel! Make a gap!"

1

[Kaooooo!]

Caesel had been working hand in hand with Cha Hae-in for a long time, so he could understand her words immediately.

1

Chop Duk!

Caesel's damage was undeterred, clinging tightly to the body of the ice dragon, which was much larger than him.

1

The ice dragon unleashed a torrent of cold that wound Caesel's body, but he never backed down.

1

The only purpose is to make sure that the attack that Cha Hae-in has put all his energy into will not miss!

2

[Kyaaa

'Thank you Caesel.'

1

At the sound of Caesel's roar, Cha Haein's skills went straight to where the Ice Dragon's Heart Thomas Andre lay to rest.

Kuquaaang-

Around its power, a wave of immense magical power spread out in all directions.

'I'm sorry, Thomas Andre.'

At that moment, Cha Hae-in's mind was full of emotions.

Cha Hae-in, who had memories of a time period that disappeared thanks to Sung Jin-woo, knew very well who Thomas Andre was.

At one point, he was a hunter of American power.

One of the strongest humans in the world, he was a warrior who struggled to save the Earth from being invaded by otherworldly beings.

But that's just a story from a time gone gone era.

1

Now he had to be just an ordinary human being.

The fact that he suddenly appeared here.

and a group of heavily armed hunters nearby.

From this information alone, Cha Hae-in was able to deduce quite a lot of facts.

"People with magical powers. Could it be that the earth has changed again while I'm here?"

Then....

What happened to her husband, Sung Jin Woo?

Suddenly, Cha Hae-in's mind reminded her of the back of her husband, the last time she saw him before he landed here.

1

He's...

'Are they still fighting?'

Still.

Is he fighting there alone?

Kagagagagak!

Even at this moment, Cha Haein's sword of light was piercing through the giant ice dragon.

Now if we go a little further.

An attack will reach Thomas Andrew, who is frozen in his heart.

1

Little.

'Just a little bit more!'

But then.

With a flash!

Suddenly, Thomas Andrew's eyes, frozen in white frost, flashed open.

1

"...!"

The moment when Cha Hae-in's eyes widened as he faced the blue demon in his empty eyes.

Thomas Andre raised the corners of his mouth wickedly as he looked at Cha Hae-in's brilliant sword qi that had just come close to him.

[Itarim, guide me.]

4

—————!

At that moment.

The light burst with a tremendous tinnitus.

The light began to spread out like a wave at a rapid pace and encroach on the surroundings.

Solo Leveling: Ragnarok [FAN TL] Chapter 130 - Chapter 129(Unedited) Chapter 130: Chapter 129(Unedited)

[Kyaaaaa...!]

Kaisel hastily wrapped his wings around her body to protect her.

1

The cost was devastating.

Wow!

'Oh no...!'

Feeling Kaisel's power rapidly weakening, Cha Hae-in screamed inwardly.

Kaisel's black shadow was becoming a rag.

'Kaisel...!'

Kaisel had risked extinction to protect himself!

1

But then.

In the center of the blinding light, Thomas Andre furrowed his brow and looked away.

Whoa-wooh-

His eyes were covered in blue ears, and he spotted a trail in a straight line in the distance.

It's a highly compressed freezing wind.

The blizzard of the Echo Forest was howling.

Puh

Finally, at the end of the trajectory through the blizzard, a frozen trident appeared.

Wow!

The "Spear of the Ice Tree" hit the Ice Dragon's body as it was.

[...!]

A massive impact slammed into the Ice Dragon's body.

Around that point, ice crystals shattered and scattered.

Shoowaa

To fill the void, new spirits nearby flew towards the ice dragon in an instant.

But.

Gooooooooo

At that moment, a tremendous sense of daunting pressure overwhelmed the Echo Forest.

Ring! Ring! Ring!

[The King of the Snow Folk and the Monarch of Frost, forcibly crushes the momentum of the ice elementals.]

[The King of the Snow Folk and the Monarch of Frost, forces the ice elementals to subjugate.]

[The King of the Snow Folk and the Monarch of Frost, has the Ice Elementals...]

1

...!

The spirits, who had been mad by the sudden appearance of the monarch, screamed in confusion.

Even the blizzard that swept through the Echo Forest was shaken by its helplessness.

In the heart of it.

Ugh!

"I found it."

2

Suho managed to hold on to his mother.

2

"Mom."

...!

[Kieeeeeee

At the same time, Beru clung to the head of the Chahaein and howled.

"Are you alright, Cha Hae-in? Don't worry now! This lowly servant Beru has come to save you!"

[Colloquial!]

4

The ragged Kaisel recognized Suho and Beru and burst into tears, and Cha Hae-in looked at Suho with a dazed expression.

2

"Oh, son? How did you get here...!"

"Cha-cha! I've got you! I am the son of cha-cha!"

2

On top of that, there is even Sirkka, who shouts cheerfully when he sees that Cha Hae-in is safe.

But it wasn't a situation where they could have a leisurely conversation.

Boom!

"...!"

"...!"

The ice dragon, which had been smashed by a direct hit by the spear of the ice tree, had recovered and was standing up behind them.

Suho's eyes widened when he spotted Thomas Andrew's face peeking out from the cracks in the thick ice cubes.

1

"Thomas Andre?!"

"Could it be that human is possessed by a spirit? Isn't it something else?"

Sirka felt uneasy as she looked at the blue ear on Thomas Andre's body.

What the hell is that energy?

It's similar to a spirit, but it's too foreign to call it a spirit....

Chuck.

[Young Lord, get ready.]

Just in time, Beru stepped forward and exuded flesh from his entire body.

[The Apostle of Itarim has appeared.]

3

Chop chuh!

1

Immediately with that, Suho took out the Great Palace from his inventory.

Then, from the shadows, he pulled out a long quay and fastened it to a bowstring.

"Arise, Quay!"

And he sent a shadow bolt straight at the heart of the Ice Dragon, Thomas Andre.

"Kill!"

[By Master's Command!]

Wedge love juice-

15

There was no hesitation in Suho's action of firing Quay at Thomas Andrew.

1

Thomas Andre's condition was not normal by any means.

But now there was no time to worry about his safety.

1

His opponent was not an ordinary demon beast, but an "Apostle of Itarim".

He was too dangerous an enemy to deal with, and the slightest hesitation could have endangered not only himself but his mother.

Then there was no hesitation.

Even if it comes at the expense of others.

However, such worries are overshadowed.

Squeak!

Before Quay could reach Thomas Andre, his body had been completely buried in the depths of the Ice Dragon.

Unfortunately, Quay's arrowhead failed to penetrate its thick defense.

[Itarim!]

And a bizarre voice that came out of the mouth of Thomas Andre deep inside.

With him, the ice dragon opened its massive maw.

An enormous energy began to stir within him.

Cha Hae-in, who had experienced the horror of the attack, shouted urgently at Suho.

"It's dangerous! Dragon Breath is coming!"

But Suho had no intention of backing down.

"Beru!"

[Yes!]

Suho shouted, glaring straight at the ice dragon.

"The Shadow Dragon here has already been exposed to the enemy! If this is the case, we won't care, right?!"

Suho's question pointed to Kaisel, who had turned into rags and was still wrapping around Cha Hae-in.

Beru replied with a fierce tooth.

[Of course it is!]

"Everybody come out!"

At that moment.

His shadow stretched wide around Suho.

Shwaaaaaaa

Dozens of shadow soldiers stood up in it at the same time.

"...!"

Cha Hae-in's eyes widened when he witnessed this amazing scene from behind.

2

'Oh my God.'

It was an all-too-familiar sight.

Surrounded by a crowd of shadow soldiers, the back of the scene.

Cha Hae-in saw the back of her husband's wide back for the first time in a few years.

"When is our Suho like this...!"

2

It was a strange feeling.

I never thought I'd feel this way in such a desperate situation.

I felt a tickle somewhere in my chest.

[Listen All!]

And the little ant Beru standing proudly at the front of the soldiers.

The former legionnaire roared fiercely and gave them the order.

[Scatter the whole army! launch an all-out attack!]

Aa

At that moment, the shadow soldiers scattered in all directions and attacked the ice dragon from multiple angles simultaneously.

Shush!

The shadow elves' barrage of arrows bent at various angles and slammed into the ice dragon's body.

From there, a spider web cracked across its ice.

Boom!!!

At the same time, the Shadow Minotaur and the Shadow Troll rushed like a tank and rammed into it.

Tu Bang!

Boom!

The ice dragon is about to collapse as it cracks again due to the relentless bombardment.

But.

It was insufficient.

This was ridiculously insufficient.

The opponent is the Ice Dragon.

It was a monster that was superior in attack and defense.

Oooh!

In the meantime, the immense magical Dragon Breath finally erupted.

It shook its head once, and everything in the forest was destroyed in a straight line along its mouth.

[...!]

The blow melted away all the shadow soldiers who were attacking it.

Some soldiers managed to survive, but most of the shadow elves were completely wiped out by the blow.

But.

'Time Gained!'

Gulp!

Suho took advantage of this opportunity to feed his exhausted mother with healing potions and mana potions.

3

And the void left by the defunct Shadow Soldiers was immediately filled by extracting new soldiers.

There were plenty of things to extract nearby, anyway.

Ironically, it wasn't just the Shadow Soldiers who had just been caught in Breath and killed, but also the Echo Forest's ice elves who were possessed by the spirits.

"Arise!"

[Shadow extraction successful.]

[Shadow extraction successful.]

[Shadow extraction successful.]

....

New soldiers continued to recruit to attack the Ice Dragons, and once again Ice Breath annihilated them.

In the meantime, Cha Hae-in was remarkably recovering.

Even the wounds that had accumulated over the past few years of living in this strange land were being healed.

But Suho wasn't satisfied.

Suho generously used all of his healing items on Cha Hae-in.

There was not only "Item: Mummy's Bandage", but also "Item: Echo Forest Spring Water" that I had just obtained.

The Echo Forest's Spring Water is a valuable detox potion that can only be found in the Sanctuary of the Lord of Frost.

'It will help in some way!'

At the same time, I tried to keep up with everything that was going on around me.

Once I heard it in the elves' village, I saw with my own eyes that my mother had awakened as an S-class hunter.

2

I didn't expect my mother, who I thought was an ordinary housewife, to turn into a strong person with such tremendous energy.

I couldn't believe it even though I was watching it right in front of me.

At the same time, he also noticed that the Scavenger Hunters who had come in with him were scattered around.

'There's Esil, too!'

Suho put all of these situations together in his head and quickly devised a strategy.

"I can't beat that dragon on my own. I have to fight with my mother.'

Just in time, Cha Hae-in, who had recovered enough to regain some control, stepped out of Kaisel's arms.

"Kaisel, leave it to me and rest now."

[Purring....]

Kaisel closed his eyes as he felt Cha Hae-in's hand gently caressing his cheek.

It was impossible for him to hold out any longer anyway, and Kaisel turned into a smoky black smoke that seeped into Cha Hae-in's necklace.

'I'm glad I did. Kaisel is safe.'

Cha Hae-in squeezes the necklace with both hands and breathes a sigh of relief.

And when I raised my head forward again.

"Son."

"Your mother."

3

"Mom, I'm really angry, right?"

6

"...."

Oh, it was a little sloppy.

Suho, who was stunned by the words, scrutinized his mother's face with a cold expression.

Cha Hae-in's clear eyes were burning hotter than ever.

"Can you buy me some time? I'm going to put all my mana into one shot."

Gooooooooo

At the same time, a huge amount of magical power began to agglomerate in Cha Hae-in's entire body.

Skill Sword of Light.

The mana consumed is so great that it can only be used as a secret move.

"If this one shot doesn't work, take your time and feed her the mana supplement you just gave her."

Did.

What Cha Hae-in proposes to Suho is a kind of wheeled battle.

This strategy was the most perfect one that Cha Hae-in, the vice president of the Hunter Guild, the strongest in Korea, could have made in a now-defunct timeline.

"Can you do it?"

Cha Hae-in looked at Suho's figure with trusting eyes.

Suho's growth into an adult in a few years was both strange and familiar at the same time.

She looked a lot like her husband when he was younger.

1

"But we're still a long way off."

Cha Hae-in was calmly grasping Suho.

The level she felt in Suho now was too fragile compared to her current self, let alone her husband.

But enough is enough.

"I'll buy you time."

Yes, that was enough.

That was Suho's plan.

"Okay. Instead, I'll decide which direction to attack."

"What?"

Suho's eyes light up and he smiles in repentance.

In front of such a Suho, he remembered the information window of the "detox potion" that he had given to his mother.

[Item: Echo Forest's Spring Water]

Difficulty to obtain: ??

Type: Consumables

It is a mysterious spring in the Echo Forest.

When drunk or applied to the body, it has a neutralizing effect on toxins.

In the first place, the spring water of the Echo Forest was the material for making the "Divine Water of Life".

1

And, of course, its purpose would be to neutralize the toxicity of the Purified Blood of the Demon King.

3

"Let's ask one Sillad."

Suho asked Sillad with conviction.

"Does the effect of the Echo Forest Spring work for the Lord?"

1